1. That they had the Light with all the Advantage they could deſire: For God having lighted the Candle of the Goſpel, did not put it in a ſecret Place, or under a Buſhel; Chriſt did not preach in Corners. The Apoſtles were order'd to preach the Goſpel to every Creature; and both Chriſt and his Miniſters, Wiſdom and her Maidens cry in the chief Places of Concourſe, v. 33. It is a great Privilege that the Light of the Goſpel is put on a Candleſtick, ſo that all that come in may ſee it, and may ſee by it where they are, and whither they are going, and what is the true, and ſure, and only Way to Happineſs.

2. That having the Light, there Concern was to have the Sight, or elſe to what Purpoſe had they the Light. Be the Object never ſo clear, if the Organ be not right, we are never the better, v. 34. The Light of the Body is the Eye, which receives the Light of the Candle, when 'tis brought into the Room: So the Light of the Soul is the Underſtanding and Judgment, and its Power of diſcerning between Good and Evil, Truth and Falſhood. Now, according as this is, accordingly the Light of Divine Revelation is to us, and our Benefit by it; accordingly it's a Savour of Life unto Life, or of Death unto Death.

1. If this Eye of the Soul be ſingle, if it ſee clear, ſee Things as they are, and judge impartially concerning them, if it aim at Truth only, and ſeek it for its own Sake, and have not any ſiniſter By-Looks and Intentions, the whole Body, that is, the whole Soul is full of Light, it receives and entertains the Goſpel, which will bring along with it into the Soul both Knowledge and Joy; this ſpeaks the ſame Thing with that of the good Ground receiving the Word, and underſtanding it. If our Underſtanding admit the Goſpel in its full Light, it fills the Soul, and it has enough to fill it. And if the Soul be thus fill'd with the Light of the Goſpel, having no Part dark, if all its Powers and Faculties be ſubjected to the Government and Influence of the Goſpel, and none left unſanctify'd, then the whole Soul ſhall be full of Light, full of Holineſs and Comfort; it was Darkneſs itſelf, but is now Light in the Lord, as when the bright Shining of a Candle doth give thee Light, v. 36. Note, The Goſpel will come into thoſe Souls whoſe Doors and Windows are thrown open to receive it, and where it comes it will bring Light with it. But,

2. If the Eye of the Soul be evil, if the Judgment be brib'd and bias'd by the corrupt and vicious Diſpoſitions of the Mind, by Pride and Envy, by the Love of the World and ſenſual Pleaſures; if the Underſtanding be prejudic'd againſt divine Truths, and reſolv'd not to admit them tho' brought with never ſo convincing an Evidence, it is no wonder that the whole Body, the whole Soul is full of Darkneſs, v. 34. How can they have Inſtruction, Information, Direction, or Comfort from the Goſpel, that wilfully ſhut their Eyes againſt it, and what Hope is there of ſuch, what Remedy for them? The Inference from hence therefore is, v. 35. Take heed that the Light which is in thee be not Darkneſs. Take heed that the Eye of the Mind be not blinded by Partiality and Prejudice, and ſinful Aims. Be ſincere in your Enquiries after Truth, and ready to receive it in the Light, and Love, and Power of it; and not as the Men of this Generation whom Chriſt preach'd to, that never ſincerely deſir'd to know God's Will, or deſign'd to do it; and therefore no Wonder they walk'd on in Darkneſs, wander'd endleſly, and periſh'd eternally.

37 ¶ And as he ſpake, a certain Phariſee beſought him to dine with him: and he went in and ſate down to meat. 38 And when the Phariſee ſaw it, he marvelled that he had not firſt waſhed before dinner. 39 And the Lord ſaid unto him, Now do ye Phariſees make clean the outſide of the cup and the platter: but your inward part is full of ravening and wickedneſs. 40 Ye fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within alſo? 41 But rather give alms of ſuch things as you have: and behold, all things are clean unto you. 42 But wo unto you Phariſees: for ye tithe the mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and paſs over judgment and the love of God: theſe ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone. 43 Wo unto you Phariſees: for ye love the uppermoſt ſeats in the ſynagogues, and greetings in the market. 44 Wo unto you ſcribes and Phariſees, hypocrites: for ye are as graves which appear not, and the men that walk over them, are not aware of them. 45 ¶ Then anſwered one of the lawyers, and ſaid unto him, Maſter, thus ſaying, thou reproacheſt us alſo. 46 And he ſaid, Wo unto you alſo ye lawyers: for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be born, and ye yourſelves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers. 47 Wo unto you: for ye build the ſepulchres of the prophets, and your fathers killed them. 48 Truly ye bear witneſs that ye allow the deeds of your fathers: for they indeed killed them, and ye build their ſepulchres. 49 Therefore alſo ſaid the wiſdom of God, I will ſend them prophets and apoſtles, and ſome of them they ſhall ſlay and perſecute: 50 That the blood of all the prophets, which was ſhed from the foundation of the world, may be required of this generation. 51 From the blood of Abel unto the blood of Zacharias, which periſhed between the altar and the temple: verily I ſay unto you, it ſhall be required of this generation. 52 Wo unto you lawyers: for ye have taken away the key of knowledge: ye entred not in your ſelves, and them that were entering in ye hindred. 53 And as he ſaid theſe things unto them, the ſcribes and Phariſees began to urge him vehemently, and to provoke him to ſpeak of many things. 54 Laying wait for him, and ſeeking to catch ſomething out of his mouth, that they might accuſe him.

Chriſt here ſaith many of thoſe Things to a Phariſee and his Gueſts, in a private Converſation at Table, which he afterwards ſaid in a publick Diſcourſe in the Temple, Mat. 23. for what he ſaid in publick and private was of a Piece. He would not ſay that in a Corner which he durſt not repeat and ſtand to in the great Congregation; nor would he give thoſe Reproofs to any Sort of Sinners in general, which he durſt not apply to them in particular as he met with them, for he was and is the faithful Witneſs. Here's, Firſt, Chriſt's going to dine with a Phariſee, that very civilly invited him to his Houſe, v. 37. As he ſpake, even while he was ſpeaking, a certain Phariſee interrupted him with a Requeſt to him to come and dine with him, to come forthwith, for it was dinner Time. We are willing to hope the Phariſee was ſo well pleas'd with his Diſcourſe, that he was willing to ſhew him Reſpect, and deſirous to have more of his Company, and therefore gave him this Invitation, and bid him truly Welcome; and yet we have ſome Cauſe to ſuſpect, that it was with an Ill Deſign to break off his Diſcourſe to the People, and to have an Opportunity of enſnaring him, and getting ſomething out of him which might ſerve for Matter of Accuſation or Reproach, v. 53, 54. We know not the Mind of this Phariſee, but whatever it was Chriſt knew it: If he meant ill, he ſhall know Chriſt doth not fear him; if well, he ſhall know Chriſt is willing to do him Good; ſo he went in and ſate down to Meat. Note, Chriſt's Diſciples muſt learn of him to be converſable, and not moroſe. Tho' we have need to be cautious what Company we keep, yet we need not be rigid, nor muſt we therefore go out of the World.

Secondly, The Offence which the Phariſee took at Chriſt, as thoſe of that Sort had ſometimes done at the Diſciples of Chriſt for not waſhing before Dinner, v. 38. He wonder'd that a Man of his Sanctity, a Prophet, a Man of ſo much Devotion, and ſuch a ſtrict Converſation, would ſit down to Meat, and not firſt waſh his Hands, eſpecially being newly come out of a mixt Company, and there being in the Phariſees Dining-Room no Doubt all Accommodations ſet ready for it; ſo that he need not fear being troubleſome; and the Phariſee himſelf and all his Gueſts no doubt waſhing, ſo that he could not be ſingular, what and yet not waſh? What Harm had it been if he had waſh'd? Was it not ſtrictly commanded by the Canons of their Church? It was ſo, and therefore Chriſt would not do it becauſe he would witneſs againſt their aſſuming a Power to impoſe that as a Matter of Religion which God commanded them not. The Ceremonial Law conſiſted in divers Waſhings, but this was none of them, and therefore Chriſt would not practiſe it, no not in Complaiſance to the Phariſee who invited him, nor tho' he knew that Offence would be taken at his omitting it.

Thirdly, The ſharp Reproof which Chriſt upon this Occaſion gave to the Phariſee, without begging Pardon even of the Phariſee, whoſe Gueſt he now was; for we muſt not flatter our beſt Friends in any evil Thing.

1. He reproves them for placing Religion ſo much in thoſe Inſtances of it that are only external, and fall under the Eye of Man, while thoſe were not only poſt-pon'd, but quite expung'd which reſpect the Soul, and fall under the Eye of God, v. 39, 40. Now obſerve here, (1.) The Abſurdity they were guilty of. You Phariſees make clean the outſide only, you waſh your Hands with Water, but do not waſh your Hearts from Wickedneſs; thoſe are full of Covetouſneſs and Malice, Covetouſneſs of Mens Goods, and Malice againſt good Men. Thoſe would never be reckon'd cleanly Servants, that waſh only the Outſide of the Cup their Maſter drinks out of, or the Platter he eats out of, and take no Care to make the Inſide clean, which immediately affects the Meat and Drink, and mingles it with it if there be any Filth. The Frame and Temper of the Mind in every religious Service is the Inſide of the Cup and Platter, the Impurity of that infects the Services, and therefore to keep ourſelves free from ſcandalous Enormites, and yet to live under the Dominion of ſpiritual Wickedneſs, is as great an Affront to God, as it would be for a Servant that gives the Cup into his Maſter's Hand, clean wip'd from all the Duſt on the Outſide, but within full of Cobwebs and Spiders. Ravening and Wickedneſs; that is reigning Worldlineſs and reigning Spitefulneſs, which Men think they can find ſome Cloak or Cover for, are the dangerous damning Sins of many, who have made the Outſide of the Cup clean from the more groſs, and ſcandalous, and inexcuſable Sins of Whoredem and Drunkeneſs. (2.) A particular Inſtance of the Abſurdity of it, v. 40. Ye Fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within alſo? Did not that God who in the Law of Moſes appointed divers ceremonial Waſhings, with which you juſtifie yourſelves in theſe Practices and Impoſitions, appoint alſo that ye ſhou'd cleanſe and purify your Hearts? He who made Laws for that which is without, did not he, even in thoſe Laws, further intend ſomething within? and by other Laws ſhew, how little he regarded the purifying of the Fleſh, and the putting away of the Filth of that, if the Heart be not made clean. Or it may have Regard to God, not only as a Lawgiver, but (which the Words ſeem rather to import) as a Creator. Did not God who made us theſe Bodies (and they are fearfully and wonderfully made) make us theſe Souls alſo, which are more fearfully and wonderfully made; now if he made both, he juſtly expects we ſhould take Care of both; and therefore not only waſh the Body which he is the Former of, and make the Hands clean in Honour of his Work, but waſh the Spirit which he is the Father of, and get the Leproſie in the Heart cleans'd.

To this he ſubjoins a Rule for making of our Creature Comforts clean to us, v. 41. Inſtead of waſhing your Hands before you go to Meat, give Alms of ſuch Things as you have, τὰ ἔνοντα, of ſuch Things as are ſet before you, and preſent with you, let the Poor have their Share out of them, and then all Things are clean to you, and you may uſe them comfortably. Here is a plain Alluſion to the Law of Moſes, by which it was provided that certain Portions of the Increaſe of their Land ſhould be given to the Levite, the Stranger, the Fatherleſs, and the Widow, and when that was done, what was reſerv'd for their own Uſe was clean to them, and they could in Faith pray for a Bleſſing upon it, Deut. 26. 12, 15. Then we can with Comfort enjoy the Gifts of God's Bounty ourſelves, when we ſend Portions to them for whom nothing is prepared, Neh. 8. 10. Job eats not his Morſel alone, but the Fatherleſs eat thereof, and ſo it was clean to him, Job 31. 17. Clean, that is permitted and allowed to be us'd, and then only it can be us'd comfortably. Note, What we have is not our own, unleſs God have his Dues out of it; and it is by Liberality to the Poor, that we clear up to ourſelves our Liberty to make Uſe of our Creature Comforts.

2. He reproves them for laying Streſs upon Trifles, and neglecting the weighty Matters of the Law, v. 42. (1.) Thoſe Laws which related only to the Means of Religion, they were very exact in the Obſervance of, as particularly thoſe concerning the Maintenance of the Prieſts, ye pay Tith of Mint and Rue, pay it in Kind, and to the full, and will not put off the Prieſts with a Modus decimandi, or compound for it; by this they would gain a Reputation with the People, as ſtrict Obſervers of the Law, and would make an Intereſt in the Prieſts, in whoſe Power it was many a Time to do them a Kindneſs; and no wonder if the Prieſts and the Phariſees contriv'd how to ſtrengthen one anothers Hands. Now Chriſt doth not condemn them for being ſo exact in paying Tithes, theſe Things ought ye to have done, but for thinking that that would atone for the Neglect of their greater Duties; for (2.) Thoſe Laws which relate to the Eſſentials of Religion they made nothing of, ye paſs over Judgment and the Love of God, you make no Conſcience of giving Men their Dues and God your Hearts.

3. He reproves them for their Pride and Vanity, and Affectation of Precedency, and Praiſe of Men, v. 43. ye love the uppermoſt Seats in the Synagogues, or Conſiſtories where the Elders met for Government; if you have not thoſe Seats, you are ambitious of them, if you have, you are proud of them; and ye love Greetings in the Markets, to be complemented by the People, and to have their Cap and Knee. 'Tis not ſitting uppermoſt, or being greeted, that is reprov'd, but loving it.

4. He reproves them for their Hypocriſy, and their colouring over the Wickedneſs of their Hearts and Lives with ſpecious Pretences, v. 44. ye are as Graves overgrown with Graſs, which therefore appear not, and the Men that walk over them are not aware of them, and ſo they contract the ceremonial Pollution which by the Law aroſe from the Touch of a Grave. Theſe

Phariſees were within full of Abominations, as a Grave of Putrefaction, full of Covetouſneſs, Envy and Malice, and yet they conceal'd it ſo artfully, with a Profeſſion of Devotion, that it did not appear, ſo that they who converſ'd with them and follow'd their Doctrine, were defil'd with Sin, infected with their Corruptions, and ill Morals, and yet they making a Shew of Piety, ſuſpected no Danger by them. The Contagion inſinuated itſelf, and was inſenſibly caught, and thoſe that caught it thought themſelves never the worſe.

Fourthly, The Teſtimony which he bore alſo againſt the Lawyers or Scribes, who made it their Buſineſs to expound the Law according to the Tradition of the Elders, as the Phariſees did to obſerve the Law according to that Tradition.

1. There was one of that Profeſſion who reſented what he ſaid againſt the Phariſees; v. 45. Maſter, thus ſaying, thou reproacheſt us alſo, for we are Scribes; and are we therefore Hypocrites? Note, It is a common Thing for unhumbled Sinners to call and count Reproofs Reproaches. It is the Wiſdom of thoſe that deſire to have their Sin mortified, to make a good Uſe of Reproaches that come from ill Will, and to turn them into Reproofs; If we can that Way hear of our Faults and amend them, it is well: But 'tis the Folly of thoſe who are wedded to their Sins, and reſolv'd not to part with them, to make an ill Uſe of the faithful and friendly Admonitions given them, which come from Love, and to have their Paſſions provok'd by them, as if they were intended for Reproaches, and therefore fly in the Face of their Reprovers, and juſtifie themſelves in rejecting the Reproof. Thus the Prophet complain'd, Jer. 6. 10. The Word of the Lord is to them a Reproach, they have no Delight in it. This Lawyer eſpous'd the Phariſees Cauſe, and ſo made himſelf Partaker of his Sins.

2. Our Lord Jeſus thereupon took them to Task, v. 46. Woe unto you alſo, ye Lawyers; and again, v. 52. Woe unto you Lawyers. They bleſs'd themſelves in the Reputation they had among the People, who thought them happy Men becauſe they ſtudy'd the Law, and were always converſant with that, and had the Honour of inſtructing People in the Knowledge of that, but Chriſt denounc'd Woes againſt them, for he ſees not as Man ſees. This was juſt upon him for taking the Phariſees Part, and quarrelling with Chriſt, becauſe he reproved them. Note, Thoſe who quarrel with the Reproof of others, and ſuſpect them to be Reproaches to them, do but get Woes of their own by ſo doing.

1. The Lawyers are reprov'd for making the Services of Religion more burthenſome to others, but more eaſie to themſelves than God had made them, v. 46. Ye lade Men with Burthens grievous to be born, by your Traditions, which bind them out from many Liberties God has allow'd them, and bind them up to many Slaveries which God never enjoyn'd them; to ſhew your Authority, and to keep People in Awe: But ye yourſelves touch them not with one of your Fingers, i. e. (1.) You will not burthen yourſelves with them, nor be yourſelves bound by thoſe Reſtraints with which you hamper others. They would ſeem, by the Hedges they pretended to make about the Law, to be very ſtrict for the Obſervance of the Law, but if you could ſee their Practiſes, you would find, not only that they make nothing of thoſe Hedges themſelves, but make nothing of the Law itſelf neither: Thus the Confeſſors of the Romiſh Church, are ſaid to do with their Penitents. (2.) You will not lighten them to thoſe you have Power over; you will not touch them, that is, either to repeal or to diſpenſe with them, when you find them burthenſome and grievous to the People. They would come in with both Hands to diſpenſe with a Command of God, but not with a Finger to mitigate the Rigour of any of the Traditions of the Elders.

2. They are reproved for pretending a Veneration for the Memory of the Prophets, whom their Fathers kill'd, when yet they hated and perſecuted thoſe in their own Day, who were ſent to them on the ſame Errand, to call them to Repentance, and to direct them to Chriſt, v. 47, 48, 49.

(1.) Theſe Hypocrites among other Pretences of Piety built the Sepulchres of the Prophets, i. e. They erected Monuments over their Graves, in Honour of them, probably with large Inſcriptions, containing high Encomiums of them: They were not ſo ſuperſtitious to enſhrine their Reliques, or to think the Devotions the more acceptable to God for their being paid at the Tombs of the Martyrs; they did not burn Incenſe or pray to them, or plead their Merits with God, they did not add that Iniquity to their Hypocriſie, but as if they own'd themſelves the Children of the Prophets, their Heirs and Executors, they repair'd and beautify'd their Monuments, ſacred to their pious Memory.

(2.) Notwithſtanding this they had an inveterate Enmity to thoſe in their own Day, that came to them in the Spirit and Power of thoſe Prophets, and tho' they had not yet had an Opportunity of carrying it far, yet they would ſoon do it, for the Wiſdom of God ſaid, i. e. Chriſt himſelf would ſo order it, and did now foretell it, that they would ſlay and perſecute the Prophets and Apoſtles that ſhould be ſent them: The Wiſdom of God would thus make Tryal of them, and diſcover their odious Hypocriſie, by ſending them Prophets to reprove them for their Sins, and warn them of the Judgments of God. Thoſe Prophets ſhould prove themſelves Apoſtles or Meſſengers ſent from Heaven by Signs and Wonders, and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt: Or I will ſend them Prophets under the Stile and Title of Apoſtles, who yet ſhall produce as good an Authority as any of the old Prophets did; and thoſe they ſhall not only contradict and oppoſe, but ſlay and perſecute, and put to Death. Chriſt foreſaw this, and yet did not otherwiſe than became the Wiſdom of God in ſending them, for he knew how to bring Glory to himſelf in the Iſſue, by the Recompences reſerv'd both for the Perſecutors and the Perſecuted in the future State.

(3.) That therefore God will juſtly put another Conſtruction upon their building the Tombs of the Prophets than what they would be thought to intend, and it ſhall be interpreted their allowing the Deeds of their Fathers, v. 45. for ſince by their preſent Actions it appear'd they had no true Value for their Prophets, their building their Sepulchres ſhall have this Senſe put upon it, that they reſolv'd to keep them in their Graves, whom their Fathers had hurry'd thither. Joſiah that had a real Value for Prophets, thought it enough not to diſturb the Grave of the Man of God at Bethel, let no Man move his Bones, 2 Kings 23. 17, 18. If theſe Lawyers will carry the Matter further, and will build their Sepulchres, 'tis ſuch a Piece of over-doing, as gives Cauſe to ſuſpect an ill Deſign in it, and that 'tis meant as a Cover for ſome Deſign againſt Prophecy itſelf, like the Kiſs of a Traytor, as he that bleſſeth his Friend with a loud Voice, riſing early in the Morning, it ſhall be counted a Curſe to him, Prov. 27. 14.

(4.) That they muſt expect no other, but to be reckon'd with as the Fillers up of the Meaſure of Perſecution, v. 50, 51. They keep up the Trade as it were in Succeſſion, and therefore are reſponſable for the Debts of the Company, even thoſe it has been in contracting all along, from the Blood of Abel when the World began, to that of Zecharias, and ſo forward to the End of the Jewiſh State, it ſhall all be required of this Generation, this laſt Generation of the Jews, whoſe Sin in perſecuting Chriſt's Apoſtles would exceed any of the Sins of that Kind that their Fathers were guilty of, and ſo would bring Wrath among them to the uttermoſt, 1 Theſ. 2. 15, 16. And their Deſtruction by the Romans was ſo terrible as might well be reckon'd the compleating of God's Vengeance upon that perſecuting Nation.

3. They are reprov'd for oppoſing the Goſpel of Chriſt, and doing all they could to obſtruct the Progreſs and Succeſs of it, v. 52. (1.) They had not according to the Duty of their Place faithfully expounded to the People thoſe Scriptures of the old Teſtament which pointed at the Meſſiah, which if they had been led into the right Underſtanding of by the Lawyers, they would readily have embrac'd him and his Doctrine: But inſtead of that, they had perverted theſe Texts, and had caſt a Miſt before the Eyes of the People by their corrupt Gloſſes upon them, and this is call'd taking away the Key of Knowledge; inſtead of uſing that Key for the People, and helping them to uſe it aright, they hid it from them; this is call'd in Matthew, ſhutting up the Kingdom of God againſt Men, Matt. 23. 13. Note, Thoſe who take away the Key of Knowledge, ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven. (2.) They themſelves did not embrace the Goſpel of Chriſt, tho' by their Acquaintance with the old Teſtament, they could not but know that the Time was fulfill'd, and the Kingdom of God was at Hand; they ſaw the Prophecies accompliſh'd in that Kingdom, which our Lord Jeſus was about to ſet up, and yet would not themſelves enter into it. Nay, (3.) Them that without any Conduct or Aſſiſtance of theirs were entring in, they did all they could to hinder and diſcourage; by threatning to caſt them out of the Synagogue, and otherwiſe terrifying them. 'Tis bad for People to be averſe to Revelation, but much worſe to be adverſe to it.

Laſtly, In the Cloſe of the Chapter we are told, how ſpitefully and maliciouſly the Scribes and Phariſees contriv'd to draw him into a Snare, v. 53, 54. They could not bear thoſe cutting Reproofs which they muſt own to be juſt, but ſince what he had ſaid againſt them in particular, wou'd not bear an Action, nor could they ground upon it any criminal Accuſation, and therefore, as if becauſe his Reproofs were warm, they hop'd to ſtir him up to ſome intemperate Heat and Paſſion, ſo as to put him off his Guard; they began to urge him vehemently, to be very fierce upon him, and to provoke him to ſpeak to many Things, to propoſe dangerous Queſtions to him, laying wait for ſomething which might ſerve the Deſign they had, of making him either odious to the People, or obnoxious to the Government, or both. Thus did they ſeek Occaſion againſt him, like David's Enemies, that did every Day wreſt his Words, Pſal. 56. 5. Evil Men dig up Miſchief. Note, Faithful Reprovers of Sin muſt expect to have many Enemies, and have need to ſet a Watch before the Door of their Lips, becauſe of their Obſervers that watch for their halting. The Prophet complains of thoſe in his Time, who make a Man an Offender for a Word, and lay a Snare for him that reproveth in the Gate, Iſa. 29. 21. That we may bear Tryals of this Kind with Patience, and get thro' them with Prudence, let us conſider him who endur'd ſuch Contradiction of Sinners againſt himſelf.

CHAP. XII.

In this Chapter we have divers excellent Diſcourſes of our Saviour's upon various Occaſions; many of which are to the ſame Purpoſe with what we had in Matthew upon other the like Occaſions; for we may ſuppoſe our Lord Jeſus preach'd the ſame Doctrines, and preſs'd the ſame Duties at ſeveral Times, in ſeveral Companies, and one of the Evangeliſts took them as he deliver'd them at one Time, and another at another Time; and we need thus to have Precept upon Precept, Line upon Line. Here (1.) Chriſt warns his Diſciples to take heed of Hypocriſy, and of Cowardice in profeſſing Chriſtianity and preaching the Goſpel, v. 1,—12. (2.) He gives a Caution againſt Covetouſneſs, upon Occaſion of a covetous Motion made to him, and illuſtrates that Caution by a Parable of a rich Man ſuddenly cut off by Death in the midſt of his worldly Projects and Hopes, v. 13,---21. (3.) He encourageth his Diſciples to caſt all their Care upon God, and to live eaſy in a Dependance upon his Providence, and engageth them to make Religion their main Buſineſs, v. 22,---34. (4.) He ſtirs them up to Watchfulneſs for their Maſter's coming, from the Conſideration of the Reward of thoſe who are then found faithful, and the Puniſhment of them who are found unfaithful, v. 35,---48. (5.) He bids them expect Trouble and Perſecution, v. 49,---53. (6.) He warns the People to obſerve and improve the Day of their Opportunities, and to make their Peace with God in Time, v. 54,---59.

IN the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable multitude of people, inſomuch that they trode one upon another, he began to ſay unto his diſciples firſt of all, Beware ye of the leaven of the Phariſees, which is hypocriſie. 2 For there is nothing covered, that ſhall not be revealed; neither hid, that ſhall not be known. 3 Therefore whatſoever ye have ſpoken in darkneſs, ſhall be heard in the light: and that which ye have ſpoken in the ear in cloſets, ſhall be proclaimed on the houſe-tops. 4 And I ſay unto you my friends, Be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that, have no more that they can do. 5 But I will forewarn you whom you ſhall fear: Fear him, which after he hath killed, hath power to caſt into hell; yea, I ſay unto you, Fear him. 6 Are not five ſparrows ſold for two farthings, and not one of them is forgotten before God? 7 But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Fear not therefore: ye are of more value then many ſparrows. 8 Alſo I ſay unto you, Whoſoever ſhall confeſs me before men, him ſhall the Son of man alſo confeſs before the angels of God. 9 But he that denieth me before men, ſhall be denied before the angels of God. 10 And whoſoever ſhall ſpeak a word againſt the Son of man, it ſhall be forgiven him: but unto him that blaſphemeth againſt the Holy Ghoſt, it ſhall not be forgiven. 11 And when they bring you unto the ſynagogues, and unto magiſtrates, and powers, take ye no thought how or what thing ye ſhall anſwer, or what ye ſhall ſay: 12 For the Holy Ghoſt ſhall teach you in the ſame hour, what we ought to ſay.

We find here, 1. A vaſt Auditory that was got together to hear Chriſt preach. The Scribes and Phariſees ſought to accuſe him, and do him Miſchief, but the People that were not under the Bias of their Prejudices and Jealouſies, ſtill admir'd him, attended on him, and did him Honour, v. 1. In the mean Time, while he was in the Phariſees Houſe, contending with them that ſought to enſnare him, the People got together for an Afternoon Sermon; a Sermon after Dinner, after Dinner with a Phariſee; and he would not diſappoint them. Tho' in the Morning Sermon, when they were gathered thick together, Chap. 11. 29. he had ſeverely reprov'd them, as an evil Generation that ſeek a Sign, yet they renew'd their Attendance on him, ſo much better could the People bear their Reproofs, than the Phariſees theirs. The more the Phariſees ſtrove to drive the People from Chriſt, the more flocking there was to him. Here was an innumerable Multitude of People gathered together, ſo that they trod one upon another in labouring to get foremoſt, and to come within Hearing. 'Tis a good Sight to ſee People thus forward to hear the Word, and venture upon Inconvenience and Danger, rather than miſs an Opportunity for their Souls. Who are theſe that thus fly like the Doves to their Windows, Iſa. 60. 8. When the Net is caſt where there's ſuch a Multitude of Fiſh, it may be hoped that ſome will be incloſ'd.

2. The Inſtructions which he gave his Followers in the hearing of this Auditory

Firſt, He began with a Caution againſt Hypocriſy. This he ſaid to his Diſciples firſt of all; either to the Twelve or the Seventy. Theſe were his more peculiar Charge, his Family, his School, and therefore he particularly warn'd them as his beloved Sons; they made more a Profeſſion of Religion than others, and Hypocriſy in that was the Sin they were moſt in Danger of. They were to preach to others, and if they prevaricate, corrupt the Word, and deal deceitfully, Hypocriſy would be worſe in them than in others. And beſides, there was a Judas among them that was an Hypocrite, and Chriſt knew it, and would hereby ſtartle him, or leave him inexcuſable. Chriſt's Diſciples were for ought we know the beſt Men then in the World, yet need to be caution'd againſt Hypocriſy. Chriſt ſaid this to the Diſciples in the Hearing of this great Multitude, rather than privately when he had them by themſelves, to add the greater Weight to the Caution, and to let the World know that he would not countenance Hypocriſy, no not in his own Diſciples. Now obſerve,

1. The Deſcription of that Sin which he warns them againſt, It is the Leaven of the Phariſees. (1.) 'Tis Leaven, 'tis ſpreading as Leaven, inſinuates itſelf into the whole Man, and all that he doth; 'tis ſwelling and ſowering as Leaven, for it puffs Men up with Pride, and imbitters them with Malice, and makes their Service unacceptable to God. (2.) It is the Leaven of the Phariſees, i. e. it is the Sin they are moſt of them found in. Take heed of imitating them; be not you of their Spirit; do not you diſſemble in Chriſtianity as they do in Judaiſm; make not you Religion a Cloak of Maliciouſneſs as they do theirs.

2. A good Reaſon againſt it, v. 2, 3. For there is nothing cover'd that ſhall not be revealed. 'Tis to no Purpoſe to diſſemble, for ſooner or later Truth will come out; and a lying Tongue is but for a Moment. If you ſpeak in Darkneſs that which is unbecoming you, and is inconſiſtent with your publick Profeſſions, it ſhall be heard in the Light, ſome how or other it will be diſcover'd, a Bird of the Air ſhall carry the Voice, Eccl. 10. 20. and your Folly and Falſhood will be made manifeſt. The Iniquity that is conceal'd with a Shew of Piety, will be diſcover'd perhaps in this World, as Judas's was, and Simon Magus's, however in the great Day, when the Secrets of all Hearts ſhall be made manifeſt, Eccl. 12. 14. Rom. 2. 16. If Men's Religion prevail not to conquer and cure the Wickedneſs of their Hearts, it ſhall not always ſerve for a Cloak. The Day is coming when Hypocrites will be ſtrip'd of their Fig-Leaves.

Secondly, To this he added a Charge to them, to be faithful to the Truſt repoſ'd in them, and not to betray it thro' Cowardice or baſe Fear. Some make v. 2. 3. to be a Caution to them not to conceal thoſe Things which they had been inſtructed in, and were employ'd to publiſh to the World. Whether Men will hear, or whether they will forbear, tell them the Truth; the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth; what has been ſpoken to you, and you have talk'd of among yourſelves privately and in Corners, that do you preach publickly, whoever is offended; for if you pleaſe Men, you are not Chriſt's Servants, nor can you pleaſe him, Gal. 1. 10.

But this was not the worſt of it, 'twas likely to be a ſuffering Cauſe, tho' never a ſinking one; let them therefore arm themſelves with Courage, and divers Arguments hear are to ſteal them with a holy Reſolution in their Work. Conſider,

1. The Power of your Enemies is a limited Power, v. 4. I ſay unto you, my Friends; Chriſt's Diſciples are his Friends, he calls them Friends, and gives them this friendly Advice, Be not afraid; do not diſquiet yourſelves with tormenting Fears of the Power and Rage of Men. Note, Thoſe whom Chriſt owns for his Friends need not be afraid of any Enemies. Be not afraid no not of them that kill the Body, let it not be in the Power, not only of Scoffers, but not of Murtherers, to drive you off from your Work, for you that have learned to triumph over Death, may ſay, even of them, let them do their worſt, after that there is no more that they can do; the immortal Soul lives and is happy, and enjoys itſelf and its God, and ſets them all at Defiance. Note, Thoſe can do Chriſt's Diſciples no real Harm, and therefore ought not to be dreaded, who can but kill the Body, for they only ſend that to its Reſt, and the Soul to its Joy the ſooner.

2. God is to be fear'd more than the moſt powerful Men, v. 5. I will forewarn you whom you ſhall fear; that you may fear Man leſs, fear God more; Moſes conquers his Fear of the Wrath of the King, by having an Eye to him that is inviſible. By owning Chriſt you may incur the Wrath of Men, which can reach no further than to put you to Death, and without God's Permiſſion they cannot do that; but by denying Chriſt and diſowning him, you will incur the Wrath of God, which has Power to ſend you to Hell, and there's no reſiſting it. Now of two Evils the leaſt is to be choſen, and the greateſt to be dreaded, and therefore I ſay unto you, Fear him. 'Tis true, ſaid that bleſſed Martyr Biſhop Hooper, Life is ſweet, and Death bitter, but Eternal Life is more ſweet, and Eternal Death more bitter.

3. The Lives of good Chriſtians and good Miniſters are the particular Care of the Divine Providence, v. 6, 7. To encourage us in Times of Difficulty and Danger, we muſt have Recourſe to our firſt Principles, and build upon them; now a firm Belief of the Doctrine of God's univerſal Providence, and the Extent of it, wou'd be ſatisfying to us, when at any Time we are in Peril, and encourage us to truſt God in the Way of Duty. (1.) Providence takes Cognizance of the meaneſt Creatures; even of the Sparrows. Tho' they are of ſuch ſmall Account that five of them are ſold for two Farthings, yet not one of them is forgotten of God, but is provided for, and Notice is taken of its Death. Now, ye are of more Value than many Spar- rows, and therefore you may be ſure you are not forgotten though impriſon'd, tho' baniſh'd, tho' forgotten by your Friends; much more precious in the Sight of the Lord is the Death of Saints than the Death of Sparrows. (2.) Providence takes Cognizance of the meaneſt Intereſt of the Diſciples of Chriſt, v. 7. even the very Hairs of your Head are all numbered, much more are your Sighs and Tears number'd, and the Drops of your Blood you ſhed for Chriſt's Name's ſake. An Account is kept of all your Loſſes, that they may be, and without doubt they ſhall be recompens'd unſpeakably to your Advantage.

4. You will be own'd or diſown'd by Chriſt in the Great Day, according as you now own or diſown him, v. 8, 9. (1.) To engage us to confeſs Chriſt before Men, whatever we may loſe or ſuffer for our Conſtancy to him, and how dear ſoever it may coſt us, we are aſſur'd, that they who confeſs Chriſt now, ſhall be own'd by him in the great Day before the Angels of God, to their everlaſting Comfort and Honour. Jeſus Chriſt will confeſs not only that he ſuffer'd for them, and they are to have the Benefit of his Sufferings, but that they ſuffer'd for him; and his Kingdom and Intereſt on Earth was advanc'd by their Sufferings, and what greater Honour can be done them? (2.) To deter us from denying Chriſt, and a cowardly deſerting of his Truths and Ways, we are here aſſur'd, that thoſe who deny Chriſt, and treacherouſly depart from him, whatever they may ſave by it, tho' it were Life itſelf, and whatever they may gain by it, tho' it were a Kingdom, will be vaſt Looſers at laſt, for they ſhall be denied before the Angels of God; Chriſt will not know them, will not own them, will not ſhew them any Favour, which will turn to their everlaſting Terror and Contempt. By the Streſs here laid upon their being confeſs'd or deny'd before the Angels of God, it ſhould ſeem to be a conſiderable Part of the Happineſs of glorified Saints, that they will not only ſtand right, but ſtand high in the Eſteem of the holy Angels; they will love them, and honour them, and own them, if they be Chriſt's Servants, they are their Fellow-Servants, and they will take them for their Companions. And on the contrary, a conſiderable Part of the Miſery of Damned Sinners will be, that the holy Angels will abandon them, and will be the pleaſed Witneſſes not only of their Diſgrace as here, but of their Miſery, for they ſhall be tormented in the Preſence of the holy Angels, Rev. 14. 10. who will give them no Relief.

5. The Errand they were ſhortly to be ſent out upon, was of the higheſt and laſt Importance to the Children of Men, to whom they were ſent, v. 10. Let them be bold in preaching the Goſpel, for a ſorer and heavier Doom would attend thoſe that rejected them, after the Spirit was pour'd out upon them, which was to be the laſt Method of Conviction, than thoſe that now rejected Chriſt himſelf, and oppos'd him. Greater Works than theſe ſhall ye do, and conſequently greater will be the Puniſhment of thoſe that blaſpheme the Gifts and Operations of the Holy Ghoſt in you. Whoſoever ſhall ſpeak a Word againſt the Son of Man, that ſhall ſtumble at the Meaneſs of his Appearance, and ſpeak ſlightly and ſpitefully of him, it is capable of ſome Excuſe; Father forgive them, for they know not what they do. But unto him that blaſphemeth the Holy Ghoſt, that blaſphemes the Chriſtian Doctrine, and maliciouſly oppoſeth it, and after the pouring out of the Spirit, and his Atteſtation of Chriſt's being glorified, Acts 2. 33.--5. 32. The Privilege of the Forgiveneſs of Sin ſhall be deny'd, he ſhall have no Benefit by Chriſt and his Goſpel; you may ſhake off the Duſt of your Feet againſt thoſe that do ſo, and give them over as incurable: They have forfeited that Repentance and Remiſſion which Chriſt was exalted to give, and which you are commiſſion'd to preach. The Sin, no doubt, was the more daring, and conſequently the Caſe the more deſperate, during the Continuance of the extraordinary Gifts and Operations of the Spirit in the Church, which were intended for a Sign to them who believed not, 1 Cor. 14. 22. Thoſe who tho' they were not convinc'd by them at firſt, yet admir'd them, there were Hopes of, but thoſe who blaſphem'd them were given over.

6. Whatever Trials they ſhould be call'd out to, they ſhould be ſufficiently furniſh'd for them, and honourably brought through them, v. 11, 12. The faithful Martyr for Chriſt has not only Sufferings to undergo, but a Teſtimony to bear, a good Confeſſion to witneſs, and is concern'd to do that well, ſo as that the Cauſe of Chriſt may not ſuffer, tho' he ſuffer for it: And if this be his Care, let him caſt it upon God, when they bring you unto the Synagogues, before Church-Rulers, before the Jewiſh Courts, or before Magiſtrates and Powers; Gentile Rulers, Rulers in the State, to be examined about your Doctrine, what it is, and what the Proof of it; Take no Thought what ye ſhall anſwer, (1.) that you may ſave yourſelves: Do not ſtudy by what Art or Rhetorick to mollify your Judges, or by what Tricks in Law to bring yourſelves off; if it be the Will of God that you ſhould come off, and your Time is not yet come, he will bring it about effectually. (2.) That you may ſerve your Maſter, aim at this, but do not perplex yourſelves about it, for the Holy Ghoſt, as a Spirit of Wiſdom, ſhall teach you what ye ought to ſay, and how to ſay it, ſo as it may be for the Honour of God and his Cauſe.

13 And one of the company ſaid unto him, Maſter, ſpeak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me. 14 And he ſaid unto him, Man, who made me a judge, or a divider over you? 15 And he ſaid unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetouſneſs: for a mans life conſiſteth not in the abundance of the things which he poſſeſſeth. 16 And he ſpake a parable unto them, ſaying, The ground of a certain rich man brought forth plentifully. 17 And he thought within himſelf, ſaying, what ſhall I do, becauſe I have no room where to beſtow my fruits? 18 And he ſaid, This will I do: I will pull down my barns, and build greater: And there will I beſtow all my fruits and my goods. 19 And I will ſay to my ſoul, Soul, thou haſt much goods laid up for many years; take thine eaſe, eat, drink, and be merry. 20 But God ſaid unto him, Thou fool, this night ſhall thy Soul be required of thee: then whoſe ſhall thoſe things be which thou haſt provided? 21 So is he that layeth up treaſure for himſelf, and is not rich towards God.

We have in theſe Verſes,

Firſt, The Application that was made to Chriſt very unſeaſonably, by one of his Hearers, deſiring him to interpoſe between him and his Brother, in a Matter that concern'd the Eſtate of the Family, v. 13. Maſter ſpeak to my Brother; ſpeak as a Prophet, ſpeak as a King, ſpeak with Authority, he is one that will have a Regard to what thou ſayeſt; ſpeak to him that he divide the Inheritance with me. Now,

1. Some think his Brother did him Wrong, and he appeals to Chriſt to right him, becauſe he knew the Law was coſtly. His Brother was ſuch a one as the Jews call'd Ben-hameſen, a Son of Violence, that took not only his own Part of the Eſtate, but his Brothers too, and forcibly detain'd it from him. Such Brethren there are in the World, that have no Senſe at all, either of natural Equity, or natural Affection, who make a Prey of thoſe whom they ought to patronize and protect. They who are ſo wrong'd, have a God to go to, who will execute Judgment and Juſtice for thoſe that are oppreſſed.

2. Others think he had a Mind to do his Brother Wrong, and would have Chriſt to aſſiſt him; that whereas the Law gave the elder Brother a double Portion of the Eſtate, and the Father himſelf could not diſpoſe of what he had, but by that Rule, Deut. 21. 16, 17. He would have Chriſt to alter that Law, and to oblige his Brother, who was perhaps a Follower of Chriſt at large, to divide the Inheritance equally with him, in Gavel-Kind, Share and Share alike, and to allot him as much as his elder Brother: I ſuſpect that this was the Caſe, becauſe Chriſt takes Occaſion from it to warn againſt Covetouſneſs, πλεονεξια. A Deſire of having more, more than God in his Providence has allotted us. It was not a lawful Deſire of getting his own, but a ſinful Deſire of getting more than his own.

Secondly, Chriſt's Refuſal to interpoſe in this Matter, v. 14. Man, who made me a Judge or Divider over you. In Matters of this Nature Chriſt would not aſſume either a Legiſlative Power to alter the ſettled Rule of Inheritance, or a judicial Power to determine Controverſies concerning them; he could have done the Judges Part, and Lawyers, as well as he did the Phyſicians, and have ended Suits at Law as happily as he had Diſeaſes, but he would not, for it was not in his Commiſſion, who made me a Judge? Probably he refers to the Indignity done to Moſes by his Brethren in Egypt, which Steven upbraided the Jews with, Acts 7. 27, 35. If I ſhould offer to do this, you would taunt me as you did Moſes, who made thee a Judge or a Divider? He corrects the Man's Miſtake, will not admit his Appeal, 'twas coram non judice, and ſo diſmiſſeth his Bill. If he had come to him to deſire him to aſſiſt his Purſuits of his Heavenly Inheritance, Chriſt would have given him his beſt Help, but as to this Matter he has nothing to do, who made me a Judge? Note, Jeſus Chriſt was no Uſurper, he took no Honour, no Power to himſelf, but what was given him, Heb. 5. 5. Whatever he did, he could tell by what Authority he did it, and who gave him that Authority.

Now this ſhews us what is the Nature and Conſtitution of Chriſt's Kingdom; it is a Spiritual Kingdom, and not of this World. (1.) It doth not interfere with Civil Powers, nor take the Authority of Princes out of their Hands: Chriſtianity leaves the Matter as it found it, as to Civil Power. (2.) It doth not intermeddle with Civil Rights; it obligeth all to do juſtly, according to the ſettled Rules of Equity, but Dominion is not founded in Grace. (3.) It doth not encourage our Expectations of worldly Advantages by our Religion. If this Man will be a Diſciple of Chriſt, and expects that in Conſideration of that, Chriſt ſhould give him his Brother's Eſtate, he is miſtaken; the Rewards of Chriſt's Diſciples are of another Nature. (4.) It doth not encourage our Conteſts with our Brethren, and our being rigorous and high in our Demands, but rather for Peace ſake to recede from our Right. (5.) It doth not allow Miniſters to entangle themſelves in the Affairs of this Life, 2 Tim. 3. 4. to leave the Word of God to ſerve Tables. There are thoſe whoſe Buſineſs it is, let it be left to them, tractent fabrilla fabri.

Thirdly, The neceſſary Caution which Chriſt took Occaſion from hence to give to his Hearers. Tho' he came not to be a Divider of Mens Eſtates, he came to be a Director of their Conſciences about them, and would have all take Heed of Harbouring that corrupt Principle, which they ſaw to be in others the Root of ſo much Evil. Here's,

1. The Caution itſelf, v. 15. Take heed and beware of Covetouſneſs, ὁρᾶτε, Obſerve yourſelves, keep a jealous Eye upon your own Hearts, leſt covetous Principles ſteal into them, and φυλάσσεσθε preſerve yourſelves, keep a ſtrict Hand upon your own Hearts, leſt covetous Principles rule and give Law in them. Covetouſneſs is a Sin which we have need conſtantly to watch againſt, and therefore frequently to be warn'd againſt.

2. The Reaſon of it, or an Argument to enforce this Caution: For a Man's Life conſiſteth not in the Abundance of the Things which he poſſeſſeth, i. e. Our Happineſs and Comfort doth not depend upon our having a great deal of Wealth in this World. (1.) The Life of the Soul to be ſure doth not depend upon it, and the Soul is the Man. The Things of the World will not ſute the Nature of a Soul, nor ſupply its Needs, nor ſatisfy its Deſires, nor laſt ſo long as it will laſt. Nay, (2.) Even the Life of the Body, and the Happineſs of that, doth not conſiſt in an Abundance of theſe Things, for many live very contentedly, and eaſily, and get through the World very comfortably, that have but a little of the Wealth of it, a Dinner of Herbs with holy Love, is better than a Feaſt of fat Things: And on the other Hand, many live very miſerably, that have a great deal of the Things of this World, they poſſeſs abundance, and yet have no Comfort of it; they bereave their Soul of Good, Eccl. 4. 8. Many that have abundance are diſcontented and fretting, as Ahab and Haman, and then what good doth their Abundance to them?

3. The Illuſtration of this by a Parable: The Sum of which is to ſhew the Folly of carnal Worldlings while they live, and their Miſery when they die, which is intended, not only for a Check to that Man who came to Chriſt with an Addreſs about his Eſtate, while he was in no Care about his Soul and another World; but for the enforcing of that neceſſary Caution to us all, to take heed of Covetouſneſs. The Parable gives us the Life and Death of a rich Man, and leaves us to judge whether he was a happy Man.

1. Here's an Account of his worldly Wealth and Abundance, v. 16. The Ground of a certain rich Man brought forth plentifully, χώρα, Regio, He had a whole Country to himſelf, a Lordſhip of his own; he was a little Prince. Obſerve, His Wealth lay much in the Fruit of the Earth, for the King himſelf is ſerved of the Field, Eccl. 1. 9. He had a great deal of Ground, and his Ground was fruitful; much would have more, and he had more. Note, The Fruitfulneſs of the Earth is a great Bleſſing, but is a Bleſſing which God often gives plentifully to wicked Men, to whom it is a Snare, that we may not think to judge of his Love or Hatred by what is before us.

2. Here are the Workings of his Heart in the midſt of this Abundance. We are here told what he thought within himſelf, v. 17. Note, The God of Heaven knows and obſerves whatever we think within ourſelves, and we are accountable to him for it: He is both a Diſcerner and Judge of the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart. We miſtake if we imagine Thoughts are hid, and Thoughts are free.

Let us here obſerve,

1. What his Cares and Concerns were. When he ſaw an extraordinary Crop upon his Ground, inſtead of thanking God for it, or rejoycing in the Opportunity it would give him of doing the more Good, he afflicts himſelf with this Thought, what ſhall I do, becauſe I have no Room where to beſtow my Fruits? He ſpeaks as one at a Loſs, and full of Perplexity. What ſhall I do now? The pooreſt Beggar in the Country, that did not know where to have a Meals Meat, could not have ſaid a more anxious Word. Diſquieting Care is the common Fruit of an Abundance of this World, and the common Fault of thoſe that have Abundance. The more Men have, the more Perplexity they have with it, and the more ſollicitous they are to keep what they have, and to add to it, how to ſpare, and how to ſpend, ſo that even the Abundance of the Rich will not ſuffer them to Sleep, for thinking what they ſhall do with what they have, and how they ſhall diſpoſe of it. The rich Man ſeems to ſpeak it with a Sigh, what ſhall I do? And if you aſk, why what's the Matter? truly he has Abundance of Wealth, and wants a Place to put it in; that's all.

2. What his Projects and Purpoſes were, which were the Reſult of his Cares, and were indeed abſurd and fooliſh like them, v. 18. This will I do, and 'tis the wiſeſt Courſe I can take, I will pull down my Barns, for they are too little, and I will build greater, and there will I beſtow all my Fruits and my Goods, and then I ſhall be at Eaſe. Now here (1.) It was Folly for him to call the Fruits of the Ground his Fruits, and his Goods: He ſeems to lay a pleaſing Emphaſis upon that, my Fruits, and my Goods, whereas what we have is but lent us for our Uſe, the Property is ſtill in God; we are but Stewards of our Lord's Goods, Tenants at Will of our Lord's Land. 'Tis my Corn (ſaith God) and my Wine, Hoſ. 2. 8, 9. (2.) It was Folly for him to hoard up what he had, and then to think it well beſtow'd. There will I beſtow it all; as if none muſt be beſtow'd upon the Poor, none upon his Family, none upon the Levite and the Stranger, the Fatherleſs and the Widow, but all in the great Barn. (3.) It was Folly for him to let his Mind riſe with his Condition, when his Ground brought forth more plentifully than uſual, then to talk of bigger Barns, as if the next Year muſt needs be as fruitful as this, and much more abundant; whereas the Barn might be as much too big the next Year, as it was too little this: Years of Famine commonly follow Years of Plenty, as they did in Egypt; and therefore he had better to have ſtack'd ſome of his Corn this once. (4.) It was Folly for him to think to eaſe his Care by building new Barns, for the building of them would but increaſe his Care, thoſe know that, who know any Thing of the Spirit of Building. The Way that God preſcribes for the Cure of inordinate Care is certainly ſucceſsful, but the Way of the World doth but increaſe it. And beſides, when he had done this, there were other Cares would ſtill attend him, the greater the Barns, ſtill the greater the Cares, Eccl. 5. 10. (5.) It was Folly for him to contrive and reſolve all this abſolutely, and without Reſerve. This I will do, I will pull down my Barns, and I will build greater, yea, that I will, without ſo much as that neceſſary Proviſo, If the Lord will I ſhall live, Jam. 4. 13, 14. Peremptory Projects, are fooliſh Projects, for our Times are in God's Hand, and not in our own; and we do not ſo much as know what ſhall be on the Morrow.

What his pleaſing Hopes and Expectations were when he had made good thoſe Projects: Then I will ſay to my Soul upon the Credit of this Security, whether God ſay it or no, Soul, mark what I ſay, Thou haſt much Goods laid up for many Years, in theſe Barns: Now take thine Eaſe, enjoy thy ſelf, Eat, Drink, and be merry, v. 19. and here alſo appears his Folly, as much in the Enjoyment of his Wealth, as in the Purſuit of it. (1.) It was Folly for him to put of his Comfort in his Abundance, till he had compaſs'd his Projects concerning it. When he has built bigger Barns and fill'd them, which will be a Work of Time, then he will take his Eaſe, and might he not as well have done that now? Grotius here quotes the Story of Phyrrus, that was projecting to make himſelf Maſter of Sicily, Africa, and other Places, in the Proſecution of his Victories; well, ſaith his Friend Cyneas, and what muſt we do then? Poſtea Vivimus, ſaith he; Then we will live; at hoc jam licet, ſaith Cyneas, we may live now if we pleaſe. (2.) It was Folly for him to be confident that his Goods were laid up for many Years, as if his bigger Barns would be ſafer than thoſe he had; whereas in an Hour's Time they might be burnt to the Ground, perhaps by Lightning, which there is no Defence againſt, and all that was laid up in them. A few Years may make a great Change; Moth and Ruſt may corrupt, or Thieves break thro' and ſteal. (3.) It was Folly for him to count upon certain Eaſe, when he laid up abundance of the Wealth of this World, whereas there are many Things that make People uneaſy in the midſt of their greateſt Abundance: One dead Fly may ſpoil a whole Pot of precious Ointment; and one Thorn a whole Bed of Down. Pain and Sickneſs of Body, Diſagreeableneſs of Relations, and eſpecially a guilty Conſcience, may rob a Man of his Eaſe, that has never ſo much of the Wealth of this World. (4.) It was Folly for him to think of making no other Uſe of his Plenty, but to Eat and Drink, and to be Merry; to indulge the Fleſh, and gratifie the ſenſual Appetite, without any Thought of doing good to others, and being put thereby into a better Capacity of ſerving God and his Generation. As if we did live to eat, and not eat to live, and the Happineſs of Man conſiſted in nothing elſe, but in having all the Gratifications of Senſe wound up to the Height of Pleaſurableneſs. (5.) It was the greateſt Folly of all, to ſay all this to his Soul. If he had ſaid, Body, take thine Eaſe, for thou haſt Goods laid up for many Years, there had been Senſe in it; but the Soul, conſider'd as an immortal Spirit, ſeparable from the Body, was no way intereſted in a Barn full of Corn, or a Bag full of Gold. If he had had the Soul of a Swine, he might have bleſs'd it with the Satisfaction of Eating and Drinking; but what is this to the Soul of a Man, that has Exigences and Deſires which theſe Things will be no Ways ſuited to. It is the great Abſurdity which the Children of this World are guilty of, that they portion their Souls in the Wealth of the World, and the Pleaſures of Senſe.

3. Here's God's Sentence upon all this; and we are ſure that his Judgment is according to Truth. He ſaid to himſelf, ſaid to his Soul, Take thine Eaſe; and if God had ſaid ſo too, the Man had been happy, as his Spirit witneſſes with the Spirit of Believers, to make them eaſy, but God ſaid quite otherwiſe; and by his Judgment of us we muſt ſtand or fall, not by ours of ourſelves, 2. Cor. 10. His Neighbours bleſſed him, Pſal. 10. 3. prais'd him as doing well for himſelf, Pſ. 44. 18. but God ſaid he did ill for himſelf, Thou Fool, this Night thy Soul ſhall be required of thee, v. 20. God ſaid to him, i. e. decreed this concerning him, and let him know it, either by his Conſcience, or by ſome awakening Providence, or rather by both together. This was ſaid when he was in the Fulneſs of his Sufficiency, Job 20. 22. when his Eyes were held waking upon his Bed with his Cares and Contrivances about enlarging his Barns, not by adding a Bay or two more of Building to them, which might ſerve to anſwer the End, but by pulling them down and building greater, which was requiſite to pleaſe his Fancy: When he was forecaſting this, and had brought it to an Iſſue, and then lull'd himſelf aſleep again, with a pleaſing Dream of many Years Enjoyment of his preſent Improvements, then God ſaid this to him: Thus Belſhazzar was ſtruck with Terror by the Hand-writing on the Wall in the midſt of his Jolitry. Now obſerve what God ſaid, (1.) The Character he gave him, Thou Fool, thou Nabal, alluding to the Story of Nabal, that Fool; Nabal is his Name, and Folly is with him, whoſe Heart was ſtruck dead as a Stone, when he was regaling himſelf in his abundance of his Proviſion for his Sheep-Shearers. Note, Carnal Worldlings are Fools, and the Day is coming when God will call them by their own Name, thou Fool, and they will call themſelves ſo. (2.) The Sentence he paſt upon him, a Sentence of Death; This Night thy Soul ſhall be required of thee; they ſhall require thy Soul, ſo the Words are, and then whoſe ſhall thoſe Things be which thou haſt provided? He thought he had Goods that ſhould be his many Years, but he muſt part from them this Night: He thought he ſhould enjoy them himſelf, but he muſt leave them to he knows not who. Note, The Death of carnal Worldlings is miſerable in itſelf, and terrible to them.

1. It is a Force, an Arreſt, 'tis the requiring of the Soul, that Soul that thou art making ſuch a Fool of; what haſt thou to do with a Soul that canſt uſe it no better. Thy Soul ſhall be requir'd; that intimates that he is loth to part with it. A good Man that has taken his Heart off from this World, chearfully reſigns his Soul at Death, and gives it up; but a Worldly Man has it torn from him with Violence, 'tis a Terror to him to think of leaving this World. They ſhall require thy Soul; God ſhall require it, i. e. he ſhall require an Account of it; Man, Woman, what haſt thou done with thy Soul? give an Account of that Stewardſhip. They ſhall, i. e. Evil Angels, as the Meſſengers of God's Juſtice. As good Angels receive gracious Souls, to carry them to their Joy, ſo evil Angels receive wicked Souls to carry them to the Place of Torment; they ſhall require it, as a guilty Soul to be puniſh'd. The Devil requires the Soul as his own, for it did in Effect give itſelf to him.

2. It is a Surprize, an unexpected Force. 'Tis in the Night, and Terrors in the Night are moſt terrible. The Time of Death is Day-time to a good Man, 'tis his Morning; but 'tis Night to a Worldling, a dark Night, he lies down in Sorrow. 'Tis this Night, this preſent Night without Delay, there's no giving Bail, or begging Day, this pleaſant Night when thou art promiſing thyſelf many Years to come, now thou muſt die and go to Judgment: Thou art entertaining thyſelf with the Fancy of many a merry Day, and merry Night, and merry Feaſt, but in the midſt of all, here's an end of all, Iſa. 21. 4.

3. It is the leaving of all thoſe Things behind which they have provided, which they have labour'd for, and prepar'd for hereafter, with abundance of Toil and Care. All that which they have plac'd their Happineſs in, and built their Hope upon, and rais'd their Expectations from, they muſt leave behind: Their Pomp ſhall not deſcend after them, Pſal. 44. 17. but they ſhall go as naked out of the World, as they came into it, and they ſhall have no Benefit at all by what they have hoarded up, either in Death, in Judgment, or in their everlaſting State.

4. It is leaving them to they know not who. Then whoſe ſhall thoſe Things be? Not thine to be ſure, and thou knoweſt not what they will prove for whom thou didſt deſign them, thy Children and Relations, whether they will be Wiſe or Fools, Eccl. 2. 18, 19. whether ſuch will bleſs thy Memory or curſe it, be a Credit to thy Family, or a Blemiſh; do good or hurt with what thou leaveſt them, keep it or ſpend it; nay thou knoweſt not but thoſe for whom thou doſt deſign it, may be prevented from the Enjoyment of it, and it may be turn'd to ſome Body elſe thou little thinkeſt of it: Nay, tho' thou knoweſt to whom thou leaveſt it, thou knoweſt not to whom they will leave it, nor into whoſe Hand it will come at laſt. If many a Man could have foreſeen to whom his Houſe would have come after his Death, he would rather have burnt it than beautify'd it.

5. It is a Demonſtration of his Folly. Carnal Worldlings are Fools while they live; this their Way is their Folly, Pſal. 49. 13. but their Folly is made moſt evident when they die, at his End he ſhall be a Fool, Jer. 17. 11. for then it will appear he took Pains to lay up Treaſure in a World he was haſtening from, but took no Care to lay it up for the World he was haſtning to.

Laſtly, Here's the Reddition of this Parable, v. 21. ſo is he, ſuch a Fool, a Fool in God's Judgment, a Fool upon Record, that layeth up Treaſure for himſelf, and is not rich towards God. This is the Way, and this is the End of ſuch a Man. Obſerve here,

1. The Deſcription of a worldly Man. He lays up Treaſure for himſelf, for the Body, for the World, for himſelf, in Oppoſition to God, for that ſelf, that is to be deny'd. (1.) It is his Error that he counts his Fleſh himſelf, as if the Body were the Man. If ſelf be rightly ſtated and underſtood, 'tis only the true Chriſtian that lays up Treaſure for himſelf, and is wiſe for himſelf, Prov. 9. 12. (2.) It is his Error, that he makes it his Buſineſs to lay up for the Fleſh, which he calls laying up for himſelf. All his Labour is for his Mouth, Eccl. 6. 7. making Proviſion for the Fleſh. (3.) 'Tis the Error, that he counts thoſe Things his Treaſure, which are thus laid up for the World and the Body, and the Life that now is, they are the Wealth he truſts to, and ſpends upon, and lets out his Affection towards. (4.) The greateſt Error of all is, that he is in no Care to be rich towards God, rich in the Account of God, whoſe accompting us rich makes us ſo, Rev. 2. 9. rich in the Things of God, rich in Faith, Jam. 2. 5. rich in good Works, in the Fruits of Righteouſneſs, 1 Tim. 6. 18. rich in Graces and Comforts, and ſpiritual Gifts. Many that have abundance of this World, are wholly deſtitute of that which will enrich their Souls, which will make them rich towards God, rich for Eternity.

2. The Folly and Miſery of a worldly Man; ſo is he. Our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who knows what the End of Things will be, has here told us what the End will be. Note, It is the unſpeakable Folly of the moſt of Men to mind and purſue the Wealth of this World more than the Wealth of the other World, that which is for the Body only, and for Time, more than that which is for the Soul and Eternity.

22 ¶ And he ſaid unto his diſciples, Therefore I ſay unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye ſhall eat; neither for the body, what ye ſhall put on. 23 The life is more then meat, and the body is more then raiment. 24 Conſider the ravens:
for they neither ſow nor reap, which neither have ſtore-houſe or barn; and God feedeth them:
How much more are ye better then the fowls?
25 And which of you with taking thought can add to his ſtature one cubit? 26 If ye then be not able to do that thing which is leaſt, why take ye thought for the reſt? 27 Conſider the lillies how they grow:
They toil not, they ſpin not: and yet I ſay unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of theſe. 29 If then God ſo clothe the graſs, which is to day in the field, and to morrow his caſt into the oven: how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith? 29 And ſeek not what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall drink; neither be ye of doubtful mind. 30 For all theſe things do the nations of the world ſeek after, and your Father knoweth that ye have need of theſe things. 31 ¶ But rather ſeek ye the kingdom of God, and all theſe things ſhall be added unto you. 32 Fear not, little flock; for it is your Fathers good pleaſure to give you the kingdom.
33 Sell that ye have, and give alms: provide your ſelves bags which wax not old, a treaſure in the heavens that faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth. 34 For where your treaſure is, there will your heart be alſo. 35 Let your loins be girded about, and your lights burning? 36 And ye your ſelves like unto men that wait for their Lord, when he will return from the wedding, that when he cometh and knocketh, they may open unto him immediately.
37 Bleſſed are thoſe ſervants whom the Lord when he cometh ſhall find watching: verily I ſay unto you, that he ſhall gird himſelf, and make them to ſit down to meat, and will come forth and ſerve them. 38 And if he ſhall come in the ſecond watch, or come in the third watch, and find them ſo, bleſſed are thoſe ſervants. 39 And this know, that if the good-man of the houſe had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched, and not have ſuffered his houſe to be broken through. 40
Be ye therefore ready alſo; for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not.

Our Lord Jeſus is here inculcating ſome needful, uſeful Leſſons upon his Diſciples, which he had before taught them, and had Occaſion afterwards to preſs upon them; for they need to have Precept upon Precept, and Line upon Line: Therefore, becauſe there are ſo many that are ruin'd by Covetouſneſs and an inordinate Affection to the Wealth of this World, I ſay unto you, my Diſciples, take heed of it: Thou O Man of God flee theſe Things, as well as thou O Man of the World, 1 Tim. 6. 11.

Firſt, He chargeth them not to afflict themſelves with diſquieting perplexing Cares, about the neceſſary Supports of Life, v. 22. Take no Thought for your Life. In the foregoing Parable he had given us Warning againſt that Branch of Covetouſneſs which rich People are moſt in Danger of, and that is a Senſual Complacency in Abundance of this World's Goods. Now his Diſciples might think they were in no Danger of that, for they had no Plenty or Variety to glory in; and therefore he here warns them againſt another Branch of Covetouſneſs, which they are moſt in Temptation to, that have but a little of this World, which was the Caſe of the Diſciples at beſt, and much more now they had left all to follow Chriſt; and that was an anxious Sollicitude about the neceſſary Supports of Life, Take no Thought for your Life, either for the Preſervation of it, if it be in Danger, or for the Proviſion that is to be made for it, either of Food or Clothing, what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall put on. This is the Caution he had largely inſiſted upon, Mat. 6. 25. &c. And the Arguments here us'd are much the ſame, deſign'd for our Encouragement to caſt all our Care upon God, which is the right Way to eaſe ourſelves of it. Conſider then,

1. God that has done the greater for us, may be depended upon to do the leſſer: He hath, without any Care or Forecaſt of our own, given us Life and a Body, and therefore we may chearfully leave it to him to provide Meat for the Support of that Life, and Raiment for the Defence of that Body.

2. God that provides for the inferior Creatures may be depended upon to provide for good Chriſtians. Truſt God for Meat, for he feeds the Ravens, v. 24. they neither ſow nor reap, they take neither Care nor Pains before hand to provide for themſelves, and yet they are fed, and never periſh for Want: Now conſider how much better ye are than the Fowls, than the Ravens: Truſt God for Clothing, for he cloaths the Lillies v. 27, 28. they make no Preparation for their own Clothing, they toil not, they ſpin not, the Root in the Ground is a naked Thing, and without Ornament, and yet as the Flower grows up, it appears wonderfully beautify'd: Now, if God has ſo cloth'd the Flowers, which are fading periſhing Things, ſhall he not much more clothe you with ſuch Clothing as is fit for you, and with Clothing ſuited to your Nature as theirs is? When God fed Iſrael with Manna in the Wilderneſs, he alſo took Care for their Clothing; for tho' he did not furniſh them with new Clothes, yet (which came all to one) he provided that thoſe they had ſhould not wax old upon them, Deut. 8. 4. Thus will he cloth his ſpiritual Iſrael, but then let not them be of little Faith. Note, Our inordinate Cares are owing to the Weakneſs of our Faith, for a powerful practical Belief of the All-ſufficiency of God, his Covenant Relation to us, as a Father, and eſpecially his precious Promiſes, relating both to this Life and that to come, would be mighty, through God, to the pulling down of the ſtrong Holds of theſe diſquieting perplexing Imaginations.

3. Our Cares are fruitleſs and vain, and inſignificant, and therefore 'tis Folly to indulge them; they will not gain us our Wiſhes, and therefore ought not to hinder our Repoſe, v. 25. Which of you by taking Thought can add to his Stature one Cubit? no, not one Inch; can add to his Age one Year; no, nor one Hour. Now if ye be not able to do that which is leaſt, if it be not in your Power to alter your Statures, why ſhould you perplex yourſelves about other Things that are as much out of your Power, and about which it is as neceſſary that we refer ourſelves to the Providence of God? Note, As in our Stature, ſo in our State; it is our Wiſdom to take it as it is, and make the beſt of it, for fretting and vexing, carking and caring will not mend it.

4. An inordinate ſollicitous Purſuit of the Things of this World, even neceſſary Things, doth very ill become the Diſciples of Chriſt, v. 29, 30. Whatever others do, Seek not ye what ye ſhall eat, or what ye ſhall drink; do not ye afflict yourſelves with perplexing Cares, nor weary yourſelves with conſtant Toils; do not you hurry hither and thither with Enquiries what you ſhall eat or drink, as David's Enemies, that wander'd up and down for Meat, Pſal. 59. 15. or as the Eagle that ſeeks the Prey afar off, Job 39. 29. Let not the Diſciples of Chriſt thus ſeek their Food, but ask it of God, Day by Day; let not them be of doubtful Mind, μὴ μετεωρίζεσθε. Be not as Meteors in the Air, that are blown hither and thither with every Wind; do not like them riſe and fall, but mantain a Conſiſtency with yourſelves; be even and ſteady, and have your Hearts fix'd; live not in careful Suſpence; let not your Minds be continually perplex'd between Hope and Fear, even upon the Rack. Let not the Children of God make themſelves uneaſy: For,

1. This is to make themſelves like the Children of this World; all theſe Things do the Nations of the World ſeek after, v. 30. They that take Care for the Body only, and not for the Soul, for this World only, and not for the other, look no further than what they ſhall eat and drink; and having no all-ſufficient God to ſeek to and confide in, they burthen themſelves with anxious Cares about thoſe Things; but it ill becomes you to do ſo: You who are called out of the World, ought not to be thus conformed to the World, and to walk in the Way of this People, Iſa. 8. 11, 12. When inordinate Cares prevail over us, we ſhould think, what am I, a Chriſtian or a Heathen; Baptiz'd or not Baptiz'd; If a Chriſtian, if baptiz'd, ſhall I rank myſelf with Gentiles, and joyn with them in their Purſuits?

2. It is needleſs for them to diſquiet themſelves with Care about the neceſſary Supports of Life, for they have a Father in Heaven who doth and will take Care for them. Your Father knows that you have need of theſe Things, and conſiders it, and will ſupply your Needs according to his Riches in Glory, for he is your Father, who made you ſubject to theſe Neceſſities, and therefore will ſuit his Compaſſions to them; your Father who maintains you, educates you, and deſigns an Inheritance for you, and therefore will take Care that you want no good Thing.

3. They have better Things to mind and purſue, v. 31. But rather ſeek ye the Kingdom of God, and mind that; you my Diſciples that are to preach the Kingdom of God, Let your Hearts be upon your Work, and your great Care how to do that well, and that will effectually divert your Thoughts from inordinate Care about the Things of the World. And let all that have Souls to ſave, ſeek the Kingdom of God, in which only they can be ſafe: Seek Admiſſion into it, ſeek Advancement in it, ſeek the Kingdom of Grace, to be Subjects in that; the Kingdom of Glory, to be Princes in that, and then all theſe Things ſhall be added to you; mind the Affairs of your Souls with Diligence and Care, and then truſt God with all your other Affairs.

4. They have better Things to expect and hope for, v. 32. Fear not, little Flock: For the baniſhing of inordinate Cares, 'tis neceſſary that Fears ſhould be ſuppreſs'd, when we frighten ourſelves with an Apprehenſion of Evil to come, we put ourſelves upon the Stretch of Care how to avoid it, when after all perhaps 'tis but the Creature of our own Imagination; therefore fear not, little Flock, but hope to the End, for it is your Father's good Pleaſure to give you the Kingdom. This comfortable Word we had not in Matthew. Note, 1. Chriſt's Flock in this World is a little Flock, his Sheep are but few and feeble: The Church is a Vineyard, a Garden, a ſmall Spot, compar'd with the Wilderneſs of this World, as Iſrael, 1 Kings 20. 27. who were like two little Flocks of Kids, when the Syrians filled the Country. 2. Tho' it be a little Flock, quite over-number'd, and therefore in Danger of being over-power'd by its Enemies, yet it is the Will of Chriſt that they ſhould not be afraid. Fear not little Flock, but ſee yourſelves ſafe under the Protection and Conduct of the great and good Shepherd, and lie eaſy. 3. God has a Kingdom in Store for all that belong to Chriſt's little Flock; a Crown of Glory, 1 Pet. 5. 4. a Throne of Power, Rev, 3. 21. unſearchable Riches, far exceeding the peculiar Treaſures of Kings and Provinces. The Sheep on the right Hand are called to come and inherit the Kingdom, 'tis theirs for ever; a Kingdom for each. 4. The Kingdom is given according to the good Pleaſure of the Father; 'tis your Father's good Pleaſure, 'tis given not of Debt, but of Grace, free Grace, ſovereign Grace, even ſo Father, becauſe it ſeemed good unto thee: The Kingdom is his, and may he not do what he will with his own? 5. The believing Hopes and Proſpects of the Kingdom, ſhould ſilence and ſuppreſs the Fears of Chriſt's little Flock in this World. Fear no Trouble, for tho' it ſhould come, it ſhall not come between you and the Kingdom, that's ſure, 'tis near; that's not an Evil worth trembling at the Thought of, which cannot ſeparate us from the Love of God. Fear not the Want of any Thing that's good for you, for if it be your Father's good Pleaſure to give you the Kingdom, you need not queſtion but he will bear your Charges thither.

Secondly, He chargeth them to make ſure Work for their Souls, by laying up their Treaſure in Heaven, v. 33, 34. And thoſe who have done this may be very eaſy, as to all the Events of Time.

1. Sit looſe to this World, and to all your Poſſeſſions in it. Sell that ye have, and give Alms, i. e. rather than want wherewith to relieve thoſe that are truly neceſſitous, ſell that which you have ſuperfluous, all that you can ſpare from the Support of yourſelves and Families, and give it to the Poor. Sell that ye have, if ye find it a Hindrance from, or Encumbrance in the Service of Chriſt. Do not think yourſelves undone, if by being fin'd, impriſon'd or baniſh'd for the Teſtimony of Jeſus, you be forc'd to ſell your Eſtates, tho' they be the Inheritance of your Fathers. Do not ſell to hoard up the Money, or becauſe you can make more of it by Uſury, but ſell and give Alms; and what is given in Alms, in a right Manner, is put out to the beſt Intereſt, upon the beſt Security.

2. Set your Hearts upon the other World, and your Expectations from that World. Provide yourſelves Bags that wax not old, that wax not empty, not of Gold, but of Grace in the Heart, and good Works in the Life; theſe are Bags that will laſt; Grace will go with us into another World, for it is woven into the Soul, and our good Works will follow us, for God is not unrighteous to forget them. Theſe will be Treaſures in Heaven that will enrich us to Eternity. (1.) 'Tis Treaſure that will not be exhauſted; we may ſpend upon it to Eternity, and it will not be at all the leſs; there's no Danger of ſeeing the Bottom of it. (2.) 'Tis Treaſure that we are in no Danger of being robb'd of, for no Thief approacheth near it; what is laid up in Heaven is out of the Reach of Enemies. (3.) 'Tis Treaſure that will not ſpoil with keeping, no more than it will waſte with ſpending, the Moth doth not corrupt, as it doth our Garments we now wear. Now by this it doth appear that we have laid up our Treaſure in Heaven, if our Hearts be there, while we are here, v. 34. If we think much of Heaven, and keep our Eye upon it, if we quicken ourſelves with the Hopes of it, and keep ourſelves in Awe with the Fear of falling ſhort of it. But if your Hearts be ſet upon the Earth, and the Things of it, it is to be fear'd you have your Treaſure and Portion in it, and are undone when you leave it.

Thirdly, He chargeth them to get ready, and to keep in a Readineſs for Chriſt's Coming; when all thoſe who have laid up their Treaſure in Heaven, ſhall enter upon the Enjoyment of it, v. 35. &c.

1. Chriſt is our Maſter, and we are his Servants, not only working Servants, but waiting Servants, Servants that are to do him Honour in waiting on him, and attending his Motions: If any Man ſerve me, let him follow me, follow the Lamb whitherſoever he goes; but that is not all, they muſt do him Honour in waiting for him, and expecting his Return. We muſt be as Men that wait for their Lord, that ſit up late, while he ſtays out late, to be ready to receive him.

2. Chriſt our Maſter, tho' now gone from us, will return again, return from the Wedding; from ſolemnizing the Nuptials abroad, to compleat them at home. Chriſt's Servants are now in a State of Expectation, looking for their Maſter's glorious Appearing, and doing every Thing with an Eye to that, and in Order to that. He will come to take Cognizance of his Servants, and that being a critical Day, they ſhall either ſtay with him or be turn'd out of Doors, according as they are found in that Day.

3. The Time of our Maſter's Return is uncertain; 'twill be in the Night, 'twill be far in the Night, when he has long deferr'd his coming, and when many have done looking for him; in the ſecond Watch, juſt before Midnight, or in the third Watch, next after Midnight, v. 38. His coming to us at our Death is uncertain, and to many it will be a great Surprize, for v. 40. The Son of Man cometh at an Hour that ye think not, without giving Notice before-Hand. This ſpeaks not only the Uncertainty of the Time of his Coming, but the prevailing Security of the greateſt Part of Men, that are unthinking, and altogether regardleſs of the Notices given them, ſo that whenever he comes, 'tis an Hour that they think not of.

4. That which he expects and requires from his Servants, is, that they be ready to open to him immediately, whenever he comes, v. 36. that is, that they be in a Frame fit to receive him, or rather to be received by him; that they may be found as his Servants, in the Poſture that becomes them, with their Loins girded about, alluding to Servants that are ready to go where their Maſter ſends them, and do what their Maſter bids them, having their long Garments tuck'd up, which otherwiſe would hang about them, and hinder them; and their Lights burning, with which to light their Maſter into the Houſe, and up to his Chamber.

5. Thoſe Servants will be happy who are found ready and in a good Frame when their Lord comes, v. 37. Bleſſed are thoſe Servants who after having waited long, continue in a waiting Frame, 'till the Hour that their Lord comes, and are then found awake, and aware of his firſt Approach, of his firſt Knock; and again, v. 38. Bleſſed are thoſe Servants, for then will be the Time of their Preferment. And here is ſuch an Inſtance of Honour done them, as is ſcarce to be found among Men, he ſhall make them ſit down to Meat, and ſerve them; for the Bridegroom to wait upon his Bride at Table, is not uncommon, but to wait upon his Servants is not the Manner of Men; yet Jeſus Chriſt was among his Diſciples as one that ſerved; and did once, to ſhew his Condeſcenſion, gird himſelf and ſerve them, when he waſh'd their Feet, Joh. 13. 4, 5. and it ſignified the Joy with which they ſhall be received into the other World by the Lord Jeſus, who is gone before to prepare for them, and has told them that his Father will honour them, John 12. 26.

6. We are therefore kept at Uncertainty concerning the preciſe Time of his Coming, that we may be always ready; for its no Thanks to a Man to be ready for an Attack, if he know before hand juſt the Time when it will be made: The good Man of the Houſe, if he had known what Hour the Thief would have come, tho' he were never ſo careleſs a Man, yet would have watch'd, and have frighten'd away the Thieves, v. 39. But we do not know at what Hour the Alarm will be given us, and therefore are concern'd to watch at all Times, and never to be off our Guard. Or this may intimate the miſerable Caſe of thoſe who are careleſs and unbelieving in this great Matter. If the good Man of the Houſe had Notice of his Danger of being robb'd ſuch a Night, he would have ſitten up and ſav'd his Houſe; but we have Notice of the Day of the Lord's Coming, as a Thief in the Night, to the Confuſion and Ruin of all ſecure Sinners, and yet do not thus watch. If Men will take ſuch Care of their Houſes, O let us be thus wiſe for our Souls; Be ye therefore ready alſo, as ready as the good Man of the Houſe wou'd be, if he knew what Hour the Thief would come.

41 ¶ Then Peter ſaid unto him, Lord, ſpeakeſt thou this Parable unto us, or even unto all? 42 And the Lord ſaid, Who then is that faithful and wiſe ſteward, whom his lord ſhall make ruler over his houſhold, to give them their portion of meat in due ſeaſon? 43 Bleſſed is that ſervant, whom his lord when he cometh, ſhall find ſo doing. 44 Of a truth I ſay unto you, that he will make him ruler over all that he hath. 45 But if that ſervant ſay in his heart, My lord delayeth his coming; and ſhall begin to beat the men-ſervants and maidens, and to eat and drink, and to be drunken: 46 The lord of that ſervant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in ſunder, and will appoint him his portion with the unbelievers. 47 And that ſervant which knew his lords will, and prepared not himſelf, neither did according to his will, ſhall be beaten with many ſtripes. 48 But he that knew not, and did commit things worthy of ſtripes, ſhall be beaten with few ſtripes: For unto whomſoever much is given, of him ſhall be much required: and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more. 49 ¶ I am come to ſend fire on the earth, and what will I, if it be already kindled? 50 But I have a baptiſm to be baptized with, and how am I ſtraitned till it be accompliſhed! 51 Suppoſe ye that I come to give peace on earth? I tell you, Nay, but rather diviſion. 52 For from henceforth there ſhall be five in one houſe divided, three againſt two, and two againſt three. 53 The father ſhall be divided againſt the ſon, and the ſon againſt the father? the mother againſt the daughter, and the daughter againſt the mother: the mother in law againſt her daughter in law, and the daughter in law againſt her mother in law.

Here's 1. Peter's Queſtion which he puts to Chriſt, upon Occaſion of the foregoing Parable, v. 41. Lord, ſpeakeſt thou this Parable to us, that are thy conſtant Followers, to us that are Miniſters, or alſo to all that come to be taught by thee, to all the Hearers, and in them to all Chriſtians. Peter was now, as often, Spokeſman for the Diſciples. We have Reaſon to bleſs God that there are ſome ſuch forward Men, that have a Gift of Utterance, and let thoſe that are ſuch, take heed of being proud. Now Peter deſires Chriſt to explain himſelf, and to direct the Arrow of the foregoing Parable to the Mark he intended. He calls it a Parable, becauſe it was not only figurative, but weighty, ſolid, and inſtructive. Lord, ſaith Peter, was it intended for us, or for all; To this Chriſt gives a direct Anſwer, Mark 13. 6. What I ſay unto you, I ſay unto all. Yet here he ſeems to ſhew that the Apoſtles were primarily concern'd in it. Note, We are all concern'd to take to our ſelves what Chriſt in his Word deſigns for us, and to enquire accordingly concerning it, ſpeakeſt thou this to us? To me? Speak Lord for thy Servant hears. Doth this Word belong to me? ſpeak it to my Heart.

2. Chriſt's Reply to this Queſtion, directed to Peter and the reſt of the Diſciples. If what Chriſt had ſaid before, did not ſo peculiarly concern them, but in common with other Chriſtians, who muſt all watch and pray for Chriſt's Coming, as his Servants; yet this that follows is peculiarly adapted to Miniſters, who are the Stewards in Chriſt's Houſe: Now our Lord Jeſus here tells them,

1. What was their Duty as Stewards, and what the Truſt committed to them. (1.) They are made Rulers of God's Houſhold, under Chriſt, whoſe own the Houſe is; Miniſters derive an Authority from Chriſt to preach the Goſpel, and to adminiſter the Ordinances of Chriſt, and apply the Seals of the Covenant of Grace. (2.) Their Buſineſs is to give God's Children and Servants their Portion of Meat, that which was proper for them, and allotted to them. Convictions and Comfort to thoſe to whom they reſpectively belong. Suum cuique. This is rightly to divide the Word of Truth, 2 Tim. 2. 15. (3.) To give it them in due Seaſon, at that Time, and in that Way, as is moſt ſuitable to the Temper and Condition of thoſe that are to be fed; a Word in Seaſon to him that is weary. (4.) Herein they muſt approve themſelves faithful and wiſe; faithful to their Maſter, by whom this great Truſt is repoſed in them, and faithful to their Fellow-Servants, for whoſe Benefit they are put in Truſt; and wiſe to improve an Opportunity of doing Honour to their Maſter, and Service in the Family. Miniſters muſt be both skilful and faithful.

2. What would be their Happineſs if they approv'd themſelves faithful and wiſe, v. 43. Bleſſed is that Servant, (1.) That is doing, and is not idle, nor indulgent of his Eaſe; even the Rulers of the Houſhold muſt be doing, and make themſelves Servants of all. (2.) That is ſo doing, doing as he ſhould be, giving them their Portion of Meat, by publick Preaching, and perſonal Application. (3.) That is found ſo doing when his Lord comes; that perſeveres to the End, notwithſtanding the Difficulties he may meet with in the Way. Now his Happineſs is illuſtrated by the Performance of a Steward, that has approv'd himſelf within a lower and narrower Degree of Service, he ſhall be preferr'd to a larger and higher, v. 44. He will make him Ruler over all that he has, which was Joſeph's Preferment in Pharaoh's Court. Note, Miniſters that obtain Mercy of the Lord to be faithful, ſhall obtain further Mercy, to be abundantly rewarded for their Faithfulneſs in the Day of the Lord.

3. What a dreadful Reckoning there would be, if they were treacherous and unfaithful, v. 45, 46. If that Servant began be quarrelſome and profane, he ſhall be called to an Account, and ſeverely puniſh'd. We had all this before in Matthew, and therefore ſhall here only obſerve, (1.) Our looking upon Chriſt's ſecond Coming as a Thing at a Diſtance, is the Cauſe of all thoſe Irregularities which render the Thought of it terrible to us: He ſaith in his Heart, my Lord delays his Coming. Chriſt's Patience is very often miſinterpreted his Delay, to the Diſcaurageⁿment of his People, and the Encouragement of his Enemies. (2.) The Perſecutors of God's People are commonly abandon'd to Security and Senſuality ; they beat their Fellow Servants, and then eat and drink with the drunken, altogether unconcern'd either at their own Sin or their Brethrens Sufferings, as the King and Haman that ſate down to drink when the City Shuſhan was perplex'd : Thus they drank to drown the Clamours of their own Conſciences, and baffle them, which otherwiſe would fly in their Faces. (3.) Death and Judgment will be very terrible to all wicked People, but eſpecially to wicked Miniſters, 'twill be a Surprize to them, at an Hour when they are not aware, 'twill be the determining of them to endleſs Miſery, they ſhall be cut in ſunder, and have their Portion aſſign'd them with the Unbelievers.

4. What an Aggravation it would be of their Sin and Puniſhment, that they knew their Duty and did not do it, v. 47, 48. For that Servant that knew his Lord's Will, and did it not, ſhall be beaten with many Stripes, ſhall fall under a ſorer Puniſhment, and he that knew not ſhall be beaten with few Stripes ; his Puniſhment ſhall, in Conſideration of that, be mitigated. Here ſeems to be an Alluſion to the Law, which made a Diſtinction between Sins committed through Ignorance, and preſumptuous Sins, Lev. 5. 15. Numb. 15. 29, 30. As alſo to another Law concerning the Number of Stripes given to a Malefactor, to be acccording to the Nature of the Crime, Deut. 25. 2. Now, (1.) Ignorance of our Duty is an Extenuation of Sin. He that knew not his Lord's Will, through Careleſneſs and Neglect, and his not having ſuch Opportunities as ſome others had of coming to the Knowledge of it, and did Things worthy of Stripes, he ſhall be beaten, becauſe he might have known his Duty better, but with few Stripes ; his Ignorance excuſes in Part, but not in whole. Thus through Ignorance the Jews put Chriſt to Death, Acts 3. 17. 1 Cor. 2. 8. and Chriſt pleaded that Ignorance in their Excuſe, they know not what they do. (2.) The Knowledge of our Duty is an Aggravation of our Sin. That Servant that knew his Lord's Will, and yet did his own Will, ſhall be beaten with many Stripes : God will juſtly inflict more upon him, for abuſing the Means of Knowledge he afforded him, which others would have made a better Uſe of, and becauſe it argues a great Degree of Wilfulneſs and Contempt to ſin againſt Knowledge, of how much ſorer Puniſhment then ſhall they be thought worthy, beſides the many Stripes that their own Conſciences will give them? Son remember. Here is a good Reaſon for this added, to whomſoever much is given, of him ſhall be much required, eſpecially when it is committed as a Truſt he is to account for. Thoſe that have greater Capacities of Mind than others, more Knowledge and Learning, more Acquaintance and Converſe with the Scriptures, to them much is given, and their Account will be accordingly.

3. A further Diſcourſe concerning his own Sufferings which he expected, and concerning the Suffering of his Followers which he would have them alſo to live in Expectation of in general, v. 49. I am come to ſend Fire on the Earth. By which ſome underſtand the Preaching of the Goſpel, and the pouring out of the Spirit, holy Fire, this Chriſt came to ſend with a Commiſſion to refine the World, and to purge away its Droſs, to burn up its Chaff, and it was already kindled ; the Goſpel was begun to be preach'd, ſome Prefaces that were to the pouring out of the Spirit: Chriſt baptiz'd with the holy Ghoſt, and with Fire, this Spirit deſcended in fiery Tongues; but by what follows, it ſeems rather to be underſtood of the Fire of Perſecution : Chriſt is not the Author of it as it is the Sin of the Incendiaries, the Perſecutors ; but he permits it, nay, he commiſſions it as a refining Fire for the Trial of the Perſecuted. This Fire was already kindled in the Enmity of the carnal Jews to Chriſt and his Followers. What will I that it may preſently be kindled ; what thou doſt, do quickly. If it be already kindled, what will I ? Shall I wait the quenching of it ? No, for it muſt faſten upon myſelf, and upon all, and Glory will redound to God from it.

1. He muſt himſelf ſuffer many Things ; he muſt paſs thro' this Fire that was already kindled, v. 50. I have a Baptiſm to be baptized with. Afflictions are compared both to Fire and Water, Pſal. 66. 12. 69. 1, 2. Chriſt's Sufferings were both, he calls them a Baptiſm, Mat. 20. 22. for he was water'd or ſprinkled with them, as Iſrael was baptiz'd in the Cloud, and dipt into them, as Iſrael was baptiz'd in the Sea, 1 Cor. 10. 2. He muſt be ſprinkled with his own Blood, and with the Blood of his Enemies, Iſa. 63. 3. See here (1.) Chriſt's Foreſight of his Sufferings ; he knew what he was to undergo, and the Neceſſity of undergoing it. I am to be baptized with a Baptiſm ; he calls his Sufferings by a Name that mitigates them, 'tis a Baptiſm, not a Deluge, I muſt be dipt in them, not drown'd in them ; and by a Name that ſanctifies them, for Baptiſm is a ſacred Rite. Chriſt in his Sufferings devoted himſelf to his Father's Honour, and conſecrated himſelf a Prieſt for evermore, Heb. 7. 27, 28. (2.) Chriſt's Forwardneſs to his Sufferings. How am I ſtraitned till it be accompliſh'd ; he doth long for the Time when he ſhould ſuffer and die, having an Eye to the glorious Iſſue of his Sufferings ; 'tis an Alluſion to a Woman in Travail, that is pain'd to be deliver'd, and welcomes her Pains, becauſe they haſten the Birth of the Child, and wiſhes them ſharp and ſtrong that the Work may be cut ſhort : Chriſt's Sufferings were the Travel of his Soul, which he chearfully underwent, in Hope that he ſhould by them ſee his Seed, Iſa. 53. 10, 11. So much was his Heart upon the Redemption and Salvation of Man.

2. He tells thoſe about him, that they alſo muſt bear with Hardſhips and Difficulties, v. 51. Suppoſe ye that I came to give Peace on Earth, i. e. to give you a peaceable Poſſeſſion of the Earth, and outward Proſperity on the Earth : 'tis intimated that they went upon this Suppoſition, that the Goſpel would meet with a univerſal Welcome, that People would unanimouſly embrace it, and would therefore ſtudy to make the Preachers of it eaſy and great, that Chriſt, if he did not give them Pomp and Power, would at leaſt give them Peace ; and herein they were encourag'd by divers Paſſages of the Old Teſtament, which ſpeak of the Peace of the Meſſiah's Kingdom, which they were willing to underſtand of external Peace. But ſaith Chriſt, you will be miſtaken, the Event will declare the contrary, and therefore do not flatter yourſelves into a Fool's Paradiſe: You will find,

1. That the Effect of the preaching of the Goſpel will be Diviſion. Not but that the Deſign of the Goſpel and its proper Tendency is to unite the Children of Men to one another, to knit them together in holy Love, and if all would receive it, this would be the Effect of it; but there being Multitudes that not only will not recieve it, but oppoſe it, and have their Corruptions exaſperated by it, and are enrag'd at thoſe that do recieve it, it proves, tho' not the Cauſe, yet the Occaſion of Diviſion. While the ſtrong Man armed kept his Palace, in the Gentile World, his Goods were at Peace, all was quiet, for all went one Way, the Sects of Philoſophers agreed well enough, ſo did the Worſhippers of different Deities ; but when the Goſpel was preach'd, and many were enlighten'd by it, and turn'd from the Power of Satan to God, then there was a Diſturbance, a Noiſe and a Shaking, Ezek. 37. 7. Some diſtinguiſh'd themſelves by their embracing the Goſpel, and others were angry that they did ſo. Yea, and among them that receiv'd the Goſpel, there would be different Sentiments in leſſer Things, which would occaſion Diviſion, and Chriſt permits it for holy Ends, 1 Cor. 11. 12. that Chriſtians may learn and practiſe mutual Forbearance, Rom. 14. 1, 2.

2. That this Diviſion will reach into private Families, and the Preaching of the Goſpel will give Occaſion for Diſcord among the neareſt Relations, v. 53. The Father ſhall be divided againſt the Son, and the Son againſt the Father, when the one turns Chriſtian, and the other doth not ; for that which doth turn Chriſtian will be zealous by Arguments and Endearments to turn the other too, 1 Cor. 7. 16. as ſoon as ever Paul was converted, he diſputed, Acts 9. 29. And that which continues in Unbelief, will be provok'd, and will hate and perſecute that which by his Faith and Obedience witneſſeth againſt, and condemneth his Unbelief and Diſobedience. A Spirit of Biggotry and Perſecution will break through the ſtrongeſt Bonds of Relation and natural Affection, ſee Mat. 10. 34. 24. 7. Even Mothers and Daughters fall out about Religion ; and thoſe that believe not are ſo violent and outragious, that they are ready to deliver up into the Hands of the bloody Perſecutors thoſe that believe, tho' otherwiſe very near and dear to them. We find in the Acts, that wherever the Goſpel came, Perſecution was ſtirr'd up ; it was every where ſpoken againſt, and there was no ſmall Stir about that Way : Therefore let not the Diſciples of Chriſt promiſe themſelves Peace upon Earth, for they are ſent forth as Sheep in the midſt of Wolves.

54 ¶ And he ſaid alſo to the people, When ye ſee a cloud riſe out of the weſt, ſtraitway ye ſay, There cometh a ſhowre ; and ſo it is. 55 And when ye ſee the ſouthwind blow, ye ſay, There will be heat ; and it cometh to paſs. 56 Ye hypocrites, ye can diſcern the face of the skie, and of the earth : but how is it, that ye do not diſcern this time ? 57 Yea, and why even of yourſelves judge ye not what is right ? 58 ¶ When thou goeſt with thine adverſary to the magiſtrate, as thou art in the way, give diligence that thou mayeſt be delivered from him ; leſt he hale thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and the officer caſt thee into priſon. 59 I tell thee, thou ſhalt not depart thence, till thou haſt paid the very laſt mite.

Having given his Diſciples their Leſſon in the foregoing Verſes, here Chriſt turns to the People, and gives them theirs, v. 54.

He ſaid alſo to the People ; he preach'd ad Populum, as well as ad Clerum, and in general he would have them be as wiſe in the Affairs of their Souls, as they are in their outward Affairs: Two Things he inſtanceth in.

Firſt, Let them learn to diſcern the Way of God towards them, that they may prepare accordingly, they were weather-wiſe, and by obſerving the Winds and Clouds, could foreſee when there wou'd be Rain, and when there wou'd be hot Weather, (v. 54, 55.) and they did accordingly either houſe their Hay and Corn, or throw it abroad, and equipt themſelves for a Journey, according as they foreſaw the Weather would be. Even in the Change of the Weather God gives Warning to us, what is coming, and Art has improv'd thoſe Notices of Nature in Weather-Glaſſes. Theſe Preparations here ſpoken of, were made by repeated Obſervations upon the Chain of Cauſes; from what has been we conjecture what will be ; ſee the Benefit of Experience, by taking Notice we may come to give Notice, whoſo is wiſe, will obſerve, and learn. See now

1. The Particulars of the Preſages: Ye ſee a Cloud ariſing out of the Weſt ; the Hebrew would ſay, Out of the Sea ; perhaps 'tis at firſt no bigger than a Man's Hand, 1 Kings 18. 44. but you ſay there's a Shower in the Womb of it, and it proves ſo. When ye obſerve the South-wind blow, ye ſay there will be Heat, for the hot Countries of Africa lay not far South from Judea, and it comes to paſs ordinarily; yet Nature has not ty'd itſelf to ſuch a Track, but that ſometimes we are out in our Prognoſticks.

2. The Inferences from them, v. 56. Ye Hypocrites, who pretend to be wiſe, but really are not ſo, who pretend to expect the Meſſiah and his Kingdom (for ſo the Generality of the Jews did) and yet are no Ways diſpos'd to receive and entertain it, how is it that ye do not diſcern this Time? That ye do not diſcern that according to the Indications given in the old Teſtament Prophecies, now is the Time for the Meſſiah to appear, and that according to the Marks given of him, I am he! Why are ye not aware that you have now an Opportunity which you will not have long, and which you may never have again of ſecuring to yourſelves an Intereſt in the Kingdom of God, and the Privileges of that Kingdom? now is the accepted Time, Now or Never. 'Tis the Folly and Miſery of Man that he knows not his Time, Eccl. 9. 12. This was the Ruin of the Men of that Generation, that they knew not the Day of their Viſitation, Luke 19. 44. But a wiſe Man's Heart diſcerns Time and Judgment ; ſuch was the Wiſdom of the Men of Iſſachar, who had Underſtanding of the Times, 1 Chron. 12. 32. He adds, v. 57. Yea, and why even of yourſelves, tho' you had not theſe loud Alarms given you, Judge ye not what is right? You are not only ſtupid and regardleſs in Matters that are purely of divine Revelation, and take not the Hints which that gives you, but you are ſo even in the Dictates of the very Light and Law of Nature. Chriſtianity has Reaſon and natural Conſcience on its Side; and if Men would allow themſelves the Liberty of judging what is right, they would ſoon find that all Chriſt's Precepts concerning all Things are right, and there is nothing more equitable in it ſelf, nor better becoming us, than to ſubmit to them, and be rul'd by them.

Secondly, Let them haſten to make their Peace with God in Time, before it be too late, v. 55, 59. This we had upon another Occaſion, Mat. 5. 26.

1. We reckon it our Wiſdom in our temporal Affairs to compound with thoſe with whom we cannot contend, to agree with our Adverſary upon the beſt Terms we can, before the Equity be forecloſ'd, and we be left to the Rigour of the Law. When thou goeſt with thine Adverſary to the Magiſtrate, to whom the Appeal is made, and knoweſt that he has an Advantage againſt thee, and thou art in Danger of being caſt, you know 'tis the moſt prudent Courſe to make the Matter away between yourſelves, As thou art in the Way, give Diligence to be delivered from him, to get a Diſcharge, leſt Judgment be given, and Execution awarded according to Law. Wiſe Men will not let their Quarrels go to an Extremity, but accommodate them in Time.

2. Let us do thus in the Affairs of our Souls, we have by Sin made God our Adverſary, have provok'd his Diſpleaſure againſt us, and he has both Right and Might on his Side; ſo that 'tis to no Purpoſe to think of carrying on the Controverſy with him either at Bar or in Battle. Chriſt, to whom all Judgment is committed, is the Magiſtrate before whom we are haſtening to appear: If we ſtand a Trial before him, and inſiſt upon our own Juſtification, the Cauſe will certainly go againſt us, the Judge will deliver us to the Officer, the Miniſters of his Juſtice, and we ſhall be caſt into the Priſon of Hell, and the Debt will be exacted to the utmoſt, tho' we cannot make a full Satisfaction for it, will be continually demanded, till the laſt Mite be paid, which will not be to all Eternity. Chriſt's Sufferings were ſhort, yet the Value of them made them fully ſatisfactory. In the Sufferings of damned Sinners what is wanting in Value, muſt be made up in an endleſs Duration. Now in Conſideration of this, let us give Diligence to be deliver'd out of the Hands of God as an Adverſary, into his Hands as a Father, and this as we are in the Way, which has the chief Streſs laid upon it here. While we are alive we are in the Way; and now is our Time, by Repentance and Faith through Chriſt (who is the Mediator as well as the Magiſtrate) to get the Quarrel taken up, while it may be done, before it be too late. Thus was God in Chriſt reconciling the World to himſelf, beſeeching us to be reconcil'd. Let us take hold on the Arm of the Lord ſtretch'd out in this gracious Offer, that we may make Peace, and we ſhall make Peace, Iſa. 27. 4, 5. for we cannot walk together till we be agreed.

CHAP. XIII.

In this Chapter we have (1.) The good Improvement Chriſt made of a Piece of News that was brought him concerning ſome Galileans that were lately maſſacred by Pilate, as they were ſacrificing in the Temple at Jeruſalem, v. 1-----5. (2.) The Parable of the fruitleſs Fig-tree, by which we are warn'd to bring forth Fruits meet for that Repentance which he had in the foregoing Paſſage call'd us to, v. 6----9. (3.) Chriſt's healing a poor infirm Woman, on the Sabbath-day, and juſtifying himſelf in it, v. 11----------17. (4.) A Repetition of the Parables of the Grain of Muſtard-Seed, and the Leaven, v. 18----22. (5.) His Anſwer to the Queſtion concerning the Number of the Saved, v. 23---30. (6.) The Slight he put upon Herod's Malice and Menaces, and the Doom of Jeruſalem read, v. 31----35.

THERE were preſent at that ſeaſon, ſome that told him of the Galileans, whoſe blood Pilate had mingled with their ſacrifices. 2 And Je-ſus anſwering, ſaid unto them, Suppoſe ye that theſe Galileans were ſinners above all the Galileans, becauſe they ſuffered ſuch things? 3 I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent, ye ſhall all likewiſe periſh. 4 Or thoſe eighteen, upon whom the towre in Siloam fell, and ſlew them, think ye that they were ſinners above all men that dwelt in Jeruſalem? 5 I tell you, Nay: but except ye repent, ye ſhall all likewiſe periſh.

Here's 1. Tidings brought to Chriſt of the Death of ſome Galileans lately, whoſe Blood Pilate had mingled with their Sacrifices, v. 1. Let us conſider,

1. What this tragical Story was: 'Tis briefly related here, and is not met with in any of the Hiſtorians of thoſe Time, Joſephus indeed mentions Pilate's killing of ſome Samaritans, who under the Conduct of a factious Leader, were going in a tumultuous Manner to Mount Gerrizim, where the Samaritans Temple was; but we can by no Means allow that Story to be the ſame with this. Some think theſe Galileans were of the Faction of Judas Gaulonita, who is call'd, Judas of Galilee, Acts 5. 37. who diſown'd Cæſar's Authority, and refus'd to pay Tribute to him: Or, perhaps, theſe being Galileans were only ſuſpected by Pilate to be of that Faction, and barbarouſly murdered, becauſe thoſe who were in with that Pretender, were out of his Reach. The Galileans being Herod's Subjects, 'tis probable this Outrage committed upon them by Pilate, occaſion'd the Quarrel that was between Herod and Pilate, which we read of, Luke 23. 12. We are not told what Number they were, perhaps but a Few, whom Pilate had ſome particular Pique againſt; (and therefore the Story is overlook'd by Joſephus) but the Circumſtance remark'd is, that he mingled their Blood with their Sacrifices, in the Court of the Temple. Tho' perhaps they had Reaſon to fear Pilate's Malice, yet they would not under Pretence of that Fear keep away from Jeruſalem, whither the Law oblig'd them to go up with their Sacrifices. Dr. Lightfoot thinks it probable that they were themſelves killing their Sacrifices, which was allow'd; for the Prieſt's Work (they ſaid) began with the ſprinkling of the Blood: And Pilate's Officers came upon them by Surprize, juſt at that Time, when they were off their Guard, (for otherwiſe the Galileans were mettled Men, and generally went well arm'd) and mingled the Blood of the Sacificers with the Blood of the Sacrifices, as if it had been equally acceptable to God. Neither the Holineſs of the Place, nor of the Work, would be a Protection to them from the Fury of an unjuſt Judge, that neither fear'd God nor regarded Man. The Altar that us'd to be a Sanctuary, and Place of Shelter, is now become a Snare and a Trap, a Place of Danger, of Slaughter.

2. Why it was related at this Seaſon to our Lord Jeſus. (1.) Perhaps meerly as a Matter of News, which they ſuppos'd he had not heard before, and as a Thing which they lamented, and believ'd he would do ſo too; for the Galileans were their Country-men. Note, Sad Providences ought to be obſerv'd by us, and the Knowledge of them communicated to others, that they and we may be ſuitably affected with them, and make a good Uſe of them. (2.) Perhaps 'twas intended as a Confirmation of what Chriſt had ſaid in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, concerning the Neceſſity of making our Peace with God in Time, before we be deliver'd to the Officer, that is, to Death, and ſo caſt into Priſon, and then it will be too late to make Agreements: Now ſay they, Maſter, here's a freſh Inſtance of ſome that were ſuddenly deliver'd to the Officer, that were taken away by Death when they little expected it, and therefore we have all need to be ready. Note, It will be of good Uſe to us, both to explain the Word of God, and to enforce it upon ourſelves by obſerving the Providences of God. (3.) Perhaps they would ſtir him up, being himſelf of Galilee, and a Prophet, and one that had a great Intereſt in that Country, to find out a Way to revenge the Death of theſe Galileans upon Herod: If they had any Thought of this Kind they were quite out, for Chriſt was now going up to Jeruſalem to be deliver'd into the Hands of Pilate, and to have his Blood, not mingled with his Sacrifice, but itſelf made a Sacrifice. (4.) Perhaps this was told Chriſt to deter him from going up to Jeruſalem to Worſhip, (v. 22.) leſt he ſhould ſerve him as he had ſerved theſe Galileans, and ſhould ſuggeſt againſt him, as probably he had inſinuated againſt thoſe Galileans in Vindication of his Cruelty, that they came to ſacrifice as Abſolom did, with a ſeditious Deſign, under Colour of ſacrificing to raiſe Rebellion. Now leſt Pilate, when his Hand was in, ſhould proceed further, they think it adviſeable that Chriſt ſhould for the preſent keep out of the Way. (5.) Chriſt's Anſwer intimates that they told him this with a ſpiteful Inuendo, that tho' Pilate was unjuſt in killing them, yet that without doubt they were ſecretly ill Men, elſe God would not have permitted Pilate thus barbarouſly to cut them off. 'Twas very invidious, rather than they would allow them to be Martyrs, tho' they dy'd ſacrificing, and perhaps ſuffered for their Devotion, they will without any Colour of Proof ſuppoſe them to be Malefactors; and it may be for no other Reaſon, but becauſe they are not of their Party and Denomination, differ'd from them, or had Difference with them; this Fate of theirs, which was capable not only of a favourable, but an honourable Conſtruction, ſhall be call'd a juſt Judgment of God upon them, tho' they knew not for what.

2. Chriſt's Reply to this Report: In which,

1. He ſeconded it with another Story, which like it gave an Inſtance of Peoples being taken away by ſudden Death: It is not long ſince the Tower in Siloam fell, and there were eighteen Perſons kill'd and bury'd in the Ruins of it. Dr. Lightfoot's Conjecture is, that this Tower adjoin'd to the Pool of Siloam, which was the ſame with the Pool of Bethſaida, and that it belong'd to thoſe Porches which were by the Pool, in which the impotent Folk lay that waited for the ſtirring of the Water, John 5. 3. and they who were killed were ſome of them, or ſome of thoſe who in this Pool us'd to purify themſelves for the Temple Service, for it was near the Temple. Whoever they were, 'twas a ſad Story, yet ſuch melancholy Accidents we often hear of: For as the Birds are caught in a Snare, ſo are the Sons of Men ſnared in an evil Time, when it falls ſuddenly upon them, Eccl. 9. 12. Towers that were built for Safety, oft prove Mens Deſtruction.

2. He cautioned his Hearers not to make an ill Uſe of theſe and ſuch like Events, not from thence to cenſure great Sufferers, as if they were therefore to be accounted great Sinners: Suppoſe ye that theſe Galileans, who were ſlain as they were ſacrificing, were Sinners above all the Galileans, becauſe they ſuffer'd ſuch Things, I tell you nay, v. 2, 3. Perhaps they that told him the Story of the Galileans were Jews, and were glad of any Thing that furniſh'd them with Matter of Reflection upon the Galileans, and therefore Chriſt retorted upon them, the Story of the Men of Jeruſalem, that came to an untimely End, for with what Meaſure of that kind we mete, it it ſhall be meaſur'd to us again. Now ſuppoſe ye that thoſe Eighteen who met with their Death from the Tower of Siloam, while perhaps they were expecting their Cure from the Pool of Siloam, that they were Debtors to Divine Juſtice above all Men that dwelt at Jeruſalem, I tell you nay: Whether it make for us or againſt us, we muſt abide by this Rule, that we cannot judge of Mens Sins by their Sufferings in this World; for many are thrown into the Furnace as Gold, to be purified, not as Droſs and Chaff to be conſumed. We muſt therefore not be harſh in our Cenſures of thoſe that are afflicted more than their Neighbours, as Job's Friends were in their Cenſures of him, leſt we add Sorrow to the Sorrowful; nay, leſt we condemn the Generation of the Righteous, Pſal. 73. 14. If we will be judging, we have enough to do to judge ourſelves; nor indeed can we know Love and Hatred by all that is before us, becauſe all Things come alike to all, Eccl. 9. 1, 2. And we might as juſtly conclude that the Oppreſſors, and Pilate among the reſt, on whoſe Side there is Power and Succeſs, are the greateſt Saints, as that the oppreſſed, and thoſe Galileans among the reſt that are all in Tears, and they have no Comforter, no, not the Prieſts and Levites that attended the Altar, are the greateſt Sinners. Let us in our Cenſures of others, do as we would be done by, for as we do we ſhall be done by; Judge not, that ye be not judged, Mat. 7. 1.

3. On theſe Stories he founded a Call to Repentance, adding to each of them this awakening Word, Except ye repent, ye ſhall all likewiſe periſh, v. 3, 4. (1.) This intimates that we all deſerve to periſh as much as they did, and had we been dealt with according to our Sins, according to the Iniquity of our holy Things, our Blood had been long e're this mingled with our Sacrifices, by the Juſtice of God. It muſt moderate our Cenſures not only that we are Sinners, but that we are as great Sinners as they, have as much Sin to repent of, as they had to ſuffer for. (2.) That therefore we are all concern'd to repent, to be ſorry for what we have done amiſs, and to do ſo no more. The Judgments of God upon others, are loud Calls to us to Repent. See how Chriſt improv'd every thing for the preſſing of that great Duty, which he came not only to gain Room for, and give Hopes to, but to enjoin upon us, and that is to repent. (3.) That Repentance is the Way to eſcape periſhing, and it is a ſure Way; ſo Iniquity ſhall not be your Ruin, but upon no other Terms. (4.) That if we repent not, we ſhall certainly periſh, as others have done before us. Some lay an Emphaſis upon the Word likewiſe, and apply it to the Deſtruction that was coming upon the People of the Jews, and particularly upon Jeruſalem, who were deſtroyed by the Romans at the Time of their Paſſover, and ſo like the Galileans, they had their Blood mingled with their Sacrifices, and many of them, both in Jeruſalem and in other Places, were deſtroy'd by the Fall of Walls and Buildings which were batter'd down about their Ears, as thoſe that dy'd by the Fall of the Tower of Siloam: But certainly it looks further, except we repent we ſhall periſh eternally, as they periſh'd out of this World. The ſame Jeſus that bids us repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, bids us repent, for otherwiſe we ſhall periſh; ſo that he hath ſet before us Life and Death, Good and Evil, and put us to our Choice. (5.) The periſhing of thoſe in their Impenitency, will be in a particular Manner aggravated, who have been moſt harſh and ſevere in judging others.

6 ¶ He ſpake alſo this parable: A certain man had a fig-tree planted in his vineyard, and he came and ſought fruit thereon, and found none. 7 Then ſaid he unto the dreſſer of his vineyard, Behold, theſe three years I come ſeeking fruit on this fig-tree, and find none: cut it down, why cumbreth it the ground? 8 And he anſwering, ſaid unto him, Lord, let it alone this Year alſo, till I ſhall dig about it, and dung it: 9 And if it bear fruit, well: and if not, then after that, thou ſhalt cut it down.

This Parable is intended to enforce that Word of Warning, immediately going before, Except ye repent, ye ſhall all likewiſe Periſh; except you be reform'd, you will be ruin'd, as the barren Tree, except it bring forth Fruit, it will be cut down.

1. This Parable primarily refers to the Nation and People of the Jews: God choſe them for his own, made them a People near to him, gave them Advantages for knowing and ſerving him above any other People, and expected anſwerable Returns of Duty and Obedience from them, which turning to his Praiſe and Honour, he would have accounted Fruit; but they diſappointed his Expectations, they did not do their Duty, they were a Reproach inſtead of being a Credit to their Profeſſion; upon this he juſtly determin'd to abandon them, and cut them off, to deprive them of their Privileges, to unchurch and unpeople them; but upon Chriſt's, as of old upon Moſes's Interceſſion, he graciouſly gave them further Time, and further Mercy; try'd them as it were another Year, by ſending his Apoſtles among them to call them to Repentance, and in Chriſt's Name to offer them Pardon upon Repentance; and ſome of them were wrought upon to repent, and bring forth Fruit, and with them all was well; but the Body of the Nation continued impenitent, and unfruitful, and Ruin without Remedy came upon them, about 40 Years after they were cut down and caſt into the Fire, as John Baptiſt had told them, Mat. 3. 10. which Saying of his, this Parable enlargeth upon.

2. Yet it has without doubt a further Reference, and is deſign'd for the awakening of all that enjoy the Means of Grace, and the Privileges of the viſible Church, to ſee to it, that the Temper of their Minds, and the Tenor of their Lives, be anſwerable to their Profeſſions and Opportunities, for that's the Fruit requir'd. Now obſerve here,

1. The Advantages which this Fig-tree had; it was planted in a Vineyard, in better Soil, and where it had more Care taken of it, and more Pains taken with it than other Fig-trees had, that commonly grew not in Vineyards, (thoſe are for Vines) but by the Way-ſide, Mat. 21. 19. This Fig-tree belong'd to a certain Man that own'd it, and was at Expence upon it. Note, The Church of God is his Vineyard, diſtinguiſh'd from the Common, and fenc'd about, Iſa. 5. 1, 2. We are Fig-trees planted in this Vineyard by our Baptiſm; we have a Place and a Name in the viſible Church, and 'tis our Privilege and Happineſs that we have ſo, 'tis a diſtinguiſhing Favour: He has not dealt ſo with other Nations.

2. The Owner's Expectation from it: He came and ſought Fruit thereon, and he had Reaſon to expect it. He did not ſend, but came himſelf, noting his Deſire to find Fruit. Chriſt came into this World, came to his own, to the Jews, ſeeking Fruit. Note, The God of Heaven requires and expects Fruit from thoſe that have a Place in his Vineyard. He has his Eye upon thoſe that enjoy the Goſpel, to ſee whether they live up to it; he ſeeks Evidences of their getting Good by the Means of Grace they enjoy. Leaves will not ſerve, crying, Lord, Lord; Bloſſoms will not ſerve, beginning well, and promiſing fair, there muſt be Fruit: Our Thoughts, Words, and Actions, muſt be according to the Goſpel Light and Love.

3. The Diſappointment of his Expectation: He found none, none at all, not one Fig. Note, Tis ſad to think how many enjoy the Privileges of the Goſpel, and yet do nothing at all to the Honour of God, not to anſwer the End of his entruſting them with thoſe Privileges; and it is a Diſappointment to him, and a Grief to the Spirit of his Grace. (1.) He here complains of it to the Dreſſer of the Vineyard; I come ſeeking Fruit, but am diſappointed; I find none, looking for Grapes, but behold, wild Grapes; he is grieved with ſuch a Generation. (2.) He aggravates it with two Conſiderations; 1. That he waited long, and yet was diſappointed; as he was not high in his Expectations, he only expected Fruit, not much Fruit, ſo he was not haſty, he came three Years, Year after Year: Applying it to the Jews, he came one Space of Time before the Captivity, another after that, and another in the Preaching of John Baptiſt, and of Chriſt himſelf; or it may allude to the three Years of Chriſt's publick Miniſtry which were now expiring. In general, it teacheth us, that the Patience of God is ſtretched out to Long-Suffering, with many that enjoy the Goſpel, and do not bring forth the Fruits of it; and this Patience is wretchedly abus'd, which provokes God to ſo much the greater Severity. How many times three Years has God come to many of us, ſeeking Fruit, but has found none, or next none, or worſe than none. 2. That this Fig-tree did not only bring forth no Fruit, but it did Hurt, it cumber'd the Ground, it took up the room of a fruitful Tree, and was injurious to all about it. Note, Thoſe who do not do Good, commonly do Hurt, by the Influence of their bad Example; they grieve and diſcourage thoſe that are Good, they harden and encourage thoſe that are bad. And the Miſchief is the greater, and the Ground the more cumber'd, if it be a high large ſpreading Tree, and if it be an old Tree of long ſtanding.

4. The Doom paſt upon it; cut it down. He ſaith to the Dreſſer of the Vineyard, to Chriſt, to whom all Judgment is committed, to the Miniſters who are in his Name to declare this Doom. Note, No other can be expected concerning barren Trees, but that they ſhould be cut down. As the unfruitful Vineyard is diſmantled, and thrown open to the Common, Iſa. 5. 5, 6. ſo the unfruitful Trees in the Vineyard are caſt out of it, and wither, John 15. 6. 'Tis cut down by the Judgments of God, eſpecially ſpiritual Judgments, ſuch as thoſe on the Jews that believed not, Iſa. 6. 9, 10. 'Tis cut down by Death, and caſt into the Fire of Hell, and good Reaſon, for why cumbers it the Ground? What Reaſon is there why it ſhould have a Place in the Vineyard to no Purpoſe?

5. The Dreſſers Interceſſion for it. Chriſt is the great Interceſſor, he ever lives interceding: Miniſters are Interceſſors; they that dreſs the Vineyard ſhould intercede for it: Thoſe we preach to, we ſhould pray for, for we muſt give ourſelves to the Word of God, and to Prayer. Now obſerve,

1. What it is he prays for, and that is a Reprieve, Lord, let it alone this Year alſo. He doth not pray, Lord let it never be cut down, but Lord not now: Lord do not remove the Dreſſer, do not with-hold the Dews, do not pluck up the Tree. Note, 1. 'Tis deſirable to have a barren Tree repriev'd: Thoſe that have not yet Grace to repent, yet 'tis a Mercy to them to have Space to repent, as it was to the whole World to have One Hundred and Twenty Years allowed them to make their Peace with God. 2. We owe it to Chriſt, the great Interceſſor, that barren Trees are not cut down preſently: Had it not been for this Interpoſal, the whole World had been cut down upon the Sin of Adam; but he ſaid, Lord let it alone, and it is he that upholds all Things. 3. We are encourag'd to pray to God, for the merciful Reprieve of barren Fig-Trees: Lord let them alone, continue them a while in their Probation; bear them a little longer, and wait to be gracious. Thus muſt we ſtand in the Gap to turn away Wrath. 4. Reprieves of Mercy are but for a Time: Let it alone this Year alſo, a ſhort Time, but a ſufficient Time to make Trial. When God has born long, we may hope he will bear yet a little longer, but he cannot expect he ſhould bear always. 5. Reprieves may be obtain'd by the Prayers of others for us, but not Pardons; there muſt be our own Faith, and Repentance, and Prayers, elſe no Pardon.

2. How he promiſeth to improve this Reprieve, if it be obtain'd: Till I ſhall dig about it and dung it. Note, 1. In general, our Prayers muſt always be ſeconded with our Endeavours. The Dreſſer ſeems to ſay, Lord, it may be I have been wanting in that which is my Part, but let it alone this Year, and I will do more than I have done towards its Fruitfulneſs. Thus in all our Prayers we muſt requeſt God's Grace with a humble Reſolution to do our Duty, elſe we mock God, and ſhow that we do not rightly value the Mercies we pray for. 2. In particular, when we pray to God for Grace for ourſelves or others, we muſt follow our Prayers with Diligence in the Uſe of the Means of Grace. The Dreſſer of the Vineyard engageth to do his Part, and therein teacheth Miniſters to do theirs. He will dig about the Tree, and will dung it; unfruitful Chriſtians muſt be awaken'd by the Terrors of the Law, which break up the fallow Ground, and then encourag'd by the Promiſes of the Goſpel, which are warming and fatning, as Manure to the Tree; both Methods muſt be try'd, the one prepares for the other, and all little enough.

3. Upon what Foot he leaves the Matter: Let us try it, and try what we can do with it one Year more, and if it bear Fruit well, v. 19. It is poſſible, nay, there is Hope that yet it may be fruitful, and in that Hope the Owner will have Patience with it, and the Dreſſer will take Pains with it, and if it ſhould have the deſired Succeſs, both will be pleas'd that it was not cut down. The Word well is not in the Original, but the Expreſſion is abrupt, If it bear Fruit, ſupply it how you pleaſe, ſo as to expreſs how wonderfully well-pleas'd both the Owner and Dreſſer will be, if it bear Fruit, there will be Cauſe of Rejoycing, we have what he would have; but it cannot be better expreſs'd than as we do, well. Note, Unfruitful Profeſſors of Religion, if after long Unfruitfulneſs they will repent and amend, and bring forth Fruit, as ſhall be well; God will be pleas'd, for he will be prais'd; Miniſters Hands will be ſtrengthned, and ſuch Penitents will be their Joy now, and their Crown ſhortly: Nay, there will be Joy in Heaven for it; the Ground will be no longer cumber'd but better'd, the Vineyard beautify'd, and the good Trees in it made better. And as for the Tree itſelf, 'tis well for it; it ſhall not only not be cut down, but it ſhall receive Bleſſing from God, Heb. 6. 7. it ſhall be purged, and ſhall bring forth more Fruit, for the Father is its Husbandman, John 15. 2. And it ſhall at laſt be tranſplanted from the Vineyard on Earth, to the Paradiſe above.

But he adds, If not then, after that thou ſhalt cut it down: Obſerve here, 1. That tho' God bear long, he will not bear always with unfruitful Profeſſors; his Patience will have an End, and if it be abus'd, will give Way to that Wrath which will have no End. Barren Trees will certainly be cut down at laſt, and caſt into the Fire. 2. The longer God hath waited, and the more Coſt he has been at upon them, the greater will their Deſtruction be: To be cut down after that, after all theſe Expectations from it, theſe Debates concerning it, this Concern for it, will be ſad indeed, and will aggravate the Condemnation. 3. Cutting down, tho' 'tis Work that ſhall be done, yet 'tis Work that God doth not take Pleaſure in: For, obſerve here, the Owner ſaid to the Dreſſer, Do thou cut it down, for it cumber'd the Ground: Nay, ſaid the Dreſſer, if it muſt be done at laſt, thou ſhalt cut it down, let not my Hand be upon it. 4. Thoſe that now intercede for barren Trees, and take Pains with them, if they perſiſt in their Unfruitfulneſs, will be e'en content to ſee them cut down, and will not have one more Word to ſay for them. Their beſt Friends will acquieſce in, nay, they will approve and applaud the righteous Judgment of God, in the Day of the Manifeſtation of it, Rev. 15. 3, 4.

10 And he was teaching in one of the ſynagogues on the ſabbath. 11 ¶ And behold, there was a woman which had a ſpirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wiſe lift up her ſelf. 12 And when Jeſus ſaw her, he called her to him, and ſaid unto her, Woman, thou art looſed from thine infirmity. 13 And he laid his hands on her: and immediately ſhe was made ſtraight, and glorified God. 14 And the ruler of the ſynagogue anſwered with indignation, becauſe that Jeſus had healed on the ſabbath-day, and ſaid unto the people, There are ſix days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the ſabbath-day. 15 The Lord then anſwered him, and ſaid, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the ſabbath looſe his ox or his aſs from the ſtall, and lead him away to watering? 16 And ought not this woman being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo theſe eighteen years, be looſed from this bond on the ſabbath-day? 17 And when he had ſaid theſe things, all his adverſaries were aſhamed: and all the people rejoyced for all the glorious things that were done by him.

Here's 1. The miraculous Cure of a Woman that had been long under a Spirit of Infirmity. Our Lord Jeſus ſpent his Sabbaths in the Synagogues, v. 10. We ſhould make Conſcience of doing ſo, as we have Opportunity; and not think we can ſpend the Sabbath as well at Home in reading a good Book, for religious Aſſemblies are a Divine Inſtitution, which we muſt bear our Teſtimony to, tho' but of two or three. And when he was in the Synagogues on the Sabbath-Day, he was teaching there, ἦν διδάσκων; it notes a continued Act; he ſtill taught the People Knowledge. He was in his Element when he was Teaching. Now to confirm the Doctrine he preach'd, and recommend it as faithful and well-worthy of all Acceptation, he wrought a Miracle, a Miracle of Mercy.

(1.) The Object of Charity that preſented itſelf, was a Woman in the Synagogue, that had a Spirit of Infirmity eighteen Years, v. 11. i. e. She had an Infirmity, which an evil Spirit by Divine Permiſſion had brought upon her, which was ſuch as that ſhe was bowed together by ſtrong Convulſions, and could in no wiſe lift up herſelf; and having been ſo long thus, the Diſeaſe was incurable, ſhe could not ſtand erect, which is reckon'd Man's Honour above the Beaſts. Obſerve, tho' ſhe was under this Infirmity, by which ſhe was much deform'd, and made to look mean, and not only ſo, but as is ſuppos'd, Motion was very painful to her, yet ſhe went to the Synagogue on the Sabbath-day. Note, Even bodily Infirmities, unleſs they be very grievous indeed, ſhould not keep us from publick Worſhip on Sabbath-days; for God can help us beyond our Expectation.

(2.) The Offer of this Cure to one that ſought it not, ſpeaks the preventing Mercy and Grace of Chriſt, v. 11. When Jeſus ſaw her, he call'd her to him. It doth not appear that ſhe made any Application to him, or had any Expectation from him, but before ſhe call'd he anſwer'd. She came to him to be taught, and to get Good to her Soul, and then Chriſt gave this Relief to her bodily Infirmity. Note, Thoſe whoſe firſt and chief Care is for their Souls, do beſt befriend the true Intereſts of their Bodies likewiſe, for other Things ſhall be added to them. Chriſt in his Goſpel calls and invites thoſe to come to him for Healing, that labour under Spiritual Infirmities, and if he calls us, he will undoubtedly help us when we come to him.

(3.) The Cure effectually and immediately wrought, ſpeaks his almighty Power. He laid his Hands on her, and ſaid, Woman thou art looſed from thine Infirmity. Tho' thou haſt been long labouring under it, thou art at length releaſed from it. Let not thoſe deſpair whoſe Diſeaſe is inveterate, who have been long in Affliction, God can at length relieve them, therefore tho' he tarry, wait for him. Tho' it was a Spirit of Infirmity, an Evil Spirit, that ſhe was under the Power of, Chriſt has a Power ſuperior to that of Satan, is ſtronger than he. Tho' ſhe could in no wiſe lift up herſelf, Chriſt could lift her up, and enable her to lift up herſelf: She that had been crooked, was immediately made ſtraight, and the Scripture was fulfilled, Pſal. 146. 8. The Lord raiſeth them that are bowed down.

And this Cure repreſents the Work of Chriſt's Grace upon the Souls of People. (1.) In the Converſion of Sinners, unſanctified Hearts are under this Spirit of Infirmity, they are diſtorted, the Faculties of the Soul are quite out of Place and Order; they are bowed down towards Things below, O curvæ in Terram animæ; they can in no wiſe lift up themſelves to God and Heaven; the Bent of the Soul in its natural State, is the quite contrary way. Such crooked Souls ſeek not to Chriſt, but he calls them to him, lays the Hand of his Power and Grace upon them, ſpeaks a healing Word to them, by which he looſeth them from their Infirmity, makes the Soul ſtraight, reduceth it to Order, raiſeth it above worldly Regards, and directs its Affections, and aims Heavenwards. Tho' Man cannot make that ſtraight which God has made crooked, Eccl. 7. 13. yet the Grace of God can make that ſtraight which the Sin of Man has made crooked. (2.) In the Conſolation of good People. Many of the Children of God are long under a Spirit of Infirmity, a Spirit of Bondage, through prevailing Grief and Fear, their Souls are caſt down and diſquieted within them; they are troubled, they are bowed down greatly, they go Mourning all the Day long, Pſal. 38. 6. But Chriſt by his Spirit of Adoption looſeth them from this Infirmity in due Time, and raiſeth them up.

(4.) The preſent Effect of this Cure upon the Soul of the Patient, as well as upon her Body; ſhe glorified God, gave him the Praiſe of her Cure, to whom all Praiſe is due. When crooked Souls are made ſtraight, they will ſhew it by their glorifying God.

2. The Offence that was taken at this by the Ruler of the Synagogue, as if our Lord Jeſus had committed ſome heinous Crime in healing this poor Woman. He had Indignation at it, becauſe it was on the Sabbath-day, v. 14. One would think the Miracle ſhould have convinc'd him, and that the Circumſtance of its being done on the Sabbath-day could not have ſerv'd to evade the Conviction; but what Light can ſhine ſo clear, ſo ſtrong, which a Spirit of Bigotry and Enmity to Chriſt and his Goſpel will not ſerve to ſhut Mens Eyes againſt. Never was ſuch Honour done to the Synagogue he was Ruler of, as Chriſt had now done it, and yet he had Indignation at it. He had not indeed the Impudence to quarrel with Chriſt, but he ſaid to the People, reflecting upon Chriſt in what he ſaid, There are ſix Days in which Men ought to work, in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath-day. See here how light he made of the Miracles Chriſt wrought, as if they were Things of Courſe, and no more but what Quacks and Mountebanks did every Day; you may come and be heal'd any Day of the Week. Chriſt's Cures were become in his Eyes cheap and common Things. See alſo how he ſtretcheth the Law beyond his Intention, or any juſt Conſtruction that could be put upon it, in making either Healing, or being heal'd, with a Touch of the Hand, or a Word's ſpeaking, to be that Work which is forbidden on the Sabbath-day. This was evidently the Work of God; and when God ty'd us out from working that Day, did he tye himſelf out? The ſame Word in Hebrew ſignifies both Godly and Merciful, (Cheſed) to intimate that Works of Mercy and Charity are in a Manner Works of Piety, 1 Tim. 5. 4. and are therefore very proper on Sabbath-days.

3. Chriſt's Juſtification of himſelf in what he had done, v. 15. The Lord then anſwered him, as he had anſwered others, who in like Manner cavill'd at him, Thou Hypocrite. Chriſt who knows Mens Hearts, may call thoſe Hypocrites, whom it would be Preſumption for us to call ſo, who muſt judge charitably, and can judge but according to the outward Appearance. Chriſt knew he had a real Enmity to him, and to his Goſpel, and he did but cloak that with a pretended Zeal for the Sabbath-day; and that when he bid the People come on the ſix Days and be heal'd, he really would not have them be heal'd any Day. Chriſt could have told him this, but he vouchſafes to reaſon the Caſe with him: And,

(1.) He Appeals to the common Practice among the Jews, which was never diſallow'd, that of watering their Cattle on the Sabbath-day; thoſe Cattle that are kept up in the Stable, are conſtantly loos'd from the Stall on the Sabbath-day, and led away to Watering: It would be a barbarous Thing not to do it; for a merciful Man regardeth the Life of his Beaſt, his own Beaſt that ſerves him. Letting the Cattle reſt on Sabbath-day, as the Law directed, would be worſe than working them, if they muſt be made to faſt on that Day, as the Ninevites Cattle on their Faſt-day, that were not permitted to feed or drink Water, Jonah 3: 7.

(2.) He applies this to the preſent Caſe, v. 16. Muſt an Ox or an Aſs have Compaſſion ſhew'd them on the Sabbath-day, and have ſo much Time and Pains beſtow'd upon them every Sabbath, to be loos'd from the Stall, led away perhaps a great Way to the Water, and then back again; and ſhall not this Woman only with a Touch of the Hand, and a Word's ſpeaking, be looſe from a much greater Grievance than that which the Cattle undergo, when they are kept a Day without Water. For conſider, (1.) She is a Daughter of Abraham, whom you all pride yourſelves in a Relation to; ſhe is your Siſter, and ſhall ſhe be deny'd a Favour that you grant to an Ox or an Aſs, diſpenſing a little with the ſuppoſed Strictneſs of the Sabbath-day. She is a Daughter of Abraham, and therefore is entitled to the Meſſiah's Bleſſings, to the Bread which belongs to the Children. (2.) She is one whom Satan has bound, he had a Hand in the Affliction, and therefore it was not only an Act of Charity to the poor Woman, but of Piety to God, to break the Power of the Devil and baffle him. (3.) She has been in this deplorable Condition, lo theſe eighteen Years, and therefore now there is an Opportunity of delivering her, it ought not to be defer'd a Day longer, as you would have it, for any of you would have thought eighteen Years Affliction full long enough.

4. The different Effect that this had upon thoſe that heard him. He had ſufficiently made it out, not only that it was lawful, but that it was highly fit and proper to heal this poor Woman on the Sabbath-day, and thus publickly in the Synagogue, that they might all be Witneſſes of the Miracle: And now obſerve,

1. What a Confuſion this was to the Malice of his Perſecutors, When he had ſaid theſe Things, all his Adverſaries were aſhamed, v. 17. They were put to Silence, and were vex'd that they were ſo, that they had not a Word to ſay for themſelves; it was not a Shame that work'd Repentance, but Indignation rather. Note, Sooner or later all the Adverſaries of Chriſt and his Doctrine and Miracles will be made aſham'd.

2. What a Confirmation this was to the Faith of his Friends: All the People who had a better Senſe of Things, and judg'd more impartially than their Rulers, rejoic'd for all the glorious Things that were done by him. The Shame of his Foes, was the Joy of his Followers; the Increaſe of his Intereſt, was what the one fretted at, and the other triumph'd in. The Things Chriſt did, were glorious Things, they were all ſo, and tho' now clouded perhaps will appear ſo, and we ought to rejoyce in them. Every Thing that is the Honour of Chriſt, is the Comfort of Chriſtians.

18 ¶ Then ſaid he, Unto what is the kingdom of God like? and whereunto ſhall I reſemble it? 19 It is like a grain of muſtard-ſeed, which a man took and caſt into his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree: and the fowls of the air lodged in the branches of it. 20 And again he ſaid, Whereunto ſhall I liken the kingdom of God? 21 It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three meaſures of meal, till the whole was leavened. 22 And he went through the cities and villages, teaching and journeying towards Jeruſalem.

Here's, 1. The Goſpel's Progreſs foretold, in two Parables, which we had before, Mat. 13. 31, 33. The Kingdom of the Meſſiah is the Kingdom of God; for it advanceth his Glory; this Kingdom was yet a Myſtery, and People were generally in the Dark, and under Miſtakes about it: Now when we would deſcribe a Thing to thoſe that are Strangers to it, we chuſe to do it by Similitudes, ſuch a Perſon you know not, but I'll tell you who he is like, ſo Chriſt undertakes here to ſhew what the Kingdom of God is like, v. 18. and whereunto ſhall I liken the Kingdom of God, v. 20. 'twill be quite another Thing from what you expect, and will operate and gain its Point in quite another Manner.

1. You expect it will appear great, and will arrive at its Perfection all of a ſudden; but you are miſtaken, it is like a Grain of Muſtard-Seed, a little Thing, takes up but little Room, makes but a little Figure, and promiſeth but little, and yet when ſown in Soil proper to receive it, it waxes a great Tree, v. 19. Many perhaps were prejudic'd againſt the Goſpel, and loth to come in to the Obedience of it, becauſe its beginning what ſo ſmall; they were ready to ſay of Chriſt, Can this Man ſave us? And of his Goſpel, Is this likely ever to come to any Thing? Now Chriſt would remove this Prejudice by aſſuring them, that tho' its Beginning was ſmall, its latter End ſhould greatly increaſe; ſo that many ſhould come, ſhould come upon the Wing, ſhould fly like a Cloud, to lodge in the Branches of it with more Safety and Satisfaction than in the Branches of Nebuchadnezzar's Tree, Dan. 9. 21.

2. You expect it will make its Way by external Means, by ſubduing Nations, and vanquiſhing Armies, tho' it ſhall work like Leaven, ſilently, and inſenſibly, and without any Force or Violence, v. 21. A little Leaven leaveneth the whole Lump, ſo the Doctrine of Chriſt will ſtrangely diffuſe its Reliſh into the World of Mankind; in this it triumphs, that the Savour of the Knowledge of it is unaccountably made manifeſt in every Place, beyond what one could have expected, 2 Cor. 2. 14. But you muſt give it Time, wait what will be the Iſſue of the preaching of the Goſpel to the World, and you'll find it doth Wonders, and alters the Property of the Souls of Men. By Degrees the whole will be leaven'd, even as many as are like the Meal to the Leaven, prepar'd to receive the Savour of it.

2. Chriſt's Progreſs towards Jeruſalem recorded, v. 22, He went through the Cities and Villages teaching and Journeying. Here we find Chriſt an Itinerant, but an Itinerant Preacher, journeying toward Jeruſalem, to the Feaſt of Dedication, which was in the Winter, when Travelling was uncomfortable, yet he would be about his Father's Buſineſs; and therefore whatever Cities or Villages he could make in his Way, he gave them a Sermon or two, not only in the Cities, but in the Country Villages. Wherever Providence brings us, we ſhould endeavour to be doing all the Good we can.

23 Then ſaid one unto him, Lord, are there few that ſhall be ſaved? And he ſaid unto them, 24 ¶ Strive to enter in at the ſtrait gate: for many, I ſay unto you, will ſeek to enter in, and ſhall not be able. 25 When once the maſter of the houſe is riſen up, and hath ſhut to the door, and ye begin to ſtand without, and to knock at the door, ſaying, Lord, Lord, open unto us, and he ſhall anſwer, and ſay unto you, I know you not whence you are: 26 Then ſhall ye begin to ſay, we have eaten and drunk in thy preſence, and thou haſt taught in our ſtreets. 27 But he ſhall ſay, I tell you, I know you not whence you are; depart from me all ye workers of iniquity.
28 There ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of teeth, when ye ſhall ſee Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and you your ſelves thruſt out. 29 And they ſhall come from the eaſt, and from the weſt, and from the north, and from the ſouth, and ſhall ſit down in the kingdom of God. 30 And behold, there are laſt which ſhall be firſt, and there are firſt which ſhall be laſt.

We have here,

1. A Queſtion put to our Lord Jeſus; who it was that put it, we are not told, whether a Friend or a Foe; for he gave both a great Liberty of Queſtioning with him, and return'd Anſwers to the Thoughts and Intents of the Heart. The Queſtion was, 1. Are there few that be ſaved? v. 33. εἰ ὀλίγοι οἱ σωζόμενοι, If the Saved be few, Maſter, I have heard thou ſhould'ſt ſay ſo? Is it true?

(1.) Perhaps it was a captious Queſtion; that he put it to him tempting him, with Deſign to enſnare him, and leſſen his Reputation. If he ſhould ſay many wou'd be ſav'd, they wou'd reproach him as too looſe, and making Salvation cheap; if few they wou'd reproach him as preciſe and ſtrait-lac'd. The Jewiſh Doctors ſaid, That all Iſrael ſhould have a Place in the World to come, and would he dare to contradict that! Thoſe that have ſuck'd in a corrupt Notion, are ready to make it the Standard by which to meaſure all Mens Judgments; and in nothing do Men more betray their Ignorance, Preſumption, and Partiality, than in judging of the Salvation of others.

(2.) Perhaps it was a curious Queſtion, a nice Speculation, which he had lately been diſputing upon with his Companions, and they all agreed to refer it to Chriſt. Note, Many are more inquiſitive who ſhall be ſav'd, and who not, than what they ſhall do to be ſav'd. 'Tis commonly ask'd, may ſuch and ſuch be ſav'd; but 'tis well we may be ſav'd without knowing that.

(3.) Perhaps it was an admiring Queſtion: He had taken Notice how ſtrict the Law of Chriſt was, and how bad the World was, and comparing theſe together cries out, How few are there that will be ſav'd? Note, We have Reaſon to wonder, that of the many to whom the Word of Salvation is ſent, there are ſo few to whom it is indeed a ſaving Word.

(4.) Perhaps it was an enquiring Queſtion; If there be few that be ſav'd, what then? What Influence ſhould this have upon me? Note, It concerns us all, ſeriouſly to improve the great Truth of the Fewneſs of thoſe that are ſav'd.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Queſtion, which directs us what Uſe to make of this Truth. Our Saviour did not give a direct Anſwer to his Enquiry, for he came to guide Men Conſciences, not to gratify their Curioſity. Ask not how many ſhall be ſaved, but be they more or fewer, ſhall I be one of them? Not what ſhall be come of ſuch and ſuch, and what ſhall this Man do? but what ſhall I do? and what will become of me? Now in Chriſt's Anſwer obſerve,

1. A quickning Exhortation and Direction. Strive to enter in at the ſtrait Gate: This is directed not to him only that ask'd the Queſtion, but to all, to us, 'tis in the plural Number, ſtrive ye. Note, (1.) All that will be ſav'd, muſt enter in at the ſtrait Gate, muſt undergo a Change of the whole Man, ſuch as amounts to no leſs than being born again, and muſt ſubmit to a ſtrict Diſcipline. (2.) Thoſe that would enter in at the ſtrait Gate, muſt ſtrive to enter. 'Tis a hard Matter to get to Heaven, and a Point that will not be gain'd without a great deal of Care and Pains, of Difficulty and Diligence. We muſt ſtrive with God in Prayer, wreſtle as Jacob, ſtrive againſt Sin and Satan; we muſt ſtrive in every Duty of Religion, ſtrive with our own Hearts, ἀγωνίζεσθε be in an Agony, ſtrive as thoſe that run for a Prize, excite and exert yourſelves to the utmoſt.

2. Divers awakening Conſiderations to enforce this Exhortation: O that we may be all awakened and quickned by them! They are ſuch Conſiderations as will ſerve to anſwer the Queſtion, Are there few that ſhall be ſav'd?

1. Think how many take ſome Pains for Salvation, and yet periſh becauſe they don't take enough; and you will ſay, that there are few that will be ſav'd, and that it highly concerns us to ſtrive; Many will ſeek to enter in, and ſhall not be able; they ſeek, but they do not ſtrive. Note, The Reaſon why many come ſhort of Grace and Glory is, becauſe they reſt in a lazy Seeking of that which will not be attain'd without a laborious Striving. They have a good Mind of Happineſs, and a good Opinion of Holineſs, and take ſome good Steps towards both, but their Convictions are weak, they do not conſider what they know and believe, and conſequently their Deſires are cold, and their Endeavours feeble and there is no Strength or Steadineſs in their Reſolutions; and thus they come ſhort, and looſe the Prize, becauſe they do not preſs forward. Chriſt avers this upon his own Word, I ſay unto you, and we may take it upon his Word, for he knows both the Counſels of God, and the Hearts of the Children of Men.

2. Think of the diſtinguiſhing Day that is coming, and the Deciſions of that Day, and you will ſay there are few that ſhall be ſav'd, and that we are concern'd to ſtrive. The Maſter of the Houſe will riſe up, and ſhut to the Door, v. 25. Chriſt is the Maſter of the Houſe, that will take Cognizance of all that frequent his Houſe, and are Retainers to it, will examine Comers and Goers, and thoſe that paſs and repaſs. Now he ſeems as if he left Things at large, but the Day is coming when he will riſe up and ſhut to the Door. What Door? (1.) A Door of Diſtinction: Now within the Temple of the Church there are carnal Profeſſors who worſhip in the Outer-Court, and ſpiritual Profeſſors, who worſhip within the Vail, between theſe the Door is now open, and they meet promiſcuouſly in the ſame external Performances; but when the Maſter of the Houſe is riſen up, the Door will be ſhut between them, that thoſe who are in the Outer-Court may be kept out, and left to be trodden under Foot with the Gentiles, Rev. 11. 2. They that are filthy, ſhut the Door upon them, and let them be filthy ſtill; and that thoſe who are within may be kept within, that are holy, may be holy ſtill. The Door is ſhut to ſeparate between the precious and the vile, that Sinners may no longer ſtand in the Congregation of the Righteous. Then you ſhall diſcern betwixt them. (2.) A Door of Denial and Excluſion. The Door of Mercy and Grace hath long ſtood open to them, but they would not come in by it, would not be beholden to the Favour of that Door, they hop'd to climb up ſome other Way, and to get to Heaven by their own Merits; and therefore when the Maſter of the Houſe is riſen up, he will juſtly ſhut that Door; let them not expect to enter by it, but let them take their own Meaſures. Thus when Noah was ſafe in the Ark, God ſhut the Door, to exclude all thoſe that depended upon Shelters of their own, in the approaching Flood.

3. Think how many that were very confident they ſhould be ſav'd, will be rejected in the Day of Tryal, and their Confidence will deceive them; and you will ſay, there are few that ſhall be ſav'd, and we are all concern'd to ſtrive: Conſidering,

(1.) What an Aſſurance they had of Admiſſion, and how far their Hope carry'd them, even to Heaven's Gate, there they ſtand and knock, knock as if they had Authority, knock as thoſe that belong to the Houſe, ſaying, Lord, Lord, open to us, for we think we have a Right to enter: Take us in among the ſaved ones, for we joyn'd ourſelves to them. Note, Many are ruin'd by an ill-grounded Hope of Heaven, which they never diſtruſted or call'd in Queſtion, and therefore conclude their State is good, becauſe they never doubted it. They call Chriſt Lord, as if they were his Servants; nay, in Token of their Importunity they double it, Lord, Lord. They are deſirous now to enter in by that Door which they had formerly made light of, would now gladly come in among thoſe ſerious Chriſtians, whom they had ſecretly deſpiſ'd.

(2.) What Grounds they had for this Confidence. Let us ſee what their Plea is, v. 26. (1.) They had been Chriſt's Gueſts, had had an intimate Converſe with him, and had ſhar'd in his Favours. We have eaten and drunk in thy Preſence, at thy Table; Judas eat Bread with Chriſt, dipt with him in the Diſh. Hypocrites under the Diſguiſe of their external Profeſſion receive the Lord's Supper, and in it partake of the Childrens Bread, as if they were Children. (2.) They had been Chriſt's Hearers; had receiv'd Inſtruction from him, and were well acquainted with his Doctrine and Law: Thou haſt taught in our Streets, a diſtinguiſhing Favour which few had, and ſure it might be taken as a Pledge of diſtinguiſhing Favour now: For would'ſt thou teach us, and not ſave us?

(3.) How their Confidence will fail them, and all their Pleas be rejected as frivolous, Chriſt will ſay to them, I know you not, whence you are, v. 25. And again, v. 26. I tell you I know you not, Depart from me. He doth not deny but that which they pleaded was true, they had eaten and drunk in his Preſence, by by the ſame Token that they had deſpis'd his Inſtruction and would not ſubmit to it. And therefore, (1.) He diſowns them, I know you not; you do not belong to my Family. The Lord knows them that are his, but them that are not, he doth not know, he has nothing to do with them. I know you not whence you are. You are not of me, you are not from above, you are not Branches of my Houſe, of my Vine. (2.) He diſcards them; Depart from me: 'Tis the Hell of Hell to depart from Chriſt! The principal Part of the Miſery of the damned: Depart from my Door, here's nothing for you, no, not a Drop of Water. (3.) He gives them ſuch a Character as is the Reaſon of this Doom. Ye are Workers of Iniquity; this is their Ruin, that under a Pretence of Piety they kept up ſecret Haunts of Sin, and did the Devil's Drudgery in Chriſt's Livery.

(4.) How terrible their Puniſhment will be, v. 28. There ſhall be weeping and gnaſhing of Teeth; the utmoſt Degree of Grief and Indignation; and that which is the Cauſe of it, and contributes to it, is a Sight of the Happineſs of thoſe that are ſaved; ye ſhall ſee the Patriarchs and Prophets in the Kingdom of God, and yourſelves thruſt out. Obſerve here, (1.) That the Old Teſtament Saints are in the Kingdom of God; thoſe had Benefit by the Meſſiah who dy'd before his coming; for they ſaw his Day at a Diſtance, and it reflected Comfort upon them. (2.) That New Teſtament Sinners will be thruſt out of the Kingdom of God, it intimates that they will be thruſting in, and will preſume upon Admiſſion, but in vain, they ſhall be thruſt out with Shame as having no Part or Lot in the Matter. (3.) That the Sight of the Saints Glory will be a great Aggravation of the Sinners Miſery; they ſhall thus far ſee the Kingdom of God, that they ſhall ſee the Prophets in it, whom they hated and deſpis'd, and themſelves who thought themſelves ſure of it thruſt out. This is that at which they will gnaſh their Teeth, Pſal. 112. 20.

4. Think who are they that ſhall be ſav'd notwithſtanding, v. 29, 36. They ſhall come from the Eaſt and the Weſt; and the laſt ſhall be firſt.

1. By what Chriſt had ſaid, it appear'd that but few ſhould be ſav'd, of thoſe that we think moſt likely, and that bid faireſt for it: Yet do not ſay then that the Goſpel is preach'd in vain, for tho' Iſrael be not gather'd, Chriſt will be glorious. There ſhall come many from all Parts of the Gentile World, that ſhall be admitted into the Kingdom of Grace in this World, and of Glory in the other. Plainly thus, when we come to Heaven, we ſhall meet a great many there whom we little thought to have met there; and miſs a great many thence whom we verily expected to have found there.

2. Thoſe that ſit down in the Kingdom of God, are ſuch as had taken Pains to get thither, for they came from far; from the Eaſt, and from the Weſt; from the North, and from the South; had paſt through different Climates, had broke through many Difficulties and Diſcouragements, which ſhews that they who would enter into that Kingdom muſt ſtrive, as the Queen of Sheba, that came from the utmoſt Parts of the Earth to hear the Wiſdom of Solomon. They that travel now in the Service of God and Religion, ſhall ſit down to reſt ſhortly in the Kingdom of God.

3. Many that ſtood fair for Heaven, came ſhort, and others that ſeem'd caſt behind, and thrown quite out of the Way, will win and wear this Prize, and therefore it concerns us to ſtrive to enter. Let us be provok'd, as Paul deſir'd the Jews might be, to a holy Emulation, by the Zeal and Forwardneſs of the Gentiles, Rom. 11. 14. Shall I be outſtript by my Juniors? Shall I that ſtarted firſt, and ſtood neareſt, miſs of Heaven, when others leſs likely enter into it? If it be got by ſtriving, why ſhould not I ſtrive?

31 ¶ The ſame day there came certain of the Phariſees, ſaying unto him, Get thee out, and depart hence: for Herod will kill thee. 32 And he ſaid unto them, Go ye and tell that fox, Behold, I caſt out devils, and I do cures to day and to morrow, and the day following: for it cannot be that a prophet periſh out of Jeruſalem. 34 O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem, which killeſt the prophets, and ſtoneſt them that are ſent unto thee: how often would I have gathered thy children together, as a hen doth gather her brood under her wings, and ye would not: 35 Behold, your houſe is left unto you deſolate: And verily I ſay unto you, ye ſhall not ſee me, untill the time come when ye ſhall ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

Here's 1. A Suggeſtion to Chriſt of his Danger by Herod, now he was in Galilee within Herod's Juridiction, v. 31. Certain of the Phariſees (for there were thoſe of that Sect diſpers'd all the Nation over) they came to Chriſt pretending Friendſhip and a Concern for his Safety, and ſaid, Get thee out of this Country, and depart hence, for otherwiſe Herod will kill thee, as he did John: Some think thoſe Phariſees had no Ground at all for this, that Herod had not given out any Words to this Purpoſe, but they fram'd this Lye to drive him out of Galilee, where he had a great and growing Intereſt, and to drive him into Judea, where they knew there were thoſe that really ſought his Life. But Chriſt's Anſwer being directed to Herod himſelf, it ſhould ſeem the Phariſees had Ground for what they ſaid, and that Herod was enrag'd againſt Chriſt, and deſign'd him a Miſchief for the honourable Teſtimony he had born to John Baptiſt, and to the Doctrine of Repentance which John preach'd. Herod was willing to get rid of Chriſt, out of his Dominions; and when he durſt not put him to Death, he hop'd to frighten him away, by ſending him this threatning Meſſage.

2. His Defiance of Herod's Rage, and the Phariſees too; he fears neither the one nor the other. Go ye and tell that Fox ſo, v. 32. In calling him a Fox, he gives him his true Character; for he was ſubtil as a Fox, noted for his Craft and Treachery, and Baſeneſs, and preying, as they ſay of a Fox, furtheſt from his own Den. And tho' it be a black and ugly Character, yet it did not ill become Chriſt to give it him, nor was it in him a Violation of that Law, Thou ſhalt not ſpeak Evil of the Ruler of the People: For Chriſt was a Prophet, and Prophets always had a Liberty of Speech in reproving Princes and great Men: Nay, Chriſt was more than a Prophet, he was a King, he was King of Kings, and the greateſt of Men were accountable to him, and therefore it became him to call this proud King by his own Name, but it is not to be drawn into an Example by us. Go and tell that Fox, yea, and this Fox too, ſo it is in the Original τῆ Ἀλώπεκι ταύτῃ that Phariſee, whoever he is that whiſpers this in my Ear, let him know that I do not fear him nor regard his Menaces: For,

1. I know I muſt die, and muſt die ſhortly; I expect it, and count upon it, the third Day, i. e. very ſhortly; my Hour is at Hand. Note, It will help us very much above the Fear of Death, and of them that have the Power of Death, to make Death familiar to us, to expect it, think of it, and converſe with it, and ſee it at the Door, If Herod ſhould kill me, he will not ſurprize me.

2. I know that Death will be not only no Prejudice to me, but it will be my Preferment, and therefore tell him I do not fear him; when I die, I ſhall be perfected; I ſhall then have finiſh'd the hardeſt Part of my Undertaking, I ſhall have compleated my Buſineſs τελειοῦμαι I ſhall be conſecrated: When Chriſt dy'd, he is ſaid to have ſanctify'd himſelf; he conſecrated himſelf to his prieſtly Office, with his own Blood.

3. I know that neither he nor any one elſe can kill me, till I have done my Work. Go and tell him I value not his impotent Rage. I will caſt out Devils, and do Cures to Day and to morrow, i. e. now, and for ſome little Space of Time yet to come, in Spite of him and all his Threats. I muſt walk, I muſt go on in my intended Journey, and it is not in his Power to hinder me, I muſt go about, as I now do, preaching and healing, to Day and to Morrow, and the Day following. Note, It is good for us to look upon the Time we have before us, as but a little, Two or Three Days perhaps may be the utmoſt, that we may thereby be quicken'd to do the Work of the Day in its Day. And it is a Comfort to us, in Reference to the Power and Malice of our Enemies, that they can have no Power to take us off, as long as God has any Work for us to do. The Witneſſes were not ſlain till they had finiſh'd their Teſtimony.

4. I know that Herod can do me no Harm, not only becauſe my Time is not yet come, but becauſe the Place appointed for my Death is Jeruſalem, which is not within his Juriſdiction.

It cannot be that a Prophet periſh out of Jeruſalem, i. e. any where elſe but at Jeruſalem. If a true Prophet was put to Death, he was proſecuted as a falſe Prophet. Now none undertook to try Prophets, and to judge concerning them, but the great Sanhedrin, which always ſat at Jeruſalem, 'twas a Cauſe which the inferior Courts did not take Cognizance of, and therefore if a Prophet be put to Death, it muſt be at Jeruſalem.

3. His Lamentation for Jeruſalem, and his Denunciation of Wrath againſt that City, v. 34, 35. This we had, Mat. 23. 37, 38, 39. perhaps this was not ſaid now in Galilee, but the Evangeliſt not deſigning to bring it in its proper place, inſerts it here, upon Occaſion of Chriſt's mentioning his being put to Death at Jeruſalem.

Note, 1. The Wickedneſs of Perſons and Places that more eminently than others profeſs Religion and Relation to God, is in a particular Manner provoking and grieving to the Lord Jeſus. How pathetically doth he ſpeak of the Sin and Ruin of that holy City, O Jeruſalem, Jeruſalem.

2. Thoſe that enjoy great Plenty of the Means of Grace, if they are not profited by them, many Times are prejudic'd againſt them. They that would not hearken to the Prophets, nor welcome thoſe whom God ſent to them, kill'd them, and ſton'd them. If Mens Corruptions are not conquer'd they are provok'd.

3. Jeſus Chriſt has ſhew'd himſelf willing, freely willing, to receive and entertain poor Souls that come to him, and put themſelves under his Protection: How often would I have gather'd thy Children together, as a Hen gathers her Brood under her Wings, with ſuch Care and ſuch Tenderneſs.

4. The Reaſon why Sinners are not protected and provided for by the Lord Jeſus, as the Chickens are by the Hen, is becauſe they will not. I would, I often would, and ye would not. Chriſt's Willingneſs aggravates Sinners Unwillingneſs, and leaves their Blood upon their own Heads.

5. The Houſe that Chriſt leaves, is left deſolate. The Temple, tho' richly adorn'd, tho' hugely frequented, yet is deſolate if Chriſt have deſerted it. He leaves it to them, they had made an Idol of it, and let them take it to themſelves, aud make their beſt of it, Chriſt will trouble it no more.

6. Chriſt juſtly withdraws from thoſe that drive him from them. They would not be gather'd by him, and therefore ſaith he, You ſhall not ſee me, you ſhall not hear me any more: As Moſes ſaid to Pharaoh when he forbid him his Preſence, Exod. 10. 28, 29.

7. The Judgment of the great Day will effectually convince Unbelievers that would not now be convinc'd: Then you will ſay, Bleſſed is he that cometh, i. e. will be glad to be among thoſe that ſay ſo, and will not ſee me to be the Meſſiah till then when 'tis too late.

CHAP. XIV.

In this Chapter we have (1.) The Cure which our Lord Jeſus wrought upon a Man that had the Dropſie, on the Sabbath-day, and his juſtifying himſelf therein againſt thoſe who were offended at his doing it on that Day, v. 1.-----6. (2.) A Leſſon of Humility given to thoſe who were ambitious of the higheſt Rooms, v. 7.----11. (3.) A Leſſon of Charity to thoſe who feaſted the Rich, and did not feed the Poor, v. 12.-----14. (4.) The Succeſs of the Goſpel Offer foretold, in the Parable of the Gueſts invited to a Feaſt, ſignifying the Rejection of the Jews, and all others that ſet their Hearts upon this World, and the Entertainment of the Gentiles, and all others that come empty of ſelf to be fill'd with Chriſt, v. 15.----24. (5.) The great Law of Diſcipleſhip laid down, with a Caution to all that will be Chriſt's Diſciples, to undertake it deliberately, and with Conſideration, and particularly to Miniſters, to retain their Savour, v. 25.----35.

AND it came to paſs, as he went into the houſe of one of the chief Phariſees to eat bread on the ſabbath-day, that they watched him. 2 And behold, there was a certain Man before him, which had the dropſie. 3 And Jeſus anſwering ſpake unto the lawyers and Phariſees, ſaying, Is it lawful to heal on the ſabbath day? 4 And they held their peace. And he took him, and healed him, and let him go: 5 And anſwered them, ſaying, Which of you ſhall have an aſs, or an ox fallen into a pit, and will not ſtraightway pull him out on the ſabbath-day? 6 And they could not anſwer him again to theſe things.

In this Paſſage of Story we find,

1. That the Son of Man came eating and drinking, converſing familiarly with all Sorts of People; not declining the Society of Publicans, tho' they were of ill Fame, nor of Phariſees, tho' they bare him ill Will, but accepting the friendly Invitations both of the one and of the other; that if poſſible he might do good to both. Here he went into the Houſe of one of the chief Phariſees, a Ruler it may be, and a Magiſtrate in his Country, to eat Bread on the Sabbath-day, v. 1. See how favourable God is to us, that he allows us Time even on his own Day for bodily Refreſhments; and how careful we ſhould be not to abuſe that Liberty, or turn it into Licentiouſneſs: Chriſt went only to eat Bread, to take ſuch Refreſhment as was neceſſary, on the Sabbath-Day. Our Sabbath-Meals muſt with a particular Care be guarded againſt all Manner of Exceſs: On Sabbath-days we muſt do as Moſes and Jethro did, eat Bread before God, Exod. 18. 12. and as is ſaid of the primitive Chriſtians on the Lord's Day, muſt eat and drink as thoſe that muſt pray again before we go to Reſt, that we may not be unfit for that.

2. That he went about doing good. Wherever he came he ſought Opportunities to do good, and not only improv'd thoſe that fell in his Way; there was a certain Man before him, which had the Dropſie, v. 2. We do not find that he offered himſelf, or that his Friends offer'd him to be Chriſt's Patient, but Chriſt prevented him with the Bleſſings of his Goodneſs, and before he call'd he anſwer'd him. Note, It's a happy Thing to be were Chriſt is, to be preſent before him, tho' we be not preſented to him. This Man had the Dropſie, 'tis probable in a high Degree, and that he appear'd much ſwell'd with it; probably he was ſome Relation of the Phariſee's, that now lodg'd in his Houſe, which is more likely than that he ſhould be an invited Gueſt at the Table.

3. That he endured the Contradiction of Sinners againſt himſelf, v. 1. They watched him. The Phariſee that invited him, it ſhou'd ſeem did it with a Deſign to pick ſome Quarrel with him: if it were ſo, Chriſt knew it, and yet went, for he knew himſelf a Match for the moſt ſubtil of them, and how to order his Steps, with an Eye to his Obſervers. Thoſe that are watch'd had need to be wary. It was, as Dr. Hammond obſerves, contrary to all Laws of Hoſpitality, to ſeek Advantage againſt one that you invited to be your Gueſt, for ſuch a one you have taken under your Protection. Theſe Lawyers and Phariſees, like the Fowler that lies in wait to enſnare the Birds, held their Peace, and acted very ſilently. When Chriſt ask'd them whether they thought it lawful to heal on the Sabbath-day (and herein he is ſaid to anſwer them, for it was an Anſwer to their Thoughts, and Thoughts are Words to Jeſus Chriſt) they would ſay neither Yea, nor No, for their Deſign was to inform againſt him, not to be inform'd by him. They would not ſay, It was lawful to heal, for then they would preclude themſelves from imputing it to him as a Crime: And yet the Thing was ſo plain and ſelf-evident, that they could not for Shame ſay, It was not lawful. Note, Good Men have often been perſecuted for doing that which even their Perſecutors, if they would but give their Conſciences Leave to ſpeak out, could not but own to be lawful and good. Many a good Work Chriſt did, for which they caſt Stones at him and his Name.

4. That Chriſt would not be hinder'd from doing good, by the Oppoſition and Contradiction of Sinners, v. 4. He took him, and heal'd him, and let him go. Perhaps he took him aſide into another Room, and heal'd him there, becauſe he would neither proclaim himſelf, ſuch was his Humility, nor provoke his Adverſaries, ſuch was his Wiſdom, his Meekneſs of Wiſdom. Note, Tho' we muſt not be driven off from our Duty by the Malice of our Enemies, yet we ſhould order the Circumſtances of it, ſo as to make it the leaſt offenſive. Or, he took him, i. e. he laid Hands on him to cure him; ἐπιλαβόμενος, complexus, he embrac'd him, took him in his Arms, big and unweildy as he was, for ſo dropſical People uſe to be, and reduc'd him to Shape. The Cure of a Dropſie, as much as of any Diſeaſe, one would think ſhould be gradual, yet Chriſt cur'd even that Diſeaſe, perfectly cur'd it in a Moment. He then let him go, leſt the Phariſees ſhould fall upon him for being heal'd, tho' he was purely paſſive; for what Abſurdities wou'd not ſuch Men as they were be guilty of?

5. That our Lord Jeſus did nothing but what he could juſtifie, to the Conviction and Confuſion of thoſe that quarrel'd with him, v. 5, 6. He ſtill anſwer'd their Thoughts, and made them hold their peace for Shame, who before held their Peace for Subtilty, by an Appeal to their own Practice, as he had been us'd to do upon ſuch Occaſions, that he might ſhew them how in condemning him they condemn'd themſelves; which of you ſhall have an Aſs or an Ox fallen into a Pit, by Accident, will he not pull him out on the Sabbath-day? and that ſtraitway, not deferring it 'till the Sabbath be over, leſt it periſh. Obſerve, it is not ſo much out of Compaſſion to the poor Creatures, that they do it, but a Concern for their own Intereſt. It is their own Ox, and their own Aſs that's worth Money, that they will diſpenſe with the Law of the Sabbath for the ſaving of. Now this was an Evidence of their Hypocriſie, and that it was not out of any real Regard to the Sabbath, that they found Fault with Chriſt for healing on the Sabbath-day, that was only the Pretence, but really they were angry at the miraculous good Works which Chriſt wrought, the Proof he thereby gave of his divine Miſſion, and the Intereſt he thereby gain'd among the People. Many can eaſily diſpenſe with that for their own Intereſt, which they cannot diſpenſe with for God's Glory and the Good of their Brethren. This Queſtion ſilenc'd them, they could not anſwer him again to theſe Things, v. 6. Chriſt will be juſtified when he ſpeaks, and every Mouth ſtop'd before him.

7 ¶ And he put forth a parable to thoſe which were bidden, when he marked how they choſe out the chief rooms; ſaying unto them, 8 When thou art bidden of any man to a wedding, ſit not down in the higheſt room: leſt a more honourable man than thou be bidden of him; 9 And he that bade thee and him, come and ſay to thee, Give this man place; and thou begin with ſhame to take the loweſt room. 10 But when thou art bidden, go and ſit down in the loweſt room; that when he that bade thee cometh, he may ſay unto thee, Friend, go up higher: then ſhalt thou have worſhip in the preſence of them that ſit at meat with thee. 11
For whoſoever exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; and he that humbleth himſelf, ſhall be exalted. 12 ¶
Then ſaid he alſo to him that bade him, When thou makeſt a dinner or a ſupper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinſmen, nor thy rich neighbours; leſt they alſo bid thee again, and a recompence be made thee. 13 But when thou makeſt a feaſt, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind: 14 And thou ſhalt be bleſſed; for they cannot recompence thee: for thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the reſurrection of the juſt.

Our Lord Jeſus here ſets us an Example of profitable edifying Diſcourſe at our Tables, when we are in Company with our Friends. We find him when he had none but his Diſciples, that were his own Family, with him at his Table, his Diſcourſe with them was good, and to the Uſe of edifying; and not only ſo, but when he was in Company with Strangers, nay, with Enemies that watch'd him, he took Occaſion to reprove what he ſaw amiſs in them, and to inſtruct them; tho' the Wicked were before him, he did not keep Silence from Good (as David did) Pſal. 39. 1, 2. for notwithſtanding the Provocation given him, he had not his Heart hot within him, nor was his Spirit ſtirr'd. We muſt not only not allow any corrupt Communication at our Tables, ſuch as that of the hypocritical Mockers at Feaſts, but we muſt not content ourſelves with common, harmleſs Talk, but we ſhould take Occaſion from God's Goodneſs to us at our Tables, to ſpeak well of him, and learn to ſpiritualize common Things. The Lips of the Righteous ſhould then feed many.

Our Lord Jeſus was among Perſons of Quality, yet as one that had not Reſpect of Perſons.

Firſt, He takes Occaſion to reprove the Gueſts for ſtriving to ſit uppermoſt, and from thence gives us a Leſſon of Humility.

1. He obſerv'd how theſe Lawyers and Phariſees affected the higheſt Seats, towards the Head-End of the Table, v. 7. He had charg'd that Sort of Men with this in general, Luke 11. here he brings home the Charge to particular Perſons; for Chriſt will give every Man his own. He mark'd how they choſe out the chief Rooms, every Man as he came in got as near the beſt Seat as he could. Note, Even in the common Actions of Life, Chriſt's Eye is upon us, and he marks what we do, not only in our religious Aſſemblies, but at our Tables, and makes Remarks upon it.

2. He obſerv'd how thoſe who were thus aſpiring, oftentimes expos'd themſelves, and came off with a Slur; whereas thoſe that were modeſt, and ſeated themſelves in the loweſt Seats, oftentimes gain'd Reſpect by it. (1.) Thoſe that when they come in, aſſume the higheſt Seats, perhaps may be degraded, and forc'd to come down, to give Place to one more honourable, v. 8, 9. Note, It ought to check our high Thoughts of ourſelves, to think how many there are that are more honourable than we, not only in Reſpect of worldly Dignities, but perſonal Merits and Accompliſhments. Inſtead of being proud that ſo many give Place to us, it ſhould be humbling to us, that there are ſo many that we muſt give Place to. The Maſter of the Feaſt will marſhal his Gueſts, and will not ſee the more honourable kept out of the Seat that is his due, and therefore will make bold to take him lower that uſurp'd it, Give this Man Place; and this will be a Diſgrace to him that would be thought more deſerving than really he was, before all the Company. Note, Pride will have Shame, and will at laſt have a Fall. (2.) Thoſe that when they come in, content themſelves with the loweſt Seats, are likely to be preferr'd, v. 10. Go and ſeat thyſelf in the loweſt Room, as taking it for granted, that thy Friend who invited thee has Gueſts to come, that are of better Rank and Quality than thou art; but perhaps it may not prove ſo, and then it will be ſaid to thee, Friend, Go up higher. The Maſter of the Feaſt will be ſo juſt to thee, as not to keep thee at the lower End of the Table, becauſe thou waſt ſo modeſt as to ſeat thyſelf there. Note, The Way to riſe high, is to begin low; and this recommends a Man to thoſe about him. Thou ſhalt have Honour and Reſpect before thoſe that ſit with thee. They will ſee thee to be an honourable Man, beyond what at firſt they thought, and Honour appears the brighter for ſhining out of Obſcurity. And they will likewiſe ſee thee to be a humble Man, which is the greateſt Honour of all. Our Saviour here refers to that Advice of Solomon, Prov. 25. 6, 7. Stand not in the Place of Great Men, for better it is that it be ſaid unto thee, Come up hither, than that thou ſhouldſt be put lower. And Dr. Lightfoot quotes a Parable out of one of the Rabbins, ſomewhat like this; "Three Men (ſaid he) were bidden to a Feaſt; "one ſate higheſt, for, ſaid he, I am a Prince; the other next, "for, ſaid he, I am a wiſe Man; the other loweſt, for, ſaid he, "I am a humble Man. The King ſeated the humble Man "higheſt, and put the Prince loweſt."

3. He apply'd this generally, and wou'd have us all learn not to mind high Things, but to content themſelves with mean Things; as for other Reaſons, ſo for this, Becauſe Pride and Ambition are diſgraceful before Men, for whoſoever exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; but Humility and Self-denial are really honourable, he that humbleth himſelf, ſhall be exalted, v. 11. We ſee it in other Inſtances, that a Man's Pride will bring him low, but Honour ſhall uphold the humble in Spirit; and before Honour is Humility.

Secondly, He takes Occaſion to reprove the Maſter of the Feaſt, for inviting ſo many rich People, who had wherewithal to dine very well at home, when he ſhou'd rather have invited the Poor, or which was all one, have ſent Portions to them for whom nothing is prepared, and who could not afford themſelves a good Meal's Meat. See Neh. 8. 10. And our Saviour here teacheth us, that the uſing of what we have in Works of Charity, is better, and will turn to a better Account, than uſing it in Works of Generoſity, and in magnificent Houſe-keeping.

1. Covet not to treat the Rich, v. 12. invite not thy Friends, and Brethren, and Neighbours, that are rich. This doth not prohibit the entertaining of ſuch, there may be Occaſion for it, for the cultivating of Friendſhip among Relations and Neighbours, but (1.) Do not uſe it; ſpend as little as thou canſt that Way, that thou mayſt not diſable thyſelf to lay out a much better Way, in Almſgiving. Thou wilt find it very expenſive and troubleſome; one Feaſt for the Rich, will make a great many Meals for the Poor. Solomon ſaith, He that giveth to the Rich, ſhall ſurely come to want, Prov. 22. 16. Give (ſaith Pliny, Epiſt.) to thy Friends, but let it be to thy poor Friends, not to thoſe that need thee not. (2.) Be not proud of it. Many make Feaſts only to make a Shew, as Ahaſuerus did, Eſth. 1. 3, 4. and its no Reputation to them, they think, if they have not Perſons of Quality to dine with them, and thus rob their Families to pleaſe their Fancies. (3.) Aim not at being paid again in your own Coin. This is that which our Saviour blames in making ſuch Entertainments, you commonly do it in Hopes you will be invited by them, and ſo a Recompence will be made you; you will be gratified with ſuch Dainties and Varieties as you treat your Friends with, and this will feed your Senſuality and Luxury, and you will be no real Gainer at laſt.

2. Be forward to relieve the Poor, v. 13, 14. When thou makeſt a Feaſt, inſtead of furniſhing thyſelf with what is rare and nice, get thy Table ſpread with a Competency of plain and wholeſome Meat, which will not be ſo coſtly, and invite the Poor, and Maimed; ſuch as have nothing to live upon, nor are able to work for their Living. Theſe are Objects of Charity, they want Neceſſaries, furniſh them, and they will recompence thee with their Prayers; they will commend thy Proviſions, which the Rich it may be will deſpiſe. They will go away and thank God for thee, when the Rich will go away and reproach thee. Say not thou art a Loſer, becauſe they cannot recompence thee, thou art ſo much out of Pocket; no, 'tis ſo much let out to the beſt Intereſt, on the beſt Security, for thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the Reſurrection of the Juſt. There will be a Reſurrection of the Juſt; a Future State of the Juſt. There is a State of Happineſs reſerv'd for them in t'other World: And we may be ſure the Charitable will be remember'd in the Reſurrection of the Juſt, for Alms are Righteouſneſs. Works of Charity perhaps may not be rewarded in this World, for the Things of this World are not the beſt Things, and therefore God doth not pay the beſt Men in thoſe Things; but they ſhall in no wiſe loſe their Reward; they ſhall be recompenced in the Reſurrection. And it will be found that the longeſt Voyages make the richeſt Returns, and the Charitable will be no Loſers, but unſpeakable Gainers, by having their Recompence adjourn'd 'till the Reſurrection.

15 ¶ And when one of them that ſat at meat with him, heard theſe things, he ſaid unto him, Bleſſed is he that ſhall eat bread in the kingdom of God. 16 Then he ſaid unto him, A certain man made a great ſupper, and bade many: 17 And ſent his ſervant at ſupper-time to ſay to them that were bidden, Come, for all things are now ready.
18 And they all with one conſent began to make excuſe. The firſt ſaid unto him, I have bought a piece of ground, and I muſt needs go and ſee it:
I pray thee have me excuſed. 19 And another ſaid, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them: I pray thee have me excuſed. 20
And another ſaid, I have married a wife, and there-ſore I cannot come. 21 So that ſervant came and ſhewed his lord theſe things. Then the maſter of the houſe being angry, ſaid to his ſervant, Go out quickly into the ſtreats and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. 22 And the ſervant ſaid, Lord, it is done as thou haſt commanded, and yet there is room. 23 And the Lord ſaid unto the ſervant, Go out into the high-ways, and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my houſe may be filled. 24 For I ſay unto you, that none of thoſe men which were bidden, ſhall taſte of my ſupper.

Here's another Diſcourſe of our Saviour's, in which he ſpiritualizeth the Feaſt he was invited to; which is another Way of keeping up good Diſcourſe in the midſt of common Actions.

1. The Occaſion of the Diſcourſe was given by one of the Gueſts, who when Chriſt was giving Rules about Feaſting, ſaid to him, Bleſſed is he that ſhall eat Bread in the Kingdom of God, v. 15. which ſome tell us was a Saying commonly us'd among the Rabbins.—But with what Deſign doth this Man bring it in here? (1.) Perhaps this Man, obſerving that Chriſt reprov'd firſt the Gueſts, and then the Maſter of the Houſe, fearing he ſhould put the Company out of Humour, ſtarted this, to divert the Diſcourſe to ſomething elſe. Or (2.) Admiring the good Rules of Humility and Charity which Chriſt had now given, but deſpairing to ſee them liv'd up to in the preſent degenerate State of Things, he longs for the Kingdom of God, when theſe and other good Laws ſhall obtain, and pronounceth them bleſſed, who ſhall have a Place in that Kingdom. Or (3.) Chriſt having mentioned the Reſurrection of the Juſt, as a Recompence for Acts of Charity to the Poor, he here confirms what he had ſaid, Yea, Lord, they that ſhall be recompenc'd in the Reſurrection of the Juſt, ſhall eat Bread in the Kingdom, and that's a greater Recompence than being re-invited to the Table of the greateſt Man on Earth. Or (4.) Obſerving Chriſt to be ſilent after he had given the foregoing Leſſons, he was willing to draw him in again to further Diſcourſe, ſo wonderfully well-pleas'd was he with what he ſaid; and he knew nothing more likely to engage him, than to mention the Kingdom of God. Note, Thoſe that are not of Ability to carry on good Diſcourſe themſelves, yet ought to put in a Word now and then to countenance it, and help it forwards.

Now that which this Man ſaid, was a plain and acknowledg'd Truth, and it was quoted very appoſitely now they were ſitting at Meat; for we ſhould take Occaſion from common Things, to think and ſpeak of thoſe heavenly and ſpiritual Things which in Scripture are compared to them; for that is our End of borrowing Similitudes from them. And it will be good for us, when we are receiving the Gifts of God's Providence, to paſs thro' them to the Conſideration of the Gifts of his Grace, thoſe better Things. This Thought will be very ſeaſonable when we are partaking of bodily Refreſhments, Bleſſed are they that ſhall eat Bread in the Kingdom of God. (1.) In the Kingdom of Grace, in the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which was expected now ſhortly to be ſet up. Chriſt promis'd his Diſciples that they ſhould eat and drink with him in his Kingdom.---They that partake of the Lord's-Supper, eat Bread in the Kingdom of God. (2.) In the Kingdom of Glory, at the Reſurrection. The Happineſs of Heaven is an Everlaſting Feaſt; bleſſed are they that ſhall ſit down at that Table, whence they ſhall riſe no more.

2. The Parable which our Lord Jeſus put forth upon this Occaſion, v. 16, &c. Chriſt joins with the good Man in what he ſaid; 'tis very true, Bleſſed are they that ſhall partake of the Privileges of the Meſſiah's Kingdom. But who are they that ſhall enjoy that Privilege? You Jews that think to have the Monopoly of it, will generally reject it, and the Gentiles will be the greateſt Sharers in it. This he ſhews by a Parable, for if he had ſpoken it plainly, the Phariſees would not have born it.

Now in the Parable we may obſerve,

1. The Free-Grace and Mercy of God ſhining in the Goſpel of Chriſt; it appears (1.) In the rich Proviſion he has made for poor Souls, for their Nouriſhment, Refreſhment, and Entertainment, v. 16. A certain rich Man made a great Supper. There is that in Chriſt and the Grace of the Goſpel, which will be Food and a Feaſt for the Soul of Man, that knows its own Capacities, for the Soul of a Sinner, that knows its own Neceſſities and Miſeries. 'Tis call'd a Supper, becauſe in thoſe Countries Supper-time was the chief Feaſting-time, when the Buſineſs of the Day was over. The Manifeſtation of the Goſpel Grace to the World, was the Evening of the World's Day. And the Fruition of the Fulneſs of that Grace in Heaven, is reſerv'd for the Evening of our Day. (2.) In the gracious Invitation given us, to come and partake of this Proviſion. Here's (1.) A general Invitation given, he bade many. Chriſt invited the whole Nation and People of the Jews to partake of the Benefits of his Goſpel. There's Proviſion enough for as many as come, 'twas propheſy'd of as a Feaſt for all People, Iſa. 25. 6. Chriſt in the Goſpel, as he keeps a good Houſe, ſo he keeps an open Houſe. (2.) A particular Memorandum given, when the Supper-time was at Hand; the Servant was ſent round to put them in mind of it, Come, for all Things are now ready. When the Spirit was pour'd out, and the Goſpel Church planted, thoſe who before were invited, were more cloſely preſs'd to come in preſently, now all Things are ready, the full Diſcovery of the Goſpel Myſtery is now made, all the Ordinances of the Goſpel are now inſtituted, the Society of Chriſtians is now incorporated, and which crowns all, the Holy Ghoſt is now given. This is the Call now given to us, All Things are now ready, now is the accepted Time, 'tis now and has not been long, 'tis now and will not be long; 'tis a Seaſon of Grace that will be ſoon over, and therefore come now; do not delay; accept the Invitation; believe yourſelves welcome; eat, O Friends, drink, yea drink abundantly, O Beloved.

2. The cold Entertainment which the Grace of the Goſpel meets with. The invited Gueſts declin'd coming, they did not ſay flat and plain they would not come, but they all with Conſent began to make Excuſe, v. 18. One would have expected they ſhould all with one Conſent have come to a good Supper, when they were ſo kindly invited to it, who would have refus'd ſuch an Invitation? Yet, on the contrary, they all found out ſome Pretence or other to ſhift off their Attendance. This ſpeaks the general Neglect of the Jewiſh Nation to cloſe with Chriſt, and accept of the Offers of his Grace, and the Contempt they put upon the Invitation. It ſpeaks alſo the Backwardneſs that is in moſt People to cloſe with the Goſpel-Call. They cannot for Shame avow their Refuſal, but they deſire to be excus'd; they all ἀπὸ μιᾶς, ſome ſupply ὥρας, all ſtraitway, they could give an Anſwer extempore, and needed not to ſtudy for it; were not to ſeek for an Excuſe. Others ſupply γνώμης, they were unanimous in it, with one Voice.

(1.) Here were two were Purchaſers, and were in ſuch Haſte to go ſee their Purchaſes, that they could not find Time to go to this Supper. One had purchas'd Land, he had bought a Piece of Ground, which was repreſented to him to be a good Bargain, and he was needs go ſee whether it was ſo or no, and therefore I pray thee have me excus'd. His Heart was ſo much upon the enlarging of his Eſtate, that he could neither be civil to his Friend, nor kind to himſelf. Note, Thoſe that have their Hearts full of the World, and fond of laying Houſe to Houſe, and Field to Field, have their Ears deaf to the Goſpel Invitation. But what a frivolous Excuſe was this! He might have deferr'd going to ſee his Piece of Ground 'till the next Day, and have found it in the ſame Place and Plight it was now in, if he had ſo pleas'd. Here was another had purchas'd Stock for his Land, I have bought five Yoak of Oxen for the Plough, and I muſt juſt now go prove them, muſt go try whether they be fit for my Purpoſe, and therefore excuſe me for this Time. The former intimates that inordinate Complacency in the World, this, that inordinate Care and Concern about the World, which keeps People from Chriſt and his Grace; both intimate a Preference given to the Body above the Soul, and to the Things of Time above thoſe of Eternity. Note, 'Tis an ill Thing when we are call'd to any Duty, to make Excuſes for our Neglect of it. 'Tis a Sign there are Convictions that 'tis Duty, but no Inclination to it. Theſe Things here that were the Matter of the Excuſes, were (1.) Little Things, and of ſmall Concern. It had better become them to have ſaid, I am invited to eat Bread in the Kingdom of God, and therefore muſt be excus'd from going to ſee the Ground, or the Oxen. (2.) Lawful Things. Note, Things lawful in themſelves, when the Heart is too much ſet upon them, prove fatal Hindrances in Religion, Licitis perimus omnes. It is a hard Matter ſo to manage our Worldly Affairs, that they may not divert us from ſpiritual Purſuits; and this ought to be our great Care.

(2.) Here was one that was newly marry'd, and could not leave his Wife to go out to Supper, no not for once, v. 20. I have marry'd a Wife, and therefore, in ſhort, I cannot come. He pretends he cannot, when the Truth is he will not. Thus many pretend Inability for the Duties of Religion, when really they have an Averſion to them. He has marry'd a Wife; 'tis true, he that was marry'd was excus'd by the Law from going to War for the firſt Year, Deut. 24. 5. but would that excuſe him from going up to the Feaſts of the Lord, which all the Males were yearly to attend? Much leſs will it excuſe from the Goſpel Feaſt, which the other were but Types of. Note, Our Affection to our Relations, often proves a Hindrance to us in our Duty to God. Adam's Excuſe was, The Woman that thou gaveſt me, perſwaded me to eat; this here was, the Woman perſwaded me not to eat. He might have gone, and taken his Wife along with him, they ſhould both have been welcome.

3. The Account which was brought to the Maſter of the Feaſt, of the Affront put upon him by his Friends whom he had invited, who now ſhow'd how little they valu'd him, v. 21. That Servant came, and ſhew'd his Lord theſe Things; told him with Surprize, that he was likely to ſup alone, for the Gueſts that were invited, tho' they had had timely Notice a good while before, that they might order their Affairs accordingly, yet were now engag'd to ſome other Buſineſs. He made the Matter neither better nor worſe, but related it juſt as it was. Note, Miniſters muſt give Account of the Succeſs of their Miniſtry.

niſtry. They muſt do it now at the Throne of Grace, if they ſee of the Travel of their Soul, they muſt go to God with their Thanks; If they labour in vain, they muſt go to God with their Complaints: They will do it hereafter at the Judgment-Seat of Chriſt; they ſhall be produc'd as Witneſſes againſt thoſe who perſiſt and periſh in their Unbelief, to prove that they were fairly invited: And for thoſe who accepted the Call, Behold I and the Children thou haſt given me. The Apoſtle urges this as a Reaſon why People ſhould give Ear to the Word of God ſent them by his Miniſters; for they watch for your Souls, as thoſe that muſt give Account, Heb. 13. 17.

4. The Maſter's juſt Reſentment of this Affront; he was angry, v. 21. Note, The Ingratitude of thoſe that ſlight Goſpel Offers, and the Contempt they put upon the God of Heaven thereby, is a very great Provocation to him, and juſtly ſo. Abus'd Mercy turns into the greateſt Wrath. The Doom he paſt upon them was, None of the Men that were bidden ſhall taſte of my Supper. This was like the Doom paſt upon ungrateful Iſrael, when they deſpis'd the pleaſant Land. God ſware in his Wrath that they ſhould not enter into his Reſt. Note, Grace deſpis'd, is Grace forfeited, like Eſau's Birth-right. They that will not have Chriſt when the may, ſhall not have him when they would. Even thoſe that were bidden, if they ſlight the Invitation, ſhall be forbidden; when the Door is ſhut, the fooliſh Virgins ſhall be deny'd Entrance.

5. The Care that was taken to furniſh the Table with Gueſts, as well as Meat. Go (ſaith he to the Servants) Go firſt into the Streets and Lanes of the City, and invite, not the Merchants that are going from the Cuſtom-Houſe, or the Tradeſmen that are ſhutting up their Shops, they will deſire to be excus'd: One is going to his Compting-Houſe to caſt up his Books, another to the Tavern to drink a Bottle with his Friend; but that you may invite thoſe that will be glad to come, Bring in hither the Poor and the Maimed, the Halt and the Blind; pick up the common Beggars. The Servants object not that it will be a Diſparagement to the Maſter and his Houſe to have ſuch Gueſts at his Table, for they knew his Mind, and they ſoon gather enow ſuch Gueſts. Lord it is done as thou haſt commanded. Many of the Jews are brought in, not of the Scribes and Phariſees, ſuch as Chriſt was now at Dinner with, who thought themſelves moſt likely to be Gueſts at the Meſſiah's Table, but Publicans and Sinners, theſe are the Poor and the Maimed. But yet there is Room for more Gueſts, and Proviſion enough for them all. Go then, (2.) Into the Highways and Hedges; go out into the Country, and pick up the Vagrants, or thoſe that are returning now in the Evening from their Work in the Field, from Hedging and Ditching there, and compel them to come in, not by Force of Arms, but by Force of Arguments; be earneſt with them, for in this Caſe it would be neceſſary to convince them that the Invitation was ſincere, and not a Banter; they will be ſhy and modeſt, and will hardly believe that they ſhall be welcome, and therefore be importunate with them, and do not leave them till you have prevail'd with them. This refers to the Calling of the Gentiles, to whom the Apoſtles were to turn when the Jews refus'd the Offer, and with them the Church was fill'd.

Now obſerve here, (1.) That the Proviſion made for precious Souls in the Goſpel of Chriſt, ſhall appear not to have been made in vain; for if ſome reject it, yet others will thankfully accept the Offer of it. Chriſt comforts himſelf with this, that tho' Iſrael be not gathered, yet he ſhall be glorious, as a Light to the Gentiles, Iſa. 44. 5,6. God will have a Church in the World, tho' there are thoſe that are unchurch'd, for the Unbelief of Man ſhall not make the Promiſe of God of none Effect. (2.) Thoſe that are very poor and low in the World, ſhall be as welcome to Chriſt as the Rich and Great; nay, and many Times the Goſpel has greateſt Succeſs among thoſe that labour under worldly Diſadvantages, as the Poor, and bodily Infirmities, as the Maimed, and the Halt, and the Blind. Chriſt here plainly refers to what he had ſaid juſt before in Direction to us, to invite to our Tables the Poor and Maimed, the Lame and Blind, v. 13. For the Conſideration of the Countenance which Chriſt's Goſpel gives to the Poor, ſhould engage us to be charitable to them. His Condeſcenſions and Compaſſions towards them, ſhould engage ours. (3.) Many Times the Goſpel hath the greateſt Succeſs among thoſe that are leaſt likely to have the Benefit of it, and whoſe Submiſſion to it was leaſt expected: The Publicans and Harlots went into the Kingdom of God before the Scribes and Phariſees; ſo the laſt ſhall be firſt, and the firſt laſt. Let us not be confident concerning thoſe that are moſt forward, nor deſpair of thoſe that are leaſt promiſing. (4.) Chriſt's Miniſters muſt be both very expeditious and very importunate in inviting to the Goſpel-Feaſt. Go out quickly, v. 21. loſe no Time, becauſe all Things are now ready: Call them to come to Day, while it is call'd to Day. And compel them to come in by ſpeaking them fair, and drawing them with the Cords of a Man, and the Bands of Love. Nothing can be more abſurd than fetching an Argument from hence for compelling Mens Conſciences, nay, for compelling Men againſt their Conſciences in Matters of Religion: You ſhall receive the Lord's-Supper, or you ſhall be fin'd and impriſon'd, and ruin'd in your Eſtate. Certainly nothing like this was the Compulſion here meant, but only that of Reaſon and Love, for the Weapons of our Warfare are not carnal. Tho' many have been brought in to partake of the Benefits of the Goſpel, yet ſtill there is Room for more; for the Riches of Chriſt are unſearchable, and inexhauſtible; there is in him enough for all, and enough for each; and the Goſpel excludes none that do not exclude themſelves. (6.) Chriſt's Houſe, tho' it be large, it ſhall it laſt be filled, it will be ſo when the Number of the Elect is compleated, and as many as were given him, are brought to him.

25 ¶ And there went great multitudes with him: and he turned, and ſaid unto them, 26 If any man come to me, and hate not his father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and ſiſters, yea, and his own life alſo, he cannot be my diſciple. 27 And whoſoever doth not bear his croſs, and come after me, cannot be my diſciple.
28 For which of you intending to build a towre, ſitteth not down firſt, and counteth the coſt, whether he have ſufficient to finiſh it? 29 Leſt haply after he hath laid the foundation, and is not able to finiſh it, all that behold it, begin to mock him, 30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to finiſh. 31 Or what king going to make war againſt another king, ſitteth not down firſt, and conſulteth whether he be able with ten thouſand to meet him that cometh againſt him with twenty thouſand? 32 Or elſe, while the other is yet a great way off, he ſendeth an ambaſſage, and deſireth conditions of peace. 33 So likewiſe, whoſoever he be of you, that forſaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my diſciple. 34 ¶ Salt is good: but if the ſalt have loſt his ſavour, wherewith ſhall it be ſeaſoned? 35 It is neither fit for the land, nor yet for the dunghil; but men caſt it out. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

See how Chriſt in his Doctrine ſuited himſelf to thoſe to whom he ſpake, and gave every one their Portion of Meat. To Phariſees he preach'd Humility and Charity: He is in theſe Verſes directing his Diſcourſe to the Multitudes that crowded after him, and ſeem'd zealous in following him, and his Exhortation to them is to underſtand the Terms of Diſcipleſhip, before they undertook the Profeſſion of it, and to conſider what they did. See here,

1. How zealous People were in their Attendance on Chriſt, v. 25. There went great Multitudes with him, many for Love, and more for Company, for where there are many, there will be more. Here was a mixt Multitude, like that which went with Iſrael out of Egypt; ſuch we muſt expect there will always be in the Church, and it will therefore be neceſſary that Miniſters ſhould carefully ſeparate between the Precious and the Vile.

2. How conſiderate he would have them to be in their Zeal: Thoſe that undertake to follow Chriſt, muſt count upon the worſt, and prepare accordingly.

1. He tells them what the worſt is they muſt count upon; much the ſame with what he had gone through before them, and for them. He takes it for granted they had a Mind to be his Diſciples, that they might be qualified for Preferment in his Kingdom: They expected he ſhould ſay, If any Man come to me, and be my Diſciple, he ſhall have Wealth and Honour in Abundance, let me alone to make him a great Man; but he tells them the quite contrary.

(1.) That they muſt be willing to quit that which was very dear, and therefore muſt come to him throughly weaned from all their Creature-Comforts, and dead to them, ſo as chearfully to part with them, rather than quit their Intereſt in Chriſt, v. 26. A Man cannot be Chriſt's Diſciple, but he muſt hate Father and Mother, and his own Life. He is not ſincere, he will not be conſtant and perſevering, unleſs he love Chriſt better than any Thing in this World, and be willing to part with that which he may and muſt leave, either as a Sacrifice, when Chriſt may be glorify'd by our parting with it; ſo the Martyrs, who loved not their Lives to Death; or as a Temptation, when by our Parting with it, we are put into a better Capacity of ſerving Chriſt: Thus Abraham parted with his own Country, and Moſes with Pharaoh's Court. Mention is not made here of Houſes and Lands; Philoſophy will teach a Man to look upon thoſe with Contempt; but Chriſtianity carries it higher. (1.) Every good Man loves his Relations, and yet if he be a Diſciple of Chriſt he muſt comparatively hate them, muſt love them leſt than Chriſt, as Leah is ſaid to be hated when Rachel was better lov'd. Not that there Perſons muſt be in any Degree hated, but our Comfort and Satisfaction in them muſt be loſt and ſwallow'd up in our Love to Chriſt, as Levi's was when he ſaid to his Father, I have not ſeen him, Deut. 33. 9. When our Duty to our Parents comes in Competition with our evident Duty to Chriſt, we muſt give Chriſt the Preference. If we muſt either deny Chriſt, or be baniſh'd from our Families and Relations, (as many of the Primitive Chriſtians were) we muſt rather loſe their Society than his Favour. (2.) Every Man loves his own Life, no Man ever yet hated it; and we cannot be Chriſt's Diſciples, if we do not love him better than our own Lives, ſo as rather to have our Lives embitter'd by cruel Bondage, nay, and taken away by cruel Deaths, than to diſhonour Chriſt, or depart from any of his Truths and Ways. The Experience of the Pleaſures of the Spiritual Life, and the believing Hopes and Proſpects of Eternal Life, will make this hard Saying eaſy. When Tribulation and Perſecution ariſeth, becauſe of the Word, then chiefly the Trial is, whether we love better Chriſt, or our Relations and Lives; yet even in Days of Peace this Matter is ſometimes brought to the Trial. Thoſe that decline the Service of Chriſt, and Opportunities of Converſe with him, and are aſham'd to confeſs him, for fear of diſobliging a Relation or Friend, or loſing a Cuſtomer, give Cauſe to ſuſpect they love them better than Chriſt.

(2.) That they muſt be willing to bear that which was very heavy, v. 27. Whoſoever doth not carry his Croſs, as thoſe did that were condemn'd to be crucify'd, in Submiſſion to the Sentence, and in Expectation of the Execution of it, and ſo come after me, whitherſoever I ſhall lead him, he cannot be my Diſciple; that is, (ſaith Dr. Hammond) he is not for my Turn, and my Service being ſo ſure to bring Perſecution along with it, will not be for his. Tho' the Diſciples of Chriſt are not all crucify'd, yet they all bear their Croſs, as if they counted upon being crucify'd. They muſt be content to be put into an ill Name, and to be loaded with Infamy and Diſgrace, for no Name more ignominious than Furcifer, the Bearer of the Gibbet. He muſt bear his Croſs, and come after Chriſt, i. e. he muſt bear it in the Way of his Duty, whenever it lies in that Way. He muſt bear it when Chriſt calls him to it, and in bearing it he muſt have an Eye to Chriſt, and fetch Encouragements from him, and live in Hope of a Recompence with him.

2. He bids them count upon it, and then conſider of it: Since he has been ſo juſt to us, as to tell us plainly what Difficulties we ſhall meet with in following him, let us be ſo juſt to ourſelves as to weigh the Matter ſeriouſly before we take upon us a Profeſſion of Religion. Joſhua oblig'd the People to conſider what they did, when they promis'd to ſerve the Lord, Joſh. 24. 19. 'Tis better never begin than not proceed, and therefore before we begin, we muſt conſider what it is to proceed. This is to act rationally, and as becomes Men, and as we do in other Caſes. And the Cauſe of Chriſt will bear a Scrutiny: Satan ſhews the beſt, but hides the worſt, becauſe his Beſt will not countervail his Worſt; but Chriſt's will abundantly. Thus conſidering of the Caſe is neceſſary to Perſeverance, eſpecially in ſuffering Times. Our Saviour here illuſtrates the Neceſſity of it by two Similitudes: The former ſhewing that we muſt conſider the Perils of it.

1. When we take upon us a Profeſſion of Religion, we are like a Man that undertakes to build a Tower, and therefore muſt conſider the Expence of it, v. 28, 29, 30. Which of you intending to build a Tower, or ſtately Houſe for himſelf, ſitteth not down firſt and counteth the Coſt, and he muſt be ſure to count upon a great deal more than his Workmen will tell him 'twill lye him in: Let him compare the Charge with his Purſe, leſt he make himſelf to be laugh'd at, by beginning to build what he is not able to finiſh.

Note, 1. All that take upon them a Profeſſion of Religion, undertake to build a Tower, not as the Tower of Babel, in Oppoſition to Heaven, which therefore was left unfiniſh'd, but in Obedience to Heaven, which therefore ſhall have its Top Stone brought forth. Begin low, and lay the Foundation deep, lay it on the Rock, and make ſure Work, and then aim as high as Heaven. 2. Thoſe that intend to build this Tower, muſt ſit down and count the Coſt; let them conſider, it will coſt them the mortifying of their Sins, even the moſt beloved Luſts, it will coſt them a Life of Self-denial and Watchfulneſs, and a conſtant Courſe of holy Duties: It may perhaps coſt them their Reputation among Men, their Eſtates and Liberties, and all that's dear to them in this World, even Life itſelf. And if it coſt us all this, what is it, in Compariſon with what it coſt Chriſt to purchaſe the Advantages of Religion for us, which come to us without Money and Price. 3. Many that begin to build this Tower, do not go on with it, nor perſevere in it, and it is their Folly; they have not Courage and Reſolution, have not a rooted, fixed Principle, and ſo bring nothing to paſs. It is true, we have none of us in ourſelves ſufficient to finiſh this Tower, but Chriſt hath ſaid, my Grace is ſufficient for thee, and that Grace ſhall not be wanting to any of us, if we ſeek for it, and make uſe of it. 4. Nothing is more ſhameful, than for thoſe that have begun well in Religion to break off; every one will juſtly mock him; as having loſt all his Labour hitherto, for want of Perſeverance. We loſe the Things we have wrought, 2 Joh. 8. and all we have done and ſuffer'd is in vain, Gal. 3. 4, 5.

2. When we undertake to be Chriſt's Diſciples, we are like a Man that goes to War, and therefore muſt conſider the Hazard of it, and the Difficulties that are to be encounter'd, v. 31, 32. A King that proclaims War with a neighbouring Prince, conſiders whether he have Strength wherewith to make his Party good, and if not, he will lay aſide his Thoughts of War. Note, 1, The State of a Chriſtian in this World is a Military State. Is not the Chriſtian Life a Warfare? We have many Paſſes in our Way, that muſt be diſputed with Dint of Sword; nay, we muſt fight every Step we go, ſo reſtleſs are our ſpiritual Enemies, in their Oppoſition. 2. We ought to conſider whether we can endure the Hardneſs which a good Soldier of Jeſus Chriſt muſt expect and count upon, before we liſt ourſelves under Chriſt's Banner. Whether we are able to encounter the Forces of Hell and Earth, which come againſt us Twenty Thouſand ſtrong. 3. Of the two, 'tis better make the beſt Terms we can with the World, than pretend to renounce it, and afterwards, when Tribulation and Perſecution ariſeth becauſe of the Word, to return to it. That Young Man that cou'd not find in his Heart to part with his Poſſeſſions for Chriſt, did better to go away from Chriſt ſorrowing, than to have ſtaid with him diſſembling.

This Parable is another Way applicable, and may be taken as deſign'd to teach us to begin ſpeedily to be religious, rather than to begin cautiouſly; and may mean the ſame with Mat. 5. 25. Agree with thine Adverſary quickly. Note, (1.) Thoſe that perſiſt in Sin, make War againſt God, the moſt unnatural, unjuſtifiable War; they rebel againſt their lawful Sovereign, whoſe Government is perfectly juſt and good. (2.) The proudeſt and moſt daring Sinner, is no equal Match for God; the Diſproportion of Strength is much greater than that here ſuppos'd between ten thouſand and twenty Thouſand. Do we provoke the Lord to Jealouſy? Are we ſtronger than he? no, ſure; Who knows the Power of his Anger? In Conſideration of this, it is our Intereſt to make Peace with him; we need not ſend to deſire Conditions of Peace, they are offer'd to us, and are unexceptionable, and highly to our Advantage; let us acquaint ourſelves with them, and be at Peace; do this in Time, while the other is yet a great Way off, for Delays in ſuch a Caſe are highly dangerous, and make after Applications difficult.

But the Application of this Parable here, v. 33. is to the Conſideration that ought to be when we take upon us a Profeſſion of Religion. Solomon ſaith, with good Advice make War, Prov. 20. 18. for he that draws the Sword, throws away the Scabbard; ſo with good Advice enter upon a Profeſſion of Religion, as thoſe that know that except you forſake all you have, you cannot be Chriſt's Diſciples; that is, except you count upon forſaking all, and conſent to it, for all that will live godly in Chriſt Jeſus, muſt ſuffer Perſecution, and yet continue to live godly.

3. He warns them againſt Apoſtacy, and a Degeneracy of Mind from the truly Chriſtian Spirit and Temper, for that would make them utterly uſeleſs, v. 34, 35. (1.) Good Chriſtians are the Salt of the Earth, and good Miniſters eſpecially, Mat. 5. 13. and this Salt is good, and of great Uſe; by their Inſtructions and Examples they ſeaſon all they converſe with, to keep them from putrifying, and to quicken them and make them ſavory. (2.) Degenerate Chriſtians, that rather than part with what they have in the World, will throw up their Profeſſion, and then of Courſe become carnal and worldly, and wholly deſtitute of a Chriſtian Spirit, they are like Salt that has loſt his Savour; like that which the Chymiſts call the Caput Mortuum, that has all its Salts drawn from it, that is the moſt uſeleſs, worthleſs thing in the World; it has no Manner of Vertue or good Property in it. (1.) It can never be recover'd, wherewith ſhall it be ſeaſon'd? You cannot ſalt it. This intimates, that it is extremely difficult, and next to impoſſible, to recover an Apoſtate, Heb. 6. 4, 5, 6. If Chriſtianity will not prevail to cure Men of their Worldlineſs and Senſuality, if that Remedy have been try'd in vain, their Caſe muſt e'en be concluded deſperate. (2.) 'Tis of no Uſe; 'tis not fit as Dung is for the Land, to manure that, nor will it be the better if it be laid in the Dunghil to rot, there's nothing to be got out of it. A Profeſſor of Religion whoſe Mind and Manners are deprav'd, is the moſt inſipid Animal that can be. If he do ſpeak of the Things of God, which he hath had ſome Knowledge of, 'tis ſo awkardly, that none are the better for it: 'Tis a Parable in the Mouth of a Fool. (3.) 'Tis abandon'd; Men caſt it out, as that which they ſhall have no more to do with. Such ſcandalous Profeſſors ought to be caſt out of the Church, not only becauſe they have forfeited all the Honours and Privileges of their Church-Memberſhip, but becauſe there is Danger that others will be infected by them. Our Saviour concludes this with a Call to all to take Notice of it, and to take Warning; He that hath Ears to hear, let him hear. How can the Faculty of Hearing be better employ'd, than in attending to the Word of Chriſt, and particularly to the Alarms he has given us of the Danger we are in of Apoſtacy, and the Danger we run ourſelves by Apoſtacy.

CHAP. XV.

Evil Manners, we ſay, beget good Laws; ſo in this Chapter, the Murmuring of the Scribes and Phariſees at the Grace of Chriſt, and the Favour he ſhow'd to Publicans and Sinners, gave Occaſion for a more full Diſcovery of that Grace, than perhaps otherwiſe we ſhould have had, in theſe three Parables which we have in this Chapter, the Scope of all which is the ſame, to ſhew, not only what God had ſaid and ſworn in the Old Teſtament, that he had no Pleaſure in the Death and Ruin of Sinners, but that he has great Pleaſure in their Return and Repentance, and rejoyceth in the gracious Entertainment he gives them thereupon. Here's (1.) The Offence which the Phariſees took at Chriſt, for converſing with Heathen Men and Publicans, and Preaching his Goſpel to them, v. 1, 2. (2.) Juſtifying himſelf in it, by the Deſign and proper Tendency of it, and which with many had been the Effect of it, and that was, the bringing of them to repent and reform their Lives, than which there could not be a more pleaſing and acceptable Service done to God, which he ſhews in the Parable (1.) Of the loſt Sheep that was brought Home with Joy, v. 4,---7. (2.) Of the loſt Silver, that was found with Joy, v. 8,---10. (3.) Of the loſt Son that had been a Prodigal, but return'd to his Father's Houſe, and was receiv'd with great Joy, tho' his Elder Brother, like theſe Scribes and Phariſees, was offended at it, v. 11,---32.

THEN drew near unto him all the publicans and ſinners for to hear him. 2 And the Phariſees and ſcribes murmured, ſaying, this man receiveth ſinners, and eateth with them. 3 ¶ And he ſpake this parable unto them, ſaying, 4 What man of you having an hundred ſheep, if he looſe one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the wilderneſs, and go after that which is loſt, until he find it? 5 And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his ſhoulders, rejoycing. 6 And when he cometh home, he calleth together his friends and neighbours, ſaying unto them, Rejoyce with me, for I have found my ſheep which was loſt. 7 I ſay unto you, that likewiſe joy ſhall be in heaven over one ſinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine juſt perſons, which need no repentance. 8 ¶ Either what woman having ten pieces of ſilver, if ſhe loſe one piece, doth not light a candle, and ſweep the houſe, and ſeek diligently till ſhe find it? 9 And when ſhe hath found it, ſhe called her friends and her neighbours together, ſaying, Rejoyce with me, for I have found the piece which I had loſt. 10 Likewiſe I ſay unto you, There is joy in the preſence of the angels of God, over one ſinner that repenteth.

Here's 1. The diligent Attendance of the Publicans and Sinners upon Chriſt's Miniſtry. Great Multitudes of Jews went with him, chap. 14. 25. with ſuch an Aſſurance of Admiſſion into the Kingdom of God, that he found it requiſite to ſay that to them which would ſhake their vain Hopes. Here Multitudes of Publicans and Sinners drew near to him, with a humble modeſt Fear of being rejected by him, and to them he found it requiſite to give Encouragement, eſpecially becauſe there were ſome haughty ſupercilious People that frown'd upon them. The Publicans that collected the Tribute paid to the Romans, were perhaps ſome of them ill Men, but they were all induſtriouſly put into an ill Name, becauſe of the Prejudices of the Jewiſh Nation againſt their Office; they are ſometimes rank'd with Harlots, Mat. 21. 32. here and elſewhere with Sinners, ſuch as were openly vicious, that traded with Harlots; known Rakes. Some think the Sinners here were Heathen, and that Chriſt was now on the other Side Jordan, or in Galilee of the Gentiles. Theſe drew near, when perhaps the Multitude of the Jews, that had follow'd him, were (upon his Diſcourſe in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter) dropt off; thus afterwards the Gentiles took their Turn in hearing the Apoſtles, when the Jews had rejected them. They drew near to hear him; being afraid of drawing nearer than juſt to come within Hearing. They drew near to him, not as ſome did, for Curioſity, to ſee him, nor as others did, to ſollicit for Cures, but to hear his excellent Doctrine. Note, In all our Approaches to Chriſt, this we muſt have in our Eye, to hear him; to hear the Inſtructions he gives us, and his Anſwers to our Prayers.

2. The Offence which the Scribes and Phariſees took at this, v. 2. they murmured, and turn'd it to the Reproach of our Lord Jeſus, This Man receiveth Sinners, and eateth with them. (1.) They were angry that Publicans and Heathens had the Means of Grace allow'd them, were call'd to repent, and encourag'd to hope for Pardon upon Repentance; for they look'd upon their Caſe as deſperate, and that none but Jews had the Privilege of repenting and being pardoned, tho' the Prophets preach'd Repentance to Nations, and Daniel particularly to Nebuchadnezzar. (2.) They thought it a Diſparagement to Chriſt, and inconſiſtent with the Dignity of his Character, to make himſelf familiar with ſuch Sort of People; to admit them into his Company, and to eat with them. They could not for Shame condemn him for preaching to them, tho' that was the Thing they were moſt enrag'd at, and therefore they reproach'd him for eating with them, which was more expreſly contrary to the Tradition of the Elders. Cenſure will fall, not only upon the moſt innocent and moſt excellent Perſons, but upon the moſt innocent and moſt excellent Actions, and we muſt not think it ſtrange.

3. Chriſt's juſtifying of himſelf in it, by ſhewing that the worſe theſe People were to whom he preach'd, the more Glory wou'd redound to God, and the more Joy there would be in Heaven, if by his Preaching they were brought to Repentance. 'Twould be a more pleaſing Sight in Heaven, to ſee Gentiles brought to the Worſhip of the true God, than to ſee Jews go on in it; and to ſee Publicans and Sinners live an orderly Sort of Life, than to ſee Scribes and Phariſees go on in living ſuch a Life. This he here illuſtrates by two Parables, the Reddition of both which is the ſame.

Firſt, The Parable of the loſt Sheep. Something like it we had, Mat. 18. 12. there it was deſign'd to ſhew the Care God takes for the Preſervation of Saints, as a Reaſon why we ſhou'd not offend them; here it is deſign'd to ſhew the Pleaſure God takes in the Converſion of Sinners, as a Reaſon why we ſhould rejoyce in it. We have here,

1. The Caſe of a Sinner that goes on in ſinful Ways, he is like a loſt Sheep; a Sheep gone aſtray; loſt to God, who has not the Honour and Service he ſhou'd have from him; loſt to the Flock, that has not Communion with him; loſt to himſelf, he knows not where he is, wanders endleſly, is continually expos'd to the Beaſts of Prey, ſubject to Frights and Terrors, from under the Shepherd's Care, and wanting the Green Paſtures; and it cannot of itſelf find the Way back to the Fold.

2. The Care the God of Heaven takes of poor wandring Sinners. He continues his Care of the Sheep that did not go aſtray, they are ſafe in the Wilderneſs; but there is a particular Care to be taken of this loſt Sheep; and tho' he has an hundred Sheep, a conſiderable Flock, yet he will not loſe that one; but he goes after it, and ſhews Abundance of Care, (1.) In finding it out; he follows it, enquiring after it, and looking about for it, 'till he finds it; God follows backſliding Sinners with the Calls of his Word, and the Strivings of his Spirit, 'till at length they are wrought upon to think of returning. (2.) In bringing it Home; tho' he finds it weary, and perhaps worry'd, and worn away with its Wandrings, and not able to bear being driven Home, yet he doth not leave it to periſh, and ſay, its not worth carrying Home; but lays it on his Shoulders, and with a great deal of Tenderneſs and Labour, brings it to the Fold. This is very applicable to the great Work of our Redemption; Mankind was gone aſtray, Iſa. 53. 6. The Value of the whole Race to God, was not ſo much as that of one Sheep to him that had a Hundred; what Loſs would it have been to God, if they had all been left to periſh? There's a World of holy Angels that are as the ninety-nine Sheep, a noble Flock, yet God ſends his Son to ſeek and ſave that which was loſt, Luke 19. 10. Chriſt is ſaid to gather the Lambs in his Arms, and carry them in his Boſom, noting his Pity and Tenderneſs towards poor Sinners; here he is ſaid to bear them upon his Shoulder, noting the Power wherewith he bears and ſupports them up; thoſe can never periſh whom he carries upon his Shoulders.

3. The Pleaſure that God takes in repenting, returning Sinners; he lays it on his Shoulders rejoycing, that he had not loſt his Labour in ſeeking; and the Joy is the greater, becauſe he began to be out of Hope of finding it. And he calls his Friends and Neighbours, the Shepherds that kept their Flocks about him, ſaying, rejoyce with me; perhaps among the Paſtoral Songs, which the Shepherds uſed to ſing, there was one for ſuch an Occaſion as this, which theſe Words might be the Burthen of, Rejoyce with me, for I have found my Sheep which was loſt, whereas they never ſung, Rejoyce with me, for I have loſt none. Obſerve, he calls it his Sheep tho' a Stray, a wandring Sheep; he has a Right to it; all Souls are mine; and he will claim his own, and recover his Right; therefore he looks after it himſelf, I have found it; did not ſend a Servant, but his own Son, the great and good Shepherd, who will find what he ſeeks, and will be found of thoſe who ſeek him not.

1. The Loſer is here ſuppos'd to be a Woman, who will more paſſionately grieve for her Loſs, and rejoyce in the finding of what ſhe loſt, than perhaps a Man would do, and therefore it the better ſerves the Purpoſe of the Parable. She hath ten Pieces of Silver, and out of them looſes only one. Let this keep up in us high Thoughts of the Divine Goodneſs, notwithſtanding the Sinfulneſs and Miſery of the World of Mankind, that there is nine to one of God's Creation, that retain their Integrity, in whom God is prais'd, and never was diſhonour'd. O the numberleſs Beings, for ought we know, numberleſs Worlds of Beings, that never were loſt, or ſtept aſide from the Laws and Ends of their Creation!

2. That which is loſt is a Piece of Silver, δραχμὴν, the fourth Part of a Shekel. The Soul is Silver of intrinſick Worth and Value; not of baſe Metal, as Iron or Lead, but of Silver; the Mines of which are Royal Mines. The Hebrew Word for Silver is taken from the Deſireableneſs of it. 'Tis Silver Coin, for ſo the Drachma was; 'tis ſtampt with God's Image and Superſcription, and therefore muſt be render'd to him. Yet it is comparatively but of ſmall Value; 'twas but Seven-pence-half-penny; intimating, that if ſinful Men be left to periſh, God would be no Loſer. This Silver was loſt in the Dirt; a Soul plung'd in the World, and overwhelm'd with the Love of it, and Care about it, is like a Piece of Money in the Dirt, any one would ſay, 'tis a thouſand Pities it ſhould lye there.

3. Here's a great deal of Care and Pains taken in queſt of it. The Woman lights a Candle, to look behind the Door, under the Table, and in every Corner of the Houſe, ſweeps the Houſe, and ſeek diligently till ſhe find it. This repreſents the various Means and Methods God makes uſe of to bring loſt Souls home to himſelf: He hath lighted the Candle of the Goſpel, not to ſhew himſelf the Way to us, but to ſhew us the Way to him, to diſcover us to ourſelves; he hath ſwept the Houſe by the Convictions of the Word; he ſeeks diligently, his Heart is upon it, to bring loſt Souls to himſelf.

4. Here's a great deal of Joy for the finding of it, v. 9. Rejoyce with me for I have found the Piece which I had loſt. Thoſe that rejoyce, deſire that others ſhould rejoyce with them; that are merry, would have others merry with them; ſhe was glad ſhe had found the Piece of Money, tho' ſhe ſhould ſpend it entertaining thoſe whom ſhe call'd to make merry with her. The pleaſing Surprize of finding it, put her for the preſent in a kind of Tranſport, ἕυρηκα, ἕυρηκα, I have found, I have found, is the Language of Joy.

Thirdly, The Reddition of theſe two Parable is to the ſame Purpoſe, v. 7. 10. There is Joy in Heaven, Joy in the Preſence of the Angels of God, over one Sinner that repenteth, as thoſe Publicans and Sinners did, ſome of them at leaſt (and if but one of them did repent, Chriſt would reckon it worth his while) more than over a great Number of juſt Perſons which need no Repentance. Obſerve,

1. The Repentance and Converſion of Sinners on Earth, is Matter of Joy and Rejoycing in Heaven. It is poſſible that the greateſt Sinners may be brought to Repentance; while there's Life there's Hope, and the worſt are not to be deſpair'd of; and the worſt of Sinners, if they repent and turn, ſhall find Mercy. Yet that is not all, (1.) God will delight to ſhew them Mercy; will reckon their Converſion a Return for all the Expence he has been at upon them. There is always Joy in Heaven; God rejoyceth in all his Works, but particularly in the Works of his Grace: He rejoyceth to do Good to penitent Sinners, with his whole Heart, and his whole Soul. He rejoyceth not only in the Converſion of Churches and Nations, but even over one Sinner that repenteth, tho' but one. (2.) The good Angels will be glad that Mercy is ſhewn them, ſo far are they from repining at it, tho' thoſe of their Nature that ſinned be left to periſh, and no Mercy ſhew'd to them; tho' thoſe Sinners that repent that are ſo mean, and have been ſo vile, are upon their Repentance to be taken into Communion with them, and ſhortly to be made like them, and equal to them. The Converſion of Sinners, is the Joy of Angels, and they gladly become miniſtring Spirits to them for their Good, upon their Converſion. The Redemption of Mankind was Matter of Joy, in the Preſence of the Angels, for they ſung Glory to God in the higheſt, Luk. 2. 14.

2. There is more Joy over one Sinner that repenteth, and turns to be religious from a Courſe of Life that had been notoriouſly vile and vicious, than there is over ninety-nine juſt Perſons who need no Repentance. (1.) More Joy for the Redemption and Salvation of fallen Man, than for the Preſervation and Confirmation of the Angels that ſtand, and did indeed need no Repentance. (2.) More Joy for the Converſion of the Sinners of the Gentiles, and of thoſe Publicans that now heard Chriſt preach, than for all the Praiſes and Devotions, and all the God I thank thees of the Phariſees, and other the ſelf-juſtifying Jews, who thought that they needed no Repentance, and that therefore God ſhould abundantly rejoyce in them, and make his boaſt of them, as thoſe that were moſt his Honour; but Chriſt tells them 'twas quite otherwiſe, that God was more praiſed in, and pleaſed with the penitent broken Heart of one of thoſe deſpis'd envy'd Sinners, than all the long Prayers which the Scribes and Phariſees made, that could not ſay any Thing amiſs in themſelves. Nay, (3.) More Joy for the Converſion of one ſuch great Sinner, ſuch a Phariſee as Paul had been in his Time, than for the regular Converſation of one that had always carry'd himſelf decently and well, and comparatively needs no Repentance, need not ſuch a univerſal Change of the Life, as thoſe great Sinners need. Not but that it is beſt not to go aſtray; but the Grace of God, both the Power and the Pity of that Grace is moſt manifeſted in the reducing of great Sinners, more than in the conducting of thoſe that never went aſtray. And many Times thoſe that have been great Sinners before their Converſion, prove more eminently and zealouſly good after; of which Paul is an Inſtance, and therefore in him God was greatly glorified, Gal. 1. 24. They to whom much is forgiven, will love much. It is ſpoken after the Manner of Men; we are mov'd with a more ſenſible Joy for the Recovery of what we had loſt, than for the Continuance of what we had always enjoy'd; for Health out of Sickneſs, than for Health from Sickneſs. 'Tis as Life from the Dead; a conſtant Courſe of Religion may in itſelf be more valuable, and yet a ſudden Return from an evil Courſe and Way of Sin, may yield a more ſurprizing Pleaſure. Now if there is ſuch Joy in Heaven for the Converſion of Sinners, then the Phariſees were very much Strangers to a heavenly Spirit, who did all they could to hinder it, and were grieved at it; and who are exaſperated at Chriſt when he was doing a Piece of Work that was of all other moſt grateful to Heaven.

11 ¶ And he ſaid, A certain man had two ſons: 12 And the younger of them ſaid to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living. 13 And not many days after, the younger ſon gathered all together, and took his journey into a far countrey, and there waſted his ſubſtance with riotous living. 14 And when he had ſpent all, there aroſe a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want. 15 And he went and joyned himſelf to a citizen of that country; and he ſent him into his fields to feed ſwine. 16 And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the ſwine did eat: and no man gave unto him. 17 And when he came to himſelf, he ſaid, How many hired ſervants of my fathers have bread enough and to ſpare, and I periſh with hunger. 18 I will ariſe and go to my father, and will ſay unto him, Father, I have ſinned againſt heaven, and before thee, 19 And am no more worthy to be called thy ſon: make me as one of thy hired ſervants. 20 And he aroſe, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father ſaw him, and had compaſſion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kiſſed him. 21 And the ſon ſaid unto him, Father, I have ſinned againſt heaven, and in thy ſight, and am no more worthy to be called thy ſon. 22 But the father ſaid to his ſervants, Bring forth the beſt robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and ſhoes on his feet. 23 And bring hither the fatted calf, and kill it; and let us eat and be merry. 24 For this my ſon was dead, and is alive again; he was loſt, and is found. And they began to be merry. 25 Now his elder ſon was in the field: and as he came and drew nigh to the houſe, he heard muſick and dancing. 26 And he called one of the ſervants, and asked what theſe things meant. 27 And he ſaid unto him, Thy brother is come; and thy father hath killed the fatted calf, becauſe he hath received him ſafe and ſound. 28 And he was angry, and would not go in: therefore came his father out and intreated him. 29 And he anſwering, ſaid to his father, Lo, theſe many years do I ſerve thee, neither tranſgreſſed I at any time thy commandment, and yet thou never giveſt me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends: 30 But as ſoon as this thy ſon was come, which hath devoured thy living with harlots, thou haſt killed for him the fatted calf. 31 And he ſaid unto him, Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine. 32 It was meet that we ſhould make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is alive again; and was loſt, and is found.

We have here the Parable of the Prodigal Son; the Scope of which is the ſame with thoſe before, to ſhew how pleaſing to God the Converſion of Sinners is, of great Sinners, and how ready he is to receive and entertain ſuch upon their Repentance; but the Circumſtances of the Parable do much more largely and fully ſet forth the Riches of the Goſpel Grace than thoſe did, and it has been, and will be while the World ſtands, of unſpeakable Uſe to poor Sinners, both to direct and to encourage them in repenting and returning to God. Now,

1. The Parable repreſents God as a common Father to all Mankind; to the whole Family of Adam; we all are his Off-ſpring; have all one Father, and one God created us, Mal. 2. 10. From him we had our Being, in him we ſtill have it, and from him we receive our Maintenance: He is our Father, for he has the educating and portioning of us, and will put us in his Teſtament, or leave us out, according as we are or are not dutiful Children to him. Our Saviour hereby intimates to thoſe proud Phariſees, that theſe Publicans and Sinners, whom they thus deſpis'd, were their Brethren, Partakers of the ſame Nature, and therefore they ought to be glad of any Kindneſs ſhewn them; God is the God not of the Jews only, but of the Gentiles, Rom. 3. 29. The ſame Lord over all, that is rich in Mercy to all that call upon him.

2. It repreſents the Children of Men as of different Characters, tho' all related to God as their common Father: He had two Sons, one of them a ſolid grave Youth, reſerv'd and auſtere, ſober himſelf, but not at all good humour'd to thoſe about him;

ſuch a one would adhere to his Education, and not be eaſily drawn from it; but the other volatile and mercurial, and impatient of Reſtraint, Roving, and willing to try his Fortune, and if he fall into ill Hands, likely to be a Rake, notwithſtanding his virtuous Education. Now this latter repreſents the Publicans and Sinners whom Chriſt is endeavouring to bring to Repentance, and the Gentiles whom the Apoſtles were to be ſent forth to preach Repentance to: The former, the Jews in general, and particularly the Phariſees, whom he was endeavouring to reconcile to that Grace of God which was offer'd to, and beſtow'd upon Sinners.

The younger Son is the Prodigal, whoſe Character and Caſe is here deſign'd to repreſent that of a Sinner, that of every one of us in our natural State, but eſpecially of ſome.

Now we are to obſerve concerning him,

Firſt, His Riot and Ramble, when he was a Prodigal, and the Extravagances and Miſeries he fell into. We are told,

1. What his Requeſt to his Father was, v. 12. He ſaid to his Father proudly and pertly enough, Father give me, (he might have put a little more into his Mouth, and have ſaid, Pray give me, or, Sir, if you pleaſe, give me; but he makes an imperious Demand) Give me the Portion of Goods that falleth to me, not ſo much as you think fit to allot me, but that which falls to me as my Due. Note, 'Tis ill, and the beginning of worſe, when Men look upon God's Gifts as due Debts. Give me the Portion, all my Child's Part, that falls to me; not try me with a little, and ſee how I can manage that, and accordingly truſt me with more, but give it me all at preſent in Poſſeſſion, and I'll never expect any Thing in Reverſion, any Thing hereafter. Note, The great Folly of Sinners, and that which ruins them is, being content to have their Portion in Hand; now in this Life-time to receive their good Things. They look only at the Things that are ſeen, that are temporal, and covet only a preſent Gratification, but have no Care for a future Felicity, when that's ſpent and gone.

And why did he deſire to have his Portion in his own Hands? Was it that he might apply himſelf to Buſineſs and Trade with it, and ſo make it more? No, he had no Thought of that: But (1.) He was weary of his Father's Government; ſick of the good Order and Diſcipline of his Father's Family, and was fond of Liberty, falſly ſo call'd; but indeed the greateſt Slavery, for ſo a Liberty to Sin is. See the Folly of many young Men that are religiouſly educated, but are impatient of the Confinement of their Education, and never think themſelves their own Maſters, their own Men, till they have broke all God's Bands in ſunder, and caſt away their Cords from them, and inſtead of them, bound themſelves with the Cords of their own Luſt. Here is the Original of the Apoſtacy of Sinners from God, they will not be ty'd up to the Rules of God's Government, will themſelves be as Gods, knowing no other Good and Evil, but what themſelves pleaſe. (2.) He was willing to get from under his Father's Eye, for that was always a Check upon him, and often gave a Check to him. A Shineſs of God, and a Willingneſs to disbelieve his Omniſcience, is at the Bottom of the Wickedneſs of the Wicked. (3.) He was diſtruſtful of his Father's Management; he would have his Portion of Goods himſelf, for he thought his Father would be laying up hereafter for him, and in order to that would limit him in his preſent Expences, and that he did not like. (4.) He was proud of himſelf, and had a great Conceit of his own Sufficiency: He thought if he had but his Portion in his own Hands, he could manage it better than his Father did, and make a better Figure with it. There are more young People ruin'd by Pride, than by any one Luſt whatſoever. Our firſt Parents ruin'd themſelves, and all theirs, by a fooliſh Ambition to be independent, and not to be beholden even to God himſelf; and this is at the Bottom of Sinners perſiſting in their Sin, they will be for themſelves.

2. How kind his Father was to him. He divided unto them his Living: He computed what he had to diſpoſe of between his Sons, and gave the younger Son his Share, and offer'd the elder his, which ought to be a double Portion; but it ſhould ſeem he deſired his Father to keep it in his own Hands ſtill, and we may ſee what he got by it, v. 31. All that I have is thine. He got all by ſtaying for ſomething in Reſerve. He gave the younger Son what he ask'd, and the Son had no Reaſon to complain that he did him any Wrong in the Dividend; he had as much as he expected, and perhaps more. (1.) Thus he might now ſee his Father's Kindneſs, how willing he was to pleaſe him, and make him eaſy, and that he was not ſuch an unkind Father as he was willing to repreſent him when he wanted an Excuſe to be gone. (2.) Thus he would in a little Time be made to ſee his own Folly, and that he was not ſuch a wiſe Manager for himſelf, as he would be thought to be. Note, God is a kind Father to all his Children, and gives to them all Life and Breath, and all Things, even to the Evil and Unthankful, διεῖλεν αὐτοῖς τὸν βίον, he divided to them Life; God's giving us Life, is putting us in a Capacity to ſerve and glorify him.

3. How he manag'd himſelf when he had got his Portion in his own Hands; he ſet himſelf to ſpend it as faſt as he could; and as Prodigals uſe to do, in a little Time he made himſelf a Beggar, not many Days after, v. 13. Note, If God leaves us never ſo little to ourſelves, it will not be long e'er we depart from him. As ſoon as ever the Bridle of reſtraining Grace is taken off, we are ſoon gone. That which the younger Son determin'd, was to be gone preſently, and in order to that he gather'd all together. Sinners that go aſtray from God venture their all.

Now the Condition of the Prodigal in this Ramble of his, repreſents to us a ſinful State, that miſerable State into which Man is fallen.

1. A ſinful State is a State of Departure and Diſtance from God: (1.) 'Tis the Sinfulneſs of Sin that it is an Apoſtacy from God. He took his Journey from his Father's Houſe; Sinners are fled from God, they go a Whoring from him; they revolt from their Allegiance to him, as a Servant that out-runs his Service, or a Wife that treacherouſly departs from her Husband, and they ſay unto God depart. They get as far off him as they can. This World's the far Country, in which they take up their Reſidence, and are as at Home, and in the Service and Enjoyment of it they ſpend their all. (2.) 'Tis the Miſery of Sinners that they are afar off from God, from him who is the Fountain of all Good, and are going further and further from him. What is Hell itſelf but being afar off from God?

2. A ſinful State is a ſpending State. There he waſted his Subſtance with riotous Living, v. 13. devour'd it with Harlots, v. 30. and in a little Time he had ſpent all, v. 14. He bought fine Cloths, ſpent a deal in Meat and Drink, treated high, convers'd with thoſe that help'd him make an End of what he had in a little Time. As to this World, they that live riotouſly waſte what they have, and will have a great deal to anſwer for, that they ſpend that upon their Luſts, which ſhould be for the neceſſary Subſiſtence of themſelves and their Families; but this is to be apply'd ſpiritually; wilful Sinners waſte their Patrimony, for they miſemploy their Thoughts, and all the Powers of their Souls, miſ-ſpending their Time, and all their Opportunities; do not only bury, but embezzel the Talents they are entruſted to trade with for their Maſter's Honour. And the Gifts of Providence which were intended to enable them to ſerve God, and do good with, are made Food and Fuel of their Luſts. The Soul that is made a Drudge either to the World or to the Fleſh, waſtes its Subſtance, and lives riotouſly. One Sinner deſtroy much good, Eccl. 9. 18. The Good he deſtroys is valuable, and 'tis none of his own, they are his Lord's Goods that he waſtes, which muſt be accounted for.

3. A ſinful State is a wanting State. When he had ſpent all upon his Harlots, they left him to ſeek ſuch another Prey, and there aroſe a mighty Famine in that Land, every Thing was ſcarce and dear, and he began to be in Want, v. 14. Note, Wilful Waſte brings woeful Want. Riotous Living in Time, perhaps in a little Time, brings Men to a Morſel of Bread; eſpecially when ill Times haſten on the Conſequences of ill Husbandry, which good Husbandry would have provided for. This repreſents the Miſery of Sinners, who have thrown away their own Mercies, the Favour of God, their Intereſt in Chriſt, the Strivings of the Spirit, and the Admonitions of Conſcience, theſe they game away for the Pleaſure of Senſe, and the Wealth of the World, and are ready to periſh for want of them. Sinners want Neceſſaries for their Souls, they have neither Food nor Raiment for them, nor any Proviſion for hereafter. A ſinful State is like a Land where Famine reigns, a mighty Famine; for the Heaven is as Braſs, the Dews of God's Favour and Bleſſing are withheld, and we muſt needs want good Things, if God deny them us: And the Earth is as Iron: The Sinner's Heart that ſhould bring forth good Things is dry and barren, and has no good in it, thoſe Sinners are wretchedly and miſerably poor; and what aggravates it, they brought themſelves into that Condition, and keep themſelves in it by refuſing the Supplies offer'd.

4. A ſinful State, is a vile ſervile State. When this young Man's Riot had brought him to Want, his Want brought him to Servitude, v. 15. He went and joined himſelf to a Citizen of that Country. The ſame wicked Life as was before repreſented by riotous Living, is here repreſented by ſervile Living; for Sinners are perfect Slaves. The Devil is the Citizen of that Country, for he is both in City and Country; Sinners join themſelves to him, hire themſelves into his Service, to do his Work, to be at his Beck, and to depend upon him for Maintenance and a Portion. They that commit Sin are the Servants of Sin, John 8. 34. How did this young Gentleman debaſe and diſparage himſelf, when he hired himſelf into ſuch a Service, and under ſuch a Maſter as this. He ſent him into the Fields, not to feed Sheep, there had been ſome Credit in that Employment, Jacob and Moſes, and David, kept Sheep, but to feed Swine. The Buſineſs of the Devil's Servants is to make Proviſion for the Fleſh, to fulfil the Luſts thereof, and that's no better than feeding greedy, dirty, noiſy Swine, and how can rational immortal Souls more diſgrace themſelves?

5. A ſinful State is a State of perpetual Diſſatisfaction. When the Prodigal began to be in Want, he thought to help himſelf by going to Service; and he muſt be content with the Proviſion, which not the Houſe, but the Field afforded, but 'tis poor Proviſion, v. 16. He would fain have fill'd his Belly, ſatisfy'd his Hunger, and nouriſh'd his Body with the Husks that the Swine did eat. A fine Paſs my young Maſter had brought himſelf to, to be Fellow-Commoner with the Swine. Note, That which Sinners, when they depart from God, promiſe themſelves Satisfaction in, will certainly diſappoint them; they are labouring for that which ſatisfies not, Iſa. 55. 2. That which is the Stumbling-Block of their Iniquity, will never ſatisfy their Souls, nor fill their Bowels, Ezek. 7. 19. Husks are Food for Swine, but not for Men: The Wealth of the World, and the Entertainments of Senſe will ſerve for Bodies, but what are thoſe to precious Souls? They neither ſute their Nature, nor ſatisfy their Deſires, nor ſupply their Needs. He that takes up with them, feeds on Wind, Hoſ. 12. 1. Feeds on Aſhes, Iſa. 44. 20.

6. A ſinful State, is a State cannot expect Relief from any Creature. This Prodigal when he could not earn his Bread by Working, took to Begging, but no Man gave unto him, becauſe they knew he had brought all this Miſery upon himſelf, and becauſe he was rakiſh and provoking to every Body, ſuch Poor are leaſt pity'd: This is the Application of the Parable intimating that thoſe who depart from God, cannot be help'd by any Creature. In vain do we cry to the World and the Fleſh, thoſe Gods we have ſerv'd, they have that which will poiſon a Soul, but have nothing to give it that will feed and nouriſh it. If thou refuſe God's Help, whence ſhall any Creature help thee?

7. A ſinful State, is a State of Death, v. 24, 32. This my Son was dead. A Sinner is not only dead in Law, as he is under a Sentence of Death, but dead in State too, dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins; deſtitute of Spiritual Life; no Union with Chriſt; no Spiritual Senſes exercis'd; no living to God, and therefore dead. The Prodigal in the far Country was dead to his Father and his Family, cut off from them, as a Member from the Body, or a Branch from the Tree, and therefore dead, and 'tis his own doing.

8. A ſinful State is a loſt State. This my Son was loſt, loſt to every Thing that was good; loſt to all Virtue and Honour; loſt o his Father's Houſe, they had no Joy of him. Souls that are ſeparated from God are loſt Souls; loſt as a Traveller that is out of his Way, and if infinite Mercy prevent not, will ſoon be loſt, as a Ship that is ſunk at Sea, loſt irrecoverably.

9. A ſinful State, is a State of Madneſs and Frenzy. This is intimated in that Expreſſion, v. 17. when he came to himſelf, which intimates that he had been beſide himſelf, ſure he was ſo when he left his Father's Houſe, and much more ſo, when he join'd himſelf to the Citizen of that Country. Madneſs is ſaid to be in the Heart of Sinners, Eccl. 9. 3. Satan has got Poſſeſſion of the Soul, and how raging mad was he that was poſſeſs'd by Legion. Sinners like thoſe that are mad deſtroy themſelves with fooliſh Luſts, and yet at the ſame Time deceive themſelves with fooliſh Hopes, and they are of all diſeaſed Perſons moſt Enemies to their own Cure.

Secondly, We have here his Return from this Ramble, his penitent Return to his Father again. When he was brought to the laſt Extremity, then he bethought himſelf how much it was his Intereſt to go Home. Note, We muſt not deſpair of the worſt, for while there's Life there's Hope. The Grace of God can ſoften the hardeſt Heart, and give a happy Turn to the ſtrongeſt Stream of Corruption. Now obſerve here,

1. What was the Occaſion of his Return and Repentance, it was his Affliction, when he was in Want, then he came to himſelf. Note, Afflictions when they are ſanctify'd by Divine Grace, prove happy Means of turning Sinners from the Error of their Ways. By them the Ear is open'd to Diſcipline, and the Heart diſpos'd to receive Inſtruction; and they are ſenſible Proofs both of the Vanity of the World, and of the Miſchievouſneſs of Sin. Apply it ſpiritually when we find the Inſufficiency of Creatures to make us happy, and having try'd all other Ways of Relief for our poor Souls in vain, then 'tis Time to think of returning to God. When we ſee what miſerable Comforters, what Phyſicians of no Value, all but Chriſt are, for a Soul that groans under the Guilt and Power of Sin, and no Man gives unto us what we need, then ſure we will apply ourſelves to Jeſus Chriſt.

2. What was the Preparative in it, and that was Conſideration: He ſaid within himſelf, he reaſon'd with himſelf, when he recovered his right Mind, How many hired Servants of my Father's have Bread enough? Note, Conſideration is the firſt Step towards Converſion, Ezek. 18. 28. He conſiders and turns. To conſider, is to retire into ourſelves, to reflect upon ourſelves, and to compare one thing with another, and determine accordingly.

Now obſerve what it was that he conſider'd,

1. He conſider'd how bad his Condition was, I periſh with Hunger: Not only I am hungry, but I periſh with Hunger, for I ſee not what Way to expect Relief. Note, Sinners will not come to the Service of Chriſt, till they are brought to ſee themſelves juſt ready to periſh in the Service of Sin, and the Conſideration of that ſhould drive us to Chriſt. Maſter, ſave us, we periſh. And tho' we be thus driven to Chriſt, he will not therefore reject us, nor think himſelf diſhonoured by our being forc'd to him, but rather honour'd by his being apply'd to in a deſperate Caſe.

(2.) He conſider'd how much better it might be made, if he would but return, How many hired Servants of my Father's, the meaneſt in his Family, the very Day-Labourers, have Bread enough and to ſpare; ſuch a good Houſe doth he keep. Note, In our Father's Houſe, there is Bread for all his Family; this was taught by the twelve Loaves of Shew-Bread, that were conſtantly upon the holy Table in the Sanctuary, a Loaf for every Tribe. 2. There's enough and to ſpare, enough for all, enough for each, enough to ſpare for ſuch as will join themſelves to his Domeſticks, enough and to ſpare for Charity: Yet there is Room; there are Crumbs that fall from his Table, which many would be glad of, and thankful for. 3. Even the hired Servants in God's Family are well provided for; the meaneſt that will but hire themſelves into his Family, to do his Work, and depend upon his Rewards, ſhall be well provided for. 4. The Conſideration of this ſhould encourage Sinners that have gone aſtray from God, to think of returning to him. Thus that Adultereſs reaſons with herſelf, when ſhe is diſappointed in her new Lovers. I will go and return to my firſt Husband, for then it was better with me than now, Hoſ. 2. 7.

3. What was the Purpoſe of it. Since it is ſo that his Condition is ſo bad, and may be better'd by returning to his Father, his Conſideration iſſues at length in this Concluſion, I will ariſe and go to my Father. Note, Good Purpoſes are good Things, but ſtill good Performances are all in all.

1. He determin'd what to do, I will ariſe and go to my Father. He will not take any longer Time to conſider of it, but will forthwith ariſe and go. Tho' he be in a far Country, a great Way off from his Father's Houſe, yet as far as it is, he will return; every Step of Backſliding from God, muſt be a Step back again in return to him. Tho' he be joined to a Citizen of this Country, he makes no Difficulty of breaking his Bargain with him: We are not Debtors to the Fleſh, we are under no Obligation at all to our Egyptian Task-Maſters, to give them Warning, but are at Liberty to quit the Service when we will. Obſerve with what Reſolution he ſpeaks, I will ariſe and go to my Father, I'm reſolv'd I will, whatever the Iſſue be, rather than ſtay here and ſtarve.

2. He determin'd what to ſay. True Repentance is a Riſing and Coming to God; Behold we come unto thee. But what Words ſhall we take with us? He here conſiders what to ſay. Note, In all our Addreſſes to God, it is good to deliberate with ourſelves before-hand what we ſhall ſay, that we may order our Cauſe before him, and fill our Mouth with Arguments. We have Liberty of Speech, and we ought to conſider ſeriouſly with ourſelves how we may uſe that Liberty to the utmoſt, and yet not abuſe it.

Let us obſerve what he purpos'd to ſay:

1. He would confeſs his Fault and Folly; I have ſinned. Note, Foraſmuch as we have all ſinned, it behoves, as well becomes us, to own that we have ſinned. The Confeſſion of Sin is required and inſiſted upon as a neceſſary Condition of Peace and Pardon. If we plead not guilty, we put ourſelves upon a Tryal by the Covenant of Innocency, which will certainly condemn us: If we plead guilty, with a contrite, penitent and obedient Heart, we refer ourſelves to the Covenant of Grace, which offers Forgiveneſs to thoſe that confeſs their Sins.

2. He would aggravate it, and would be ſo far from extenuating the Matter, that he would lay Load upon himſelf for it. I have ſinned againſt Heaven, and before thee. Let thoſe that are undutiful to their earthly Parents, think of this, they ſin againſt Heaven, and before God. Offences againſt them, are Offences againſt God. Let us all think of this, as that which renders our Sin exceeding ſinful, and ſhould renders us exceeding ſorrowful for it. (1.) That Sin is committed in Contempt of God's Authority over us. We have ſinned againſt Heaven. God is here call'd Heaven, to ſignify how highly he is exalted above us, and the Dominion he has over us, for the Heavens do rule. The Malignity of Sin aims high, 'tis againſt Heaven. The daring Sinner is ſaid to have ſet his Mouth againſt the Heavens, Pſal. 73. 9. Yet 'tis impotent Malice, for we cannot hurt the Heavens: Nay, 'tis fooliſh Malice, what is ſhot againſt the Heavens, will return upon the Head of him that ſhoots it, Pſal. 7. 16. Sin is an Affront to the God of Heaven, 'tis a Forfeiture of the Glories and Joys of Heaven, and a Contradiction of the Deſigns of the Kingdom of Heaven. (2.) 'Tis committed in Contempt of God's Eye upon us. I have ſinned againſt Heaven, and yet before thee, and under thine Eye, than which there could not be a greater Affront put upon him.

3. He would judge and condemn himſelf for it, and acknowledge himſelf to have forfeited all the Privileges of the Family; I am no more worthy to be called thy Son, v. 29. He doth not deny the Relation, for that was all he had to truſt to, but he owns his Father might juſtly deny the Relation, and ſhut his Doors againſt him. He had at his own Demand the Portion of Goods that belong'd to him, and had Reaſon to expect no more. Note, It becomes Sinners to acknowledge themſelves unworthy to receive any Favour from God, and to humble and abaſe themſelves before him.

4. He would nevertheleſs ſue for Admiſſion into the Family, tho' it were in the meaneſt Poſt there. Make me as one of thy hired Servants; that's good enough, and too good for me.

Note, True Penitents have a high Value for God's Houſe, and the Privileges of it, and will be glad of any Place, ſo they may but be in it, tho' it be but as Door-keepers, Pſal. 84. 10. If it be impos'd on him as a Mortification, to ſit with the Servants, he will not only ſubmit to it, but count it a Preferment in Compariſon with his preſent State. Thoſe that return to God from whom they have revolted, cannot but be deſirous ſome Way or other to be employ'd for him, and put into a Capacity of ſerving and honouring him. Make me as a hired Servant, that I may ſhew I love my Father's Houſe as much as ever I ſlighted it.

5. In all this he would have an Eye to his Father as a Father. I will ariſe and go to my Father, and will ſay unto him, Father. Note, Eying God as a Father, and our Father, will be of great Uſe in our Repentance and Return to him. 'Twill make our Sorrow for Sin genuine, our Reſolutions againſt it ſtrong, and encourage us to hope for Pardon. God delights both by Penitents and Petitioners to be call'd Father ; Is not Ephraim a dear Son ?

4. What was the Performance of this Purpoſe. He aroſe and came to his Father. His good Reſolve he put in Execution without Delay ; he ſtruck while the Iron was hot, and did not adjourn the Thought to ſome more convenient Seaſon. Note, 'Tis our Intereſt ſpeedily to cloſe with our Convictions. Have we ſaid We will ariſe and go ? Let us immediately ariſe and come. He did not come half-way, and then pretend he was tir'd and could get no further, but weak and weary as he was he made a thorough Buſineſs of it. If thou wilt return, O Iſrael, return unto me, and do thy firſt Works.

Thirdly, We have here his Reception and Entertainment with his Father. He came to his Father ; but was he welcome ? Yes, heartily welcome. And by the Way, it is an Example to Parents whoſe Children have been fooliſh and diſobedient, if they repent and ſubmit themſelves, not to be harſh and ſevere with them, but to be govern'd in ſuch a Caſe, by the Wiſdom that is from above, which is gentle and eaſie to be intreated ; herein let them be Followers of God, and merciful as he is: But it is chiefly deſign'd to ſet forth the Grace and Mercy of God to poor Sinners, that repent, and return to him, and his Readineſs to forgive them. Now here obſerve,

1. The great Love and Affection wherewith the Father received the Son, v. 20. When he was yet a great Way off his Father ſaw him. He expreſs'd his Kindneſs, before the Son expreſs'd his Repentance ; for God prevents us with the Bleſſings of his Goodneſs, even before we call, he anſwers ; for he knows what is in our Hearts. I ſaid I will confeſs, and thou forgaveſt. How lively are the Images of this here ! (1.) Here were Eyes of Mercy, and thoſe Eyes quick-ſighted ; when he was yet a great Way off his Father ſaw him, before any other of the Family were aware of him, as if from the Top of ſome high Tower, he had been looking that Way that his Son was gone, with ſuch a Thought as this, O that I could ſee yonder wretched Son of mine, coming home ! This intimates God's Deſire of the Converſion of Sinners, and his Readineſs to meet them that are coming towards him. He looketh on Men when they are gone aſtray from him, to ſee whether they will return to him, and he is aware of the firſt Inclination towards him. (2.) Here were Bowels of Mercy, and thoſe Bowels turning within him, and yearning at the Sight of his Son, he had Compaſſion. Miſery is the Object of Pity, even the Miſery of a Sinner, tho' he has brought it upon himſelf, yet God compaſſionates him. His Soul was grieved for the Miſery of Iſrael, Hoſ. 11. 8. Jud. 10. 16. (3.) Here were Feet of Mercy, and thoſe Feet quick-paced, he ran, this notes how ſwift God is to ſhew Mercy. The prodigal Son came ſlowly, under a Burthen of Shame and Fear, but the tender Father ran to meet him with his Encouragements. (4.) Here were Arms of Mercy, and thoſe Arms ſtretch'd out to embrace him ; he fell on his Neck ; tho' guilty, and deſerving to be beaten, tho' dirty and newly come from feeding Swine, that any one that had not the ſtrongeſt and tendereſt Compaſſions of a Father, would have loathed to touch him ; yet he thus takes him in his Arms, and lays him in his Boſom. Thus dear are true Penitents to God, thus welcome to the Lord Jeſus. (5.) Here are Lips of Mercy, and thoſe Lips dropping as a Honey-Comb, he kiſſed him ; this Kiſs not only aſſur'd him of his Welcome, but ſeal'd his Pardon ; his former Follies ſhall be all forgiven, and not mention'd againſt him, nor is one Word ſaid by Way of upbraiding. This was like David's kiſſing Abſalom, 2 Sam. 14. 33. And all this ſpeaks how ready, and free, and forward the Lord Jeſus is, to receive and entertain poor returning, repenting Sinners, according to his Father's Will.

2. The penitent Submiſſion which the poor Prodigal made to his Father, v. 21. He ſaid unto him, Father I have ſinned. As it commends the good Father's Kindneſs, that he ſhew'd it before the Prodigal expreſs'd his Repentance ; ſo it commends the Prodigal's Repentance, that he expreſs'd it after his Father had ſhew'd him ſo much Kindneſs. When he had receiv'd the Kiſs which ſeal'd his Pardon, yet he ſaid, Father, I have ſinned. Note, Even thoſe that have receiv'd the Pardon of their Sins, and the comfortable Senſe of their Pardon, yet muſt have in their Hearts, a ſincere Contrition for it, and with their Mouths muſt make a penitent Confeſſion of it, even of thoſe Sins which they have Reaſon to hope are pardon'd. David penn'd Pſal. 51. after Nathan had ſaid, The Lord has taken away thy Sin, thou ſhalt not die. Nay, the comfortable Senſe of the Pardon of Sin, ſhould increaſe our Sorrow for it, and that's ingenuous evangelical Sorrow, which is increas'd by ſuch a Conſideration. See Ezek. 16. 6. Thou ſhalt be aſham'd and confounded, when I am pacified towards thee. The more we ſee of God's Readineſs to forgive us, the more difficult it ſhould be to us to forgive ourſelves.

3. The ſplendid Proviſion which this kind Father made for the returning Prodigal. He was going on in his Submiſſion, but one Word we find in his Purpoſe what to ſay, v. 19. which we do not find he did ſay, v. 21. and that was, make me as one of the hired Servants. We cannot think he forgot it, much leſs that he chang'd his Mind, and was now either leſs deſirous to be in the Family, or leſs willing to be a hired Servant there, than when he made that Purpoſe ; but his Father interrupted him, prevented his ſaying it ; Hold, Son, talk no more of thine Unworthineſs, thou art heartily welcome, and tho' not worthy to be call'd a Son, ſhalt be treated as a dear Son, as a pleaſant Child. He who is thus entertain'd at firſt, needs not ask to be made as a hired Servant. Thus when Ephraim bemoaned himſelf, God comforted him, Jer. 31. 18, 20. 'Tis ſtrange that here is not one Word of Rebuke, why did you not ſtay with your Harlots and your Swine ? You could never find the Way Home, 'till beaten hither with your own Rod. No, here's nothing like this, which intimates, that when God forgives the Sins of true Penitents, he forgets them, he remembers them no more, they ſhall not be mention'd againſt them, Ezek. 18. 22.

But this is not all ; here is rich and royal Proviſion made for him, according to his Birth and Quality, far beyond what he did or could expect. He would have thought it ſufficient, and been very thankful, if his Father had but taken Notice of him, and bid him go to the Kitchen and get his Dinner with the Servants ; but God doth for thoſe who return to their Duty, and caſt themſelves upon his Mercy, abundantly above what they are able to ask or think. The Prodigal came Home between Hope and Fear, Fear of being rejected, and Hope of being receiv'd ; but his Father was not only better to him than his Fears, but better to him than his Hopes, not only receiv'd him, but receiv'd him with Reſpect.

1. He came home in Rags, and his Father not only cloth'd him but adorn'd him. He ſaid to the Servants, who all attended their Maſter, upon Notice that his Son was come, Bring forth the beſt Robe, and put it on him. The worſt old Clothes in the Houſe might have ſerv'd, and had been good enough for him ; but the Father calls not for a Coat, but for a Robe, the Garment of Princes and great Men, the beſt Robe, τὴν Στόλην τὴν πρώτην, there's a double Emphaſis, that Robe, that principal Robe, you know which I mean ; the firſt Robe, ſo it may be read, the Robe he wore before he run his Ramble. When Backſliders repent and do their firſt Works, they ſhall be receiv'd, and dreſt in their firſt Robes. Bring hither that Robe, and put it on him ; he will be aſham'd to wear it, and think it ill becomes him, who comes home in ſuch a dirty Pickle, but put it on him and do not offer it him only. And put a Ring on his Hand, a Signet Ring, with the Arms of the Family, in Token of his being own'd as a Branch of the Family : Rich People wore Rings, and his Father hereby ſignified, that tho' he had ſpent one Portion, yet upon his Repentance he intended him another. He came home barefoot, his Feet perhaps ſore with Travel, and therefore put Shoes on his Feet, to make him eaſie. Thus doth the Grace of God provide for true Penitents. (1.) The Righteouſneſs of Chriſt is the Robe, that principal Robe with which they are cloth'd ; they put on the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, are cloth'd with that Sun. The Robe of Righteouſneſs is the Garment of Salvation, Iſa. 61. A new Nature is this beſt Robe, true Penitents are cloth'd with that, being ſanctified throughout. (2.) The Earneſt of the Spirit, by whom we are ſeal'd to the Day of Redemption, is the Ring on the Hand. After that ye believed, ye were ſealed. They that are ſanctified are adorn'd and dignify'd, are put in Power, as Joſeph was by Pharaoh's giving him a Ring. Put a Ring on his Hand, to be before him a conſtant Memorial of his Father's Kindneſs, that he may never forget it. (3.) The Preparation of the Goſpel of Peace, is Shoes for our Feet, Eph. 6. 13. ſo that compar'd with this here ſignifies, (ſaith Grotius) that God when he receives true Penitents into his Favour, makes Uſe of them for the convincing and converting of others, by their Inſtructions, at leaſt by their Examples. David when pardon'd will teach Tranſgreſſors God's Ways, and Peter when he is converted will ſtrengthen his Brethren. Or it intimates, that they ſhall go on chearfully and with Reſolution in the Way of Religion, as a Man doth when he hath Shoes on his Feet, over as he does when he is barefoot.

2. He came home hungry, and his Father not only fed him, but feaſted him, v. 23. Bring hither the fatted Calf, that has been Stall fed, and long reſerv'd for ſome ſpecial Occaſion, and kill it, that my Son may have his Belly full of the beſt we have. Cold Meat might have ſerv'd, or the Leavings of the laſt Meal, but he ſhall have freſh Meat and hot Meat, and the fatted Calf can never be better beſtow'd. Note, There is excellent Food provided by our heavenly Father, for all thoſe that ariſe and come to him. Chriſt himſelf is the Bread of Life; his Fleſh is Meat indeed, and his Blood Drink indeed; in him there is a Feaſt for Souls, a Feaſt of fat Things. 'Twas a great Change with the Prodigal, who but a while ago would fain have fill'd his Belly with Husks. How ſweet will the Supplies of the new Covenant be, and the Reliſhes of its Comforts, to thoſe who have been labouring in vain for Satisfaction in the Creature: Now he found his own Words made good, In my Father's Houſe there is Bread enough and to ſpare.

4. The great Joy and Rejoycing that there was for his Return. The bringing of the fatted Calf was deſign'd to be not only a Feaſt for him, but a Feſtival for the Family, let us all eat and be merry, for it is a good Day; for this my Son was dead, when he was in his Ramble, but his Return is as Life from the dead, he is alive again; we thought he was dead, having heard nothing from him of a long Time, but behold he lives; he was loſt, we gave him up for loſt, we diſpair'd of hearing of him, but he is found. Note, 1. The Converſion of a Soul from Sin to God, is the Raiſing of that Soul from Death to Life, and the finding of that which ſeem'd to be loſt. 'Tis a great, and wonderful, and happy Change. What was in itſelf dead, is made alive, what was loſt to God and his Church, is found, and what was unprofitable, becomes profitable, Philem. 11. 'tis ſuch a Change as that upon the Face of the Earth when the Spring returns. 2. The Converſion of Sinners is greatly pleaſing to the God of Heaven, and all that belong to his Family ought to rejoyce in it; thoſe in Heaven do, and thoſe on Earth ſhould. Obſerve, 'twas the Father that began the Joy, and ſet all the reſt on rejoycing; therefore we ſhould be glad of the Repentance of Sinners, becauſe it accompliſhes God's Deſigns, it is the bringing of thoſe to Chriſt, whom the Father had given him, and in whom he will be for ever glorified. We joy for your Sakes before our God, with an Eye to him, 1 Theſ. 3. 9. and ye are our Rejoycing in the Preſence of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, who is the Maſter of the Family, 1 Theſ. 2. 19.

The Family comply'd with the Maſter, they began to be merry. Note, God's Children and Servants ought to be affected with Things as he is.

Fourthly, We have here the repining and envying of the elder Brother, which is deſcrib'd by Way of Reproof to the Scribes and Phariſees, to ſhew them the Folly and Wickedneſs of their Diſcontent at the Repentance and Converſion of the Publicans and Sinners, and the Favour Chriſt ſhow'd them; and he repreſents it ſo as not to aggravate the Matter, but as allowing them ſtill the Privileges of elder Brethren; the Jews had ſo, tho' the Gentiles were favour'd, for the preaching of the Goſpel muſt begin at Jeruſalem. Chriſt, when he reproves them for their Fault, yet ſpoke them fair, to ſmooth them into a good Temper towards the poor Publicans. But by the elder Brother here, we may underſtand thoſe that are really good, and have been ſo from their Youth up, and never went aſtray into any vicious Courſe of Living; who comparatively need no Repentance: And to ſuch theſe Words in the Cloſe, Son, thou art ever with me, are applicable without any Difficulty, but not to the Scribes and Phariſees.

Now concerning the elder Brother, Obſerve

1. How fooliſh and fretful he was, upon Occaſion of his Brother's Reception, and how he was diſguſted at it. It ſeems he was abroad in the Field, in the Country, when his Brother came, and by that Time he was return'd home, the Mirth was begun; when he drew nigh to the Houſe, he heard Muſick and Dancing, either while the Dinner was in getting ready, or rather after they had eaten and were full; v. 25. He enquir'd what thoſe Things meant, v. 26. and was inform'd, that his Brother was come, and his Father had made him a Feaſt for his Welcome home, and great Joy there was, becauſe he had receiv'd him ſafe and ſound, v. 27. 'Tis but one Word in the Original, he had receiv'd him, ὑγιαίνοντα, in Health, well both in Body and Mind. He receiv'd him not only well in Body, but a Penitent, return'd to his right Mind, and well reconcil'd to his Father's Houſe, cur'd of his Vices, and his rakiſh Diſpoſition, elſe he had not been receiv'd ſafe and ſound Now this diſoblig'd him to the higheſt Degree; he was angry and would not go in, v. 28. not only becauſe he was reſolv'd he would not himſelf join in the Mirth, but becauſe he would ſhew his Diſpleaſure at it, and would intimate to his Father, that he ſhould have kept out his younger Brother. This ſhews what is a common Fault, (1.) In Men's Families, That thoſe who have always been a Comfort to their Parents, think they ſhould have the Monopoly of their Parents Favours, and are apt to be too ſharp upon thoſe who have tranſgreſs'd, and to grudge their Parents Kindneſs to them. (2.) In God's Family, Thoſe that are comparatively Innocents, ſeldom know how to be compaſſionate towards thoſe that are manifeſtly Penitents. The Language of ſuch we have here in what the elder Brother ſaid, v. 29, 30. and it is written for Warning to thoſe that by the Grace of God are kept from ſcandalous Sin, and kept in the Way of Virtue and Sobriety, that they ſin not after the Similitude of this Tranſgreſſion. Let us obſerve the Particulars of it.

(1.) He boaſted of himſelf, and of his own Virtue and Obedience. He had not only not out-ran his Father's Houſe, as his Brother did, but had made himſelf as a Servant in it, and had done ſo long. Lo theſe many Years do I ſerve thee, neither tranſgreſſed I at any Time thy Commandment. Note, It is too common for thoſe that are better than their Neighbours to brag of it, yea, and to make their Boaſts of it before God himſelf, as if he were indebted to them for it. I am apt to think this elder Brother ſaid more than was true, when he glory'd that he had never tranſgreſſed his Father's Commands, for then I believe he would not have been ſo obſtinate as now he was, to his Father's Intreaties. However we will admit it comparatively, he had not been ſo diſobedient as his Brother had been. O what need have good Men to take heed of Pride, a Corruption that ariſeth out of the Aſhes of other Corruptions. Thoſe that have long ſerv'd God, and been kept from groſs Sin, have a great deal to be humbly thankful for; but nothing proudly to boaſt of.

2. He complain'd of his Father, as if he had not been ſo kind to him as he ought to have been, who had been ſo dutiful; thou never gaveſt me a Kid, that I might make merry with my Friends. He was out of Humour now, elſe he would not have made this Complaint; for no Queſtion if he had ask'd ſuch a Thing at any Time, he might have had it at firſt Word; and we have Reaſon to think he did not deſire it; but the killing of the fatted Calf put him upon making this peiviſh Reflection. When Men are in Paſſion they are apt to reflect ſo as they would not, if they were in their right Mind. He had been fed at his Father's Table, and had many a Time been merry with him and the Family, but his Father had never given him ſo much as a Kid, which was but a ſmall Token of Love compar'd with the fatted Calf. Note, Thoſe that think highly of themſelves and their Services, are apt to think hardly of their Maſter, and meanly of his Favours. We ought to own ourſelves utterly unworthy of thoſe Mercies which God hath thought fit to give us, much more of thoſe that he hath not thought fit to give us, and therefore we muſt not complain. He would have had a Kid to make merry with his Friends abroad, whereas the fatted Calf he grudg'd ſo much, was given to his Brother, not to make merry with his Friends abroad, but with the Family at home: The Mirth of God's Children ſhould be with their Father and his Family, in Communion with God and his Saints, and not with any other Friends.

3. He was very ill-humour'd towards his younger Brother, and harſh in what he thought and ſaid concerning him. Some good People are apt to be overtaken in this Fault, nay, and to indulge themſelves too much in it; to look with Diſdain upon thoſe who have not preſerved their Reputation ſo clean as they have done, and to be ſower and moroſe towards them, yea, tho' they have given very good Evidences of their Repentance and Reformation; this is not the Spirit of Chriſt, but of the Phariſees. Let us obſerve the Inſtances of it.

1. He would not go in, except his Brother be turn'd out; one Houſe ſhall not hold him and his own Brother, no not his Father's Houſe. The Language of this, was that of the Phariſee, Iſa. 65. 5. Stand by thy ſelf, come not near me, for I am holier than thou: and Luke 18. 11. I am not as other Men are, nor even as this Publican. Note, Tho' we are to ſhun the Society of thoſe Sinners whom we are in Danger of being infected by, yet we muſt not be ſhy of the Company of Penitent Sinners, whom we may get good by. He ſaw his Father had taken him in, and yet he would not go in to him. Note, We think too well of ourſelves, if we cannot find in our Hearts to receive thoſe God hath received, and to admit thoſe into Favour and Friendſhip, and Fellowſhip with us, whom we have Reaſon to think God has a Favour for, and are taken into Friendſhip and Fellowſhip with him.

2. He would not call him Brother; but this thy Son, which ſounds arrogantly, and not without Reflection upon his Father, as if his Indulgence had made him a Prodigal; he is thy Son, thy Darling. Note, Forgetting the Relation we ſtand in to our Brethren, as Brethren, and diſowning that, is at the Bottom of all our Neglects of our Duty to them, and our Contradictions to that Duty. Let us give our Relations, both in the Fleſh and in the Lord, the Titles that belong to them. Let the rich call the poor Brethren, and let the Innocents call the Penitents ſo.

3. He aggravated his Brother's Faults, and made the worſt of them, endeavouring to incenſe his Father againſt him: he is thy Son, who hath devoured thy Living with Harlots. 'Tis true, he had ſpent his own Portion fooliſhly enough, whether upon Harlots or no, we are not told before, perhaps that was only the Language of his elder Brother's Jealouſy and ill Will; but that he had devour'd all his Father's Living was falſe, the Father had ſtill a good Eſtate; now this ſhows how apt we are in cenſuring our Brethren to make the worſt of every Thing, and to ſet it out in the blackeſt Colours,, which is not doing as we would be done by, nor as our heavenly Father doth by us, who is not extreme to mark Iniquities.

4. He grudg'd him the Kindneſs that his Father ſhew'd him. Thou haſt kill'd for him the fatted Calf, as if he were ſuch a Son as ſhould be. Note, It is an ill Thing to envy Penitents the Grace of God, and to have our Eye evil, becauſe he is good. As we muſt not envy thoſe that are the worſt of Sinners, the Gifts of common Providence, Let not thine Heart envy Sinners, ſo we muſt not envy thoſe that have been the worſt of Sinners, the Gifts of Covenant Love upon their Repentance; we muſt not envy them their Pardon and Peace, and Comfort, no, nor any extraordinary Gift God beſtows upon them, which makes them eminently acceptable or uſeful. Paul before his Converſion had been a Prodigal, had devour'd his heavenly Father's Living, by the Havock he made of the Church, yet when after his Converſion he had greater Meaſures of Grace given him, and more Honour put upon him than the other Apoſtles, they who were the elder Brethren, that had been ſerving Chriſt, when he was perſecuting him, and had not tranſgreſſed at any Time his Commandments, did not envy him his Viſions and Revelations, nor his more extenſive Uſefulneſs, but glorified God in him, which ought to be an Example to us, as the Reverſe of this elder Brother.

2. Let us now ſee how favourable and friendly his Father was in his Carriage towards him, when he was thus ſower and ill-humour'd, and this is as ſurprizing as the former. Methinks the Mercy and Grace of our God in Chriſt ſhines almoſt as bright in his tender and gentle bearing with pieviſh Saints, repreſented by his elder Brother here, as before in his Reception of prodigal Sinners upon their Repentance, repreſented before by the younger Brother. The Diſciples of Chriſt themſelves had many Infirmities, and were Men ſubject to like Paſſions as others, yet Chriſt bare with them, as a Nurſe with her Children, See 1 Theſ. 2. 7.

1. When he would not come in, his Father came out and intreated him, ſpoke him fair, gave him good Words, and deſir'd him to come in. He might juſtly have ſaid, If he will not come in, let him ſtay out, ſhut the Doors againſt him, and ſend him to ſeek a Lodging where he can find it: Is not the Houſe my own, and may I not do what I pleaſe in it? The fatted Calf my own, and may I not do what I pleaſe with it? No, as he went to meet the younger Son, ſo now he goes to court the elder, did not ſend a Servant out with a kind Meſſage to him, but went himſelf. Now (1.) This is deſign'd to repreſent to us the Goodneſs of God; how ſtrangely gentle and winning he has been towards thoſe that were ſtrangely froward and provoking. He reaſon'd with Cain, Why art thou Wrath? He bare Iſrael's Manners in the Wilderneſs, Acts 15. 18. How mildly did God reaſon with Elijah, when he was upon the Fret, 1 Kings 19. 4, 5, 6. and eſpecially with Jonah, whoſe Caſe was very parallel with this here, for he was there diſquieted at the Repentance of Nineveh, and the Mercy ſhow'd it, as the elder Brother here, and thoſe Queſtions, Doſt thou well to be angry? And ſhould I not ſpare Nineveh? are not unlike theſe Expoſtulations of the Father with the elder Brother here. (2.) It is to teach all Superiors to be mild and gentle with their Inferiors, even when they are in a Fault, and paſſionately juſtifie themſelves in it, than which nothing can be more provoking, and yet even in that Caſe let Fathers not provoke their Children to more Wrath, and Maſter's forbear Threatning, and both ſhew all Meekneſs.

2. His Father aſſur'd him that the kind Entertainment he gave his younger Brother, neither was any Reflection upon him, nor ſhould be any Prejudice to him, v. 31. Thou ſhalt fare never the worſe for it, nor have ever the leſs for it: Son, thou art ever with me, the Reception of him is no Rejection of thee, nor what is laid out on him any ſenſible Diminution of what I deſign for thee, thou ſhalt ſtill remain entitled to the Pars enitia, ſo our Law calls it, the double Portion, ſo the Jewiſh Law call'd it, thou ſhalt be Heres ex Aſſo, ſo the Roman Law call'd it, All that I have is thine, by an indefeaſable Title. If he had not given him a Kid to make merry with his Friends, he had eaten Bread at his Table continually: And 'tis better be happy with our Father in Heaven, than merry with any Friend we have in this World. Note, (1.) 'Tis the unſpeakable Happineſs of all the Children of God, who keep cloſe to their Father's Houſe, that they are and ſhall be ever with him; they are ſo in this World by Faith, they ſhall be ſo in the other World by Fruition, and all that he has is theirs; for if Children, then Heirs, Rom. 8. 17. (2.) Therefore we ought not to envy others God's Grace to them, becauſe we ſhall have never the leſs for their ſharing in it. If we be true Believers, all that God is, and all that he has is ours; and if others come to be true Believers, all that he is, and all that he has is theirs too, and yet we have not the leſs: As they that walk in the Light and Warmth of the Sun, have all the Benefit they can have by it, and yet not the leſs for others having as much: For Chriſt in his Church is like as they ſay of the Soul in the Body, 'tis tota in toto, and yet tota in qualibet Parte.

3. His Father gave him a good Reaſon for this uncommon Joy in the Family, v. 32. It was meet that we ſhould make merry and be glad. He might have inſiſted upon his own Authority; it was my Will that the Family ſhould make merry and be glad, ſtat pro Ratione Voluntas. But it doth not become even thoſe that have Authority to be vouching and appealing to it upon every Occaſion, that doth but make it cheap and common; 'tis better give a convincing Reaſon, as the Father doth here; it was meet and very becoming that we ſhould make merry, for the Return of a prodigal Son, more than for the Perſeverance of a dutiful Son, for tho' the latter be a greater Bleſſing to a Family, yet the former is a more ſenſible Pleaſure. Any Family would be much more tranſported with Joy at the raiſing of a dead Child to Life, yea, or at the Recovery of a Child from a Sickneſs that was adjudg'd mortal, than for the continued Life and Health of many Children. Note, God will be juſtified when he ſpeaks, and all Fleſh ſhall ſooner or later be ſilent before him. We do not find any Reply that the elder Brother made to what his Father ſaid, which intimates that he was intirely ſatisfy'd, and acquieſced in his Father's Will, and was well reconcil'd to his prodigal Brother; and his Father put him in Mind that he was his Brother; this thy Brother. Note, A good Man, tho' he have not ſuch Command of himſelf at all Times as to keep his Temper, yet will, with the Grace of God, recover his Temper, tho' he fall, yet ſhall he not be utterly caſt down. But as for the Scribes and Phariſees, for whoſe Conviction it was primarily intended, for ought appears they continued the ſame Diſaffection to the Sinners of the Gentiles, and to the Goſpel of Chriſt, becauſe it was preach'd to them.

CHAP. XVI.

The Scope of Chriſt's Diſcourſe in this Chapter, is to awaken and quicken us all, ſo to uſe this World as not to abuſe it; ſo to manage all our Poſſeſſions and Enjoyments here, as that they may make for us, and may not make againſt us, in the other World, for they will do either the one or the other, according as we uſe them now. (1.) If we do Good with them, and lay out what we have in Works of Piety and Charity, we ſhall reap the Benefit of it in the World to come, and this he ſhews in the Parable of the unjuſt Steward, who made ſo good a Hand of his Lord's Goods, as that when he was turn'd out of his Stewardſhip, he had a comfortable Subſiſtence to betake himſelf to. The Parable itſelf we have, v. 1.---8. The Reddition and Application of it, v, 9.----13. And the Contempt which the Phariſees put upon the Doctrine Chriſt preach'd to them, for which he ſharply reprov'd them, adding ſome other weighty Sayings, v. 14.----18. (2.) If inſtead of doing Good with our worldly Enjoyments, we make them the Food and Fuel of our Luſts, of our Luxury and Senſuality, and deny Relief to the Poor, we ſhall certainly periſh eternally, and the Things of this World which were thus abus'd, will but add to our Miſery and Torment: This he ſhews in the other Parable of the rich Man and Lazarus, which has likewiſe a further Reach, and that is to awaken us all to take the Warning given us by the written Word, and not to expect immediate Meſſages from the other World, v. 19.----31.

AND he ſaid unto his diſciples, There was a certain rich man which had a ſteward; and the ſame was accuſed unto him that he had waſted his Goods. 2 And he called him, and ſaid unto him, how is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy ſtewardſhip: for thou mayeſt be no longer ſteward. 3 Then the ſteward ſaid within himſelf, what ſhall I do? for my lord taketh away from me the ſtewardſhip: I cannot dig, to beg I am aſhamed. 4 I am reſolved what to do, that when I am put out of the ſtewardſhip, they may receive me into their houſes. 5 So he called every one of his lords debtors unto him, and ſaid unto the firſt, How much oweſt thou unto my lord? 6 And he ſaid, An hundred meaſures of oyl, And he ſaid unto him, Take thy bill, and ſit down quickly, and write fifty. 7 Then ſaid he to another, And how much oweſt thou? And he ſaid, an hundred meaſures of wheat. And he ſaid unto him, Take thy bill, and write fourſcore. 8 And the lord commended the unjuſt ſteward, becauſe he had done wiſely: for the children of this world are in their generation wiſer than the children of light. 9 And I ſay unto you, Make to yourſelves friends of the mammon of unrighteouſneſs; that when you fail, they may receive you into everlaſting habitations. 10 He that is faithful in that which is leaſt, is faithful alſo in much: and he that is unjuſt in the leaſt, is unjuſt alſo in much. 11 If therefore ye have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your truſt the true riches? 12 And if ye have not been faithful in that which is another mans, who ſhall give you that which is your own? 13 ¶ No ſervant can ſerve two maſters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or elſe he will hold to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Ye cannot ſerve God and mammon. 14 And the Phariſees alſo who were covetous, heard all theſe things: and they derided him. 15 And he ſaid unto them, Ye are they which juſtifie your ſelves before men; but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly eſteemed amongſt men, is abomination in the ſight of God. 16 The law and the prophets were until John: ſince that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man preſſeth into it. 17 And it is eaſier for heaven and earth to paſs, then one tittle of the law to fail. 18 Whoſoever putteth away his wife, and marrieth another, committeth adultery: and whoſoever marrieth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.

We miſtake if we imagine that the Deſign of Chriſt's Doctrine and holy Religion was either to amuſe us with Notions of divine Myſteries, or to entertain us with Notions of divine Mercies: No, The divine Revelation of both thoſe in the Goſpel is intended to engage and quicken us to the Practice of Chriſtian Duties, and as much as any one Thing to the Duty of Benificence, and doing Good to thoſe who ſtand in Need of any Thing that either we have, or can do for them. This our Saviour is here preſſing us to, by minding us that we are but Stewards of the manifold Grace of God, and ſince we have in divers Inſtances been unfaithful, and have forfeited the Favour of our Lord, 'tis our Wiſdom to think how we may ſome other Way make what we have in this World turn to a good Account. Parables muſt not be forc'd beyond their primary Intention, and therefore we muſt not hence infer that any one can befriend us if we lye under the Diſpleaſure of our Lord, but that in the general we muſt ſo lay out what we have in Works of Piety and Charity, as that we may meet it again with Comfort on t'other Side Death and the Grave. If we would act wiſely, we muſt be as diligent and induſtrious to employ our Riches in the Acts of Piety and Charity, in Order to promote our future and eternal Welfare, as worldly Men are in laying them out to the greateſt temporal Profit, in making to themſelves Friends with them, and ſecuring other ſecular Intereſts. So Dr. Clark.

Now let us conſider,

Firſt, The Parable itſelf, in which all the Children of Men are repreſented as Stewards of what they have in this World, and we are but Stewards; whatever we have, the Property of it is God's, we have only the Uſe of it, and that according to the Direction of our great Lord, and for his Honour, Rabbi Kimchi quoted by Dr. Lightfoot ſaith, "This World is a Houſe, Heaven "the Roof; the Stars the Lights; the Earth with its Fruits "a Table ſpread: The Maſter of the Houſe is the holy and "bleſſed God; Man is the Steward, into whoſe Hands the Goods "of this Houſe are deliver'd; if he behave himſelf well he ſhall "find Favour in the Eyes of his Lord, if not, he ſhall be turn'd "out of his Stewardſhip. Now,

1. Here is the Diſhoneſty of this Steward. He waſted his Lord's Goods, embezzel'd them, miſapply'd them, or through Careleſſneſs ſuffer'd them to be loſt and damag'd; and for this he was accus'd to his Lord, v. 1. We are all liable to the ſame Charge; we have not made a due Improvement of what God has intruſted us with in this World, but have perverted his Purpoſe. And that we may not be for this judg'd of our Lord, it concerns us to judge ourſelves.

2. His Diſcharge out of his Place. His Lord call'd for him, and ſaid, How is it that I hear this of thee? I expected better Things from thee: he ſpeaks as one ſorry to find himſelf diſappointed in him, and under a Neceſſity of diſmiſſing him from his Service: It troubles him to hear it, but the Steward cannot deny it, and therefore theirs no Remedy, he muſt make up his Accounts, and be gone in a little Time, v. 2. Now this is deſign'd to teach us, (1.) That we muſt all of us ſhortly be diſcharg'd from our Stewardſhip in this World; we muſt not always enjoy thoſe Things we now enjoy: Death will come and diſmiſs us from our Stewardſhip, will deprive us of the Abilities and Opportunities we now have of doing Good, and others will come in our Places and have the ſame. (2.) That our Diſcharge from our Stewardſhip at Death is juſt, and what we have deſerv'd, for we have waſted our Lord's Goods, and thereby forfeited our Truſt, ſo that we cannot complain of any Wrong done us. (3.) That when our Stewardſhip is taken from us, we muſt give an Account of it to our Lord; after Death the Judgment; both which, both our Diſcharge, and our Account, we are fairly warn'd of, and ought to be frequently thinking of.

3. His After-Wiſdom; now he began to conſider, What ſhall I do? v. 3. He would have done well to have conſider'd that, before he had ſo fooliſhly thrown himſelf out of a good Place by his Unfaithfulneſs; but 'tis better to conſider late, than never. Note, Since we have all receiv'd Notice that we muſt ſhortly be turn'd out of our Stewardſhip, we are concern'd to conſider what we ſhall do then? He muſt live, which Way ſhall he have a Livelihood? (1.) He knows he has not ſuch a Degree of Induſtry in him, as to get his Living by Work; I cannot dig; I cannot earn my Bread by my Labour; but why can he not dig? It doth not appear that he was either old or lame, but the Truth is he is lazy; his cannot is a will not; 'tis not a natural, but a moral Diſability that he labours under; if his Maſter when he turn'd him out of the Stewardſhip, had continued him in his Service as a Labourer, and ſet a Task-Maſter over him, he would have made him dig. He cannot dig, for he was never us'd to it; now this intimates, that we cannot get a Livlihood for our Souls, by any Labour for this World; nor indeed can do any Thing to Purpoſe for our Souls, by any Ability of our own.

(2.) He knows he has not ſuch a Degree of Humility as to get his Bread by begging; to beg I am aſham'd. This was the Language of his Pride, as the former of his Slothfulneſs; thoſe whom God in his Providence has diſabled to help themſelves, ſhould not be aſham'd to ask Relief of others. This Steward had more Reaſon to be aſham'd of his cheating his Maſter than of begging his Bread.

(3.) He therefore determines to make Friends of his Lord's Debtors, or his Tenants that were behind of their Rent, and had given Notes under their Hand for it, v. 4. I am reſolved what to do. My Lord turns me out of his Houſe, I have none of my own to go to. I am acquainted with my Lord's Tenants, have done them many a good Turn, and now I'le do them one more, which will ſo oblige them, that they will bid me welcome to their Houſes; and the beſt Entertainment they afford; and ſo long as I live, at leaſt till I can better diſpoſe of myſelf, I'le quarter upon them, and go from one good Houſe to another. Now the Way he would take to make them his Friends, was by ſtriking off a conſiderable Part of their Debt to his Lord, and giving it in his Accounts ſo much leſs than it was. Accordingly he ſent for one that ow'd his Lord a hundred Meaſures of Oyl, in that Commodity he paid his Rent, Take thy Bill, ſaid he, here it is, and ſit down quickly, and write fifty, v. 6. ſo he reduc'd his Debt to the one half. Obſerve, he was in haſte to have it done, ſit down quickly and do it, leſt we be taken treating, and ſuſpected. He took another that ow'd his Lord an hundred Meaſures of Wheat, and from his Bill he cut of a fifth Part, and bid him write fourſcore, v. 7. and probably he did the like by others; abating more or leſs according as he expected Kindneſs from them. See here what uncertain Things our worldly Poſſeſſions are; and moſt ſo to thoſe that have moſt of them, who devolve upon others all the Care concerning them, and ſo put it into their Power to cheat them, becauſe they will not trouble themſelves to ſee with their own Eyes. See alſo what Treachery is to be found, even among thoſe in whom Truſt is repoſed. How hard is it to find one that a Confidence can be repos'd in? Let God be true, but every Man a Liar. Tho' this Steward is turn'd out for dealing diſhoneſtly, yet ſtill he doth ſo. So rare is it for Men to mend of a Fault, tho they ſmart for it.

4. The Approbation of this, v. 8. The Lord commended the unjuſt Steward, becauſe he had done wiſely. Whether it be meant of his Lord, the Lord of that Servant, who tho' he could not but be angry at his Knavery, yet was pleas'd with his Ingenuity and Policy for himſelf; but taking it ſo, the latter Part of the Verſe muſt be the Words of our Lord, and therefore I think the whole is meant of him. Chriſt did as it were ſay, Now commend me to ſuch a Man as this, that knows how to do well for himſelf, how to improve a preſent Opportunity, and how to provide for a future Neceſſity. He doth not commend him becauſe he had done falſly to his Maſter, but becauſe he had done wiſely for himſelf. Yet perhaps herein he did well for his Maſter too, and but juſtly with the Tenants. He knew what hard Bargains he had ſet them, ſo that they could not pay their Rent, but having been ſcrew'd up by this Rigor, were thrown behind Hand, and they and their Families were likely to go to Ruin; and in Conſideration of this, he now at going off, did as he ought to do both in Juſtice and Charity, not only eaſing them of Part of their Arrears, but abating of their Rent for the future. How much oweſt thou? may be meant, what Rent doſt thou ſit upon? Come, ſaith he, I'le ſet thee an eaſier Bargain, and yet no eaſier than what thou oughteſt to have. He had been all for his Lord, but now he begins to conſider the Tenants; that he might have their Favour when he had loſt his Lord's. The abating of their Rent would be a laſting Kindneſs, and more likely to engage them than abating their Arrears only.

Now this Forecaſt of his, for a comfortable Subſiſtence in this World, ſhames our Improvidence for another World. The Children of this World, that chuſe and have their Portion in it, are wiſer for their Generation, act more conſiderately, and better conſult their worldly Intereſt and Advantage than the Children of Light, who enjoy the Goſpel in their Generation, i. e. in the Concerns of their Souls and Eternity. Note, 1. The Wiſdom of worldly People in the Concerns of this World, is to be imitated by us in the Concerns of our Souls; 'tis their Principle to improve their Opportunities; to do that firſt which is moſt needful; in Summer and Harveſt to lay up for Winter; to take a good Bargain when 'tis offer'd them; to truſt the faithful and not the falſe; O that we were thus wiſe in our ſpiritual Affairs! 2. The Children of Light are commonly out-done by the Children of this World. Not that the Children of this World are truly wiſe, but only in their Generation; but in that they are wiſer than the Children of Light in theirs: for tho' we are told that we muſt ſhortly be turn'd out of our Stewardſhip, yet we do not provide as we ſhould for ſuch a Day; we live as if we were to be here always, and as if there were not another Life after this; and are not ſollicitous, as this Steward was, to provide for hereafter; tho' as Children of the Light, that Light to which Life and Immortality are brought by the Goſpel, we cannot but ſee another World before us, yet do not prepare for it, do not ſend our beſt Effects and beſt Affections thither, as we ſhould.

5. The Application of this Parable; and the Inferences drawn from it, v. 9. I ſay unto you, you my Diſciples, for to them this Parable is directed, v. 1. Tho you have but little in this World, conſider how you may do good with that little: Obſerve,

(1.) What it is that our Lord Jeſus here exhorts us to; to provide for our comfortable Reception, to the Happineſs of another World, by making good Uſe of our Poſſeſſions and Enjoyments in this World, Make to yourſelves Friends of the Mammon of Unrighteouſneſs, as the Steward with his Lord's Goods made his Lord's Tenants his Friends. 'Tis the Wiſdom of the Men of this World ſo to manage their Money, as that they may have the Benefit of it hereafter, and not for the preſent only; therefore they put it out to Intereſt, buy Land with it, put it into this or the other Fund. Now we ſhould learn of them to make Uſe of our Money, ſo as that we may be the better for it hereafter in another World, as they do, in Hopes to be the better for it hereafter in this World: So caſt it upon the Waters, as that we may find it again after many Days; Eccl. 11. 1. And in our Caſe, tho' whatever we have is our Lord's Goods; yet as long as we diſpoſe of them among our Lord's Tenants, and for their Advantage, 'tis ſo far reckon'd from being a Wrong to our Lord, that it is Duty to him as well as Policy for ourſelves.

Note, 1. The Things of this World are the Mammon of Unrighteouſneſs, or the falſe Mammon; not only becauſe often got by Fraud and Unrighteouſneſs, but becauſe thoſe who truſt to it for Satisfaction and Happineſs will certainly be deceiv'd; for Riches are periſhing Things, and will diſappoint thoſe that raiſe their Expectations from them. 2. Tho' this Mammon of Unrighteneſs is not to be truſted to for a Happineſs, yet it may and muſt be made Uſe of in Subſerviency to our Purſuits of that which is our Happineſs. Tho' we cannot find true Satisfaction in it, yet we may make to ourſelves Friends with it, not by Way of Purchaſe or Merit, but Recommendation; ſo we may make God and Chriſt our Friends, the good Angels and Saints our Friends, and the Poor our Friends; and 'tis a deſireable Thing to be befriended in the Account and State to come. 3. At Death we muſt all fail ὅταν ἐκλίπητε. When ye ſuffer an Eclipſe. Death eclipſeth us. A Tradeſman is ſaid to fail when he becomes a Bankrupt; we muſt all thus fail ſhortly; Death ſhuts up the Shop, ſeals up the Hand. Our Comforts and Enjoyments on Earth will all fail us; Fleſh and Heart fail. 4. It ought to be our great Concern to make it ſure to ourſelves, that when we fail at Death, we may be receiv'd into everlaſting Habitations in Heaven. The Habitations in Heaven are everlaſting; not made with Hands, but eternal, 2 Cor. 5. 1. Chriſt is gone before, to prepare a Place for thoſe that are his, and is there ready to receive them; the Boſom of Abraham is ready to receive them, and when a Guard of Angels carries them thither, a Choir of Angels is ready to receive them there. The poor Saints that are gone before to Glory, will receive thoſe that in this World diſtributed to their Neceſſities. 5. This is a good Reaſon why we ſhould uſe ſuch as we have in the World for the Honour of God, and the Good of our Brethren, that thus we may with them lay up in Store a good Bond, a good Security, a good Foundation for the Time to come, for an Eternity to come: See 1 Tim. 6. 17, 18, 19. which explains this here.

(2.) With what Arguments he preſſeth this Exhortation; he abounds in Works of Piety and Charity.

1. If we do not make a right Uſe of the Gifts of God's Providence, how can we expect from him thoſe preſent and future Comforts which are the Gifts of his ſpiritual Grace. Our Saviour here compares theſe, and ſhews that tho' our faithful Uſe of the Things of this World cannot be thought to merit any Favour at the Hand of God, yet our Unfaithfulneſs in the Uſe of them may be juſtly reckon'd a Forfeiture of that Grace which is neceſſary to bring us to Glory, and that's it which our Saviour here ſhews, v. 10, 11, 12.

(1.) The Riches of this World are the leſs; Grace and Glory are the greater: Now if we be unfaithful in the leſs, if we uſe the Things in this World to other Purpoſes than thoſe for which they were given us, it may juſtly be fear'd we ſhall be ſo in the Gifts of God's Grace, that we will receive them alſo in vain, and therefore they will be deny'd us. He that is faithful in that which is leaſt, is faithful alſo in much. He that ſerves God, and doth Good with his Money, will ſerve God, and do Good with the more noble and valuable Talents of Wiſdom and Grace, and ſpiritual Gifts, and the Earneſtneſs of Heaven; but he that buries the one Talent of this World's Wealth, will never improve the five Talents of ſpiritual Riches. God witholds his Grace from covetous worldly People, more than we are aware of.

(2.) The Riches of this World are deceitful and uncertain, 'tis the unrighteous Mammon, which is haſting from us apace, and which, if we will make any Advantage of, we muſt beſtir ourſelves quickly; but if we do not, how can we expect to be intruſted with ſpiritual Riches, which are the only true Riches, v. 11. Let us be convinc'd of this, that thoſe are truly rich, and very rich, who are rich in Faith, and rich towards God, rich in Chriſt, and in the Promiſes, and in the Earneſts of Heaven; and therefore let us lay up a Treaſure in them, and expect our Portion from them, and mind them in the firſt Place, the Kingdom of God, and the Righteouſneſs thereof, and then, if other Things be added to us, uſe them in Ordine ad Spiritualia, ſo as that by uſing them well we may take the faſter hold of the true Riches, and may be qualified to receive yet more Grace from God, for God giveth to a Man that is good in his Sight, that is, to a free-hearted charitable Man, Wiſdom, and Knowledge, and Joy, Eccl. 2. 26. that is, to a Man that is faithful in the unrighteous Mammon, he gives the true Riches.

(3.) The Riches of this World are another Man's; they are τὰ ἀλλότεια, not our own, for they are foreign to the Soul and its Nature and Intereſt: They are not our own, for they are God's, his Title to them is prior and ſuperior to ours; the Property remains in him, we are but Unfructuaries; they are another Man's, we have them from others; we uſe them for others, and what Good has the Owner from his Goods that increaſe, ſave the beholding of them with his Eyes, while ſtill they are increaſed that eat them; and we muſt ſhortly leave them to others, and we know not who. But ſpiritual and eternal Riches are our own, they enter into the Soul that becomes poſſeſs'd of them, and inſeparably; they are a good Part that will never be taken away from us: If we make Chriſt our own, and the Promiſes our own, and Heaven our own, we have that which we may truly call our own. But how can we expect God ſhould enrich us with theſe, if we do not ſerve him with our worldly Poſſeſſions, which we are but Stewards of?

2. We have no other Way to prove ourſelves the Servants of God, but by giving up ourſelves ſo intirely to his Service, as to make Mammon, that is, all our worldly Gain, ſerviceable to us in his Service, v. 13. No Man can ſerve two Maſters, whoſe Commands are ſo inconſiſtent as thoſe of God and Mammon are. If a Man will love the World, and hold to that, it cannot be but he will hate God, and deſpiſe him: He will make all his Pretenſions of Religion truckle to his ſecular Intereſts and Deſigns, and the Things of God ſhall be made to help him in ſerving and ſeeking the World; but on the other Hand, If a Man will love God and adhere to him, he will comparatively hate the World (whenever God and the World come in Competition) and will deſpiſe it, and make all his Buſineſs and Succeſs in the World ſome Way or other conducive to the Furtherance of him in the Buſineſs of Religion; and the Things of the World ſhall be made to help him in ſerving God, and working out his Salvation. The Matter is here laid plainly before us, Ye cannot ſerve God and Mammon. So divided are their Intereſts, that their Services can never be compounded. If therefore we be determin'd to ſerve God, we muſt diſclaim and abjure the Service of the World.

(3.) We are here told what Entertainment this Doctrine of Chriſt met with among the Phariſees, and what Rebuke he gave them.

1. They wickedly ridicul'd him, v. 14. The Phariſees who were covetous heard all theſe Things, and could not contradict him, but they derided him. Let us conſider this, (1.) As their Sin, and the Fruit of their Covetouſneſs, which was their reigning Sin, their own Iniquity. Note, Many that make a great Profeſſion of Religion, have much Knowledge, and abound in the Exerciſe of Devotion, yet are ruin'd by the Love of the World; nor doth any Thing harden the Heart more againſt the Word of Chriſt. Theſe covetous Phariſees could not bear to have that touch'd which was their Dalilah, their Darling Luſt, for this they derided him, ἐξεμυκτήριζον αὐτόν. They ſnuff'd up their Noſes at him, or blew their Noſes on him; 'tis an Expreſſion of the utmoſt Scorn and Diſdain imaginable; The Word of the Lord was to them a Reproach, Jer. 6. 10. They laugh'd at him for going ſo contrary to the Opinion and Way of the World, for endeavouring to recover them from a Sin which they were reſolv'd to hold faſt. Note, 'Tis common for thoſe to make a Jeſt of the Word of God, who are reſolv'd they will not be rul'd by it, but they will find at laſt it cannot be turn'd off ſo. (2.) As his Suffering. Our Lord Jeſus endur'd not only the Contradiction of Sinners, but their Contempt, they had him in Deriſion all the Day. He that ſpake as never Man ſpake, yet was banter'd and ridicul'd that his faithful Miniſters, whoſe Preaching is unjuſtly derided may not be diſheartned at it. 'Tis no Diſgrace to a Man to be laught at, but to deſerve to be laught at. Chriſt's Apoſtles were mock'd, and no Wonder; the Diſciple is not greater than his Lord.

2. He juſtly reprov'd them; not for deriding him, he knew how to deſpiſe the Shame; but for deceiving themſelves with the Shews and Colours of Piety, when they were Strangers to the Power of it, v. 15. Here's,

(1.) Their ſpecious Out-ſide; nay, it was a ſplendid one: (1.) They juſtified themſelves before Men, they deny'd whatever Ill was laid to their Charge, even by Chriſt himſelf: They claim'd to be look'd upon as Men of ſingular Sanctity and Devotion, and juſtified themſelves in that Claim. You are they that do that ſo as none ever did, that make it your Buſineſs to court the Opinion of Men, and right or wrong will juſtify yourſelves before the World, ſo you are notorious for this. (2.) They were highly eſteem'd among Men did not only acquit them for any Blame they were under, but applauded them and had them in Veneration, not only as good Men, but as the beſt of Men: Their Sentiments were eſteem'd as Oracles, their Directions as Laws, and their Practices as inviolable Preſcriptions.

(2.) Their odious Inſide, which was under the Eye of God: He knows your Heart, and it is in his Sight an Abomination, for it is full of all Manner of Wickedneſs. Note, 1. It is Folly to juſtify ourſelves before Men, and to think this enough to bear us out, and bring us off in the Judgment of the great Day, that Men know no ill by us, for God who knows our Heart, knows that Ill by us which no one elſe can know. This ought to check our Value for ourſelves, and our Confidence in ourſelves, that God knows our Hearts, and how much there is there, for we have Reaſon to abaſe and diſtruſt ourſelves. 2. 'Tis Folly to judge of Perſons and Things by the Opinion of Men concerning them, and to go down with the Stream of vulgar Eſtimate; for that which is highly eſteem'd among Men, who judge according to outward Appearance, is, perhaps, an Abomination in the Sight of God, who ſees Things as they are, and whoſe Judgment we are ſure is according to Truth: And on the contrary there are thoſe whom Men deſpiſe and condemn, that yet are accepted and aproved of God, 2 Cor. 10. 18.

3. He turned from them to the Publicans and Sinners, as more likely to be wrought upon by his Goſpel, than thoſe covetous, conceited Phariſees, v. 16. The Law and the Prophets were indeed until John; the old Teſtament Diſpenſation, which was confin'd to you Jews, continu'd till John Baptiſt appear'd, and you ſeem'd to have the Monopoly of Righteouſneſs and Salvation, and you are puff'd up with this, and this gains you Eſteem among Men, that you are Students in the Law and the Prophets; but ſince John Baptiſt appear'd, the Kingdom of God is preach'd, a new Teſtament Diſpenſation, which doth not value Men at all for their being Doctors of the Law, but every Man preſſeth into the Goſpel Kingdom; Gentiles as well as Jews, and no Man thinks himſelf bound in good Manners to let his Betters go before him into it, or to ſtay till the Rulers and the Phariſees have led him that Way. 'Tis not ſo much a political national Conſtitution as the Jewiſh Oeconomy was when Salvation was of the Jews; but 'tis made a particular perſonal Concern, and therefore every Man that is convinc'd he has a Soul to ſave, and an Eternity to provide for, thruſts to get in, leſt he ſhould come ſhort by trifling and complementing. Some give this Senſe of it; they derided Chriſt for ſpeaking in Comtempt of Riches, for though there were not many Promiſes of Riches and other temporal good Things in the Law and the Prophets; yet were not many of the beſt of God's Servants very rich, as Abraham and David? 'Tis true, ſaith Chriſt, ſo it was, but now the Kingdom of God is begun to be preach'd, Things take a new Turn; now bleſſed are the poor and the Mourners and the Perſecuted. The Phariſees to requite the People for their high Opinion of them, allow'd them in a cheap eaſy formal Religion; but ſaith Chriſt, now the Goſpel is preach'd, the Eyes of the People are open'd, and as they cannot now have a Veneration for the Phariſees as they have had, ſo they cannot content themſelves with ſuch an Indifferency in Religion as they have been train'd up in, but they preſs with a holy Violence into the Kingdom of God. Note, Thoſe that would go to Heaven muſt take Pains, muſt ſtrive againſt the Stream, muſt preſs againſt the Crowd that are going the contrary Way.

4. Yet ſtill he proteſts againſt any Deſign to invalidate the Law, v. 17. It is eaſier for Heaven and Earth to paſs, παρελθεῖν, to paſs by, to paſs away, tho' the Foundations of the Earth, and the Pillars of Heaven are ſo firmly eſtabliſh'd, than one Tittle of the Law to fail. The moral Law is confirm'd and ratify'd, and not one Tittle of that fails; the Duties enjoyn'd by it are Duties ſtill; the Sins forbidden by it are Sins ſtill: Nay, the Precepts of it are explain'd and enforc'd by the Goſpel, and made to appear more ſpiritual. The ceremonial Law is perfected in the Goſpel, and its Shades fill'd up with the Goſpel Colours; not one Tittle of that fails, for 'tis found printed off in the Goſpel, where tho' the Force of it as a Law is taken off, yet the Figure of it as a Type ſhines very bright, witneſs the Epiſtle to the Hebrews. And there were ſome Things which were conniv'd at by the Law, for the preventing of greater Miſchiefs, which the Goſpel has indeed taken away the Permiſſion of, but without any Detriment or Diſparagement to the Law, for it has thereby reduc'd them to the primitive Intention of the Law, as in the Caſe of Divorce, v. 18. which we had before, Mat. 5. 32. 19. 9. Chriſt would not allow Divorces, for his Goſpel is intended to ſtrike at the bitter Root of Mens corrupt Appetites and Paſſions, to kill them, and pluck them up, and therefore they muſt not be ſo far indulg'd, as that Permiſſion did indulge them, for the more they are indulg'd, the more impetuous and head-ſtrong they grow.

19 ¶ There was a certain rich man which was clothed in purple, and fine linen, and far'd ſumptuouſly every day. 20 And there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, which was laid at his gate, full of ſores, 21 And deſiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell from the rich mans table: moreover the dogs came and licked his ſores. 22 And it came to paſs that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abrahams boſom: the rich man alſo died, and was buried. 23 And in hell he lift up his eyes, being in torments, and ſeeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his boſom. 24 And he cried and ſaid, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and ſend Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his finger and cool my tongue; for I am tormented in this flame. 25 But Abraham ſaid, Son, remember that thou in thy life-time receivedſt thy good things, and likewiſe Lazarus evil things: but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. 26 And beſides all this, between us and you there is a great gulph fixed: ſo that they which would paſs from hence to you, cannot; neither can they paſs to us, that would come from thence. 17 Then he ſaid, I pray thee therefore, father, that thou wouldſt ſend him to my fathers houſe: 28 For I have five brethren; that he may teſtiſie unto them, leſt they alſo come into this place of torment. 29 Abraham ſaith unto him, They have Moſes and the prophets; let them hear them. 30 And he ſaid, Nay, father Abraham, but if one went unto them from the dead, they will repent. And he ſaid unto him, If they hear not Moſes and the prophets, neither will they be perſwaded, though one roſe from the dead.

As the Parable of the prodigal Son ſet before us the Grace of the Goſpel, which is encouraging to us all; ſo this ſets before us the Wrath to come, and is deſign'd for our awakening; and very faſt aſleep thoſe are in Sin that will not be awakened by it. The Phariſees made a Jeſt of Chriſt's Sermon againſt Worldlineſs; now this Parable was intended to make thoſe Mockers ſerious. The Tendency of the Goſpel of Chriſt is both to reconcile us to Poverty and Affliction, and to arm us againſt Temptations to Worldlineſs and Senſuality; Now this Parable by drawing the Curtain, and letting us ſee what will be the End of both in the other World, goes very far in proſecuting thoſe two great Intentions.

This Parable is not like Chriſt's other Parables, in which ſpiritual Things are repreſented by Similitudes borrow'd from worldly Things, as thoſe of the Sower and the Seed, and that of the Sheep and Goats, the prodigal Son, and indeed all the reſt but this: But here the ſpiritual Things themſelves are repreſented in a Narrative or Deſcription of the different State of good and bad in this World and the other, yet we need not call it a Hiſtory of a particular Occurrence, but is Matter of Fact, that's true every Day; that poor godly People whom Men neglect and trample upon die away out of their Miſeries, and go to heavenly Bliſs, and Joy, which is made the more pleaſant to them by their preceding Sorrows; and that rich Epicures, that live in Luxury, and are unmerciful to the Poor, die and go into a State of inſupportable Torment, which is the more grievous and terrible to them, becauſe of the ſenſual Lives they liv'd; and that there's no gaining any Relief for their Torments. Is this a Parable? What Similitude is there in this? The Diſcourſe indeed between Abraham and the rich Man is only an Illuſtration of the Deſcription, to make it the more affecting, like that between God and Satan in the Story of Job. Our Saviour came to bring us acquainted with another World, and to ſhew us the Reference which this World has to that; and here he doth it.

In this Deſcription (for ſo I ſhall chuſe to call it) we may obſerve, Firſt, The different Condition of a wicked rich Man, and a godly poor Man in this World. We know that as ſome of late, ſo the Jews of old, were ready to make Proſperity one of the Marks of a true Church, of a good Man and a Favourite of Heaven, ſo that they could hardly have any favourable Thoughts of a poor Man: This Miſtake Chriſt upon all Occaſions ſet himſelf to correct, and here very fully: Where we have,

1. A wicked Man, and one that will be for ever miſerable, in the Height of Proſperity, v. 29. There was a certain rich Man, from the Latin we commonly call him Dives, a rich Man; but as Biſhop Tillotſon obſerves, he has no Name given him, as the poor Man has, becauſe it had been invidious to have nam'd any particular rich Man in ſuch a Deſcription as this, and apt to provoke and gain ill Will. But others obſerve, that Chriſt would not do the rich Man ſo much Honour as to name him, tho' when perhaps he call'd his Lands by his own Name, he thought it ſhould long ſurvive that of the Beggar at his Gate, which yet is here preſerv'd, when that of the rich Man is buried in Oblivion. Now we are told concerning this rich Man. (1.) That he was cloth'd in Purple and fine Linnen, and that was his adorning. He had fine Linnen for Pleaſure, and clean no doubt, every Day; Night-Linnen, and Day-Linnen. He had Purple for State, for that was the Wear of Princes; which has made ſome conjecture that Chriſt had an Eye to Herod in it. He never appear'd abroad, but 'twas in great Magnificence. (2.) He fared deliciouſly and ſumptuouſly every Day. His Table was furniſh'd with all the rities and Dainties that Nature and Art could furniſh him with. His Side-Table richly adorn'd with Plate, and his Servants that waited at Table in rich Liveries; and the Gueſts at his Table, no doubt, ſuch as he thought grac'd it.

Well, and what Harm was there in all this? 'Tis no Sin to be rich, no Sin to wear Purple and fine Linnen, nor to keep a plentiful Table, if a Man's Eſtate will afford it. Nor are we told that he got his Eſtate by Fraud, Oppreſſion, or Extortion, no, nor that he was drunk, or made others drunk; but (1.) Chriſt would hereby ſhew, that a Man may have a great deal of the Wealth and Pomp and Pleaſure of this World, and yet lye and periſh for ever under God's Wrath and Curſe. We cannot infer from Men's living great, either that God loves them in giving them ſo much, or that they love God for giving them ſo much; Happineſs conſiſts not in theſe Things. (2.) That Plenty and Pleaſure is a very dangerous, and to many, a fatal Temptation of Luxury and Senſuality, and Forgetfulneſs of God and another World. This Man might have been happy if he had not had great Poſeſſions and Enjoyments. (3.) That the Indulgence of the Body, and the Eaſe and Pleaſure of that, is the Ruin of many a Soul, and the Intereſts of it. 'Tis true, eating good Meat, and wearing good Cloaths, is lawful; but 'tis as true, that it often becomes the Food and Fuel of Pride aud Luxury, and ſo turns into Sin to us. (4.) The Feaſting ourſelves and our Friends, and at the ſame Time forgetting the Diſtreſſes of the poor and afflicted, is very provoking to God, and damning to the Soul. The Sin of this rich Man, was not ſo much his Dreſs or his Diet, but his providing for himſelf only.

2. Here's a godly Man, and one that will be for ever happy in the Depth of Adverſity and Diſtreſs, v. 20. There was a certain Beggar named Lazarus, a Beggar of that Name, eminently devout, and in great Diſtreſs, was probably well known among good People at that Time: A Beggar, ſuppoſe ſuch a one as Eleazer, or Lazarus. Some think Eleazer a proper Name for any poor Man, for it ſignifies the Help of God, which they muſt fly to, that are deſtitute of other Helps. This poor Man was reduc'd to the laſt Extremity, as miſerable as you can lightly ſuppoſe a Man to be in this World, as to outward Things. (1.) His Body was full of Sores like Job: To be ſick and weak in Body, is a great Affliction; but Sores, are more painful to the Patient, and more loathſome to thoſe about him. (2.) He was forc'd to beg his Bread, and to take up with ſuch Scraps as he could get at rich People's Doors. He was ſo ſore and lame, that he could not go himſelf, but he was carried by ſome compaſſionate Hand or other, and laid at the rich Man's Gate. Note, Thoſe that are not able to help the Poor with their Purſes, ſhould help them with their Pains; that cannot lend them a Penny, ſhould lend them a Hand; that have not wherewithal to give to them themſelves, ſhould either bring them, or go for them to thoſe that have. Lazarus in his Diſtreſs had nothing of his own to ſubſiſt on, no Relation to go to, nor did the Pariſh take Care of him. 'Tis an Inſtance of the Degeneracy of the Jewiſh Church at this Time, that ſuch a godly Man as Lazarus was, ſhould be ſuffer'd to periſh for Want of neceſſary Food. Now obſerve,

1. His Expectations from the rich Man's Table; he deſir'd to be fed with the Crumbs, v. 21. He did not look for a Meſs from off his Table, tho' he ought to have had one, one of the beſt; but would be thankful for the Crumbs from under the Table, the broken Meat, which was the rich Man's Leavings; nay, the Leavings of his Dogs. The poor uſeth Intreaties, and muſt be content with ſuch as they can get. Now this is taken Notice of, to ſhew (1.) What was the Diſtreſs, and what the Diſpoſition of the poor Man. He was poor, but he was poor in Spirit, contentedly poor. He did not lie at the rich Man's Gate complaining and bawling, and making a Noiſe, but ſilently and modeſtly deſiring to be fed with the Crumbs. This miſerable Man was a good Man, and in Favour with God. Note, 'Tis often the Lot of ſome of the deareſt of God's Saints and Servants to be greatly afflicted in this World, while wicked People proſper and have abundance; ſee Pſal. 73. 7. 10. 14. Here's a Child of Wrath, and an Heir of Hell, ſitting in the Houſe, faring ſumptuouſly; and a Child of Love, and an Heir of Heaven, lying at the Gate, periſhing for Hunger. And is Men's ſpiritual State to be judg'd of then by their outward Condition? (2.) What was the Temper of the rich Man towards him; we are not told that he abus'd him, or forbid him his Gate, or did him any Harm, but 'tis intimated that he ſlighted him; he had no Concern for him, took no Care about him. Here was a real Object of Charity, and a very moving ond which ſpoke for itſelf; 'twas preſented to him at his own Gate; the poor Man had a good Character, and a good Carriage, and every Thing that could recommend him: A little Thing would be a great Kindneſs to him, and yet he took no Cognizance of his Caſe, did not order him to be taken in and lodg'd in the Barn, or ſome of the Out-Buildings, but let him lye there. Note, 'Tis not enough, not to oppreſs and trample upon the Poor, we ſhall be found unfaithful Stewards of our Lord's Goods in the great Day, if we do not ſuccour and relieve them. The Reaſon given for the moſt fearful Doom is, I was hungry, and you gave me no Meat. I wonder how theſe rich People who have read the Goſpel of Chriſt, and ſay they believe it, can be ſo unconcern'd as they often are, in the Neceſſities and Miſeries of the poor and afflicted.

2. The Uſage he had from the Dogs. The Dogs came and licked his Sores. The rich Man kept a Kennel of Hounds it may be, or other Dogs, for their Diverſion, and to pleaſe his Fancy, and thoſe were fed to the full, when poor Lazarus could not get enough to keep him alive. Note, Thoſe will have a great deal to anſwer for hereafter, that feed their Dogs but neglect the Poor: And 'tis a great Aggravation of the Uncharitableneſs of many rich People, that they beſtow that upon their Fancies and Follies which would ſupply the Neceſſity, and rejoyce the Heart of many a good Chriſtian in Diſtreſs. Thoſe offend God, nay, and they put a Contempt upon the humane Nature, that pamper their Dogs and Horſes, and let the Families of their poor Neighbours ſtarve. Now thoſe Dogs came and licked the Sores of poor Lazarus, which may be taken (1.) As an Aggravation of his Miſery: His Sores were bloody, which tempted the Dogs to come and lick them, as they did the Blood of Naboth and Ahab, 1 King. 21. 19. And we read of the Tongue of the Dogs dipp'd in the Blood of Enemies, Pſal. 68. 22. They attack'd him while he was yet alive, as if he had been already dead, and he had not Strength himſelf to keep them off, nor would any of the Servants be ſo civil as to check them. The Dogs were like their Maſter, and thought they far'd ſumptuouſly when they regal'd themſelves with humane Gore: Or it may be taken (2.) As ſome Relief to him in his Miſery, ἀλλα καὶ, the Maſter was hard-hearted towards him, but the Dogs came and licked his Sores, which mollify'd and eas'd them; 'tis not ſaid they ſuck'd them, but lick'd them, which was good for them. The Dogs was more kind to him than their Maſter was.

Secondly, Here's the different Condition of this godly poor Man, and this wicked rich Man, at, and after Death. Hitherto the wicked Man ſeems to have the Advantage, but Exitus Acta probat. Let us wait awhile to ſee the End hereof.

1. They both dye, v. 22. The Beggar died. The rich Man alſo died. Death is the common Lot of rich and poor, godly and ungodly, there they meet together. One dieth in his full Strength, and another in the Bitterneſs of his Soul, but they ſhall lye down alike in the Duſt, Job. 21. 26. Death favours not either the rich Man for his Riches, or a poor Man for his Poverty. Saints die that they may bring their Sorrows to an End, and may enter upon their Joys: Sinners die that they may go to give up their Account. It concerns us both rich and poor, to prepare for Death, for it waits for them both. Mors Sceptra Legionibus æquat; æquo pulſat Pede Pauperum Tabernas, Regumque Turres.

2. The Beggar dy'd firſt: God many Times takes godly People out of the World, when he leaves the wicked to flouriſh ſtill. 'Twas an Advantage to the Beggar, that ſuch a ſpeedy End was put to his Miſeries, and ſince he could find no other Shelter or reſting Place, he was hid in the Grave, where the weary are at Reſt.

3. The rich Man dy'd and was buried. Nothing is ſaid of the Interment of the poor Man, they digg'd a Hole any where, and tumbled his Body in without any Solemnity; he was bury'd with the Burial of an Aſs: Nay, 'tis well if they that let the Dogs lick his Sores, did not let them gnaw his Bones. But the rich Man had a pompous Funeral, lay in State; had a Train of Mourners to attend him to his Graves, and a ſtately Monument ſet up over it; probably he had a funeral Oration in Praiſe of him, and his generous Way of Living, and the good Table he kept, which thoſe would commend that had been feaſted at it. 'Tis ſaid of the wicked Man, that he is brought to the Grave, with no ſmall adoe, and laid in the Tomb; and the Clods of the Valley, were it poſſible, are made ſweet to him; Job 21. 32, 33. How foreign is the Ceremony of a Funeral to the Happineſs of the Man.

4. The Beggar dy'd, and was carried by Angels into Abraham's Boſom. How much did the Honour done to his Soul, by this Convoy of it to its Reſt, exceed the Honour done to the rich Man, by the carrying of his Body with ſo much Magnificence to its Grave. Obſerve (1.) His Soul exiſted in a State of Separation from its Body. It did not dye or fall aſleep with the Body, his Candle was not put out with him, but liv'd and acted, and knew what it did, and what was done to it. (2.) His Soul remov'd to another World, to the World of Spirits; it return'd to God who gave it, to its native Countrey; this is imply'd in its being carry'd. The Spirit of a Man goes upward. (3.) Angels took Care of it, it was carry'd by Angels. They are miniſtring Spirits to the Heirs of Salvation, not only while they live, but when they dye, and have a Charge concerning them to bear them up in their Hands, not only in their Journies too and fro on Earth, but to their great Journey, to their long Home in Heaven, to be both their Guide and their Guard through Regions unknown and unſafe. The Soul of Man, if not chain'd to this Earth, and clogg'd by it as unſanctify'd Souls are, has in itſelf an elaſtick Virtue, by which it ſprings upward, as ſoon as it gets clear of the Body; but Chriſt will not truſt thoſe that are his to that, and therefore will ſend ſpecial Meſſengers to fetch them to himſelf. One Angel one would think were ſufficient, but here are more, as were ſent for Elijah. Amaſis, King of Egypt, had his Chariot drawn by Kings, but what was that Honour to this? Saints aſcend in the Virtue of Chriſt's Aſcenſion; but the Convoy of Angels is added for State and Decorum; Saints ſhall be brought Home, not only ſafely, but honourably. What were the Bearers of the rich Man's Funeral, tho' probably thoſe of the firſt Rank, compar'd with Lazarus's Bearers? The Angels were not ſhy of touching him, for his Sores were on his Body, not on his Soul, that was preſented to God, without Spot or Wrinkle, or any ſuch Thing. Now, bleſſed Angels, ſaid a good Man juſt expiring, now come and do your Office. (4.) It was carried into Abraham's Boſom. The Jews expreſs'd the Happineſs of the righteous at Death, three Ways; They go to the Garden of Eden; they go to be under the Throne of Glory, and they go to the Boſom of Abraham, and that's it our Saviour here makes Uſe of. Abraham was the Father of the faithful; and whither ſhould the Souls of the faithful be gather'd, but to him, who as a tender Father lays them in his Boſom, eſpecially at their firſt coming, to bid them welcome, and to refreſh them when newly come from the Sorrows and Fatigues of this World. He was carry'd to his Boſom, i. e. to feaſt with him, for at Feaſts the Gueſts are ſaid to lean on one anothers Breaſts; and the Saints in Heaven ſit down with Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob. Abraham was a great and rich Man, yet in Heaven he doth not diſdain to lay poor Lazarus in his Boſom. Rich Saints and poor, meet in Heaven. This poor Lazarus that might not be admitted within the rich Man's Gate, is conducted into the Dining-Room, into the Bed-Chamber of the heavenly Palace, and he is laid in the Boſom of Abraham, whom the rich Glutton ſcorn'd to ſet with the Dogs of his Flock.

5. The next News you hear of the rich Man, after the Account of his Death and Burial, is, that in Hell he lift up his Eyes being in Torment, v. 23.

1. His State is very miſerable. He is in Hell, in Hades, in the State of ſeparate Souls, and there he is in the utmoſt Miſery and Anguiſh poſſible. As the Souls of the Faithful immediately after they are deliver'd from the Burthen of the Fleſh, are in Joy and Felicity, ſo wicked and unſanctified Souls, immediately after they are fetch'd from the Pleaſures of the Fleſh by Death, are in Miſery and Torment endleſs, uſeleſs, and remedileſs, and which will be much increas'd and compleated at the Reſurrection. This rich Man had intirely devoted himſelf to the Pleaſures of the World of Senſe, was wholly taken up with them, and took up with them for his Portion, and therefore was wholly unfit for the Pleaſures of the World of Spirits, and to ſuch a carnal Mind as his they would indeed be no Pleaſure, nor could he have any Reliſh of them, and therefore he as of Courſe excluded from them. Yet that is not all, he was hard-hearted to God's Poor, and therefore he is not only cut off from Mercy, but he has Judgment without Mercy, and falls under a Puniſhment of Senſe, as well as a Puniſhment of Loſs.

2. The Miſery of his State is aggravated by his Knowledge of the Happineſs of Lazarus. He lifts up his Eyes, and ſees Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his Boſom. 'Tis the Soul that is in Torment, and they are the Eyes of the Mind that are lifted up: Now he began to conſider what was become of Lazarus, he doth not find him where he is, nay, he plainly ſees him, and with as much Aſſurance as if he had ſeen him with his bodily Eyes afar off in the Boſom of Abraham. This ſame Aggravation of the Miſeries of the damn'd we had before, Chap. 13. 28. Ye ſhall ſee Abraham, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of God, and yourſelves thruſt out. (1.) He ſaw Abraham afar off. To ſee Abraham, we would think a pleaſing Sight, but to ſee him afar off was a tormenting Sight. Near him he ſaw Devils and damn'd Companions, frightful Sights, and painful ones; afar off he ſaw Abraham. Note, Every Sight in Hell is aggavating. (2.) He ſaw Lazarus in his Boſom, that ſame Lazarus whom he had look'd upon with ſo much Scorn and Contempt, as not worthy his Notice, he now ſees to be preferr'd and envy'd. The Sight of him brought to his Mind his own cruel and barbarous Carriage towards him; and the Sight of him in that Happineſs made his own Miſery the more grievous.

Thirdly, Here's an Account of what paſs'd between the rich Man and Abraham, in the ſeparate State, a State of Separation one from another, and of both from this World: And tho' 'tis probable there will not be, nor are any ſuch Dialogues or Diſcourſes between gorify'd Saints and damned Sinners, yet 'tis very proper, and what is uſually done in Deſcriptions, eſpecially ſuch as are deſign'd to be pathetical and moving, by ſuch Dialogues to repreſent what will be the Mind and Sentiments both of the one and of the other. And ſince we find damned Sinners tormented in the Preſence of the Lamb, Rev. 14. 10. and the faithful Servants of God looking upon thoſe that have tranſgreſſed the Covenant, there where their Worm dies not, and their Fire is not quenched, Iſa. 66. 23, 24. Such a Diſcourſe as this is not incongruous to be ſuppos'd.

Now in this Diſcourſe we have,

1. The Requeſt which the rich Man made to Abraham for ſome Mitigation of his preſent Miſery, v. 24. Seeing Abraham afar off, he cry'd to him, cry'd aloud, as one in earneſt, and as one in Pain and Miſery, mixing Shrieks with his Petitions, to enforce them by moving Compaſſion. He that us'd to command aloud, now begs aloud, louder than ever Lazarus did at his Gate. The Songs of his Riot and Revels are all turn'd into Lamentations. Obſerve here,

(1.) The Title he gives to Abraham. Father Abraham. Note, There are many in Hell that can call Abraham Father; that were Abraham's Seed after the Fleſh: Nay, and many that were in Name and Profeſſion the Children of the Covenant made with Abraham. Perhaps this rich Man in his carnal Mirth had ridicul'd Abraham, and the Story of Abraham, as the Scoffers of the latter Days do; but now he gives him a Title of Reſpect, Father Abraham. Note, The Day is coming when wicked Men will be glad to ſcrape Acquaintance with the righteous, and to claim Kindred to them, tho' now they ſlight them. Abraham in this Deſcription repreſents Chriſt, for to him all Judgment is committed, and it is his Mind that Abraham here ſpeaks. Thoſe that now ſlight Chriſt, will ſhortly make their Court to him, Lord, Lord.

(2.) The Repreſentation he makes to him of his preſent deplorable Condition; I am tormented in this Flame. 'Tis the Torment of his Soul that he complains of, and therefore ſuch a Fire as will operate upon Souls; and ſuch a Fire the Wrath of God is, faſtning upon a guilty Conſcience; ſuch a Fire Horror of Mind is, and the Reproaches of a ſelf-accuſing, ſelf-condemning Heart. Nothing more painful and terrible to the Body, than to be tormented with Fire; by that therefore the Miſeries and Agonies of damned Souls are repreſented.

(3.) His Requeſt to Abraham, in Conſideration of this Miſery. Have Mercy on me. Note, The Day is coming when thoſe that make light of divine Mercy, will beg hard for it. O for Mercy, Mercy, when the Day of Mercy is over, and Offers of Mercy no more made. He that had no Mercy on Lazarus, yet expects Lazarus ſhould have Mercy on him, for, thinks he, Lazarus is better natur'd than ever I was. The particular Favour he begs is, Send Lazarus that he may dip the Tip of his Finger in Water, and cool my Tongue. (1.) Here he complains of the Torment of his Tongue particularly, as if he were more tormented there than in any other Part, the Puniſhment anſwering the Sin. The Tongue is one of the Organs of Speech, and by the Torment of that he is put in Mind of all the wicked Words that he had ſpoken againſt God and Man; his curſing and ſwearing, and Blaſphemy, all his hard Speeches, and filthy Speeches; by his Words he is condemned, and therefore in his Tongue he is tormented. The Tongue is alſo one of the Organs of Taſting; and therefore the Torments of that will mind him of his inordinate Reliſh of the Delights of Senſe, which he had roll'd under his Tongue. (2.) He deſires a Drop of Water to cool his Tongue. He doth not ſay, Father Abraham, ſend for me to thy Boſom, to lie where Lazarus lies; unſanctify'd Souls do not, cannot truly deſire the Happineſs of Heaven: Nay, he doth not ſay, Father Abraham order me a Releaſe from this Miſery, help me out of this Pit, for he utterly deſpair'd of that; but he asks as ſmall a Thing as could be ask'd, a Drop of Water, to cool his Tongue for one Moment. (3.) He deſires that Lazarus might bring it. I have ſometimes ſuſpected that he had herein an ill Deſign upon Lazarus, and hoped if he could get him within his Reach, he would keep him from returning to the Boſom of Abraham again. The Heart that is filled with Rage againſt God, is fill'd with Rage againſt the People of God. But we will think more charitably even of a damned Sinner, and ſuppoſe he intended here to ſhew Reſpect to Lazarus, as one whom he would now gladly be beholden to. He names him, becauſe he knows him, and thinks Lazarus will not be unwilling to do him this good Office for old Acquaintance Sake. Grotius here quotes Plato, deſcribing the Torments of wicked Souls, and among other Things he ſaith, they are continually raving on thoſe whom they have murther'd, or been any way injurious to, calling upon them to forgive them the Wrongs they did them. Note, There is a Day coming, when thoſe who now hate and deſpiſe the People of God would gladly receive Kindneſs from them.

2. The Reply which Abraham gave to this Requeſt: In general, he did not grant it: He would not allow him one Drop of Water to cool his Tongue. Note, The damned in Hell ſhall not have any the leaſt Abatement or Mitigation of their Torment. If we now improve the Day of our Opportunities, we may have a full and laſting Satisfaction in the Streams of Mercy; but if we now ſlight the Offer, 'twill be in vain in Hell to expect the leaſt Drop of Mercy. See how juſtly this rich Man is paid in his own Coin. He that deny'd a Crumb is deny'd a Drop. Now 'tis ſaid to us, Ask, and it ſhall be given you; but if we let ſlip this accepted Time, we may ask and it ſhall not be given us. But this is not all, had Abraham only ſaid, you ſhall have nothing to abate your Torment, it had been ſad; but he ſaith a great deal which would add to his Torment, and make the Flame the hotter, for every Thing in Hell will be tormenting.

(1.) He calls him Son, a kind and civil Title; but here ſerves only to aggravate the Denial of his Requeſt, which ſhut up the Bowels of the Compaſſion of a Father from him. He had been a Son, but a rebellious one, and now an abandon'd diſinherited one. See the Folly of thoſe who rely on that Plea, we have Abraham to our Father, when we find one in Hell, and likely to be there for ever, whom Abraham calls Son.

(2.) He puts him in Mind of what had been both in his own Condition, and the Condition of Lazarus in their Life-time. Son remember; this is a cutting Word. The Memories of damned Souls will be their Tormentors, and Conſcience will then be awaken'd and ſtirr'd up to do its Office, which here they would not ſuffer it to do. Nothing will bring more Oil to the Flames of Hell than Son remember. Now Sinners are call'd upon to remember, but they do not, they will not, they find Ways to avoid it. Son remember thy Creator, thy Redeemer, remember thy latter End; but they can turn a deaf Ear to theſe Mementos, and forget that for which they have their Memories; juſtly therefore will their everlaſting Miſery ariſe from a Son remember, which they will not be able to turn a deaf Ear to. What a dreadful Peal will this ring in our Ears, Son, remember the many Warnings that were given thee not to come to this Place of Torment, which thou would'ſt not regard; remember the fair Offers made thee of eternal Life and Glory, which thou wouldſt not accept. But that which he is here put in Mind of is, (1.) That thou in thy Life Time received'ſt thy good Things. He doth not tell him he had abus'd them, but he had receiv'd them. Remember what a bountiful Benefactor God has been to thee, how ready he was to do thee Good, thou canſt not therefore ſay he owes thee any Thing, no, not a Drop of Water. What he gave thee thou received'ſt, and that was all, thou never gaveſt him a Receipt for them, in a thankful Acknowledgment of them, much leſs didſt thou ever make any grateful Return for them, or Improvement of them; thou haſt been the Grave of God's Bleſſings, in which they were bury'd, not the Field of them in which they were ſown. Thou received'ſt thy good Things, i. e. thou received'ſt them, and uſed'ſt them, as if they had been thine own, and thou hadſt not been at all accountable for them: Or rather they were the Things which thou didſt chuſe for thy good Things, which were in thine Eye the beſt Things, which thou didſt content thyſelf with, and portion thyſelf in: Thou hadſt Meat and Drink, and Clothes of the richeſt and fineſt, and thoſe were the Things thou didſt place thine Happineſs in, they were thy Reward, thy Conſolation, the Penny thou didſt agree for, and thou hadſt it. Thou waſt for the good Things of thy Life Time, and hadſt no Thoughts of better Things in another Life, and therefore haſt no Reaſon to expect them. The Day of thy good Things are paſt and gone, and now is the Day of thine evil Things, of Recompence for all thine evil Deeds. Thou haſt already had the laſt Drop of the Vials of Mercy, that thou couldſt expect to fall to thy Share; and there remains nothing but Vials of Wrath without Mixture. (2.) Remember too what evil Things Lazarus received. Thou envieſt him his Happineſs here, but think what a large Share of Miſeries he had in his Life Time: Thou hadſt as much Good as could be thought to fall to the Lot of ſo ill a Man, and he as much Evil as could be thought to fall to the Lot of ſo good a Man. He receiv'd his evil Things, i. e. he bore them patiently, receiv'd them from the Hand of God, as Job did, Chap. 2. 10. Shall we receive Good at the Hand of the Lord, and ſhall we not receive Evil alſo? He receiv'd them as Phyſick appointed for the Cure of his ſpiritual Diſtempers, and the Cure was effected. As wicked People have good Things only in this Life, and at Death they are for ever ſeparated from all Good; ſo godly People have evil Things only in this Life, and at Death they are for ever put out of the Reach of them. Now Abraham, by putting him in Mind of both theſe together, awaking his Conſcience, to mind him how he had carry'd it towards Lazarus when he was revelling in his good Things, and Lazarus groaning under his evil Things: He cannot forget that then he would not help Lazarus, and then how could he expect that Lazarus ſhould now help him? Had Lazarus in his Life-time afterwards grown rich, and he poor, Lazarus would have thought it his Duty to relieve him, and not to have upbraided him for his former Unkindneſs: but in the future State of Recompence and Retribution, thoſe that are now dealt with, both by God and Man better than they deſerve, muſt expect to be rewarded every Man according to his Works.

(3.) He puts him in Mind of Lazarus's preſent Bliſs, and his own Miſery. But now the Tables are turn'd, and ſo they muſt abide for ever; now he is comforted, and thou art tormented. He did not need to be told that he was tormented, he felt it to his Coſt, he knew likewiſe that one who lay in the Boſom of Abraham could not but be comforted there, yet Abraham puts him in Mind of it, that he might by comparing one Thing with another, obſerve the Righteouſneſs of God, in recompenſing Tribulation to them who trouble his People, and to thoſe who are troubled, Reſt, 2 Theſ. 1. 6, 7. Obſerve, (1.) Heaven is Comfort, and Hell is Torment: Heaven is Joy, Hell is Weeping and Wailing, and Pain in Perfection. (2.) The Soul as ſoon as it leaves the Body, goes either to Heaven or Hell, to Comfort or Torment immediately, and doth not ſleep or go into Purgatory. (3.) Heaven will be Heaven indeed to thoſe that go thither through many and great Calamities in this World; thoſe that had Grace but little of the Comfort of it here, perhaps their Souls refuſed to be comforted, yet when they are fallen aſleep in Chriſt, you may truly ſay, Now they are comforted: now all their Tears are wiped away, and all their Fears are vaniſh'd. In Heaven there is everlaſting Conſolation. And on the other Hand, Hell will be Hell indeed to thoſe that go thither from the Midſt of the Enjoyment of all the Delights and Pleaſures of Senſe; to them the Torture is the greater, as temporal Calamities are deſcrib'd to be to the tender and delicate Woman that would not ſet ſo much as the Sole of her Foot to the Ground, for Tenderneſs and Delicacy, Deut. 28. 56.

(4.) He aſſures him 'twas to no Purpoſe to think of having any Relief by the Miniſtry of Lazarus; for, v. 26. beſides all this, worſe yet, between us and you there is a great Gulph fixed, an impaſſable one. A great Chaſm, that ſo there can be no Communication between glorify'd Saints and damned Sinners. (1.) The kindeſt Saint in Heaven cannot make a Viſit to the Congregation of the Dead and Damned to comfort or relieve any there, that when Time was, were their Friends. They that would paſs from hence to you cannot; they cannot leave beholding the Face of their Father, nor the Work about his Throne, to fetch Water for you; that's no Part of their Buſineſs. (2.) The daring'ſt Sinner in Hell cannot force his Way out of that Priſon, cannot get over that great Gulph. They cannot paſs to us, that would come from thence. 'Twas not to be expected, for the Door of Mercy is ſhut, the Bridge is drawn; there's no coming out upon Parol or Bail, no; not for one Hour. In this World bleſſed be God there is no Gulph fix'd between a State of Nature and Grace, but we may paſs from the one to the other: From Sin to God; but if we die in our Sins, if we throw ourſelves into the Pit of Deſtruction, there's no coming out, 'Tis a Pit in which there's no Water, and out of which there is no Redemption. The Decree and Counſel of God has fix'd this Gulph, which all the World cannot unfix. This abandons this miſerable Creature to Diſpair; 'tis now too late for any Change of his Condition, or any the leaſt Relief: It might have been prevented in Time, but it cannot now be remedied to Eternity. The State of damned Sinners is fix'd by an irreverſible and unalterable Sentence. A Stone is roll'd to the Door of the Pit, which cannot be roll'd back.

3. The further Requeſt he had to make to his Father Abraham; not for himſelf, his Mouth is ſtop'd, and he has not a Word to ſay in Anſwer to Abraham's Denial of a Drop of Water: Damned Sinners are made to know that the Sentence they are under is juſt, and they cannot alleviate their own Miſery by making any Objection againſt it. And ſince he cannot obtain a Drop of Water to cool his Tongue, we may ſuppoſe he gnaw'd his Tongue for Pain, as thoſe are ſaid to do, on whom one of the Vials of God's Wrath is pour'd out, Rev. 16. 10. the hideous Shrieks, and Outcries which we may ſuppoſe to be now utter'd by him; but ſince he has an Opportunity of ſpeaking to Abraham, he will improve it for his Relations whom he had left behind, ſince he cannot improve it for his own Advantage. Now as to this,

1. He begs that Lazarus might be ſent to his Father's Houſe, upon an Errand thither, v. 27. I pray thee therefore, Father. Again he calls Abraham, and in this Requeſt he is importunate, I pray thee. O deny me not this. When he was on Earth, he might have pray'd and been heard, but now he prays in vain. Therefore becauſe thou haſt deny'd me the former Requeſt, ſurely thou wilt be ſo compaſſionate as not to deny this: Or, therefore, becauſe there is a great Gulph fixed, ſeeing there is no getting out hence when they are once here, O ſend to prevent their coming hither. Or tho' there is a great Gulph fix'd between you and me, yet ſince there is no ſuch Gulph fix'd between you and them, ſend him thither. Send him back to my Father's Houſe; he knows well enough where 'tis, has been there many a Time, by the ſame Token that he was deny'd the Crumbs that fell from the Table. He knows I have five Brethren there, if he appear to them they'll know him, and will regard what he ſaith, for they knew him to be an honeſt Man; let him teſtify to them; let him tell them what Condition I am in, and that I brought myſelf to it by my Luxury and Senſuality, and my Unmercifulneſs to the Poor. Let him warn them not to tread in my Steps, nor to go on in the Way wherein I led them, and left them, leſt they alſo come into this Place of Torment, v. 28. Some obſerve, that he ſpeaks of five Brethren only, whence they infer that he had no Children, elſe he would have mention'd them, and then it was an Aggravation of his Uncharitableneſs that he had no Children to provide for. Now he would have them ſtopt in their ſinful Courſe. He doth not ſay, Give me leave to go to them, that I may teſtify to them, for he knew that there was a Gulph fixed, and deſpair'd of a Permiſſion ſo favourable to himſelf: His going would frighten them out of their Wits, but ſend Lazarus, whoſe Addreſs will be leſs terrible, and yet his Teſtimony ſufficient to frighten them out of their Sins.

Now he deſir'd the Preventing of their Ruin, partly in Tenderneſs to them, for whom he could not but retain a natural Affection: He knew their Temper, their Temptations, their Ignorance, their Infidelity, their Inconſideration, and wiſhed to prevent the Deſtruction they were running into. Partly in Tenderneſs to himſelf, for their coming to him to that Place of Torment would but aggravate the Miſery to him, who had help'd to ſhew them the Way thither, as the Sight of Lazarus help'd to aggravate his Miſery. When Partners in Sin, come to be Sharers in Woe, as Tares bound in Bundles for the Fire, they will be a Terror to one another.

2. Abraham denies him this Favour too. There is no Requeſt granted in Hell: Thoſe who make the rich Man's praying to Abraham, a Juſtification of their praying to Saints departed, as they are far to ſeek for Proofs, when the Practice of a damned Sinner muſt be valu'd for an Example, ſo they have little Encouragement to follow the Example, when all his Prayers were made in vain. Abraham leaves them to the Teſtimony of Moſes, and the Prophets, the ordinary Means of Conviction and Converſion, they have the written Word which they may read, and hear read; let them attend to that ſure Word of Prophecy, for God will not go out of the common Method of his Grace for them. Here's their Privilege, they have Moſes and the Prophets, and their Duty, let them hear them, and mix Faith with them, and that will be ſufficient to keep them from this Place of Torment. By this it appears that there is ſufficient Evidence in the Old Teſtament, in Moſes and the Prophets, to convince thoſe that will hear them impartially, that there is another Life after this, and a State of Rewards and Puniſhments for good and bad Men, for that was the Thing which the rich Man would have his Brethren aſſur'd of, and for that they are turn'd over to Moſes and the Prophets.

3. He urgeth his Requeſt yet further, v. 30. Nay, Father Abraham, give me leave to preſs this. 'Tis true, they have Moſes and the Prophets, and if they would but give a due Regard to them, it would be ſufficient; but they do not, they will not, yet it may be hoped if one went to them from the Dead, they would repent; that would be a more ſenſible Conviction to them. They are us'd to Moſes and the Prophets, and therefore regard them the leſs, but this would be a new Thing, and more ſtartling; ſurely that would bring them to repent, and to change their wicked Habit and Courſe of Life. Note, Fooliſh Men are apt to think any Method of Conviction better than that which God has choſen and appointed.

4. Abraham inſiſts upon the Denial of it, with a concluſive Reaſon, v. 31. If they hear not Moſes and the Prophets, and will not believe the Teſtimony, nor take the Warning they give, neither will they be perſwaded tho' one roſe from the dead: If they regard not the publick Revelation which is confirm'd by Miracles, neither would they be wrought upon by a private Teſtimony to themſelves. (1.) The Matter was long ſince ſettled upon Tryal, that God ſhould ſpeak by Moſes, and ſuch Prophets, and not by immediate Meſſengers from Heaven: Iſrael choſe it in Mount Sinai, becauſe they could not bear the Terrors of ſuch Expreſſes. (2.) A Meſſenger from the Dead could ſay no more than what is ſaid in the Scriptures, nor ſay it with more Authority. (3.) There would be every Jot as much Reaſon to ſuſpect that to be a Cheat and a Deluſion, as to ſuſpect the Scriptures to be ſo, and much more; and Infidels in one Caſe, would certainly be ſo in another. (4.) The ſame Strength of Corruption that breaks through the Convictions of the written Word, would certainly triumph over thoſe by a Witneſs from the Dead: And tho' a Sinner might be frighten'd at firſt, by ſuch a Teſtimony, when the Fright was over, he would ſoon return to his Hardneſs. (5.) The Scripture is now the ordinary Way of God's making known his Mind to us, and 'tis ſufficient, and 'tis Preſumption for us to preſcribe any other Way, nor have we any Ground to expect or pray for the Grace of God to work upon us in any other Way, abſtracted from that, and when that is rejected and ſet aſide. This that our Saviour here ſaid, was ſoon after verify'd in the unbelieving Jews, who would not hear Moſes and the Prophets, Chriſt and the Apoſtles, and then would not be perſuaded, tho' Lazarus roſe from the Dead; (and perhaps 'twas with ſome Eye to him, that Chriſt nam'd this poor Man Lazarus) nay, they conſulted to put him to Death, and did put him that rais'd him to Death, and would not be perſwaded by him neither, tho' he alſo roſe from the Dead. When Eutychus was rais'd to Life, the People that were preſent continu'd to hear Paul preach, but did not turn to enquire of him, Acts 20. 10, 11. Let us not therefore deſire Viſions and Apparitions, nor ſeek to the Dead, but to the Law and to the Teſtimony, Iſa. 8. 19, 20. for that's the ſure Word of Prophecy, which we may depend upon.

CHAP. XVII.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) Some particular Diſcourſes Chriſt had with his Diſciples, in which he teaches them to take Heed of giving Offence, and to forgive the Injuries done them, v. 1---4. Encourageth them to pray for the Increaſe of their Faith, v. 5, 6. And then teacheth them Humility, whatever Service they had done for God, v. 7.---10. (2.) His cleanſing of Ten Lepers, and the Thanks he had from one of them only, and he a Samaritan, v. 11.-----19. (3.) His Diſcourſe with his Diſciples upon Occaſion of an Enquiry of the Phariſees, when the Kingdom of God ſhould appear, v. 20.--37.

THen he ſaid unto the diſciples, It is impoſſible but that offences will come: but wo unto him through whom they come. 2 It were better for him that a mil-ſtone were hanged about his neck, and he caſt into the ſea, then that he ſhould offend one of theſe little ones. 3 ¶ Take heed to yourſelves, If thy brother treſpaſs againſt thee, rebuke him; and if he repent, forgive him. 4 And if he treſpaſs againſt thee ſeven times in a day, and ſeven times in a day turn again to thee, ſaying, I repent; thou ſhalt forgive him. 5 And the apoſtles ſaid unto the Lord, Increaſe our Faith. 6 And the Lord ſaid, If ye had faith as a grain of muſtard-ſeed, ye might ſay unto this ſycamine-tree, Be thou plucked up by the root, and be thou planted in the ſea; and it ſhould obey you. 7 But which of you having a ſervant plowing, or feeding cattle, will ſay unto him by and by, when he is come from the field, Go, and ſit down to meat? 8 And will not rather ſay unto him, Make ready wherewith I may ſup and gird thy ſelf, and ſerve me till I have eaten and drunken and afterward thou ſhalt eat and drink? 9 Doth he thank that ſervant becauſe he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not. 10 So likewiſe ye, when ye ſhall have done all thoſe things which are commanded you, ſay, We are unprofitable ſervants: we have done that which was our duty to do.

We are here taught,

Firſt, That giving Offences is a great Sin, and that which we ſhould every one of us avoid, and carefully watch againſt, v. 1, 2. We can expect no other, but that Offences will come, conſidering the Perverſeneſs and Frowardneſs that is in the Nature of Man, and the wiſe Purpoſe and Counſel of God, which will carry on his Work even by thoſe Offences, and bring Good out of Evil. 'Tis almoſt impoſſible but that Offences will come, and therefore we are concern'd to provide accordingly; but Woe to him through whom they come, his Doom will be heavy, v. 2. more terrible than that of the worſt of Malefactors, who are condemn'd to be thrown into the Sea, for they periſh under a Load of Guilt more ponderous than that of Milſtones.

This ſpeaks a Woe (1.) To Perſecutors, that offer any Injury to the leaſt of Chriſt's little Ones, in Word or Deed, by which they are diſcourag'd in ſerving Chriſt, and doing their Duty, or in Danger of being driven off from it. (2.) To Seducers that corrupt the Truths of Chriſt and his Ordinances, and ſo trouble the Minds of the Diſciples, for they are thoſe by whom Offences come. (3.) To thoſe that under the Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Name live ſcandalouſly, and thereby weaken the Hands, and ſadden the Hearts of God's People, for by them the Offence comes; and 'tis no Abatement of their Guilt, nor will be any of their Puniſhment, that 'tis impoſſible but that Offences will come.

Secondly, That forgiving Offences is a great Duty, and that which we ſhould every one of us make Conſcience of, v. 3. Take Heed to yourſelves. This may refer either to what goes before, or to what follows. Take Heed that ye offend not one of theſe little ones. Miniſters muſt be very careful, not to ſay or do any Thing that may be a Diſcouragement to weak Chriſtians, there is Need of great Caution, and they ought to ſpeak and act very conſiderately for Fear of this: Or, when your Brother treſpaſſeth againſt you, doth any Injury, puts any Slight or Affront upon you, if he be acceſſary to any Damage done you in your Property, or Reputation, Take Heed to yourſelves at ſuch a Time, leſt you be put into a Paſſion, leſt when your Spirits are provok'd, you ſpeak unadviſedly, and raſhly vow Revenge, Prov. 24. 29. I will do ſo to him, as he has done to me. Take Heed what you ſay at ſuch a Time, leſt you ſay amiſs.

(1.) If you are permitted to rebuke him, you are adviſ'd to do ſo: Smother not the Reſentment, but give it Vent, tell him his Faults, ſhew him wherein he has not done well, nor fairly by you, and it may be you will perceive (and you muſt be very willing to perceive it) that you miſtook him, that it was not a Treſpaſs againſt you, or not deſign'd, but an Over-ſight, and then you'll beg his Pardon for miſunderſtanding him, as Joſh. 22. 30, 31.

(2.) You are commanded upon his Repentance to forgive him, and to be perfectly reconcil'd to him: If he repent, forgive him; forget the Injury, never think of it again, much leſs upbraid him with it. Tho' he do not repent, you muſt not therefore bear Malice to him, or meditate Revenge; but if he do not at leaſt ſay he repents; you are not bound to be ſo free and familiar with him as you have been. If he be guilty of groſs Sin, to the Offence of the Chriſtian Community he is a Member of, let him be gravely and mildly reprov'd for his Sin, and upon his Repentance receiv'd into Friendſhip and Communion again. This the Apoſtle calls Forgiveneſs, 2 Cor. 2. 7.

(3.) You are to repeat this every Time he repeats his Treſpaſs, v. 4. If he could be ſuppos'd to be either ſo negligent, or ſo impudent, as to treſpaſs againſt thee ſeven Times in a Day, and as often profeſſes himſelf ſorry for his Fault, and promiſeth not again to offend in like Manner, continue to forgive him. Humanum eſt errare. Note, Chriſtians ſhould be of a forgiving Spirit, willing to make the beſt of every Body, and all about them eaſy; forward to extenuate Faults and not to aggravate them, and ſhould contrive as much to ſhew that they have forgiven an Injury, as others to ſhew that they reſent it.

Thirdly, That we have all Need to get our Faith ſtrengthen'd, becauſe as that Grace grows, all other Graces grow. The more firmly we believe the Doctrine of Chriſt, and the more confidently we rely upon the Grace of Chriſt, the better it will be with us every Way. Now obſerve here,

1. The Addreſs which the Diſciples made to Chriſt for the ſtrengthening of their Faith, v. 5. The Apoſtles themſelves, ſo they are here call'd, tho' they were prime Miniſters of State in Chriſt's Kingdom, yet acknowledg'd the Weakneſs and Deficiency of their Faith, and ſaw their Need of Chriſt's Grace for the Improvement of it; they ſaid unto the Lord, increaſe our Faith, and perfect what is lacking in it. Let the Diſcoveries of Faith be more clear, the Deſires of Faith more ſtrong, the Dependancies of Faith more firm and fix'd, the Dedications of Faith more intire and reſolute, and the Delights of Faith more pleaſing. Note, The Increaſe of our Faith, is what we ſhould earneſtly deſire, and offer up that Deſire to God in Prayer. Some think they put up this Prayer to Chriſt, upon Occaſion of his preſſing upon them the Duty of forgiving Injuries; Lord increaſe our Faith, or we ſhall never be able to practiſe ſuch a difficult Duty as this. Faith in God's pardoning Mercy will enable us to get over the greateſt Difficulties that lye in the Way of our forgiving our Brother. Others think 'twas upon ſome other Occaſion, when the Apoſtles were run aground in working ſome Miracle, and were reprov'd by Chriſt for the Weakneſs of their Faith, as Mat. 17. 16. To him that blam'd them they muſt apply themſelves for Grace to mend them; to him they cry, Lord, increaſe our Faith.

2. The Aſſurance Chriſt gave them of the wonderful Efficacy of true Faith, v. 6. If ye had Faith as a Grain of Muſtard-Seed, ſo ſmall as Muſtard-ſeed, but yours is yet leſs than the leaſt; or ſo ſharp as Muſtard-Seed, ſo pungent, ſo exciting to all other Graces, as Muſtard to the animal Spirits, and therefore us'd in Palſies, you might do Wonders much beyond what you now do; nothing would be too hard for you, that were fit to be done for the Glory of God, and the Confirmation of the Doctrine you preach, yea, tho' it were the tranſplanting of a Tree from the Earth to the Sea, See Mat. 17. 20. As with God nothing is impoſſible, ſo are all Things poſſible to him that can believe.

Fourthly, That whatever we do in the Service of Chriſt, we muſt be very humble, and not imagine that we can merit any Favour at his Hand, or claim it as a Debt, even the Apoſtles themſelves, who did ſo much more for Chriſt than others, muſt not think they had thereby made him their Debtor.

1. We are all God's Servants, his Apoſtles and Miniſters are in a ſpecial Manner ſo, and as Servants are bound to do all we can for his Honour; our whole Strength, and our whole Time are to be employ'd for him; for we are not our own, not at our own Diſpoſe, but at our Maſter's.

2. As God's Servants it becomes us to fill up our Time with Duty, and we have a Variety of Work appointed us to do, we ought to make the End of one Service, the Beginning of another. The Servant that has been ploughing or feeding Cattel in the Field, when he comes Home at Night, has Work to do ſtill, he muſt wait at Table, v. 7, 8. When we have been employ'd in the Duties of a religious Converſation, that will not excuſe us from the Exerciſes of Devotion, when we have been working for God, ſtill we muſt be waiting on God, waiting on him continually.

3. Our principal Care here muſt be to do the Duty of our Religion, and leave it to our Maſter to give us the Comfort of it, when and how he thinks fit. No Servant expects that his Maſter ſhould ſay to him, Go and ſit down to Meat, 'tis Time enough to do that, when we have done our Days Work. Let us be in Care to finiſh our Work, and to do that well, and then the Reward will come in due Time.

4. 'Tis fit Chriſt ſhould be firſt ſerv'd before us: Make ready wherewith I may ſup, and afterwards they ſhall eat and drink. Doubting Chriſtians ſay, they cannot give to Chriſt the Glory of his Love as they ſhould, becauſe they have not yet obtain'd the Comfort of it; but this is wrong, firſt let Chriſt have the Glory of it, let us attend him with our Praiſes, and then we ſhall eat and drink in the Comfort of that Love, and in that there is a Feaſt.

5. Chriſt's Servants when they are to wait upon him, muſt gird themſelves, muſt free themſelves from every Thing that is entangling and incumbring, and fit themſelves with a cloſe Application of Mind to go on, and go through with their Work; muſt gird up the Loyns of their Mind. When we have prepar'd for Chriſt's Entertainment, have made ready wherewith he may ſup, we muſt then gird ourſelves to attend him. This is expected from Servants, and Chriſt might require it from us, but he doth not inſiſt upon it: He was among his Diſciples, as one that ſerved, and came not as other Maſters, to take State, and to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter, witneſs his waſhing his Diſciples Feet.

6. Chriſt's Servants do not ſo much as merit Thanks for any Service they do him. Doth he thank that Servant? Doth he reckon himſelf indebted to him for it? No, by no Means. No good Works of ours can merit any Thing at the Hand of God. We expect God's Favour, not becauſe we have by our Services made him a Debtor to us, but becauſe he has by his Promiſes made himſelf a Debtor to his own Honour, and that we may plead with him, but cannot ſue for a Quantum meruit.

7. Whatever we do for Chriſt, tho' it ſhould be more perhaps than ſome others do, yet 'tis no more than is our Duty to do. Tho' we ſhould do all Things that are commanded us, and alaſs in many Things we come ſhort of that, yet there is no Work of Supererogation, 'tis but what we are bound to by that firſt and great Commandment of loving God with all our Heart and Soul, which includes the utmoſt.

8. The beſt Servants of Chriſt, even when they do the beſt Services, muſt humbly acknowledge that they are unprofitable Servants, tho' they are not thoſe unprofitable Servants that bury their Talent, and ſhall be caſt into utter Darkneſs, yet as to Chriſt, and any Advantage that can accrue to him by their Services, they are unprofitable; our Goodneſs extendeth not unto God, neither if we are righteous is he the better, Pſal. 16. 2. Job. 22. 2, 35. God cannot be a Gainer by our Services, and therefore cannot be made a Debtor by them. He has no need of us, nor can our Services make any Addition to his Perfections, it becomes us therefore to call ourſelves unprofitable Servants, but to call his Service a profitable Service, for God is happy without us, but we are undone without him.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs, as he went to Jeruſalem, that he paſſed through the midſt of Samaria and Galilee. 12 And as he entred into a certain village, there met him ten men that were lepers, which ſtood afar off: 13 And they lifted up their voices, and ſaid, Jeſus Maſter, have mercy on us. 14 And when he ſaw them, he ſaid unto them, Go ſhew yourſelves unto the prieſts. And it came to paſs, that as they went, they were cleanſed. 15 And one of them, when he ſaw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud voice glorified God. 16 And fell down on his face at his feet, giving him thanks: and he was a Samaritane. 17 And Jeſus anſwering him ſaid, Were there not ten cleanſed? but where are the nine? 18 There are not found that returned to give glory to God, ſave this ſtranger. 19 And he ſaid unto him, Ariſe, go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole.

We have here an Account of the Cure of ten Lepers, which we had not in any other of the Evangeliſts. The Leproſy was a Diſeaſe which the Jews ſuppos'd to be inflicted for the Puniſhment of ſome particular Sin, and to be more than other Diſeaſes a Mark of God's Diſpleaſure, and therefore Chriſt who came to take away Sin, and turn away Wrath, took particular Care to cleanſe the Lepers that fell in his Way. Chriſt was now in his Way to Jeruſalem, about the Mid-way, where he had leaſt Acquaintance, in Compariſon to what he had either at Jeruſalem or in Galilee; he was now in the Frontier Country, the Marches that lay between Samaria and Galilee; he went that Road, to find out theſe Lepers, and to cure them, for he is found of them that ſought him not. Obſerve, Firſt, The Addreſs of theſe Lepers to Chriſt, they were ten in a Gang: For though they were ſhut out from Society with others, yet thoſe that were infected were at Liberty to converſe with one another, which would be ſome Comfort to them, as giving them an Opportunity to compare Notes, and to condole with one another. Now obſerve,

1. They met Chriſt as he enter'd into a certain Village: They did not ſtay till he had refreſh'd himſelf for ſome Time after the Fatigue of his Journey, but met him as he enter'd the Town, weary as he was, and yet he did not put them off, or adjourn their Cauſe. They ſtood afar off, knowing that by the Law, their Diſeaſe oblig'd them to keep their Diſtance. Senſe of our ſpiritual Leproſy ſhould make us very humble in all our Approaches to Chriſt: Who are we that we ſhould draw near to him that is infinitely pure, who are impure?

2. Their Requeſt was unanimous, and very importunate, v. 13. They lifted up their Voices, being at a Diſtance, and cry'd, Jeſus, Maſter, have Mercy on us. Thoſe that expect Help from Chriſt, muſt take him for their Maſter, and be at his Command. If he be Maſter, he will be Jeſus, a Saviour, and not otherwiſe. They ask not in particular to be cur'd of their Leproſy, but have Mercy on us; and 'tis enough to refer ourſelves to the Compaſſions of Chriſt, for they fail not. They had heard the Fame of this Jeſus, tho' he had not been much converſant in that Country, and that was ſuch as encourag'd them to make Application to him; and if but one of them began in ſo cheap and eaſy an Addreſs, they would all join.

3. Chriſt ſent them to the Prieſt, to be inſpected by him, who was the Judge of the Leproſy. He did not tell them poſitively they ſhould be cur'd, but bid them go ſhew themſelves to the Prieſts, v. 14. This was a Trial of their Obedience, and 'twas fit it ſhould be ſo try'd, as Naaman's in a like Caſe, Go waſh in Jordan. Note, Thoſe that expect Chriſt's Favours, muſt take them in his Way and Method. Some of theſe Lepers perhaps would be ready to quarrel with the Preſcription, let him either cure or ſay he will not, and not ſend us to the Prieſt on a Fool's Errand; but over-rul'd by the reſt, they all went to the Prieſt. While the ceremonial Law was yet in force, Chriſt took Care it ſhould be obſerv'd, and the Reputation of it kept up, and due Honour paid to the Prieſts in Things pertaining to their Function; but probably he had here a further Deſign, which was to have the Prieſt's Judgment of, and Teſtimony to the Perfectneſs of the Cure, and that the Prieſt might be awaken'd, and others by him, to enquire after one that had ſuch a commanding Power over bodily Diſeaſes.

4. As they went, they were cleanſed, and ſo became fit to be look'd upon by the Prieſt, and to have a Certificate from him that they were clean. Obſerve, Then we may expect God to meet us with Mercy, when we are found in the Way of Duty. If we do what we can, God will not be wanting to do that for us which we cannot. Go, attend upon inſtituted Ordinances, go and pray, and his Stuff behind him, than ſtay to look after it, and periſh with them that believe not. 'Twill be their Concern to do as Lot and his Family were charg'd to do; eſcape for thy Life. Save your ſelves from this untoward Generation.

(2.) When they have made their Eſcape they muſt not think of returning, v. 32. Remember Lot's Wife; and take Warning by her, not only to flee from this Sodom (for ſo Jeruſalem is become, Iſa. 1. 10.) but to perſevere in your Flight, and do not look back as ſhe did; be not loth to leave a Place mark'd for Deſtruction, whoever or whatever you leave behind you that is ever ſo dear to you. Thoſe who have left the Sodom of a natural State, let them go forward, and not ſo much as look a kind Look towards it again. Let them not look back, leſt they ſhould be tempted to go back; nay, leſt that be conſtrued a going back in Heart, or an Evidence that the Heart was left behind. Lot's Wife was turn'd into a Pillar of Salt, that ſhe might remain a laſting Monument of God's Diſpleaſure againſt Apoſtates, that begin in the Spirit and end in the Fleſh.

(3.) There would be no other Way of ſaving their Lives but by quitting the Jews, and if they thought to ſave themſelves by a Coalition with them, they would find themſelves miſtaken, v. 31. Whoſoever ſhall ſeek to ſave his Life by declining from his Chriſtianity, and complying with the Jews, he ſhall loſe it with them, and periſh in the common Calamity; but whoſoever is willing to venture his Life with the Chriſtians, upon the ſame Bottom on which they venture, to take his Lot with them in Life and in Death, he ſhall preſerve his Life, for he ſhall make ſure eternal Life; and is in a likelier Way at that Time to ſave his Life than thoſe who embark in a Jewiſh Bottom, or enſure upon their Securities. Note, Thoſe do beſt for themſelves that truſt God in the Way of Duty.

7. That all good Chriſtians ſhould certainly eſcape, but many of them very narrowly from that Deſtruction, v. 34, 35, 36. When God's Judgments are laying all waſte, he will take an effectual Courſe to preſerve thoſe that are his, by remarkable Providences diſtinguiſhing between them and others, that were neareſt to them; Two in a Bed, one taken and the other left; one ſnatch'd out of the Burning, and taken into a Place of Safety, while the other is left to periſh in the common Ruin. Note, Tho' the Sword devours one as well as another, and all Things ſeem to come alike to all, yet ſooner or later it ſhall be made to appear that the Lord knows them that are his, and are not, and how to take out the Precious from the Vile. We are ſure the Judge of all the Earth will do right; and therefore when he ſends a Judgment on Purpoſe to avenge the Death of his Son, upon thoſe that crucified him, he will take Care that none of thoſe who glorify'd him, and glory'd in his Croſs, ſhall be taken away by that Judgment.

Laſtly, That this diſtinguiſhing, dividing, diſcriminating Work ſhall be done in all Places, as far as the Kingdom of God ſhall extend, v. 37. Where Lord? They had enquir'd concerning the Time, and he would not gratifie their Curioſity with any Information concerning that, they therefore try'd him with another Queſtion, Where Lord? Where ſhall thoſe be ſafe that are taken? Where ſhall thoſe periſh that are left? The Anſwer is proverbial, and may be explain'd ſo as to anſwer each Side of the Queſtion, Whereſoever the Body is, thither will the Eagles be gather'd together. (1.) Wherever the Wicked are that are mark'd for Perdition, they ſhall be found out, by the Judgments of God; as wherever a dead Carcaſe is, the Birds of Prey will ſmell it out, and make a Prey of it. The Jews having made themſelves a dead and putrified Carcaſe, odious to God's Holineſs, and obnoxious to his Juſtice, wherever any of that unbelieving Generation is, the Judgments of God ſhall faſten upon them, as the Eagles do upon the Prey, Thine Hand ſhalt find out all thine Enemies, Pſal. 21. 9. Tho' they ſet their Neſts among the Stars, Obad. 4. The Roman Soldiers will hunt the Jews out of all their Receſſes and Faſtneſſes, and none ſhall eſcape. (2.) Wherever the Godly are that are mark'd for Preſervation, they ſhall be found happy in the Enjoyment of Chriſt. As the Diſſolution of the Jewiſh Church ſhall be extended to all Parts, ſo ſhall the Conſtitution of the Chriſtian Church: Wherever Chriſt is, Believers will flock to him, and meet in him, as Eagles about the Prey, without being directed or ſhow'd the Way, by the Inſtinct of the new Nature. Now Chriſt is where his Goſpel, and his Ordinances, and Church are, For where Two or Three are gathered in his Name, there is he in the Midſt of them, and thither therefore others will be gather'd to him. The Kingdom of the Meſſiah is not to have one particular Place for it's Metropolis, ſuch as Jeruſalem was to the Jewiſh Church, to which all Jews were to reſort: But wherever the Body is, wherever the Goſpel is preach'd, and Ordinances are miniſtred, thither will pious Souls reſort, there they will find Chriſt, and by Faith feaſt upon him. Wherever Chriſt records his Name, he will meet his People and bleſs them, John 4. 21. 1 Tim. 2. 8. Many good Interpreters underſtand it, of the gathering of the Saints together to Chriſt in the Kingdom of Glory; ask not where the Carcaſs will be, and how they ſhall find the Way to it, for they ſhall be under an infallible Conduct, to him who is their living quickning Head, and the Center of their Unity; to him ſhall the Gathering of the People be.

CHAP. XVIII.

In this Chapter we have (1.) The Parable of the importunate Widow, deſign'd to teach us Fervency in Prayer, v. 1---8. (2.) The Parable of the Phariſee and Publican, deſign'd to teach us Humility, and Humiliation for Sin in Prayer, v. 9---14. (3.) Chriſt's Favour to little Children that were brought to him, v. 15,---17. (4.) The Trial of a rich Man that had a Mind to follow Chriſt, whether he lov'd better Chriſt or his Riches, his coming ſhort upon that Trial, and Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples upon that Occaſion, v. 18.-----30. (5.) Chriſt's foretelling of his own Death and Sufferings, v. 31.----34. (6.) His reſtoring Sight to a blind Man, v. 35.----43. And theſe four Paſſages we had before in Matthew and Mark.

AND he ſpake a parable unto them, to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint. 2 Saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man. 3 And there was a widow in that city, and ſhe came unto him, ſaying, Avenge me of my adverſary. 4 And he would not for a while: but afterward he ſaid within himſelf, Though I fear not God, nor regard man; 5 Yet becauſe this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, leſt by her continual coming ſhe weary me. 6 And the Lord ſaid, hear what the unjuſt Judge ſaith. 7 And ſhall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? 8 I tell you that he will avenge them ſpeedily. Nevertheleſs, when the Son of man cometh, ſhall he find Faith on the earth?

This Parable has its Key hanging at the Door; the Drift and Deſign of it is prefix'd; Chriſt ſpoke it with this Intent, to teach us that Men ought always to pray and not to faint, v. 1. (1.) It ſuppoſeth that all God's People are praying People, all God's Children keep up both a conſtant and an occaſional Correſpondence with him, ſend to him ſtatedly, and upon every Emergence. It is our Privilege and Honour that we may pray, it is our Duty, we ought to pray, we ſin if we neglect it. It is to be our conſtant Work, we ought always to pray, 'tis that which the Duty of every Day requires; we muſt pray and never grow weary of praying, nor think of giving it off, till it comes to be ſwallow'd up in everlaſting Praiſe. But that which ſeems particularly deſign'd here is to teach us Conſtancy and Perſeverance in our Requeſts for ſome ſpiritual Mercies that we are in Purſuit of, relating either to ourſelves, or to the Church of God; when we are praying for Strength againſt our ſpiritual Enemies, our Luſts and Corruptions, which are our worſt Enemies; we muſt continue inſtant in Prayer, muſt pray and not faint, for we ſhall not ſeek God's Face in vain. So we muſt likewiſe in our Prayers for the Deliverance of the People of God out of the Hands of their Perſecutors and Oppreſſors.

Firſt, Chriſt ſhews by a Parable the Power of Importunity among Men, who will be ſway'd by that when nothing elſe will influence, to do that which is juſt and right. He gives you an Inſtance of an honeſt Cauſe that was carry'd before an unjuſt Judge, not by the Equity and Compaſſionableneſs of it, but purely by Dint of Importunity. Obſerve here,

1. The ill Character of the Judge that was in a certain City, he neither feared God nor regarded Man; i. e. he had no Manner of Concern, either for his Conſcience or for his Reputation; he ſtood in no Awe either of the Wrath of God againſt him, or of the Cenſures of Men concerning him. Or he took no Care to do his Duty either to God or Man. He was a perfect Stranger both to Godlineſs and Honour, and had no Notion of either. Thoſe that have caſt off the Fear of their Creator, it is not ſtrange if they be altogether regardleſs of their Fellow-Creatures: Where no Fear of God is, no Good is to be expected. Such a Prevalency of Irreligion and Inhumanity is bad in any, but very bad in a Judge that has Power in his Hand, in the Uſe of which he ought to be guided by the Principles of Religion and Juſtice, and if he be not, inſtead of doing Good with his Power, he will be in Danger of doing Hurt. Wickedneſs in the Place of Judgment, was one of the soreſt Evils Solomon ſaw under the Sun, Eccl. 3. 16.

2. The diſtreſſed Caſe of a poor Widow that was neceſſitated to make her Appeal to him, being wrong'd by ſome one that thought to bear her down with Power and Terror; ſhe had manifeſtly Right on her Side; but it ſhould ſeem, in ſolliciting to have Right done her, ſhe ty'd not herſelf to the Formalities of the Law, but made perſonal Application to the Judge from Day to Day at his own Houſe, ſtill crying, avenge me of mine Adverſary, that is, do me Juſtice againſt mine Adverſary, not that ſhe deſir'd to be reveng'd on him for any Thing he had done againſt her, but that he might be oblig'd to reſtore what Effects he had of hers in his Hands, and might be diſabled any more to oppreſs her. Note, Poor Widows have often many Adverſaries, who barbarouſly take Advantage of their weak and helpleſs State, to invade their Rights, and defraud them of what little they have; and Magiſtrates are particularly charg'd, not only not to do Violence to the Widow, Jer 22. 3. but to judge the Fatherleſs and plead for the Widow, Iſa. 1. 17. to be their Patrons and Protectors; then they are as Gods, for God is ſo, Pſal. 68. 5.

3. The Difficulty and Diſcouragement ſhe met with in her Cauſe; He would not for a While, according to his uſual Practice, he frown'd upon her, took no Notice of her Cauſe, but conniv'd at all the Wrong her Adverſary did her, for ſhe had no Bribe to give him, no great Man whom he ſtood in any Awe of, to ſpeak for her, ſo that he did not at all incline to redreſs her Grievances; and he himſelf was conſcious of the Reaſon of his Dilatorineſs, and cou'd not but own within himſelf that he neither fear'd God, nor regarded Man; 'tis ſad a Man ſhould know ſo much amiſs by himſelf, and be in no Care to amend it.

4. The gaining of her Point by continual dunning of this unjuſt Judge, v. 5. becauſe this Widow troubles me, gives me a continual Toil, I will hear her Cauſe, and do her Juſtice, not ſo much leſt by her Clamour againſt me ſhe bring me into an ill Name, as leſt by her Clamour to me ſhe weary me; for ſhe is reſolv'd ſhe will give me no Reſt till it is done, and therefore I'le do it to ſave my ſelf further Trouble; as good at firſt as at laſt. Thus ſhe got Juſtice done her by continual Craving; ſhe beg'd it at his Door, follow'd him in the Streets, ſollicited him in open Court, and ſtill her Cry was, Avenge me of mine Adverſary, which he was forc'd to do, to get rid of her; for his Conſcience, as bad as he was, would not ſuffer him to ſend her to Priſon for an Affront upon the Court.

Secondly, He applies this for the Encouragement of God's praying People, to pray with Faith and Fervency, and to perſevere therein.

1. He aſſures them, that God will at length be gracious to them, v. 7. Hear what the unjuſt Judge ſaith; how he owns himſelf quite overcome by a conſtant Importunity, and from thence infers, Shall not God avenge his own Elect? Obſerve,

(1.) What is it that they deſire and expect? That God would avenge his own Elect. Note, 1. There is a People in the World that are God's People, his Elect, his own Elect, a choice People, a choſen People. And this he has an Eye to in all he doth for them, 'tis becauſe they are his Choſen, and in Purſuance of the Choice he has made of them. 2. God's own Elect meet with a great deal of Trouble and Oppoſition in this World, there are many Adverſaries that fight againſt them; Satan is their great Adverſary. 3. That which is wanted and waited for, is God's preſerving and protecting them, and the Work of his own Hands in them; his ſecuring the Intereſt of the Church in the World, and of his Grace in the Heart.

(2.) What is it that is requir'd of God's People, in Order to the obtaining of this; they muſt cry Day and Night to him, not that he needs their Remonſtrances, or can be mov'd by their Pleadings, but this he has made their Duty, and to this he has promis'd Mercy. We ought to be particular in praying againſt our ſpiritual Enemies, as St. Paul was, For this Thing I beſought the Lord thrice that it might depart from me, like this importunate Widow. Lord mortifie this Corruption, Lord arm me againſt this Temptation. We ought to concern ourſelves for the perſecuted and oppreſſed Churches, and to pray that God would do them Juſtice, and ſet them in Safety. And herein we muſt be very urgent; we muſt cry with Earneſtneſs; we muſt cry Day and Night as thoſe that believe Prayer will be heard at laſt; we muſt wreſtle with God, as thoſe that know how to value the Bleſſing, and will have no Nay. God's praying People are bid to give him no Reſt, Iſa. 62. 6, 7.

(4.) What Aſſurance they have that Mercy will come at laſt tho' it be delay'd, and how it is ſupported by what the unjuſt Judge ſayeth, If this Widow prevail by being importunate, much more ſhall God's Elect prevail. For, (1.) This Widow was a Stranger, nothing related to the Judge, but God's praying People are his own Elect, whom he knows, and loves, and delights in, and has always concern'd himſelf for. (2.) She was but one, but the praying People of God are many, that all come to him on the ſame Errand, and agree to ask what they need, Mat. 18. 19. As the Saints of Heaven ſurround the Throne of Glory with united Praiſes, ſo Saints on Earth beſiege the Throne of Grace with their united Prayers. (3.) She came to a Judge that bid her keep her Diſtance, we come to a Father that bids us come boldly to him, and teaches us to cry Abba Father. (4.) She came to an unjuſt Judge, we come to a righteous Father, Joh. 17. 25. one that regards his own Glory, and the Comforts of his poor Creatures, eſpecially thoſe in Diſtreſs, as Widows and Fatherleſs. (5.) She came to this Judge purely upon her own Account; but God is himſelf engag'd in the Cauſe which we are ſolliciting; and we can ſay, Ariſe, O Lord, plead thine own Cauſe; and what wilt thou do to thy great Name? (6.) She had no Friend to ſpeak for her, to add Force to her Petition, and to uſe Intereſt for her more than her own; but we have an Advocate with the Father, his own Son, who ever lives to make Interceſſion for us, and has a powerful prevailing Intereſt in Heaven. (7.) She had no Promiſes of ſpeeding, no, nor any Encouragement given her to ask, but we have the golden Sceptre held out to us, are bid to ask, and 'tis promis'd it ſhall be given us. (8.) She could have Acceſs to the Judge, only at ſome certain Times; but we may cry to God Day and Night, at all Hours, and therefore may the rather hope to prevail by Importunity. (9.) Her Importunity was provoking to the Judge, and ſhe might fear leſt it ſhould ſet him more againſt her; but our Importunity is pleaſing to God; the Prayer of the Upright is his Delight, and therefore we may hope ſhall avail much, if it be an effectual fervent Prayer.

2. He intimates to them, that notwithſtanding this, they will begin to be weary of waiting for him, v. 8. Nevertheleſs, tho' ſuch Aſſurances are given, that God will avenge his own Elect, yet when the Son of Man comes ſhall he find Faith on the Earth? The Son of Man will come to avenge his own Elect, to plead the Cauſe of perſecuted Chriſtians, againſt the perſecuting Jews, he will come in his Providence to plead the Cauſe of his injured People in every Age, and at the great Day he will come finally to determine the Controverſies of Zion. Now when he comes, will he find Faith in the Earth? The Queſtion implies a ſtrong Negation, no, he ſhall not; he himſelf foreſees it. (1.) This ſuppoſeth that it is on Earth only, that there is Occaſion for Faith: For Sinners in Hell are feeling that which they would not believe, and Saints in Heaven are enjoying that which they did believe. (2.) It ſuppoſeth that Faith is the great Thing, that Jeſus Chriſt looks for. He looks down upon the Children of Men, and doth not ask, is there Innocency? but is there Faith? He enquired concerning the Faith of thoſe who applied themſelves to him for Cures. (3.) It ſuppoſeth that if there were Faith, tho' never ſo little, he would diſcover it, and find it out. The weakeſt Believer, and moſt obſcure, his Eye is upon. (4.) 'Tis foretold, that when Chriſt comes to plead his People's Cauſe, he will find but little Faith in Compariſon with what one might expect. That is,

1. In general, he will find but few good People, few that are really and truly good. Many that have the Form and Faſhion of Godlineſs, but few that have Faith, that are ſincere and honeſt; Nay, he will find little Fidelity among Men, the Faithful fail, Pſal. 12. 1, 2. Even to the End of Time there will ſtill be Occaſion for the ſame Complaint; the World will grow no better, no, not when 'tis drawing towards it Period. Bad it is, and bad it will be, and worſt of all juſt before Chriſt's coming; the laſt Times will be the moſt perrillous.

2. In particular, he will find Few that have Faith concerning his coming. When he comes to avenge his own Elect, he looks if there be any Faith to help, and to uphold, and wonders that there is none, Iſa. 59. 16. 63. 5. It intimates that Chriſt, both in his particular Comings for the Relief of his People, and in his general Coming at the End of Time, may, and will delay his Coming ſo long as that, (1.) Wicked People will begin to defy it, and to ſay, Where is the Promiſe of his coming? 2 Pet. 3. 4. They will challenge him to come, Iſa. 5. 19. Amos 5. 18. and his Delay will harden them in their Wickedneſs, Mat. 24. 48. Even his own People will begin to deſpair of it, and to conclude he will never come, becauſe he has paſt their Reckoning. God's Time to appear for his People is, when Things are brought to the laſt Extremity, and when Sion begins to ſay, the Lord has forſaken me. See Iſa. 49. 14. 40. 27. But this is our Comfort, that when the Time appointed comes, it will appear that the Unbelief of Man has not made the Promiſe of God of none Effect.

9 And he ſpake this parable unto certain which truſted in themſelves that they were righteous, and deſpiſed others: 10 Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Phariſee, and the other a publican. 11 The phariſee ſtood and prayed thus with himſelf, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjuſt, adulte-rers, or even as this publican. 12 I faſt twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I poſſeſs. 13
And the publican ſtanding afar off, would not lift up ſo much as his eyes unto heaven, but ſmote upon his breaſt, ſaying, God be merciful to me a ſinner.
14 I tell you, this man went down to his houſe juſtified, rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; and he that hum-bleth himſelf, ſhall be exalted.

the Scriptures; Go ſhew thyſelf to the Prieſt; go and open thy Caſe to a faithful Miniſter, and tho' the Means will not heal thee of themſelves, God will heal thee in the diligent Uſe of thoſe Means.

5. One of them, and but one return'd to give Thanks, v. 15. When he ſaw that he was heal'd, inſtead of going forward to the Prieſt to be by him declar'd clean, and ſo diſcharg'd from his Confinement, which was all that the reſt aim'd at, he turn'd back towards him that was the Author of his Cure, who he is deſirous ſhould have the Glory of it, before he receiv'd the Benefit of it. He appears to have been very hearty and affectionate in his Thankſgivings, with a loud Voice he glorified God, acknowledging it to come originally from him; and he lifted up his Voice in his Praiſes, as he had done in his Prayers, v. 13. Thoſe that have receiv'd Mercy from God, ſhould publiſh it to others, that they may praiſe God too, and may be encourag'd by our Experiences to truſt in him. But he alſo made a particular Addreſs of Thanks to Chriſt, v. 16. He fell down at his Feet, put himſelf into the moſt humble reverent Poſture he could, and gave him Thanks. Note, We ought to give Thanks for the Favours Chriſt beſtows upon us, and particularly for Recoveries from Sickneſs: And we ought to be ſpeedy in our Returns of Praiſe, and not to defer them, leſt Time wear out the Senſe of the Mercy. And it becomes us to be very humble in our Thankſgivings, as well as in our Prayers. It becomes the Seed of Jacob, like him, to own themſelves leſs than the leaſt of all God's Mercies, when they have receiv'd them, as well as when they are in Purſuit of them.

6. Chriſt took Notice of this one that had thus diſtinguiſh'd himſelf, for it ſeems he was a Samaritan, whereas the reſt were Jews, v. 16. The Samaritans were Separatiſts from the Jewiſh Church, and had not that pure Knowledge and Worſhip of God among them that the Jews had, and yet it was one of them that glorified God, when the Jews forgot, or when it was mov'd to them, refus'd to do it. Now obſerve here,

1. The particular Notice Chriſt took of him, of the grateful Return he made, and the Ingratitude of thoſe that were Sharers with him in the Mercy. That he who was a Stranger to the Common-Wealth of Iſrael, was the only one that return'd to give Glory to God, v. 17, 18. See here, (1.) How rich Chriſt is in doing good; were there not Ten cleanſed? Here was a Cure by wholeſale, a whole Hoſpital heal'd with one Word's ſpeaking. Note, There is an abundance of healing cleanſing Virtue in the Blood of Chriſt, ſufficient for all his Patients, tho' never ſo many. Here's Ten at a Time cleans'd; we ſhall have never the leſs Grace for others ſharing. (2.) How poor we are in our Returns, where is the Nine? Why did not they return to give Thanks? This intimates that Ingratitude is a very common Sin: Of the many that receive Mercy from God, there are but few, very few, that return to give Thanks in a right Manner, ſcarce One in Ten, who render according to the Benefit done unto them. (3.) How thoſe often prove moſt grateful from whom it was leaſt expected: A Samaritan gives Thanks, and a Jew doth not. Thus many who profeſs revealed Religion, are out-done, and quite ſhamed, by ſome that are govern'd only by natural Religion, not only in moral Virtue, but in Piety and Devotion. This ſerves here to aggravate the Ingratitude of thoſe Jews, from whom Chriſt ſpeaks, as taking it very ill that his Kindneſs was ſo ſlighted. And it intimates how juſtly he reſents the Ingratitude of the World of Mankind, for whom he had done ſo much, and from whom he has receiv'd ſo little.

2. The great Encouragement Chriſt gave him, v. 19. The reſt had their Cure, and had it not revok'd as juſtly it might have been for their Ingratitude, tho' they had ſuch a good Example of Gratitude ſet before them; but he had his Cure confirm'd particularly with an Encomium, Thy Faith has made thee whole. The reſt were made whole by the Power of Chriſt, in Compaſſion to their Diſtreſs, and in Anſwer to their Prayer; but he was made whole by his Faith, which Chriſt ſaw him differenced by from the reſt. Note, Temporal Mercies are then doubled and ſweeten'd to us, when they are fetch'd in by the Prayers of Faith, and returned by the Praiſes of Faith.

20 ¶ And when he was demanded of the Phariſees, when the kingdom of God ſhould come; he anſwered them, and ſaid, The kingdom of God cometh not with obſervation. 21 Neither ſhall they ſay, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdom of God is within you. 22 And he ſaid unto the diſciples, The days will come, when ye ſhall deſire to ſee one of the days of the Son of man, and ye ſhall not ſee it. 23 And they ſhall ſay to you, See here, or ſee there: go not after them, nor follow them. 24 For as the lightning that lightneth out of the one part under heaven, ſhineth unto the other part under heaven: ſo ſhall alſo the Son of man be in his day. 25 But firſt muſt he ſuffer many things, and be rejected of this generation. 26 And as it was in the days of Noe, ſo ſhall it be alſo in the days of the Son of man. 27 They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entred into the ark: and the flood came and deſtroyed them all. 28 Likewiſe alſo as it was in the days of Lot, they did eat, they drank, they bought, they ſold, they planted, they builded: 29 But the ſame day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimſtone from heaven, and deſtroyed them all; 30 Even thus ſhall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. 31 In that day, he which ſhall be upon the houſe-top, and his ſtuff in the houſe, let him not come down to take it away: and he that is in the field, let him likewiſe not return back. 32 Remember Lots wife. 33 Whoſoever ſhall ſeek to ſave his Life, ſhall loſe it: and whoſoever ſhall loſe his life, ſhall preſerve it. 34 I tell you, in that night there ſhall be two men in one bed; the one ſhall be taken, and the other ſhall be left. 35 Two women ſhall be grinding together; the one ſhall be taken, and the other left. 36 Two men ſhall be in the field, the one ſhall be taken, and the other left. 37 And they anſwered and ſaid unto him, Where, Lord? And he ſaid unto them, Whereſoever the body is, thither will the eagles be gathered together.

We have here a Diſcourſe of Chriſt's, concerning the Kingdom of God, i. e. the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, which was now ſhortly to be ſet up, and of which there was great Expectation.

1. Here's the Demand of the Phariſees concerning it, which occaſion'd this Diſcourſe; they ask'd when the Kingdom of God ſhould come: Forming a Notion of it as a temporal Kingdom, which ſhould advance the Jewiſh Nation above the Nations of the Earth; they were impatient to hear ſome Tidings of its Approach; they underſtood perhaps that Chriſt had taught his Diſciples to pray for the coming of it, and they had long preach'd that it was at Hand: Now ſay the Phariſees when will that glorious View open? When ſhall we ſee this long-look'd for Kingdom?

2. Chriſt's Reply to that Demand, directed to the Phariſees firſt, and afterwards to his own Diſciples who knew better how to underſtaed it, v. 22. what he ſaid to both, he ſaith to us.

1. That the Kingdom of the Meſſiah was to be a ſpiritual Kingdom, and not temporal and external. They ask'd when it would come: You know not what you ask, ſaith Chriſt, it may come, and you not be aware of it: For it has not an external Shew as other Kingdoms have; the Advancements and Revolutions of which are taken Notice of by the Nations of the Earth, and fill the News-Papers, ſo they expected this Kingdom of God would do: No, ſaith Chriſt, (1.) 'Twill have a ſilent Entrance, without Pomp, without Noiſe, it cometh not with Obſervation, μετὰ παρατηρήσεως, with outward Shew. They deſir'd to have their Curioſity ſatisfy'd concerning the Time of it, to which Chriſt doth not give them any Anſwer, but will have their Miſtakes rectify'd concerning the Nature of it. 'Tis not for you to know the Times of this Kingdom, thoſe are ſecret Things, which belong not to you; but the great Intentions of this Kingdom, thoſe are Things reveal'd. When Meſſiah the Prince comes to ſet up his Kingdom, they ſhall not ſay Loe here, or loe there, as when a Prince goes in Progreſs to viſit his Territories, it is in every Body's Mouth, he is here, or he is there; for where the King is, there is the Court: Chriſt will not come with all that Talk; it will not be ſet up in this or that particular Place; nor will the Court of that Kingdom be here or there; Nor will it be here or there, what Country Men are of, or where they dwell, as if that would place them to, or further from that Kingdom. Thoſe who confine Chriſtianity and the Church to this Place, or that Party, cry, Loe here, or loe there, than which nothing is more contrary to the Deſigns of catholick Chriſtianity; ſo do they who make Proſperity and external Pomp a Mark of the true Church. (2.) It has a ſpiritual Influence. The Kingdom of God is within you. It is not of this World, John 18. 36. It's Glory doth not ſtrike Mens Fancies, but affect their Spirits, and its Power is over their Souls and Conſciences, and from them it receives Homage, and not their Bodies only. The Kingdom of God will not change Mens outward Condition, but their Hearts and Lives; then it comes when it makes thoſe humble and ſerious, and heavenly, that were proud, vain, and carnal, when it weans thoſe from the World that were wedded to the World, and therefore look for the Kingdom of God in the Revolutions of the Heart, not of the civil Government. The Kingdom of God is among you, ſo ſome read it: You enquire when it will come, and you are not aware that it is already begun to be ſet up in the Midſt of you. The Goſpel is preach'd, 'tis confirm'd by Miracles, 'tis embrac'd by Multitudes, ſo that 'tis in your Nation, tho' not in your Hearts. Note, 'Tis the Folly of many curious Enquirers concerning the Times to come, that they look for that before them which is already among them.

2. That the ſetting up of this Kingdom, was a Work that would meet with a great deal of Oppoſition and Interruption, v. 22. The Diſciples thought they ſhould carry all before them, and expected a conſtant Series of Succeſs in their Work; but Chriſt tells them it would be otherwiſe, The Days will come, before you have finiſh'd your Teſtimony, and done your Work, when you ſhall deſire to ſee one of the Days of the Son of Man, one ſuch Day as we now have, of the Proſperity and Progreſs of the Goſpel, and ſhall not ſee it. At firſt indeed you will have wonderful Succeſs, ſo they had, when Thouſands were added to the Church in a Day, but do not think it will be always ſo; No, you will be perſecuted and ſcatter'd, ſilenc'd and impriſon'd; ſo that you will not have Opportunities of preaching the Goſpel without Fear, as you now have: People will grow cool to it when they have enjoy'd it a while, ſo that you will not ſee ſuch Harveſts of Souls gather'd in to Chriſt afterwards as at firſt, nor ſuch Multitudes flocking to him as Doves to their Windows. This looks forward to his Diſciples in after Ages; they muſt expect much Diſappointment; the Goſpel will not be always preach'd with like Liberty and Succeſs. Miniſters and Churches will ſometimes be under outward Reſtraints. Teachers will be remov'd into Corners, and ſolemn Aſſemblies ſcatter'd, then they will wiſh to ſee ſuch Days of Opportunity as they have formerly enjoy'd, Sabbath Days, Sacrament Days, preaching Days, praying Days, thoſe are Days of the Son of Man, in which we hear from him, and converſe with him; the Time may come when we may in vain wiſh for ſuch Days. God teacheth us to know the Worth of ſuch Mercies by the Want of them: It concerns us while they are continued to improve them, and in the Years of Plenty, to lay up in Store for the Years of Famine. Sometimes they will be under inward Reſtraints, will not have ſuch Tokens of the Preſence of the Son of Man among them, as they have ſometimes had; the Spirit is withdrawn from them, they ſee not their Signs, the Angel comes not down to ſtir the Waters, there's a great Stupidity among the Children of Men, and a great Lukewarmneſs among the Children of God; then we would wiſh to ſee ſuch victorious, triumphant Days of the Son of Man as we have ſometimes ſeen, when he has ridden forth with his Bow and his Crown conquering and to conquer, but we cannot ſee them. Note, We muſt not think that Chriſt's Church and Cauſe are loſt, becauſe not always alike viſible and prevailing.

3. That Chriſt and his Kingdom are not to be look'd for in this or that particular Place, but his Appearance will be general, in all Places at once, v. 23, 24. They will ſay to you, ſee here, or ſee there, here's one that will deliver the Jews out of the Hands of the oppreſſing Romans, or there's one that will deliver the Chriſtians out of the Hands of the oppreſſing Jews, here's the Meſſiah, and there's his Prophet: Here in this Mountain, or there at Jeruſalem, you will find the true Church. Go not after them, or follow them, do not heed ſuch Suggeſtions, the Kingdom of God was not deſign'd to be the Glory of one People only, but to give Light to the Gentiles; for as the Lightning that lightens out of one Part under Heaven, ſhines all on a ſudden irreſiſtably to the other Part under Heaven; ſo ſhall alſo the Son of Man be in his Day. (1.) The Judgments that are to deſtroy the Jewiſh Nation, to lay them waſte, and to deliver the Chriſtians from them, ſhall fly like Lightning through the Land, ſhall lay all waſte from one End of it to another; and thoſe that are mark'd for this Deſtruction, can no more avoid it or oppoſe it than they can a Flaſh of Lightning. (2.) The Goſpel that is to ſet up Chriſt's Kingdom in the World, ſhall fly like Lightning through the Nations; the Kingdom of the Meſſiah is not to be a local Thing, but is to be diſpos'd far and wide over the Face of the whole Earth; it ſhall ſhine from Jeruſalem to all Parts about, and that in a Moment; the Kingdoms of the Earth ſhall be leaven'd by the Goſpel e're they are aware of it. The Trophies of Chriſt's Victories ſhall be erected on the Ruins of the Devil's Kingdom, even in thoſe Countries that could never be ſubdued to the Roman Yoke. The Deſign of the ſetting up Chriſt's Kingdom, was not to make one Nation great, but to make all Nations good, ſome at leaſt of all Nations, and this Point ſhall be gain'd, tho' the Nations rage, and the Kings of the Earth ſet themſelves with all their Might againſt it.

4. That the Meſſiah muſt ſuffer before he muſt reign, v. 25. Firſt muſt he ſuffer many Things, many hard Things, and be rejected of this Generation; and if he be thus treated, his Diſciples muſt expect no other, but to ſuffer and be rejected too for his Sake. They thought of having the Kingdom of the Meſſiah ſet up in external Splendor, no ſaith Chriſt, we muſt go by the Croſs to the Crown. The Son of Man muſt ſuffer many Things, Pain, and Shame and Death are thoſe many Things, he muſt be rejected by this Generation of unbelieving Jews, before he be embrac'd by another Generation of believing Gentiles; that his Goſpel might have the Honour of triumphing over the greateſt Oppoſition, from thoſe who ought to have given it the greateſt Aſſiſtance; and thus the Excellency of the Power, wou'd appear to be of God and not of Man; for tho' Iſrael be not gather'd, yet he will be glorious to the Ends of the Earth.

5. That the ſetting up the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, would introduce the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, whom it would find in a dead Sleep of Security, and drown'd in Senſuality, as the old World was in the Days of Noah, and Sodom in the Days of Lot, v. 26. &c. Obſerve,

1. How it had been with Sinners formerly, and what Poſture the Judgments of God, which they had been fairly warn'd of, did at Length find them in. Look as far back as the old World, when all Fleſh had corrupted their Way, and the Earth was fill'd with Violence; come a little lower, and think how it was with the Men of Sodom, who were wicked and Sinners before the Lord exceedingly; now obſerve concerning both theſe, (1.) That they had fair Warning given them of the Ruin that was coming upon them for their Sins; Noah was a Preacher of Righteouſneſs to the old World, ſo was Lot to the Sodomites, they gave them timely Notice, what would be in the End of their wicked Ways, and that it was not far off. (2.) That they did not regard the Warning given them, and gave no Credit, no Heed to it; they were very ſecure, went on in their Buſineſs as unconcern'd as you would imagine, they did eat, they drank, indulg'd themſelves in their Pleaſures, and took no Care of any Thing elſe but to make Proviſion for the Fleſh, counted upon the Perpetuity of their preſent flouriſhing State, and therefore married Wives and were given in Marriage, that their Families might be built up; they were all very merry; ſo were the Men of Sodom, and yet very buſy too, they bought, they ſold, they planted, they builded. Theſe were lawful Things, but the Fault was, they minded theſe inordinately, and their Hearts were entirely ſet upon them, ſo that they had no Heart at all to prepare againſt the threatned Judgments; when they ſhould have been as the Men of Niniveh, faſting and praying, repenting and reforming, upon Warning given them of an approaching Judgment; they were going on ſecurely, eating Fleſh and drinking Wine, when God calls to Weeping and to Mourning, Iſa. 22. 12, 13. (3.) That they continued in their Security and Senſuality, till the threaten'd Judgment came; until the Day that Noah entred into the Ark, and Lot went out of Sodom, nothing ſaid or done to them, ſerv'd to alarm or awaken them. Note, The Stupidity of Sinners in a ſinful Way, tho' it is as ſtrange as it is without Excuſe, yet we are not to think it ſtrange, for it is not without Example. 'Tis the old Way that wicked Men have trodden, that have gone ſlumbering to Hell, as if their Damnation ſlumber'd while they did. (4.) That God took Care for the Preſervation of thoſe that were his, who believ'd and fear'd and took the Warning themſelves, which they gave to others. Noah entred into the Ark, and there he was ſafe; Lot went out of Sodom, and ſo went out of Harm's Way. If ſome run on heedleſs and headlong into Deſtruction, that ſhall be no Prejudice to the Salvation of them that believe. (5.) That they were ſurpriz'd with the Ruin which they would not fear, and were ſwallow'd up in it to their unſpeakable Horror and Amazement. The Flood came, and deſtroy'd all the Sinners of the old World; Fire and Brimſtone came, and deſtroy'd all the Sinners of Sodom, God has many Arrows in his Quiver, and uſeth which he will in making War upon his rebellious Subjects, for he can make which he will effectual. But that which is eſpecially intended here, is to ſhew what a dreadful Surprize Deſtruction will be to thoſe who are ſecure and ſenſual.

2. How it will be with Sinners ſtill, v. 30. Thus ſhall it be in the Day when the Son of Man is reveal'd, when Chriſt comes to deſtroy the Jewiſh Nation by the Roman Armies, the Generality of that Nation, will be found under ſuch a reigning Security and Stupidity as this. They have Warning given by Chriſt now, and will have it repeated to them by the Apoſtles after him, as they had by Noah and Lot, but it will be all in vain. They will continue ſecure, will go on in their Neglect and Oppoſition of Chriſt and his Goſpel, till all the Chriſtians are withdrawn from among them, and gone to the Place of Refuge. God will provide for them on the other Side Jordan, and then a Deluge of Judgments ſhall flow in upon them, which ſhall deſtroy all the unbelieving Jews. One would have thought this Diſcourſe of our Saviour's which was publick, and not long after publiſh'd to the World, ſhould have awaken'd them, but it did not, for the Hearts of that People were harden'd to their Deſtruction. And in like Manner, when Jeſus Chriſt ſhall come to judge the World at the End of Time, Sinners will be found in the ſame ſecure and careleſs Poſture, altogether regardleſs of the Judgment approaching, which will therefore come upon them as a Snare; and in like Manner the Sinners of every Age, go on ſecurely in their evil Ways, and remember not their latter End, nor the Account that they muſt give. Wo to them that are thus at Eaſe in Zion.

6. That it ought to be the Care of his Diſciples and Followers, to diſtinguiſh themſelves from the unbelieving Jews in that Day, and leaving them, their City and Country to themſelves, to flee at the Signal given, according to the Direction that ſhould be given, let them retire as Noah to his Ark, and Lot to his Zoar. You would have heal'd Jeruſalem as of old Babylon, but ſhe is not heal'd, and therefore forſake her, flee out of the Midſt of her, and deliver every Man his Soul, Jer. 51. 6, 9.

(1.) This Flight of theirs from Jeruſalem muſt be expeditious, and muſt not be retarded by any Concern about their worldly Affairs, v. 31. He that ſhall be on the Houſe-top when the Alarm is given, let him not come down to take it away; both becauſe he cannot ſpare ſo much Time, and becauſe the carrying away of his Effects will but incumber him and retard his Flight. Let him not regard his Stuff at ſuch a Time, when it will be next to a Miracle of Mercy if he have his Life given him for a Prey. Better leave his Stuff behind him, than ſtay to look after it, and periſh with them that believe not. 'Twill be their Concern to do as Lot and his Family were charg'd to do; eſcape for thy Life. Save your ſelves from this untoward Generation.

(2.) When they have made their Eſcape they muſt not think of returning, v. 32. Remember Lot's Wife; and take Warning by her, not only to flee from this Sodom (for ſo Jeruſalem is become, Iſa. 1. 10.) but to perſevere in your Flight, and do not look back as ſhe did; be not loth to leave a Place mark'd for Deſtruction, whoever or whatever you leave behind you that is ever ſo dear to you. Thoſe who have left the Sodom of a natural State, let them go forward, and not ſo much as look a kind Look towards it again. Let them not look back, leſt they ſhould be tempted to go back; nay, leſt that be conſtrued a going back in Heart, or an Evidence that the Heart was left behind. Lot's Wife was turn'd into a Pillar of Salt, that ſhe might remain a laſting Monument of God's Diſpleaſure againſt Apoſtates, that begin in the Spirit and end in the Fleſh.

(3.) There would be no other Way of ſaving their Lives but by quitting the Jews, and if they thought to ſave themſelves by a Coalition with them, they would find themſelves miſtaken, v. 31. Whoſoever ſhall ſeek to ſave his Life by declining from his Chriſtianity, and complying with the Jews, he ſhall loſe it with them, and periſh in the common Calamity; but whoſoever is willing to venture his Life with the Chriſtians, upon the ſame Bottom on which they venture, to take his Lot with them in Life and in Death, he ſhall preſerve his Life, for he ſhall make ſure eternal Life; and is in a likelier Way at that Time to ſave his Life than thoſe who embark in a Jewiſh Bottom, or enſure upon their Securities. Note, Thoſe do beſt for themſelves that truſt God in the Way of Duty.

7. That all good Chriſtians ſhould certainly eſcape, but many of them very narrowly from that Deſtruction, v. 34, 35, 36. When God's Judgments are laying all waſte, he will take an effectual Courſe to preſerve thoſe that are his, by remarkable Providences diſtinguiſhing between them and others, that were neareſt to them; Two in a Bed, one taken and the other left; one ſnatch'd out of the Burning, and taken into a Place of Safety, while the other is left to periſh in the common Ruin. Note, Tho' the Sword devours one as well as another, and all Things ſeem to come alike to all, yet ſooner or later it ſhall be made to appear that the Lord knows them that are his, and are not, and how to take out the Precious from the Vile. We are ſure the Judge of all the Earth will do right; and therefore when he ſends a Judgment on Purpoſe to avenge the Death of his Son, upon thoſe that crucified him, he will take Care that none of thoſe who glorify'd him, and glory'd in his Croſs, ſhall be taken away by that Judgment.

Laſtly, That this diſtinguiſhing, dividing, diſcriminating Work ſhall be done in all Places, as far as the Kingdom of God ſhall extend, v. 37. Where Lord? They had enquir'd concerning the Time, and he would not gratifie their Curioſity with any Information concerning that, they therefore try'd him with another Queſtion, Where Lord? Where ſhall thoſe be ſafe that are taken? Where ſhall thoſe periſh that are left? The Anſwer is proverbial, and may be explain'd ſo as to anſwer each Side of the Queſtion, Whereſoever the Body is, thither will the Eagles be gather'd together. (1.) Wherever the Wicked are that are mark'd for Perdition, they ſhall be found out, by the Judgments of God; as wherever a dead Carcaſe is, the Birds of Prey will ſmell it out, and make a Prey of it. The Jews having made themſelves a dead and putrified Carcaſe, odious to God's Holineſs, and obnoxious to his Juſtice, wherever any of that unbelieving Generation is, the Judgments of God ſhall faſten upon them, as the Eagles do upon the Prey, Thine Hand ſhalt find out all thine Enemies, Pſal. 21. 9. Tho' they ſet their Neſts among the Stars, Obad. 4. The Roman Soldiers will hunt the Jews out of all their Receſſes and Faſtneſſes, and none ſhall eſcape. (2.) Wherever the Godly are that are mark'd for Preſervation, they ſhall be found happy in the Enjoyment of Chriſt. As the Diſſolution of the Jewiſh Church ſhall be extended to all Parts, ſo ſhall the Conſtitution of the Chriſtian Church: Wherever Chriſt is, Believers will flock to him, and meet in him, as Eagles about the Prey, without being directed or ſhow'd the Way, by the Inſtinct of the new Nature. Now Chriſt is where his Goſpel, and his Ordinances, and Church are, For where Two or Three are gathered in his Name, there is he in the Midſt of them, and thither therefore others will be gather'd to him. The Kingdom of the Meſſiah is not to have one particular Place for it's Metropolis, ſuch as Jeruſalem was to the Jewiſh Church, to which all Jews were to reſort: But wherever the Body is, wherever the Goſpel is preach'd, and Ordinances are miniſtred, thither will pious Souls reſort, there they will find Chriſt, and by Faith feaſt upon him. Wherever Chriſt records his Name, he will meet his People and bleſs them, John 4. 21. 1 Tim. 2. 8. Many good Interpreters underſtand it, of the gathering of the Saints together to Chriſt in the Kingdom of Glory; ask not where the Carcaſs will be, and how they ſhall find the Way to it, for they ſhall be under an infallible Conduct, to him who is their living quickning Head, and the Center of their Unity; to him ſhall the Gathering of the People be.

CHAP. XVIII.

In this Chapter we have (1.) The Parable of the importunate Widow, deſign'd to teach us Fervency in Prayer, v. 1---8. (2.) The Parable of the Phariſee and Publican, deſign'd to teach us Humility, and Humiliation for Sin in Prayer, v. 9---14. (3.) Chriſt's Favour to little Children that were brought to him, v. 15,---17. (4.) The Trial of a rich Man that had a Mind to follow Chriſt, whether he lov'd better Chriſt or his Riches, his coming ſhort upon that Trial, and Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples upon that Occaſion, v. 18.-----30. (5.) Chriſt's foretelling of his own Death and Sufferings, v. 31.----34. (6.) His reſtoring Sight to a blind Man, v. 35.----43. And theſe four Paſſages we had before in Matthew and Mark.

AND he ſpake a parable unto them, to this end, that men ought always to pray, and not to faint. 2 Saying, There was in a city a judge, which feared not God, neither regarded man. 3 And there was a widow in that city, and ſhe came unto him, ſaying, Avenge me of my adverſary. 4 And he would not for a while: but afterward he ſaid within himſelf, Though I fear not God, nor regard man; 5 Yet becauſe this widow troubleth me, I will avenge her, leſt by her continual coming ſhe weary me. 6 And the Lord ſaid, hear what the unjuſt Judge ſaith. 7 And ſhall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them? 8 I tell you that he will avenge them ſpeedily. Nevertheleſs, when the Son of man cometh, ſhall he find Faith on the earth?

This Parable has its Key hanging at the Door; the Drift and Deſign of it is prefix'd; Chriſt ſpoke it with this Intent, to teach us that Men ought always to pray and not to faint, v. 1. (1.) It ſuppoſeth that all God's People are praying People, all God's Children keep up both a conſtant and an occaſional Correſpondence with him, ſend to him ſtatedly, and upon every Emergence. It is our Privilege and Honour that we may pray, it is our Duty, we ought to pray, we ſin if we neglect it. It is to be our conſtant Work, we ought always to pray, 'tis that which the Duty of every Day requires; we muſt pray and never grow weary of praying, nor think of giving it off, till it comes to be ſwallow'd up in everlaſting Praiſe. But that which ſeems particularly deſign'd here is to teach us Conſtancy and Perſeverance in our Requeſts for ſome ſpiritual Mercies that we are in Purſuit of, relating either to ourſelves, or to the Church of God; when we are praying for Strength againſt our ſpiritual Enemies, our Luſts and Corruptions, which are our worſt Enemies; we muſt continue inſtant in Prayer, muſt pray and not faint, for we ſhall not ſeek God's Face in vain. So we muſt likewiſe in our Prayers for the Deliverance of the People of God out of the Hands of their Perſecutors and Oppreſſors.

Firſt, Chriſt ſhews by a Parable the Power of Importunity among Men, who will be ſway'd by that when nothing elſe will influence, to do that which is juſt and right. He gives you an Inſtance of an honeſt Cauſe that was carry'd before an unjuſt Judge, not by the Equity and Compaſſionableneſs of it, but purely by Dint of Importunity. Obſerve here,

1. The ill Character of the Judge that was in a certain City, he neither feared God nor regarded Man, i. e. he had no Manner of Concern, either for his Conſcience or for his Reputation; he ſtood in no Awe either of the Wrath of God againſt him, or of the Cenſures of Men concerning him. Or he took no Care to do his Duty either to God or Man. He was a perfect Stranger both to Godlineſs and Honour, and had no Notion of either. Thoſe that have caſt off the Fear of their Creator, it is not ſtrange if they be altogether regardleſs of their Fellow-Creatures: Where no Fear of God is, no Good is to be expected. Such a Prevalency of Irreligion and Inhumanity is bad in any, but very bad in a Judge that has Power in his Hand, in the Uſe of which he ought to be guided by the Principles of Religion and Juſtice, and if he be not, inſtead of doing Good with his Power, he will be in Danger of doing Hurt. Wickedneſs in the Place of Judgment, was one of the foreſt Evils Solomon ſaw under the Sun, Eccl. 3. 16.

2. The diſtreſſed Caſe of a poor Widow that was neceſſitated to make her Appeal to him, being wrong'd by ſome one that thought to bear her down with Power and Terror; ſhe had manifeſtly Right on her Side; but it ſhould ſeem, in ſolliciting to have Right done her, ſhe ty'd not herſelf to the Formalities of the Law, but made perſonal Application to the Judge from Day to Day at his own Houſe, ſtill crying, avenge me of mine Adverſary, that is, do me Juſtice againſt mine Adverſary, not that ſhe deſir'd to be reveng'd on him for any Thing he had done againſt her, but that he might be oblig'd to reſtore what Effects he had of hers in his Hands, and might be diſabled any more to oppreſs her. Note, Poor Widows have often many Adverſaries, who barbarouſly take Advantage of their weak and helpleſs State, to invade their Rights, and defraud them of what little they have; and Magiſtrates are particularly charg'd, not only not to do Violence to the Widow, Jer 22. 3. but to judge the Fatherleſs and plead for the Widow, Iſa. 1. 17. to be their Patrons and Protectors; then they are as Gods, for God is ſo, Pſal. 68. 5.

3. The Difficulty and Diſcouragement ſhe met with in her Cauſe; He would not for a While, according to his uſual Practice, he frown'd upon her, took no Notice of her Cauſe, but conniv'd at all the Wrong her Adverſary did her, for ſhe had no Bribe to give him, no great Man whom he ſtood in any Awe of, to ſpeak for her, ſo that he did not at all incline to redreſs her Grievances; and he himſelf was conſcious of the Reaſon of his Dilatorineſs, and cou'd not but own within himſelf that he neither fear'd God, nor regarded Man; 'tis ſad a Man ſhould know ſo much amiſs by himſelf, and be in no Care to amend it.

4. The gaining of her Point by continual dunning of this unjuſt Judge, v. 5. becauſe this Widow troubles me, gives me a continual Toil, I will hear her Cauſe, and do her Juſtice, not ſo much leſt by her Clamour againſt me ſhe bring me into an ill Name, as leſt by her Clamour to me ſhe weary me; for ſhe is reſolv'd ſhe will give me no Reſt till it is done, and therefore I'le do it to ſave my ſelf further Trouble; as good at firſt as at laſt. Thus ſhe got Juſtice done her by continual Craving; ſhe beg'd it at his Door, follow'd him in the Streets, ſollicited him in open Court, and ſtill her Cry was, Avenge me of mine Adverſary, which he was forc'd to do, to get rid of her; for his Conſcience, as bad as he was, would not ſuffer him to ſend her to Priſon for an Affront upon the Court.

Secondly, He applies this for the Encouragement of God's praying People, to pray with Faith and Fervency, and to perſevere therein.

1. He aſſures them, that God will at length be gracious to them, v. 7. Hear what the unjuſt Judge ſaith; how he owns himſelf quite overcome by a conſtant Importunity, and from thence infers, Shall not God avenge his own Elect? Obſerve,

(1.) What is it that they deſire and expect? That God would avenge his own Elect. Note, 1. There is a People in the World that are God's People, his Elect, his own Elect, a choice People, a choſen People. And this he has an Eye to in all he doth for them, 'tis becauſe they are his Choſen, and in Purſuance of the Choice he has made of them. 2. God's own Elect meet with a great deal of Trouble and Oppoſition in this World, there are many Adverſaries that fight againſt them; Satan is their great Adverſary. 3. That which is wanted and waited for, is God's preſerving and protecting them, and the Work of his own Hands in them; his ſecuring the Intereſt of the Church in the World, and of his Grace in the Heart.

(2.) What is it that is requir'd of God's People, in Order to the obtaining of this; they muſt cry Day and Night to him, not that he needs their Remonſtrances, or can be mov'd by their Pleadings, but this he has made their Duty, and to this he has promis'd Mercy. We ought to be particular in praying againſt our ſpiritual Enemies, as St. Paul was, For this Thing I beſought the Lord thrice that it might depart from me, like this importunate Widow. Lord mortifie this Corruption, Lord arm me againſt this Temptation. We ought to concern ourſelves for the perſecuted and oppreſſed Churches, and to pray that God would do them Juſtice, and ſet them in Safety. And herein we muſt be very urgent; we muſt cry with Earneſtneſs; we muſt cry Day and Night as thoſe that believe Prayer will be heard at laſt; we muſt wreſtle with God, as thoſe that know how to value the Bleſſing, and will have no Nay. God's praying People are bid to give him no Reſt, Iſa. 62. 6, 7.

(4.) What Aſſurance they have that Mercy will come at laſt tho' it be delay'd, and how it is ſupported by what the unjuſt Judge ſayeth, If this Widow prevail by being importunate, much more ſhall God's Elect prevail. For, (1.) This Widow was a Stranger, nothing related to the Judge, but God's praying People are his own Elect, whom he knows, and loves, and delights in, and has always concern'd himſelf for. (2.) She was but one, but the praying People of God are many, that all come to him on the ſame Errand, and agree to ask what they need, Mat. 18. 19. As the Saints of Heaven ſurround the Throne of Glory with united Praiſes, ſo Saints on Earth beſiege the Throne of Grace with their united Prayers. (3.) She came to a Judge that bid her keep her Diſtance, we come to a Father that bids us come boldly to him, and teaches us to cry Abba Father. (4.) She came to an unjuſt Judge, we come to a righteous Father, Joh. 17. 25. one that regards his own Glory, and the Comforts of his poor Creatures, eſpecially thoſe in Diſtreſs, as Widows and Fatherleſs. (5.) She came to this Judge purely upon her own Account; but God is himſelf engag'd in the Cauſe which we are ſolliciting; and we can ſay, Ariſe, O Lord, plead thine own Cauſe; and what wilt thou do to thy great Name? (6.) She had no Friend to ſpeak for her, to add Force to her Petition, and to uſe Intereſt for her more than her own; but we have an Advocate with the Father, his own Son, who ever lives to make Interceſſion for us, and has a powerful prevailing Intereſt in Heaven. (7.) She had no Promiſes of ſpeeding, no, nor any Encouragement given her to ask, but we have the golden Sceptre held out to us, are bid to ask, and 'tis promis'd it ſhall be given us. (8.) She could have Acceſs to the Judge, only at ſome certain Times; but we may cry to God Day and Night, at all Hours, and therefore may the rather hope to prevail by Importunity. (9.) Her Importunity was provoking to the Judge, and ſhe might fear leſt it ſhould ſet him more againſt her; but our Importunity is pleaſing to God; the Prayer of the Upright is his Delight, and therefore we may hope ſhall avail much, if it be an effectual fervent Prayer.

2. He intimates to them, that notwithſtanding this, they will begin to be weary of waiting for him, v. 8. Nevertheleſs, tho' ſuch Aſſurances are given, that God will avenge his own Elect, yet when the Son of Man comes ſhall he find Faith on the Earth? The Son of Man will come to avenge his own Elect, to plead the Cauſe of perſecuted Chriſtians, againſt the perſecuting Jews, he will come in his Providence to plead the Cauſe of his injured People in every Age, and at the great Day he will come finally to determine the Controverſies of Zion. Now when he comes, will he find Faith in the Earth? The Queſtion implies a ſtrong Negation, no, he ſhall not; he himſelf foreſees it. (1.) This ſuppoſeth that it is on Earth only, that there is Occaſion for Faith: For Sinners in Hell are feeling that which they would not believe, and Saints in Heaven are enjoying that which they did believe. (2.) It ſuppoſeth that Faith is the great Thing, that Jeſus Chriſt looks for. He looks down upon the Children of Men, and doth not ask, is there Innocency? but is there Faith? He enquired concerning the Faith of thoſe who applied themſelves to him for Cures. (3.) It ſuppoſeth that if there were Faith, tho' never ſo little, he would diſcover it, and find it out. The weakeſt Believer, and moſt obſcure, his Eye is upon. (4.) 'Tis foretold, that when Chriſt comes to plead his People's Cauſe, he will find but little Faith in Compariſon with what one might expect. That is,

1. In general, he will find but few good People, few that are really and truly good. Many that have the Form and Faſhion of Godlineſs, but few that have Faith, that are ſincere and honeſt; Nay, he will find little Fidelity among Men, the Faithful fail, Pſal. 12. 1, 2. Even to the End of Time there will ſtill be Occaſion for the ſame Complaint; the World will grow no better, no, not when 'tis drawing towards it Period. Bad it is, and bad it will be, and worſt of all juſt before Chriſt's coming; the laſt Times will be the moſt perrillous.

2. In particular, he will find Few that have Faith concerning his coming. When he comes to avenge his own Elect, he looks if there be any Faith to help, and to uphold, and wonders that there is none, Iſa. 59. 16. 63. 5. It intimates that Chriſt, both in his particular Comings for the Relief of his People, and in his general Coming at the End of Time, may, and will delay his Coming ſo long as that, (1.) Wicked People will begin to defy it, and to ſay, Where is the Promiſe of his coming? 2 Pet. 3. 4. They will challenge him to come, Iſa. 5. 19. Amos 5. 18. and his Delay will harden them in their Wickedneſs, Mat. 24. 48. Even his own People will begin to deſpair of it, and to conclude he will never come, becauſe he has paſt their Reckoning. God's Time to appear for his People is, when Things are brought to the laſt Extremity, and when Sion begins to ſay, the Lord has forſaken me. See Iſa. 49. 14. 40. 27. But this is our Comfort, that when the Time appointed comes, it will appear that the Unbelief of Man has not made the Promiſe of God of none Effect.

9 And he ſpake this parable unto certain which truſted in themſelves that they were righteous, and deſpiſed others: 10 Two men went up into the temple to pray; the one a Phariſee, and the other a publican. 11 The phariſee ſtood and prayed thus with himſelf, God, I thank thee, that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjuſt, adulterers, or even as this publican. 12 I faſt twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I poſſeſs. 13 And the publican ſtanding afar off, would not lift up ſo much as his eyes unto heaven, but ſmote upon his breaſt, ſaying, God be merciful to me a ſinner. 14 I tell you, this man went down to his houſe juſtified, rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; and he that humbleth himſelf, ſhall be exalted.

The Scope of this Parable likewiſe is perfix'd to it, and we are told, v. 9. who they were that it was levell'd at, and for whom it was calculated: He deſign'd it for the Conviction of ſome who truſted in themſelves, that they were righteous, and deſpiſed others. They were ſuch as had (1.) A great Conceit of themſelves, and their own Goodneſs; they thought themſelves as holy as they needed to be, and holier than all their Neighbour, and ſuch as might ſerve for Examples to them all. But that was not all. (2.) They had a Confidence in themſelves before God; and not only had a high Opinion of their own Righteouſneſs, but depended upon the Merit of it, whenever they addreſs'd to God, as their Plea; they truſted in themſelves, as being righteous; they thought they had made God their Debtor, and might demand any Thing from him: And, (3.) They deſpis'd others, and look'd upon them with Contempt, as not worthy to be compar'd with them. Now Chriſt by this Parable would ſhew ſuch their Folly, and that thereby they ſhut themſelves out from Acceptance with God. This is call'd a Parable, tho' there be Nothing of Similitude in it; but is rather a Deſcription of the different Temper and Language of thoſe that proudly juſtify themſelves, and thoſe that humbly condemn themſelves; and their different ſtanding before God. 'Tis Matter of Fact every Day.

Firſt, Here are both of theſe addreſſing themſelves to the Duty of Prayer, at the ſame Place and Time, v. 10. Two Men went up into the Temple (for the Temple ſtood upon a Hill) to pray. 'Twas not the Hour of publick Prayer, but they went thither to offer up their perſonal Devotions, as was uſual with good People at that Time, when the Temple was not only the Place, but the Medium of Worſhip, and God has promis'd in Anſwer to Solomon's Requeſt, that whatever Prayer was made in a right Manner, in or towards that Houſe, it ſhould therefore the rather be accepted. Chriſt is our Temple, and to him we muſt have an Eye in all our Approaches to God. The Phariſee and the Publican both went to the Temple to pray. Note, Among the Worſhippers of God, in the viſible Church, there is a Mixture of good and bad; of ſome that are accepted of God, and ſome that are not; and ſo it has been ever ſince Cain and Abel brought their Offering to the ſame Altar. The Phariſee, as proud as he was, could not think himſelf above Prayer: Nor could the Publican, as humble as he was, think himſelf ſhut out from the Benefit of it; but we have Reaſon to think theſe went with different Views.

1. The Phariſee went to the Temple to pray, becauſe it was a publick Place, more publick than the Corners of the Streets, and therefore he ſhould have many Eyes upon him, who would applaud his Devotion, which perhaps was more than was expected. The Character Chriſt gave of the Phariſees, that all their Works they did to be ſeen of Men, gives us Occaſion for this Suſpicion. Note, Hypocrites keep up the external Performances of Religion, only to ſave or gain Credit. There are many we ſee every Day at the Temple, whom 'tis to be fear'd we ſhall not ſee in the great Day at Chriſt's right Hand.

2. The Publican went to the Temple, beacuſe it was appointed to be a Houſe of Prayer for all People, Iſa. 56. 7. The Phariſee came to the Temple upon a Compliment, the Publican upon Buſineſs; the Phariſee to make his Appearance, the Publican to make his Requeſt. Now God ſees with what Diſpoſition and Deſign we come to wait upon him in holy Ordinances, and will judge of us accordingly.

Secondly, Here's the Phariſee's Addreſs to God (for a Prayer I cannot call it) he ſtood and pray'd thus with himſelf, v. 11, 12. ſtanding by himſelf he pray'd thus, ſo ſome read it, he was wholly intent upon himſelf, had nothing in his Eye but ſelf, his own Praiſe and not God's Glory: Or ſtanding in ſome conſpicuous Place, where he diſtinguiſh'd himſelf; or ſetting himſelf in Print with a great Deal of State and Formality, he pray'd thus. Now that which he is here ſuppos'd to ſay, is that which ſhews,

1. That he truſted to himſelf that he was righteous. A great many good Things he ſaith of himſelf, which we will ſuppoſe to be true, that he was free from groſs and ſcandalous Sins: He was not an Extortioner, not a Uſurer, not oppreſſive to Debtors or Tenants, but fair and kind to all that had Dependance upon him: He was not unjuſt in any of his Dealings; Did no Man any Wrong: He could ſay as Samuel, Whoſe Ox or whoſe Aſs have I taken? He was no Adulterer, but had poſſeſs'd his Veſſel in Sanctification and Honour. Yet this was not all, he faſted twice in the Week, partly as an Act of Temperance, partly of Devotion: The Phariſees and their Diſciples faſted twice a Week, Monday and Thurſday; thus he glorify'd God with his Body: Yet that was not all, he gave Tithes of all that he poſſeſs'd, according to the Law, and ſo glorify'd God with his worldly Eſtate: Now all this was very well and commendable. Miſerable is the Condition of thoſe who come ſhort of the Righteouſneſs of this Phariſee, and yet he was not accepted, and why was he not? (1.) His giving God Thanks for this, tho' in itſelf a good Thing, yet ſeems to be a meer Formality: He doth not ſay, By the Grace of God I am that I am, as Paul did, but turns it off with a Slight, God I thank thee, which is intended but for a plauſible Introduction to a proud vain-glorious Oſtentation to himſelf. (2.) He makes his Boaſt of this, and dwells with Delight upon this Subject, as if all his Buſineſs to the Temple was to tell God Almighty how very good he was; and he is ready to ſay with thoſe Hypocrites that we read of, Iſa. 58. 3. Wherefore have we faſted, ſay they, and thou ſeeſt not? (3.) He truſted to it as a Righteouſneſs, and not only mentions it, but pleaded it, as if hereby he had merited at the Hands of God, and made him his Debtor. (4.) Here is not one Word of Prayer in all he ſaith: He went up to the Temple to pray, but forgot his Errand, was ſo full of himſelf and his own Goodneſs, that he thought he had Need of Nothing, no, not of the Favour and Grace of God, which it ſhould ſeem he did not think worth asking.

2. That he deſpis'd others. (1.) He thought meanly of all Mankind but himſelf, I thank thee that I am not as other Men are. He ſpeaks indefinitely, as if he were better than any. We may have Reaſon to thank God that we are not as ſome Men are, that are notoriouſly wicked and vile; but to ſpeak at random thus, as if we only were good, and all beſides us were Reprobates, is to judge by Wholeſale. (2.) He thought meanly in a particular Manner of this Publican, whom he had left behind, 'tis probably, in the Court of the Gentiles, and whoſe Company he had fallen into as he came to the Temple. He knew he was a Publican, and therefore very uncharitably concluded that he was an Extortioner, Unjuſt, and all that's naught. Suppoſe it had been ſo, and he had known it, what Buſineſs had he to take Notice of it? Could not he ſay his Prayers (and that was all the Phariſees did) without Reproaching his Neighbours? Or was this a Part of his God I thank thee? And was he as much pleas'd with the Publican's Badneſs, as with his own Goodneſs? There could not be a plainer Evidence not only of the Want of Humility and Charity, but of reigning Pride and Malice, than this was.

Thirdly, Here is the Publican's Addreſs to God, which was the Reverſe of the Phariſees, as full of Humility and Humiliation, as his was of Pride and Oſtentation; and of Repentance for Sin, and Deſire towards God, as his was of Confidence in himſelf, and his own Righteouſneſs and Sufficiency.

1. He expreſs'd his Repentance and Humility in what he did; and his Geſture when he addreſs'd himſelf to his Devotions, was expreſſive of great Seriouſneſs and Humility, and the proper Clothing of a broken penitent and obedient Heart. (1.) He ſtood afar off. The Phariſee ſtood, but crowded up as high as he could to the upper End of the Court. The Publican in a Senſe of his Unworthineſs to draw near to God, kept at a Diſtance, and perhaps for Fear of offending the Phariſee, whom he obſerv'd to look ſcornfully upon him, and of diſturbing his Devotions. Hereby he own'd, that God might juſtly behold him afar off, and ſend him in a State of eternal Diſtance from him, and that it was a great Favour that God was pleas'd to admit him thus nigh. (2.) He would not lift up ſo much as his Eyes to Heaven, much leſs his Hands, as was uſual in Prayer. He did lift up his Heart to God in the Heavens, in holy Deſires, but through prevailing Shame and Humiliation, he did not lift up his Eyes in holy Confidence and Courage. His Iniquities are gone over his Head, as a heavy Burthen, ſo that he is not able to look up, Pſal. 40. 12. The Dejection of his Looks is an Indication of the Dejection of his Mind, at the Thought of Sin. (3.) He ſmote upon his Breaſt, in a holy Indignation at himſelf for Sin: Thus would I ſmite this wicked Heart of mine, the poyſon'd Fountain out of which flow all the Streams of Sin, If I could come at it. The Sinner's Heart firſt ſmites in a penitent Rebuke, 2 Sam. 24. 10. David's Heart ſmote him, Sinner, what haſt thou done? and then he ſmites his Heart with penitent Remorſe, O wretched Man that I am. Ephraim is ſaid to ſmite upon his Thigh, Jer. 31. 19. Great Mourners are here repreſented tearing upon their Breaſts, Nah. 2. 7.

2. He expreſs'd it in what he ſaid: His Prayer was ſhort; Fear and Shame hinder'd him from ſaying much; Sighs and Groans ſwallow'd up his Words; but what he ſaid was to the Purpoſe, God be merciful to me a Sinner! And bleſſed be God that we have this Prayer upon Record, as an anſwer'd Prayer, and that we are ſure he that pray'd it went to his Houſe juſtify'd; and ſo ſhall we, if we pray it as he did, through Jeſus Chriſt; God be merciful to me a Sinner; the God of infinite Mercy be merciful to me, for if he be not, I am for ever undone, for ever miſerable. God be merciful to me, for I have been cruel to myſelf. (1.) He owns himſelf a Sinner by Nature, by Practice, guilty before God; Behold I am vile, what ſhall I anſwer thee? The Phariſee denies himſelf to be a Sinner; none of his Neighbours can charge him, and ſees no Reaſon to charge himſelf with any Thing amiſs; he is clean, he is pure from Sin; but the Publican gives himſelf no other Character but that of a Sinner, a convicted Criminal at God's Bar. (2.) He has no Dependance but upon the Mercy of God, that, and that only he relies upon. The Phariſee had inſiſted upon the Merit of his Faſtings and Tithes, but the poor Publican diſclaims all Thought of Merit, and flies to Mercy, as his City of Refuge, and takes hold of the Horn of that Altar. Juſtice condemns me, Nothing will ſave me but Mercy, Mercy. (3.) He earneſtly prays for the Benefit of that Mercy, O God be merciful, be propitious to me; forgive my Sins, be reconcil'd to me; take me into thy Favour; receive me graciouſly; love me freely. He comes as a Beggar for an Alms, when he is ready to periſh for Hunger. Probably he repeated this Prayer with renew'd Affections, and perhaps ſaid more to the ſame Purpoſe; made a particular Confeſſion of his Sins, and mention'd the particular Mercies he wanted, and waited upon God for, but ſtill this was the Burthen of the Song, God be merciful to me a Sinner.

Fourthly, Here's the Publican's Acceptance with God: We have ſeen how differently theſe Two addreſs'd themſelves to God, 'tis now worth while to enquire how they ſpeed: There were thoſe who would cry up the Pharſee, and by whom he would go to his Houſe applauded, and who would look with Contempt upon this ſneaking whining Publican: But our Lord Jeſus, to whom all Hearts are open, all Deſires known, and from whom no Secret is hid, who is perfectly acquainted with all Proceedings in the Court of Heaven, aſſures us that this poor penitent broken-hearted Publican went to his Houſe juſtify'd, rather than the other. The Phariſee thought, if one of them two muſt be juſtify'd, and not the other, certainly it muſt be he, rather than the Publican: No, ſaith Chriſt, I tell you, I affirm it with the utmoſt Aſſurance, and declare it to you with the utmoſt Concern, I tell you, 'tis the Publican rather than the Pharſee. The proud Phariſee goes away rejected of God, his Thankſgivings are ſo far from being accepted, that they are an Abomination: He is not juſtify'd, his Sins are not pardon'd, nor is he deliver'd from Condemnation: He is not accepted as Righteous in God's ſight, becauſe he is ſo Righteous in his own ſight; but the Publican, upon this humble Addreſs to Heaven, obtains the Remiſſion of his Sins; and he whom the Phariſee would not ſet with the Dogs of his Flock, God ſets with the Children of his Family.

And the Reaſon given for this, is, becauſe God's Glory is to reſiſt the Proud, and give Grace to the Humble. (1.) Proud Men that exalt themſelves, are Rivals with God, and therefore they ſhall certainly be abaſed. God, in his Diſcourſe with Job, appeals to this Proof, that he is God, that he looks upon every one that is proud, and brings him low, Job 40. 12. (2.) Humble Men that abaſe themſelves, are Subjects to God, and they ſhall be exalted: God has Preferment in ſtore, for thoſe that will take it as a Favour, not for thoſe that demand it as a Debt. He ſhall be exalted into the Love of God, and Communion with him; ſhall be exalted into a Satisfaction in himſelf, and exalted at laſt as high as Heaven. See how the Puniſhment anſwers the Sin, He that exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; ſee how the Recompence anſwers the Duty, He that humbles himſelf, ſhall be exalted. See alſo the Power of God's Grace, in bringing Good out of Evil; the Publican had been a great Sinner, and out of the Greatneſs of his Sin was brought the Greatneſs of his Repentance; out of the Eater came forth Meat: And on the contrary, the Power of Satan's Malice in bringing Evil out of Good; 'twas Good that the Phariſee was no Extortioner or Unjuſt; but the Devil made him proud of this to his Ruin.

15 And they brought unto him alſo Infants, that he would touch them: but when his diſciples ſaw it, they rebuked them. 16 But Jeſus called them unto him, and ſaid, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdom of God. 17 Verily I ſay unto you, Whoſoever ſhall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child, ſhall in no wiſe enter therein.

This Paſſage of Story we had both in Matthew and Mark, it very fitly follows here after the Story of the Publican, as a Confirmation of the Truth which was to be illuſtrated by that Parable, that thoſe ſhall be accepted with God and honour'd, who humble themſelves, and for them Chriſt has Bleſſings in Store, the choiceſt and beſt of Bleſſings. Obſerve here,

1. That thoſe who are themſelves bleſſed in Chriſt, ſhould deſire to have their Children alſo bleſſed in him, and ſhould hereby teſtify the true Honour they have for Chriſt, by their making uſe of him; and the true Love they have for their Children, by their Concern about their Souls. They brought to him Infants very young, not able to go, Sucking Children as ſome think. None too little, too young, to bring to Chriſt, who knows how to ſhew Kindneſs to them, that are not capable of doing Service to him.

2. One gracious Touch of Chriſt's, will make our Children happy: They brought Infants to him, that he might touch them, in Token of the Application of his Grace and Spirit to them, for that always makes way for his Bleſſing, which likewiſe they expected; ſee Iſa. 44. 3. I will firſt pour my Spirit upon thy Seed, and then my Bleſſing upon thine Offspring.

3. 'Tis no ſtrange Thing for thoſe that make their Application to Jeſus Chriſt for themſelves, or for their Children, to meet with Diſcouragement, even from thoſe that ſhould countenance and encourage them. When the Diſciples ſaw it, they thought (if this were admitted) it would bring an endleſs Trouble upon their Maſter, and therefore they rebuked them, and frown'd upon them. The Spouſe complain'd of the Watchmen, Cant. 3. 3—5. 7.

4. Many whom the Diſciples rebuke, the Maſter invites. Jeſus call'd them unto him, when, upon the Diſciples check, they were retiring. They did not Appeal from the Diſciples to the Maſter, but the Maſter took Cognizance of their deſpiſed Cauſe.

5. 'Tis the Mind of Chriſt, that little Children ſhould be brought to him, and preſented as living Sacrifices to his Honour. Suffer little Children to come to me, and forbid them not; let nothing be done to hinder them, for they ſhall be as welcome as any. The Promiſe is to us, and to our Seed, and therefore he that has the Diſpenſing of promiſed Bleſſings, will bid them welcome to him with us.

6. The Children of thoſe that belong to the Kingdom of God, do likewiſe belong to that Kingdom, as the Children of Freemen are Freemen. If the Parents be Members of the viſible Church, the Children are ſo too; for if the Root be Holy, the Branches are ſo.

7. So welcome are Children to Chriſt, that thoſe grown People are moſt welcome to him, that have in them moſt of the Diſpoſition of Children; v. 17. Whoſoever ſhall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little Child, that is, receive the Benefits of it with Humility and Thankfulneſs, not pretending to merit them, as the Phariſee did; but gladly owning himſelf indebted to free Grace for them, as the Publican did, unleſs a Man be brought to this Self-denying Frame, he ſhall in no wiſe enter into that Kingdom. They muſt receive the Kingdom of God, as Children receive their Eſtates by Deſcent and Inheritance, not by Purchaſe, and call it their Father's Gift.

18 And a certain ruler asked him, ſaying, Good Maſter, what ſhall I do to inherit eternal life? 19 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Why calleſt thou me good? none is good ſave one, that is God. 20 Thou knoweſt the commandments, Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not ſteal, Do not bear falſe witneſs, Honour thy father and thy mother. 21 And he ſaid, All theſe have I kept from my youth up. 22 Now when Jeſus heard theſe things, he ſaid unto him, Yet lackeſt thou one thing: ſell all that thou haſt, and diſtribute unto the poor, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven: and come follow me. 23 And when he heard this, he was very ſorrowful: for he was very rich. 24 And when Jeſus ſaw that he was very ſorrowful, he ſaid, How hardly ſhall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God! 25 For it is eaſier for a camel to go thro' a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. 26 And they that heard it, ſaid, Who then can be ſaved? 27 And he ſaid, The things which are impoſſible with men, are poſſible with God. 28 Then Peter ſaid, Lo, we have left all, and followed thee. 29 And he ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, there is no man that hath left houſe, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God's ſake, 30 Who ſhall not receive manifold more in this preſent time, and in the world to come life everlaſting.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's Diſcourſe with a Ruler, that had a good mind to be directed by him in the Way to Heaven. In which we may obſerve,

1. 'Tis a Bleſſed Sight to ſee Perſons of Diſtinction in the World, diſtinguiſh themſelves from others of their Rank, by their Concern about their Souls and another Life. Luke takes Notice of it, that he was a Ruler; few of the Rulers had any Eſteem for Chriſt, but here was one that had, whether a Church or State Ruler doth not appear, but he was one in Authority.

2. The great Thing we are every one of us concern'd to enquire after, is, what we ſhall do to get to Heaven; what we ſhall do to inherit Eternal Life; which implies ſuch a Belief of an Eternal Life after this, as Atheiſts and Infidels have not; ſuch a Concern to make it ſure, as a careleſs unthinking World have not, and ſuch a Willingneſs to comply with any Terms that it may be made ſure, as thoſe have not that are reſolvedly devoted to the World and the Fleſh.

3. Thoſe that would inherit Eternal Life, muſt apply themſelves to Jeſus Chriſt as their Maſter, their Teaching Maſter, ſo it ſignifies here; (διδασκαλε) and their Ruling Maſter here, and ſo they ſhall for certain find him. There's no learning the Way to Heaven, but in the School of Chriſt, by thoſe that enter themſelves into it, and ſtick to it.

4. Thoſe that come to Chriſt as their Maſter, muſt believe him to have not only a Divine Miſſion, but a Divine Goodneſs. Chriſt would have this Ruler know, that if he underſtood himſelf aright in calling him Good, he did in Effect call him God, and indeed he was ſo, v. 19. Why calleſt thou me Good? Thou knoweſt there is none Good but One, that is God; and doſt thou then take me for God? If ſo, thou art in the Right.

The Scope of this Parable likewiſe is perfix'd to it, and we are told, v. 9. who they were that it was levell'd at, and for whom it was calculated : He deſign'd it for the Conviction of ſome who truſted in themſelves, that they were righteous, and deſpiſed others. They were ſuch as had (1.) A great Conceit of themſelves, and their own Goodneſs ; they thought themſelves as holy as they needed to be, and holier than all their Neighbour, and ſuch as might ſerve for Examples to them all. But that was not all. (2.) They had a Confidence in themſelves before God ; and not only had a high Opinion of their own Righteouſneſs, but depended upon the Merit of it, whenever they addreſs'd to God, as their Plea ; they truſted in themſelves, as being righteous ; they thought they had made God their Debtor, and might demand any Thing from him : And, (3.) They deſpis'd others, and look'd upon them with Contempt, as not worthy to be compar'd with them. Now Chriſt by this Parable would ſhew ſuch their Folly, and that thereby they ſhut themſelves out from Acceptance with God. This is call'd a Parable, tho' there be Nothing of Similitude in it ; but is rather a Deſcription of the different Temper and Language of thoſe that proudly juſtify themſelves, and thoſe that humbly condemn themſelves ; and their different ſtanding before God. 'Tis Matter of Fact every Day.

Firſt, Here are both of theſe addreſſing themſelves to the Duty of Prayer, at the ſame Place and Time, v, 10. Two Men went up into the Temple (for the Temple ſtood upon a Hill) to pray. 'Twas not the Hour of publick Prayer, but they went thither to offer up their perſonal Devotions, as was uſual with good People at that Time, when the Temple was not only the Place, but the Medium of Worſhip, and God has promis'd in Anſwer to Solomon's Requeſt, that whatever Prayer was made in a right Manner, in or towards that Houſe, it ſhould therefore the rather be accepted. Chriſt is our Temple, and to him we muſt have an Eye in all our Approaches to God. The Phariſee and the Publican both went to the Temple to pray. Note, Among the Worſhippers of God, in the viſible Church, there is a Mixture of good and bad ; of ſome that are accepted of God, and ſome that are not ; and ſo it has been ever ſince Cain and Abel brought their Offering to the ſame Altar. The Phariſee, as proud as he was, could not think himſelf above Prayer : Nor could the Publican, as humble as he was, think himſelf ſhut out from the Benefit of it ; but we have Reaſon to think theſe went with different Views.

1. The Phariſee went to the Temple to pray, becauſe it was a publick Place, more publick than the Corners of the Streets, and therefore he ſhould have many Eyes upon him, who would applaud his Devotion, which perhaps was more than was expected. The Character Chriſt gave of the Phariſees, that all their Works they did to be ſeen of Men, gives us Occaſion for this Suſpicion. Note, Hypocrites keep up the external Performances of Religion, only to ſave or gain Credit. There are many we ſee every Day at the Temple, whom 'tis to be fear'd we ſhall not ſee in the great Day at Chriſt's right Hand.

2. The Publican went to the Temple, beacuſe it was appointed to be a Houſe of Prayer for all People, Iſa. 56. 7. The Phariſee came to the Temple upon a Compliment, the Publican upon Buſineſs ; the Phariſee to make his Appearance, the Publican to make his Requeſt. Now God ſees with what Diſpoſition and Deſign we come to wait upon him in holy Ordinances, and will judge of us accordingly.

Secondly, Here's the Phariſee's Addreſs to God (for a Prayer I cannot call it) he ſtood and pray'd thus with himſelf, v. 11, 12. ſtanding by himſelf he pray'd thus, ſo ſome read it, he was wholly intent upon himſelf, had nothing in his Eye but ſelf, his own Praiſe and not God's Glory : Or ſtanding in ſome conſpicuous Place, where he diſtinguiſh'd himſelf ; or ſettting himſelf in Print with a great Deal of State and Formality, he pray'd thus. Now that which he is here ſuppos'd to ſay, is that which ſhews,

1. That he truſted to himſelf that he was righteous. A great many good Things he ſaith of himſelf, which we will ſuppoſe to be true, that he was free from groſs and ſcandalous Sins : He was not an Extortioner, not a Uſurer, not oppreſſive to Debtors or Tenants, but fair and kind to all that had Dependance upon him : He was not unjuſt in any of his Dealings ; Did no Man any Wrong : He could ſay as Samuel, Whoſe Ox or whoſe Aſs have I taken? He was no Adulterer, but had poſſeſs'd his Veſſel in Sanctification and Honour. Yet this was not all, he faſted twice in the Week, partly as an Act of Temperance, partly of Devotion : The Phariſees and their Diſciples faſted twice a Week, Monday and Thurſday ; thus he glorify'd God with his Body : Yet that was not all, he gave Tithes of all that he poſſeſs'd, according to the Law, and ſo glorify'd God with his worldly Eſtate : Now all this was very well and commendable. Miſerable is the Condition of thoſe who come ſhort of the Righteouſneſs of this Phariſee, and yet he was not accepted, and why was he not? (1.) His giving God Thanks for this, tho' in itſelf a good Thing, yet ſeems to be a meer Formality : He doth not ſay, By the Grace of God I am that I am, as Paul did, but turns it off with a Slight, God I thank thee, which is intended but for a plauſible Introduction to a proud vain-glorious Oſtentation to himſelf. (2.) He makes his Boaſt of this, and dwells with Delight upon this Subject, as if all his Buſineſs to the Temple was to tell God Almighty how very good he was ; and he is ready to ſay with thoſe Hypocrites that we read of, Iſa. 58. 3. Wherefore have we faſted, ſay they, and thou ſeeſt not? (3.) He truſted to it as a Righteouſneſs, and not only mentions it, but pleaded it, as if hereby he had merited at the Hands of God, and made him his Debtor. (4.) Here is not one Word of Prayer in all he ſaith : He went up to the Temple to pray, but forgot his Errand, was ſo full of himſelf and his own Goodneſs, that he thought he had Need of Nothing, no, not of the Favour and Grace of God, which it ſhould ſeem he did not think worth asking.

2. That he deſpis'd others. (1.) He thought meanly of all Mankind but himſelf, I thank thee that I am not as other Men are. He ſpeaks indefinitely, as if he were better than any. We may have Reaſon to thank God that we are not as ſome Men are, that are notoriouſly wicked and vile ; but to ſpeak at random thus, as if we only were good, and all beſides us were Reprobates, is to judge by Wholeſale. (2.) He thought meanly in a particular Manner of this Publican, whom he had left behind, 'tis probably, in the Court of the Gentiles, and whoſe Company he had fallen into as he came to the Temple. He knew he was a Publican, and therefore very uncharitably concluded that he was an Extortioner, Unjuſt, and all that's naught. Suppoſe it had been ſo, and he had known it, what Buſineſs had he to take Notice of it? Could not he ſay his Prayers (and that was all the Phariſees did) without Reproaching his Neighbours? Or was this a Part of his God I thank thee? And was he as much pleas'd with the Publican's Badneſs, as with his own Goodneſs? There could not be a plainer Evidence not only of the Want of Humility and Charity, but of reigning Pride and Malice, than this was.

Thirdly, Here is the Publican's Addreſs to God, which was the Reverſe of the Phariſees, as full of Humility and Humiliation, as his was of Pride and Oſtentation ; and of Repentance for Sin, and Deſire towards God, as his was of Confidence in himſelf, and his own Righteouſneſs and Sufficiency.

1. He expreſs'd his Repentance and Humility in what he did ; and his Geſture when he addreſs'd himſelf to his Devotions, was expreſſive of great Serioufneſs and Humility, and the proper Clothing of a broken penitent and obedient Heart. (1.) He ſtood afar off. The Phariſee ſtood, but crowded up as high as he could to the upper End of the Court. The Publican in a Senſe of his Unworthineſs to draw near to God, kept at a Diſtance, and perhaps for Fear of offending the Phariſee, whom he obſerv'd to look ſcornfully upon him, and of diſturbing his Devotions. Hereby he own'd, that God might juſtly behold him afar off, and ſend him in a State of eternal Diſtance from him, and that it was a great Favour that God was pleas'd to admit him thus nigh. (2.) He would not lift up ſo much as his Eyes to Heaven, much leſs his Hands, as was uſual in Prayer. He did lift up his Heart to God in the Heavens, in holy Deſires, but through prevailing Shame and Humiliation, he did not lift up his Eyes in holy Confidence and Courage. His Iniquities are gone over his Head, as a heavy Burthen, ſo that he is not able to look up, Pſal. 40. 12. The Dejection of his Looks is an Indication of the Dejection of his Mind, at the Thought of Sin. (3.) He ſmote upon his Breaſt, in a holy Indignation at himſelf for Sin : Thus would I ſmite this wicked Heart of mine, the poyſon'd Fountain out of which flow all the Streams of Sin, If I could come at it. The Sinner's Heart firſt ſmites in a penitent Rebuke, 2 Sam. 24. 10. David's Heart ſmote him, Sinner, what haſt thou done? and then he ſmites his Heart with penitent Remorſe, O wretched Man that I am. Ephraim is ſaid to ſmite upon his Thigh, Jer. 31. 19. Great Mourners are here repreſented tearing upon their Breaſts, Nah. 2. 7.

2. He expreſs'd it in what he ſaid : His Prayer was ſhort ; Fear and Shame hinder'd him from ſaying much ; Sighs and Groans ſwallow'd up his Words; but what he ſaid was to the Purpoſe, God be merciful to me a Sinner! And bleſſed be God that we have this Prayer upon Record, as an anſwer'd Prayer, and that we are ſure he that pray'd it went to his Houſe juſtify'd ; and ſo ſhall we, if we pray it as he did, through Jeſus Chriſt ; God be merciful to me a Sinner ; the God of infinite Mercy be merciful to me, for if he be not, I am for ever undone, for ever miſerable. God be merciful to me, for I have been cruel to myſelf. (1.) He owns himſelf a Sinner by Nature, by Practice, guilty before God ; Behold I am vile, what ſhall I anſwer thee? The Phariſee denies himſelf to be a Sinner ; none of his Neighbours can charge him, and ſees no Reaſon to charge himſelf with any Thing amiſs ; he is clean, he is pure from Sin ; but the Publican gives himſelf no other Character but that of a Sinner, a convicted Criminal at God's Bar. (2.) He has no Dependance but upon the Mercy of God, that, and that only he relies upon. The Phariſee had inſiſted upon the Merit of his Faſtings and Tithes, but the poor Publican diſclaims all Thought of Merit, and flies to Mercy, as his City of Refuge, and takes hold of the Horn of that Altar. Juſtice condemns me, Nothing will ſave me but Mercy, Mercy. (3.) He earneſtly prays for the Benefit of that Mercy, O God be merciful, be propitious to me ; forgive my Sins, be reconcil'd to me; take me into thy Favour; receive me gracioufly; love me freely. He comes as a Beggar for an Alms, when he is ready to periſh for Hunger. Probably he repeated this Prayer with renew'd Affections, and perhaps ſaid more to the ſame Purpoſe; made a particular Confeſſion of his Sins, and mention'd the particular Mercies he wanted, and waited upon God for, but ſtill this was the Burthen of the Song, God be merciful to me a Sinner.

Fourthly, Here's the Publican's Acceptance with God: We have ſeen how differently theſe Two addreſs'd themſelves to God, 'tis now worth while to enquire how they ſpeed: There were thoſe who would cry up the Pharſee, and by whom he would go to his Houſe applauded, and who would look with Contempt upon this ſneaking whining Publican: But our Lord Jeſus, to whom all Hearts are open, all Deſires known, and from whom no Secret is hid, who is perfectly acquainted with all Proceedings in the Court of Heaven, aſſures us that this poor penitent broken-hearted Publican went to his Houſe juſtify'd, rather than the other. The Phariſee thought, if one of them two muſt be juſtify'd, and not the other, certainly it muſt be he, rather than the Publican: No, ſaith Chriſt, I tell you, I affirm it with the utmoſt Aſſurance, and declare it to you with the utmoſt Concern, I tell you, 'tis the Publican rather than the Pharſee. The proud Phariſee goes away rejected of God, his Thankſgivings are ſo far from being accepted, that they are an Abomination: He is not juſtify'd, his Sins are not pardon'd, nor is he deliver'd from Condemnation: He is not accepted as Righteous in God's ſight, becauſe he is ſo Righteous in his own ſight; but the Publican, upon this humble Addreſs to Heaven, obtains the Remiſſion of his Sins; and he whom the Phariſee would not ſet with the Dogs of his Flock, God ſets with the Children of his Family.

7. So welcome are Children to Chriſt, that thoſe grown People are moſt welcome to him, that have in them moſt of the Diſpoſition of Children; v. 17. Whoſoever ſhall not receive the Kingdom of God as a little Child, that is, receive the Benefits of it with Humility and Thankfulneſs, not pretending to merit them, as the Phariſee did; but gladly owning himſelf indebted to free Grace for them, as the Publican did, unleſs a Man be brought to this Self-denying Frame, he ſhall in no wiſe enter into that Kingdom. They muſt receive the Kingdom of God, as Children receive their Eſtates by Deſcent and Inheritance, not by Purchaſe, and call it their Father's Gift.

18 And a certain ruler asked him, ſaying, Good Maſter, what ſhall I do to inherit eternal life? 19 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Why calleſt thou me good? none is good ſave one, that is God. 20 Thou knoweſt the commandments, Do not commit adultery, Do not kill, Do not ſteal, Do not bear falſe witneſs, Honour thy father and thy mother. 21 And he ſaid, All theſe have I kept from my youth up. 22 Now when Jeſus heard theſe things, he ſaid unto him, Yet lackeſt thou one thing: ſell all that thou haſt, and diſtribute unto the poor, and thou ſhalt have treaſure in heaven: and come follow me. 23 And when he heard this, he was very ſorrowful: for he was very rich. 24 And when Jeſus ſaw that he was very ſorrowful, he ſaid, How hardly ſhall they that have riches enter into the kingdom of God! 25 For it is eaſier for a camel to go thro' a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God. 26 And they that heard it, ſaid, Who then can be ſaved? 27 And he ſaid, The things which are impoſſible with men, are poſſible with God. 28 Then Peter ſaid, Lo, we have left all, and followed thee. 29 And he ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay unto you, there is no man that hath left houſe, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children, for the kingdom of God's ſake, 30 Who ſhall not receive manifold more in this preſent time, and in the world to come life everlaſting.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's Diſcourſe with a Ruler, that had a good mind to be directed by him in the Way to Heaven. In which we may obſerve,

1. 'Tis a Bleſſed Sight to ſee Perſons of Diſtinction in the World, diſtinguiſh themſelves from others of their Rank, by their Concern about their Souls and another Life. Luke takes Notice of it, that he was a Ruler; few of the Rulers had any Eſteem for Chriſt, but here was one that had, whether a Church or State Ruler doth not appear, but he was one in Authority.

2. The great Thing we are every one of us concern'd to enquire after, is, what we ſhall do to get to Heaven; what we ſhall do to inherit Eternal Life; which implies ſuch a Belief of an Eternal Life after this, as Atheiſts and Infidels have not; ſuch a Concern to make it ſure, as a careleſs unthinking World have not, and ſuch a Willingneſs to comply with any Terms that it may be made ſure, as thoſe have not that are reſolvedly devoted to the World and the Fleſh.

3. Thoſe that would inherit Eternal Life, muſt apply themſelves to Jeſus Chriſt as their Maſter, their Teaching Maſter, ſo it ſignifies here; (Διδάσκαλε) and their Ruling Maſter here, and ſo they ſhall for certain find him. There's no learning the Way to Heaven, but in the School of Chriſt, by thoſe that enter themſelves into it, and ſtick to it.

4. Thoſe that come to Chriſt as their Maſter, muſt believe him to have not only a Divine Miſſion, but a Divine Goodneſs. Chriſt would have this Ruler know, that if he underſtood himſelf aright in calling him Good, he did in Effect call him God, and indeed he was ſo, v. 19. Why calleſt thou me Good? Thou knoweſt there is none Good but One, that is God; and doſt thou then take me for God? If ſo, thou art in the Right.

5. Our Maſter, Chriſt himſelf, has not alter'd the Way to Heaven from what it was before his coming, but only has made it more plain and eaſy, and comfortable, and provided for our Relief, in caſe we take any falſe Step. Thou knoweſt the Commandments; Chriſt came not to deſtroy the Law and the Prophets, but to eſtabliſh them. Would'ſt thou inherit Eternal Life, govern thyſelf by the Commandments.

6. The Duties of the Second Table muſt be conſcientiouſly obſerv'd, in order to our Happineſs, and we muſt not think that any Acts of Devotion, how plauſible ſoever, will atone for the Neglect of them. Nor is it enough to keep ourſelves free from the groſs Violations of theſe Commandments, but we muſt know theſe Commandments, as Chriſt has explain'd them in his Sermon upon the Mount, in their Extent and Spiritual Nature, and ſo obſerve them.

7. Men think themſelves Innocent, becauſe they are Ignorant, ſo this Ruler did: He ſaid, All theſe have I kept from my Youth up, v. 21. He knows no more Evil by himſelf, than the Phariſee did, v. 11. He boaſts that he began early in a Courſe of Virtue; that he had continu'd in it to this day, and that he had not in any Inſtance tranſgreſs'd. Had he been acquainted with the Extent and Spiritual Nature of the Divine Law, with the Workings of his own Heart, had he been but Chriſt's Diſciple a while, and learn'd of him, he would have ſaid the quite contrary, All theſe have I broken from my Youth up, in Thought, Word, and Deed.

8. The great Things by which we are to try our Spiritual State, are, how we ſtand affected to Chriſt and to our Brethren, to this World, and to the other; by theſe this Man was try'd: For, (1.) if he has a true Affection to Chriſt, he will come and follow him, will attend to his Doctrine, and ſubmit to his Diſcipline, whatever it coſt him. None ſhall inherit Eternal Life, who are not willing to take their Lot with the Lord Jeſus, to follow the Lamb whereſoever he goes. (2.) If he have a true Affection to his Brethren, he will, as there is Occaſion, diſtribute to the Poor, who are God's Receivers of his Dues, out of our Eſtates. (3.) If he think meanly of this World, as he ought, he will not ſtick at ſelling what he has, if there be a Neceſſity for it, for the Relief of God's Poor. (4.) If he think highly of the other World, as he ought, he will deſire no more but to have Treaſure in Heaven, and will reckon that a ſufficient abundant Recompence for all that he hath left or loſt, or laid out for God in this World.

9. There are many that have a great deal in them, that is very commendable, and yet they periſh for lack of ſome one Thing; ſo this Ruler here, he broke with Chriſt upon this, he liked all his Terms very well, but this, which would part between him and his Eſtate: In this, I pray thee, have me excus'd. If this be the Bargain, 'tis no Bargain.

10. Many that are loth to leave Chriſt, yet do leave him. After a long Struggle between their Convictions and their Corruptions, their Corruptions carry the Day at laſt; they are very ſorry they cannot ſerve God and Mammon both, but if one muſt be quitted, it ſhall be their God, not their worldly Gain.

Secondly, Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples upon this Occaſion: In which we may obſerve,

1. That Riches are a great Hindrance to many, in the Way to Heaven. Chriſt took Notice of the Reluctancy and Regret with which the Rich Man broke off from him, he ſaw that he was very ſorrowful, and was ſorry for him; but from thence he infers, How hardly ſhall they that have Riches enter into the Kingdom of God? v. 24. If this Ruler had had but as little of the World, as Peter, and James, and John had, in all Probability he would have left it to follow Chriſt as they did; but having a great Eſtate, it had a great Influence upon him, and he choſe rather to take his Leave of Chriſt, than to lay himſelf under an Obligation to diſpoſe of his Eſtate in charitable Uſes. Chriſt aſſerts the Difficulty of the Salvation of Rich People very emphatically, v. 25. It is eaſier for a Camel to go thro' a Needle's Eye, than for a Rich Man to enter into the Kingdom of God. 'Tis a proverbial Expreſſion, that ſpeaks the Thing extremely difficult.

2. That ſuch a general Affection there is in the Hearts of all People to this World, and the Things of it, that ſince Chriſt has requir'd it as neceſſary to Salvation, that we ſhould ſit looſe to this World, 'tis really very hard for any to get to Heaven: If we muſt ſell all, or break with Chriſt, who then can be ſav'd? v. 26. They do not find fault with what Chriſt requir'd, as hard and unreaſonable: No, 'tis very fit, that they who expect an Eternal Happineſs in the other World, ſhould be willing to forego all that's dear to them in this World, in Expectation of it. But they know how cloſely the Hearts of the moſt of Men cleave to this World, and are ready to deſpair of their being ever brought to this.

3. That there are ſuch Difficulties in the Way of our Salvation, as could never be got over but by pure Omnipotence; by that Grace of God which is Almighty; and to which that is poſſible, which exceeds all created Power and Wiſdom. The things which are impoſſible with Men, and utterly impoſſible it is that Men ſhould work ſuch a Change upon their own Spirits as to turn them from the World to God, ('tis like dividing the Sea, and driving Jordan back) theſe Things are poſſible with God: His Grace can work upon the Soul, ſo as to alter the Bent and Biaſs of it, and give it a contrary Ply; and 'tis he that works in us both to will and to do.

4. That there is an Aptneſs in us to ſpeak too much of what we have left and loſt, of what we have done and ſuffer'd for Chriſt. This appears in Peter, v. 28. Lo, we have left all and followed thee; when it came in his Way, he could not forbear magnifying his own and his Brethrens Affections to Chriſt, in quitting all to follow him. But this we ſhould be ſo far from boaſting of, that we ſhould rather acknowledge it not worth taking Notice of, and be aſham'd of ourſelves that there has been any Regret and Difficulty in the doing of it, and any Hankerings towards thoſe Things afterwards.

5. That whatever we have left or laid out for Chriſt, it ſhall, without fail, be abundantly made up to us in this World, and that to come, notwithſtanding our Weakneſſes and Infirmities, v. 29, 30. There is no Man that has left the Comfort of his Eſtate or Relations for the Kingdom of God's ſake, rather than they ſhould hinder either his Services to that Kingdom, or his Enjoyments of it, who ſhall not receive manyfold more in this preſent Time, in the Graces and Comforts of God's Spirit, in the Pleaſures of Communion with God, and of a good Conſcience; Advantages which (to thoſe who know how to value and improve them) will abundantly countervail all their Loſſes. Yet, that is not all, in the World to come they ſhall receive Life everlaſting, which is the Thing that the Ruler ſeem'd to have his Eye and Heart upon.

31 ¶ Then he took unto him the twelve, and ſaid unto them, Behold, we go up to Jeruſalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the ſon of man ſhall be accompliſhed. 32 For he ſhall be delivered unto the Gentiles, and ſhall be mocked, and ſpitefully treated, and ſpitted on; 33 And they ſhall ſcourge him, and put him to death: and the third day he ſhall riſe again. 34 And they underſtood none of theſe things: and this ſaying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were ſpoken.

Here's 1. The Notice Chriſt gave to his Diſciples of his Sufferings and Death approaching, and of the glorious Iſſue of them, which he himſelf had a perfect Sight and Foreknowledge of, and thought it neceſſary to give them Warning of, that it might be the leſs Surprize and Terror to them.

Two Things here are, which we had not in the other Evangeliſts. (1.) That the Sufferings of Chriſt are here ſpoken as the Fulfilling of the Scriptures, with which Conſideration Chriſt reconcil'd himſelf to them, and would reconcile them. All things that are written by the Prophets, concerning the Son of Man, eſpecially the Hardſhips he ſhould undergo, ſhall be accompliſh'd.

Note, The Spirit of Chriſt, in the Old Teſtament Prophets, teſtify'd before-hand his Sufferings, and the Glory that ſhould follow, 1 Pet. 1. 11. This proves that the Scriptures are the Word of God, for they had their exact and full Accompliſhment; and that Jeſus Chriſt was ſent of God, for they had their Accompliſhment in him; this was he that ſhould come, for whatever was foretold concerning the Meſſiah, was verify'd in him; and he would ſubmit to any Thing for the fulfilling of Scripture, that not one Jot or Tittle of that ſhould fall to the Ground. This makes the Offence of the Croſs to ceaſe, and puts an Honour upon it. Thus it was written, and thus it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer; thus it became him. (2.) That the Ignominy and Diſgrace done to Chriſt in his Sufferings is here moſt inſiſted upon. The other Evangeliſts had ſaid, he ſhould be mocked; but here it is added, He ſhould be ſpitefully treated, ὑβρισθήσεται, he ſhall be loaded with Contumely and Contempt, ſhall have all poſſible Reproach put upon him. This was that part of his Sufferings, by which, in a Spiritual Manner, he ſatisfy'd God's Juſtice for the Injury we had done him in his Honour by Sin. Here's one particular Inſtance of Diſgrace done him, that he was ſpit upon, which had been particularly foretold, Iſa. 50. 6. But here, as always, when Chriſt ſpoke of his Sufferings and Death, he foretold his Reſurrection, as that which took off both the Terror and Reproach of his Sufferings; The Third Day he ſhall Riſe again.

2. The Confuſion that the Diſciples were hereby put into; this was ſo contrary to the Notions they had had of the Meſſiah and his Kingdom, ſuch a Baulk to their Expectations from their Maſter, and ſuch a Breaking of all their Meaſures, that they underſtood none of theſe Things, v. 34. Their Prejudices were ſo ſtrong, that they would not underſtand them literally, and they could not underſtand them otherwiſe, ſo that they did not underſtand them at all; 'twas a Myſtery, 'twas a Riddle to them, it muſt be ſo, it muſt be ſo; but they think it impoſſible to be reconcil'd with the Glory and Honour of the Meſſiah, and the Deſigns of ſetting up his Kingdom. This Saying was hid from them, κεκρυμμένον ἀπ' αὐτῶν, 'twas Apocrypha to them, they could not receive it; for their Parts, they had read the Old Teſtament many a Time, but they could never ſee any Thing in it that ſhould be accompliſh'd, in the Diſgrace and Death of this Meſſiah. They were ſo intent upon the Prophecies, that ſpoke of his Glory, that they overlook'd thoſe which ſpoke of his Sufferings, which the Scribes and Doctors of the Law ſhould have directed them to take Notice of, and ſhould have brought into their Creeds and Catechiſms as well as the other; but they did not ſuit their Scheme, and therefore were laid aſide. Note, Therefore it is that People run into Miſtakes, becauſe they read their Bibles by the Halves, and are as partial in the Prophets as they are in the Law. They are only for the ſmooth Things; Iſa. 30. 10. Thus now we are too apt in reading the Prophecies, that are yet to be fulfill'd, to have our Expectations rais'd of the Glorious State of the Church in the latter Days; but we overlook its Wilderneſs, Sackcloth State, and are willing to fancy that's over, and nothing is reſerv'd for us, but the Halcyon Days; and then, when Tribulation and Perſecution ariſeth, we do not underſtand it, neither know we the Things that are done; tho' we are told as plainly as can be, that thro' many Tribulations we muſt enter into the Kingdom of God.

35 ¶ And it came to paſs, that as he was come nigh unto Jericho, a certain blind man ſat by the way ſide begging. 36 And hearing the multitude paſs by, he asked what it meant. 37 And they told him, that Jeſus of Nazareth paſſeth by. 38 And he cried, ſaying, Jeſus, thou ſon of David, have mercy on me. 39 And they which went before, rebuked him, that he ſhould hold his peace: but he cried ſo much the more, Thou ſon of David, have mercy on me. 40 And Jeſus ſtood and commanded him to be brought unto him: and when he was come near, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I ſhall do unto thee? And he ſaid, Lord, that I may receive my ſight. 42 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Receive thy ſight: thy faith hath ſaved thee. 43 And immediately he received his ſight, and followed him, glorifying God: and all the people, when they ſaw it, gave praiſe unto God.

Chriſt came not only to bring Light to a Dark World, and ſo to ſet before us the Objects we are to have in View, but alſo to give Sight to blind Souls, and by healing the Organ to enable them to view thoſe Objects: As a Token of this, he cured many of their Bodily Blindneſs; we have now an Account of one to whom he gave Sight near Jericho. Mark gives us an Account of one, and names him, whom he cured as he went out of Jericho, Mark 10. 46. Matthew ſpeaks of two, whom he cured as they departed from Jericho, Mat. 20. 30. Luke ſaith it was ἐν τῷ ἐγγίζειν αὐτὸν, when he was near to Jericho, which might be when he was going out of it, as well as when he was coming into it. Obſerve,

1. This poor blind Man ſat by the Way-ſide begging, v. 35. It ſeems he was not only blind but poor, had nothing to ſubſiſt on, nor any Relations to maintain him; the fitter Emblem of the World of Mankind, which Chriſt came to heal and ſave; they are therefore wretched and miſerable, for they are both poor and blind, Rev. 3. 17.--- He ſat begging, for he was blind and could not work for his Living. Note, Thoſe ought to be relieved by Charity, whom the Providence of God has any way diſabled to get their own Bread. Such Objects of Charity, by the Way-ſide, ought not to be overlook'd by us; Chriſt here caſt a favourable Eye upon a Common Beggar, and tho' there are Cheats among ſuch, yet they muſt not therefore be all thought ſo.

2. Hearing the Noiſe of a Multitude paſſing by, he ask'd what it meant, v. 36. This we had not before; it teacheth us that it is good to be Inquiſitive, and thoſe who are ſo, ſome Time or other find the Benefit of it. Thoſe that want their Sight, ſhould make ſo much the better Uſe of their Hearing; and when they cannot ſee with their own Eyes, ſhould, by asking Queſtions, make Uſe of other People's Eyes. So this blind Man did, and by that Means came to underſtand that Jeſus of Nazareth paſſed by, v. 37. It's good being in Chriſt's Way; and when we have an Opportunity of applying ourſelves to him, not to let it ſlip.

3. His Prayer has in it a great deal both of Faith and Fervency, Jeſus thou Son of David, have Mercy on me, v. 38. He owns Chriſt to be the Son of David, the Meſſiah promis'd, he believes him to be Jeſus, a Saviour, he believes he is able to help and ſuccour him, and earneſtly begs his Favour; have Mercy on me, pardon my Sin, pity my Miſery. Chriſt is a merciful King, thoſe that apply themſelves to him as the Son of David, ſhall find him ſo, and ask enough for themſelves, when they pray have Mercy on us; for Chriſt's Mercy includes all.

4. Thoſe that are in good Earneſt for Chriſt's Favours and Bleſſings, will not be put by from the Purſuit of them, tho' they meet with Oppoſition and Rebuke. They that went along chid him as troubleſome to the Maſter, noiſy and impertinent, and bid him hold his Peace; but he went on with his Petition; nay, the Check given him was but as a Dam to a full Stream, which makes it ſwell ſo much the more; He cried the louder, Son of David have Mercy on me. Thoſe that would ſpeed in Prayer, muſt be importunate in Prayer. This Hiſtory in the Cloſe of the Chapter ſpeaks the ſame Thing with the Parable in the Beginning of the Chapter, That Men ought always to pray, and not to faint.

5. Chriſt encourageth poor Beggars, whom Men frown upon, and invites them to come to him, and is ready to entertain them, and bid them welcome; He commanded him to be brought to him. Note, Chriſt has more Tenderneſs and Compaſſion for diſtreſſed Supplicants, than any of his Followers have. Tho' Chriſt was upon his Journey, yet he ſtop'd, and ſtood, and commanded him to be brought to him. Thoſe that have check'd him, muſt now lend him their Hands to lead him to Chriſt.

6. Tho' Chriſt knows all our Wants, he will know them from us; v. 41. What wilt thou that I ſhall do unto thee? By ſpreading our Caſe before God, and a particular Remonſtrance of our Wants and Burthens, we teach ourſelves to value the Mercy we are in purſuit of; and 'tis neceſſary we ſhould, elſe we are not fit to receive it. This Man pour'd out his Soul before Chriſt, when he ſaid, Lord, that I may receive my Sight. Thus particular ſhould we be in Prayer, upon particular Occaſions.

7. The Prayer of Faith guided by Chriſt's encouraging Promiſes, and grounded on them, ſhall not be in vain; nay, it ſhall not only receive an Anſwer of Peace, but of Honour, v. 42. Chriſt ſaid, Receive thy Sight, thy Faith has made thee whole. True Faith will produce Fervency in Prayer, and both together will fetch in Abundance of the Fruits of Chriſt's Favour; and they are then doubly comfortable, when they come in that Way; when we are ſaved by Faith.

8. The Grace of Chriſt ought to be thankfully acknowledged to the Glory of God, v. 43. (1.) The poor Beggar himſelf that had his Sight reſtor'd, follow'd Chriſt, glorifying God. Chriſt made it his Buſineſs to glorify his Father; and thoſe whom he heal'd, then pleas'd him beſt when they prais'd God, as thoſe ſhall pleaſe God beſt that praiſe Chriſt, and do him Honour; for in confeſſing that he is Lord, we give Glory to God the Father. 'Tis for the Glory of God if we follow Chriſt, as thoſe will do whoſe Eyes are open'd. (2.) The People that ſaw it could not forbear giving Praiſe to God, who had given ſuch Power to the Son of Man, and by him had confer'd ſuch Favours on the Sons of Men. Note, We muſt give Praiſe to God for his Mercies to others, as well as for Mercies to ourſelves.

CHAP. XIX.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) The Converſion of Zaccheus the Publican at Jericho, v. 1---10. (2.) The Parable of the Pounds which the King entruſted with his Servants, and of his Rebellious Citizens, v. 11---27. (3.) Chriſt's riding in Triumph (ſuch Triumph as it was) into Jeruſalem; and his Lamentation in Proſpect of the Ruin of that City, v. 28---44. (4.) His Teaching in the Temple, and caſting the Buyers and Sellers out of it, v. 45---48.

1 AND Jeſus entred, and paſſed thro' Jericho. 2 And behold, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the chief among the publicans, and he was rich. 3 And he ſought to ſee Jeſus who he was, and could not for the preſs, becauſe he was little of ſtature. 4 And he ran before, and climbed up in a ſycomore-tree to ſee him; for he was to paſs that way. 5 And when Jeſus came to the place, he looked up and ſaw him, and ſaid unto him, Zaccheus, make haſte, and come down; for to day I muſt abide at thy houſe. 6 And he made haſte, and came down, and received him joyfully. 7 And when they ſaw it, they all murmured, ſaying, That he was gone to be gueſt with a man that is a ſinner. 8 And Zaccheus ſtood, and ſaid unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor: and if I have taken any thing from any man by falſe accuſation, I reſtore him four-fold. 9 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, This day is ſalvation come to this houſe, forſomuch as he alſo is the ſon of Abraham. 10 For the ſon of man is come to ſeek and to ſave that which was loſt.

Many, no doubt, were converted to the Faith of Chriſt, of whom no Account is kept in the Goſpels; but the Converſion of ſome, whoſe Caſe had ſomething in it extraordinary, is recorded, as this of Zaccheus. Chriſt paſſed thro' Jericho; v. 1. That City was built under a Curſe, yet Chriſt honour'd it with his Preſence, for the Goſpel takes away the Curſe. Tho' it ought not to have been built, yet it was not therefore a Sin to live in it when it was built. Chriſt was now going from the other ſide Jordan to Bethany, near Jeruſalem, to raiſe Lazarus to Life; when he was going to do one good Work, he contrived to do many by the Way. He did Good both to the Souls and to the Bodies of People; we have here an Inſtance of the former. Obſerve, Firſt, Who and what this Zaccheus was.

His Name ſpeaks him a Jew, Zaccai was a common Name among the Jews; They had a famous Rabbin much about this Time of that Name. Obſerve,

1. His Calling and the Poſt he was in; He was the Chief among the Publicans, Receiver-General; other Publicans were Officers under him; He was, as ſome think, Farmer of the Cuſtoms. We often read of Publicans coming to Chriſt. But here was one that was Chief of the Publicans, was in Authority, that enquir'd after him. God has his Remnant among all Sorts; Chriſt came to ſave even the Chief of Sinners, and therefore even the Chief of Publicans.

2. His Circumſtances in the World were very conſiderable. He was rich. The inferior Publicans were commonly Men of broken Fortunes, and low in the World, but he that was Chief of the Publicans had rais'd a good Eſtate. Chriſt had lately ſhew'd how hard it is for rich People to enter into the Kingdom of God, yet preſently produceth an Inſtance of one rich Man, that had been loſt, and was found, and that not as the Prodigal, by being reduc'd to want.

Secondly, How he came in Chriſt's Way, and what was the Occaſion of his Acquaintance with him.

1. He had a great curioſity to ſee Jeſus, what kind of Man he was, having heard great talk of him, v. 3. 'Tis natural to us to come in Sight of thoſe whoſe Fame has fill'd our Ears, as being apt to imagine there is ſomething extraordinary in their Countenances; at leaſt he would be able to ſay hereafter, he had ſeen ſuch and ſuch Great Men. But the Eye is not ſatisfy'd with ſeeing. We ſhould now ſeek to ſee Jeſus with an Eye of Faith: to ſee who he is; ſhould addreſs ourſelves in holy Ordinances with this in our Eye, We ſhould ſee Jeſus.

2. He could not get his Curioſity gratify'd in this Matter; becauſe he was little, and the Croud was great. Chriſt did not ſtudy to ſhew himſelf, was not carry'd on Mens Shoulders, as the Pope is in Proceſſion, that all Men might ſee him; neither he nor his Kingdom came with Obſervation; he did not ride in an open Chariot as Princes do, but as one of us, he was loſt in a Crowd; for that was the Day of his Humiliation. Zaccheus was low of Stature, and over-topt by all about him, ſo that he could not get a Sight of Jeſus. Many that are little of Stature have large Souls, and are lively in Spirit. Who would not rather be a Zaccheus than a Saul, tho' he was higher by Head and Shoulders than all about him? Let not thoſe that are little of Stature, take Thought of adding Cubits to it.

3. Becauſe he would not baulk his Fancy, he forgot his Gravity, as Chief of the Publicans, and run before like a Boy, and climb'd up into a Sycomore-Tree to ſee him. Note, Thoſe that ſincerely deſire a Sight of Chriſt, will uſe the proper Means for gaining a Sight of him, and will break through a deal of Difficulty and Oppoſition, and be willing to take pains to ſee him. Thoſe that find themſelves little, muſt take all the Advantages they can get to raiſe themſelves to a Sight of Chriſt, and not be aſham'd to own that they need them, and all little enough. Let not Dwarfs deſpair with good help by aiming high to reach high.

Thirdly, The Notice Chriſt took of him, and the Call he gave him to a further Acquaintance, v. 5. and the Efficacy of that Call, v. 6.

1. Chriſt invited himſelf to Zaccheus's Houſe, not doubting of his Hearty Welcome there: Nay, where-ever Chriſt comes, as he brings his own Entertainment along with him, ſo he brings his own Welcome, he opens the Heart, and inclines it to receive him. Chriſt look'd up into the Tree, and ſaw Zaccheus. He came to look upon Chriſt, and reſolv'd to take particular Notice of him, but little thought of being taken Notice of by Chriſt. That was an Honour too great, and too far above his Merit for him to have any Thought of. See how Chriſt prevented him with the Bleſſings of his Goodneſs, and out-did his Expectations: And ſee how he encourag'd very weak Beginnings, and help'd them forward. He that had a mind to know Chriſt, ſhall be known of him; that only courted to ſee him, ſhall be admitted to converſe with him. Note, Thoſe that are faithful in a little, ſhall be intruſted with more. And ſometimes, thoſe that come to hear the Word of Chriſt, as Zaccheus did, only for Curioſity, beyond what they thought of, have their Conſciences awakened, and their Hearts chang'd. Chriſt call'd him by Name, Zaccheus, for he knows his Choſen by Name, are they not in his Book? He might aſk as Nathanael did, Joh. 1. 48. Whence knoweſt thou me? But before he climb'd the Sycomore-Tree, Chriſt ſaw him, and knew him. He bid him make haſte and come down. Thoſe that Chriſt calls, muſt come down, muſt humble themſelves, and not think to climb to Heaven by any Righteouſneſs of their own: And they muſt make haſte and come down, for Delays are dangerous. Zaccheus muſt not heſitate but haſten: He knows it is not a matter that needs conſideration whether he ſhould welcome ſuch a Gueſt to his Houſe. He muſt come down, for Chriſt intends this Day to bait at his Houſe, and ſtay an Hour or two with him. Behold he ſtands at the Door and knocks.

2. Zaccheus was overjoy'd to have ſuch an Honour put upon his Houſe, v. 6. he made haſte and came down and received him joyfully. And his receiving him into his Houſe was an Indication and Token of his receiving him into his Heart. Note, When Chriſt calls to us, we muſt make haſte to anſwer his Calls, and when he comes to us we muſt receive him joyfully: Lift up your Heads, O ye Gates. We may well receive him joyfully, who brings all Good along with him, and when he takes poſſeſſion of the Soul opens Springs of Joy there, which ſhall flow to Eternity. How often has Chriſt ſaid to us, Open to me, when we have with the Spouſe made Excuſes, Cant. 5. 2, 3. Zaccheus's Forwardneſs to receive Chriſt, will ſhame us. We have not now Chriſt to entertain in our Houſes; but we have his Diſciples, and what is done to them, he takes as done to himſelf.

Fourthly, The Offence which the People took at this kind Greeting between Chriſt and Zaccheus. Thoſe narrow-ſoul'd cenſorious Jews murmured, ſaying, that he was gone to be a Gueſt with a Man that is a Sinner, παρὰ ἁμαρτωλῷ ἀνδρὶ, with a ſinful Man: And were not they themſelves ſinful Men? Was it not Chriſt's Errand into the world to ſeek and ſave Men that are Sinners? But Zaccheus they think to be a Sinner above all Men that dwelt in Jericho; ſuch a Sinner as was not fit to be convers'd with.

Now this was very unjuſt to blame Chriſt for going to his Houſe; For (1.) tho' he was a Publican, and many of the Publicans were ill Men, it did not therefore follow that they were all ſo. We muſt take heed of condemning Men in the Lump, or by common Fame, for at God's Bar every Man will be judg'd as he is. (2.) Tho' he had been a Sinner, it did not therefore follow that he was now as bad as he had been; tho' they knew his paſt Life to be bad, Chriſt might know his preſent Frame to be good. God allows room for Repentance, and ſo muſt we. (3.) Tho' he was now a Sinner, they ought not to blame Chriſt for going to him, becauſe he was in no Danger of getting hurt by a Sinner, but in great Hopes of doing good to a Sinner; whither ſhould the Phyſician go, but to the Sick? Yet ſee how that which is well done may be ill conſtrued.

Fifthly, The Proofs which Zaccheus gave publickly, that tho' he had been a Sinner, he was now a Penitent, and a true Convert, v. 8. He doth not expect to be juſtify'd by his Works, as the Phariſee, who boaſted of what he had done, but by his good Works he will through the Grace of God evidence the Sincerity of his Faith and Repentance; and here he declares what his Determination was. He makes this Declaration ſtanding, that he might be ſeen and heard by thoſe who murmur'd at Chriſt for coming to his Houſe; with the Mouth Confeſſion is made of Repentance as well as Faith. He ſtood, which notes his ſaying it deliberately and with ſolemnity; in the Nature of a Vow to God. He addreſs'd himſelf to Chriſt in it, not to the People, they were not to be his Judges; but to the Lord, and he ſtands as it were at his Bar. What we do that is good, we muſt do as unto him: We muſt appeal to him, and approve ourſelves to him in our Integrity, in all our good Purpoſes and Reſolutions. He makes it appear that there is a change in his Heart, (and that's Repentance) for there is a change in his Way.

His Reſolutions are of Second-Table Duties; for Chriſt upon all Occaſions laid great Streſs on them; and they are ſuch as are ſuited to his Condition and Character; for in them will beſt appear the Truth of our Repentance.

1. Zaccheus had a good Eſtate, and whereas he had been in it hitherto, laying up Treaſure for himſelf, and doing hurt to himſelf, now he reſolves that for the future he will be all towards God, and do good to others with it, Behold, Lord, the half of my Goods I give to the Poor. Not I will give it by my Will, when I die, but I do give it now. Probably he had heard of the Command or Trial, Chriſt gave to another rich Man, to ſell what he had and give to the Poor, Mat. 19. 21. and how he broke with Chriſt upon it. But ſo will not I, ſaith Zaccheus, I agree to it, at the firſt Word; tho' hitherto I have been uncharitable to the Poor, now I will relieve them, and give ſo much the more for having neglected the Duty ſo long: Even the half of my Goods, which is a very large Proportion to be ſet apart for Works of Piety and Charity. The Jews uſed to ſay that a 5th Part of a Man's Income yearly was very fair to be given to pious Uſes, and about that ſhare the Law directed, but Zaccheus would go much farther, and give the one Moiety to the Poor; which would oblige him to retrench all his extravagant Expences, as his retrenching thoſe would enable him to relieve many with his Superfluities. If we were but more temperate and ſelf-denying, we ſhould be more charitable; and were we content with leſs ourſelves, we ſhould have the more to give to them that need. This he mentions here as a Fruit of his Repentance. Note, It well becomes Converts to God to be charitable to the Poor.

2. Zaccheus was conſcious to himſelf that he had not gotten all he had honeſtly and fairly, but ſome by indirect and unlawful Means, and of what he had gotten by ſuch Means he promiſeth to make Reſtitution; If I have taken any Thing from any Man by falſe Accuſation, or, if I have wrong'd any Man in the way of my Buſineſs as a Publican, exacting more than was appointed, I do promiſe to reſtore him four-fold, the Reſtitution that a Thief was to make, Exod. 22. 1. (1.) He ſeems plainly to own that he had done wrong; his Office as a Publican gave him Opportunity to do wrong, of impoſing upon the Merchants to curry Favour with the Government. True Penitents will own themſelves not only in general guilty before God, but will particularly reflect upon that which has been their own Iniquity, and which by reaſon of their Buſineſs and Imployment in the World has moſt eaſily beſet them. (2.) That he had done wrong by falſe Accuſation, this was the Temptation of the Publicans, which John Baptiſt had warn'd them of particularly, Luke 3. 14. They had the Ear of the Government, and every Thing would be ſtretch'd in Favour of the Revenue; which gave them an Opportunity of gratifying their Revenge, if they bore a Man an ill Will. (3.) He promiſeth to reſtore four-fold, as far as he could recollect, or find by his Books that he had wrong'd any Man. He doth not ſay, if I be ſued, and compell'd to it, I'll make Reſtitution; ſome are honeſt when they cannot help it; but he'll do it voluntarily, it ſhall be my own Act and Deed. Note, Thoſe who are convinc'd of having done wrong, cannot evidence the Sincerity of their Repentance but by making Reſtitution. Obſerve, he doth not think his giving half his Eſtate to the Poor, will atone for the wrong he has done; God hates Robbery for Burnt Offerings, and we muſt firſt do juſtly and then love Mercy. It is no Charity but Hypocriſy to give that which is none of our own, and we are not to reckon that our own which we have not come honeſtly by; nor that our own which is not ſo, when all our Debts are paid, and Reſtitution made for wrong done.

Sixthly, Chriſt's Approbation and Acceptance of Zaccheus's Converſion, by which alſo he clear'd himſelf from any Imputation in going to be a Gueſt with him, v. 9, 10.

1. Zaccheus is declared to be now a happy Man; now he is turn'd from Sin to God, now he has bid Chriſt welcome to his Houſe, and is become an honeſt charitable good Man, This Day is Salvation come to this Houſe. Now he is converted, he is in effect ſaved; ſaved from his Sins, from the Guilt of them, from the Power of them. All the Benefits of Salvation are his; Chriſt is come to his Houſe, and where Chriſt comes, he brings Salvation along with him; he is and will be the Author of eternal Salvation to all that own him, as Zaccheus did. Yet this is not all: Salvation this Day comes to his Houſe. (1.) When Zaccheus becomes a Convert, he will be more than he had been a Bleſſing to his Houſe. He will bring the means of Grace and Salvation to his Houſe; for he is a Son of Abraham indeed now, and therefore like Abraham will teach his Houſhold to keep the way of the Lord. He that is greedy of Gain, troubleth his own Houſe, and brings a Curſe upon it, Hab. 2. 9. But he that is charitable to the Poor, doth a Kindneſs to his own Houſe, and brings a Bleſſing upon it, and Salvation to it, temporal at leaſt, Pſal. 112. 3. (2.) When Zaccheus is brought to Chriſt himſelf, his Family alſo became related to Chriſt, and his Children are admitted Members of his Church, and ſo Salvation comes to his Houſe, for that he is a Son of Abraham, and therefore intereſted in God's Covenant with Abraham, that Bleſſing of Abraham which comes upon the Publicans, upon the Gentiles through Faith, that God will be a God to them and to their Children; and therefore when he believes, Salvation comes to his Houſe, as to the Jaylor's, to whom it was ſaid, Believe in the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and thou ſhalt be ſaved and thine Houſe, Acts 16. 31. Zaccheus is by Birth a Son of Abraham, but being a Publican, he was deem'd a Heathen, they are put upon a level, Mat. 18. 17. and as ſuch the Jews were ſhy of converſing with him, and expected Chriſt ſhould be ſo; but he ſhews that being a true Penitent, he is become rectus in Curia, as good a Son of Abraham as if he had never been a Publican, which therefore ought not to be mentioned againſt him.

2. What Chriſt had done to make him in particular a happy Man, was conſonant to the great Deſign and Intention of his coming into the World, v. 10. with the ſame Argument he had before juſtified his converſing with Publicans, Mat. 9. 13. There he pleaded that he came to call Sinners to Repentance: Now that he came to ſeek and ſave that which was loſt; τὸ ἀπόλωλος, the loſt Thing. Obſerve, (1.) the deplorable Caſe of the Sons of Men; they were loſt; but here the whole Race of Mankind is ſpoken of as one Body. Note, The whole World of Mankind by the Fall is become a loſt World. Loſt as a City is loſt when it is revolted to the Rebels; as a Traveller is loſt, when he has miſs'd his Way in a Wilderneſs; loſt as a ſick Man is loſt, when his Diſeaſe is incurable; or as a Priſoner is loſt, when Sentence is paſs'd upon him. (2.) The gracious Deſign of the Son of God, he came to ſeek and ſave, to ſeek in order to ſaving. He came from Heaven to Earth (a long Journey) to ſeek that which was loſt, i. e. which had wandred and gone aſtray, and to bring it back, Mat. 18. 11, 12. And to ſave that which was loſt, i. e. which was periſhing, and in a manner deſtroy'd and cut off. Chriſt undertook the Cauſe when it was given up for loſt; undertook to bring thoſe to themſelves that were loſt to God and all Goodneſs. Obſerve, Chriſt came into this loſt World to ſeek and ſave it. His Deſign was to ſave, when there was not Salvation in any other. And in Proſecution of that Deſign he ſought, took all probable means to effect that Salvation. He ſeeks thoſe that were not worth ſeeking to; he ſeeks to thoſe that ſought him not, and ask'd not for him, as to Zaccheus here.

11 And as they heard theſe things, he added, and ſpake a parable, becauſe he was nigh to Jeruſalem, and becauſe they thought that the kingdom of God ſhould immediately appear. 12 He ſaid therefore, A certain noble man went into a far country, to receive for himſelf a kingdom, and to return. 13 And he called his ten ſervants, and delivered them ten pounds, and ſaid unto them, Occupy till I come. 14. But his citizens hated him, and ſent a meſſage after him, ſaying, We will not have this Man to reign over us. 15 And it came to paſs, that when he was returned, having received the kingdom, then he commanded theſe ſervants to be called unto him, to whom he had given the money, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading. 16 Then came the firſt, ſaying, Lord, thy pound hath gained ten pounds. 17 And he ſaid unto him, Well, thou good ſervant; becauſe thou haſt been faithful in a very little, have thou authority over ten cities. 18 And the ſecond came, ſaying, Lord, thy pound hath gained five pounds. 19. And he ſaid likewiſe to him, Be thou alſo over five cities. 20 And another came, ſaying, Lord, behold, here is thy pound which I have kept laid up in a napkin: 21 For I feared thee, becauſe thou art an auſtere man: thou takeſt up that thou layedſt not down, and reapeſt that thou didſt not ſow. 22 And he ſaith unto him, Out of thine own mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked ſervant. Thou kneweſt that I was an auſtere man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping that I did not ſow: 23 Wherefore then gaveſt not thou my money into the bank, that at my coming I might have required mine own with uſury? 24 And he ſaid unto them that ſtood by, Take from him the pound, and give it to him that hath ten pounds. 25 (And they ſaid unto him, Lord, he hath ten pounds) 26 For I ſay unto you, that unto every one which hath, ſhall be given: and from him that hath not, even that he hath ſhall be taken away from him. 27 But thoſe mine enemies, which would not that I ſhould reign over them, bring hither, and ſlay them before me.

Our Lord Jeſus is now upon his way to Jeruſalem, to his laſt Paſſover, when he was to ſuffer and die; now here we are told,

1. How the Expectations of his Friends were rais'd upon this Occaſion. They thought that the Kingdom of God ſhould immediately appear, v. 11. The Phariſees expected it about this Time, Ch. 17. 20. and it ſeems ſo did Chriſt's own Diſciples; but they both had a miſtaken Notion of it: The Phariſees thought it muſt be introduced by ſome other temporal Prince or Potentate; the Diſciples thought their Maſter ſhould introduce it, but with temporal Pomp and Power, which with the Power he had to work Miracles, they knew he could cloath himſelf with in a ſhort time whenever he pleas'd. Jeruſalem they concluded muſt be the Seat of his Kingdom, and therefore now he is going directly thither, they doubt not but in a little time to ſee him upon the Throne there. Note, Even good Men are ſubject to Miſtakes concerning the Kingdom of Chriſt, and to form wrong Notions of it, and are ready to think that ſhould immediately appear, which is reſerv'd for hereafter.

2. How their Expectations were check'd, and the Miſtakes rectify'd, upon which they were founded; and this he doth in three Things.

Firſt, They expected that he ſhould appear in his Glory now preſently, but he tells them he muſt not be publickly inſtall'd in his Kingdom of a great while yet: He is like a certain Nobleman, ἀνθρωπος τις ἐυγενὴς, a certain Man of high Birth, ſo Dr. Hammond, for he is Lord from Heaven, and is intitled by Birth to the Kingdom; but he goes into a far Country, to receive for himſelf a Kingdom. Chriſt muſt go to Heaven, to ſit down at the right Hand of the Father there, and to receive from him Honour and Glory before the Spirit was poured out, by which his Kingdom was to be ſet up on Earth, and before a Church was to be ſet up for him in the Gentile World. He muſt receive the Kingdom, and then return; Chriſt return'd when the Spirit was pour'd out; when Jeruſalem was deſtroy'd, by which time that Generation both of Friends and Enemies, which he had perſonally convers'd with, was wholly worn off by Death, and gone to give up their Account. But his chief Return here meant, is that at the Great Day, which we are yet in Expectation of. That which they thought ſhould immediately appear, Chriſt tells them will not appear, till this ſame Jeſus, which is taken into Heaven, ſhall in like manner come again, ſee Acts 1. 11.

Secondly, They expected that his Apoſtles and immediate Attendants ſhould be advanc'd to Dignity and Honour; that they ſhould all be made Princes and Peers, Privy-Counſellors and Judges, and have all the Pomp and Preferments of the Court, and of the Town: but Chriſt here tells them, that inſtead of that, he deſign'd them to be Men of Buſineſs, they muſt expect no other Preferment in this World, but that of the trading End of the Town: he would ſet them up with a Stock under their Hands, that they might employ it to themſelves in ſerving him, and the Intereſt of his Kingdom among Men. That's the true Honour of a Chriſtian and a Miniſter, which if we be, as we ought to be, truly ambitious of, we ſhall be able to look upon all temporal Honours with a holy Comtempt. The Apoſtles had dream'd of ſitting on his right Hand, and on his left in his Kingdom, enjoying Eaſe after their preſent Toil, and Honour after the preſent Contempt put upon them, and were pleaſing themſelves with this Dream; but Chriſt tells them that, which if they underſtood it aright, would fill them with Care and Concern, and ſerious Thoughts, inſtead of thoſe aſpiring ones they fill'd their Heads with.

1. They have a Great Work to do now: Their Maſter leaves them to receive his Kingdom, and at parting he gives each of them a Pound; which the Margin of our common Bibles tells us amounts in our Money to Three Pounds and Half a Crown: This ſignifies the ſame thing with the Talents in the Parable, that's parallel to this, Mat. 25. all the Gifts with which Chriſt's Apoſtles were endued, and the Advantages and Capacities they had of ſerving the Intereſts of Chriſt in the World, and others, both Miniſters and Chriſtians like them in a lower Degree. But perhaps it is in the Parable thus repreſented to make them the more Humble: Their Honour in this World is only that of Traders, and that not of topping Merchants that have vaſt Stocks to begin upon, but that of poor Traders, that muſt take a great deal of Care and Pains to make any thing of what they have.

He gave theſe Pounds to his Servant, not to buy rich Liveries, much leſs Robes, and a ſplendid Equipage for themſelves to appear in, as they expected; but with this Charge, Occupy till I come, or, (as it might much better be tranſlated) Trade till I come. (πραγματεύσασθε) Be buſy, ſo the Word properly ſignifies. You are ſent forth to preach the Goſpel, to ſet up a Church for Chriſt in the World, to bring the Nations to the Obedience of Faith, and to build them up in it; Ye ſhall receive Power to do this, for ye ſhall be filled with the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 1.8. When Chriſt breathed on the Eleven Diſciples, ſaying, Receive ye the Holy Ghoſt, then he deliver'd them Ten Pounds; Now, ſaith he, mind your Buſineſs, and make a Buſineſs of it, ſet about it in good earneſt, and ſtick to it, lay out yourſelves to do all the Good you can to the Souls of Men, and to gather them in to Chriſt. Note, (1.) All Chriſtians have Buſineſs to do for Chriſt in this World, and Miniſters eſpecially; the one was not Baptiz'd nor the other Ordain'd to be idle. (2.) Thoſe that are call'd to Buſineſs for Chriſt, he furniſheth with Gifts neceſſary for their Buſineſs; and, on the other hand, thoſe to whom he gives Power, from them he expects Service. He delivers the Pounds with this Charge, Go Work, go Trade. The Manifeſtation of the Spirit is given to every Man to profit withal, 1 Cor. 12.7. And as every one has received the Gift, ſo let him miniſter the ſame, 1 Pet. 4. 10. (3.) We muſt continue to mind our Buſineſs till our Maſter comes, whatever Difficulties or Oppoſition we may meet with in it; thoſe only that endure to the End ſhall be ſaved.

2. They have a great Account to make ſhortly. Theſe Servants are call'd to him, to ſhew what Uſe they made of the Gifts they were dignify'd with, what Service they had done to Chriſt, and what Good to the Souls of Men, that he might know what every Man had gain'd by Trading. Note, 1. They that trade diligently and faithfully in the Service of Chriſt, ſhall be Gainers. We cannot ſay ſo of the Buſineſs of the World; many a labouring Tradeſman has been a Loſer, but thoſe that trade for Chriſt ſhall be Gainers; tho' Iſrael be not gathered, yet they will be Glorious. 2. The Converſion of Souls is the Winning of them; every true Convert is clear Gain to Jeſus Chriſt. Miniſters are but Factors for him, and to him they muſt give an Account what Fiſh they have incloſ'd in the Goſpel Net, what Gueſts they have prevailed with to come to the Wedding-Supper; that is, what they have gain'd by Trading. Now, in the Account given up, obſerve,

1. The Good Account, which was given by ſome of the Servants, and the Maſter's Approbation of them. Two ſuch are inſtanc'd, v. 16——19.

1. They had both made conſiderable Improvements, but not both alike; one had gain'd ten Pounds by his Trading, and another Five. Thoſe that are diligent and faithful in ſerving Chriſt, are commonly bleſs'd in being made Bleſſings to the Places where they live. They ſhall ſee the Travail of their Soul, and not labour in vain. And yet all that are alike faithful, are not alike ſucceſsful. And perhaps tho' they were both faithful, 'tis intimated, that one of them took more Pains, and applied himſelf more cloſely to his Buſineſs than the other, and ſped accordingly. Bleſſed Paul ſure was this Servant that gain'd Ten Pounds, double to what any of the reſt did, for he labour'd more abundantly than they all, and fully preach'd the Goſpel of Chriſt.

2. They both acknowledged their Obligations to their Maſter for entruſting them with theſe Abilities and Opportunities to do him Service; Lord, 'tis not my Induſtry, but thy Pound that has gained ten Pounds. Note, God muſt have all the Glory of all our Gains; Not unto us, but unto him muſt be the Praiſes; Pſal. 115. 1. Paul, who gained the ten Pounds, acknowledges, I laboured, yet not I; By the Grace of God, I am what I am, and do what I do, and his Grace was not in vain, 1 Cor. 15.10. and will not ſpeak of what he had done, but of what God had done by him, Rom. 15.18.

3. They were both commended for their Fidelity and Induſtry, Well done thou good Servant, v. 17. And to the other he ſaid likewiſe, v. 19. Note, They who do that which is good, ſhall have Praiſe of the ſame. Do well, and Chriſt will ſay to thee, well done; and if he ſaith well done, the Matter is not great who ſaith otherwiſe. See Gen. 4.7.

4. They were prefer'd in Proportion to the Improvement they had made. Becauſe thou haſt been faithful in a very little, and didſt not ſay, as good ſit ſtill as go to trade with one Pound, what can one do with ſo ſmall a Stock; but didſt humbly and honeſtly apply thy ſelf to the Improvement of that, have thou Authority over ten Cities. Note, Thoſe are in a fair Way to riſe, who are content to begin low. He that hath uſed the Office of a Deacon well, purchaſeth to himſelf a good Degree; 1. Tim. 3.13. Two Things are hereby promiſed the Apoſtles; (1.) That when they have taken Pains to plant many Churches, they ſhall have the Satisfaction and Honour of preſiding in them, and governing among them; they ſhall have great Reſpect paid them, and have a great Intereſt in the Love and Eſteem of good Chriſtians. He that keepeth the Fig-Tree, ſhall eat the Fruit thereof; and he that laboureth in the Word and Doctrine, ſhall be counted worthy of double Honour. (2.) That when they have ſerv'd their Generation according to the Will of Chriſt, tho' they paſs thro' this World deſpis'd and trampled upon, and perhaps paſs out of it under Diſgrace and Perſecution, as the Apoſtle did; yet in the other World they ſhall reign as Kings, with Chriſt; ſhall ſit with him on his Throne, ſhall have Power over the Nations, Rev. 2. 26. The Happineſs of Heaven will be a much greater Advancement to a good Miniſter, or Chriſtian, than it would be to a poor Tradeſman, that with much ado hath clear'd ten Pound, to be made Governour of ten Cities. He that had gained but five Pounds, had Dominion over five Cities. This intimates that there are Degrees of Glory in Heaven: Every Veſſel will be alike full, but not alike large; and the Degrees of Glory there, will be according to the Degrees of Uſefulneſs here.

2. The Bad Account that was given by one of them, and the Sentence paſs'd upon him, for his Slothfulneſs and Unfaithfulneſs, v. 20, &c.

2. He own'd that he had not traded with the Pound, with which he had been intruſted, v. 20. Lord, behold here is thy Pound; 'tis true I have not made it more, but withal I have not made it leſs, I have kept it ſafe laid up in a Napkin. This repreſents the Careleſſneſs of thoſe who have Gifts, but never lay out themſelves to do Good with them; 'tis all one to them whether the Intereſts of Chriſt's Kingdom ſink or ſwim, go backward or forward; for their Parts they will take no Care about it, no Pains, be at no Expences, run no Hazard; thoſe are the Servants that lay up their Pound in a Napkin, who think 'tis enough to ſay, they have done no Hurt in the World, but did no good.

2. He juſtified himſelf in his Omiſſion, with a Plea that made the Matter worſe and not better, v. 21. I feared thee becauſe thou art an auſtere Man, rigid and ſevere, ἄνθρωπος ἀυστήρος εἶ; Auſtere is the Greek Word itſelf, a ſharp Man; thou takeſt up that thou laidſt not down. He thought his Maſter put a Hardſhip upon his Servants, when he required and expected the Improvement of their Pounds, that it was Reaping where he did not Sow; whereas really it was reaping where he had ſown, and as the Husbandman expects, in Proportion to what he had ſown. He had no Reaſon to fear his Maſter's Auſterity, nor blame his Expectations; but this was a mere Sham, a frivolous groundleſs Excuſe for his Idleneſs, which there was no manner of Colour for. Note, the Pleas of Slothful Profeſſors, when they come to be examined, will be found more to their Shame than in their Juſtification.

3. His Excuſe is turned upon him, v. 22. Out of thine own Mouth will I judge thee, thou wicked Servant. He will not only be condemned by his Crime; but ſelf-condemn'd by his Plea. If thou didſt look upon it as hard that I ſhould expect the Profits of thy Trading, which would have been the greater Profit, yet if thou hadſt had any Regard to my Intereſt, thou mighteſt have put it into the Bank, into ſome of the Funds, that I might have had not only mine own, but mine own with Uſury; which tho' a leſs Advantage, would have been ſome. If he durſt not trade for fear of loſing the Principal, and ſo being made accountable to his Lord for it, tho' it was loſt, which he pretends, yet that would be no Excuſe for his not ſetting it out to Intereſt, where it would be ſure. Note, Whatever may be the Pretences of ſlothful Profeſſors in Excuſe of their Slothfulneſs, the true Reaſon of it is a reigning Indifference to the Intereſts of Chriſt and his Kingdom, and their Coldneſs therein. They care not whether Religion gets Ground or loſes Ground, ſo they can but live at Eaſe.

4. His Pound is taken from him, v. 24. It is fit thoſe ſhould loſe their Gifts, that will not uſe their Gifts; and thoſe who have dealt falſly, ſhould be no longer truſted. Thoſe that will not ſerve their Maſter with what he beſtows upon them, why ſhould they be ſuffered to ſerve themſelves with it? Take from him the Pound.

5. It is given to him that had got the ten Pounds. And when this was objected againſt by the Standers by, becauſe he had ſo much already, Lord he has ten Pounds, v. 25. it is anſwered v. 26. Unto every one that hath, ſhall be given. It is the Rule of Juſtice, (1.) That thoſe ſhould be moſt encouraged that have been moſt induſtrious, and that thoſe who have laid out themſelves moſt to do good, ſhould have their Opportunities of doing Good enlarg'd, and be put into a higher and more extenſive Sphere of Uſefulneſs. To him that hath gotten, ſhall more be given, that he may be in a Capacity to get more. (2.) That thoſe who have their Gifts as if they had them not, that have them to no Purpoſe, that do no Good with them, ſhould be depriv'd of them. Thoſe that endeavour to increaſe the Grace they have, God will increaſe it; Thoſe that neglect it, and ſuffer it to decline, can expect no other, but that God ſhould do ſo too. This needful Warning Chriſt gives to his Diſciples, leſt, while they were gaping for Honours on Earth, they ſhould neglect their Buſineſs, and ſo come ſhort of their Happineſs in Heaven.

Thirdly, Another Thing they expected, was, that when the Kingdom of God ſhould appear, the Body of the Jewiſh Nation ſhould immediately fall in with it, and ſubmit to it, and all their Averſions to Chriſt and his Goſpel ſhould immediately vaniſh; but Chriſt tells them, that after his Departure the Generality of them would perſiſt in their Obſtinacy and Rebellion, and it would be their Ruin. This is ſhew'd here,

1. In the Meſſage which his Citizens ſent after him, v. 14. They not only oppos'd him while he was in obſcurity, but when he was gone in Glory to be inveſted in his Kingdom, then they continued their Enmity to him, proteſted againſt his Dominion, and ſaid, We will not have this Man to Reign over us. (1.) This was fulfill'd in the prevailing Infidelity of the Jews after the Aſcenſion of Chriſt and the ſetting up of the Goſpel Kingdom; they would not ſubmit their Necks to his Yoke, nor touch the Top of his Golden Scepter. They ſaid, Let us break his Bands in ſunder, Pſal. 2. 1,2,3. Acts 4. 26. (2.) It ſpeaks the Language of all Unbelievers; they could be content that Chriſt ſhould Save them, but they will not have him to Reign over them; whereas Chriſt is a Saviour to thoſe only to whom he is a Prince, and who are willing to obey him.

3. In the Sentence paſs'd upon them at his Return, v. 27. Thoſe mine Enemies—— bring hither —— When his faithful Subjects are prefer'd and rewarded, then he will take Vengeance on his Enemies; and particularly of the Jewiſh Nation, the Doom of which is here read. When Chriſt had ſet up his Goſpel Kingdom, and thereby put a Reputation upon the Goſpel Miniſtry, then he comes to reckon with the Jews; then 'tis remembred againſt them, that they had particularly diſclaim'd and proteſted againſt his Kingly Office; when they ſay, we have no King but Cæſar, nor would own him for their King, they appealed to Cæſar, and to Cæſar they ſhall go; Cæſar ſhall be their Ruin. Then the Kingdom of God appeared, when Vengeance was taken on thoſe irreconcilable Enemies to Chriſt and his Government, they were brought forth and ſlain before him. Never was ſo much Slaughter made in any War, as in the Wars of the Jews. That Nation liv'd to ſee Chriſtianity victorious in the Gentile World, in ſpite of their Enmity and Oppoſition to it, and then it was taken away as Droſs. The Wrath of Chriſt came upon them to the uttermoſt, 1 Theſ. 2. 25, 26. and their Deſtruction redounded very much to the Honour of Chriſt and the Peace of the Church. But this is applicable to all others who perſiſt in their Infidelity, and will undoubtedly periſh in it. Note, 1. Utter Ruin will certainly be the Portion of all Chriſt's Enemies: In the Day of Vengeance they ſhall all be brought forth and ſlain before him. Bring them hither to be made a Spectacle to Saints and Angels, ſee Joſh. 10. 22,24. Bring them hither, that they may ſee the Glory and Happineſs of Chriſt and his Followers, whom they hated and perſecuted. Bring them hither, to have their frivolous Pleas over-rul'd, and to receive Sentence according to their Merits. Bring them and ſlay them before me, as Agag before Samuel. The Saviour whom they have ſlighted, will ſtand by and ſee them ſlain, and not interpoſe on their Behalf. 2. Thoſe that will not have Chriſt to Reign over them, ſhall be reputed and dealt with as his Enemies. We are ready to think none are Chriſt's Enemies, but Perſecutors of Chriſtianity, or Scoffers at leaſt, but you ſee thoſe will be accounted ſo, that diſlike the Terms of Salvation, will not ſubmit to Chriſt's Yoke, but will be their own Maſters. Note, whoever will not be ruled by the Grace of Chriſt, will inevitably be ruin'd by the Wrath of Chriſt.

28 ¶ And when he had thus ſpoken, he went before, aſcending up to Jeruſalem. 29 And it came to paſs, when he was come nigh to Bethpage and Bethany, at the mount called the mount of Olives, he ſent two of his diſciples, 30 Saying, Go ye into the village over againſt you; in the which, at your entering, ye ſhall find a colt tied, whereon yet never man ſat: looſe him, and bring him hither. 31 And if any man aſk you, Why do ye loſe him? thus ſhall ye ſay unto him, Becauſe the Lord hath need of him. 32 And they that were ſent, went their way, and found even as he ſaid unto them. 33 And as they were looſing the colt, the owners thereof ſaid unto them, Why looſe ye the colt? 34 And they ſaid, The Lord hath need of him. 35 And they brought him to Jeſus: and they caſt their garments upon the colt, and they ſet Jeſus thereon. 36 And as he went, they ſpread their clothes in the way. 37 And when he was come nigh, even now at the deſcent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the diſciples began to rejoice, and praiſe God with a loud Voice, for all the mighty works that they had ſeen, 38 Saying, Bleſſed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord: peace in heaven and glory in the higheſt. 39 And ſome of the Phariſees from among the multitude ſaid unto him, Maſter rebuke thy diſciples. 40 And he anſwered and ſaid unto them, I tell you, that if theſe ſhould hold their peace, the ſtones would immediately cry out.

We have here the ſame Account of Chriſt's riding in ſome ſort of Triumph (ſuch as it was) into Jeruſalem, which we had before in Matthew and Mark; let us therefore here only obſerve,

1. That Jeſus Chriſt was forward and willing to ſuffer and die for us. He went forward bound in the Spirit to Jeruſalem, knowing very well the Things that ſhould befall him there, and yet he went before aſcending up to Jeruſalem, v. 28. He was the foremoſt of the Company, as if he long'd to be upon the Spot, long'd to engage, to take the Field, and to enter upon Action. Was he ſo forward to ſuffer and die for us, and ſhall we draw back from any Service we are capable of doing for him?

2. It was no ways inconſiſtent either with Chriſt's Humility, or with his preſent State of Humiliation, to make a Publick Entry into Jeruſalem a little before he died. Thus he made himſelf to be the more taken notice of, that the Ignominy of his Death might appear the greater.

3. Chriſt is entitled to a Dominion over all the Creatures, and may uſe them when and as he pleaſeth. No Man has a Property in his Eſtate againſt Chriſt, but that his Title is prior and ſuperior. Chriſt ſent to fetch an Aſs and her Colt from their Owners and Maſter's Crib, when he had Occaſion for their Service, and might do ſo, for all the Beaſts of the Foreſts are his, and the tame Beaſts too.

4. Chriſt has all Mens Hearts, both under his Eye and in his Hand. He could influence thoſe to whom the Aſs and the Colt belong'd, to conſent to their taking them away, as ſoon as they were told the Lord had occaſion for them.

5. Thoſe that go on Chriſt's Errands, are ſure to ſpeed, v. 32. They that were ſent, found what he told them they ſhould find, and the Owners willing to part with them. It is a Comfort to Chriſt's Meſſengers, that what they are ſent for, if indeed the Lord has Occaſion for it, they ſhall bring it.

6. The Diſciples of Chriſt, who fetch that for him from others which he has Occaſion for, and which they have not, ſhould not think that enough; but whatever they have themſelves, wherewith he may be ſerved and honoured, they ſhould be ready to ſerve him with it. Many can be willing to attend Chriſt at other Peoples Expence, that care not at being at any Charge upon him themſelves; but thoſe Diſciples not only fetch'd the Aſs's Colt for him, but caſt their own Garments upon the Colt, and were willing thoſe ſhould be uſed for his Trappings.

7. Chriſt's Triumphs are the Matter of his Diſciples Praiſes. When Chriſt came nigh to Jeruſalem, God put it of a ſudden into the Hearts of the whole Multitude of the Diſciples, not to the twelve only, but abundance more that were Diſciples at large, to rejoice and praiſe God, v. 37. and their ſpreading their Clothes in the way, v. 36. was a common Expreſſion of Joy, as at the Feaſt of Tabernacles. Obſerve, (1.) What was the Matter or Occaſion of their Joy and Praiſe: they praiſed God for all the mighty Works they had ſeen, all the Miracles Chriſt had wrought, eſpecially the raiſing of Lazarus, which is particularly mentioned, John 12. 17,18. That brought others to mind, for freſh Miracles and Mercies ſhould revive the Remembrance of the former. (2.) How they expreſs'd their Joy and Praiſe, v. 38. Bleſſed be the King that comes in the Name of the Lord; Chriſt is the King, He comes in the Name of the Lord, cloth'd with a Divine Authority, commiſſioned from Heaven to give Law, and treat of Peace; Bleſſed be He. Let us praiſe him, let God proſper him. He is Bleſſed for ever, and he will ſpeak well of him. Peace in Heaven, i. e. Let the God of Heaven ſend Peace and Succeſs to his Undertaking, and then there will be Glory in the higheſt. 'Twill redound to the Glory of the moſt high God, and the Angels; the Glorious Inhabitants of the upper World, will give him the Glory of it. Compare this Song of the Saints on Earth, with that of the Angels, Luke 2.14. they both agree to give Glory to God in the Higheſt, there the Praiſes of both centre; the Angels ſay, on Earth Peace, rejoicing in the Benefit which Men on Earth have by Chriſt; the Saints ſay, Peace in Heaven, rejoicing in the Benefits which the Angels have by Chriſt; ſuch is the Communion we have with the Holy Angels, that as they rejoice in the Peace on Earth, ſo we rejoice in the Peace in Heaven, the Peace God makes in his High Places, Job 25. 2. and both in Chriſt, who hath reconciled all Things to himſelf, whether Things on Earth or Things in Heaven.

8. Chriſt's Triumphs and his Diſciples joyful Praiſes of them, are the Vexation of proud Phariſees, that are Enemies to him and his Kingdom. There were ſome Phariſees among the Multitude, that were ſo far from joining with them, that they were enrag'd at them; and Chriſt being a famous Example of Humility, they thought he would not admit ſuch Acclamations as theſe, and therefore expected that he ſhould rebuke his Diſciples, v. 39. But it is the Honour of Chriſt, that as he deſpiſeth the Contempt of the Proud, ſo he accepts the Praiſes of the Humble.

9. Whether Men praiſe Chriſt or no, he will, and ſhall, and muſt be praiſed, v. 40. If theſe ſhould hold their peace, and not ſpeak the Praiſes of the Meſſiah's Kingdom, the Stones would immediately cry out, rather than that Chriſt ſhould not be praiſed; which was in Effect literally fulfill'd, when upon Mens reviling Chriſt upon the Croſs, inſtead of praiſing him, and his own Diſciples ſinking into a profound Silence, the Earth did quake, and the Rocks rent. Phariſees would ſilence the Praiſes of Chriſt, but they cannot gain their Point, for as God can out of Stones raiſe up Children unto Abraham, ſo he can out of the Mouths of thoſe Children perfect Praiſe.

41 ¶ And when he was come near, he beheld the city, and wept over it, 42 Saying, If thou hadſt known, even thou, at leaſt in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! but now they are hid from thine eyes. 43 For the days ſhall come upon thee, that thine enemies ſhall caſt a trench about thee, and compaſs thee round, and keep thee in on every ſide. 44 And ſhall lay thee even with the ground, and thy children within thee; and they ſhall not leave in thee one ſtone upon another: becauſe thou kneweſt not the time of thy viſitation. 45 And he went into the temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold therein, and them that bought, 46 Saying unto them, It is written, My houſe is the houſe of prayer: but ye have made it a den of thieves. 47 And he taught daily in the temple. But the chief prieſts and the Scribes, and the chief of the people ſought to deſtroy him, 48 And could not find what they might do: for all the people were very attentive to hear him.

The great Ambaſſador from Heaven is here making his publick Entry into Jeruſalem, not to be reſpected there, but to be rejected; He knew what a Neſt of Vipers he was throwing himſelf into; and yet here ſee two Inſtances of his Love to that Place, and his Concern for it.

Firſt, The Tears he ſhed for the approaching Ruin of the City, v. 41. When he was come near, he beheld the City, and wept over it. Probably 'twas when he was coming down the Deſcent of the Hill from the Mount of Olives, where he had a full View of the City, the large Extent of it, and the many ſtately Structures in it, and his Eye affected his Heart, and his Heart his Eye again. See here, (1.) What a tender Spirit Chriſt was of, we never read that he laugh'd, but we often find him in Tears. In this very Place his Father David wept, and thoſe that were with him, tho' he and they were Men of War. There are Caſes, in which 'tis no Diſparagement to the ſtouteſt of Men to melt into Tears. (2.) That Jeſus Chriſt wept in the Midſt of his Triumphs, wept when all about him were rejoicing, to ſhew how little he was elevated with the Applauſe and Acclamation of the People. Thus he would teach us to rejoice with trembling, and as tho' we rejoice not. If Providence do not ſtain the Beauty of our Triumphs, we may ourſelves ſee Cauſe to ſully it with our Sorrows. (3.) That he wept over Jeruſalem. Note, There are Cities to be wept over, and none to be more lamented than Jeruſalem, that had been the holy City, and the Joy of the whole Earth, if it be degenerated. But why did Chriſt weep at the Sight of Jeruſalem, was it becauſe yonder is the City in which I muſt be betrayed and bound, ſcourged and ſpit upon, condemn'd and crucify'd? No, he himſelf gives us the Reaſon of his Tears.

1. Jeruſalem has not improv'd the Day of her Opportunities. He wept and ſaid, If thou hadſt known, even thou at leaſt in this thy Day, if thou wouldſt but yet know, while the Goſpel is preached to thee, and Salvation offer'd thee by it; if thou wouldſt at length bethink thyſelf, and underſtand the Things that belong to thy Peace, the making of thy Peace with God, and the ſecuring of thine own ſpiritual and eternal Welfare; but thou doſt not know the Day of thy Viſitation, v. 44. The Manner of ſpeaking is abrupt; If thou hadſt known.----O that thou hadſt, ſo ſome take it; like that, O that my People had hearken'd unto me, Pſal. 81. 13. Iſa. 48. 18. Or, If thou hadſt known, well, like that of the Fig-tree, Luke 13. 9. how happy had it been for thee. Or, if thou hadſt known, thou wouldſt have wept for thyſelf, and I ſhould have no Occaſion to weep for thee, but ſhould have rejoiced rather; what he ſaith, lays all the Blame of Jeruſalem's impending Ruin upon herſelf. Note, 1. There are Things that belong to our Peace, which we are all concern'd to know and underſtand; the Way how Peace is made, the Offers made of Peace, the Terms on which we may have the Benefit of Peace. The things that belong to our Peace, are thoſe things that relate to our preſent and future Welfare; theſe we muſt know with Application. 2. There is a Time of Viſitation, when thoſe things which belong to our Peace may be known by us, and known to good Purpoſe. When we enjoy the Means of Grace in great Plenty, as powerfully preach'd to us, when the Spirit ſtrives with us, and our own Conſciences are ſtartled and awakened, then is the Time of Viſitation, which we are concern'd to improve. 3. Thoſe that have long neglected the Time of their Viſitation, if at length, if at laſt in this their Day, their Eyes be opened, and they bethink themſelves, all will be well yet. Thoſe ſhall not be refus'd, that come into the Vineyard at the Eleventh Hour. 4. It is the amazing Folly of Multitudes that enjoy the Means of Grace, and 'twill be of fatal Conſequence to them, that they do not improve the Day of their Opportunities. The things of their Peace are revealed to them, but are not minded or regarded by them; they hide their Eyes from them, as if they were not worth taking Notice of. They are not aware of the accepted Time, and the Day of Salvation, and ſo let it ſlip, and periſh through meer Careleſſneſs. None ſo blind as thoſe that will not ſee; nor have any the Things of their Peace more certainly hid from their Eyes, than thoſe that turn their Back upon them. 5. The Sin and Folly of thoſe that perſiſt in a Contempt of Goſpel Grace, is a great Grief to the Lord Jeſus, and ſhould be ſo to us. He looks with weeping Eyes upon loſt Souls that continue impenitent, and run headlong upon their own Ruin; He had rather they would turn and live, than go on and die, for he is not willing any ſhould periſh.

2. Jeruſalem cannot eſcape the Day of her Deſolation. The Things of her Peace are now in a Manner hid from her Eyes; they will be ſhortly. Not but that after this the Goſpel was preached to them by the Apoſtles, all the Houſe of Iſrael were call'd to know aſſuredly, that Chriſt was their Peace, Acts 2. 36. and Multitudes were convinc'd and converted. But as to the Body of the Nation, and the leading Part of it, it was ſeal'd up under Unbelief, God had given them the Spirit of Slumber, Rom. 11. 8. They were ſo prejudic'd and enrag'd againſt the Goſpel, and thoſe few that did embrace it then, nothing leſs than a Miracle of Divine Grace (like that which converted Paul) would work upon them; and it could not be expected ſuch a Miracle ſhould be wrought, and ſo they were juſtly given up to judicial Blindneſs and Hardneſs. The peaceful Things are not hid from the Eyes of particular Perſons; but 'tis too late to think now of the Nation of the Jews, as ſuch, becoming a Chriſtian Nation, by embracing Chriſt.

And therefore they are mark'd for Ruin, which Chriſt here foreſees and foretells, as the certain Conſequence of their rejecting Chriſt. Note, Neglecting the great Salvation, often brings temporal Judgments upon a People; it did ſo upon Jeruſalem in leſs than 40 Years after this; when all that Chriſt here foretold was exactly fulfill'd. (1.) The Romans beſieged the City, caſt a Trench about it, compaſs'd it round, and kept their Inhabitants in on every Side. Joſephus relates, that Titus run up a Wall in a very ſhort Time, which ſurrounded the City, and cut off all Hopes of eſcaping. (2.) They laid it even with the Ground. Titus commanded his Soldiers to dig up the City, and the whole Compaſs of it was levell'd, except three Towers; ſee Joſephus's Hiſtory of the Wars of the Jews, Lib. 5. cap. 27. Lib. 7. cap. 1. Not only the City, but the Citizens, were laid even with the Ground, thy Children within thee, by the cruel Slaughters that were made of them. And there was ſcarce one Stone left upon another. This was for their crucifying Chriſt, this was becauſe they knew not the Day of their Viſitation. Let other Cities and Nations take Warning.

Secondly, The Zeal he ſhew'd for the preſent purifying the Temple. Tho' it muſt be deſtroy'd e'er long, it doth not therefore follow that no Care muſt be taken of it in the mean time.

1. Chriſt clear'd it of thoſe who profan'd it. He went ſtrait to the Temple, and began to caſt out the Buyers and Sellers, v. 45. Hereby (tho' he was repreſented as an Enemy to the Temple, and that was the Crime laid to his Charge before the High Prieſt) he made it to appear, that he had a truer Love for the Temple, than they had who had ſuch a Veneration for its Corban, its Treaſury, as a ſacred Thing; for its Purity was more its Glory than its Wealth was. Chriſt gave a Reaſon for his diſlodging the Temple-Merchants, v. 46. The Temple is a Houſe of Prayer, ſet apart for Communion with God: The Buyers and Sellers make it a Den of Thieves, by the fraudulent Bargains they made there; which was by no means to be ſuffer'd, for it would be a Diſtraction to thoſe who came there to pray.

2. He put it to the beſt Uſe that ever it was put to, for he taught daily in the Temple, v. 47. Note, It is not enough that the Corruptions of a Church be purg'd out, but the preaching of the Goſpel muſt be encourag'd. Now when Chriſt preach'd in the Temple, Obſerve here,

1. How ſpiteful the Church-Rulers were againſt him; how induſtrious to ſeek an Opportunity, or Pretence rather, to do him a Miſchief, v. 47. The Chief Prieſts and Scribes and the chief of the People, i. e. the great Sanhedrim, that ſhould have attended him, and ſummon'd the People too, to attend him, they ſought to deſtroy him, and put him to Death.

2. How reſpectful the common People were to him. They were very attentive to hear him; he ſpent moſt of his Time in the Country, and did not then preach in the Temple, but when he did, the People paid him great Reſpect; attended on his Preaching with Diligence, and let no Opportunity ſlip of hearing him; attended to it with Care, and would not loſe a Word. Some read it, All the People as they heard him took his Part; and ſo it comes in very properly, as a Reaſon why his Enemies could not find what they might do againſt him; they ſaw the People ready to fly in their Faces, if they offer'd him any Violence. Till his Hour was come, his Intereſt in the common People protected him: But when his Hour was come, the chief Prieſts Influence upon the common People deliver'd him up.

CHAP. XX.

In this Chapter we have (1.) Chriſt's Anſwer to the chief Prieſt's Queſtion concerning his Authority, v. 1——8. (2.) The Parable of the Vineyard let out to the unjuſt and Rebellious Husbandmen, v. 9——19. (3.) Chriſt's Anſwer to the Queſtion propos'd to him concerning the Lawfulneſs of paying Tribute to Cæſar, v. 20——26. (4.) His Vindication of that great Fundamental Doctrine of the Jewiſh and Chriſtian Inſtitutes, the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the future State, from the fooliſh Cavils of the Sadducees, v. 27——38. (5.) His puzzling the Scribes with a Queſtion concerning the Meſſiah's being the Son of David, v. 39——44. (6.) The Caution he gave his Diſciples to take heed of the Scribes, v. 45——47. All which Paſſages we had before in Matthew and Mark, and therefore need not enlarge upon them here, unleſs on thoſe Particulars which we had not there.

1 AND it came to paſs, that on one of thoſe days, as he taught the people in the temple, and preached the goſpel, the chief prieſts and the ſcribes came upon him, with the elders. 2 And ſpake unto him, ſaying, Tell us, By what authority doſt thou theſe things? or who is he that gave thee this authority? 3 And he anſwered and ſaid unto them, I will alſo aſk you one thing, and anſwer me: 4 The baptiſm of John, was it from heaven, or of men? 5 And they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay, From heaven, he will ſay, Why then believed ye him not? 6 But and if we ſay, Of Men, all the people will ſtone us: for they be perſuaded that John was a prophet. 7 And they anſwered, that they could not tell whence it was. 8 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do theſe things.

In this Paſſage of Story, nothing is added here to what we had in the other Evangeliſts; but only in the Firſt Verſe, where we are told,

1. That he was now teaching the People in the Temple, and preaching the Goſpel. Note, Chriſt was a Preacher of his own Goſpel. He not only purchas'd the Salvation for us, but publiſh'd it to us, which is a great Confirmation of the Truth of the Goſpel, and gives abundant Encouragement to us to receive it, for it's a Sign the Heart of Chriſt was much upon it to have it receiv'd. This likewiſe puts an Honour upon the Preachers of the Goſpel, and upon their Office and Work, how much ſoever it is deſpis'd by a vain World. It puts an Honour upon the popular Preachers of the Goſpel; Chriſt condeſcended to the Capacities of the People, in preaching the Goſpel, and taught them. And obſerve, when he was preaching the Goſpel to the People, he had this Interruption given him. Note, Satan and his Agents do all they can to hinder the Preaching of the Goſpel to the People, for nothing weakens the Intereſt of Satan's Kingdom more.

2. That his Enemies are here ſaid to come upon him, ἐπέστησαν, that Word is us'd only here, and it intimates, (1.) That they thought to ſurprize him with this Queſtion, they came upon him ſuddenly, hoping to catch him unprovided with an Anſwer, as if this were not a thing he had himſelf thought of. (2.) That they thought to frighten him with this Queſtion. They came upon him in a Body with Violence. But how could he be terrified with the Wrath of Men, when it was in his own Power to reſtrain it, and make it turn to his Praiſe. From this Story itſelf we may learn,

1. That it is not to be thought ſtrange, if even that which is evident to a Demonſtration, be diſputed and call'd into Queſtion as a doubtful thing, by thoſe that ſhall ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light. Chriſt's Miracles plainly ſhew'd by what Authority he did theſe Things, and ſeal'd his Commiſſion, and yet this is that which is here arraign'd.

2. Thoſe that queſtion Chriſt's Authority, if they be but catechiz'd themſelves in the plaineſt and moſt evident Principles of Religion, will have their Folly made manifeſt unto all Men. Chriſt anſwered theſe Prieſts and Scribes with a Queſtion concerning the Baptiſm of John, a plain Queſtion, which the meaneſt of the common People could anſwer, Was it from Heaven, or of Men? They all knew it was from Heaven, there was nothing in it that had an earthly Reliſh or Tendency, but it was all Heavenly and Divine. And this Queſtion gravell'd them, and run them aground, and ſerved to ſhame them before the People.

3. Thoſe that are govern'd by Reputation and ſecular Intereſt, it is not ſtrange if they impriſon the plaineſt Truths, and ſmother and ſtifle the ſtrongeſt Convictions, as theſe Prieſts and Scribes did, who to ſave their Credit, would not own that John's Baptiſm was from Heaven; and had no other Reaſon why they did not ſay it was of Men, but becauſe they feared the People. What Good can be expected from Men of ſuch a Spirit?

4. Thoſe that bury the Knowledge they have, are juſtly denied further Knowledge. They who knew the Baptiſm of John to be from Heaven, and would not believe in him, nor own their Knowledge, it was juſt with Chriſt to refuſe to give them an acccount of his Authority, v. 7, 8.

9 Then began he to ſpeak to the people this parable: A certain man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen, and went into a far country for a long time. 10 And at the ſeaſon, he ſent a ſervant to the husbandmen, that they ſhould give him of the fruit of the vineyard; but the husbandmen beat him and ſent him away empty. 11 And again he ſent another ſervant; and they beat him alſo, and entreated him ſhamefully, and ſent him away empty. 12 And again he ſent a third, and they wounded him alſo, and caſt him out. 13 Then ſaid the Lord of the vineyard, What ſhall I do? I will ſend my beloved Son: it may be they will reverence him when they ſee him. 14 But when the husbandmen ſaw him, they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, This is the Heir: come let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours. 15 So they caſt him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What therefore ſhall the Lord of the vineyard do unto them? 16 He ſhall come and deſtroy theſe husbandmen, and ſhall give the vineyard to others. And when they heard it, they ſaid, God forbid. 17 And he beheld them, and ſaid, What is this then that is written, The Stone which the builders rejected, the ſame is become the head of the corner? 18 Whoſoever ſhall fall upon that ſtone ſhall be broken: but on whomſoever it ſhall fall, it will grind him to powder. 19 ¶ And the chief Prieſts and ſcribes the ſame night ſought to lay hands on him; and they feared the people; for they perceived that he ſpoke this parable againſt them.

Chriſt ſpoke this Parable againſt thoſe who were reſolv'd not to own his Authority, tho' the Evidence of it was never ſo full and convincing; and it comes in very ſeaſonably, to ſhew that by queſtioning his Authority, they forfeited their own. Their diſowning the Lord of their Vineyard, was a Defeaſance of their Leaſe of the Vineyard, and a giving up all their Title.

1. The Parable has nothing added here to what we had before in Matthew and Mark. The Scope of it is to ſhew, that the Jewiſh Nation, by perſecuting the Prophets, and at length Chriſt himſelf, had provok'd God to take away from them all their Church Privileges, and to abandon them to Ruin. It teacheth us,

1. That thoſe who enjoy the Privileges of the viſible Church, are as Tenants and Farmers that have a Vineyard to look after, and Rents to pay for it. God by ſetting up reveal'd Religion, and inſtituted Orders in the World, hath planted a Vineyard, which he lets out to thoſe People among whom his Tabernacle is, v. 9. And they have Vineyard Work to do, needful and conſtant Work, but pleaſant and profitable. Whereas Man was for Sin condemn'd to Till the Ground; they that have a place in the Church, are reſtor'd to that which was Adam's Work in Innocency, to dreſs the Garden, and to keep it, for the Church is a Paradiſe, and Chriſt the Tree of Life in it. They have alſo Vineyard Fruits to preſent to the Lord of the Vineyard. There are Rents to be paid, and Services to be done, which tho' bearing no Proportion to the Value of the Premiſes, yet muſt be done and muſt be paid.

2. That the Work of God's Miniſters, is to call upon thoſe that enjoy the Privileges of the Church, to bring forth Fruit accordingly. They are God's Rent-gatherers, to put the Husbandmen in mind of their Arrears, or rather to put them in mind that they have a Landlord, who expects to hear from them, and to receive ſome Acknowledgement of their Dependance on him, and Obligations to him, v. 10. The Old Teſtament Prophets were ſent on this Errand to the Jewiſh Church, to demand from them the Duty and Obedience they ow'd to God.

3. It has often been the Lot of God's Faithful Servants to be wretchedly abuſed by his own Tenants, they have been beaten and treated ſhamefully by thoſe that reſolved to ſend them empty away. They that are reſolved not to do their Duty to God, cannot bear to be call'd upon to do it. Some of the beſt Men in the World, have had the hardeſt Uſage from it, for their beſt Services.

4. God ſent his Son into the World, to carry on the ſame Work that the Prophets were employ'd in, to gather the Fruits of the Vineyard for God, and one would have thought he ſhould have been reverenced and receiv'd. The Prophets ſpoke as Servants, Thus ſaith the Lord, but Chriſt as a Son, among his own, Verily I ſay unto you. Putting ſuch an Honour as this upon them, to ſend him, one would have thought ſhould have won upon them.

5. Thoſe that reject Chriſt's Miniſters, would reject Chriſt himſelf, if he ſhould come to them; for it has been tried and found that the Proſecutors and Murtherers of his Servants the Prophets, were the Perſecutors and Murtherers of him himſelf. They ſaid, This is the Heir, come let us kill him. When they ſlew the Servants, there were other Servants ſent; but if we can but be the Death of the Son, there's never another Son to be ſent, and then we ſhall be no longer moleſted with theſe Demands; we may have a quiet Poſſeſſion of the Vineyard for ourſelves. The Scribes and Phariſees promis'd themſelves, that if they could but get Chriſt out of the way, they ſhould for ever ride Maſters in the Jewiſh Church; and therefore they took that bold Step, they caſt him out of the Vineyard and kill'd him.

6. The putting of Chriſt to Death fill'd up the Meaſure of the Jewiſh Iniquity, and brought upon them Ruin without Remedy. No other could be expected, but that God ſhould deſtroy thoſe wicked Husbandmen. They began in not paying their Rent, but then proceeding to beat and kill the Servants, and at length their young Maſter himſelf. Note, Thoſe that live in the neglect of their Duty to God, know not what Degrees of Sin and Deſtruction they are running themſelves into.

2. To the Application of the Parable is added here, which we had not before, their Deprecation of the Doom included in it, v. 16. When they heard it, they ſaid, God forbid μὴ γένοιτο, Let not this be done, ſo it ſhould be read; tho' they could not but own, that for ſuch a Sin, ſuch a Puniſhment was juſt, and what might be expected, yet they could not bear to hear it. Note, 'Tis an Inſtance of the Folly and Stupidity of Sinners, that they proceed and perſevere in their ſinful Ways, tho' at the ſame time they have a foreſight and dread of the Deſtruction that is at the end of thoſe Ways. And ſee what a Cheat they put upon themſelves to think to avoid it by a Cold God forbid, when they do nothing towards the preventing of it; but will this make the Threatning ofn one Effect? No, they ſhall know whoſe Word ſhall ſtand, God's or theirs.

Now obſerve what Chriſt ſaid in anſwer to this childiſh Deprecation of their Ruin. (1.) He beheld them. That's taken Notice of only by this Evangeliſt, v. 17. He look'd upon them with Pity and Compaſſion, griev'd to ſee them cheat themſelves thus in their own Ruin. He beheld them, to ſee if they would bluſh at their own Folly, or if he could diſcern in their Countenances any ſhew of Relenting. (2.) He refer'd them to the Scripture, What is this then that is written? How can you eſcape the Judgment of God, when you cannot prevent the Exaltation of him whom you deſpiſe and reject? The Word of God hath ſaid it, That the Stone which the Builders rejected, is become the Head of the Corner. The Lord Jeſus will be exalted to the Father's Right Hand, he has all Judgment and all Power committed to him, he is the Corner Stone, and Top-Stone of the Church, and if ſo, his Enemies can expect no other but to be deſtroy'd: For even thoſe that ſlight him, that ſtumble at him, and are offended in him, they ſhall be broken, 'twill be their Ruin; but thoſe that not only reject him, but hate and perſecute him, as the Jews did, he will fall upon them, and cruſh them to Pieces, will grind them to Powder. The Condemnation of ſpiteful Perſecutors will be much ſorer than that of careleſs Unbelievers.

Laſtly, We are told how the chief Prieſts and Scribes were exaſperated by this Parable, v. 19. They perceiv'd that he ſpoke this Parable againſt them, and ſo he did. A guilty Conſcience needs no Accuſer; but they, inſtead of yielding to the Convictions of Conſcience, fell into a Rage at him, who awakened that ſleeping Lion in their own Boſoms, and ſought to lay Hands on him. Their Corruptions rebel'd againſt their Convictions, and got the Victory. And it was becauſe they had not any fear of God, or of his Wrath before their Eyes, but only becauſe they feared the People, that they did not now fly in his Face, and take him by the Throat. They were juſt ready to make his Words good; This is the Hair, come let us kill him. Note, When the Hearts of the Sons of Men are fully ſet in them to do Evil, the faireſt Warnings both of the Sin they are about to commit, and of the Conſequences of it, make no Impreſſion upon them. Chriſt tells them, that inſtead of kiſſing the Son of God, they would kill him, upon which they ſhould have ſaid, What is thy Servant a Dog? But they do in Effect ſay this, and ſo we will have at him now. And tho' they deprecate the Puniſhment of the Sin, in the next Breath they are projecting the Commiſſion of it.

20 And they watched him, and ſent forth ſpies, which ſhould feign themſelves juſt men, that they might take hold of his words, that ſo they might deliver him unto the power and authority of the governour. 21 And they asked him, ſaying, Maſter, we know that thou ſayeſt and teacheſt rightly, neither accepteſt thou the perſon of any, but teacheſt the way of God truly.
22 Is it lawful for us to give tribute unto Cæſar, or no?
23 But he perceived their craftineſs, and ſaid unto them, Why tempt ye me? 24 Shew me a penny:
whoſe image and ſuperſcription hath it? They anſwer'd and ſaid, Cæſar's. 25 And he ſaid unto them, Render therefore unto Cæſar the things which be Cæſar's, and unto God the things which be God's. 26 And they could not take hold of his words before the people: and they marvelled at his anſwer, and held their peace.

We have here Chriſt's evading a Snare, which his Enemies laid for him, by propoſing a Queſtion to him about Tribute. We had this Paſſage before, both in Matthew and Mark. Here's,

1. The Miſchief deſign'd him, and that's more fully related here than before. The Plot was to deliver him unto the Power and Authority of the Governour, v. 20. They could not themſelves put him to Death by courſe of Law, nor otherwiſe than by a popular Tumult, which they could not depend upon. And ſince they cannot be his Judges, they'll willingly condeſcend to be his Proſecutors and Accuſers, and will themſelves inform againſt him. They hoped to gain their Point, if they could but incenſe the Governour againſt him. Note, It has been the common Artifice of perſecuting Church-Rulers, to make the Secular Powers the Tools of their Malice, and oblige the Kings of the Earth to do their Drudgery, who if they had not been inſtigated, would have let their Neighbours live quietly by them, as Pilate did Chriſt, till the chief Prieſts and the Scribes preſented Chriſt to him. But thus Chriſt's Word muſt be fulfill'd by their curſed Politicks, that he ſhould be delivered into the Hands of the Gentiles.

2. The Perſons they employ'd; Matthew and Mark told us they were Diſciples of the Phariſees, with ſome Herodians: Here 'tis added, that they were Spies, which ſhould feign themſelves juſt Men. Note, 'Tis no new Thing for ill Men to feign themſelves juſt Men, and to cover the moſt wicked Projects with moſt ſpecious and plauſible Pretences. The Devil can transform himſelf into an Angel of Light, and a Phariſee appear in the Garb, and ſpeak the Language of a Diſciple of Chriſt. A Spy muſt go in Diſguiſe. Theſe Spies muſt take on them to have a Value for Chriſt's Judgment, and to depend upon it as an Oracle, and therefore muſt deſire his Advice in a Caſe of Conſcience. Note, Miniſters are concern'd to ſtand upon their Guard, againſt ſome that feign themſelves to be juſt Men, and to be wiſe as Serpents, when they are in the midſt of a Generation of Vipers and Scorpions.

3. The Queſtion they propos'd, with which they hoped to enſnare him. (1.) Their Preface is very courtly, Maſter, we know that thou ſayeſt and teacheſt rightly, v. 21. Thus they thought to flatter him into an incautelous Freedom and Openneſs with them, and ſo gain their Point. They that are proud, and love to be commended, will be brought to do any thing for thoſe that will but flatter them, and ſpeak them fair; but they were much miſtaken, who thought thus to impoſe upon the humble Jeſus. He was not pleas'd with the Teſtimony of ſuch Hypocrites, nor thought himſelf honoured by it. 'Tis true, that he accepts not the Perſon of any; but 'tis as true, that he knows the Hearts of all, and knew theirs, and the ſeven Abominations that were there, tho' they ſpeak fair. 'Twas certain that he taught the way of God truly; but he knew that they were unworthy to be taught by him, who came to take hold of his Words, not to be taken hold of by them. (2.) Their Caſe is very nice: Is it lawful for us, (that's added here in Luke) to give Tribute to Cæſar? for us Jews, us the Free-born Seed of Abraham, us that pay the Lord's Tribute, may we give Tribute to Cæſar? Their Pride and Covetouſneſs made them loth to pay Taxes, and then they would have it a Queſtion, whether it was lawful or no? Now if Chriſt ſhould ſay it was lawful, the People would take it ill, who expected that he who ſet up to be the Meſſiah, ſhould in the firſt Place free them from the Roman Yoke, and ſtand by them in denying Tribute to Cæſar: But if he ſhould ſay it was not lawful, as they expected he would, (for if he had not been of that Mind, they thought he could not have been ſo much the Darling of the People as he was) then they ſhould have ſomething to accuſe him of to the Governour, which was what they wanted.

4. His evading of the Snare which they laid for him; He perceived their Craftineſs, v. 23. Note, Thoſe that are moſt crafty in their Deſigns againſt Chriſt and his Goſpel, cannot with all their Art conceal them from his Cognizance. He can ſee thro' the moſt political Diſguiſes, and ſo break through the moſt dangerous Snare; for ſurely in vain is the Net ſpread in the Sight of any Bird. He did not give them a direct Anſwer, but reprov'd them for offering to impoſe upon him, Why tempt ye me? and call'd for a Piece of Money, current Money with the Merchants; Shew me a Penny; and ask'd them whoſe Money it was? whoſe Stamp it bore? who coin'd it? They own 'tis Cæſar's Money; why then, ſaith Chriſt, you ſhould firſt have ask'd whether it was lawful to pay and receive Cæſar's Money among yourſelves, and to admit that to be the Inſtrument of your Commerce: But you having granted that by a common Conſent, you are concluded by your own Act, and no doubt you ought to give Tribute to him, who furniſh'd you with this Convenience for your Trade, protects you in it, and lends you the Sanction of his Authority, for the Value of your Money. You muſt therefore render to Cæſar the Things that are Cæſar's. In civil Things you ought to ſubmit to the civil Powers, and ſo if Cæſar protects you in your civil Rights, by Laws and the Adminiſtration of Juſtice, you ought to pay him Tribute; but in Sacred things, God only is your King; you are not bound to be of Cæſar's Religion; you muſt render to God the things that are God's, muſt worſhip and adore him only, and not any Golden Image that Cæſar ſets up; and we muſt worſhip and adore him in ſuch way as he has appointed, and not according to the Inventions of Cæſar. 'Tis God only that has Authority to ſay, My Son, give me thy Heart.

5. The Confuſion they were hereby put into, v. 26. (1.) The Snare is broke; They could not take hold of his Words before the People. They could not faſten upon any thing wherewith to incenſe either the Governour or the People againſt him. (2.) Chriſt is honoured; even the Wrath of Man is made to praiſe him. They marvelled at his Anſwer, it was ſo diſcreet and unexceptionable, and ſuch an Evidence of that Wiſdom and Sincerity which make the Face to ſhine. (3.) Their Mouths are ſtop'd. They held their Peace. They had nothing to object, and durſt ask him nothing elſe, leſt he ſhould ſhame and expoſe them.

27 ¶ Then came to him certain of the Sadducees (which deny that there is any Reſurrection) and they asked him, 28 Saying, Maſter, Moſes wrote unto us, If any man's Brother die, having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother ſhould take his wife, and raiſe up ſeed unto his brother. 29 There were therefore ſeven brethren: and the firſt took a wife, and died without children. 30 And the ſecond took her to wife, and he died childleſs. 31 And the third took her; and in like manner the ſeven alſo. And they left no children, and died. 32 Laſt of all the woman died alſo. 33 Therefore in the reſurrection, whoſe wife of them is ſhe? for ſeven had her to wife. 34 And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid unto them, The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage. 35 But they which ſhall be accounted worthy to obtain that world, and the reſurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor are given in marriage. 36 Neither can they die any more; for they are equal unto the angels, and are the children of God, being the children of the reſurrection. 37 Now that the dead are raiſed, even Moſes ſhewed at the buſh, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob. 38 For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him.

This Diſcourſe with the Sadducees we had before, juſt as it is here, only that the Deſcription Chriſt gives of the future State, is ſomewhat more full and large here. Obſerve here,

1. That in every Age there have been Men of corrupt Minds that have endeavoured to ſubvert the fundamental Principles of revealed Religion. As there are Deiſts now, who call themſelves Free-thinkers, but are really Falſe-thinkers; ſo there were Sadducees in our Saviour's time, that bantered the Doctrine of the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the Life of the World to come, tho' they were plainly reveal'd in the Old Teſtament, and were Articles of the Jewiſh Faith. The Sadducees deny that there is any Reſurrection, any future State; ſo ἀνάστασις may ſignify; not only no Return of the Body to Life, but no Continuance of the Soul in Life; no World of Spirits, no State of Recompence and Retribution for what was done in the Body. Take away this, and all Religion falls to the Ground.

2. 'Tis common for thoſe that deſign to undermine any Truth of God, to perplex it, and load it with Difficulties: So thoſe Sadducees here did, when they would weaken Peoples Faith in the Doctrine of the Reſurrection, they put a Queſtion upon the Suppoſition of it, which they thought could not be anſwered either way to Satisfaction. The Caſe, perhaps, was Matter of Fact, however it might be ſo, of a Woman that had Seven Husbands: Now in the Reſurrection whoſe Wife ſhall ſhe be? Whereas it was not at all material whoſe ſhe was, for when Death puts an end to that Relation, 'tis not to be reſum'd again.

3. There's a great deal of Difference between the State of the Children of Men on Earth, and that of the Children of God in Heaven; a vaſt Unlikeneſs between this World, and that World; and we wrong ourſelves, and wrong the Truth of Chriſt, when we form our Notions of that World of Spirits by our preſent Enjoyments in this World of Senſe.

1. The Children of Men in this World, Marry, and are given in Marriage; ὑιοὶ τοῦ ἀιῶνος τούτου. The Children of this Age, this Generation, both good and bad, marry themſelves, and give their Children in Marriage. Much of our Buſineſs in this World, is, to raiſe and build up Families, and to provide for them: Much of our Pleaſure in this World, is our Relations, our Wives and Children; Nature inclines to it: Marriage is inſtituted for the Comfort of human Life here in this State, where we carry Bodies about with us. 'Tis likewiſe a Remedy againſt Fornication, that natural Deſires might not become brutal, but be under Direction and Controul. The Children of this World are dying and going off the Stage, and therefore they marry, and give their Children in Marriage, that they may furniſh the World of Mankind with needful Recruits; that as one Generation paſſeth away, another may come, and that they may have ſome of their own Offſpring to leave the Fruit of their Labours to, eſpecially that the choſen of God in future Ages may be introduced, for 'tis a godly Seed that is ſought by Marriage, Mal. 2. 15. A Seed to ſerve the Lord, that ſhall be a Generation to him.

2. The World to come is quite another thing; 'tis call'd that World, by way of Emphaſis and Eminency. Note, There are more Worlds than one; a preſent miſerable World, and a future inviſible World; and it is the Concern of every one of us to compare Worlds, this World and that World, and give the Preference in our Thoughts and Cares to that which deſerves it. Now obſerve,

1. Who ſhall be the Inhabitants of that World; they that ſhall be accounted worthy to obtain it, i. e. that are intereſted in Chriſt's Merit, who purchas'd it for us, and have a holy Meetneſs for it wrought in them by the Spirit, whoſe Buſineſs it is to prepare us for it. They have not a legal Worthineſs upon the account of any Thing in them, or done by them, but an Evangelical Worthineſs upon the account of the ineſtimable Price which Chriſt paid for the Redemption of the purchaſed Poſſeſſion. 'Tis a Worthineſs imputed, by which we are glorified, as well as a Righteouſneſs imputed, by which we are juſtified; καταξιωθέντες, they are made agreeable to that World. The Diſagreeableneſs that there is in the corrupt Nature, is taken away, and the Diſpoſitions of the Soul are, by the Grace of God, conform'd to that State. They are by Grace, made and counted worthy to obtain that World; it intimates ſome Difficulty in reaching after it, and danger of coming ſhort. We muſt ſo run, as that we may obtain. They ſhall obtain the Reſurrection from the dead, i. e. the bleſſed Reſurrection: For that of Condemnation, as Chriſt calls it, Joh. 5. 29. is rather a Reſurrection to Death, a ſecond Death, an eternal Death, than from Death.

2. What ſhall be the happy State of the Inhabitants of that World, we cannot conceive or expreſs it, 1 Cor. 2. 9. See what Chriſt here ſaith of it.

1. They neither marry, nor are given in Marriage. Thoſe that are entered into the Joy of their Lord, are entirely taken up with that, and need not the Joy of the Bridegroom in his Bride. The Love in that World of Love is all Seraphick, and ſuch as eclipſeth and loſeth the pureſt and moſt pleaſing Loves we entertain ourſelves with, in this World of Senſe; where the Body itſelf ſhall be a ſpiritual Body, the Delights of Senſe are all vaniſh'd; and where there is a Perfection of Holineſs, there's no occaſion for Marriage, as a Preſervative from Sin; into that new Jeruſalem there enters nothing that defiles.

2. They cannot die any more; and this comes in as a Reaſon why they do not marry. In this dying World there muſt be Marriage, in order to the filling up of the Vacancies made by Death; but where there are no Burials, there needs no Weddings. This crowns the Comfort of that World, that there's no more Death there, which ſullies all the Beauty, and damps all the Comfort of this World. Here Death reigns, but thence 'tis for ever excluded.

3. They are equal unto the Angels. In the other Evangeliſts 'twas ſaid, they are as the Angels, ὡς ἄγγελοι, but here they are ſaid to be equal to the Angels, ἰσάγγελοι, Angels Peers; they have a Glory and Bliſs no way inferiour to that of the holy Angles: they ſhall ſee the ſame Sight, be employ'd in the ſame Work, and ſhare in the ſame Joys, with the holy Angels. Saints when they come to Heaven ſhall be naturaliz'd; and tho' by Nature Strangers, yet having obtained this Freedom with a great Sum, which Chriſt paid for them, they have in all Reſpects equal Privileges with them that were Free-born, the Angels that are the Natives, and Aborigines of that Country. They ſhall be Companions with the Angels, and converſe with thoſe bleſſed Spirits that love them dearly, and to an innumerable Company of whom they are are now come in Faith, Hope, and Love.

4. They are the Children of God, and ſo they are as the Angels, who are called the Sons of God: In the Inheritance of Sons, the Adoption of Sons will be compleated. Hence Believers are ſaid to wait for the Adoption, even the Redemption of the Body, Rom. 8. 23. For till the Body is redeem'd from the Grave, the Adoption is not compleated. Now are we the Sons of God, 1 John 3. 2. We have the Nature and Diſpoſition of Sons, but that will not be perfected till we come to Heaven.

5. They are the Children of the Reſurrection, i. e. They are made capable of the Employments and Enjoyments of the future State; they are born to that World, belong to that Family, had their Education for it here, and ſhall there have their Inheritance in it. They are the Children of God, being the Children of the Reſurrection. Note, God owns thoſe only for his Children that are the Children of the Reſurrection, that are born from above, are ally'd to the World of Spirits, and prepar'd for that World, who are the Children of that Family.

4. It is an undoubted Truth, that there is another Life after this, and there were eminent Diſcoveries made of this Truth, in the early Ages of the Church, v. 37, 38. Moſes ſhewed this, as it was ſhewed to Moſes at the Buſh, and he hath ſhewed it to us, when he calleth the Lord, as the Lord calleth himſelf, the God of Abraham, and the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob; Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, were then dead as to our World, they were departed out of it many Years before, and their Bodies were turn'd into Duſt in the Cave of Macpelah: How then could God ſay, not I was, but I am the God of Abraham? 'Tis abſurd that the living God and Fountain of Life ſhould continue related to them, as their God, if there were no more of them in being but what lay in that Cave, undiſtinguiſh'd from common Duſt: We muſt therefore conclude, that they were then in being in another World, for God is not the God of the Dead, but of the Living. Luke here adds, for all live unto him, i. e. All that, like them, are true Believers, tho' they are dead, yet they do live; their Souls which return to God that gave them, Eccl. 12.7. live to him as the Father of Spirits: and their Bodies ſhall live again at the end of time by the Power of God; for he calleth things that are not, as tho' they were, becauſe he is the God that quickens the Dead, Rom. 4.17. But there is more in it yet; when God calls himſelf the God of theſe Patriarchs, he meant, that he was their Felicity and Portion, a God All-ſufficient to them, Gen. 17.1. their exceeding great Reward, Gen. 15.1. Now 'tis plain by their Story, that he never did that for them in this World, which would anſwer the true Intent, and full Extent of that great Undertaking, and therefore there muſt be another Life after this, in which he will do that for them, as will amount to a Diſcharge in full of that Promiſe, that he would be to them a God, which he is able to do, for all live to him, and he has wherewithal to make every Soul happy that lives to him; enough for all, enough for each.

39 ¶ Then certain of the ſcribes anſwering, ſaid, Maſter, thou haſt well ſaid. 40 And after that they durſt not ask him any queſtions at all. 41 And he ſaid unto them, How ſay they that the Chriſt is David's ſon? 40 And David himſelf ſaith in the book of Pſalms, the Lord ſaid unto my Lord, Sit thou on my right hand, 43 Till I make thine Enemies thy footſtool. 44 David therefore calleth him Lord, how is he then his ſon? 45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he ſaid unto his diſciples, 46 Beware of the ſcribes, which deſire to walk in long robes, and love greetings in the markets, and the higheſt ſeats in the ſynagogues, and the chief rooms at feaſts; 47 Which devour widows houſes, and for a ſhew make long Prayers: the ſame ſhall receive greater damnation.

The Scribes were Students in the Law, and Expoſitors of it to the People; Men in Reputation for Wiſdom and Honour; the Generality of them were Enemies to Chriſt and his Goſpel; now here we have ſome of them attending him, and four things we have in theſe Verſes concerning them, which we had before.

1. We have them here commending the Reply which Chriſt made to the Sadducees, concerning the Reſurrection, v. 39. Certain of the Scribes ſaid, Maſter thou haſt well ſaid. Chriſt had the Teſtimony of his Adverſaries, that he ſaid well; and therefore the Scribes were his Enemies, becauſe he would not conform to the Traditions of the Elders, but yet when he vindicated the Fundamental Practices of Religion, and appeared in Defence of them, even the Scribes commended his Performance, and own'd he ſaid well. Many that call themſelves Chriſtians, come ſhort even of that Spirit.

2. We have them here ſtruck with an Awe of Chriſt, and of his Wiſdom and Authority, v. 40. They durſt not ask him any Queſtions at all, becauſe they ſaw that he was too hard for all that contended with him. His own Diſciples, tho' weak, yet being willing to receive his Doctrine, durſt ask him any Queſtion; but the Sadducees who contradicted and cavill'd at his Doctrine, durſt ask him none.

3. We have them here puzzled and run aground, with a Queſtion concerning the Meſſiah, v. 41. 'Twas plain by many Scriptures, that Chriſt was to be the Son of David, even the blind Man knew that, Chap. 18.39. and yet it was plain, that David call'd the Meſſiah his Lord, v. 42, 43. his Owner and Ruler and Benefactor, The Lord ſaid to my Lord; God ſaid it to the Meſſiah, Pſal. 101. 1. Now if he be his Son, why doth he call him his Lord? if he be his Lord, why do we call him his Son? This he left them to conſider of, but they could not reconcile his ſeeming Contradiction; Thanks be to God we can; that Chriſt as God was David's Lord, but Chriſt as Man was David's Son. He was both the Root and the Offspring of David, Rev. 22. 16. By his Human Nature he was the Offspring of David, a Branch of his Family; by his Divine Nature he was the Root of David, from whom he had his Being and Life, and all the Supplies of Grace.

4. We have them here deſcrib'd in their black Characters, and a publick Caution given to the Diſciples to take heed of them, v. 45, 46, 47. This we had juſt as it is here, Mark 12. 38. and more largely, Mat. 23. Chriſt bid his Diſciples, Beware of the Scribes; i. e. 1. Take heed of being drawn into Sin by them, of learning their Way, and going into their Meaſures; beware of ſuch a Spirit as they are govern'd by. Be not you ſuch in the Chriſtian Church, as they are in the Jewiſh Church. 2. Take heed of being brought into Trouble by them; in the ſame Senſe that he had ſaid, Mat. 10.17. Beware of Men, for they will deliver you up to the Councils; beware of the Scribes, for they do ſo. Beware of them, for,

1. They are proud and haughty; they deſire to walk about the Streets in long Robes, as thoſe that are above Buſineſs, for Men of Buſineſs went with their Loins girt up, and as thoſe take State, and take Place. Cedant Arma Togæ. —They lov'd in their Hearts to have People make their Honouts to them in the Markets, that many might ſee what Reſpect was paid them; and were very proud of the Precedency that was given them in all Places of Concourſe. They loved the higheſt Seats in the Synagogues, and the chief Rooms at Feaſts, and when they were plac'd in them, look'd upon themſelves with great Conceit, and upon all about them with a great Contempt. I ſit as a Queen.

2. They are covetous and oppreſſive, and make their Religion a Cloak and Cover for it. They devour Widows Houſes, get their Eſtates into their Hands, and then by ſome Trick or other, make them their own; or they live upon them, and eat up what they have. And Widows are an eaſy Prey to them, becauſe they are apt to be deluded by their ſpecious Pretences; for a Show they make long Prayers, perhaps long Prayers with the Widows when they are in Sorrow, as if they had not only a piteous, but a pious Concern for them, and thus endeavour to ingratiate themſelves with them, and get their Money and Effects into their Hands. Such devout Men ſure may be truſted with untold Gold; but they will give ſuch an Account of it as they think fit.

Chriſt reads them their Doom in a few Words, Theſe ſhall receive a more abundant Judgment; a double Damnation, both for their Abuſe of the poor Widows, whoſe Houſes they devoured; and for their Abuſe of Religion, and particularly of Prayer, which they had made uſe of, as a Pretence for the more plauſible and effectual carrying on of their worldly and wicked Projects; for diſſembled Piety is double Iniquity.

CHAP. XXI.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) The Notice Chriſt took, and the Approbation he gave, of a poor Widow that caſt two Mites into the Treaſury, v. 1——4. (2.) A Prediction of future Events, in anſwer to his Diſciples Enquiries concerning them, v. 5——7. 1 Of what ſhould happen between that and the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, falſe Chriſts ariſing, bloody Wars and Perſecutions of Chriſt's Followers, v. 8——19. 2. Of that Deſtruction itſelf, v. 20——24. 3. Of the ſecond Coming of Jeſus Chriſt to judge the World, under the Type and Fgure of that, v. 25——33. (3.) A practical Application of this by way of Caution and Counſel, v. 34——36. And an Account of Chriſt's Preaching, and the People's Attendance on it, v. 37, 38.

1 AND he looked up, and ſaw the rich men caſting their gifts into the Treaſury. 2 And he ſaw alſo a certain poor widow, caſting in thither two mites.
3 And he ſaid, Of a truth I ſay unto you, that this poor widow hath caſt in more than they all. 4 For all theſe have of their abundance caſt in unto the offerings of God: but ſhe of her penury hath caſt in all the living that ſhe had.

This ſhort Paſſage of Story, we had before in Mark. It is thus recorded twice, to teach us,

1. That Charity to the poor is a main Matter in Religion; our Lord Jeſus took all occaſions to commend it, and recommend it. He had juſt mentioned the Barbarity of the Scribes that devour'd poor Widows, Chap. 20. and perhaps this is deſign'd as an Aggravation of it, that the poor Widows were the beſt Benefactors to the publick Funds, which the Scribes had the Diſpoſal of.

2. That Jeſus Chriſt has his Eye upon us, to obſerve what we give to the Poor, and what we contribute to Works of Piety and Charity. Chriſt, tho' intent upon his Preaching, look'd up to ſee what Gifts were caſt into the Treaſury, v. 1. He obſerves whether we give largely and liberally, in Proportion to what we have, and whether we be ſneaking and paultry in it; nay, his Eye goes further, he obſerves whether we give charitably and with a willing Mind, or grudgingly and with Reluctance. This ſhould make us afraid of coming ſhort of our Duty in this Matter: Men may be deceived with Excuſes which Chriſt knows to be frivolous; and this ſhould encourage us to be abundant in it, without deſiring that Men ſhould know it, 'tis enough that Chriſt doth, he ſeeth in ſecret, and will reward openly.

3. That Chriſt obſerves and accepts the Charity of the Poor, in a particular Manner. Thoſe that have nothing to give, may yet do a great deal in Charity, by miniſtring to the Poor, and helping them, and begging for them that cannot help themſelves, or beg for themſelves: But here was one that was herſelf poor, and yet gave what little ſhe had to the Treaſury. It was but Two Mites, which make a Farthing; but Chriſt magnify'd it as a Piece of Charity exceeding all the reſt: She has caſt in more than they all. Chriſt doth not blame her for Indiſcretion, in giving what ſhe wanted herſelf, nor for Vanity in giving among the Rich to the Treaſury; but commended her Liberality, and her Willingneſs to part with what little ſhe had for the Glory of God; which proceeded from a Belief of, and Dependance upon God's Providence, to take Care of her. Jehovah jireh, the Lord will provide.

4. That whatever may be called the Offerings of God, we ought to have a Reſpect for, and to our Power, yea, and beyond our Power, to contribute chearfully to. Theſe have caſt in unto the Offerings of God. What is given to the Support of the Miniſtry and the Goſpel, to the ſpreading and propagating of Religion, the Education of Youth, the Releaſe of Priſoners, the Relief of Widows and Strangers, and the Maintenance of poor Families, is given to the Offerings of God, and it ſhall be ſo accepted and recompenc'd.

5 ¶ And as ſome ſpake of the temple, how it was adorn'd with goodly ſtones, and gifts, he ſaid, 6 As for theſe things which ye behold, the days will come, in the which there ſhall not be left one ſtone upon another, that ſhall not be thrown down. 7 And they asked him, ſaying, Maſter, but when ſhall theſe things be? and what ſign will there be when theſe things ſhall come to paſs? 8 And he ſaid, Take heed that ye be not deceived: for many ſhall come in my name, ſaying, I am Chriſt; and the time draweth near: go ye not therefore after them. 9 But when ye ſhall hear of wars, and commotions, be not terrify'd: for theſe things muſt firſt come to paſs, but the end is not by and by. 10 Then ſaid he unto them, Nation ſhall riſe againſt nation, and kingdom againſt kingdom: 11 And great earthquakes ſhall be in divers places, and famines, and peſtilences, and fearful ſights, and great ſigns ſhall there be from heaven. 12 But before all theſe, they ſhall lay their hands on you, and perſecute you, delivering you up to the ſynagogues, and into priſons, being brought before kings and rulers for my names ſake. 13 And it ſhall turn to you for a teſtimony. 14 Settle it therefore in your hearts, not to meditate before what ye ſhall anſwer. 15 For I will give you a mouth and wiſdom, which all your adverſaries ſhall not be able to gainſay, nor reſiſt. 16 And ye ſhall be betray'd both by parents, and brethren, and kinsfolks, and friends; and ſome of you ſhall they cauſe to be put to death. 17 And ye ſhall be hated of all men for my names ſake. 18 But there ſhall not an hair of your head periſh. 19 In your patience poſſeſs ye your ſouls.

See here, (1.) With what Admiration ſome ſpake of the external Pomp and Magnificence of the Temple, and they were ſome of Chriſt's own Diſciples too; and they took Notice of it to him how it was adorn'd with goodly Stones and Gifts, v. 5. The Outſide was built up with goodly Stones, and within it was beautified and enriched with the Preſents that were offer'd up for that Purpoſe, and were hung up in it. They thought their Maſter ſhould be as much affected with thoſe Things as they were, and ſhould as much regret the Deſtruction of them as they did. When we ſpeak of the Temple, it ſhould be of the Preſence of God in it, and of the Ordinances of God adminiſtred in it, and the Communion which his People there have with him; it is a poor Thing, when we ſpeak of the Church, to let our Diſcourſe dwell upon its Pomps and Revenues, and the Dignities and Powers of its Officers and Rulers; for the King's Daughter is all glorious within.

(2.) With what Contempt Chriſt ſpoke of them, and with what Aſſurance of their being all made deſolate very ſhortly, v. 6. As for thoſe Things which you behold, thoſe dear Things which you are ſo much in love with, behold the Days will come, and ſome now living may live to ſee them, in which there ſhall not be left one Stone upon another. This Building, which ſeems ſo beautiful, that one would think none could for Pity pull it down, and which ſeems ſo ſtrong, that one would think none ſhould be able to pull it down, yet ſhall be utterly ruin'd; and this ſhall be done as ſoon as ever the ſpiritual Temple of the Goſpel Church (the Subſtance of that Shadow) begins to flouriſh in the World. Did we by Faith foreſee the Blaſting and Withering of all external Glory, we ſhould not ſet our Hearts upon it, as thoſe do that cannot ſee, or will not look ſo far before them.

(3.) With what Curioſity thoſe about him, enquire concerning the Time when this great Deſolation ſhall be, v. 7. Maſter, when ſhall theſe Things be? 'Tis natural to us to covet to know future Things, and the Time of them, which it is not for us to know; when we are more concern'd to ask what is our Duty in the Proſpect of theſe Things, and how we may prepare for them. This it is for us to know. They inquire what Sign there ſhall be, when theſe Things ſhall come to paſs. They ask not for a preſent Sign to confirm the Prediction itſelf, and to induce them to believe it, Chriſt's Word was enough for that: But what the future Signs will be of the approaching Accompliſhment of the Prediction, by which they may be put in mind of it. Theſe Signs of the Times Chriſt had taught them to obſerve.

(4.) With what Clearneſs and Fulneſs Chriſt anſwers their Enquiries as far as was neceſſary to direct them in their Duty; for all Knowledge is deſirable as far as it is in order to practiſe.

Firſt, They muſt expect to hear of falſe Chriſts, and falſe Prophets appearing, and falſe Prophecies given out, v. 8. Many ſhall come in my Name; he doth not mean, in the Name of Jeſus, tho' there were ſome Deceivers who pretended Commiſſions from him, as Acts 19. 13. but uſurping the Title and Character of the Meſſiah. Many pretended to be the Deliverers of the Jewiſh Church and Nation from the Romans, and to fix the Time when the Deliverance ſhould be wrought, by which Multitudes were drawn into a Snare to their Ruin. They ſhall ſay, ὅτι ἐγώ εἰμι, That I am he, or, I am, as if they would aſſume that incommunicable Name of God, by which he made himſelf known, when he came to deliver Iſrael out of Egypt, I am: and, to encourage People to follow them, they added, the Time draws near when the Kingdom ſhall be reſtored to Iſrael, and if they will follow him, they ſhall ſhare in it.

Now, as to this, he gives them a needful Caution, 1. Take heed that ye be not deceived; do not you imagine that I ſhall myſelf come again in external Glory to take Poſſeſſion of the Throne of Kingdoms. No, you muſt not expect any ſuch Thing, for my Kingdom is not of this World. When they ask'd ſollicitouſly and eagerly, Maſter, when ſhall theſe Things be? The firſt Word Chriſt ſaid, was, Take heed that ye be not deceived. Note, Thoſe that are moſt inquiſitive in the Things of God (tho' it is very good to be ſo) yet are in moſt Danger of being impos'd upon, and have moſt need to be upon their Guard. 2. Go ye not after them, you know the Meſſiah is come, and you are not to look for any other; and therefore do not ſo much as hearken after them, nor have any thing to do with them. If we are ſure that Jeſus is the Chriſt, and his Doctrine is the Goſpel of God, we muſt be deaf to all Intimations of another Chriſt, and another Goſpel.

Secondly, They muſt expect to hear of great Commotions in the Nations, and many terrible Judgments inflicted upon the Jews and their Neighbours. (1.) There ſhall be bloody Wars, v. 10. Nation ſhall riſe againſt Nation; one Part of the Jewiſh Nation againſt another, or rather the Whole againſt the Romans. Encouraged by the falſe Chriſts, they ſhall wickedly endeavour to throw off the Roman Yoke, by taking up Arms againſt the Roman Powers. When they had rejected the Liberty with which Chriſt would have made them free, they were left to themſelves to graſp at their Civil Liberty, in ways that were ſinful, and therefore could not be ſucceſsful. (2.) There ſhall be Earthquakes, great Earthquakes, in divers Places, which ſhall not only frighten People, but deſtroy Towns and Houſes, and bury many in the Ruins of them. (3.) There ſhall be Famines and Peſtilences, the common Effects of War, which deſtroy the Fruits of the Earth, and by expoſing Men to ill Weather, and reducing them to ill Diet, occaſion infectious Diſeaſes. God has various ways of puniſhing a provoking People. The four Sorts of Judgments which the O. T. Prophets ſo often ſpeak of, are threatned by the N. T. Prophets too; for tho' Spiritual Judgments are more commonly inflicted in Goſpel Times, yet God makes uſe of Temporal Judgments alſo. (4.) There ſhall be fearful Sights, and great Signs from Heaven, uncommon Appearances in the Clouds, Comets and blazing Stars, which frighten the ordinary Sort of Beholders, and have always been look'd upon as ominous, and portending ſomething bad.

Now, as to theſe, the Caution he gives them, is, Be not terrified. Others will be frighten'd at them, but be not you frighten'd, v. 9. As to the fearful Sights, let not them be fearful to you, who look above the viſible Heavens to the Throne of God's Government in the higheſt Heavens. Be not diſmay'd at the Signs of Heaven, for the Heathen are diſmay'd at them, Jer. 10. 2. And as to the Famines and Peſtilences, you fall into the Hands of God, who has promis'd to thoſe who are his, that in the Days of Famine they ſhall be ſatisfy'd, and that he will keep them from the noiſome Peſtilence; Truſt therefore in him, and be not afraid. Nay, when you hear of Wars, when without are Fightings, and within are Fears, yet then be not you terrify'd; you know the worſt that any of theſe Judgments can do you, and therefore be not afraid of them: For (1.) 'tis your Intereſt to make the beſt of that which is, for all your Fears cannot alter it; theſe Things muſt firſt come to paſs, there's no Remedy, 'twill be your Wiſdom to make yourſelves eaſy by accommodating yourſelves to them. (2.) There's worſe behind; flatter not yourſelves with a Fancy that you'll ſoon ſee an End of theſe Troubles, no, not ſo ſoon as you think of, the End is not by and by, not ſuddenly. Be not terrify'd, for if you begin ſo quickly to be diſcourag'd, how will you bear up under what is yet before you?

Thirdly, They muſt expect to be themſelves for Signs and Wonders in Iſrael; their being perſecuted would be a Prognoſtick of the Deſtruction of the City and Temple, which he had now foretold. Nay, this ſhould be the firſt Sign of their Ruin coming, Before all theſe they ſhall lay their Hands on you. The Judgment ſhall begin at the Houſe of God; you muſt ſmart firſt for a Warning to them, that if they have any Conſideration they may conſider, If this be done to the Green Tree, what ſhall be done to the Dry? See 1 Pet. 4. 17, 18. But that is not all; this muſt be conſider'd, not only as the Suffering of the Perſecuted, but as the Sin of the Perſecution: Before God's Judgments are brought upon them, they ſhall fill up the Meaſure of their Iniquity, by laying their hands on you. Note, The Ruin of a People is always introduced by their Sin; and nothing introduces a ſurer and ſorer Ruin, than the Sin of Perſecution. This is a Sign that God's Wrath is coming upon a People to the uttermoſt, when their Wrath againſt the Servants of God comes to the uttermoſt.

Now, as to this,

1. Chriſt tells them what hard Things they ſhould ſuffer for his Name's ſake, much to the ſame Purpoſe with what he had told them when he firſt call'd them to follow him, Mat. 10. They ſhould know the Wages of it, that they might ſit down and count the Coſt. St. Paul, who was the greateſt Labourer and Sufferer of them all, not being now among them, was told by himſelf what great Things he ſhould ſuffer for Chriſt's Name's ſake, Acts 9. 16. ſo neceſſary is it, that all that will live godly in Chriſt Jeſus, ſhould count upon Perſecution. The Chriſtians having themſelves been originally Jews, and ſtill retaining an equal Veneration with them for the Old Teſtament, and all the Eſſentials of their Religion, and differing only in Ceremony, might expect fair Quarter with them; but Chriſt bids them not expect it: No, they ſhall be the moſt forward to perſecute you. (1.) They ſhall uſe their own Church-Power againſt you, they ſhall deliver you up to the Synagogues, to be ſcourged there, and ſtigmatiz'd with their Anathemas. (2.) They ſhall incenſe the Magiſtrates againſt you; they ſhall deliver you into Priſons, that you may be brought before Kings and Rulers for my Name's ſake, and be puniſh'd by them. (3.) Your own Relations will betray you, v. 16. your Parents, Brethren, and Kinsfolks, and Friends; ſo that you will not know whom to put a Confidence in, nor where to be ſafe. (4.) Your Religion will be made a Capital Crime, and you will be call'd to reſiſt unto Blood; ſome of you ſhall they cauſe to be put to Death, ſo far muſt you be from expecting Honour and Wealth, that you muſt expect nothing but Death in its moſt frightful Shapes; Death in all its dreadful Pomp. Nay, (5.) You ſhall be hated of all Men for my Name's ſake. This is worſe than Death itſelf, and was fulfill'd when the Apoſtles were not only appointed to Death, but made a Spectacle to the World, and counted as the Filth of the World, and the Off-ſcouring of all Things, which every body loaths, 1 Cor. 4. 9, 13. They were hated of all Men, i. e. of all ill Men; who could not bear the Light of the Goſpel, becauſe it diſcover'd their evil Deeds, and therefore hated thoſe who brought in that Light, flew in their Faces, and would have pull'd them to pieces. The wicked World that hated to be reform'd, hated Chriſt the Great Reformer, and all that were his, for his ſake. The Rulers of the Jewiſh Church, knowing very well that if the Goſpel obtain'd among the Jews, their uſurped abuſed Power was at an end, rais'd all their Forces againſt it, put it into an ill Name, fill'd Peoples Minds with Prejudices againſt it, and ſo made the Preachers and Profeſſors of it, odious to the Mob.

2. He encourageth them to bear up under their Tryals, and to go on in their Work, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition they would meet with.

1. God will bring Glory both to himſelf and them, out of their Sufferings, v. 13. It ſhall turn to you for a Teſtimony. Your being ſet up thus for a Mark, and publickly perſecuted, will make you, and your Doctrine and Miracles the more taken notice of and enquir'd into; your being brought before Kings and Rulers, will give you an opportunity of preaching the Goſpel to them, who otherwiſe would never have come within hearing of it; your ſuffering ſuch ſevere Things, and being ſo hated by the worſt of Men, of the moſt vicious Lives, will be a Teſtimony that you are Good, elſe you would not have ſuch ill Men your Enemies; your Courage, and Cheerfulneſs, and Conſtancy under your Sufferings, will be a Teſtimony for you that you believe what you preach, and that you are ſupported by a Divine Power, and the Spirit of God and Glory reſts upon you.

2. God will ſtand by you, and own you, and aſſiſt you in your Tryals; you are his Advocates, and you ſhall be well furniſhed with Inſtructions, v. 14, 15. Inſtead of ſetting your Hearts on work to contrive an Anſwer to Informations, Indictments, Articles, Accuſations, and Interrogatives that will be exhibited againſt you in the Eccleſiaſtical and Civil Courts; on the contrary, ſettle it in your Hearts, impreſs it upon them, take pains with them to perſuade them not to meditate before what ye ſhall anſwer; i. e. Do not depend upon your own Wit and Ingenuity, your own Prudence and Policy, and do not diſtruſt or deſpair of the immediate and extraordinary Aids of the Divine Grace. Think not to bring yourſelves off in the Cauſe of Chriſt, as you would in a Cauſe of your own, by your own Parts and Application, with the common Aſſiſtances of Divine Providence; but promiſe yourſelves, for I promiſe you, the ſpecial Aſſiſtance of Divine Grace; I will give you a Mouth and Wiſdom. This proves Chriſt to be God, for it is God's Prerogative to give Wiſdom, and he it is that made Man's Mouth. Note, (1.) A Mouth and Wiſdom together, compleatly fit a Man both for Services and Sufferings; Wiſdom to know what to ſay, and a Mouth wherewith to ſay it as it ſhould be ſaid. It's a great Happineſs to have both Matter and Words wherewith to honour God and do Good; to have in the Mind a Store-Houſe well furniſhed with Things New and Old, and a Door of Utterance by which to bring them forth. (2.) Thoſe that plead Chriſt's Cauſe, may depend upon him to give them a Mouth and Wiſdom, which Way ſoever they are call'd to plead it, eſpecially when they are brought before Magiſtrates for his Name's ſake. It is not ſaid, he will ſend an Angel from Heaven to anſwer for them, tho' he could do that, but he will give them a Mouth and Wiſdom to enable them to anſwer for themſelves; which puts a greater Honour upon them, which requires them to uſe the Gifts and Graces Chriſt furniſheth them with, and redounds the more to the Glory of God, who ſtills the Enemy and the Avenger out of the Mouths of Babes and Sucklings. (3.) When Chriſt gives to his Witneſſes a Mouth and Wiſdom, they are enabled to ſay that, both for him and themſelves, which all their Adverſaries are not able to gainſay and reſiſt, ſo that they are ſilenc'd, and put to Confuſion. This was remarkably fulfill'd, preſently after the pouring out of the Spirit, by whom Chriſt gave his Diſciples this Mouth and Wiſdom, when the Apoſtles were brought before the Prieſts and Rulers, and anſwer'd them ſo as to make them aſham'd, Acts 4. 5, 6.

3. You ſhall ſuffer no real Damage by all the Hardſhips they ſhall put upon you, v. 18. There ſhall not a Hair of your Head periſh. Shall ſome of them loſe their Heads, and yet not loſe a Hair? 'Tis a proverbial Expreſſion, ſpeaking the greateſt Indemnity and Security imaginable; 'tis frequently uſed both in the O. T. and N. in that Senſe. Some think it refers to the Preſervation of the Lives of all the Chriſtians that were among the Jews, when they were cut off by the Romans; Hiſtorians tell us, there was not one Chriſtian periſhed in that Deſolation. Others reconcile it with the Deaths of Multitudes in the Cauſe of Chriſt; and take it figuratively, in the ſame Senſe that Chriſt ſaith, He that loſeth his Life for my ſake, ſhall find it. Not a Hair of your Head ſhall periſh, but (1.) I ſhall take Cognizance of it. To this End he had ſaid, Mat. 10. 30. The Hairs of your Head are all number'd, and an Account is kept of them, ſo that none of them ſhall periſh, but he will miſs it. (2.) It ſhall be upon a valuable Conſideration; we do not reckon that loſt or periſhing, which is laid out for good Purpoſes, and will turn to a good Account. If we drop the Body itſelf for Chriſt's Name's ſake, it doth not periſh, but is well beſtow'd. (3.) It ſhall be abundantly recompenc'd; when you come to ballance Profit and Loſs, you'll find there's nothing periſh'd, but on the contrary you have great Gain in preſent Comforts, eſpecially in the Joys of a Life Eternal. So that tho' we may be Loſers for Chriſt, we ſhall not, we cannot be Loſers by him in the End.

4. It is therefore your Duty and Intereſt in the midſt of your own Sufferings and thoſe of the Nation, to maintain a Holy Sincerity and Serenity of Mind, which will keep you always eaſy, v. 19. In your Patience poſſeſs ye your Souls; get and keep Poſſeſſion of your Souls. Some read it as a Promiſe, you may, or ſhall poſſeſs your Souls: It comes all to one. Note, 1. It is our Duty and Intereſt at all Times, eſpecially in perillous trying Times, to ſecure the Poſſeſſion of our own Souls; not only that they be not deſtroy'd and loſt for ever, but that they be not diſtemper'd now, nor our Poſſeſſion of them diſturb'd and interrupted. Poſſeſs your Souls, i. e. be your own Men, keep up the Authority and Dominion of Reaſon, and keep under the Tumults of Paſſion, that neither Grief nor Fear may tyrannize over you, or turn you out of the Poſſeſſion and Enjoyment of yourſelves. In difficult Times, when we can keep Poſſeſſion of nothing elſe, then let us make that ſure, which will be made ſure, and keep Poſſeſſion of our Souls. 2. It is by Patience, Chriſtian Patience, that we keep Poſſeſſion of our own Souls. In ſuffering Times, ſet Patience upon the Guard, for the preſerving of your Souls; by it keep your Souls compos'd and in a good Frame, and keep out all thoſe Impreſſions which would ruffle you, and put you out of Temper.

20 And when ye ſhall ſee Jeruſalem compaſſed with armies, then know that the deſolation thereof is nigh.
21 Then let them which are in Judea, flee to the mountains; and let them which are in the midſt of it, depart out; and then let not them that are in the countries, enter thereinto. 22 For theſe be the days of vengeance, that all things which are written may be fulfilled. 23 But woe unto them that are with child, and to them that give ſuck in thoſe days: for there ſhall be great diſtreſs in the land, and wrath upon this people. 24 And they ſhall fall by the edge of the ſword, and ſhall be led away captive into all nations:
and Jeruſalem ſhall be trodden down of the Gentiles, until the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled.
25 ¶ And there ſhall be ſigns in the ſun, and in the moon, and in the ſtars: and upon the earth diſtreſs of nations, with perplexity, the ſea and the waves roaring; 26 Mens hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after thoſe things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven ſhall be ſhaken. 27 And then ſhall they ſee the ſon of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory. 28 And when theſe things begin to come to paſs, then look up, and lift up your Heads; for your redemption draweth nigh.

Having given them an Idea of the Times for about 38 Years next enſuing, he here comes to ſhew them what all thoſe Things would iſſue in at laſt, namely, the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and the utter Diſperſion of the Jewiſh Nation; which would be a little Day of Judgment; a Type and Figure of Chriſt's ſecond coming; which was not ſo fully ſpoken of here as in the parallel Place, Mat. 24. yet glanc'd at; for the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem would be as it were the Deſtruction of the World, to thoſe whoſe Hearts were bound up in it.

1. He tells them that they ſhould ſee Jeruſalem beſieg'd, compaſſed with Armies, v. 20. the Roman Armies; and when they ſaw that, they might conclude that its Deſolation was nigh; for in that the Siege would infallibly end, tho' it might be a long Siege. Note, As in Mercy, ſo in Judgment, when God begins, he will make an End.

2. He warns them upon this Signal given to ſhift for their own Safety, v. 21. Then let them which are in Judea, quit the Country, and flee to the Mountains; Let them which are in the Midſt of it, i. e. of Jeruſalem, depart out, before the City be cloſely ſhut up, and (as we ſay now) before the Trenches be open'd; and let not them that are in the Countries and Villages about, enter into the City, thinking to be ſafe there. Do you abandon a City and Country, which you ſee God has abandon'd and given up to Ruin. Come out of her my People.

3. He foretels the terrible Havock that ſhould be made of the Jewiſh Nation, v. 22. Thoſe be the Days of Vengeance, ſo often ſpoken of by the O. T. Prophets, which would compleat the Ruin of that provoking People: All their Predictions muſt now be fulfill'd; and the Blood of all the O. T. Martyrs muſt now be requir'd; All Things that are written muſt be fulfill'd at length. After Days of Patience, long abus'd, there will come Days of Vengeance; for Reprieves are not Pardons. The Greatneſs of that Deſtruction is ſet forth, (1.) By the inflicting Cauſe of it; 'Tis Wrath upon this People, the Wrath of God, that will kindle this devouring conſuming Fire. (2.) By the particular Terror it would be to Women with Child, and poor Mothers that are Nurſes. Wo to them, not only becauſe they are moſt ſubject to Frights, and leaſt able to ſhift for their own Safety; but becauſe it will be a very great Torment to them, to think of having borne and nurs'd Children for the Murtherers. (3.) By the general Confuſion that ſhould be all the Nation over. There ſhall be great Diſtreſs in the Land, for Men will not know what Courſe to take, nor how to help themſelves.

4. He deſcribes the Iſſue of the Struggles between the Jews and the Romans, and what they will come to at laſt; in ſhort, (1.) Multitudes of them ſhall fall by the Edge of the Sword. 'Tis computed in thoſe Wars of the Jews, there fell by the Sword above Eleven Hundred Thouſand: And the Siege of Jeruſalem was in Effect a Military Execution. (2.) The reſt ſhall be led away captive, not into one Nation, as when they were conquer'd by the Chaldeans, which gave them an Opportunity of keeping together; but into all Nations, which made it impoſſible for them to correſpond with each other, much leſs to incorporate. (3.) Jeruſalem itſelf was trodden down of the Gentiles. The Romans, when they had made themſelves Maſters of it, laid it quite waſte, as a rebellious and bad City, hurtful to Kings and Provinces, and therefore hateful to them.

5. He deſcribes the great Frights that People ſhould generally be in. Many frightful Sights ſhall be in the Sun, Moon and Stars, Prodigies in the Heaven; and here in this lower World, the Sea and the Waves roaring, with terrible Storms and Tempeſts, ſuch as had not been known, and above the ordinary Working of Natural Cauſes. The Effect of which ſhall be a univerſal Confuſion, and Conſternation, upon the Earth, Diſtreſs of Nations with Perplexity, v. 25. Dr. Hammond underſtands by the Nations, the ſeveral Governments or Tetrarchies of the Jewiſh Nation, Judea, Samaria, and Galilee: Theſe ſhall be brought to the laſt Extremity. Mens Hearts ſhall fail them for Fear, v. 26. ἀποψυχόντων ἀνθρώπων. Men being quite exanimated, diſpirited, un-ſoul'd, dying away for Fear. Thus they are kill'd all the Day long, (by whom Chriſt's Apoſtles were ſo, Rom. 8. 36.) that is, they are all the Day long in Fear of being kill'd; ſinking under that which lies upon them, and yet ſtill trembling for fear of worſe, and looking after thoſe Things, which are coming upon the World: When Judgment begins at the Houſe of God, it will not end there; it ſhall be as if all the World were falling in Pieces, and where can any be ſecure then? The Powers of Heaven ſhall be ſhaken, and then the Pillars of the Earth cannot but tremble. Thus ſhall the preſent Jewiſh Policy, Religion, Laws and Government, be all entirely diſſolv'd, by a Series of unparallel'd Calamities, attended with the utmoſt Confuſion. So Dr. Clark. But our Saviour makes uſe of theſe Figurative Expreſſions, becauſe at the End of Time, they ſhall be literally accompliſh'd, when the Heavens ſhall be roll'd together as a Scroll, and all their Powers not only ſhaken, but broken, and the Earth and all the Works that are therein ſhall be burnt up, 2 Pet. 3. 10, 12. As that Day was all Terror and Deſtruction to the unbelieving Jews, ſo the great Day will be to all Unbelievers.

6. He makes this to be a kind of Appearing of the Son of Man, v. 27. Then ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in a Cloud with Power and great Glory. The Deſtruction of Jeruſalem was in a particular Manner an Act of Chriſt's Judgment, the Judgment committed to the Son of Man: His Religion could never be thoroughly Eſtabliſhed, but by the Deſtruction of the Temple, and the Aboliſhing of the Levitical Prieſthood and Oeconomy, after which, even the converted Jews, and many of the Gentiles too; were ſtill hankering, till they were deſtroy'd; ſo that it might juſtly be look'd upon as a Coming of the Son of Man in Power and great Glory. Yet not viſibly, but in the Clouds; for in Executing ſuch Judgments as theſe, Clouds and Darkneſs are round about him. Now this was (1.) An Evidence of the firſt Coming of the Meſſiah, ſo ſome underſtand it. Then the unbelieving Jews ſhall be convinc'd, when it is too late, that Jeſus was the Meſſiah; They that would not ſee him coming in the Power of his Grace to ſave them, ſhall be made to ſee him coming in the Power of his Wrath to deſtroy them; that would not have him to Reign over them, ſhall have him to Triumph over them. (2.) It was an Earneſt of his ſecond Coming. Then, in the Terrors of that Day, they ſhall ſee the Son of Man coming in a Cloud, and all the Terrors of the laſt Day. They ſhall ſee a Specimen of it, a faint Reſemblance of it. If this be ſo terrible, what will that be?

7. He encourageth all the faithful Diſciples, in Reference to the Terrors of that Day, v. 28. When theſe Things begin to come to paſs, when Jeruſalem is beſieg'd, and every Thing is concurring to the Deſtruction of the Jews, then do you look up, when others are looking down, look Heaven-wards in Faith, Hope, and Prayer, and lift up your Heads with Chearfulneſs and Confidence, for your Redemption draws nigh. (1.) When Chriſt came to deſtroy the Jews, he came to Redeem the Chriſtians that were perſecuted and oppreſs'd by them; then had the Churches Reſt. (2.) When he comes to judge the World at the laſt Day, he will redeem all that are his from all their Grievances. And the Foreſight of that Day, is as pleaſant to all good Chriſtians, as 'tis terrible to the Wicked and Ungodly. Their Death itſelf is ſo; when they ſee that Day approaching, they can lift up their Heads with Joy, knowing that their Redemption draws nigh, their Remove to their Redeemer.

8. Here is one Word of Prediction that looks further than the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, which is not eaſily underſtood; we have it, v. 24. that Jeruſalem ſhall be trodden down of the Gentiles, till the Times of the Gentiles be fulfill'd. (1.) Some underſtand it of what is paſt; ſo Dr. Hammond. The Gentiles that have conquer'd Jeruſalem, ſhall keep Poſſeſſion of it, and it ſhall be purely Gentile, till the Times of the Gentiles be fulfill'd, till a great Part of the Gentile World is become Chriſtian, and then after Jeruſalem is rebuilt by Adrian the Emperor, with an Excluſion of all the Jews from it, many of the Jews ſhall turn Chriſtians, ſhall join with the Gentile Chriſtians, to ſet up a Church in Jeruſalem, which ſhall flouriſh there for a long Time. (2.) Others underſtand it of what is yet to come; ſo Dr. Whitby. Jeruſalem ſhall be poſſeſs'd by the Gentiles, of one Sort or other for the moſt Part, till the Time comes when the Nation that yet remain Infidels ſhall embrace the Chriſtian Faith, when the Kingdoms of this World ſhall become Chriſt's Kingdoms, and then all the Jews ſhall be converted. Jeruſalem ſhall be inhabited by them, and neither they nor their City any longer trodden down by the Gentiles.

29 And he ſpake to them a parable, Behold the fig-tree, and all the trees; 30 When they now ſhoot forth, ye ſee and know of your own ſelves, that ſummer is now nigh at hand. 31 So likewiſe ye, when ye ſee theſe things come to paſs, know ye that the kingdom of God is nigh at hand. 32 Verily I ſay unto you, This generation ſhall not paſs away, till all be fulfill'd. 33 Heaven and earth ſhall paſs away: but my word ſhall not paſs away. 34 ¶ And take heed to yourſelves, leſt at any time your hearts be overcharged with ſurfeiting and drunkenneſs, and cares of this life, and ſo that day come upon you unawares. 35 For as a ſnare ſhall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth. 36 Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to eſcape all theſe things that ſhall come to paſs, and to ſtand before the ſon of man. 37 And in the day-time he was teaching in the temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Olives. 38 And all the people came early in the morning to him in the temple, for to hear him.

Here, in the Cloſe of this Diſcourſe;

1. Chriſt appoints his Diſciples to obſerve the Signs of the Times, which they might judge by, if they had an Eye to the foregoing Directions, with as much Certainty and Aſſurance as they could judge of the Approach of Summer by the Budding forth of the Trees, v. 29, 30, 31. As in the Kingdom of Nature there is a Chain of Cauſes, ſo in the Kingdom of Providence there is a Conſequence of one Event upon another. When we ſee a Nation filling up the Meaſure of their Iniquity, we may conclude their Ruin is nigh; when we ſee the Ruin of perſecuting Powers haſtning on, we may from thence infer that the Kingdom of God is nigh at Hand; that when the Oppoſition given to it is remov'd, it ſhall gain Ground. As we may lawfully prognoſticate the Change of the Seaſons, when ſecond Cauſes have begun to work, ſo we may in the Diſpoſal of Events expect ſomething uncommon, when God is already rais'd up out of his Holy Habitation, Zech. 2. Then ſtand ſtill and ſee his Salvation.

2. He chargeth them to look upon thoſe Things, neither as doubtful nor diſtant, for then they would not make a due Impreſſion on them, but as ſure, and very near. The Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Nation, (1.) was near, v. 32. This Generation ſhall not paſs away till all be fulfill'd. There were ſome now alive that ſhould ſee it; ſome that now heard the Prediction of it. (2.) 'Twas ſure, the Sentence was irreverſible, 'twas a Conſumption determin'd, the Decree was gone forth, v. 33. Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away, ſooner than any Word of mine: Nay, they certainly ſhall paſs away, but my Words ſhall not; whether they take hold or no, they will take Effect, and not one of them fall to the Ground, 1 Sam. 3. 19.

3. He cautions them againſt Security and Senſuality, by which they would diſfit themſelves for the trying Times that were coming on, and make them to be a great Surprize and Terror to them, v. 34, 35. Take heed to yourſelves; This is the Word of Command given to all Chriſt's Diſciples, Take heed to yourſelves, that you be not overpowered by Temptations, nor betray'd by your own Corruptions. Note, We cannot be ſafe, if we be ſecure. It concerns us at all Times, but eſpecially at ſome Times, to be very cautious. See here, (1.) what our Danger is, that the Day of Death and Judgment ſhould come upon us unawares, when we do not expect it, and are not prepar'd for it, leſt when we are call'd to meet our Lord, that be found the fartheſt Thing in our Thoughts, which ought always to be laid neareſt our Hearts, leſt it come upon us as a Snare; for ſo it will come upon the moſt of Men, who dwell upon the Earth, and mind earthly Things only, and have no Converſe with Heaven; to them it will be as a Snare, ſee Eccleſ. 9. 12. 'Twill be a Terror and a Deſtruction to them; 'twill put them into an unexpreſſible Fright, and hold them faſt for a Doom yet more frightful. (2.) What our Duty is, in Conſideration of this Danger; we muſt take heed leſt our hearts be overcharg'd, leſt they be burthened and overloaded, and ſo diſfitted and diſabled to do what muſt be done in Preparation for Death and Judgment. Two Things we muſt watch againſt, leſt our Hearts be overcharg'd with them. (1.) The indulging of the Appetites of the Body, and allowing ourſelves in the Gratifications of Senſe, to an Exceſs. Take heed leſt you be overcharged with Surfeiting and Drunkenneſs; the immoderate Uſe of Meat and Drink, which burthen the Heart, not only with the Guilt thereby contracted, but by the ill Influence which ſuch Diſorders of the Body have upon the Mind; they make Men dull and lifeleſs to their Duty, dead and liſtleſs in their Duty; they ſtupify the Conſcience, and make the Mind unaffected with thoſe Things that are moſt affecting. (2.) The inordinate Purſuit of the good Things of this World. The Heart is overcharged with the Cares of this Life. The former is the Snare of thoſe that are given to their Pleaſures; this is the Snare of the Men of Buſineſs, that will be rich. We have need to guard on both Hands, not only leſt at the Time when Death comes, but leſt at any ime our Hearts ſhould be thus overcharged. Our Caution againſt Sin, and our Care of our own Souls, muſt be conſtant.

4. He counſels them to prepare and get ready for this great Day, v. 36. Where ſee, (1.) what ſhould be our Aim, that we may be accounted worthy to eſcape all thoſe Things; that when the Judgments of God are abroad, we may be preſerved from the Malignity of them; that either we may not be involved in the common Calamity, or it may not be that to us, that it is to others; that in the Day of Death we may eſcape the Sting of it, which is the Wrath of God, and the Damnation of Hell. Yet we muſt aim, not only to eſcape that, but to ſtand before the Son of Man; not only to ſtand acquitted before him as our Judge, (Pſal. 1. 5.) to have Boldneſs in the Day of Chriſt, that's ſuppos'd in our eſcaping all thoſe Things; but to ſtand before him, to attend on him as our Maſter, to ſtand continually before his Throne, and ſerve him Day and Night in his Temple, Rev. 7. 15. always to behold his Face, as the Angels, Mat. 18. 10. The Saints are here ſaid to be accounted worthy, as before, Chap. 20. 35. God by the good Work of his Grace in them, makes them meet for this Happineſs, and by the good Will of his Grace towards them, accounts them worthy of it: But, as Grotius here ſaith, a great Part of our Worthineſs lies in an Acknowledgment of our own Unworthineſs. (2.) What ſhould be our Actings in theſe Aims, Watch therefore, and pray always. Watching and praying muſt go together, Neh. 4. 9. Thoſe that would eſcape the Wrath to come, and make ſure the Joys to come, muſt watch and pray, and muſt do it always, muſt make it the conſtant Buſineſs of their Lives, (1.) To keep a Guard upon themſelves; watch againſt Sin, watch to every Duty, and to the Improvement of every Opportunity of doing Good. Be awake, and keep awake, in Expectation of your Lord's coming, that you may be in a right Frame to receive him, and bid him welcome. (2.) To keep up their Communion with God, Pray always: Be always in an habitual Diſpoſition to that Duty; keep up ſtated Times for it, abound in it. Pray upon all Occaſions. Thoſe ſhall be accounted worthy to live a Life of Praiſe in the other World, that live a Life of Prayer in this World.

In the two laſt Verſes we have an Account how Chriſt diſpos'd of himſelf, during thoſe three or four Days betwixt his riding in Triumph to Jeruſalem, and the Night in which he was betray'd.

1. He was all Day teaching in the Temple. Chriſt preach'd on Week-Days, as well as Sabbath-Days. He was an indefatigable Preacher, he preach'd in the Face of Oppoſition, and in the Midſt of thoſe that he knew ſought Occaſion againſt him.

2. At Night he went out to lodge at a Friend's Houſe, in the Mount of Olives, about a Mile out of Town. 'Tis likely he had ſome Friends in the City that would gladly have lodg'd him, but he was willing to retire in the Evening, out of the Noiſe of the Town, that he might have more Time for ſecret Devotion, now his Hour was at hand.

3. Early in the Morning he was in the Temple again, where he had a Morning Lecture for thoſe that were willing to attend it, and the People were forward to hear one that they ſaw forward to preach, v. 38. They all came early in the Morning, flocking to the Temple like Doves to their Windows, for to hear him, tho' the Chief Prieſts and Scribes did all they could to prejudice them againſt him. Sometimes the Taſte and Reliſh which ſerious, honeſt, plain People have of good Preaching, is more to be valu'd and judg'd by, than the Opinion of the Witty and Learned, and thoſe in Authority.

CHAP. XXII.

All the Evangeliſts, whatever they omit, give us a particular Account of the Death and Reſurrection of Chriſt, becauſe he died for our Sins, and roſe for our Juſtification. And this Evangeliſt, as fully as any, and with many Circumſtances and Paſſages added, which we had not before. In this Chapter we have, (1.) The Plot to take Jeſus, and Judas*'s coming into it,* v. 1——6. (2.) Chriſt's eating the Paſſover with his Diſciples, v. 7——18. (3.) The Inſtituting of the Lord's-Supper, v. 19, 20. (4.) Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples, after Supper, upon ſeveral Heads, v. 21——38. (5.) His Agony in the Garden, v. 39——46. (6.) The Apprehending of him, by the Aſſiſtance of Judas, v. 47——53. (7.) Peter*'s denying him,* v. 54——62. (8.) The Indignities done to Chriſt by thoſe that had him in Cuſtody, and his Tryal and Condemnation in the Eccleſiaſtical Court, v. 63——71.

1 NOW the feaſt of unleavened bread drew nigh, which is called the paſſover. 2 And the chief prieſts and ſcribes ſought how they might kill him; for they feared the people. 3 ¶ Then entred Satan into Judas, ſurnamed Iſcariot, being of the number of the twelve. 4 And he went his way, and communed with the chief prieſts and captains, how he might betray him unto them. 5 And they were glad, and covenanted to give him money. 6 And he promiſed, and ſought opportunity to betray him unto them in the abſence of the multitude.

The Year of the Redeemed is now come, which had been from Eternity fix'd in the Divine Counſels, and long look'd for by them that waited for the Conſolation of Iſrael; after the Revolutions of many Ages, 'tis at length come, Iſa. 63. 4. And 'tis obſervable, 'tis in the very firſt Month of that Year, that the Redemption is wrought out, ſo much in Haſte was the Redeemer to perform his Undertaking, ſo was he ſtreighten'd 'till 'twas accompliſh'd. 'Twas in the ſame Month, and at the ſame Time of the Month, (in the Beginning of Months, Exod. 12. 2.) that God by Moſes brought Iſrael out of Egypt, that the Antitype might anſwer the Type. Chriſt is here deliver'd up, when the Feaſt of Unleaven'd Bread drew nigh, v. 1. About as long before that Feaſt, as they began to make Preparation for it, here was Preparation a making for our Paſſover's being offer'd for us.

1. Here we have his ſworn Enemies contriving it, v. 2. The Chief Prieſts, Men of Sanctity, and the Scribes, Men of Learning, ſeeking how they might kill him, either by Force or Fraud; could they have had their Will, it had been ſoon done; but they fear'd the People, and the more, for what they now ſaw of their diligent Attendance upon his Preaching.

2. A treacherous Diſciple joining in with them, and coming to their Aſſiſtance, Judas, ſur-nam'd Iſcariot, he is here ſaid to be

Of the Number of Twelve, that dignify'd diſtinguiſh'd Number. One would wonder that Chriſt, who knew all Men, ſhould take a Traytor into that Number; and that one of that Number, who could not but know Chriſt, ſhould be ſo baſe as to betray him; but Chriſt had wiſe and holy Ends in taking Judas to be a Diſciple, and how he who knew Chriſt ſo well, yet came to betray him, we are here told, v. 3. Satan enter'd into Judas. 'Twas the Devil's Work, who thought hereby to ruin Chriſt's Undertaking, to have broke his Head, but it prov'd only the bruiſing of his Heel. Whoever betrays Chriſt or his Truths, or Ways, 'tis Satan that puts them upon it. Judas knew how deſirous the Chief Prieſts were to get Chriſt into their Hands, and that they could not do it ſafely without the Aſſiſtance of ſome that knew his Retirements, as he did: He therefore went himſelf, and made the Motion to them, v. 4. Note, 'Tis hard to ſay whether more Miſchief is done to Chriſt's Kingdom by the Power and Policy of its open Enemies, or by the Treachery and Self-ſeeking of its pretended Friends: Nay, without that, its Enemies could not gain their Point as they do. When you ſee Judas communing with the Chief Prieſts, be ſure ſome Miſchief is in hatching; 'tis for no Good that they are laying their Heads together.

The Iſſue of the Treaty between them is, (1.) That Judas muſt betray Chriſt to them, muſt bring them to a Place where they might ſeize him without Danger of Tumult, and this they would be glad of. (2.) They muſt give him a Sum of Money for doing it, and that he would be glad of, v. 5. They covenanted to give him Money. When the Bargain was made, Judas ſought Opportunity to betray him: Probably he ſlily enquir'd of Peter and John, who were more intimate with their Maſter than he was, where he would be at ſuch a Time, and whither he would retire after the Paſſover, and they were not ſharp enough to ſuſpect him. Some how or other, in a little Time, he gain'd the Advantage he ſought, and fix'd the Time and Place where it might be done, in the Abſence of the Multitude, and without Tumult.

7 ¶ Then came the day of unleavened bread, when the paſſover muſt be killed. 8 And he ſent Peter and John, ſaying, Go and prepare us the paſſover, that we may eat. 9 And they ſaid unto him, Where wilt thou that we prepare? 10 And he ſaid unto them, Behold, when ye are entred into the city, there ſhall a man meet you, bearing a pitcher of water; follow him into the houſe where he entereth in. 11 And ye ſhall ſay unto the good man of the Houſe, The maſter ſaith unto thee, Where is the gueſt-chamber, where I ſhall eat the paſſover with my diſciples? 12 And he ſhall ſhew you a large upper room furniſh'd: there make ready. 13 And they went and found as he had ſaid unto them: and they made ready the paſſover. 14 And when the hour was come, he ſat down, and the twelve apoſtles with him. 15 And he ſaid unto them, With deſire I have deſired to eat this paſſover with you before I ſuffer. 16 For I ſay unto you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God. 17 And he took the Cup, and gave thanks, and ſaid, Take this, and divide it among your ſelves. 18 For I ſay unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God ſhall come. 19 ¶ And he took bread, and gave thanks, and brake it, and gave unto them, ſaying, This is my body which is given for you: this do in remembrance of me. 20 Likewiſe alſo the cup after ſupper, ſaying, This cup is the new teſtament in my blood, which is ſhed for you.

What a hopeful Proſpect had we of Chriſt's doing a great deal of Good by his preaching in the Temple, during the Feaſt of Unleavened Bread, which continued Seven Days, when the People were every Morning, and early in the Morning, ſo attentive to hear him! But here's a Stop put to it: He muſt enter upon Work of another Kind, but in that he ſhall do more Good than in the other, for neither Chriſt's, nor his Church's ſuffering Days, are their idle empty Days.

Now, here we have,

1. The Preparation that was made for Chriſt's eating the Paſſover with his Diſciples, upon the very Day of Unleavened Bread, when the Paſſoever muſt be kill'd according to the Law, v. 7. Chriſt was made under the Law, and obſerv'd the Ordinances of it, and particularly that of the Paſſover, to teach us in like Manner to obſerve his Goſpel Inſtitutions, particularly that of the Lord's-Supper, and not to neglect them. 'Tis probable he went to the Temple to preach in the Morning, when he ſent Peter and John another Way into the City to prepare the Paſſover. Thoſe who have Attendants about them, to do their Secular Buſineſs for them in a great Meaſure, muſt not think that that allows them to be idle, but it engageth them to employ themſelves more in Spiritual Buſineſs, or Service to the Publick. He directed thoſe whom he employ'd whither they ſhould go, v. 9, 10. They muſt follow a Man bearing a Pitcher of Water, and he muſt be their Guide to the Houſe: Chriſt could have deſcrib'd the Houſe to them, probably 'twas a Houſe they knew, and he might have ſaid no more, but go to ſuch a one's Houſe, or to a Houſe in ſuch a Street, with ſuch a Sign, &c. But he directed them thus, to teach them to depend upon the Conduct of Providence, and to follow that Step by Step. They went, not knowing whither they went, but whom they follow'd. Being come to the Houſe, they muſt deſire the Maſter of the Houſe to ſhew them a Room, v. 11. and he will readily do it, v. 12. Whether it was a Friend's Houſe, or a Publick-Houſe, doth not appear; but the Diſciples found their Guide, and the Houſe, and the Room, juſt as he had ſaid to them, v. 13. for they need not fear a Diſappointment who go upon Chriſt's Word; and according to the Orders given them, they got every Thing in Readineſs for the Paſſover, v. 13.

2. The ſolemnizing of the Paſſover according to the Law. When the Hour was come, that they ſhould go to Supper, he ſat down, 'tis likely, at the Head End of the Table, and the Twelve Apoſtles with him, Judas not excepted; for 'tis poſſible that they whoſe Hearts are fill'd with Satan and all manner of Wickedneſs, may yet continue a plauſible Profeſſion of Religion, and be found in the Performance of its external Services. And while 'tis in the Heart, and doth not break out into any Thing ſcandalous, ſuch cannot be deny'd the external Privileges of their external Profeſſion. Tho' Judas has already been Guilty of an Overt-Act of Treaſon, yet it not being publickly known, Chriſt admits him to ſit down, with the reſt, at the Paſſover. Now obſerve,

(1.) How Chriſt bids this Paſſover welcome, to teach us in like Manner to welcome his Paſſover, the Lord's-Supper, and to come to it with an Appetite, v. 15. With Deſire I have deſir'd, I have moſt earneſtly deſir'd to eat this Paſſover with you, before I ſuffer. He knew 'twas to be the Prologue of his Sufferings, and therefore he deſir'd it, becauſe 'twas in order to his Father's Glory, and Man's Redemption. He delighted to do even this Part of the Will of God, concerning him as Mediator. Shall we be backward to any Service for him, who was ſo forward in the Work of our Salvation? See the Love he had to his Diſciples, he deſir'd to eat it with them, that he and they might have a little Time together, themſelves, and none but they, for private Converſation, which they could not have in Jeruſalem, but upon this Occaſion. He was now about to leave them, but was very deſirous to eat this Paſſover with them, before he ſuffer'd, as if the Comfort of that would carry him the more chearfully thro' his Sufferings, and make them the eaſier to him. Note, Our Goſpel-Paſſover eaten by Faith with Jeſus Chriſt, will be an excellent Preparation for Sufferings and Tryals, and Death itſelf.

(2.) How Chriſt in it takes his Leave of all Paſſovers, thereby ſignifying his Abrogating of all the Ordinances of the Ceremonial Law, of which that of the Paſſover was one of the Earlieſt; and one of the moſt Eminent, v. 16. I will not any more eat thereof, nor ſhall it be any more celebrated by my Diſciples, until it be fulfill'd in the Kingdom of God. (1.) 'Twas fulfill'd when Chriſt, our Paſſover, was ſacrificed for us, 1 Cor. 5. 7. And therefore that Type and Shadow was laid aſide, becauſe now in the Kingdom of God the Subſtance was come which ſuperſeded them. (2.) 'Twas fulfill'd in the Lord's-Supper, an Ordinance of the Goſpel Kingdom, in which the Paſſover had its Accompliſhment, and which the Diſciples, after the pouring out of the Spirit, did frequently celebrate, as we find, Acts 2. 42, 46. They eat of it, and Chriſt might be ſaid to eat with them, becauſe of the Spiritual Communion they had with him in that Ordinance: He is ſaid to ſup with them, and they with him, Rev. 3. 20. But (3.) The compleat Accompliſhment of that Commemoration of Liberty will be in the Kingdom of Glory, when all God's Spiritual Iſrael ſhall be releas'd from the Bondage of Death and Sin, and be put in Poſſeſſion of the Land of Promiſe.

What he had ſaid of his eating of the Paſchal-Lamb, he repeats concerning his drinking of the Paſſover Wine; the Cup of Bleſſing, or of Thankſgiving, in which all the Company pledg'd the Maſter of the Feaſt, at the Cloſe of the Paſſover Supper. This Cup he took, according to the Cuſtom, and gave Thanks for the Deliverance of Iſrael out of Egypt, and the Preſervation of their Firſt-born, and then ſaid, Take this, and divide it among yourſelves, v. 17. This is not ſaid afterwards of the Sacramental Cup, probably that being of much more Weight and Value, being the New Teſtament in his Blood, he might give that into every one's Hand, to teach them to make a particular Application of it to their own Souls; but as for the Paſchal-Cup, which is to be aboliſh'd, 'tis enough to ſay, Take it and divide it among yourſelves, do what you will with it, for we ſhall have no more Occaſion for it, v. 18. I will not drink of the Fruit of the Vine any more; I will not have it any more drunk of, till the Kingdom of God ſhall come, till the Spirit be pour'd out, and then you ſhall in the Lord's-Supper commemorate a much more glorious Redemption; of which, both the Deliverance out of Egypt, and the Paſſover Commemoration of it, were Types and Figures. The Kingdom of God is now ſo near being ſet up, that you will not need to eat or drink any more till it comes, Chriſt dying next Day open'd it. As Chriſt, with a great deal of Pleaſure, took Leave of all the legal Feaſts (which fell of Courſe with the Paſſover) for the Evangelical ones, both Spiritual and Sacramental; ſo may good Chriſtians, when they are call'd to remove from the Church Militant to that which is Triumphant, chearfully exchange even their Spiritual Repaſts, much more their Sacramental Ones, for the Eternal Feaſt.

3. The Inſtitution of the Lord's Supper, v. 19, 20. The Paſſover and the Deliverance out of Egypt, were typical and prophetick Signs of a Chriſt to come, that ſhould by dying deliver us from Sin and Death, and the Tyranny of Satan; but they ſhall no more ſay, the Lord liveth that brought us up out of the Land of Egypt, a much greater Deliverance ſhall eclipſe the Luſtre of that, and therefore the Lord's-Supper is inſtituted, to be a commemorative Sign or Memorial of a Chriſt already come, that has by dying deliver'd us; and it is his Death that is in a ſpecial Manner ſet before us in that Ordinance.

5. The breaking of Chriſt's Body as a Sacrifice for us, is here commemorated by the breaking of Bread; and the Sacrifices under the Law, were call'd the Bread of our God, Lev. 21. 6, 8, 17. This is my Body which is given for you: And there is a Feaſt upon that Sacrifice inſtituted, in which we are to apply it to ourſelves, and to take the Benefit and Comfort of it; this Bread that was given for us, is given to us, to be Food to our Souls, for nothing can be more nouriſhing and ſatisfying to our Souls, than the Doctrine of Chriſt's making Atonement for Sin, and the Aſſurance of our Intereſt in that Atonement; this Bread that was broken and given for us, to ſatisfy for the Guilt of our Sins, is broken and given to us, to ſatisfy the Deſire of our Souls. And this we do in Remembrance of what he did for us, when he dy'd for us, and for a Memorial of what we do in making ourſelves Partakers of him, and joining ourſelves to him in an Everlaſting Covenant; like the Stone Joſhua ſet up for a Witneſs, Joſ. 24. 27.

2. The Shedding of Chriſt's Blood, by which the Atonement was made, (for the Blood made Atonement for the Soul, Lev. 17. 11.) as repreſented by the Wine in the Cup, and that Cup of Wine is a Sign and Token of the New Teſtament, or New Covenant made with us. It commemorates the Purchaſe of the Covenant by the Blood of Chriſt, and confirms the Promiſes of the Covenant, which are all Yea and Amen in him. This will be reviving and refreſhing to our Souls, as Wine that makes glad the Heart. In all our Commemorations of the ſhedding of Chriſt's Blood, we muſt have an Eye to it as ſhed for us; we needed it, we take hold of it, we hope to have Benefit by it, who loved me, and gave himſelf for me. And in all our Regards to the New Teſtament, we muſt have an eye to the Blood of Chriſt, which gave Life and Being to it, and ſeals to us all the Promiſes of it. Had it not been for the Blood of Chriſt, we had never had the New Teſtament; and had it not been for the New Teſtament, we had never known the Meaning of Chriſt's Blood-ſhed.

21 ¶ But behold, the hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me on the table. 22 And truly the ſon of man goeth as it was determined: but woe unto that man by whom he is betray'd. 23 And they began to enquire among themſelves, which of them it was that ſhould do this thing. 24 ¶ And there was alſo ſtrife among them, which of them ſhould be accounted the greateſt. 25 And he ſaid unto them, the kings of the Gentiles exerciſe lordſhip over them; and they that exerciſe authority upon them, are called benefactors. 26 But ye ſhall not be ſo: but he that is greateſt among you, let him be as the younger; and he that is chief, as he that doth ſerve. 27 For whether is the greater, he that ſitteth at meat, or he that ſerveth? is not he that ſitteth at meat? but I am among you as one that ſerveth. 28 Ye are they which continued with me in my Temptations. 29 And I appoint unto you a kingdom, as my father hath appointed unto me: 30 That ye may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and ſit on thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Iſrael. 31 ¶ And the Lord ſaid, Simon, Simon, behold, Satan hath deſired to have you, that he may ſift you as wheat: 32 But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not; and when thou art converted, ſtrengthen thy brethren. 33 And he ſaid unto him, Lord, I am ready to go with thee both into priſon, and to death. 34 And he ſaid, I tell thee, Peter, the cock ſhall not crow this day, before that thou ſhalt thrice deny that thou knoweſt me. 35 And he ſaid unto them, When I ſent you without purſe, and ſcrip, and ſhoes, lacked ye any thing? And they ſaid, Nothing. 36 Then ſaid he unto them, But now he that hath a purſe, let him take it, and likewiſe his ſcrip: and he that hath no ſword, let him ſell his garment, and buy one. 37 For I ſay unto you, that this that is written, muſt yet be accompliſh'd in me; and he was reckon'd among the tranſgreſſors: for the things concerning me have an end. 38 And they ſaid, Lord, behold, here are two ſwords. And he ſaid unto them, It is enough.

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples after Supper, much of which is new here, and in St. John's Goſpel, we ſhall find more that is new ſtill. We ſhould take Example from him, to entertain and edify our Family and Friends with ſuch Diſcourſe at Table as is good, and to the Uſe of edifying, which may miniſter Grace to the Hearers; but eſpecially after we have been at the Lord's Table, by Chriſtian Conference to keep one another in a ſuitable Frame. The Matters Chriſt here diſcourſed of, were of Weight, and to the preſent Purpoſe.

Firſt, He diſcours'd with them concerning him that ſhould betray him, who was now preſent.

1. He ſignifies to them that the Traytor was now among them, and one of them, v. 21. By the placing of this after the Inſtitution of the Lord's-Supper, which in Matthew and Mark is plac'd before it, it ſeems plain, that Judas did receive the Lord's-Supper, did eat of that Bread, and drink of that Cup; for after the Solemnity was over, Chriſt ſaid, Behold the Hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me on the Table. There have been thoſe that have eaten Bread with Chriſt, and yet have betray'd him.

2. He foretels that the Treaſon would take Effect, v. 22. Truly the Son of Man goes as it was determin'd; goes to the Place where he will be betray'd; for he is delivered up by the Counſel and Foreknowledge of God, elſe Judas could not have delivered him up. Chriſt was not driven to his Sufferings, but chearfully went to them. He ſaid, Lo I come.

3. He threatens the Traytor, Woe to that Man by whom he is betray'd. Note, Neither the Patience of the Saints under their Sufferings, nor the Counſel of God concerning their Sufferings, will be any Excuſe for thoſe that have any Hand in their Sufferings, or that perſecute them. Tho' God has determined that Chriſt ſhall be betrayed, and he himſelf has chearfully ſubmitted to it, yet Judas's Sin or Puniſhment is not at all the leſs.

4. He frightens the reſt of the Diſciples into a Suſpicion of themſelves, by ſaying it was one of them, and not naming which, v. 23. They began to enquire among themſelves, to interrogate themſelves, to put the Queſtion to themſelves, who it was that ſhould do this Thing, that could be ſo baſe to ſo good a Maſter. The Enquiry was not, Is it you? Or, Is it ſuch a one? But, Is it I?

Secondly, Concerning the Strife that was among them for Precedency or Supremacy.

1. See what the Diſpute was; which of them ſhould be accounted the greateſt. Such, and ſo many Conteſts as we find among the Diſciples, for Dignity and Dominion, before the Spirit was poured upon them, was a ſad Preſage of the like Strifes for, and Affectations of Supremacy in the Churches, after the Spirit ſhould be provoked to depart from them. How inconſiſtent is this with that in the Verſe before? There they were enquiring which would be the Traytor, and here which ſhould be the Prince. Could ſuch an Inſtance of Humility, and ſuch an Inſtance of Pride and Vanity, be found in the ſame Men, ſo near together? This is like ſweet Waters and bitter, proceeding at the ſame Place out of the ſame Fountain: What a Self-contradiction is the deceitful Heart of Man?

2. See what Chriſt ſaid to this Diſpute: He was not ſharp upon them, as might have been expected, he having ſo often reproved them for this very Thing; but mildly ſhewed them the Sin and Folly of it.

1. This was to make themſelves like the Kings of the Gentiles, that affect worldly Pomp, and with worldly Power, v. 25. They exerciſe Lordſhip over their Subjects, and are ever and anon ſtriving to exerciſe Lordſhip too over the Princes that are about them, tho' as good as themſelves, if they think them not ſo ſtrong as themſelves. Note, The exerciſing of Lordſhip, better becomes the Kings of the Gentiles, than the Miniſters of Chriſt. But obſerve, They that exerciſe Authority, and take upon themſelves to bear Sway, and give Law, they are call'd Benefactors, 'Ευεργέται, they call themſelves ſo, and ſo their Flatterers call them, and thoſe that ſet themſelves to ſerve their Intereſts. 'Tis pretended, that they have been Benefactors, and upon that Account they ſhould be admitted to have Rule; nay, that in exerciſing Authority they are Benefactors; however they really ſerve themſelves, they would be thought to ſerve their Country. One of the Ptolemy's was ſur-nam'd Euergetes, the Benefactor. Now, our Saviour, by taking Notice of this, intimates, (1.) That to do Good is much more honourable than to look Great; for thoſe Princes, that were the Terror of the Mighty, yet would not be call'd ſo, but rather the Benefactors of the Needy; ſo that by their own Confeſſion a Benefactor to his Country, is much more valued than a Ruler of his Country. (2.) That to do Good is the ſureſt Way to be Great, elſe they that aim'd to be Rulers, would not have been ſo ſolicitous to be call'd Benefactors: This therefore he would have his Diſciples believe, that their greateſt Honour would be to do all the Good they could in the World. They would indeed be Benefactors to the World, by bringing the Goſpel to it. Let them value themſelves upon that Title, which they would indeed be intitled to, and then they need not ſtrive which ſhould be the Greateſt, for they would be all be greater; greater Bleſſings to Mankind than the Kings of the Earth, that exerciſe Lordſhip over them. If they have that which is confeſſedly the greater Honour, of being Benefactors, let them deſpiſe the leſſer, of being Rulers.

2. It was to make themſelves unlike the Diſciples of Chriſt, and unlike Chriſt himſelf, v. 26, 27. Ye ſhall not be ſo. 'Twas never intended that you ſhould rule, any otherwiſe than by the Power of Truth and Grace, but that you ſhould ſerve. When Church-Rulers affect external Pomp and Power, and bear up themſelves by ſecular Intereſts and Influences, they debaſe their Office, and it is an Inſtance of Degeneracy like that of Iſrael, when they would have a King like the Nations that were round about them, whereas the Lord was their King.

See here, (1.) What is the Rule Chriſt gave to his Diſciples. He that is greater among you, that is Senior, to whom Precedency is due upon the Account of his Age, let him be as the Younger; both in Point of Lowneſs of Place, let him condeſcend to ſit with the Younger, and be free and familiar with them; and in Point of Labour and Work. We uſed to ſay, Juniores ad Labores, Seniores ad Honores; but let the Elder take Pains as well as the Younger; their Age and Honour, inſtead of warranting them to take their Eaſe, binds them to double Work. And he that is Chief, the ὁ ἡγούμενος the Preſident of the College or Aſſembly, let him be as he that doth ſerve, ὡς ὁ διακονῶν as the Deacon, let him ſtoop to the meaneſt and moſt toilſome Services for the publick Good, if there be Occaſion.

(2.) What was the Example which he himſelf gave to this Rule. Whether is greater, he that ſitteth at Meat, or he that ſerveth? He that attendeth, or he that is attended on? Now Chriſt was among his Diſciples, juſt like one that waited at Table; he was ſo far from taking State, or taking his Eaſe, by commanding their Attendance upon him, that he was ready to do any Office of Kindneſs and Service for them; witneſs his waſhing their Feet. Shall they take upon them the Form of Princes, who call themſelves Followers of him, that took upon him the Form of a Servant?

They ought not to ſtrive for worldly Honour and Grandeur, becauſe he had better Honours in Reſerve for them of another Nature, a Kingdom, a Feaſt, a Throne for each of them, wherein they ſhould be all Share and Share alike, and ſhould have no Occaſion to ſtrive for Precedency, v. 28, 29. Where obſerve,

1. The Commendation Chriſt gives of his Diſciples for their Faithfulneſs to him, and this was Honour enough for them, they needed not to ſtrive for any greater. 'Tis ſpoken with an Air of Encomium and Applauſe, Ye are they which have continued with me in my Temptation; you are they which have ſtood by me, and ſtuck to me, when others have deſerted me, and turned their Backs upon me. Chriſt had his Temptations, he was deſpis'd and rejected of Men, reproach'd and revil'd, and endur'd the Contradiction of Sinners. But his Diſciples continued with him, and were afflicted in all his Afflictions. 'Twas but little Help that they could give him, or Service that they could do him, but however he took it kindly that they continued with him, and he here owns their Kindneſs, tho' it was by the Aſſiſtance of his own Grace that they did continue. Chriſt's Diſciples had been very defective in their Duty; we find them guilty of many Miſtakes and Weakneſſes, they were very dull, and very forgetful, and often blunder'd, yet their Maſter has paſs'd all by and forgotten it, doth not upbraid them with their Infirmities, but gives them this memorable Teſtimonial, Ye are they which have continued with me. Thus doth he praiſe at parting, to ſhew how willing he is to make the beſt of thoſe, whoſe Hearts he knows to be upright with him.

2. The Recompence he deſign'd them for their Fidelity; And I appoint, διατίθεμαι I bequeath unto you a Kingdom. Or thus, I appoint to you, as my Father has appointed a Kingdom to me, that you may eat and drink at my Table. Underſtand it,

1. Of what ſhould be done for them in this World. God gave his Son a Kingdom among Men, the Goſpel Church, which he is the living, quickning, ruling Head of; this Kingdom he appointed to his Apoſtles and their Succeſſors in the Miniſtry of the Goſpel, that they ſhould enjoy the Comforts and Privileges of the Goſpel, and help to communicate them to others by Goſpel Ordinances; and ſhould ſit on Thrones as Officers of the Church, not only declaratively, but as exhortatively judging the Tribes of Iſrael, that perſiſt in their Infidelity, and denouncing the Wrath of God againſt them; and ruling the Goſpel Iſrael, the ſpiritual Iſrael, by the inſtituted Diſcipline of the Church, adminiſtred with Gentleneſs and Love. This is the Honour reſerv'd for you. Or,

2. Of what ſhould be done for them in the other World; which I take to be chiefly meant. Let them go on in their Services in this World, their Preferments ſhall be in the other World; God will give them the Kingdom, in which they ſhall be ſure to have, (1.) The richeſt Dainties, for they ſhall eat and drink at Chriſt's Table in his Kingdom, of which he had ſpoken, v. 16, 18. They ſhall partake of thoſe Joys and Pleaſures, which were the Recompence of his Services and Sufferings. They ſhall have a full Satisfaction of Soul, in the Viſion and Fruition of God; and herein they ſhall have the beſt Society, as at a Feaſt, in the Perfection. (2.) The higheſt Dignities. You ſhall not only be provided for at the Royal Table, as Mephiboſheth at David's, but you ſhall be preferred to the Royal Throne; ſhall ſit down with me on my Throne, Rev. 3. 21. In the great Day you ſhall ſit on Thrones, as Aſſeſſors with Chriſt, to approve of, and applaud his Judgment of the Twelve Tribes of Iſrael. If the Saints ſhall judge the World, 1 Cor. 6. 2. much more the Church.

Thirdly, Concerning Peter's denying of him. And in this Part of the Diſcourſe, we may obſerve,

1. The General Notice Chriſt gives to Peter of the Devil's Deſign upon him and the reſt of the Apoſtles, v. 31. The Lord ſaid, Simon, Simon, obſerve what I ſay, Satan has deſired to have you, to have you all in his Hands, that he may ſift you as Wheat. Peter that uſed to be the Mouth of the reſt in ſpeaking to Chriſt, is here made the Ear of the reſt, and what is deſign'd for Warning to them all, All you ſhall be offended becauſe of me, is directed to Peter, becauſe he was principally concern'd, being in a particular Manner ſtruck at by the Tempter. Satan has deſired to have you. Probably Satan had accus'd the Diſciples to God, as mercenary in following Chriſt, and aiming at nothing elſe therein, but enriching and advancing themſelves in this World, as he accus'd Job: No, ſaith God, they are honeſt Men, and Men of Integrity; give me leave to try them, ſaith Satan, and Peter particularly. He deſired to have them, that he might ſift them, that he might ſhew them to be Chaff, and not Wheat. The Troubles that were now coming upon them were ſifting, wou'd try what there was in them: But that was not all, Satan deſired to ſift them by his Temptations, and endeavouring by thoſe Troubles to draw them into Sin; to put them into a Loſs and Hurry, as Corn when it is ſifted, to bring the Chaff uppermoſt, or rather, to ſhake out the Wheat and leave nothing but the Chaff. Obſerve, Satan could not ſift them, unleſs God gave him leave; he deſired to have them, as he begg'd of God a Permiſſion to try and tempt Job; ἐξητήσατο he hath challenged you, has undertaken to prove you a Company of Hypocrites, and Peter eſpecially, the forwardeſt of you. Some ſuggeſt, that Satan demanded leave to ſift them, as their Puniſhment for ſtriving who ſhould be greateſt, in which Conteſt, Peter perhaps was very warm. Leave them to me to ſift them for it.

3. The particular Encouragement he gave to Peter in Reference to this Trial; I have prayed for thee, becauſe, tho' he deſired to have them all, he was permitted to make his ſtrongeſt Onſet upon thee only; thou wilt be moſt violently aſſaulted, but I have prayed for thee that thy Faith fail not, that it may not totally and finally fail. Note, (1.) If Faith be kept up in an Hour of Temptation, tho' we may fall, yet we ſhall not be utterly caſt down. Faith will quench Satan's fiery Darts. (2.) Tho' there may be many Failings in the Faith of true Believers, yet there ſhall not be a total and final Failure of their Faith. 'Tis their Seed, their Root remaining in them. (3.) 'Tis owing to the Mediation and Interceſſion of Jeſus Chriſt, that the Faith of his Diſciples, tho' ſometimes ſadly ſhaken, yet is not ſunk. If they were left to themſelves, they would fail, but they are kept by the Power of God, and the Prayer of Chriſt. The Interceſſion of Chriſt is not only general, for all that believe, but for particular Believers, I have pray'd for thee; which is an Encouragement for us to pray for ourſelves, and an Engagement upon us to pray for others too.

3. The Charge he gives to Peter to help others, as he ſhould himſelf be helped of God, When thou art converted, ſtrengthen thy Brethren; when thou art recovered by the Grace of God, and brought to Repentance, do what thou canſt to recover others; when thou haſt found thy Faith kept from failing, labour to confirm the Faith of others, and to eſtabliſh them: When thou haſt found Mercy with God thyſelf, encourage others to hope that they alſo ſhall find Mercy. Note, 1. Thoſe that are fallen into Sin, muſt be converted from it; that have turn'd aſide, muſt return; that have left their firſt Love, muſt do their firſt Works. 2. Thoſe that through Grace are converted from Sin, muſt do what they can to ſtrengthen their Brethren that ſtand, and to prevent their Falling. See Pſal. 51. 11, 12, 13. 1 Tim. 1. 13.

4. Peter's declar'd Reſolution to cleave to Chriſt, whatever it coſt him, v. 33. Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into Priſon and to Death. This was a great Word, and yet I believe no more than he thought at this Time, and thought he ſhould make good too. Judas never proteſted thus againſt denying Chriſt, tho' often warn'd of it; for his Heart was as fully ſet in him to the Evil, as Peter's was againſt it. Note, All the true Diſciples of Chriſt ſincerely deſire and deſign to follow him whitherſoever he goes, and whitherſoever he leads them, tho' into a Priſon, tho' out of the World.

5. Chriſt's expreſs Prediction of his denying him thrice, v. 34. I tell thee, Peter, thou doſt not know thine own Heart, but muſt be left to thyſelf a little, that thou mayſt know it, and mayſt never truſt to it again; and then, the Cock ſhall not crow this Day, before thou even deny that thou knoweſt me. Note, Chriſt knows us better than we know ourſelves, and knows the Evil that is in us, and will be done by us, which we ourſelves do not ſuſpect. 'Tis well for us, that Chriſt knows where we are weak, better than we do, and therefore where to come in with Grace ſufficient; that he knows how far a Temptation will prevail, and therefore when to ſay, Hitherto ſhall it come, and no further.

Fourthly, Concerning the Condition of all the Diſciples.

1. He appeals to them concerning what had been, v. 35. He had own'd that they had been faithful Servants to him, v. 28. now he expects at parting, that they ſhould acknowlegde that he had been a kind and careful Maſter to them, ever ſince they left all to follow him. When I ſent you without Purſe, lacked you any Thing? (1.) He owns that he had ſent them out in a very poor and bare Condition, bare-foot, and no Money in their Purſes, becauſe they were not to go far, nor be out long, and he would thus teach them to depend upon the Providence of God; and under that, upon the Kindneſs of their Friends. If God thus ſend us out into the World, remember, Better than we have thus begun low. (2.) Yet he will have them own, that notwithſtanding this, they had lacked nothing; they then liv'd as plentifully and comfortably as ever; and they readily acknowledg'd it, Nothing, Lord, I have all, and abound. Note, 1. 'Tis good for us often to review the Providences of God that have been concerning us all our Days, and to obſerve how we have got thro' the Streights and Difficulties we have met with. 2. Chriſt is a good Maſter, and his Service a good Service, for tho' his Servants may ſometimes be brought low, yet he will help them; and tho' he try them, yet will not he leave them. Jehovah Jireh. 3. We muſt reckon ourſelves well done by, and muſt not complain, but be thankful if we have had the neceſſary Supports of Life, tho' we have had neither Dainties nor Superfluities, tho' we have lived from Hand to Mouth, and lived upon the Kindneſs of our Friends. The Diſciples lived upon Contributions, and yet did not complain that their Maintenance was precarious; but owned, to their Maſter's Honour, that 'twas ſufficient, they had wanted nothing.

2. He gives them Notice of a very great Change of their Circumſtances now approaching. For,

1. He that was their Maſter was now entring upon his Suffering, which he had often foretold, v. 37. Now that which is written muſt be fulfilled in me; that among the reſt, He was numbered among the Tranſgreſſors; he muſt ſuffer and die as a Malefactor, and in Company with ſome of the Vileſt of Malefactors. This is that which is yet to be accompliſhed, after all the reſt, and then the Things concerning me, the Things written concerning me, will have an End; then I ſhall ſay, 'Tis finiſhed. Note, It may be the Comfort of ſuffering Chriſtians, as 'twas of a ſuffering Chriſt, that their Sufferings were foretold and determined in the Counſels of Heaven, and will ſhortly determine in the Joys of Heaven. They were written concerning them, and they will have an End, and will end well, everlaſtingly well.

2. They muſt therefore expect Troubles, and muſt not think now to have ſuch an eaſy fair Life as you have had; no, the Scene will alter. They muſt now in ſome Degree ſuffer with their Maſter, and when he is gone they muſt expect to ſuffer like him. The Servant is no better than his Lord. 1. They muſt not now expect that their Friends would be ſo kind and generous to them as they had been, and therefore he that has a Purſe let him take it, for he may have Occaſion for it, and for all the good Huſbandry he can uſe. (2.) They muſt now expect that their Enemies would be more fierce upon them, than they had been, and they would need Magazines as well as Stores. He that has no Sword wherewith to defend himſelf againſt Robbers and Aſſaſſins, (2 Cor. 11. 26.) will find a great Want of it, and will be ready to wiſh ſome time or other, that he had ſold his Garment and bought one. This is intended only to ſhew the Times would be perillous, ſo that no Man would think himſelf ſafe if he had not a Sword by his Side. But the Sword of the Spirit is the Sword which the Diſciples of Chriſt muſt furniſh themſelves with; Chriſt having ſuffered for us, we muſt arm ourſelves with the ſame Mind, 1 Pet. 4. 1. arm ourſelves with an Expectation of Trouble, that it may not be a Surprize to us, and with a Holy Reſignation to the Will of God in it, that there may be no Contradiction in us to it. And then we are better prepared than if we had ſold a Coat to buy a Sword. The Diſciples hereupon enquire what Strength they had, and find they had among them Two Swords, v. 38. of which One was Peter's. The Galileans generally travelled with Swords. Chriſt wore none himſelf, but he was not againſt his Diſciples wearing them. But how little he would have them depend upon that, he intimates, when he ſaith, 'tis enough. Which ſome think is ſpoken ironically. Two Swords among Twelve Men, you are bravely armed indeed, when our Enemies are now coming out againſt us in great Multitudes, and every one a Sword: Yet Two Swords are enow to thoſe who need none, having God himſelf to be the Shield of their Help, and the Sword of their Excellency, Deut. 32. 29.

39 ¶ And he came out, and went, as he was wont, to the mount of Olives; and his diſciples alſo followed him. 40 And when he was at the place, he ſaid unto them, Pray, that ye enter not into temptation. 41 And he was withdrawn from them about a ſtone's caſt, and kneeled down, and prayed, 42 Saying, Father, if thou be willing, remove this cup from me: nevertheleſs, not my will, but thine be done. 43 And there appeared an angel unto him from heaven, ſtrengthening him. 44 And being in an agony, he prayed more earneſtly: and his ſweat was as it were great drops of blood falling down to the ground. 45 And when he roſe up from prayer, and was come to his diſciples, he found them ſleeping for ſorrow, 46 And ſaid unto them, Why ſleep ye? riſe and pray, leſt ye enter into temptation.

We have here the awful Story of Chriſt's Agony in the Garden juſt before he was betray'd, which was largely related by the other Evangeliſts. In it Chriſt accommodated himſelf to that Part of his Undertaking which he was now entring upon, the making of his Soul an Offering for Sin: He afflicted his own Soul with Grief for the Sin he was to ſatisfy for, and an Apprehenſion of the Wrath of God, to which Man had by Sin made himſelf obnoxious, which he was pleas'd as a Sacrifice to admit the Impreſſions of; the conſuming of a Sacrifice with Fire from Heaven, being the ſureſt Token of its Acceptance. In it, Chriſt entered the Liſts with the Powers of Darkneſs, gave them all the Advantages they could deſire, and yet conquer'd them.

That which we have here in this Story, which we had before, is, (1.) That when Chriſt went out, tho' 'twas in the Night, and a long Walk, yet his Diſciples followed him, Eleven of them, for Judas had given them the ſlip. Having continued with him hitherto in his Temptations, they would not leave him now. (2.) That he went to the Place where he was wont to be private, which intimates that Chriſt accuſtomed himſelf to Retirement, was oft alone, to teach us to be ſo, for Freedom of Converſe with God and our own Hearts. Tho' Chriſt had no Conveniency for Retirement, but a Garden, yet he retired. This ſhould particularly be our Practice, after we have been at the Lord's-Table; we have then Work to do, which requires us to be private. (3.) That he exhorted his Diſciples to pray, that tho' the approaching Tryal could not be avoided, yet that they might not in it enter into Temptation to Sin; that when they were in the greateſt Fright and Danger, yet they might not have any Inclination to deſert Chriſt, nor take a Step towards it. Pray that ye may be kept from Sin. (4.) That he withdrew from them and prayed himſelf; they had their Errands at the Throne of Grace, and he had his, and therefore 'twas fit they ſhould pray ſeparately, as ſometimes, when they had joint Errands, they prayed together. He withdrew about a Stone's Caſt further into the Garden, which ſome reckon about 50 or 60 Paces, and there he kneeled down, ſo 'tis here, upon the bare Ground; but the other Evangeliſts ſay, that afterwards he fell on his Face, and there prayed, that if it were the Will of God this Cup of Suffering, this bitter Cup, might be removed from him. This was the Language of that innocent Dread of Suffering, which, being really and truly Man, he could not but have in his Nature. (5.) That he knowing it to be his Father's Will that he ſhould ſuffer and die; and that as the Matter was now ſettled, it was neceſſary for our Redemption and Salvation, preſently withdrew that Petition, did not inſiſt upon it, but reſigned himſelf to his heavenly Father's Will: Nevertheleſs not my will be done; not the Will of my Human Nature, but the Will of God, as it is written concerning me in the Volume of the Book, which I delight to do, Let that be done, Pſal. 40. 7, 8. (6.) That his Diſciples were aſleep, when he was at Prayer, and when they ſhould have been themſelves praying, v. 45. When he roſe from Prayer he found them ſleeping, unconcerned in his Sorrows: But ſee what a favourable Conſtruction is here put upon it, which we had not in the other Evangeliſts, they were ſleeping for Sorrow. The great Sorrow they were in upon the mournful Farewels their Maſter had been this Evening giving them, had exhauſted their Spirits, and made them very dull and heavy, which (it being now late) diſpoſed them to ſleep. This teacheth us to make the beſt of our Brethrens Infirmities, and if there be one Cauſe better than another, charitably impute them to that. (7.) That when he waked them, then he exhorted them to pray, v. 46. Why ſleep ye? Why do you allow yourſelves to ſleep, riſe and pray. Shake off your Drowſineſs, that you may be fit to pray; and pray for Grace, that you may be able to ſhake off your Drowſineſs. This was like the Ship-Maſter's Call to Jonah in a Storm, Jonah 1. 6. Ariſe, call upon thy God. When we find ourſelves, either by our outward Circumſtances, or inward Diſpoſitions, entring into Temptation, it concerns us to riſe and pray, Lord help me in this Time of Need.

But here are three Things in this Paſſage, which we had not in the other Evangeliſts.

1. That when Chriſt was in his Agony, there appeared to him an Angel from Heaven, ſtrengthening him, v. 43. (1.) It was an Inſtance of the deep Humiliation of our Lord Jeſus, that he needed the Aſſiſtance of an Angel, and would admit it. The Influence of the Divine Nature withdrew for the preſent, and then as to his Human Nature he was for a little while lower than the Angels, and was capable of receiving Help from them. (2.) When he was not delivered from his Sufferings, yet he was ſtrengthened and ſupported under them, and that was equivalent. If God proportion the Shoulders to the Burthen, we ſhall have no Reaſon to complain, whatever he is pleaſed to lay upon us. David owns this a ſufficient Anſwer to his Prayer, in the Day of Trouble, that God ſtrengthened him with ſtrength in his Soul, and ſo doth the Son of David, Pſal. 138. 3. (3.) The Angels miniſter'd to the Lord Jeſus in his Sufferings: He could have had Legions of them to reſcue him; nay, this one could have done it, could have chas'd and conquer'd the whole Band of Men that came to take him; but he made Uſe of his Miniſtration only to ſtrengthen him; and the very Viſit which this Angel made him now, in his Grief, when his Enemies were awake, and his Friends aſleep, was ſuch a ſeaſonable Token of the Divine Favour, as would be a very great ſtrengthening to him. Yet this was not all: He probably ſaid ſomething to him to ſtrengthen him; put him in mind that his Sufferings were in order to his Father's Glory, to his own Glory, and to the Salvation of thoſe that were given him, repreſented to him the Joy ſet before him, the Seed he ſhould ſee; with theſe and the like Suggeſtions he encourag'd him to go on chearfully, and what is comforting is ſtrengthening. Perhaps he did ſomething to ſtrengthen him, wiped away his Sweat and Tears, perhaps miniſter'd ſome Cordial to him, as after his Temptation, or it may be, took him by the Arm and help'd him off the Ground, or bore him up when he was ready to faint away; and in theſe Services of the Angel, the holy Spirit was ἐνισχύων ἀυτὸν, putting Strength into him, for ſo the Word ſignifies. It pleaſed the Lord to bruiſe him, indeed, yet, did he plead againſt him with his great Power? No, but he put ſtrength in him, Job. 23. 6. as he had promis'd, Pſal. 89. 21. Iſa. 49. 8.—50. 7.

2. That being in an Agony he prayed more earneſtly, v. 54. As his Sorrow and Trouble grew upon him, he grew more importunate in Prayer; not that there was before any Coldneſs or Indifferency in his Prayers, but there was now a greater Vehemency in them, which was expreſs'd in his Voice and Geſture. Note, Prayer, tho' never out of Seaſon, is in a ſpecial Manner ſeaſonable when we are in an Agony; and the ſtronger our Agonies are, the more lively and frequent our Prayers ſhould be. Now it was that Chriſt offer'd up Prayers and Supplications with ſtrong Crying and Tears, and was heard in that he fear'd, Heb. 5. 7. and in his Fear wreſtled, as Jacob with the Angel.

3. That in this Agony his Sweat was as it were great Drops of Blood falling down to the Ground. Sweat came in with Sin, and was a Branch of the Curſe, Gen. 3. 19. And therefore when Chriſt was made Sin, and a Curſe for us, he underwent a grievous Sweat, that in the Sweat of his Face we might eat Bread, and that he might ſanctify and ſweeten all our Tryals to us. 'Tis ſome Diſpute among the Criticks, whether this Sweat is only compar'd to Drops of Blood, being much thicker than Drops of Sweat commonly are, the Pores of the Body being more than ordinarily open'd: Or, that real Blood out of the Capillary Veins mingled with it, ſo that 'twas in colour like Blood, and might truly be call'd a Bloody Sweat; the Matter is not great. Some reckon this One of the Times when Chriſt ſhed his Blood for us, for without ſhedding of Blood no Remiſſion. Every Pore was, as it were, a bleeding Wound, and his Blood ſtain'd all his Raiment. This ſhew'd the Travail of his Soul. He was now abroad in the open Air, in a cool Seaſon, upon the cold Ground, far in the Night, which one would think had been enough to ſtrike in a Sweat, yet now he breaks out into a Sweat; which ſpeaks the Extremity of the Agony he was in.

47 ¶ And while he yet ſpake, behold, a multitude, and he that was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them, and drew near unto Jeſus, to kiſs him. 48 But Jeſus ſaid unto him, Judas, betrayeſt thou the Son of man with a kiſs? 49 When they which were about him, ſaw what would follow, they ſaid unto him, Lord, ſhall we ſmite with the ſword? 50 ¶ And one of them ſmote the ſervant of the high prieſt, and cut off his right ear. 51 And Jeſus anſwered and ſaid, Suffer ye thus far. And he touched his ear, and healed him. 52 Then Jeſus ſaid unto the chief prieſts, and captains of the temple, and the elders which were come to him, Be ye come out as againſt a thief, with ſwords and ſtaves? 53 When I was daily with you in the temple, ye ſtretched forth no hands againſt me: but this is your hour, and the power of darkneſs.

Satan finding himſelf baffled in his Attempt to terrify our Lord Jeſus, and ſo to put him out of the Poſſeſſion of his own Soul, betakes himſelf (according to his uſual Method) to Force and Arms, and brings a Party into the Field to ſeize him, and Satan was in them: Here's,

1. The marking of him by Judas. Here's a numerous Party appears, and Judas at the Head of them, for he was Guide to them that took Jeſus; they knew not where to find him: but he brought them to the Place; when they were there, they knew not which was he; but Judas told them that whoever he ſhould kiſs, that ſame was he, ſo he drew near to him to kiſs him, according to the wonted Freedom and Familiarity which our Lord Jeſus admitted his Diſciples to. Luke takes notice of the Queſtion Chriſt ask'd him, which we have not in the other Evangeliſts, Judas, Betrayeſt thou the Son of Man with a Kiſs? What, is that the Signal? v. 48. Muſt the Son of Man be betrayed, as if any Thing could be conceal'd from him, and a Plot carry'd on againſt him unknown to him? Muſt one of his own Diſciples betray him, as if he had been a hard Maſter to them, or deſerv'd ill at their Hands? Muſt he be betray'd with a Kiſs? Muſt the Badge of Friendſhip be the Inſtrument of Treachery? Was ever a Love-Token ſo deſecrated and abus'd? Note, Nothing can be a greater Affront or Grief to the Lord Jeſus, than to be betray'd, and betray'd with a Kiſs by thoſe that profeſs Relation to him, and an Affection for him. Thoſe do ſo, who under pretence of Zeal for his Honour, perſecute his Servants, who, under the Cloke of a ſeeming Affection for the Honour of Free Grace, give a Blow to the Root of Holineſs, and Strictneſs of Converſation. Many Inſtances there are of Chriſt's being betray'd with a Kiſs, by thoſe who, under the Form of Godlineſs, fight againſt the Power of it. 'Twere well if their own Conſciences would put this Queſtion to them which Chriſt here puts to Judas, Betrayeſt thou the Son of Man with a Kiſs? And will he not reſent it? Will he not revenge it?

2. The Effort which his Diſciples made for his Protection, v. 49. When they ſaw what would follow, that thoſe armed Men were come to ſeize him, they ſaid, Lord, ſhall we ſmite with the Sword? Thou didſt allow us to have Two Swords, ſhall we now make uſe of them? Never more Occaſion; and to what Purpoſe ſhould we have them if we do not uſe them? They ask'd the Queſtion, as if they would not have drawn the Sword without Commiſſion from their Maſter; but they were in too much Haſte, and too much Heat to ſtay for an Anſwer: But Peter aiming at the Head of one of the Servants of the High Prieſt, miſs'd his Blow, and cut off his right Ear. As Chriſt, by throwing them to the Ground that came to take him, ſhew'd what he could have done, ſo Peter by this Exploit ſhew'd what he would have done too in ſo good a Cauſe, if he had had leave. The other Evangeliſts tell us what was the Check Chriſt gave to Peter for it. Luke here tells us, (1.) How Chriſt excus'd the Blow, Suffer ye thus far, v. 51. Dr. Whitby thinks he ſaid this to his Enemies, who came to take him, to qualify them, that they might not be provok'd by it to fall upon the Diſciples, whom he had undertaken the Preſervation of. Paſs by this Injury and Affront, 'twas without Warrant from me, and there ſhall not be another Blow ſtruck: Tho' Chriſt had Power to have ſtruck them down, and ſtruck them dead, yet he ſpeaks them fair, and, as it were, begs their Pardon for an Aſſault made upon them by one of his Followers, to teach us to give good Words even to our Enemies. (2.) How he cur'd the Wound, which was more than amends ſufficient for the Injury: He touched his Ear, and healed him; faſten'd his Ear on again, that he might not ſo much as go away ſtigmatiz'd, tho' he well deſerv'd it. Chriſt hereby gave them a Proof: (1.) Of his Power: He that could heal, could deſtroy, if he pleas'd, which ſhould have oblig'd them in Intereſt to ſubmit to him. Had they return'd the Blow upon Peter, he would immediately have heal'd him; and what could not a ſmall Regiment do, that had ſuch a Surgeon to it, immediately to help the Sick and Wounded. (2.) Of his Mercy and Goodneſs: Chriſt here gave an illuſtrious Example to his own Rule of doing Good to them that hate us, as afterwards he did of praying for them that deſpitefully uſe us. Thoſe who render Good for Evil, do as Chriſt did. One would have thought this generous Piece of Kindneſs ſhould have overcome them, that ſuch Coals heap'd on their Heads ſhould have melted them, that they could not have bound him as a Malefactor, who had approved himſelf ſuch a Benefactor; but their Hearts were harden'd.

3. Chriſt's Expoſtulation with the Officers of the Detachment that came to apprehend him, to ſhew what an abſurd Thing it was for them to make all this Rout and Noiſe, v. 52, 53. Matthew relates it as ſaid to the Multitude: Luke tells us 'twas ſaid to the Chief Prieſts and Captains of the Temple, who commanded the ſeveral Orders of the Prieſts, and therefore are here put between the Chief Prieſts and the Elders, ſo that they were all Eccleſiaſticks, Retainers to the Temple, who were employ'd in this odious Piece of Service; and ſome of the firſt Rank too diſparag'd themſelves ſo far as to be ſeen in it. Now ſee here,

1. How Chriſt reaſons with them concerning their Proceedings: What needed they come out in the dead of the Night, and with Swords and Staves. (1.) They knew that he was one that would not reſiſt, or raiſe the Mob againſt them, he never had done any Thing like that: Why then are ye come out as againſt a Thief? (2.) They knew he was one that would not abſcond, for he was daily with them in the Temple, in the midſt of them, and never ſought to conceal himſelf, nor did they offer to lay Hands on him. Before his Hour was come, 'twas Folly for them to think to take him, and when his Hour was come, it was Folly for them to make all this ado to take him.

2. How he reconciles himſelf to their Proceedings; and this we had not before. But this is your Hour, and the Power of Darkneſs. How hard ſoever it may ſeem, that I ſhould be thus expos'd, I ſubmit, for ſo 'tis determin'd; this is the Hour allowed you, to have your Will againſt me, there is an Hour appointed me to reckon for it. Now the Power of Darkneſs, Satan the Ruler of the Darkneſs of this World, is permitted to do his worſt, to bruiſe the Heel of the Seed of the Woman, and I reſolve to acquieſce; let him do his worſt. The Lord ſhall laugh at him, for he ſees that his Day, his Hour is coming, Pſal. 37. 13. Let this quiet us under the Prevalency of the Church's Enemies; let it quiet us in a dying Hour, That (1.) 'tis but an Hour that's permitted for the Triumph of our Adverſary, a ſhort Time, a limited Time. (2.) 'Tis their Hour, which is appointed them, and in which they are permitted to try their Strength, that Omnipotence may be the more glorify'd in their Fall. (3.) 'Tis the Power of Darkneſs that rides Maſter, and Darkneſs muſt give Way to Light, and the Power of Darkneſs be made to truckle to the Prince of Light. Christ was willing to wait for his Triumphs till his Warfare was accompliſh'd, and we muſt be ſo too.

54 ¶ Then took they him, and led him, and brought him into the high prieſt's houſe. And Peter followed afar off. 55 And when they had kindled a fire in the midſt of the hall, and were ſet down together, Peter ſat down among them. 56 But a certain maid beheld him as he ſat by the fire, and earneſtly looked upon him, and ſaid, This man was alſo with him. 57 And he denied him, ſaying, Woman, I know him not. 58 And after a little while another ſaw him, and ſaid, Thou art alſo of them. And Peter ſaid, Man, I am not. 59 And about the ſpace of one hour after, another confidently affirmed, ſaying, Of a truth this fellow alſo was with him; for he is a Galilean. 60 And Peter ſaid, Man, I know not what thou ſayeſt. And immediately while he yet ſpake, the cock crew. 61 And the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter; and Peter remembred the word of the Lord, how he had ſaid unto him, Before the cock crow, thou ſhalt deny me thrice. 62 And Peter went out, and wept bitterly.

We have here the melancholy Story of Peter's denying his Maſter, at the Time when he was arraign'd before the High Prieſt, with thoſe that were of the Cabal, that were ready to receive the Prey, and to prepare the Evidence for his Arraignment, as ſoon as it was Day, before the great Sanhedrin, v. 66. But Notice is not taken here, as was in the other Evangeliſts, of Chriſt's being now upon his Examination before the High Prieſt, only of his being brought into the High Prieſt's Houſe, v. 54. But the Manner of Expreſſion is obſervable, they took him, and led him, and brought him; which, methinks, is like that concerning Saul, 1 Sam. 15. 13. He is gone about, and paſſed on, and gone down; and intimates that even when they had ſeiz'd their Prey, they were in Confuſion, and for fear of the People, or rather ſtruck with inward Terror, upon what they had ſeen and heard; they took him the furtheſt Way about, or rather knew not which Way they hurry'd him, ſuch a hurry were they in, in their own Boſoms. Now obſerve,

1. Peter's Falling. (1.) It began in Sneaking. He follow'd Chriſt when he was had away Priſoner, that was well, and ſhew'd a Concern for his Maſter? but he follow'd afar off, that he might be out of Danger. He thought to Trim the Matter; to follow Chriſt, and ſo to ſatisfy his Conſcience; but to follow afar off, and ſo to ſave his Reputation, and ſleep in a whole Skin. (2.) It proceeded in keeping his Diſtance ſtill, and aſſociating himſelf with the High Prieſt's Servants, when he ſhould have been at his Maſter's Elbow. The Servants kindled a Fire in the midſt of the Hall, and ſat down together to talk over their Night-Expedition. Probably Malchus was among them, and Peter ſat down among them, as if he had been one of them, at leaſt would be thought to be ſo. (3.) His Fall itſelf was diſclaiming all Acquaintance with Chriſt, and Relation to him, diſowning him, becauſe he was now in Diſtreſs and Danger. He was charg'd by a ſorry ſimple Maid, that belong'd to the Houſe, with being a Retainer to this Jeſus, about whom there was now ſo much Noiſe: She look'd wiſtly upon him as he ſat by the Fire, only becauſe he was a Stranger, and one whom ſhe had not ſeen before; and concluding that at this Time of Night there were no Neuters there, and knowing him not to be any of the Retinue of the High Prieſt, ſhe concludes him to be one of the Retinue of this Jeſus; or perhaps ſhe had been ſome time or other looking about her in the Temple, and had ſeen Jeſus there, and Peter with him, officious about him, and remember'd him; and this Man was with him, ſaith ſhe. And Peter, as he had not the Courage to own the Charge, ſo he had not the Wit and Preſence of Mind to turn it off, as he might have done many Ways, and therefore flat and plain denies it, Woman, I know him not. (4.) His Fall was repeated a ſecond Time, v. 58. After a little while, before he had Time to recollect himſelf, another ſaw him, and ſaid, Even thou art one of them, as ſlily as thou ſitteſt here among the High Prieſt's Servants: Not I, ſaith Peter, Man I am not. And a third Time, about the ſpace of an Hour after; for, ſaith the Tempter, when he is down, down with him; let us follow the Blow, till we get him paſt Recovery; Another confidently affirms, ſtrenuouſly aſſerts it, Of a truth this Fellow alſo was with him, let him deny it if he can, for you may all perceive he is a Galilean. But he that has once told a Lye is ſtrongly tempted to perſiſt in it, the beginning of that Sin is as the letting forth of Water. Peter now not only denies that he is a Diſciple of Chriſt, but that he knows any Thing of him, v. 60. Man, I know not what thou ſayeſt, I never heard of this Jeſus.

2. Peter's getting up again. See how happily he recover'd himſelf, or rather the Grace of God recover'd him. See how 'twas brought about,

1. The Cock crew, juſt as he was the third Time denying that he knew Chriſt; and this ſtartled him, and put him upon thinking. Note, Small Accidents may have great Influences.

2. The Lord turn'd and look'd upon him. This Circumſtance we had not in the other Evangeliſts, but it is a very remarkable one. Chriſt is here call'd the Lord, for there was much of Divine Knowledge, Power and Grace appearing in this. Obſerve, tho' Chriſt had now his Back upon Peter, and was upon his Tryal, when one would think he had ſomething elſe to mind, yet he knew all that Peter ſaid. Note, Chriſt takes more Notice of what we ſay and do, than we think he doth; when Peter diſown'd Chriſt, yet Chriſt did not diſown him, tho' he might juſtly have caſt him off, and never look'd upon him more, but have deny'd him before his Father. 'Tis well for us that Chriſt doth not deal with us as we deal with him. Chriſt look'd upon Peter, not doubting but that Peter would ſoon be aware of it; for he knew, that tho' he had deny'd him with his Lips, yet his Eye would ſtill be towards him. Obſerve, tho' Peter had now been guilty of a very great Offence, and which was very provoking, yet Chriſt would not call to him, leſt he ſhould ſhame him or expoſe him, only gave him a Look, which none but Peter would underſtand the Meaning of, and it had a great deal in it. (1.) It was a convincing Look. Peter ſaid, he did not know Chriſt; Chriſt turn'd and look'd upon him, as if he ſhould ſay, Doſt thou not know me, Peter? Look me in the Face and tell me ſo. (2.) It was a chiding Look; we may ſuppoſe he look'd upon him, and frown'd, or ſome way ſignified his Diſpleaſure. Let us think with what an angry Countenance Chriſt juſtly looks upon us, when we have ſinn'd. (3.) It was an expoſtulating upbraiding Look. What, Peter, art thou he that diſowneſt me now, when thou ſhouldſt come and witneſs for me? What, thou a Diſciple! thou that waſt the moſt forward to confeſs me to be the Son of God, and didſt ſolemnly promiſe thou wouldſt never diſown me! (4.) It was a compaſſionate Look; he look'd upon him with Tenderneſs; Poor Peter, how weak is thine Heart! how art thou fallen and undone, if I do not help thee! (5.) It was a directing Look; Chriſt guided him with his Eye, gave him a Wink to go out from that ſorry Company, to retire, and bethink himſelf a little, and then he would ſoon ſee what he had to do. (6.) It was a ſignificant Look: It ſignified the conveying of Grace to Peter's Heart to enable him to repent: The Crowing of the Cock would not have brought him to Repentance without this Look; nor will the external Means, without ſpecial efficacious Grace. Power went along with this Look to change the Heart of Peter, and to bring him to himſelf, to his right Mind.

3. Peter remember'd the Words of the Lord. Note, The Grace of God works in and by the Word of God, brings that to mind, and ſets that home upon the Conſcience, and ſo gives the Soul the happy Turn. Tolle & lege.

4. Then Peter went out and wept bitterly. One Look from Chriſt melted him into Tears of Godly Sorrow for Sin. The Candle was newly put out, and then a little thing lighted it again. Chriſt look'd upon the Chief Prieſts, and made no Impreſſion upon them as it did on Peter, who had the Divine Seed remaining in him, to work upon. 'Twas not the Look from Chriſt, but the Grace of God with it, that recover'd Peter, and brought him to rights.

63 ¶ And the men that held Jeſus, mocked him, and ſmote him. 64 And when they had blindfolded him, they ſtroke him on the face, and asked him, ſaying, Propheſy, who is it that ſmote thee? 65 And many other things blaſphemouſly ſpake they againſt him. 66 ¶ And as ſoon as it was day, the elders of the people, and the chief prieſts, and the ſcribes came together, and led him into their council, 67 Saying, Art thou the Chriſt? tell us. And he ſaid unto them, If I tell you, you will not believe. 68 And if I alſo ask you, you will not anſwer me, nor let me go. 69 Hereafter ſhall the Son of man ſit on the right hand of the power of God. 70 Then ſaid they all, Art thou then the Son of God? And he ſaid unto them, Ye ſay that I am. 71 And they ſaid, What need we any further Witneſs? for we our ſelves have heard of his own mouth.

We are here told, as before, in the other Goſpels, 1. How our Lord Jeſus was abus'd by the Servants of the High Prieſts, The Abjects gather'd themſelves together againſt him, the rude and barbarous Servants. They that held Jeſus, that had him in Cuſtody till the Court ſate, they mock'd him, and ſmote him, v. 63. they would not allow him to repoſe himſelf one Minute, tho' he had had no Sleep all Night, nor to compoſe himſelf, tho' he was hurry'd to his Trial, and no Time given him to prepare for it. They made Sport with him: This ſorrowful Night to him ſhall be a merry Night to them; and the bleſſed Jeſus, like Samſon, is made the Fool in the Play. They hood-wink'd him, and then according to the common Play that young People have among them, they ſtruck him on the Face, and continued to do ſo till he nam'd the Perſon that ſmote him, v. 64. intending hereby an Affront to his Prophetical Office, and that Knowledge of ſeveral Things, which he was ſaid to have. We are not told that he ſaid any Thing, but bore every Thing; Hell was let looſe, and he ſuffered it to do its worſt. A greater Indignity could not be done to the Bleſſed Jeſus, yet this was but one Inſtance of many; for v. 65. many other Things blaſphemouſly ſpake they againſt him. They that condemn'd him for a Blaſphemer, were themſelves the vileſt Blaſphemers that ever were.

2. How he was accus'd and condemn'd by the Great Sanhedrim, conſiſting of the Elders of the People, the chief Prieſts, and the Scribes, who were all up betimes, and got together as ſoon as it was Day, about Five a-Clock in the Morning, to proſecute this Matter. They were working this Evil upon their Beds, and as ſoon as ever the Morning was light, practis'd it, Mic. 2. 1. They would not have been up ſo early for any good Work.

'Tis but a ſhort Account that we have here of his Trial in the Eccleſiaſtical Court.

1. They ask him, Art thou the Chriſt? He was generally believ'd by his Followers to be the Chriſt, but they could not prove it upon him that he had ever ſaid ſo totidem verbis, and therefore urge him to own it to them, v. 67. If they had ask'd him this Queſtion with a Willingneſs to admit that he was the Chriſt, and to receive him accordingly, if he could give ſufficient Proof of his being ſo, it had been well, and might have been for ever well with them. But they ask'd it with a Reſolution not to believe him, but a Deſign to enſnare him.

2. He juſtly complain'd of their unfair and unjuſt Uſage of him, v. 67, 68. They all as Jews profeſs'd to expect the Meſſiah, and to expect him at this Time, no other appear'd or had appear'd that pretended to be the Meſſiah; he had no Competitor, nor likelihood of any; he had given amazing Proofs of a Divine Power going along with him, which made his Claims very well worthy of a free and impartial Enquiry: It had been but juſt for theſe Leaders of the People to have taken him into their Council, and examin'd him there as a Candidate for the Meſſiahſhip, not at the Bar as a Criminal; But, ſaith he, (1.) If I tell you that I am the Chriſt, and give you never ſuch convincing Proofs of it, you are reſolv'd you will not believe. Why ſhould the Cauſe be brought on before you, who have already prejudg'd it, and are reſolv'd right or wrong to run it down, and to condemn it. (2.) If I ask you what you have to object againſt the Proofs I produce, you will not anſwer me. Here he refers to their Silence when he puts a Queſtion to them, which would have led them to own his Authority, Chap. 20. 5, 6, 7. They were neither fair Judges nor fair Diſputants, but when they were pinch'd with an Argument, would rather be ſilent than own their Conviction; you will neither anſwer me, nor let me go. If I be not the Chriſt, you ought to anſwer the Arguments with which I prove that I am: If I be, you ought to let me go, but you will do neither.

3. He refer'd them to his ſecond Coming, for the full Proof of his being the Chriſt to their Confuſion, ſince they would not now admit the Proof of it to their Conviction, v. 69. Hereafter ſhall the Son of Man ſit, and be ſeen to ſit on the right Hand of the Power of God, and then you will not need to ask whether he be the Chriſt or no?

4. Hence they infer'd that he ſet up himſelf as the Son of God, and ask'd him whether he were ſo or no? v. 70. Art thou then the Son of God? He call'd himſelf the Son of Man, referring to Daniel's Viſion of the Son of Man that came near before the Ancient of Days, Dan. 7. 13, 14. But they underſtood ſo much as to know, that if he was that Son of Man, he was alſo the Son of God; and art thou ſo? By this it appears to have been the Faith of the Jewiſh Church, that the Meſſiah ſhould be both Son of Man, and Son of God.

5. He owns himſelf to be the Son of God; ye ſay that I am, i. e. I am, as ye ſay; compare Mark 14. 62. Jeſus ſaid, I am. This confirms Chriſt's Teſtimony concerning himſelf, that he was the Son of God, that he ſtood to it, when he knew he ſhould ſuffer for ſtanding to it.

6. Upon this they ground his Condemnation, v. 71. What need we any further Witneſs? 'Twas true they needed not any further Witneſs to prove that he ſaid he was the Son of God, they had it from his own Mouth: But did they not need Proof that he was not ſo, before they condemn'd him as a Blaſphemer for ſaying that he was ſo? Had they no Apprehenſion that it was poſſible he might be ſo, and then what horrid Guilt they ſhould bring upon themſelves in putting him to Death? No, They knew not, neither will they underſtand. They cannot think poſſible he ſhould be the Meſſiah, tho' never ſo evidently cloth'd with Divine Power and Grace, if he appear not as they expect, in worldly Pomp and Grandeur. Their Eyes being blinded with the Admiration of that, they ruſh on in this dangerous Proſecution, as the Horſe into the Battle.

CHAP. XXIII.

This Chapter carries on and concludes the Hiſtory of Chriſt's Sufferings and Death: We have here (1.) his Arraignment before Pilate the Roman Governour, v. 1—5. (2.) His Examination before Herod, who was Tetrarch of Galilee, under the Romans likewiſe, v. 6—12. (3.) Pilate*'s Struggle with the People to releaſe Jeſus; his repeated Teſtimonies concerning his Innocency, but his yielding at length to their Importunity, and condemning him to be crucify'd*, v. 13—25. (4.) An Account of what paſs'd as they led him to be crucified, and his Diſcourſe to the People that follow'd, v. 26—34. (5.) An Account of what paſs'd at the Place of Execution, and the Indignities done him there, v. 32—38. (6.) The Converſion of one of the Thieves, as Chriſt was hanging on the Croſs, v. 39—43. (7.) The Death of Chriſt, and the Prodigies that attended it, v. 44—49. (8.) His Burial, v. 50—56.

1 AND the whole multitude of them aroſe, and led him unto Pilate. 2. And they began to accuſe him, ſaying, We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Cæſar, ſaying, that he himſelf is Chriſt, a king. 3 And Pilate asked him, ſaying, Art thou the king of the Jews? And he anſwered him and ſaid, Thou ſayeſt it. 4 Then ſaid Pilate to the chief prieſts and to the people, I find no fault in this man. 5 And they were the more fierce, ſaying, He ſtirreth up the people, teaching throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee to this place. 6 When Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked whether the man were a Galilean. 7 And as ſoon as he knew that he belonged unto Herod's juriſdiction, he ſent him to Herod, who himſelf was alſo at Jeruſalem at that time. 8 ¶ And when Herod ſaw Jeſus, he was exceeding glad: for he was deſirous to ſee him of a long ſeaſon, becauſe he had heard many things of him; and he hoped to have ſeen ſome miracle done by him. 9 Then he queſtioned with him in many words; but he anſwered him nothing. 10 And the chief prieſts and ſcribes ſtood and vehemently accuſed him. 11 And Herod, with his men of war, ſet him at nought, and mocked him, and arrayed him in a gorgeous robe, and ſent him again to Pilate. 12 ¶ And the ſame day Pilate and Herod were made friends together; for before they were at enmity between themſelves.

Our Lord Jeſus was condemn'd as a Blaſphemer in the Spiritual Court, but it was the moſt impotent Malice that could be, that that Court was acted by; for when they had condemn'd him, they knew they could not put him to Death, and therefore take another Courſe.

Firſt, They accuſe him before Pilate; the whole Multitude of them aroſe, when they ſaw they could go no further with him in their Court, and led him unto Pilate, tho' it was no Judgment Day, no Aſſizes or Seſſions, and they demand Juſtice againſt him, not as a Blaſphemer, that was no Crime that he took Cognizance of, but as one diſaffected to the Roman Government; which they, in their Hearts did not look upon as any Crime at all; or if it were one, they themſelves were much more chargeable with it than he was; only it would ſerve the turn, and anſwer the Purpoſe of their Malice: And it is obſervable, that that which was the pretended Crime, for which they employ'd the Roman Powers to deſtroy Chriſt, was the real Crime, for which the Roman Powers not long after deſtroy'd them.

1. Here is the Indictment drawn up againſt him, v. 2. in which they pretended a Zeal for Cæſar, only to ingratiate themſelves with Pilate, but it was all Malice againſt Chriſt, and nothing elſe. They miſrepreſented him, (1.) As making the People rebel againſt Cæſar. It was true, and Pilate knew it, that there was a general Uneaſineſs in the People under the Roman Yoke, and they wanted nothing but an Opportunity to ſhake it off: Now, they would have Pilate believe that this Jeſus was active to foment that general Diſcontent, which if the Truth were known, they themſelves were the Aiders and Abetters of. We have found him perverting the Nation; as if converting them to God's Government were perverting them from the Civil Government; whereas nothing tends more to make Men good Subjects, than making them Chriſt's faithful Followers. Chriſt had particularly taught that they ought to give Tribute to Cæſar, tho' he knew there were thoſe that would be offended at him for it, and yet he is here falſly accus'd, as forbidding to give Tribute to Cæſar. Innocency is no Fence againſt Calumny. (2.) As making himſelf a Rival with Cæſar; tho' the very Reaſon why they rejected him and would not own him to be the Meſſiah, was becauſe he did not appear in worldly Pomp and Power, and did not ſet up for a Temporal Prince, nor offer to do any thing againſt Cæſar, yet that's it they charge him with, that he ſaid, He himſelf is Chriſt, a King. He did ſay, He was Chriſt, and if ſo, then a King, but not ſuch a King as was ever likely to give diſturbance to Cæſar. When his Followers would have made him a King, Joh. 6. 15. he declin'd it, tho' by the many Miracles he wrought, he made it appear, that if he would have ſet up in competition with Cæſar, he would have been too hard for him.

2. His Pleading to the Inditement. Pilate aſk'd him, Art thou the King of the Jews? v. 3. To which he anſwered, Thou ſayeſt it, i. e. It it as thou ſayeſt, that I am entitled to the Government of the Jewiſh Nation, but in Rivalſhip with the Scribes and Phariſees, who tyrannize over them in Matters of Religion; not in Rivalſhip with Cæſar, whoſe Government relates only to their Civil Intereſts. Chriſt's Kingdom is wholly ſpiritual, and will not interfere with Cæſar's Juriſdiction. Or, Thou ſayeſt it; But canſt thou prove it? what Evidence haſt thou for it? All that know him, know the contrary, that he never pretended to be the King of the Jews, in Oppoſition to Cæſar as Supreme, or to the Governours, that were ſent by him, but the contrary.

3. Pilate's Declaration of his Innocency, v. 4. He ſaid to the Chief Prieſts, and the People that ſeem'd to join with them in the Proſecution, I find no fault in this Man. What Breaches of your Law he may have been guilty of, I am not concern'd to enquire, but I find nothing prov'd upon him, that makes him obnoxious to our Court.

4. The continued Fury and Outrage of the Proſecutors, v. 5. inſtead of being moderated by Pilate's Declaration of his Innocency, and conſidering as they ought to do, whether they were not bringing the Guilt of innocent Blood upon themſelves, they were the more exaſperated, more exceeding fierce. We do not find that they have any particular Fact to produce, much leſs any Evidence to prove it, but they reſolve to carry it with Noiſe and Confidence, and ſay it, tho' they cannot prove it: He ſtirs up the People, to rebel againſt Cæſar, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee, to this Place. He did ſtir up the People, but it was not to any thing factious or ſeditious, but to every thing that was virtuous and praiſe-worthy. He did teach, but they could not charge him with teaching any Doctrine that tended to diſturb the publick Peace, or make the Government uneaſy, or jealous.

Secondly, They accuſe him before Herod.

1. Pilate remov'd him and his Cauſe to Herod's Court. The Accuſers mention'd Galilee the Northern Part of Canaan; why, ſaith Pilate, Is he of that Country? Is he a Galilean? v. 6. Yes, ſaid they, That's his Head-Quarters, there he hath ſpent moſt of his Time: Let's ſend him to Herod then, (ſaith Pilate) for Herod is now in Town, and 'tis but fit he ſhould have cognizance of his Cauſe, ſince he belongs to Herod's Juriſdiction. Pilate was already ſick of the Cauſe, and deſirous to rid his Hands of it, and that ſeems to be the true Reaſon of ſending him to Herod. But, God order'd it ſo for the more evident fulfilling of the Scripture, as appears, Acts 4. 26, 27. where that of David, Pſal. 2. 2. The Kings of the Earth, and the Rulers ſet themſelves againſt the Lord and his Anointed, is expreſly ſaid to be fulfilled in Herod and Pontius Pilate.

2. Herod was very willing to have the Examining of him, v. 8. when he ſaw Jeſus, he was exceeding glad, and perhaps the more glad becauſe he ſaw him a Priſoner, ſaw him in Bonds; he had heard many Things of him in Galilee, where his Miracles had for a great while been all the talk of the Country, and he long'd to ſee him; not for any Affection he had for him, or his Doctrine, but purely out of Curioſity; and it was only to gratify that, that he hoped to have ſeen ſome Miracles done by him, which would ſerve him to talk of as long as he liv'd. And in order to this, he queſtioned with him in many Things, that at length he might bring him to ſomething, in which he might ſhew his Power. Perhaps he pump'd him concerning Things ſecret, or Things to come, or concerning his curing of Diſeaſes. But Jeſus anſwered him nothing; nor would he gratify him ſo much as with the Repetition of one Miracle. The pooreſt Beggar that aſk'd a Miracle for the Relief of his Neceſſity, was never deny'd; but this proud Prince that aſk'd a Miracle meerly for the gratifying of his Curioſity, is deny'd; he might have ſeen Chriſt and his wondrous Works many a Time in Galilee, and would not, and therefore 'tis juſtly ſaid, now he would ſee them and ſhall not; they are hid from his Eyes, becauſe he knew not the Day of his Viſitation. Herod thought now he had him in Bonds he might command a Miracle, but Miracles muſt not be made cheap, nor Omnipotence be at the Beck of the greateſt Potentate.

3. His Proſecutors appear'd againſt him before Herod, for they were reſtleſs in the Proſecution; they ſtood and vehemently accus'd him, v. 10. impudently and boldly, ſo the Word ſignifies. They would make Herod believe that he had poiſon'd Galilee too with his ſeditious Notions. Note, It is no new Thing for good Men and good Miniſters, that are real and uſeful Friends to the Civil Government, to be falſly accus'd as factious and ſeditious, and Enemies to Government.

4. Herod was very abuſive to him; he with his Men of War, his Attendants, and Officers, and great Men, ſet him at nought. They made nothing of him, ſo the Word is: Horrid Wickedneſs! to make nothing of him, who made all Things. They laugh'd at him as a Fool, for they knew he had wrought many Miracles to befriend others, and why would he not now work one to befriend himſelf; or elſe as one that had loſt his Power, and was become weak as other Men. Herod that had been acquainted with John Baptiſt, and had more Knowledge of Chriſt too, than Pilate had, was more abuſive to Chriſt than Pilate was: For Knowledge, without Grace, doth but make Men the more ingeniouſly wicked. Herod array'd Chriſt in a gorgeous Robe, ſome gaudy painted Cloths, as a mock King; and ſo he taught Pilate's Soldiers afterwards to do him the ſame Indignity. He was Ring-Leader in that Abuſe.

5. Herod return'd him to Pilate, and it prov'd an Occaſion of the making of them Friends, they having been for ſome Time before at variance. Herod could not get ſight of a Miracle, but would not condemn him neither, as a Malefactor, and therefore ſent him again to Pilate, v. 11. and ſo return'd Pilate's Civility and Reſpect in ſending the Priſoner to him; and this mutual Obligation, with the Meſſages that paſs'd between them on this Occaſion, brought them to a better underſtanding one of another, than there had been of late between them, v. 12. They had been at enmity between themſelves, probably upon Pilate's killing the Galileans, who were Herod's Subjects, Luke 13. 1. Or ſome other ſuch Matter of Controverſy as uſes to be among Princes and Great Men. Obſerve how thoſe that quarrell'd with one another, yet could unite againſt Chriſt, as Gebal and Ammon and Amalek, tho' divided among themſelves, were confederate againſt the Iſrael of God, Pſal. 83. 7. Chriſt is the great Peace-maker; both Pilate and Herod own'd his Innocency, and their agreeing in that, cur'd their Diſagreeing in other Things.

13 ¶ And Pilate when he had called together the chief prieſts, and the rulers, and the people, 14 Said unto them, Ye have brought this man unto me, as one that perverteth the people: and behold, I having examined him before you, have found no fault in this man touching thoſe things whereof ye accuſed him; 15 No, nor yet Herod: for I ſent you to him, and lo, nothing worthy of death is done unto him. 16 I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and releaſe him. 17 For of neceſſity he muſt releaſe one unto them at the feaſt. 18 And they cried out all at once, ſaying, Away with this man, and releaſe unto us Barabbas: 19 (Who for a certain ſedition made in the city, and for murder was caſt in priſon) 20 Pilate therefore willing to releaſe Jeſus, ſpake again to them. 21 But they cried, ſaying, Crucify him, crucify him. 22 And he ſaid unto them the third time, Why, what evil hath he done? I have found no cauſe of death in him:
I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and let him go. 23
And they were inſtant with loud voices, requiring that he might be crucified: and the voices of them, and of the chief prieſts prevailed. 24 And Pilate gave ſentence that it ſhould be as they required.
25 And he releaſed unto them him that for ſedition and murder was caſt into priſon, whom they had deſired; but he delivered Jeſus to their will.

We have here the Bleſſed Jeſus run down by the Mob, and hurry'd to the Croſs in the Storm of a popular Noiſe and Tumult, rais'd by the Malice and Artifice of the Chief Prieſts, as Agents for the Prince of the Power of the Air.

1. Pilate ſolemnly proteſts, that he believes he has done nothing worthy of Death or of Bonds. And if he did believe ſo, he ought immediately to have diſcharg'd him, and not only ſo, but to have protected him from the Fury of the Prieſts and Rabble, and to have bound his Proſecutors to their good Behaviour for their inſolent Carriage. But being himſelf an ill Man, he had no Kindneſs for Chriſt. And having made himſelf otherwiſe obnoxious, was afraid of diſpleaſing either the Emperor or the People; and therefore, for want of Integrity, he call'd together the chief Prieſts, and Rulers, and People; whom he ſhould have diſpers'd, as a riotous, routous and ſeditious Aſſembly, and forbid 'em to come near him; and will hear what they have to ſay, to whom he ſhould have turn'd a deaf Ear, for he plainly ſaw what Spirit acted them, v. 14. You have brought (ſaith he) this Man to me, and becauſe I have a Reſpect for you, I have examin'd him before you, and have heard all you have to alledge againſt him, and I can make nothing of it, I find no Fault in him, you cannot prove the Things whereof you accuſe him.

2. He appeals to Herod concerning him, v. 15. I ſent you to him, who is ſuppos'd to have known more of him than I have done, and he hath ſent him back, not convicted of any thing, nor under any Mark of his Diſpleaſure; in his Opinion his Crimes are not Capital. He has laugh'd at him as a weak Man, but has not ſtigmatiz'd him as a dangerous Man; he thought Bedlam a fitter Place for him than Tyburn.

3. He propoſeth to releaſe him, if they will but conſent to it. He ought to have done it without aſking leave of them, Fiat Juſtitia, ruat Cœlum. But the Fear of Man brings many into this Snare, that whereas Juſtice ſhould take Place, tho' Heaven and Earth come together, they will do an unjuſt Thing againſt their Conſciences rather than pull an old Houſe about their Ears. Pilate declares him innocent, and therefore has a mind to releaſe him; yet to pleaſe the People, (1.) He will releaſe him under the Notion of a Malefactor, becauſe of Neceſſity he muſt releaſe one, v. 17. ſo that whereas he ought to have been releas'd by an Act of Juſtice, and thanks to no body, he would have him releas'd by an Act of Grace, and not be beholden to the People for it. (2.) He will chaſtize him and releaſe him. If no Fault be to be found in him, why ſhould he be chaſtized? there's as much Injuſtice in ſcourging as in crucifying an innocent Man; nor would it be juſtified by pretending that this would ſatisfy the Clamours of the People, and make him the Object of their Pity, who was now to be the Object of their Envy. We muſt not do Evil that Good may come.

4. The People chuſe rather to have Barabbas releas'd; a wretched Fellow, that had nothing to recommend himſelf to their Favour, but the Daringneſs of his Crimes: He was impriſon'd for a Sedition made in the City, and for Murther, of all Crimes among Men the leaſt pardonable, yet this was the Criminal that was preferred before Chriſt, v. 18, 19. Away with this Man, and releaſe unto us Barabbas: And no wonder, that ſuch a Man is the Favourite and Darling of ſuch a Mob, he that was really ſeditious, rather than he that was really loyal, and falſly accus'd of Sedition.

5. When Pilate urg'd the ſecond Time that Chriſt ſhould be releas'd, they cry'd out, crucify him, crucify him, v. 20, 21. They not only will have him die, but will have him die ſo great a Death; nothing leſs will ſerve, but he muſt be crucified: Crucify him, crucify him.

6. When Pilate the third Time reaſoned with them, to ſhew them the Unreaſonableneſs and Injuſtice of it, they were the more peremptory and outrageous, v. 22. Why, what Evil hath he done? name his Crime; I have found no Cauſe of Death, and you cannot ſay what Cauſe of Death you have found in him; and therefore if you will but ſpeak the Word, I will chaſtize him and let him go. But popular Fury, the more it is complimented, the more furious it grows, they were inſtant with loud Voices, with great Noiſes, or Outcries, not requeſting, but requiring that he might be crucified; as if they had as much Right at the Feaſt to demand the crucifying of one that was innocent, as the Releaſe of one that was guilty.

7. Pilate's yielding at length to their Importunity. The Voice of the People, and of the Chief Prieſts prevail'd, and were too hard for Pilate, and over-rul'd him to go contrary to his Convictions and Inclination. He had not Courage to go againſt ſo ſtrong a Stream, but gave Sentence that it ſhould be as they required, v. 24. Here is Judgment turn'd away backward, and Juſtice ſtanding afar off, for fear of popular Fury: Truth is fallen in the Street, and Equity cannot enter, Iſa. 59. 14. Judgment was look'd for, but behold Oppreſſion, Righteouſneſs, but behold a Cry, Iſa. 5. 7. This is repeated, v. 25. with the aggravating Circumſtance of the Releaſe of Barabbas; he releaſed unto them him that for Sedition and Murther, was caſt into Priſon, who hereby would be hardened in his Wickedneſs, and do the more Miſchief, becauſe him they had deſir'd, being altogether ſuch an one as themſelves, but he deliver'd Jeſus to their Will; and he could not deal more barbarouſly with him, than to deliver him to their Will, who hated him with a perfect Hatred, and whoſe tender Mercies were Cruelty.

26 And as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the croſs, that he might bear it after Jeſus. 27 ¶ And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which alſo bewailed and lamented him. 28 But Jeſus turning unto them, ſaid, Daughters of Jeruſalem, weep not for me, but weep for your ſelves, and for your children. 29 For behold, the days are coming, in which they ſhall ſay, Bleſſed are the barren, and the wombs that never bare, and the paps that never gave ſuck. 30 Then ſhall they begin to ſay to the mountains, Fall on us; and to the hills, Cover us. 31 For if they do theſe things in a green tree, what ſhall be done in the dry?

We have here the bleſſed Jeſus, the Lamb of God, led as a Lamb to the Slaughter, to the Sacrifice. 'Tis ſtrange, with what Expedition they went through his Trial; how they could do ſo much Work in ſo little Time, tho' they had ſo many great Men to deal with; Attendance on whom, uſeth to be a Work of Time. He was brought before the Chief Prieſts at break of Day, Chap. 22. 66. after that to Pilate, then to Herod, then to Pilate again, and there ſeems to have been a long Struggle between Pilate and the People about him. He was ſcourg'd and crown'd with Thorns, and contumeliouſly uſed, and all this was done in Four or Five Hours time, or Six at moſt; for he was crucified between Nine a-clock and Twelve. Chriſt's Perſecutors reſolve to loſe no time, for fear, leſt his Friends at t'other End of the Town ſhould get Notice of what they were doing, and ſhould riſe to reſcue him. Never any one was ſo chaſed out of the World as Chriſt was, but ſo he himſelf ſaid, Yet a little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me, a very little while indeed.

Now as they led him away to Death, we find,

1. One that was a Bearer, that carried his Croſs, Simon by Name, a Cyrenian, who probably was a Friend of Chriſt, and was known to be ſo, and this was done to put a Reproach upon him; they laid Chriſt's Croſs upon him, that he might bear it after Jeſus, v. 26. leſt Jeſus ſhould faint under it, and die away, and ſo prevent the further Inſtances of Malice they deſign'd. 'Twas a Pity; but a cruel Pity that gave him this Eaſe.

2. Many that were Mourners, true Mourners, who follow'd him bewailing and lamenting him. Theſe were not only his Friends and Well-wiſhers, but the common People that were not his Enemies, and were mov'd with Compaſſion towards him, becauſe they had heard the Fame of him, and what an excellent uſeful Man he was, and had reaſon to think he ſuffer'd unjuſtly: This drew a great Crowd after him, as is uſual at Executions, eſpecially of thoſe that have been Perſons of Diſtinction. A great Company of People followed him, eſpecially of Women, v. 27. ſome led by Pity, others by Curioſity; but they alſo (as well as thoſe that were his particular Friends and Acquaintance) bewailed and lamented him. Tho' there were many that reproach'd and revil'd him, yet there were that valu'd him, and pity'd him, and were ſorry for him, and were Partakers with him in his Sufferings. The dying of the Lord Jeſus, may perhaps move natural Affections in many, that are Strangers to devout Affections; many bewail Chriſt that do not believe in him, and lament him, that do not love him above all.

Now here we are told what Chriſt ſaid to theſe Mourners, tho' one would think he ſhould be wholly taken up with his own Concern, yet he found Time and Heart to take Cognizance of their Tears. Chriſt dy'd lamented, and has a Bottle for the Tears of thoſe that lamented him. He turn'd to them, tho' they were Strangers to him, and bid them not weep for him, but for themſelves; he diverts their Lamentation into another Channel, v. 28.

1. He gives them a general Direction concerning their Lamentations; Daughters of Jeruſalem, weep not for me; not that they were to be blam'd for weeping for him, but commended rather; thoſe Hearts were hard indeed, that were not affected with ſuch Sufferings of ſuch a Perſon; but they muſt not weep only for him, thoſe were profitleſs Tears that they ſhed for him, but rather let them weep for themſelves and for their Children, with an Eye to the Deſtruction that was coming upon Jeruſalem, which ſome of them might live to ſee, and ſhare in the Calamities of, or at leaſt their Children would, for whom they ought to be ſolicitous. Note, When with an Eye of Faith we behold Chriſt crucified, we ought to weep, not for him but for ourſelves. We muſt not be affected with the Death of Chriſt as with the Death of a common Perſon, whoſe Calamity we pity, or of a common Friend, whom we are like to part with; the Death of Chriſt was a thing peculiar, 'twas his Victory and Triumph over his Enemies; 'twas our Deliverance, and the Purchaſe of eternal Life for us. And therefore weep not for him, but let us weep for our own Sins, and the Sins of our Children, that were the Cauſe of his Death; and weep for fear (ſuch were the Tears here preſcrib'd) of the Miſeries we ſhall bring upon ourſelves if we ſlight his Love and reject his Grace, as the Jewiſh Nation did, which brought upon them the Ruin here foretold. When our dear Relations and Friends die in Chriſt, we have no Reaſon to weep for them, who have put off the Burthen of the Fleſh, are made perfect in Holineſs, and are entred into perfect Reſt and Joy, but for ourſelves and our Children, who are left behind in a World of Sins, and Sorrows, and Snares.

2. He gives them a particular Reaſon why they ſhould weep for themſelves and for their Children: For behold, ſad Times are coming upon your City, it will be deſtroy'd, and you will be involv'd in the common Deſtruction. When Chriſt's own Diſciples ſorrow'd after a godly ſort for his leaving them, he wiped away their Tears with the Promiſe that he would ſee them again, and they ſhould rejoice, John 16. 22. But when theſe Daughters of Jeruſalem bewailed him only with a Worldly Sorrow, he turn'd their Tears into another Channel, and told them they ſhould have ſomething given them to cry for. Let them be afflicted, and mourn, and weep, Jam. 4. 9. He had lately wept over Jeruſalem himſelf, and now he bids them weep over it. Chriſt's Tears ſhou'd ſet us a weeping. Let the Daughters of Zion, that own Chriſt for their King, rejoice in him, for he comes to ſave them; but let the Daughters of Jeruſalem, that only weep for him, but do not take him for their King, weep and tremble to think of his coming to judge them.

Now the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem is here foretold by two proverbial Sayings that might then fitly be uſed, which both ſpeak it very terrible, that what People commonly dread they would then deſire, to be written Childleſs, and to be bury'd alive. (1.) They would wiſh to be written Childleſs. Whereas, commonly thoſe that have no Children, envy thoſe that have, as Rachel envied Leah; then thoſe that have Children will find them ſuch a Burthen in attempting to eſcape, and ſuch a Grief when they ſee them either fainting for Famine, or falling by the Sword, that they will envy thoſe that have none, and ſay, Bleſſed are the Barren, and the Wombs that never bare, that have no Children to be given up to the Murtherer, or to be ſnatch'd out of his Hands. It would not only go ill with thoſe, who at that Time were with Child or giving ſuck, as Chriſt had ſaid, Mat. 24. 19. but it would be terrible to thoſe who ever had had Children, and ſuckled them, and had them now alive. See Hoſ. 9. 11, 12, 13, 14. See the Vanity of the Creatures, and the Uncertainty of its Comforts, for ſuch may be the Changes of Providence concerning us, that thoſe very things may become the greateſt Burthens, Cares and Griefs to us, which we have delighted in as the greateſt Bleſſings. (2.) They would wiſh to be bury'd alive, v. 30. They ſhall begin to ſay to the Mountains, fall on us, and to the Hills, cover us. This alſo refers to a Paſſage in the ſame Prophecy with the former, Hoſ. 10. 8. They ſhall wiſh to be hid in the darkeſt Caves, that they might be out of the Noiſe of theſe Calamities. They will be willing to be ſheltred upon any Terms, tho' with the hazard of being cruſh'd to pieces. This would be the Language, eſpecially of the great and mighty Men, Rev. 6. 16. They that would not flee to Chriſt for Refuge, and put themſelves under his Protection, will in vain call to Hills and Mountains to ſhelter themſelves from his Wrath.

3. He ſhews how natural it was for them to infer that Deſolation from his Sufferings, v. 31. If they do theſe things in a green Tree, what ſhall be done in the dry? Some think this is borrow'd from Ezek. 20. 47. The Fire ſhall devour every green Tree in thee, and every dry Tree. Theſe Words may be apply'd, (1.) more particularly to the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, which Chriſt here foretold, and which the Jews, by putting him to Death, brought upon themſelves. If they, i. e. the Jews, and the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, do theſe things upon the green Tree, if they do thus abuſe an innocent and excellent Perſon for his good Works, how may they expect God to deal with them for their ſo doing, who have made themſelves a dry Tree, a corrupt and wicked Generation, and good for nothing. If this be their Sin, what do you think will be their Puniſhment? Or take it thus; If they, i. e. the Romans, their Judges, and their Soldiers, abuſe me thus, who have given them no Provocation, who am to them as a green Tree, which you ſeem to be as much enrag'd at, what will they do by Jeruſalem, and the Jewiſh Nation, who will be ſo very provoking to them, and make themſelves as a dry Tree, as Fuel to the Fire of their Reſentments? If God ſuffer thoſe things to be done to me, what will he appoint to be done to thoſe barren Trees, of whom it had been often ſaid, that they ſhould be hewn down and caſt into the Fire? Mat. 3. 10, and 7. 19. (2.) It may be apply'd more generally, to all the Revelations of God's Wrath againſt Sin and Sinners. If God deliver me up to ſuch Sufferings as theſe, becauſe I am made a Sacrifice for Sin, what will he do with Sinners themſelves? Chriſt was a green Tree, fruitful and flouriſhing: Now if ſuch things were done to him, we may from thence infer, what ſhould have been done to the whole Race of Mankind, if he had not interpos'd, and what ſhall be done to thoſe that continue dry Trees, notwithſtanding all that is done to make them fruitful: If God did this to the Son of his Love, when he found but Sin imputed to him, what ſhall he do to the Generation of his Wrath, when he finds Sin reigning in them? If the Father were pleas'd in doing theſe things to the green Tree, why ſhould he be loth to do it to the dry? Note, The Conſideration of the bitter Sufferings of our Lord Jeſus, ſhould engage us to ſtand in awe of the Juſtice of God, and to tremble before him. The beſt Saints compar'd with Chriſt, are dry Trees; if he ſuffer, why may not they expect to ſuffer; and what then ſhall the Damnation of Sinners be?

32 And there were alſo two other malefactors led with him to be put to death. 33 And when they were come to the place which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the malefactors; one on the right hand, and the other on the left. 34 ¶ Then ſaid Jeſus, Father forgive them; for they know not what they do. And they parted his raiment, and caſt lots. 35 And the people ſtood beholding: and the rulers alſo with them derided him, ſaying, He ſaved others; let him ſave himſelf, if he be Chriſt the choſen of God. 36 And the ſoldiers alſo mocked him, coming to him, and offering him vinegar, 37 And ſaying, If thou be the king of the Jews, ſave thy ſelf. 38 And a ſuperſcription alſo was written over him in letters of Greek and Latin, and Hebrew, THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS. 39 ¶ And one of the malefactors which were hanged, railed on him, ſaying, If thou be Chriſt, ſave thy ſelf and us. 40 But the other anſwering, rebuked him, ſaying, Doſt not thou fear God, ſeeing thou art in the ſame condemnation? 41 And we indeed juſtly; for we receive the due reward of our deeds: but this man hath done nothing amiſs. 42 And he ſaid unto Jeſus, Lord, remember me when thou comeſt into thy kingdom. 43 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Verily I ſay unto thee, To day ſhalt thou be with me in paradiſe.

In theſe Verſes we have,

1. Divers Paſſages which we had before in Matthew and Mark, concerning Chriſt's Sufferings.

(1.) That there were Two other Malefactors led with him to the Place of Execution; who, 'tis probable, had been for ſome time under Sentence of Death, and were deſign'd to be executed at this Day, which was probably the Pretence for making ſuch haſte in the Proſecution of Chriſt, that he and theſe two Malefactors might together, and one Solemnity might ſerve.

(2.) That he was crucified at a Place call'd Calvary, Κρανίου; the Greek Name for Golgotha, the Place of a Skull; an ignominious Place, to add to the Reproach of his Sufferings, but ſignificant, for there he triumph'd over Death, as it were upon his own Dunghill. He was crucified, i. e. his Hands and Feet were nail'd to the Croſs, as it lay upon the Ground; and then it was lifted up, and faſten'd into the Earth, or ſome Socket to receive it. This was a painful and ſhameful Death, above any other.

(3.) That he was crucified in the midſt between two Thieves, as if he had been the worſt of the three; thus he was not only treated as a Tranſgreſſor, but numbred with them, the worſt of them.

(4.) That the Soldiers, who were employ'd in the Execution, ſeiz'd his Garments as their Fee, and divided them among themſelves by Lot; they parted his Raiment and caſt Lots; it was worth ſo little, that if it were divided, it would come to next nothing, and therefore they caſt Lots for it.

(5.) That he was revil'd, and reproach'd, and treated with all the Scorn and Contempt imaginable, when he was lifted up upon the Croſs. It was ſtrange, that ſo much Barbarity ſhould be found in the Humane Nature: The People ſtood beholding, not at all concern'd, but rather pleaſing themſelves with the Spectacle; and the Rulers, whom from their Office, one would take to be Men of Senſe and Men of Honour, they ſtood among the Rabble, and derided him, to ſet thoſe on that were about them, to do ſo too: And they ſaid, He ſaved others, let him ſave himſelf: Thus is he upbraided for the good Works he had done, as it were indeed for theſe that they crucified him. They triumph over him as if they had conquer'd him, whereas he was himſelf then more than a Conqueror; they challenge him to ſave himſelf from the Croſs, when he was ſaving others by the Croſs; If he be the Chriſt the Choſen of God, let him ſave himſelf. They knew that the Chriſt is the Choſen of God; deſign'd by him, and dear to him. If he, as the Chriſt, would deliver our Nation from the Romans, (and they could not form any other Idea, but that of the Meſſiah) let him deliver himſelf from the Romans, that have him now in their Hands. Thus the Jewiſh Rulers jeer'd him as captiv'd by the Romans, inſtead of ſubduing them: The Roman Soldiers jeer'd him as the King of the Jews; a People good enough for ſuch a Prince, and a Prince good enough for ſuch a People. They mock'd him, v. 36, 37. they made ſport with him, and made a Jeſt of his Sufferings; and when they were drinking ſharp ſour Wine themſelves, ſuch as was generally allotted them, they triumphantly ask'd him, if he would pledge them, or drink with them. And they ſaid, If thou be the King of the Jews, ſave thyſelf; for as the Jews proſecuted him under the Notion of a pretended Meſſiah, ſo the Romans, under the Notion of a pretended King.

(6.) That the Superſcription over his Head, ſetting forth his Crime, was, This is the King of the Jews, v. 38. He is put to Death for pretending to be the King of the Jews, ſo they meant it; but God intended it to be a Declaration of what he really was, notwithſtanding his preſent Diſgrace: He is the King of the Jews, the King of the Church, and his Croſs is the way to his Crown. This was written in thoſe that are call'd the three learned Languages, Greek and Latin, and Hebrew, for thoſe are beſt learn'd that have learn'd Chriſt. It was written in theſe three Languages, that it might be known and read of all Men; but God deſigned by it, to ſignify that the Goſpel of Chriſt ſhould be preach'd to all Nations, beginning at Jeruſalem, and be read in all Languages. The Gentile Philoſophy made the Greek Tongue famous, the Roman Laws and Government made the Latin Tongue ſo, and the Hebrew excell'd them all for the ſake of the Old-Teſtament. In theſe three Languages, is Jeſus Chriſt proclaim'd King. Young Scholars that are taking pains at School, to make themſelves Maſters of theſe three Languages, ſhould aim at this, that in the Uſe of them they may encreaſe their Acquaintance with Chriſt.

2. Here are two Paſſages which we had not before, and they are very remarkable ones.

1. Chriſt's Prayer for his Enemies, v. 34. Father forgive them. Seven remarkable Words Chriſt ſpoke after he was nail'd to the Croſs, and before he dy'd, and this is the firſt. One Reaſon why he dy'd the Death of the Croſs was, that he might have Liberty of Speech to the laſt, and ſo might glorify his Father, and edify thoſe about him. As ſoon as ever he was faſten'd to the Croſs, or while they were nailing him, he pray'd this Prayer; in which obſerve,

1. The Petition, Father forgive them; one would think he ſhould have pray'd, Father conſume them, the Lord look upon it, and requite it: The Sin they were now guilty of, might juſtly have been made unpardonable, and juſtly might they have been excepted by Name, out of the Act of Indemnity: No, theſe are particularly pray'd for. Now he made Interceſſion for Tranſgreſſors, as was foretold, Iſa. 53. 12. and it is to be added to his Prayer, John 17. to compleat the Specimen he gave of his Interceſſion within the Vail: That for Saints, this for Sinners. Now the Sayings of Chriſt upon the Croſs, as well as his Sufferings, had a further reach than they ſeem'd to have. This was a mediatorial Word, and explicatory of the Intent and Meaning of his Death. Father forgive them, not only theſe, but all that ſhall repent and believe the Goſpel, and he did not intend that theſe ſhould be forgiven upon any other Terms. Father, that which I am now ſuffering and dying for, is in order to this, that poor Sinners may be pardon'd. Note, 1. The great Thing which Chriſt dy'd to purchaſe and procure for us, is the Forgiveneſs of Sin. 2. This is that which Chriſt interceeds for, for all that repent and believe in the Virtue of his Satisfaction: His Blood ſpeaks this, Father, forgive them. 3. The greateſt Sinners may, through Chriſt, upon their Repentance, hope to find Mercy. Father, forgive them, tho' they were his Perſecutors and Murtherers.

2. The Plea; For they know not what they do: For, if they had known, they would not have crucify'd him, 1 Cor. 2. 8. There was a Vail upon his Glory, and upon their Underſtandings, and how could they ſee through Two Vails? They wiſh'd his Blood on them and their Children; but had they known what they did, they would have unwiſh'd it again. Note, 1. The Crucifiers of Chriſt know not what they do: They that ſpeak ill of Religion, ſpeak ill of that which they know not, and 'tis becauſe they will not know it. (2.) There is a kind of Ignorance that doth, in part, excuſe Sin: Ignorance, through want of the means of Knowledge, or of a Capacity to receive Inſtruction, through the Infelicities of Education, or Inadvertency. The Crucifiers of Chriſt were kept in Ignorance by their Rulers, and had Prejudices againſt him inſtill'd into them; ſo that in what they did againſt Chriſt and his Doctrine, they thought they did God ſervice, John 16. 2. Such are to be pity'd and pray'd for. This Prayer of Chriſt was anſwer'd not long after, when many of thoſe that had a hand in his Death were converted by Peter's Preaching.

This is written alſo for Example to us. (1.) We muſt in Prayer call God Father, and come to him with Reverence and Confidence, as Children to a Father. (2.) The great Thing we muſt beg of God, both for ourſelves and others, is, the Forgiveneſs of Sins. (3.) We muſt pray for our Enemies, and thoſe that hate and perſecute us; muſt extenuate their Offences, and not aggravate them, as we muſt our own; they know not what they do; peradventure it was an overſight; and muſt be earneſt with God in Prayer, for the Forgiveneſs of their Sins, their Sins againſt us. This is Chriſt's Example to his own Rule, Mat. 5. 44, 45. Love your Enemies, and it very much ſtrengthens the Rule; for if Chriſt lov'd and pray'd for ſuch Enemies, what Enemies can we have, which we are not oblig'd to love and pray for?

2. The Converſion of the Thief upon the Croſs, which is an illuſtrious Inſtance of Chriſt's triumphing over Principalities and Powers, then when he ſeem'd to be triumph'd over by them. Chriſt was crucify'd between Two Thieves, and in them was repreſented the different Effects which the Croſs of Chriſt would have upon the Children of Men, to whom it would be brought near in the preaching of the Goſpel. They are all Malefactors, all guilty before God. Now the Croſs of Chriſt is to ſome a Savour of Life unto Life; to others, of Death unto Death. To them that periſh 'tis Fooliſhneſs, but to them that are ſav'd, 'tis the Wiſdom of God, and the Power of God.

1. Here was one of theſe Malefactors that was harden'd to the laſt. At the Croſs of Chriſt he rail'd on him, as others did, v. 39. he ſaid, If thou be the Chriſt, as they ſay thou art, ſave thyſelf and us. Tho' he was now in Pain and Agony, and in the Valley of the Shadow of Death, yet that did not humble his proud Spirit, nor teach him to give good Language, no, not to his Fellow-Sufferer. Tho' thou bray a Fool in a Mortar, yet will not his Fooliſhneſs depart from him. No Troubles will of themſelves work a Change in a wicked Heart, but ſometimes they irritate the Corruption, which one would think they ſhould mortify. He challengeth Chriſt to ſave both himſelf and them. Note, There are ſome that have the Impudence to rail upon Chriſt, and yet the Confidence to expect to be ſav'd by him; nay, and to conclude that if he do not ſave them, he is not to be look'd upon as the Saviour.

2. Here was the other of them that was ſoften'd at the laſt. 'Twas ſaid in Matthew and Mark, that tho' the Thieves, even they that were crucify'd with him, revil'd him, which ſome think is by a Figure put for one of them; but others think they both revil'd him at firſt, till the Heart of one of them was wonderfully chang'd, and with it his Language on a ſudden. This Malefactor, when juſt ready to fall into the Hands of Satan, was ſnatch'd as a Brand out of the Burning, and made a Monument of Divine Mercy and Grace, and Satan was left to roar as a Lion diſappointed of his Prey. This gives no Encouragement to any, to put off their Repentance to their Death-bed, or to hope that then they ſhall find Mercy; for tho' 'tis certain that true Repentance is never too late, 'tis as certain that late Repentance is ſeldom true. None can be ſure that they ſhall have Time to repent at Death, but every Man may be ſure he cannot have the Advantages that this penitent Thief had, whoſe Caſe was altogether extraordinary. He never had any Offer of Chriſt, nor Day of Grace before now: He was deſign'd to be made a ſingular Inſtance of the Power of Chriſt's Grace, now at a time when he was crucify'd in Weakneſs. Chriſt having conquer'd Satan in the Deſtruction of Judas, and the Preſervation of Peter, erects this further Trophy of his Victory over him, in the Converſion of this Malefactor, as a Specimen of what he would do.

We ſhall ſee the Caſe extraordinary, if we obſerve,

1. The extraordinary Operations of God's Grace upon him, which appear'd in what he ſaid. Here were ſo many Evidences given in a ſhort Time of a bleſſed Change wrought in him, as that more could not have been given in ſo little Compaſs.

1. See what he ſaid to the other Malefactor, v. 40, 41. (1.) He reprov'd him for railing on Chriſt, as deſtitute of the Fear of God, and having no Senſe at all of Religion; Doſt not thou fear God? This implies that it was the Fear of God which reſtrain'd him from following the Multitude to do this Evil. I fear God, and therefore dare not do it; and doſt not thou? All that have their Eyes open'd, ſee this to be at the bottom of the Wickedneſs of the Wicked, that they have not the Fear of God before their Eyes. If thou hadſt any Humanity in thee, thou would'ſt not inſult over one that is thy Fellow-Sufferer; thou art in the ſame Condition; thou art a dying Man too; and therefore whatever theſe wicked People do, it ill becomes thee to abuſe a dying Man. (2.) He owns that he deſerv'd what was done to him; We indeed juſtly; 'tis likely they both ſuffer'd for one and the ſame Crime, and therefore he ſpake with the more Aſſurance, We receive the due Reward of our Deeds. This magnifies Divine Grace, as acting in a diſtinguiſhing Way: Theſe two had been Comrades in Sin and Suffering, and yet one is ſav'd, and the other periſheth; two that had gone together all along hitherto, and yet now one taken, and the other left. He doth not ſay thou indeed juſtly, but we. Note, True Penitents acknowledge the Juſtice of God, in all the Puniſhments of their Sin. God has done right, but we have done wickedly. (3.) He believes Chriſt to have ſuffer'd wrongfully. Tho' he was condemn'd in two Courts, and run upon as if he had been the worſt of Malefactors, yet this penitent Thief is convinc'd by his Carriage in his Sufferings, that he has done nothing amiſs. The Chief Prieſts would have him crucify'd between the Malefactors, as one of them; but this Thief has more Senſe than they, and owns he is one of them, οὐδὲν ἄτοπον, nothing abſurd or unbecoming his Character. Whether he had before heard of Chriſt, and of his wondrous Works, doth not appear, but the Spirit of Grace enlighten'd him with this Knowledge, and enabled him to ſay, this Man has done nothing amiſs.

2. See what he ſaid to our Lord Jeſus, v. 42. Lord, remember me when thou comeſt into thy Kingdom. This is the Prayer of a dying Sinner, to a dying Saviour. 'Twas the Honour of Chriſt to be thus pray'd to, tho' he was upon the Croſs reproach'd and revil'd; 'twas the Happineſs of the Thief thus to pray; perhaps he never pray'd before, and yet now was heard, and ſav'd at the laſt gaſp. While there's Life, there's Hope; and while there's Hope, there's Room for Prayer.

1. Obſerve his Faith in this Prayer. In his Confeſſion of Sin, v. 44. he diſcover'd Repentance toward God. In this Petition he diſcover'd Faith towards our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. He owns him to be Lord, and to have a Kingdom, and that he was going to that Kingdom; that he ſhould have Authority in that Kingdom, and that thoſe ſhould be happy whom he favours; and to believe and confeſs all this, was a great Thing at this time of Day. Chriſt was now in the Depth of Diſgrace, deſerted by his own Diſciples, revil'd by his own Nation, ſuffering as a Pretender, and not deliver'd by his Father: He made this Profeſſion before thoſe Prodigies happen'd, which put Honour upon his Sufferings, and which ſtartled the Centurion; yet verily we have not found ſo great Faith, no, not in Iſrael. He believ'd another Life after this, and deſir'd to be happy in that Life, not as the other Thief, to be ſav'd from the Croſs, but to be well done for, when the Croſs had done its worſt.

2. Obſerve his Humility in this Prayer. All his Requeſt is, Lord, remember me: He doth not pray, Lord, prefer me, as they did, Mat. 20. 21. tho' he having the Honour ſo as none of the Diſciples had, to drink of Chriſt's Cup, and to be baptiz'd with his Baptiſm, either on his right Hand, or on his left in his Sufferings, when his own Diſciples had deſerted him, he might have had ſome Colour to ask as they did, to ſit on his right Hand, and on his left in his Kingdom: Acquaintance in Sufferings hath ſometimes gain'd ſuch a Point, Jer. 52. 31, 32. But he is far from the Thought of it; all he begs is, Lord, remember me, referring himſelf to Chriſt in what way to remember him. 'Tis a Requeſt like that of Joſeph to the chief Butler, think on me, Gen. 40. 14. and it ſped better, the chief Butler forgat Joſeph, but Chriſt remember'd this Thief.

3. There is an Air of Importunity and Fervency in this Prayer. He doth, as it were, breath out his Soul in it; Lord, remember me, and I have enough, I deſire no more; into thy Hands I commit my Caſe. Note, To be remember'd by Chriſt now he is in his Kingdom, is what we ſhould earneſtly deſire and pray for, and it will be enough to ſecure our Welfare, living and dying. Chriſt is in his Kingdom interceding; Lord, remember me, and intercede for me. He is there ruling; Lord, remember me, and rule in me by thy Spirit. He is there preparing Places for thoſe that are his; Lord, remember me, and prepare a Place for me: Remember me at Death, remember me in the Reſurrection. See Job 14. 13.

2. The extraordinary Grants of Chriſt's Favour to him; Jeſus ſaid unto him, in Anſwer to his Prayer, Verily, I ſay unto thee; I the Amen, the faithful Witneſs, I ſay Amen to this Prayer, put my Fiat to it: Nay, thou ſhalt have more than thou didſt ask, This Day thou ſhalt be with me in Paradiſe, v. 43. Obſerve,

1. To whom this was ſpoken; To the penitent Thief, to him, and not to his Companion; Chriſt upon the Croſs, is like Chriſt upon the Throne, for now is the Judgment of this World, one departs with a Curſe, the other with a Bleſſing. Tho' Chriſt was now himſelf in the greateſt Struggle and Agony, yet he had a Word of Comfort to ſpeak to a poor Penitent, that committed himſelf to him. Note, Even great Sinners, if they be true Penitents, ſhall, through Chriſt, obtain not only the Pardon of their Sins, but a Place in the Paradiſe of God, Heb. 9. 15. This magnifies the Riches of Free-Grace, that Rebels and Traytors ſhall not only be pardoned, but preferr'd, thus preferr'd.

2. By whom this was ſpoken: This was another mediatorial Word which Chriſt ſpoke, tho' upon a particular Occaſion; yet with a general Intention to explain the true Intent and Meaning of his Sufferings, as he dy'd to purchaſe the Forgiveneſs of Sins for us, v. 34. ſo alſo to purchaſe eternal Life for us. By this Word we are given to underſtand, that Jeſus Chriſt died to open the Kingdom of Heaven to all penitent obedient Believers.

1. Chriſt here lets us know that he was going to Paradiſe himſelf; to Hades, to the inviſible World; his human Soul was removing to the Place of ſeparate Souls; not to the Place of the Damn'd, but to Paradiſe, the Place of the Bleſſed. By this he aſſures us, that his Satisfaction was accepted, and the Father was well pleas'd in him, elſe he had not gone to Paradiſe; that was the Beginning of the Joy ſet before him, which he comforted himſelf with the Proſpect of. He went by the Croſs to the Crown, and we muſt not think of going any other Way, or of being perfected but by Sufferings.

2. He lets all penitent Believers know, that when they die, they ſhall go to be with him there. He was now as a Prieſt purchaſing this Happineſs for them, and is ready as a King to confer it upon them, when they are prepar'd and made ready for it. See here how the Happineſs of Heaven is ſet forth to us. (1.) 'Tis Paradiſe, a Garden of Pleaſure, the Paradiſe of God, Rev. 2. 7. alluding to the Garden of Eden, in which our firſt Parents were placed, when they were innocent. In the Second Adam, we are reſtor'd to all we loſt in the firſt Adam, and more, to a heavenly Paradiſe, inſtead of an earthly one. (2.) 'Tis being with Chriſt there. That's the Happineſs of Heaven to ſee Chriſt, and ſit with him, and ſhare in his Glory, John 17. 24. (3.) 'Tis immediate upon Death. This Day thou ſhalt be with me; to-night, before to-morrow. The Souls of the Faithful, after they are delivered from the Burthen of the Fleſh, immediately are in Joy and Felicity; the Spirits of juſt Men are immediately made perfect. Lazarus departs, and is comforted preſently; and Paul with Chriſt immediately, Phil. 1. 23.

44 And it was about the ſixth hour, and there was a darkneſs over all the earth, until the ninth hour. 45 And the ſun was darkened, and the vail of the temple was rent in the mids. 46 ¶ And when Jeſus had cried with a loud voice, he ſaid, Father, into thy hands I commend my ſpirit: and having ſaid thus, he gave up the ghoſt. 47 Now when the centurion ſaw what was done, he glorified God, ſaying, Certainly this was a righteous man. 48 And all the people that came together to that ſight, beholding the things which were done, ſmote their breaſts, and returned. 49 And all his acquaintance, and the women that followed him from Galilee, ſtood afar off beholding theſe things.

In theſe Verſes we have Three Things.

Firſt, Chriſt's dying magnify'd by the Prodigies that attended it: Only Two are here mentioned, which we had an Account of before.

1. The darkning of the Sun at Noon-Day: 'Twas now about the Sixth Hour, that is, according to our Computation, Twelve a-clock at Noon; and there was a Darkneſs over all the Earth until the Ninth Hour; the Sun was eclips'd, and the Air exceedingly clouded at the ſame Time, both which concurr'd to this thick Darkneſs, which continued three Hours, not three Days, as that of Egypt did.

2. The rending of the Vail of the Temple. The former Prodigy was in the Heavens; this in the Temple: for both theſe are the Houſes of God, and could not but feel it when the Son of God was thus abus'd, and thus ſignify their Reſentment of it. By this rending of the Vail, was ſignified the taking away of the Ceremonial Law, which was a Wall of Partition between Jews and Gentiles, and of all other Difficulties and Diſcouragements in our approach to God, ſo that now we may come boldly to the Throne of Grace.

Secondly, Chriſt's dying explain'd, (v. 46.) by the Words with which he breath'd out his Soul. Jeſus had cry'd with a loud Voice when he ſaid, Why haſt thou forſaken me? So we are told in Matthew and Mark; and it ſhould ſeem it was with a loud Voice that he ſaid this too, to ſhew his Earneſtneſs, and that all the People might take Notice of it: And this he ſaid, Father, into thy Hands I commend my Spirit.

1. He borrowed theſe Words from his Father David, Pſal. 31. 5. not that he needed to have Words put into his Mouth, but he choſe to make uſe of David's Words, to ſhew that it was the Spirit of Chriſt that teſtify'd in the Old-Teſtament Prophets, and that he came to fulfil the Scripture. Chriſt died with Scriptures in his Mouth; thus he directs us to make Uſe of Scripture-Language in our Addreſſes to God.

2. In this Addreſs to God, he calls him Father; when he complained of being forſaken, he cry'd, Eli, Eli, my God, my God; but to ſhew that that dreadful Agony of his Soul was now over, he here calls God Father. When he was giving up his Life and Soul for us, he did for us call God Father, that we, through him, might receive the Adoption of Sons.

3. Chriſt made uſe of theſe Words in a Senſe peculiar to himſelf as Mediator. He was now to make his Soul an Offering for our Sin, Iſa. 53. 10. To give his Life a Ranſom for many, Mat. 20. 28. By the eternal Spirit to offer himſelf, Heb. 9. 14. He was himſelf both the Prieſt and the Sacrifice; our Souls were forfeited, and his muſt go to redeem the Forfeiture. The Price muſt be paid into the Hands of God, the Party offended by Sin; to him he had undertaken to make full Satisfaction. Now by theſe Words, he offered up the Sacrifice, did, as it were, lay his Hand upon the Head of it, and ſurrender it, τίθημι, I depoſite it, I pay it down into thy Hands: Father, accept of my Life and Soul, inſtead of the Lives and Souls of the Sinners I die for. The Animus Offerentis, the good Will of the Offerer was requiſite to the Acceptance of the Offering. Now Chriſt here expreſſeth his chearful Willingneſs to offer himſelf, as he had done when it was firſt propos'd to him, Heb. 10. 9, 10. Lo, I come to do thy Will; by the which Will we are ſanctify'd.

4. Chriſt hereby ſignifies his Dependance upon his Father for his Reſurrection, by the Re-union of his Soul and Body. He commends his Spirit into his Father's Hand, to be received into Paradiſe, and returned the third Day. By this, it appears, that our Lord Jeſus, as he had a true Body, ſo he had a reaſonable Soul, which exiſted in a State of Separation from the Body, and thus he was made like unto his Brethren; this Soul he lodged in his Father's Hand, committed to his Cuſtody, reſting in Hope, that it ſhould not be left in Hades, in its State of Separation from the Body; no, not ſo long as that the Body might ſee Corruption.

5. Chriſt has hereby left us an Example; has fitted thoſe Words of David to the Purpoſe of dying Saints, and hath, as it were, ſanctify'd them for their Uſe. In Death, our great Care ſhould be about our Souls; and we cannot more effectually provide for their Welfare, than by committing them now into the Hands of God, as a Father, to be ſanctified and governed by his Spirit and Grace; and at Death, committing them into his Hands, to be made perfect in Holineſs and Happineſs. We muſt ſhew, that we are freely willing to die, that we firmly believe another Life after this, and are deſirous of it, by ſaying, Father, into thy Hands I commit my Spirit.

Thirdly, Chriſt's dying improved, by the impreſſions it made upon thoſe that attended him.

1. The Centurion that had Command of the Guard, was much affected with what he ſaw, v. 47. He was a Roman, a Gentile, a Stranger to the Conſolations of Iſrael, and yet he glorified God. He never ſaw ſuch amazing Inſtances of Divine Power, and therefore took Occaſion from thence to adore God as the Almighty: And he bore a Teſtimony to the patient Sufferer, Certainly this was a righteous Man, and was unjuſtly put to death. God's manifeſting his Power ſo much to do him Honour, was a plain Evidence of his Innocency. His Teſtimony in Matthew and Mark goes further: Truly this was the Son of God; but in his Caſe, this amounts to the ſame; for if he was a righteous Man, he ſaid very truly when he ſaid he was the Son of God; and therefore that Teſtimony of his concerning himſelf, muſt be admitted; for if it were falſe, he was not a righteous Man.

2. The diſintereſted Spectators could not but be concern'd. This is taken Notice of only here, v. 48. All the People that came together to that Sight, as is uſual upon ſuch Occaſions, beholding the Things which were done, could not but go away very ſerious for the Time, whatever they were when they came Home; They ſmote their Breaſts and returned. (1.) They laid the Thing very much to Heart for the preſent: They looked upon it as a wicked Thing, to put him to death, and could not but think that ſome Judgment of God would come upon their Nation for it. Probably thoſe very People were of thoſe that had cryed, Crucify him, Crucify him! and when he was nail'd to the Croſs, reviled and blaſphemed him; but now were ſo terrified with the Darkneſs and Earthquake, and the uncommon Manner of his expiring, that they had not only their Mouths ſtop'd, but their Conſciences ſtartled, and in Remorſe for what they had done, as the Publican, they ſmote upon their Breaſts, beat upon their own Hearts, as thoſe that had Indignation at themſelves. And ſome think this was a happy Step towards that good Work, which was afterwards wrought upon them, when they were prick'd to the Heart, Acts 2. 37. (2.) Yet it ſhould ſeem the Impreſſion ſoon wore off; they ſmote their Breaſts and returned. They did not ſhow any further Token of Reſpect to Chriſt, nor enquire more concerning him, but went Home, and we have Reaſon to fear, in a little Time, they quite forgot it. Thus many that ſee Chriſt evidently ſet forth, crucify'd among them in the Word and Sacraments, are a little affected for the preſent, but it doth not continue; they ſmite their Breaſts and return. They ſee Chriſt's Face in the Glaſs of the Ordinances, and admire him, but they go away, and ſtraightway forget what manner of Man he is, and what Reaſon they have to love him.

3. His own Friends and Followers were forc'd to keep their Diſtance, and yet got as near as they could, and durſt, to ſee what was done, v. 49. All his Acquaintance that knew him, and were known of him, ſtood afar off, for fear, leſt if they had been near him they ſhould have been taken up as Favourites of him; this was Part of his Sufferings, as of Job's, Chap. 19. 13. He has put my Brethren far from me, and mine Acquaintance are verily eſtranged from me, Pſal. 88. 18. And the Women that followed him, together from Galilee, were beholding theſe Things, not knowing what to make of them; nor ſo ready as they ſhould have been to take them for certain Preludiums of his Reſurrection. Now was Chriſt ſet for a Sign that ſhould be ſpoken againſt, as Simeon foretold, told, that the Thoughts of many Hearts might be revealed, Luke 2. 34, 35.

50 ¶ And behold, there was a man named Joſeph, a counſeller, and he was a good man, and a juſt: 51
(The ſame had not conſented to the counſel and deed of them) he was of Arimathea, a city of the Jews (who alſo himſelf waited for the kingdom of God.)
52 This man went unto Pilate, and begged the body of Jeſus. 53 And took it down, and wrapped it in linnen, and laid it in a ſepulchre that was hewn in ſtone, wherein never man before was laid. 54 And that day was the preparation, and the ſabbath drew on. 55 And the women alſo which came with him from Galilee, followed after, and beheld the ſepulchre, and how his body was laid. 56 And they returned, and prepared ſpices and ointments; and reſted the ſabbath-day, according to the commandment.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's Burial: For he muſt be brought, not only to Death, but to the Duſt of Death, Pſal. 22. 15. according to the Sentence, Gen. 3. 19. To the Duſt thou ſhalt return: Obſerve,

1. Who bury'd him: His Acquaintance ſtood afar off; they had neither Money to bear the Charge, nor Courage to bear the Odium of burying him decently; but God rais'd up one that had both; a Man nam'd Joſeph, v. 50. His Character is, that he was a good Man, and a juſt, a Man of unſpotted Reputation for Virtue and Piety; was not only juſt to all, but good to all that needed him: and Care to bury the Dead, as becomes the Hope of the Reſurrection of the Dead, is one Inſtance of Goodneſs and Beneficence: He was a Perſon of Quality, a Counſellor, a Senator, a Member of the Sanhedrin, one of the Elders of the Jewiſh Church. Having ſaid this of him, 'twas neceſſary to add, that tho' he was of that Body of Men who had put Chriſt to death, yet he had not conſented to their Counſel and Deed, v. 51. tho' 'twas carry'd by the Majority, yet he enter'd his Proteſt againſt it, and follow'd not the Multitude to do Evil. Note, That evil Counſel and Deed, ſhall not be reckon'd our Act, which we have not conſented to: Nay, he not only diſſented openly from thoſe that were Enemies to Chriſt, but he conſented ſecretly with thoſe that were his Friends: He himſelf waited for the Kingdom of God; he believed the Old-Teſtament Prophecies of the Meſſiah, and his Kingdom, and expected the Accompliſhment of them. This was the Man that appears, upon this Occaſion, to have a true Reſpect for the Lord Jeſus. Note, There are many who are hearty in Chriſt's Intereſts, who, tho' they do not make any ſhew in their outward Profeſſion of it, yet will be more ready to do him a Piece of real Service when there is Occaſion, than others that make a greater Figure and Noiſe.

2. What he did towards the burying of him; (1.) He went to Pilate, the Judge that condemn'd him, and begged the Body of Jeſus, for it was at his Diſpoſal; and though he might have rais'd a Party ſufficient to have carry'd off the Body by Violence, yet he would take the regular Courſe, and do it peaceably. (2.) He took it down, it ſhould ſeem with his own Hands, and wrapped it in Linnen. They tell us it was the Manner of the Jews (and that the Word here uſed ſignifies ſo much) to roll the Bodies of the Dead, as we do little Children, in their Swaddling-Cloths; ſo that the Piece of fine Linnen, which he bought whole, he cut into many Pieces for that Purpoſe. 'Tis ſaid of Lazarus, he was bound Hand and Foot, John 11. 44. Grave Cloths are to the Saints, as Swaddling-Cloths, which they ſhall out-grow and put off, when they come to the perfect Man.

3. Where he was bury'd; in a Sepulchre that was hewn in Stone, that the Priſon of the Grave might be made ſtrong; as the Church when ſhe was brought into Darkneſs, had her Way incloſ'd with hewn Stone, Lam. 3. 2, 9. But it was a Sepulchre in which never Man before was laid, for he was bury'd on ſuch an Account as never any one before him was bury'd, only in order to his riſing again the third Day, by his own Power; and he was to triumph over the Grave, ſo as never any Man did.

4. When he was bury'd, v. 54. On the Day of the Preparation, when the Sabbath drew on. This is given as a Reaſon why they made ſuch haſte with the Funeral, becauſe the Sabbath drew on, which requir'd their Attendance to other Work, preparing for the Sabbath, and going forth to welcome it. Note, Weeping muſt not hinder Sowing: Tho' they were in Tears for the Death of Chriſt, yet they muſt apply themſelves to the ſanctifying of the Sabbath. And when the Sabbath draws on, there muſt be Preparation: Our worldly Affairs muſt be ſo order'd, as that they may not hinder us from our Sabbath Work; and our holy Affections muſt be ſo excited, as that they may carry us on in it.

5. Who attended the Funeral, v. 55. not any of the Diſciples, but only the Women that came with him from Galilee, v. 55. who as they ſtaid by him while he hung on the Croſs, ſo they follow'd him, all in Tears, no doubt, and beheld the Sepulchre where it was, what was the Way to it, and how his Body was laid in it. They were led to this, not by their Curioſity, but by their Affection to the Lord Jeſus, which was ſtrong as Death, cruel as the Grave, and which many Waters could not quench. Here was a ſilent Funeral, and not a ſolemn one, and yet his Reſt was glorious.

6. What Preparation was made for the embalming of his Body after he was bury'd, v. 56. They returned and prepar'd Spices and Ointments, which was more an Evidence of their Love than of their Faith; for had they remembered and believed what he had ſo often told them, that he ſhould riſe again the third Day, they would have ſpar'd their coſt and pains herein, as knowing that in a ſhort Time there would be a greater Honour put upon his Body, by the Glory of his Reſurrection, than they could put upon it with their moſt precious Ointments. But as buſy as they were in this Preparation, they reſted on the Sabbath-day, and did none of this ſervile Work thereon, not only according to the Cuſtom of their Nation, but according to the Commandments of their God, which tho' the Day be alter'd, is ſtill in full force: Remember the Sabbath-day to keep it holy.

CHAP. XXIV.

Our Lord Jeſus went glorioſly down to Death, in ſpite of the Malice of his Enemies, who did all they could to make his Death ignominious; but he roſe again more glorioſly; of which we have an Account in this Chapter: And the Proofs and Evidences of Chriſt's Reſurrection, are more fully related by this Evangeliſt, than they were by Matthew and Mark. Here's (1.) Aſſurances given by Two Angels, to the Women who viſited the Sepulchre, that the Lord Jeſus was riſen from the Dead, according to his own Word, which the Angels refer them to, v. 1—7. and the Report of this to the Apoſtles, v. 8—11. (2.) The Viſit which Peter made to the Sepulchre, and his Diſcoveries there, v. 12. (3.) Chriſt's Conference with the Two Diſciples that were going to Emmaus, and his making of himſelf known to them, v. 13—35. (4.) His appearing to the eleven Diſciples themſelves, the ſame Day at Evening, v. 36—48. (5.) The Farewel he gave them, and his Aſcenſion into Heaven, and the Joy and Praiſe of his Diſciples whom he left behind, v. 49—53.

1 NOW upon the firſt day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the ſepulchre, bringing the ſpices which they had prepared, and certain others with them. 2 And they found the ſtone rolled away from the ſepulchre. 3 And they entred in, and found not the body of the Lord Jeſus. 4
And it came to paſs, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men ſtood by them in ſhining garments. 5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they ſaid unto them, Why ſeek ye the living among the dead? 6 He is not here, but is riſen: remember how he ſpake unto you when he was yet in Galilee, 7 Saying, The Son of man muſt be delivered into the hands of ſinful men, and be crucified, and the third day riſe again. 8 And they remembred his words, 9 And returned from the ſepulchre, and told all theſe things unto the eleven, and to all the reſt. 10 It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women that were with them, which told theſe things unto the apoſtles. 11 And their words ſeemed to them as idle tales, and they believed them not. 12 Then aroſe Peter, and ran unto the ſepulchre, and ſtooping down, he beheld the linnen cloths laid by themſelves, and departed, wondring in himſelf, at that which was come to paſs.

The Manner of the re-uniting of Chriſt's Soul and Body in his Reſurrection is a Myſtery, one of the Secret Things that belong not to us; but the Infalliable Proofs of his Reſurrection, that he did indeed riſe from the Dead, and was thereby prov'd to be the Son of God, are Things reveal'd, which belong to us and to our Children, and ſome of them we have here in theſe Verſes; which relate the ſame Story for Subſtance that we had in Matthew and Mark.

1. We have here the Affection and Reſpect, which the good Women that had follow'd Chriſt ſhew'd to him, after he was dead and buried, v. 1. As ſoon as ever they could after the Sabbath was over, they came to the Sepulchre to embalm his Body, not to take it out of the Linnen in which Joſeph had wrapp'd it, but to anoint the Head and Face, and perhaps the wounded Hands and Feet, and to ſcatter ſweet Spices upon and about the Body; as it is uſual with us to ſtrew Flowers about the dead Bodies and Graves of our Friends, only to ſhew our good Will towards the taking off the Deformity of Death, if we could, and to make them ſomewhat the leſs loathſome to thoſe that are about them. The Zeal of thoſe good Women for Chriſt did continue; the Spices which they had prepar'd the Evening before the Sabbath, at a great Expence, they did not, upon the ſecond Thoughts, when they had ſlept upon it, diſpoſe of otherwiſe, ſuggeſting, to what Purpoſe is this Waſte? But they brought them to the Sepulchre on the Morning after the Sabbath, early, very early. 'Tis a Rule of Charity, Every Man, according as he purpoſeth in his Heart, ſo let him give, 2 Cor. 9. 7.

what is prepared for Chriſt, let it be uſed for him. Notice is taken of the Names of theſe Women, Mary Magdalen, and Joanna, and Mary the Mother of James, grave matronly Women, it ſhould ſeem they were; Notice is alſo taken of certain others with them, v. 1. and again, v. 10. Theſe that had not join'd in preparing the Spices, yet would go along with them to the Sepulchre; as if the Number of Chriſt's Friends increas'd when he was dead, John 12. 24, 32. The Daughters of Jeruſalem, when they ſaw how inquiſitive the Spouſe was after her Beloved, were deſirous to ſeek him with her, Cant. 6. 1. ſo were theſe other Women. The Zeal of ſome provokes others.

2. The Surprize they were in, when they found the Stone roll'd away, and the Grave empty, v. 2, 3. They were much perplexed at that, (v. 4.) which they had much Reaſon to rejoice in, that the Stone was roll'd away from the Sepulchre, by which it appear'd that he had a legal Diſcharge, and Leave to come out; and that they found not the Body of the Lord Jeſus, by which it appear'd he had made uſe of his Diſcharge, and was come out. Note, Good Chriſtians often perplex themſelves about that with which they ſhould comfort and encourage themſelves.

3. The plain Account which they had of Chriſt's Reſurrection from two Angels, that appear'd to them in ſhining Garments, not only white, but bright, and caſting a Luſtre about them; They firſt ſaw one Angel without the Sepulchre, who preſently went in, and ſat with another Angel in the Sepulchre, one at the Head, and t'other at the Feet, where the Body of Jeſus had lain; ſo the Evangeliſts may be reconcil'd.

The Women, when they ſaw the Angels, were afraid, leſt they had ſome ill News for them; but, inſtead of inquiring of them, bow'd down their Faces to the Earth, to look for their dear Maſter in the Grave; They would rather find him in his Grave Cloths, than Angels themſelves in their ſhining Garments: A dying Jeſus has more Beauty in the Eyes of a Believer, than Angels themſelves. Theſe Women, like the Spouſe, when found by the Watchman, (and Angels are call'd Watchers) enter not into any other Converſation with them; but Saw ye him whom my Soul loveth? Now here,

(1.) They upbraid the Women with the Abſurdity of the Search they were making, v. 5. Why ſeek ye the Living among the Dead? Witneſs is hereby given to Chriſt, that he is living, of him it is witneſſed that he liveth, Heb. 7. 8. and it is the Comfort of all the Saints, I know that my Redeemer liveth; for becauſe he lives, we ſhall live alſo. But a Reproof is given to thoſe that look for him among the Dead; among the dead Heroes, that the Gentiles worſhipped, as if he were but like one of them; that look for him in an Image, or a Crucifix, the Work of Mens Hands, or among unwritten Traditions, and the Inventions of Men. And indeed all they that expect Happineſs and Satisfaction in the Creature, or Perfection in this imperfect State, may be ſaid to ſeek the Living among the Dead.

(2.) They aſſure them that he is riſen from the Dead, v. 6. He is not here, but is riſen, is riſen by his own Power: He has quitted his Grave, to return no more to it. Theſe Angels were competent Witneſſes, for they had been ſent Expreſs from Heaven with Orders for his Diſcharge. And we are ſure that their Record is true; they durſt not tell a Lye.

(3.) They refer them to his own Words; Remember what he ſpoke to you, when he was yet in Galilee. If they had duly believ'd and obſerv'd the Prediction of it, they would eaſily have believ'd the Thing itſelf when it came to paſs; and therefore, that the Tidings might not be ſuch a Surprize to them as it ſeem'd to be, he repeats to them what Chriſt had often ſaid, in their hearing, The Son of Man muſt be deliver'd into the Hands of Sinful Men; and tho' it was done by the determinate Counſel and Fore-knowledge of God, yet they that did it were not the leſs ſinful for doing it: He told them that he muſt be crucified, ſurely they could not forget that which they had with ſo much Concern ſeen fulfilled; and would not that bring to their Mind, that which always follow'd, the third Day he ſhall riſe again? Obſerve, theſe Angels from Heaven bring not any New Goſpel, but put them in mind, as the Angels of the Churches do, of the Sayings of Chriſt, and teach them how to improve and apply them.

(4.) Their Satisfaction in this Account, v. 8. The Women ſeem'd to acquieſce: They remember'd his Words, when they were thus put in mind of them, and concluded from thence, if he were riſen it was no more than they had Reaſon to expect; and now were aſham'd of the Preparations they had made to embalm him on the third Day, who had often ſaid he would on the third Day riſe again. Note, A ſeaſonable Remembrance of the Words of Chriſt, will help us to a right underſtanding of his Providence.

(5.) The Report they brought of this to the Apoſtles; They return'd from the Sepulchre, and told all theſe Things to the Eleven, and to all the Reſt of Chriſt's Diſciples, v. 9. It doth not appear that they were together in a Body, they were ſcatter'd every one to his own, perhaps ſcarce two or three of them together in the ſame Lodgings, but one went to ſome of them, and another to others of them, ſo that in a little Time, that Morning, they got them all notice of it. But we are told, v. 11. how the Report was receiv'd, their Words ſeem'd to them as idle Tales, and they believ'd them not. They thought it was only the Fancy of the Women, and imputed it to the Power of Imagination; for they alſo had forgotten Chriſt's Words, and wanted to be put in mind of them, not only what he had ſaid to them in Galilee ſome Time ago, but what he had ſaid very lately in the Night wherein he was betray'd, —— Again a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me —— I will ſee you again. One would be amaz'd at the Stupidity of theſe Diſciples, who had themſelves ſo often profeſs'd, that they believ'd Chriſt to be the Son of God and the true Meſſiah, had been ſo often told he muſt die and riſe again, and then enter into his Glory, had ſeen him more than once raiſe the Dead, that they ſhould be ſo backward to believe his raiſing himſelf; ſurely it would ſeem the leſs ſtrange to them, when hereafter this Complaint would juſtly be taken up by them, to remember, that when Time was, it might juſtly have been taken up againſt them, who hath believed our Report?

(6.) The Enquiry which Peter made hereupon, v. 12. 'Twas Mary Magdalen that brought the Report to him, as appears Joh. 1. 2. where this Story of his running to the Sepulchre is more particularly related: (1.) Peter haſten'd to the Sepulchre, upon the Report; perhaps aſham'd of himſelf, to think that Mary Magdalen ſhould have been there before him; and yet perhaps he had not been ſo ready to go thither now, if the Women had not told him, among other things, that the Watch was fled: Many that are ſwift-footed enough, when there's no Danger, are but cow-hearted when there is. Peter now ran to the Sepulchre, who but t'other Day run from his Maſter. (2.) He look'd into the Sepulchre, and took Notice how orderly the Linnen Cloths, in which Chriſt was wrap'd, were taken off, and folded up, and laid by themſelves, but the Body gone. He was very particular in making his Obſervations, as if he would rather credit his own Eyes than the Teſtimony of the Angels. (3.) He went away, as he thought, not much the wiſer, wondering in himſelf at that which was come to paſs. Had he remembred the Words of Chriſt, even this was enough to ſatisfy him that he was riſen from the Dead; but having forgotten them, he is only amaz'd with the Thing, and knows not what to make of it. There's many a Thing puzzling and perplexing to us, which would be both plain and profitable if we did but rightly underſtand the Words of Chriſt, and had them ready to us.

13 ¶ And behold, two of them went that ſame day to a village called Emmaus, which was from Jeruſalem about threeſcore furlongs. 14 And they talked together of all theſe things which had happened.
15 And it came to paſs, that while they communed together, and reaſoned, Jeſus himſelf drew near, and went with them. 16 But their eyes were holden, that they ſhould not know him. 17 And he ſaid unto them, What manner of communications are theſe that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are ſad? 18 And the one of them, whoſe name was Cleophas, anſwering, ſaid unto him, Art thou only a ſtranger in Jeruſalem, and haſt not known the things which are come to paſs there in theſe days?
19 And he ſaid unto them, What things? And they ſaid unto him, Concerning Jeſus of Nazareth, which was a prophet, mighty in deed and word before God, and all the people: 20 And how the chief prieſts and our rulers delivered him to be condemned to death, and have crucified him. 21 But we truſted that it had been he which ſhould have redeemed Iſrael: and beſide all this, to day is the third day ſince theſe things were done. 22 Yea, and certain women alſo of our company made us aſtoniſhed, which were early at the ſepulchre: 23 And when they found not his body, they came, ſaying, that they had alſo ſeen a viſion of angels, which ſaid that he was alive.
24 And certain of them which were with us, went to the ſepulchre, and found it even ſo as the women had ſaid; but him they ſaw not. 25 Then he ſaid unto them, O fools, and ſlow of heart to believe all that the prophets have ſpoken! 26 Ought not Chriſt to have ſuffered theſe things, and to enter into his glory? 27 And beginning at Moſes, and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the ſcriptures, the things concerning himſelf. 28 And they drew nigh unto the village, whither they went:
and he made as tho' he would have gone further.
29 But they conſtrained him, ſaying, Abide with us, for it is towards evening, and the day is far ſpent.
And he went in to tarry with them. 30 And it came to paſs as he ſat at meat with them, he took bread, and bleſſed it, and brake, and gave to them.
31 And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vaniſhed out of their ſight. 32 And they ſaid one to another, Did not our heart burn within us, while he talked with us by the way, and while he opened to us the ſcriptures? 33 And they roſe up the ſame hour, and returned to Jeruſalem, and found the eleven gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Saying, The Lord is riſen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon. 35 And they told what things were done in the way, and how he was known of them in breaking bread

This Appearance of Chriſt, to the two Diſciples, going to Emmaus, was mention'd, and but juſt mention'd before, Mark 16. 12. here it is largely related; It happen'd the ſame Day, that Chriſt roſe, the firſt Day of the New World, that roſe with him. One of theſe two Diſciples was Cleophas, or Alpheus, ſaid by the Ancients to be the Brother of Joſeph, Chriſt's ſuppoſed Father; who the other was, is not certain. Some think it was Peter; it ſhould ſeem indeed that Chriſt did appear particularly to Peter that Day, which the Eleven ſpoke of among themſelves, v. 34. and Paul mentions, 1 Cor. 15. 5. But it could not be Peter that was one of the Two, for he was one of the Eleven to whom the Two return'd; And beſides, we know Peter ſo well, as to think, that if he had been one of the Two, he would have been the Chief Speaker, and not Cleophas. It was one of thoſe that were Aſſociate with the Eleven mention'd, v. 9.

Now, in this Paſſage of Story, we may obſerve,

1. The Walk and Talk of theſe two Diſciples. They went to a Village call'd Emmaus, which is reckon'd to be about two Hours Walk from Jeruſalem; 'tis here ſaid to be about 60 Furlongs, ſeven meaſur'd Miles, v. 13. Whether they went thither upon Buſineſs, or to ſee ſome Friend, doth not appear: I ſuſpect they were going homewards to Galilee, with an Intention not to enquire more after this Jeſus; that they were meditating a Retreat, and ſtole away from their Company, without asking Leave, or taking Leave; for the Accounts brought them that Morning of their Maſter's Reſurrection, ſeem'd to them as idle Tales; and if ſo, no Wonder they began to think of making the beſt of their way Home.

But, as they travel'd, they talked together of all theſe Things which had happen'd, v. 14. They had not Courage to confer of theſe Things, and conſult what was to be done in the preſent Juncture at Jeruſalem, for fear of the Jews; but when they were got out of the hearing of the Jews, they could talk it over with more Freedom. They talk'd over theſe Things, reaſoning with themſelves concerning the Probabilities of Chriſt's Reſurrection, for, according as theſe appear'd, they would either go forward, or return back to Jeruſalem. Note, It well becomes the Diſciples of Chriſt when they are together, to talk of his Death and Reſurrection; thus they may improve one another's Knowledge, refreſh one another's Memory, and ſtir up one another's devout Affections.

2. The good Company they met with upon the Road, when Jeſus himſelf came and join'd himſelf to them, v. 15. They communed together, and reaſoned, and perhaps were warm at the Argument, one hoping that their Maſter was riſen, and would ſet up his Kingdom, the other deſpairing; Jeſus himſelf drew near, as a Stranger, that ſeeing them travel the ſame Way that he went, told them he ſhould be glad of their Company.

We may obſerve it for our Encouragement to keep up Chriſtian Conference, and Edifying Diſcourſe among us, That where but two together are well employ'd in Work of that Kind, Chriſt will come to them and make a third. When they that fear the Lord, ſpeak one to another, the Lord hearkens and hears, and is with them of a Truth; ſo that two thus twiſted in Faith and Love become a three-fold Cord, not eaſily broken, Eccl. 4. 12. They, in their Communings and Reaſonings together, were ſearching for Chriſt, comparing Notes concerning him, that they might come to more Knowledge of him, and now Chriſt comes to them. Note, They who ſeek Chriſt ſhall find him; he will maniſeſt himſelf to thoſe that enquire after him; and give Knowledge to thoſe who uſe the Helps for Knowledge, which they have. When the Spouſe enquir'd of the Watchmen concerning her Beloved, It was but a little that ſhe paſſed from them, but ſhe found him, Cant. 3. 4.

But, tho' they had Chriſt with them, they were not at firſt aware of it, v. 16. Their Eyes were held, that they ſhould not know him; it ſhould ſeem there was both an Alteration of the Object, for it is ſaid in Mark, that now he appear'd in another Form; and a Reſtraint upon the Organ, for here it is ſaid that their Eyes were held by a Divine Power; or, as ſome think, there was a Confuſion in the Medium; the Air was ſo diſpos'd that they could not diſcern who it was. No matter how it was, but ſo it was, they did not know him; Chriſt ſo ordering it, that they might the more freely diſcourſe with him, and he with them; and that it might appear, that his Word, and the Influence of it, did not depend upon his Bodily Preſence, which the Diſciples had too much doated upon, and muſt be weaned from; but he could teach them, and warm their Hearts by others, who ſhould have his Spiritual Preſence with them, and ſhould have his Grace going along with them unſeen.

3. The Conference that was between Chriſt and them, when he knew them, and they knew not him. Now Chriſt and his Diſciples, as is uſual, when Friends meet incognito, or in a diſguiſe, are here croſſing Queſtions.

1. Chriſt's firſt queſtion to them, is, concerning their preſent Sadneſs, which plainly appear'd in their Countenances, v. 17. What manner of Communications are theſe that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are ſad? it is a very kind and friendly Enquiry. Obſerve,

(1.) They were ſad, it appear'd to a Stranger that they were ſo. (1.) They had loſt their dear Maſter, and were in their own Apprehenſions quite diſappointed in their Expectations from him. They had given up the Cauſe, and knew not what Courſe to take to retrieve it. Note, Chriſt's Diſciples have Reaſon to be ſad when he withdraws from them; to faſt when the Bridegroom is taken from them. (2.) Tho' he was riſen from the Dead, yet either they did not know it, or did not believe it, and ſo they were ſtill in Sorrow. Note, Chriſt's Diſciples are often ſad and ſorrowful, even then when they have Reaſon to rejoice; but through the Weakneſs of their Faith, they cannot take the Comfort that is offer'd to them. (3.) Being ſad, they had Communications one with another concerning Chriſt. Note, 1. It becomes Chriſtians to talk of Chriſt. Were our Hearts as full of him, and of what he has done and ſuffer'd for us, as they ſhould be, out of the Abundance of the Heart the Mouth would ſpeak, not only of God and his Providence, but of Chriſt, and his Grace and Love. (2.) Good Company and good Converſe is an excellent Antidote againſt prevailing Melancholy. When Chriſt's Diſciples were ſad, they did not each one get by himſelf, but continued as he ſent them out, two and two, for two is better than one, eſpecially in times of Sorrow. Giving vent to the Grief, may perhaps give eaſe to the grieved; and by talking it over, we may talk ourſelves, or our Friends may talk us into a better Frame. Joint-mourners ſhould be mutual Comforters: Comforts ſometimes come beſt from ſuch.

(3.) Chriſt came up to them and enquir'd into the Matter of their Talk, and the Cauſe of their Grief, what manner of Communications are theſe? Tho' Chriſt was now enter'd into his State of Exaltation, yet he continued tender of his Diſciples, and concern'd for their Comfort. He ſpeaks as one troubled to ſee their Melancholy; Wherefore look ye ſo ſadly to Day? Gen. 40. 7. Note, Our Lord Jeſus takes notice of the Sorrow and Sadneſs of his Diſciples, and is afflicted in their Afflictions. Chriſt has hereby taught us, (1.) To be converſable: Chriſt here fell into Diſcourſe with two grave ſerious Perſons, tho' he was a Stranger to them, and they knew him not, and they readily embraced it. It doth not become Chriſtians to be moroſe and ſhy, but to take Pleaſure in good Society. (2.) We are hereby taught to be compaſſionate. When we ſee our Friends in Sorrow and Sadneſs, we ſhould, like Chriſt here, take cognizance of their Grief, and give them the beſt Counſel and Comfort we can. Weep with them that weep.

2. In anſwer to this, they put a Queſtion to him concerning his Strangeneſs, v. 18. Art thou only a Stranger in Jeruſalem, and haſt not known the things that are come to paſs there in theſe Days? Obſerve,

(1.) Cleophas gave him a civil Anſwer; he doth not rudely ask him, what's that to you what we are talking of, and bid him go about his Buſineſs. Note, We ought to be civil to thoſe who are civil to us, and to carry ourſelves obligingly to all, both in Word and Deed. 'Twas a dangerous Time now with Chriſt's Diſciples, yet he was not jealous of this Stranger, that he had any Deſign upon them, to inform againſt them, or bring them into Trouble. Charity is not forward to think Evil, no not of Strangers.

(2.) He is full of Chriſt himſelf, and of his Death and Sufferings, and wonders that every body elſe is not ſo too. What, art thou ſuch a Stranger in Jeruſalem, as not to know what has been done to our Maſter there? Note, Thoſe are Strangers indeed in Jeruſalem, that know not of the Death and Sufferings of Chriſt. What, are they Daughters of Jeruſalem, and yet ſo little acquainted with Chriſt, as to ask, what is thy Beloved more than another Beloved?

(3.) He is very willing to inform this Stranger concerning Chriſt, and to draw on further Diſcourſe with him upon this Subject. He would not have any one that had the Face of a Man, to be ignorant of Chriſt. Note, Thoſe who have, themſelves, the Knowledge of Chriſt crucified, ſhould do what they can to ſpread that Knowledge, and lead others into an Acquaintance with him. And it is obſervable, theſe Diſciples that were ſo forward to inſtruct the Strangers, were inſtructed by him; for to him that has, and uſes what he has, ſhall be given.

(4.) It appears by what Cleophas ſaith, that the Death of Chriſt made a mighty Noiſe in Jeruſalem, ſo that it could not be imagin'd any Man ſhould be ſuch a Stranger in the City, as not to know of it; 'twas all the Talk of the Town, and diſcours'd of in all Companies. Thus the Matter of Fact came to be univerſally known, which after the pouring out of the Spirit was to be explained.

5. Chriſt, by way of Reply, ask'd concerning their Knowledge, v. 19. He ſaid unto them, what Things? Thus making himſelf yet more a Stranger. Obſerve,

(1.) Jeſus Chriſt made light of his own Sufferings in compariſon with the Joy ſet before him, which was the Recompence of it. Now he was entring upon his Glory, ſee with what Unconcernedneſs he looks back upon his Sufferings; What Things? He had Reaſon to know what Things, for to him they were bitter Things, and heavy Things, and yet he asks What Things? The Sorrow was forgotten, for Joy that the Man-Child of our Salvation was born. He took pleaſure in Infirmities for our Sakes, to teach us to do ſo for his Sake.

(2.) Thoſe whom Chriſt will teach, he will firſt examine how far they have learn'd: They muſt tell him what Things they know, and then he will tell them, what was the Meaning of theſe Things, and lead them into the Myſtery of them.

(4.) They hereupon give him a particular Account, concerning Chriſt, and the preſent Poſture of his Affairs. Obſerve the Story they tell, v. 19, &c.

(1.) Here's a Summary of Chriſt's Life and Character. The Things they are full of, are concerning Jeſus of Nazareth, ſo he was commonly call'd, who was a Prophet, a Teacher come from God: He preach'd a true and excellent Doctrine, which had manifeſtly its Riſe from Heaven, and its Tendency towards Heaven: He confirm'd it by many glorious Miracles, Miracles of Mercy; ſo that he was mighty in Deed and Word before God and all the People; i. e. He was both a mighty Favourite of Heaven, and a mighty Bleſſing to this Earth. He was, and appear'd to be, greatly beloved of God, and much the Darling of his People. He had great Acceptance with God, and a great Reputation in the Country. Many are great before all the People, and are careſs'd by them, who are not ſo before God, as the Scribes and Phariſees; but Chriſt was Mighty both in his Doctrine and in his Doings, before God and all the People. Thoſe were Strangers in Jeruſalem, that did not know this.

(2.) Here's a modeſt Narrative of his Sufferings and Death, v. 20. Tho' he was ſo dear both to God and Man, yet the Chief Prieſts and our Rulers, in Contempt of both, deliver'd him to the Roman Power, to be condemn'd to Death, and they have crucified him. 'Tis ſtrange they did not aggravate the Matter more, and lay more Load upon thoſe that had been guilty of crucifying Chriſt; but perhaps, becauſe they ſpoke to one that was a Stranger, they thought it Prudence to avoid all Reflections upon the Chief Prieſts and their Rulers, how juſt ſoever.

(3.) Here's an Intimation of their Diſappointment in him, as the Reaſon of their Sadneſs; we truſted that it had been he which ſhould have redeem'd Iſrael, v. 4. we are of thoſe who not only look'd upon him to be a Prophet, like Moſes, but like him a Redeemer too: He was depended upon, and great Things expected from him by them that looked for Redemption, and in it for the Conſolation of Iſrael. Now, if Hope deferr'd maketh the Heart ſick, Hope diſappointed, eſpecially ſuch a Hope, kills the Heart dead. But ſee how they made that the Ground of their Deſpair; which, if they had underſtood it aright, was the ſureſt Ground of their Hope; and that was the dying of the Lord Jeſus: We truſted (ſay they) that it had been he that ſhould have redeemed Iſrael: And, is it not he that doth redeem Iſrael? Nay, is he not, by his Death, paying the Price of their Redemption? Was it not neceſſary, in Order to his ſaving Iſrael from their Sins, that he ſhould ſuffer? So that now that moſt difficult Part of his Undertaking was got over, they had more Reaſon than ever to truſt, that this is he that ſhall deliver Iſrael; yet now they are ready to give up the Cauſe.

(4.) Here's an Account of their preſent Amazement with reference to his Reſurrection. (1.) This is the Third Day ſince he was crucified and died; and that was the Day, when it was expected, if ever, that he ſhould riſe again, and riſe in Glory and outward Pomp, and ſhew himſelf as publickly in Honour, as he had been ſhewn three Days before in Diſgrace; but we ſee no Sign of it: Nothing appears, as we expected, to the Conviction and Confuſion of his Proſecutors, and the Conſolation of his Diſciples; but all is ſilent. (2.) They own, that there was a Report among them that he was riſen; but they ſeem to ſpeak of it very ſlightly, and as what they gave no Credit at all to, v. 22, 23. Certain Women alſo of our Company made us aſtoniſhed, and that was all, which were early at the Sepulchre, and found the Body gone; and they ſaid they had ſeen a Viſion of Angels, which ſaid he was alive; but we are ready to think it was only their Fancy, and no real Thing; for Angels would have been ſent to the Apoſtles, not to the Women; and Women are eaſily impos'd upon. (3.) They acknowledge that ſome of the Apoſtles had made a Viſit to the Sepulchre, and found it empty, v. 24. but him they ſaw not; and therefore we have Reaſon to fear that he is not riſen, for if he were, ſurely he would have ſhewed himſelf to them. So that upon the whole Matter, we have no great Reaſon to think that he is riſen, and therefore have no Expectations from him now; our Hopes were all nailed to his Croſs, and buried in his Grave.

(5.) Our Lord Jeſus, tho' not known by Face to them, makes himſelf known to them by his Word.

(1.) He reproves them for their Incogitancy, and the Weakneſs of their Faith in the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, v. 25. O Fools, and ſlow of Heart to believe: When Chriſt forbad us to ſay to our Brother, thou Fool, it was intended to reſtrain us from giving unreaſonable Reproaches, not from giving juſt Reproofs. Chriſt called them Fools, not as it ſignifies wicked Men, in which Senſe he forbad it us; but as it ſignifies weak Men. He might call them Fools, for he knows our Fooliſhneſs, the Fooliſhneſs that is bound in our Hearts. They are Fools that act againſt their own Intereſt; ſo they did, who would not admit the Evidence given them, that their Maſter was riſen; but put away the Comfort of it. That which is condemn'd in them as their Fooliſhneſs, is, (1.) Their Slowneſs to believe. Believers are branded as Fools, by Atheiſts, and Infidels, and Free-Thinkers, and their moſt Holy Faith cenſured as a fond Credulity; but Chriſt tells us, that thoſe are Fools who are ſlow of Heart to believe, and are kept from it by Prejudices never impartially examin'd. (2.) Their Slowneſs to believe the Writings of the Prophets. He doth not ſo much blame them for their Slowneſs to believe the Teſtimony of the Women, and of the Angels, but for that which was the Cauſe thereof, their Slowneſs to believe the Prophets; for if they had given the Prophets of the Old Teſtament their due Weight and Conſideration, they would have been as ſure of Chriſt's riſing from the Dead that Morning, being the third Day after his Death, as they were of the Riſing of the Sun; for the Series and Succeſſion of Events, as it is ſettled by Prophecy, is no leſs certain and inviolable, than as it is ſettled by Providence: were we but more converſant with the Scripture and the Divine Counſels, as far as they are made known in the Scripture, we ſhould not be ſubject to ſuch Perplexities as we oft intangle ourſelves in.

(2.) He ſhews them that the Sufferings of Chriſt, which were ſuch a Stumbling-Block to them, and made them unapt to believe his Glory, were really the appointed Way to his Glory, and he could not go to it any other Way, v. 26. Ought not the Chriſt (the Meſſiah) to have ſuffered theſe Things, and to enter into his Glory? was it not decreed, and was not that Decree declared, that the promiſed Meſſiah muſt firſt Suffer, and then Reign? That he muſt go by his Croſs to his Crown? Had they never read the Fifty third of Iſaiah, and the Ninth of Daniel, where the Prophets ſpeak ſo very plainly of the Sufferings of Chriſt, and the Glory that ſhould follow, 1 Pet. 1. 11. The Croſs of Chriſt, was it, that they could not reconcile themſelves to; now here he ſhews them two Things, which take off the Offence of the Croſs: (1.) That the Meſſiah ought to ſuffer theſe Things; and therefore his Sufferings were not only no Objection againſt his being the Meſſiah, but really a Proof of it, as the Afflictions of the Saints are an Evidence of their Sonſhip; and they were ſo far from ruining their Expectations, that really they were the Foundation of their Hopes. He could not have been a Saviour, if he had not been a Sufferer. Chriſt's undertaking our Salvation was voluntary; but having undertaken it, it was neceſſary he ſhould ſuffer and die. (2.) That when he had ſuffer'd theſe Things, he ſhould enter into his Glory; which he did at his Reſurrection, that was his firſt Step upwards. Obſerve, 'tis call'd his Glory; becauſe he was duly entitled to it, and it was the Glory he had before the World was; he ought to enter into it, for in that, as well as in his Sufferings, the Scripture muſt be fulfilled. He ought to ſuffer firſt, and then to enter into his Glory; and thus the Reproach of the Croſs is for ever rolled away; and we are directed to expect the Crown of Thorns, and then that of Glory.

(3.) He expounded to them the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, which ſpake of the Meſſiah, and ſhewed them how they were fulfilled in Jeſus of Nazareth; and now can tell them more concerning him, than they could before tell him, v. 27. Beginning at Moſes, the firſt inſpired Writer of the Old Teſtament, he went in Order thro' all the Prophets, and expounded to them the Things concerning himſelf, ſhewing that the Sufferings he had now gone thro', were ſo far from defeating the Prophecies of the Scripture concerning him, that they were the Accompliſhment of them. He begun at Moſes, who recorded the firſt Promiſe, in which it was plainly foretold that the Meſſiah ſhould have his Heel bruis'd; but that by it the Serpent's Head ſhould be incurably broken. Note, 1. There are Things diſpers'd throughout all the Scriptures concerning Chriſt, which it is of great Advantage to have collected and put together. You cannot go far in any Part of Scripture but you meet with ſomething that has Reference to Chriſt, ſome Prophecy, ſome Promiſe, ſome Prayer, ſome Type or other; for he is the true Treaſure hid in the Field of the Old Teſtament. A Golden Throne of Goſpel Grace runs thro' the whole Web of the Old Teſtament. There's an Eye of that White to be diſcerned in every Place. 2. The Things concerning Chriſt need to be expounded. The Eunuch, tho' a Scholar, would not pretend to underſtand them, except ſome Man ſhould guide him, Acts 8. 31. for they were delivered darkly, according to that Diſpenſation: But now the Vail is taken away, the New Teſtament expounds the Old. 3. Jeſus Chriſt is himſelf the beſt Expoſitor of Scripture, particularly the Scriptures concerning himſelf; and even after his Reſurrection, it was in this Way that he led People into the Knowledge of the Myſtery concerning himſelf; not by advancing new Notions independent upon the Scripture, but by ſhewing how the Scripture was fulfill'd, and turning them over to the Study of them. Even the Apocalypſe itſelf, is but a ſecond Part of the Old-Teſtament Prophecies, and has continually an Eye to them; If Men believe not Moſes and the Prophets, they are incurable. 4. In Studying the Scriptures it is good to be methodical and to take them in order; for the Old Teſtament's Light ſhone gradually to the perfect Day, and it is good to obſerve how at ſundry Times and in divers Manners (ſubſequent Predictions improving and giving Light to the preceding ones) God ſpake to the Fathers concerning his Son, by whom he has now ſpoken to us. Some begin their Bible at the wrong End, that ſtudy the Revelations firſt, but Chriſt has here taught us to begin at Moſes. Thus far the Conference between them.

(4.) Here is the Diſcovery which Chriſt at length made of himſelf to them. One would have given a great deal for a Copy of the Sermon Chriſt preached to them by the Way, of that Expoſition of the Bible he gave them, but it is not thought fit we ſhould have it; we have the Subſtance of it in other Scriptures. The Diſciples are ſo charmed with it, that they think they are come too ſoon to their Journey's-End; but ſo it is, They drew nigh to the Village whither they went, v. 28. where it ſhould ſeem they determined to take up, for that Night. And now,

1. They courted his Stay with them. He made as tho' he would have gone further, he did not ſay he would, but he ſeem'd to them to be going further, and did not really turn into their Friend's Houſe, which it would not be decent for a Stranger to do, unleſs he were invited; he would have gone further if they had not courted his Stay; ſo that here was nothing like Diſſimulation in the Caſe. If a Stranger be ſhy, every one knows the Meaning of it, he will not thruſt himſelf rudely upon your Houſe or Company; but if you make it appear that you are freely deſirous of him for your Gueſt or Companion, he knows not but he may accept your Invitation; and this was all that Chriſt did, when he made as tho' he would have gone further. Note, Thoſe that would have Chriſt dwell with them, muſt invite him, and be importunate with him; tho' he is often found of thoſe that ſeek him not, yet thoſe only that ſeek can be ſure to find; and if he ſeem to draw off from us, it is but to draw out our Importunity, as here; They conſtrained him; both of them laid hold on him, with a kind and friendly Violence, ſaying, Abide with us. Note, Thoſe that have experienc'd the Pleaſure and Profit of Communion with Chriſt, cannot but covet more of his Company, and beg of him, not only to walk with them all Day, but to abide with them at Night. When the Day is far ſpent, and it is towards Evening, we begin to think of retiring for our Repoſe, and then 'tis proper to have our eye to Chriſt, and beg of him to abide with us; to manifeſt himſelf to us, and to fill our Minds with good Thoughts of him, and good Affections to him. Chriſt yielded to their Importunity, he went in to tarry with them. Thus ready is Chriſt to give further Inſtructions and Comforts to thoſe, who improve what they have receiv'd. He has promiſed, that if any Man open the Door to bid him Welcome, he will come in to him, Rev. 3. 20.

2. He manifeſted himſelf to them, v. 30, 31. We may ſuppoſe he continued his Diſcourſe with them, which he began upon the Road; for thou muſt talk of the Things of God, when thou ſitteſt in the Houſe, as well as when thou walkeſt by the Way; while Supper was a getting ready, which perhaps was ſoon done, the Proviſion was ſo ſmall and mean, 'tis likely he entertained them with ſuch Communication as was Good, and to the Uſe of Edifying; and ſo likewiſe, as they ſate at Meat, his Lips fed them. But ſtill they little thought that it was Jeſus himſelf, that was all this while talking with them: till at length he was pleaſed to throw off his Diſguiſe, and then to withdraw.

1. They began to ſuſpect it was he; when, as they ſat down to Meat, he undertook the Office of the Maſter of the Feaſt, which he performed ſo like himſelf, and like what he uſed to do among his Diſciples, that by it they diſcern'd him: He took Bread and bleſſed it, and brake, and gave to them. This he did with his uſual Air both of Authority and Affection, with the ſame Geſtures and Mien, with the ſame Expreſſions, perhaps, in craving a Bleſſing, and in giving the Bread to them. This was not a miraculous Meal, like that of the Five Loaves; nor a ſacramental Meal, like that of the Euchariſt, but a common Meal; yet Chriſt here did the ſame as he did in thoſe, to teach us to keep up our Communion with God, thro' Chriſt, in common Providences, as well as in ſpecial Ordinances; and to crave a Bleſſing and give Thanks at every Meal; and to ſee our Daily Bread provided for us, and broken to us by the Hand of Jeſus Chriſt, the Maſter, not only of the Great Family, but of all our Families. Where-ever we ſit down to eat, let us ſet Chriſt at the Upper-end of the Table, take our Meat as bleſſed to us by him, and eat and drink to his Glory; and receive contentedly and thankfully what he is pleas'd to carve out to us, be the Fare never ſo coarſe and mean; we may well receive it chearfully, if we can by Faith ſee it coming to us from Chriſt's Hand, and with his Bleſſing.

2. Preſently their Eyes were opened, and then they ſaw who it was, and knew him well enough; whatever it was, which hath hitherto concealed him from them, 'twas now taken out of the Way, the Miſts were ſcattered, the Veil taken off, and then they made no Queſtion but it was their Maſter; he might for wiſe and holy Ends put on the Shape of another, but no other could put on his; and therefore it muſt be he. See how Chriſt by his Spirit and Grace makes himſelf known to the Souls of his People. (1.) He opens the Scriptures to them, for they are they which teſtify of him, to thoſe who ſearch them, and ſearch for him in them. (2.) He meets them at his Table in the Ordinance of the Lord's-Supper, and commonly there makes further Diſcoveries of himſelf to them; is known to them in the breaking of Bread. But (3.) The Work is compleated by the opening of the Eyes of their Mind, and cauſing the Scales to fall off from them, as from Paul's in his Converſion. If he that gives the Revelation, do not give the Underſtanding, we are in the Dark ſtill.

3. He immediately diſappear'd; he vaniſhed out of their Sight. Ἄφαντος ἐγένετο, He withdrew himſelf from them; ſlipt away of a ſudden, and went out of Sight. Or, he became not viſible by them; was made inconſpicuous from them. It ſhould ſeem that tho' Chriſt's Body after his Reſurrection was the very ſame Body in which he ſuffer'd and died, as appear'd by the Marks in it, yet it was ſo far changed, as to become either viſible or not viſible, as he thought fit to make it, which was a Step towards his being made a glorious Body. As ſoon as he had given his Diſciples one Glimpſe of him, he was gone preſently; ſuch ſhort and tranſient Views have we of Chriſt in this World, we ſee him, but in a little while loſe the Sight of him again; when we come to Heaven, the Viſion of him will have no Interruptions.

5. Here's the Reflection which theſe Diſciples made upon this Conference, and the Report they made of it to their Brethren at Jeruſalem.

1. The Reflection they each of them made upon the Influence which Chriſt's Diſcourſe had upon them, v. 32. They ſaid one to another, did not our Hearts burn within us. I'm ſure mine did, ſaith one; and ſo did mine, ſaith t'other, I never was ſo affected with any Diſcourſe in all my Life. Thus do they not ſo much compare Notes, as compare Hearts, in Review of the Sermon Chriſt had preached to them. They found the Preaching powerful, even when they knew not the Preacher; it made Things very plain and clear to them; and which was more, brought a Divine Heat, with a Divine Light into their Souls, ſuch as put their Hearts into a Glow, and kindled a Holy Fire of pious and devout Affections in them. Now this they take Notice of, for the confirming of their Belief, that it was indeed, as at laſt they ſaw, Jeſus himſelf that had been talking with them all along: What Fools were we, that we were not ſooner aware who it was? For none but he, no Word but his could make our Hearts burn within us as they did, it muſt be he that has the Key of the Heart, it could be no other. See here (1.) What Preaching is likely to do Good; ſuch as Chriſt's was, plain Preaching, and that which is familiar and level to our Capacity; he talked with us by the Way: And Scriptural Preaching; he opened to us the Scriptures, the Scriptures relating to himſelf. Miniſters ſhould ſhow People their Religion in their Bibles, and that they preach no other Doctrine to them but what is there; muſt ſhow that they make that the Foundation of their Knowledge, and the Foundation of their Faith. Note, The Expounding of thoſe Scriptures which ſpeak of Chriſt, has a direct Tendency to warm the Hearts of his Diſciples, both to quicken them, and to comfort them. (2.) What Hearing is likely to do Good, that which makes the Heart burn; when we are much affected with the Things of God, eſpecially with the Love of Chriſt, in dying for us, and have our Hearts thereby drawn out in Love to him, and drawn up in holy Deſires and Devotions; then our Hearts burn within us, when our Hearts are raiſed and elevated, and are as the Sparks which fly upward towards God, and when they are kindled and carry'd out with a Holy Zeal and Indignation againſt Sin, both in others and in ourſelves, and we are in ſome meaſure refined and purified from it by the Spirit of Judgment, and the Spirit of Burning, then we may ſay, thro' Grace, our Hearts are thus inflam'd.

2. The Report they brought of this to their Brethren at Jeruſalem, v. 33. They riſe up the ſame Hour, ſo tranſported with Joy at this Diſcovery Chriſt had made of himſelf to them, that they could not ſtay to make an End of their Supper, but returned with all Speed to Jeruſalem, tho' it was towards Evening. If they had had any Thoughts of quitting their Relation to Chriſt, this ſoon baniſhed all ſuch Thoughts out of their Mind, and there needed no more to ſend them back to his Flock. However, it ſhould ſeem they intended at leaſt to take up their Quarters to-night at Emmaus; but now they had ſeen Chriſt, they could not reſt, till they had brought the good News to the Diſciples, both for the Confirmation of their trembling Faith, and for the Comfort of their ſorrowful Spirits, with the ſame Comforts wherewith they were comforted of God. Note, It is the Duty of thoſe to whom Chriſt hath manifeſted himſelf, to let others know what he has done for their Souls. When thou art converted, inſtructed, comforted, ſtrengthen thy Brethren. Theſe Diſciples were full of this Matter themſelves, and muſt go to their Brethren, to give Vent to their Joys, as well as to give them Satisfaction that their Maſter was riſen. Obſerve,

1. How they found them, juſt when they came in among them, diſcourſing on the ſame Subject, and relating another Proof of the Reſurrection of Chriſt. They found the Eleven, and thoſe that were their uſual Companions, gathered together late in the Night, to pray together, it may be, and to conſider what was to be done, in this Juncture; and they found them ſaying among themſelves, (λέγοντας, 'tis the Saying of the Eleven, not of the Two; as is plain by the Original) and when theſe two came in, they repeated to them, with Joy and Triumph, The Lord is riſen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon, v. 34. That Peter had a Sight of him before the reſt of the Diſciples had, appears, 1 Cor. 15. 6. where it is ſaid, he was ſeen of Cephas, then of the Twelve; the Angel having ordered the Women to tell Petter of it particularly, Mark 16. 7. for his Comfort; 'tis highly probable that our Lord Jeſus did himſelf preſently the ſame Day appear to Peter, tho' we have no particular Narrative of it, to confirm the Word of his Meſſengers. This he had related to his Brethren; but obſerve, Peter doth not here proclaim it, and boaſt of it himſelf, he thought that did not become a Penitent, but the other Diſciples ſpeak of it with Exultation, The Lord is riſen indeed, ὄντως, really; 'tis now paſt Diſpute; no Room is left to doubt it, for he has appeared not only to the Women, but to Simon.

2. How they ſeconded their Evidence with an Account of what they had ſeen, v. 35. They told what Things were done in the Way. The words that were ſpoken by Chriſt to them in the Way, having a wonderful Effect and Influence upon them, are here called the Things that were done in the Way: For the Words that Chriſt ſpeaks are not empty Sound, but they are Spirit, and they are Life, and wondrous Things are done by them, done by the Way, by the By, as it were, where 'tis not expected. They told alſo how he was at length known to them in the Breaking of Bread; then when he was carving out Bleſſings to them, God opened their Eyes to diſcern who it was. Note, It would be of great Uſe for the Diſcovery and Confirmation of Truth, if the Diſciples of Chriſt would compare their Obſervations and Experiences, and communicate to each other what they know, and have felt in themſelves.

36 ¶ And as they thus ſpake, Jeſus himſelf ſtood in the midſt of them, and ſaith unto them, Peace be unto you. 37 But they were terrified and affrighted, and ſuppoſed that they had ſeen a ſpirit. 38 And he ſaid unto them, Why are ye troubled, and why do thoughts ariſe in your hearts? 39 Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I my ſelf: handle me, and ſee, for a ſpirit hath no fleſh and bones, as ye ſee me have. 40 And when he had thus ſpoken, he ſhewed them his hands and his feet. 41 And while they yet believed not for joy, and wondered, he ſaid unto them, Have ye here any meat? 42 And they gave him a piece of broiled fiſh, and of an honey-comb. 43 And he took it, and did eat before them. 44 And he ſaid unto them, Theſe are the words which I ſpake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things muſt be fulfilled which were writtten in the law of Moſes, and in the prophets, and in the pſalms concerning me. 45 Then opened he their underſtanding, that they might underſtand the ſcriptures, 46 And he ſaid unto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer, and to riſe from the dead the third day: 47 And that repentance and remiſſion of ſins ſhould be preached in his name, among all nations, beginning at Jeruſalem. 48 And ye are witneſſes of theſe things.

Five times Chriſt was ſeen the ſame Day that he roſe; by Mary Magdalen alone in the Garden, Joh. 20. 14. By the Women, as they were going to tell the Diſciples, Mat. 28. 9. By Peter alone; by the Two Diſciples going to Emmaus; and now at Night by the Eleven; which we have an Account of in theſe Verſes, as alſo Joh. 20. 19. Obſerve,

1. The great Surprize, which his Appearing gave them. He came in among them very ſeaſonably, as they were comparing Notes concerning the Proofs of his Reſurrection; As they thus ſpake, and were ready perhaps to put it to the Queſtion, whether the Proofs produced amounted to Evidence ſufficient of their Maſter's Reſurrection, or no; and how they ſhould proceed? Jeſus himſelf ſtood in the midſt of them, and put it out of Queſtion. Note, Thoſe who make the beſt Uſe they can of their Evidences for their Comfort, may expect further Aſſurances, and that the Spirit of Chriſt will witneſs with their Spirits, (as Chriſt here witneſſed with the Diſciples, and confirmed their Teſtimony) that they are the Children of God, and riſen with Chriſt. Obſerve, (1.) The Comfort Chriſt ſpoke to them; Peace be unto you. This intimates in general, that it was a kind Viſit which Chriſt now made them, a Viſit of Love and Friendſhip. Tho' they had very unkindly deſerted him in his Sufferings, yet he takes the firſt Opportunity of ſeeing them together; for he deals not with us as we deſerve. They did not credit thoſe who had ſeen him, therefore he comes himſelf, that they might not continue in their diſconſolate Incredulity. He had promis'd that after his Reſurrection he would ſee them in Galilee; but ſo deſirous was he to ſee them and ſatisfy them, that he anticipated the Appointment, and ſees them at Jeruſalem. Note, Chriſt is often better than his Word, but never worſe. Now his firſt Word to them, was, Peace be to you, not in a Way of Compliment, but of Conſolation. This was a common Form of Salutation among the Jews, and Chriſt would thus expreſs his uſual Familiarity with them, tho' he was now entered into his State of Exaltation. Many when they are advanced forget their old Friends, and take State upon them, but we ſee Chriſt as free with them as ever. Thus Chriſt would at the firſt Word intimate to them, that he did not come to quarrel with Peter for denying him, and the Reſt for out-running him; no, he came peaceably, to ſignify to them that he had forgiven them, and was reconciled to them. (2.) The Fright which they put themſelves into upon it, v. 37. They were terrified, ſuppoſing that they had ſeen a Spirit, becauſe he came in among them without any Noiſe, and was in the midſt of them e'er they were aware. The Word uſed, Mat. 14. 26. when they ſaid, It is a Spirit, is Φάντασμα, 'tis a Spectre, an Apparition; but the Word here uſed is πνεῦμα, the Word that properly ſignifies a Spirit; They ſuppoſed it to be a Spirit not cloath'd with a real Body. Tho' we have an Alliance and Correſpondence with the World of Spirits, and are haſtning to it; yet, while we are here in this World of Senſe and Matter, 'tis a Terror to us to have a Spirit ſo far change its own Nature, as to become viſible to us, and converſable with us, for it is ſomething, and bodes ſomething very extraordinary.

2. The great Satisfaction, which his Diſcourſe gave them; wherein we have,

Firſt, The Reproof he gave them for their cauſeleſs Fears, v. 38. Why are ye troubled, and why do frightful Thoughts ariſe in your Hearts? Obſerve here, (1.) That when at any Time we are troubled, Thoughts are apt to riſe in our Hearts, that do us Hurt. Sometimes the Trouble is the Effect of the Thoughts that ariſe in our Hearts; our Griefs and Fears take Riſe from thoſe Things, that are the Creatures of our own Fancy: Sometimes the Thoughts ariſing in the Heart, are the Effect of the Trouble; without are Fightings, and then within are Fears. Thoſe that are melancholy and troubled in Mind, have Thoughts ariſing in their Hearts, which reflect Diſhonour upon God, and create Diſquiet to themſelves. I am cut off from thy Sight. The Lord has forſaken and forgotten me.

(2.) That many of the troubleſome Thoughts, with which our Minds are diſquieted, ariſe from our Miſtakes concerning Chriſt. They here thought they had ſeen a Spirit, when they ſaw Chriſt, and that put them into this Fright; we forget that Chriſt is our Elder Brother, and look upon him to be at as great a diſtance from us, as the World of Spirits is from this World, and therewith terrify ourſelves. When Chriſt is by his Spirit convincing and humbling us, when he is by his Providence trying and converting us, we miſtake him, as if he deſigned our Hurt, and that troubles us.

(3.) That all the troubleſome Thoughts which riſe in our Hearts at any Time, are known to the Lord Jeſus, even at the firſt Riſe of them; and they are diſpleaſing to him. He chid his Diſciples for ſuch Thoughts, to teach us to chide ourſelves for them. Why art thou caſt down, O my Soul: Why art thou troubled? Why do Thoughts ariſe, that are neither True nor Good, that have neither Foundation, nor Fruit: But hinder our Joy in God, diſfit us for our Duty, give Advantage to Satan, and deprive us of the Comforts laid up for us.

Secondly, The Proof he gave them of his Reſurrection, both for the Silencing of their Fears, by convincing them that he was not a Spirit; and for the Strengthning of their Faith in that Doctrine, which they were to preach to the World, by giving them a full Satisfaction concerning his Reſurrection; which, if not true, their Faith and Preaching was all vain. Two Proofs he gives them.

1. He ſhews them his Body, particularly his Hands and his Feet. They ſaw that he had the Shape, and Features, and exact Reſemblance of their Maſter; but is it not his Ghoſt? No, ſaith Chriſt, Behold my Hands and my Feet, you ſee I have Hands and Feet, and therefore have a true Body; you ſee I can move theſe Hands and Feet, and therefore have a living Body; and you ſee the Marks of the Nails in my Hands and Feet, and therefore it is my own Body, the ſame that you ſaw crucified, and not a borrowed one. He lays down this Principle, That a Spirit has not Fleſh and Bones, it is not compounded of groſs Matter, ſhap'd into various Members, and conſiſting of divers heterogeneous Parts, as our Bodies are; he doth not tell us what a Spirit is, 'tis Time enough to know that, when we go to the World of Spirits, but what it is not; it has not Fleſh and Bones. Now hence he infers, it is I myſelf, whom you have been ſo intimately acquainted with, and have had ſuch familiar Converſation with; 'tis I myſelf, whom you have Reaſon to rejoice in, and not to be afraid of. Thoſe who know Chriſt aright, and know him as their's, will have no Reaſon to be terrified at his Appearance, at his Approaches.

He appeals to their Sight, ſhews them his Hands and his Feet, which were pierced with the Nails; Chriſt retained the Marks of them in his glorified Body, that they might be Proofs that it was he himſelf, and he was willing they ſhould be ſeen; he afterwards ſhewed them to Thomas, for he is not aſhamed of his Sufferings for us; little Reaſon then have we to be aſhamed of them, or of our's for him. As he ſhewed his Wounds here to his Diſciples, for the enforcing of his Inſtructions to them, ſo he ſhewed them to his Father, for the enforcing of his Interceſſions with him. He appears in Heaven, as a Lamb that hath been ſlain, Rev. 5. 6. his Blood ſpeaks, Heb. 12. 24. He makes Interceſſion in the Virtue of his Satisfaction; he ſaith to the Father, as here to the Diſciples, Behold my Hands and my Feet, Zech. 13. 6, 7.

He appeals to their Touch; Handle me, and ſee. He would not let Mary Magdalen touch him at that Time, John 20. 17. But the Diſciples here are intruſted to do it, that they who were to preach his Reſurrection, and to ſuffer for doing ſo, might be themſelves abundantly better ſatisfied concerning it. He bid them handle him, that they might be convinced that he was not a Spirit. If there were really no Spirits, or Apparitions of Spirits, as by this and other Inſtances, 'tis plain the Diſciples did believe there were; now had been a proper Time for Chriſt to have undeceiv'd them, by telling them there were no ſuch Things; but he ſeems to take it for granted that there have been, and may be, Apparitions of Spirits, elſe what needed ſo much Pains to prove that he was not one? There were many Hereticks in the primitive Times, Atheiſts I rather think they were, who ſaid that Chriſt had never any Subſtantial Body, but that it was a meer Phantaſm, which was neither really born, nor truly ſuffer'd; ſuch wild Notions as theſe, we are told, the Valentinians and Manichees had, and the Followers of Simon Magus; they were called Δοκῆται and Φαντασιασταὶ. Bleſſed be God theſe Hereſies are ſince buried; and we know, and are ſure, that Jeſus Chriſt was no Spirit or Apparition, but had a true and real Body, even after his Reſurrection.

2. He eats with them; to ſhew that he had a real and true Body, and that he was willing to converſe freely and familiarly with his Diſciples, as one Friend with another. St. Peter lays a great Streſs upon this, Acts 10. 41. We did eat and drink with him, after he roſe from the Dead.

1. When they ſaw his Hands and his Feet, yet they knew not what to ſay; They believed not for Joy, and wonder'd, v. 14. 'Twas their Infirmity that they believed not, that yet they believed not, ἔτι ἀπιςούντων αὐτῶν, they as yet being Unbelievers. This very much corroborates the Truth of Chriſt's Reſurrection, that the Diſciples were ſo ſlow to believe it. Inſtead of ſtealing away his Body, and ſaying he is riſen, when he is not, as the Chief Prieſts ſuggeſted they would do, they are ready to ſay again and again, he is not riſen, when he is. Their being incredulous of it at firſt, and inſiſting upon the utmoſt Proofs of it, ſhews that when afterwards they did believe it, and venture their All upon it, it was not but upon the fulleſt Demonſtration of the thing that could be.

But tho' it was their Infirmity, yet 'twas an excuſable one; for it was not from any contempt of the Evidence offered them, that they believed not: But, (1.) they believed not for Joy, as Jacob, when he was told that Joſeph was alive; they thought it too good News to be true. When the Faith and Hope are therefore Weak, becauſe the Love and Deſires are Strong, that weak Faith ſhall be helped and not rejected. (2.) They wondered: They thought it not only too Good, but too Great to be true; forgetting both the Scriptures and the Power of God.

2. For their further Conviction and Encouragement, he called for ſome Meat. He ſat down to Meat with the two Diſciples at Emmaus; but 'tis not ſaid that he did eat with them: Now, leſt that ſhould be made an Objection, he here did actually eat with them and the reſt, to ſhew that his Body was really and truly returned to Life; tho' he did not eat and drink, and converſe conſtantly with them as he had done; and (as Lazarus did after his Reſurrection, who not only returned to Life, but to his former State of Life, and to die again) becauſe it was not agreeable to the Oeconomy of that State he was riſen to.

They gave him a Piece of broiled Fiſh, and of an Honey Comb, v.42. The Honey-Comb, perhaps, was uſed as Sauce to the broiled Fiſh, for Canaan was a Land flowing with Honey. This was mean Fare; yet, if it be the Fare of the Diſciples, their Maſter will fare as they do; becauſe, in the Kingdom of our Father, they ſhall fare as he does, ſhall eat and drink with him in his Kingdom.

Thirdly, The Inſight he gave them into the Word of God, which they had heard and read, by which Faith in the Reſurrection of Chriſt is wrought in them, and all the Difficulties cleared.

1. He refers them to the Word which they had heard from him, when he was with them, and puts them in mind of that, as the Angel had done, v. 44. Theſe are the Words which I ſaid unto you in private many a time, while I was yet with you. We ſhould better underſtand what Chriſt doth, if we did but better remember what he hath ſaid, and had but the Art of comparing them together.

2. He refers them to the Word they had read in the Old Teſtament, which the Word they had heard from him directed them to; All things muſt be fulfilled which were written. Chriſt had given them this general Hint, for the regulating of their Expectations, that whatever they found written concerning the Meſſiah, in the Old Teſtament, muſt be fulfilled in him; what was written concerning his Sufferings, as well as what was written concerning his Kingdom; thoſe God had joined together in the Prediction, and it could not be thought they ſhould be put aſunder in the Event. All things muſt be fulfilled, even the Hardeſt, even the Heavieſt, even the Vinegar; he could not die till he had that, becauſe he could not till then ſay, it is finiſhed. The ſeveral Parts of the Old Teſtament are here mentioned, as containing each of them concerning Chriſt: The Law of Moſes, i. e. The Pentateuch, or the Five Books written by Moſes; the Prophets, containing not only the Books that are purely Prophetical, but thoſe Hiſtorical Books that were written by Prophetical Men: The Pſalms contain alſo the other Writings, which they called the Hagiographa. See in what various ways of Writing, God did of old reveal his Will; but all proceeded from one and the ſelf-ſame Spirit, who by them gave Notice of the Coming and Kingdom of the Meſſiah: for to him bear all the Prophets Witneſs.

3. By an immediate preſent Work upon their Minds, which they themſelves could not but be ſenſible of; he gave them to apprehend the true Intent and Meaning of the Old Teſtament Prophecies of Chriſt, and to ſee them all fulfilled in him, v. 45. Then opened he their Underſtanding, that they might underſtand the Scriptures. In his Diſcourſe with the two Diſciples, he took the Vail from off the Text, by opening the Scriptures; here he took the Veil from off the Heart, by opening the Mind. Obſerve here, (1.) That Jeſus Chriſt, by his Spirit, operates on the Minds of Men, on the Minds of all that are his: He has Acceſs to our Spirits, and can immediately influence them. 'Tis obſervable, how he did now, after his Reſurrection, give a Specimen of thoſe two great Operations of his Spirit upon the Spirits of Men; his enlightning the Intellectual Faculties with a divine Light, when he opened the Underſtandings of his Diſciples; and his invigorating of the active Powers with a Divine Heat, when he made their Hearts burn within them. (2.) Even good Men need to have their Underſtandings opened; for tho' they are not Darkneſs, as they were by Nature, yet in many things they are in the Dark. David prays, Open mine Eyes. Give me an Underſtanding. And St. Paul, that knows ſo much of Chriſt, ſees his Need to learn more. (3.) Chriſt's Way of working Faith in the Soul, and gaining the Throne there, is, by opening the Underſtanding, to diſcern the Evidence of thoſe Things that are to be believed. Thus he comes into the Soul by the Door, while Satan, as a Thief and a Robber, climbs up ſome other way. (4.) The Deſign of opening the Underſtanding, is, that we may underſtand the Scriptures: not that we may be Wiſe above what is written, but that we may be Wiſer in what is written; and may be made Wiſe to Salvation by it. The Spirit in the Word, and the Spirit in the Heart, ſay the ſame Thing. Chriſt's Scholars never learn above their Bibles in this World; but they need to be learning ſtill more and more out of their Bibles, and to grow more ready and mighty in the Scriptures. That we may have right Thoughts of Chriſt, and our Miſtakes concerning him rectified, there needs no more but to be made to underſtand the Scriptures.

Fourthly, The Inſtructions he gave them as Apoſtles, who were to be employ'd in ſetting up his Kingdom in the World. They expected, while their Maſter was with them, that they ſhould be preferred to Poſts of Honour, which they thought themſelves quite diſappointed of when he was dead: No, ſaith he, you are now to enter upon them. Ye are to be Witneſſes of theſe Things, v. 48. to carry the Notice of them to all the World; not only to report them as Matter of News, but to aſſert them, as Evidence given upon the Tryal of the great Cauſe that has been ſo long depending between God and Satan, the Iſſue of which muſt be, the caſting down, and caſting out of the Prince of this World. You are fully aſſured of theſe Things yourſelves, you are Eye and Ear-Witneſſes of them; go and aſſure the World of them, and the ſame Spirit that hath enlightened you, ſhall go along with you for the enlightning of others. Now here they are told,

1. What they muſt preach; they muſt preach the Goſpel, muſt preach the New Teſtament, as the full Accompliſhment of the Old, as the Continuation and Concluſion of Divine Revelation. They muſt take their Bible along with them, (eſpecially when they preached to the Jews: nay, and Peter in his firſt Sermon to the Gentiles, directed them to conſult the Prophets, Acts 10.43.) and muſt ſhew People how it was written of old, concerning the Meſſiah, and the Glories and Graces of his Kingdom, and then muſt tell them how, upon their certain Knowledge, all this was fulfill'd in the Lord Jeſus.

(1.) The great Goſpel Truth concerning the Death and Reſurrection of Jeſus Chriſt, muſt be publiſh'd to the Children of Men, v. 46. Thus it was written in the ſealed Book of the Divine Counſels from Eternity, the Volume of that Book of the Covenant of Redemption; and thus it was written in the open Book of the Old Teſtament, among the Things revealed, and therefore thus it behoveth Chriſt to ſuffer, for the Divine Counſels muſt be performed, and Care taken that no Word of God fall to the ground. Go and tell the World, (1.) That Chriſt ſuffered, as it was written of him. Go preach Chriſt crucified, be not aſham'd of his Croſs, nor aſham'd of a ſuffering Jeſus. Tell them what he ſuffered, and why he ſuffered, and how all the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament were fulfilled in his Sufferings. Tell them that it behoved him to ſuffer; that it was neceſſary to the taking away of the Sin of the World, and the Deliverance of Mankind from Death and Ruin: Nay, it became him to be perfected thro' Sufferings, Heb. 2.10. (2.) That he roſe from the Dead on the Third Day, by which not only all the Offence of the Croſs was roll'd away, but he was declared to be the Son of God with Power, and in this alſo the Scriptures were fulfilled. See 1 Cor. 15.3,4. Go tell the World how often you ſaw him, after he roſe from the Dead, and how intimately you converſed with him: Your Eyes ſee (as Joſeph ſays to his Brethren, when his diſcovering of himſelf to them was as Life from the Dead) that 'tis my Mouth that ſpeaketh unto you, Gen.45.12. Go and tell them then, that he that was dead, is alive, and lives for evermore, and has the Keys of Death and the Grave.

(2.) The great Goſpel Duty of Repentance muſt be preſs'd upon the Children of Men. Repentance for Sin muſt be preached in Chriſt's Name, and by his Authority, v. 47. All Men every where muſt be call'd and commanded to repent, Acts 17.30. Go and tell People, that the God that made them, and the Lord that bought them, expect and require that immediately, upon this Notice given, they turn from the Worſhip of the Gods they have made, to the Worſhip of the God that made them; and not only ſo, but from ſerving the Intereſts of the World and the Fleſh, they muſt turn to the Service of God in Chriſt; muſt mortify all ſinful Habits, and forſake all ſinful Practices. Their Hearts and Lives muſt be changed, and they muſt be univerſally renewed and reformed.

(3.) The great Goſpel Privilege of the Remiſſion of Sins muſt be propos'd to all, and aſſured to all, that repent and believe the Goſpel. Go tell a guilty World, that ſtands convicted and condemned at God's Bar, that there is an Act of Indemnity paſs'd the Royal Aſſent, which all that Repent and Believe ſhall have the Benefit of, and not only be pardoned, but prefer'd by. Tell them there is Hope concerning them.

2. To whom they muſt preach: Whither muſt they carry theſe Propoſals, and how far doth their Commiſſion extend. They are here told, (1.) That they muſt preach this among all Nations. They muſt diſperſe themſelves like the Sons of Noah, after the Flood, ſome one way, and ſome another, and carry this Light along with them where-ever they went. The Prophets had preached Repentance and Remiſſion to the Jews, but the Apoſtles muſt preach them to all the World. None are exempted from the Obligations the Goſpel lays upon Men to repent, nor are any excluded from thoſe ineſtimable Benefits which are included in the Remiſſion of Sins, but thoſe that by their Unbelief and Impenitency, put a Bar in their own Door.

(2.) That they muſt begin at Jeruſalem : There they muſt preach their firſt Goſpel Sermon ; there the Goſpel Church muſt be firſt form'd ; there the Goſpel Day muſt dawn, and thence that Light ſhall go forth, which muſt take hold on the Ends of the Earth. And why muſt they begin there ? (1.) Becauſe thus it was written, and therefore it behov'd them to take this Method. The word of the Lord muſt go forth from Jeruſalem, *Iſa.*2.3. And ſee Joel 2. 32.—3. 16. Obad. 21. Zech. 14. 8. (2.) Becauſe there the Matters of Fact, on which the Goſpel was founded, were tranſacted ; and therefore there they were firſt atteſted, where, if there had been any juſt Cauſe for it, they might be beſt conteſted and diſprov'd. So ſtrong, ſo bright, is the firſt ſhining forth of the Glory of the riſen Redeemer, that it dares face thoſe daring Enemies of his, that had put him to an ignominious Death, and ſets them at Defiance. Begin at Jeruſalem, that the chief Prieſts may try their Strength to cruſh the Goſpel, and may rage to ſee themſelves diſappointed. (3.) Becauſe he would give us a further Example of forgiving Enemies. Jeruſalem had put the greateſt Affronts imaginable upon him, both the Rulers and the Multitude, for which that City might juſtly have been excepted by Name out of the Act of Indemnity : No, ſo far from that, the firſt Offer of Goſpel Grace is made to Jeruſalem, and thouſands there are in a little time, brought to partake of that Grace.

3. What Aſſiſtance they ſhould have in Preaching : 'Tis a vaſt Undertaking they are here call'd to, a very large and difficult Province, eſpecially conſidering the oppoſition this Service would meet with, and the Sufferings it would be attended with : If therefore they aks, Who is ſufficient for theſe things ? Here's an Anſwer ready, v. 49. Behold, I ſend the Promiſe of my Father upon you, and ye ſhall be endued with Power from on high. He here aſſures them, that in a little time the Power ſhould be poured out upon them, in greater Meaſures than ever, and they ſhould thereby be furniſh'd with all thoſe Gifts and Graces which were neceſſary to their diſcharge of this great Truſt : and therefore they muſt tarry at Jeruſalem, and not enter upon it till this be done. Note, 1. Thoſe who receive the Holy Ghoſt, are thereby endued with a power from on high, a ſupernatural Power ; a Power above any of their own ; 'Tis from on high, and therefore draws the Soul upwards, and makes it to aim high. 2. Chriſt's Apoſtles could never have planted his Goſpel, and ſet up his Kingdom in the World, as they did, if they had not been endued with ſuch a Power, and their admirable Atchievements prove that there was an excellency of Power going along with them. 3. This Power from on high was the Promiſe of the Father, the great Promiſe of the New Teſtament, as the Promiſe of the coming of Chriſt, was of the Old Teſtament. And if it be the Promiſe of the Father, we may be ſure that the Promiſe is inviolable, and the Thing promis'd invaluable. 4. Chriſt would not leave his Diſciples till the time was juſt at hand for the performing of this Promiſe. It was but ten days after the Aſcenſion of Chriſt, that there came the Deſcent of the Spirit. 5. Chriſt's Ambaſſadors muſt ſtay till they have their Powers, and not venture upon their Embaſſy, till they have receiv'd full Inſtructions and Credentials; tho' one would think never was ſuch haſte as now for the preaching of the Goſpel, yet the Preachers muſt tarry till they be endued with Power from on high, and tarry at Jeruſalem, tho' a Place of Danger, becauſe there this Promiſe of the Father was to find them, Joel 2.28.

50 ¶ And he led them out as far as to Bethany, and he lift up his hands, and bleſſed them. 51 And it came to paſs, while he bleſſed them, he was parted from them, and carried up into heaven. 52 And they worſhipped him, and returned to Jeruſalem with great joy. 53 And were continually in the temple, praiſing and bleſſing God. Amen.

This Evangeliſt omits the ſolemn Meeting between Chriſt and his Diſciples in Galilee ; but what he ſaid to them there, and at other Interviews, he tacks to what he ſaid to them at the firſt Viſit he made them, on the Evening of the Day he roſe ; and has now nothing more to account for, but his Aſcenſion into Heaven, which we have a very brief Narrative of, in theſe Verſes : In which we are told,

Frſt, How ſolemnly Chriſt took leave of his Diſciples : Chriſt's Deſign being to reconcile Heaven and Earth, and continue a Days-man between them, 'twas neceſſary he ſhould lay his Hands on them both, and in order thereunto that he ſhould paſs and repaſs : He had Buſineſs to do in both Worlds, and accordingly came from Heaven to Earth in his Incarnation, to diſpatch his Buſineſs here, which when he had finiſh'd, he return'd to Heaven, to reſide there, and negociate our Affairs with the Father. Obſerve,

1. From whence he aſcended ; from Bethany near Jeruſalem, adjoining to the Mount of Olives : There he had done eminent Services for his Father's Glory, and there he entered upon his Glory : There was the Garden in which his Sufferings began ; there he was in his Agony, and Bethany ſignifies the Houſe of Sorrow : Thoſe that would go to Heaven, muſt aſcend thither from the Houſe of Sufferings and Sorrow ; muſt go by Agonies to their Joys. The Mount of Olives was pitch'd upon, long ſince, to be the Place of Chriſt's Aſcenſion, *Zech.*14.4. His Feet ſhall ſtand in that Day upon the Mount of Olives. And here it was, that a while ago he began his triumphant Entry into Jeruſalem, Chap.19.29.

2. Who were the Witneſſes of his Aſcenſion : He led out his Diſciples to ſee him : Probably 'twas very early in the Morning that he aſcended, before People were ſtirring; for he never ſhew'd himſelf openly to all the People, after his Reſurrection, but only to choſen Witneſſes. The Diſciples did not ſee him riſe out of the Grave, becauſe his Reſurrection was capable of being prov'd by their ſeeing him alive afterwards : but they ſaw him aſcend into Heaven, becauſe they could not otherwiſe have an ocular Demonſtration of his Aſcenſion. They were led out on purpoſe to ſee him aſcend; had their Eye upon him when he aſcended, and were not looking another way.

3. What was the Farewell he gave them : He lift up his Hands and bleſſed them : He did not go away in Diſpleaſure, but in Love ; he left a Bleſſing behind him ; He lift up his Hands as the High Prieſt did when he bleſſed the People : See Lev. 9.22. He bleſſed as one having Authority, commanded the Bleſſing, which he had purchas'd : He bleſſed them as Jacob bleſſed his Sons. The Apoſtles were now as the Repreſentatives of the twelve Tribes; ſo that in bleſſing them, he bleſſed all his Spiritual Iſrael, and put his Father's Name upon them : he bleſſed them as Jacob bleſſed his Sons, and Moſes the Tribes at parting, to ſhew, that having lov'd his own which were in the World, he lov'd them unto the end.

4. How he left them ; while he was bleſſing them he was parted from them ; not as if he were taken away before he had ſaid all he had to ſay, but to intimate, that his being parted from them did not put an end to his bleſſing of them ; for the Interceſſion which he went to Heaven to make for all his, is a Continuation of that Bleſſing : He began to bleſs them on Earth; but he went to Heaven to go on with it. Chriſt was now ſending his Apoſtles to preach his Goſpel to the World, and he gives them his Bleſſing ; not for themſelves only, but to be conferred in his Name, upon all that ſhould believe on him, through their Word ; for in him all the Families of the Earth were to be bleſſed.

5. How his Aſcenſion is deſcrib'd. (1.) He was parted from them ; was taken from their Head, as Elijah from Eliſha's. Note, The deareſt Friends muſt part. Thoſe that love us, and pray for us, and inſtruct us, muſt be parted from us. The bodily Preſence of Chriſt himſelf, was not to be expected always in this World ; thoſe that knew him after the Fleſh, muſt now henceforth know him ſo no more. (2.) He was carried up into Heaven ; not by Force, but by his own Act and Deed. As he aroſe, ſo he aſcended by his own Power, yet attended by Angels. There needed no Chariot of Fire, or Horſes of Fire ; he knew the way ; and being the Lord from Heaven, could go back himſelf : He aſcended in a Cloud, as the Angel in the Smoke of Manoah's Sacrifice, *Judg.*13.20.

Secondly, How chearfully his Diſciples continued their Attendance on him, and on God through him, even now he was parted from them.

1. They paid their Homage to him at his going away, to ſignify, that tho' he was going into a far Country, yet they would continue his Loyal Subjects, that were willing to have him reign over them ; They worſhipped him, v. 52. Note, Thoſe that receive Bleſſings from Chriſt, he expects Adoration from them. He bleſſed them, in token of Gratitude for which they worſhipped him. This freſh Diſplay of Chriſt's Glory, drew from them freſh Acknowledgements and Adorations of it. They knew that tho' he was parted from them, yet he could and did take Notice of their Adorations of him : The Cloud that received him out of their Sight, did not put them, or their Services, out of his Sight.

2. They returned to Jeruſalem with great Joy. There they were ordered to continue till the Spirit ſhould be poured out upon them, and thither they went accordingly, tho' it was into the Mouth of Danger : thither they went, and there they ſtaid with great Joy. This was a wonderful Change, and an effect of the opening of their Underſtandings. When Chriſt told them he muſt leave them, Sorrow fill'd their Hearts ; yet now they ſee him go, they are fill'd with Joy, being convinc'd at length, that it was expedient for them, and for the Church, that he ſhould go away to ſend the Comforter. Note, the Glory of Chriſt is the Joy, the exceeding Joy of all true Believers, even while they are here in this World ; much more will it be ſo, when they go to the New Jeruſalem, and find him there in his Glory.

3. They abounded in Acts of Devotion, while they were in Expectation of the Promiſe of the Father, *v.*53. (1.) They attended the Temple Service at the Hours of Prayer : God had not, as yet quite forſaken it, and therefore they did not. They were continually in the Temple as their Maſter was, when he was at Jeruſalem. The Lord loves the Gates of Zion, and ſo ſhould we. Some think they had their place of Meeting as Diſciples, in ſome of the Chambers of the Temple, which belong'd to ſome Levite that was well affected to them : But others think it's not likely that either could be concealed from, or would be connived at, by the chief Prieſts and Rulers of the Temple. (2.) Temple Sacrifices, they knew, were ſuperſeded by Chriſt's Sacrifice, but the Temple Songs they join'd in. Note, While we are waiting for God's Promiſes, we muſt go forth to meet them with our Praiſes. Praiſing and Bleſſing God is Work that is never out of Seaſon ; and nothing doth better prepare the Mind for the receiving of the Holy Ghoſt, than Holy Joy and Praiſe, Fears are ſilenc'd, Sorrows ſweeten'd and allay'd, and Hopes kept up.

The Amen that concludes, ſeems to be added by the Church, and every Believer, to the Reading of the Goſpel ; ſignifying an Aſſent to the Truths of the Goſpel, and a hearty Concurrence with all the Diſciples of Chriſt in praiſing and bleſſing God. Amen, Let him be continually prais'd and bleſs'd.

AN EXPOSITION OF THE Goſpel according to St. JOHN. WITH PRACTICAL OBSERVATIONS.

IT is not material to enquire when and where this Goſpel was written: We are ſure it was given by Inſpiration of God to John, the Brother of James, one of the Twelve Apoſtles, diſtinguiſh'd by the honourable Character of that Diſciple whom Jeſus loved; one of the firſt Three of the Worthies of the Son of David, whom he took to be the Witneſſes of his Retirements, particularly of his Transfiguration and Agony. The Ancients tell us, that John liv'd longeſt of all the Twelve Apoſtles, and was the only one of them that died a natural Death, all the reſt ſuffering Martyrdom; and ſome of them ſay he wrote this Goſpel at Epheſus, at the Requeſt of the Miniſters, of the ſeveral Churches of Aſia, in Oppoſition to the Hereſy of Cerinthus, and the Ebionites, who held that our Lord was a meer Man. It ſeems moſt probable, that he wrote it before his Baniſhment into the Iſle of Patmos, for there he wrote his Apocalypſe, the Cloſe of which ſeems deſign'd for the cloſing up of the Canon of Scripture; and if ſo, this Goſpel was not written after. I cannot therefore give Credit to thoſe later Fathers, who ſay, he wrote it in his Baniſhment, or after his Return from it, many Years after the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem; when he was 90 Years old, ſaith one of them; when he was an hundred, ſaith another of them. However, 'tis clear, he wrote laſt of the Four Evangeliſts; and comparing his Goſpel with theirs, we may obſerve, (1.) That he relates what they had omitted; he brings up the Rear, and his Goſpel is as the Rear-ward, or Gathering-Hoſt, it gleans up what they had paſſed by. Thus there was a later Collection of Solomon's wiſe Sayings, Prov. 25. 1. and yet far ſhort of what he deliver'd, 1 Kings 4. 32. (2.) That he gives us more of the Myſtery of that, which the other Evangeliſts gave us only the Hiſtory of. It was neceſſary that the Matters of Fact ſhould be firſt ſettled, which was done in their Declarations of thoſe things which Jeſus began both to do and teach, Luke 1. 1. Acts 1. 1. But that being done out of the Mouth of two or three Witneſſes, John goes on to Perfection, Heb. 6. 1. not laying again the Foundation, but building upon it; leading us more within the Veil. Some of the Ancients obſerve, that the other Evangeliſts wrote more of the τὰ σωματικὰ, the bodily things of Chriſt; but John writes of the τὰ πνευματικὰ, the ſpiritual things of the Goſpel, the Life and Soul of it; therefore ſome have called this Goſpel the Key of the Evangeliſts. Here it is that a Door is open'd in Heaven, and the firſt Voice we hear is, Come up hither, come up higher; ſome of the Ancients, that ſuppos'd the Four living Creatures in John's Viſion to repreſent the Four Evangeliſts, make John himſelf to be the Flying-Eagle, ſo high doth he ſoar, and ſo clearly doth he ſee into divine and heavenly things.

CHAP. I.

The Scope and Deſign of this Chapter is, to confirm our Faith in Chriſt, as the eternal Son of God, and the true Meſſiah and Saviour of the World, that we may be brought to receive him, and rely upon him, as our Prophet, Prieſt and King, and to give up ourſelves to be ruled, and taught, and ſav'd by him. In order to this, we have here, (1.) An Account given of him by the inſpired Pen-man himſelf, fairly laying down in the Beginning, what he deſign'd his whole Book ſhould be the Proof of, v. 1—5. And again, v. 10—14. And again, v. 16—18. (2.) The Teſtimony of John Baptiſt concerning him, v. 6—9. And again, v. 15. But moſt fully and particularly, v. 19—37. (3.) His own Manifeſtation of himſelf to Andrew and Peter, v. 38—42. to Philip and Nathanael, v. 43—51.

IN the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. 2 The ſame was in the beginning with God. 3 All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. 4 In him was life, and the life was the light of men. 5 And the light ſhineth in darkneſs, and the darkneſs comprehended it not.

Auſtin ſaith (de Civ. Dei. l. 10. c. 29.) that his Friend Simplicianus told him, he had heard a Platoniok Philoſopher ſay, That theſe firſt Verſes of St. John's Goſpel were worthy to be written in Letters of Gold. The learned Francis Junius, in the Account he gives of his own Life, tells how he was in his Youth infected with looſe Notions in Religion, and by the Grace of God was wonderfully recover'd, by reading accidentally theſe Verſes in a Bible, which his Father had deſignedly laid in his way; he ſaith, that he obſerv'd ſuch a Divinity in the Argument, ſuch an Authority and Majeſty in the Style, that his Fleſh trembled, and he was ſtruck into ſuch an Amazement, that for a whole Day he ſcarce knew where he was, or what he did, and from thence he dates the Beginning of his being religious. Let us enquire what there is in thoſe ſtrong Lines. The Evangeliſt here lays down the great Truth he is to prove, That Jeſus Chriſt is God, one with the Father. Obſerve, Firſt, Who he ſpeaks of. The Word, ὁ λόγος. This is an Idiom peculiar to John's Writings. See 1 John 1. 1. ch. 5. 7. Rev. 19. 13. yet ſome think Chriſt is meant by the Word, Acts 20. 32. Heb. 4. 12. Luke 1. 2.

The Chaldee Paraphraſe very frequently calls the Meſſiah (Memra) the Word of Jehovah, and ſpeaks of many things in the Old Teſtament, ſaid to be done by the Lord, as done by that Word of the Lord; even the vulgar Jews were taught, that the Word of God was the ſame with God. The Evangeliſt, in the Cloſe of his Diſcourſe, v. 18. plainly tells us, why he calls Chriſt the Word, becauſe he is the only begotten Son, which is in the Boſom of the Father, and has declared him. Word is two-fold, λόγος ἐνδιάθετος, Word conceiv'd; and λόγος προφόρικος, Word utter'd. The λόγος ὁ ἔσω, and ὁ ἔξω, Ratio and Oratio.

1. There's the Word conceiv'd; that is, Thought, which is the firſt and only immediate Product and Conception of the Soul, all the Operations of which are perform'd by Thought, and it is one with the Soul. And thus the ſecond Perſon in the Trinity is fitly call'd, The Word; for he is the firſt Begotten of the Father; that Eternal Eſſential Wiſdom, which the Lord poſſeſſed, as the Soul doth its Thought, in the Beginning of his Way, Prov. 8. 22. There's nothing we are more ſure of than that we think, yet nothing we are more in the dark about than how we think; who can declare the Generation of Thought in the Soul? Surely then the Generations and Births of the eternal Mind, may well be allowed to be great Myſteries of Godlineſs, the Bottom of which we cannot fathom, while yet we adore the Depth.

2. There's the Word utter'd, and that is Speech, the chief and moſt natural Indication of the Mind. And thus Chriſt is the Word, for by him God has in theſe laſt Days ſpoken to us, Heb. 1. 1. and has directed us to hear him, Mat. 17. 5. He has made known God's Mind to us, as a Man's Word or Speech makes known his Thoughts as far as he pleaſeth, and no further. Chriſt is called, That wonderful Speaker, Dan. 8. 13. The Speaker of things hidden, and ſtrange. He is the Word ſpeaking from God to us, and to God for us. John Baptiſt was the Voice, but Chriſt the Word; being the Word, he is the Truth, the Amen, the faithful Witneſs of the Mind of God.

Secondly, What he ſaith of him, enough to prove beyond Contradiction that he is God. He aſſerts,

1. His Exiſtence in the Beginning: In the Beginning was the Word. This ſpeaks his Exiſtence, not only before his Incarnation, but before all Time. The Beginning of Time, in which all Creatures were produc'd, and brought into Being, found this Eternal Word in Being. The World was from the Beginning, but the Word was in the Beginning: Eternity is uſually expreſs'd, by being before the Foundation of the World. The Eternity of God is ſo deſcribed, Pſal. 90. 2. Before the Mountains were brought forth. So Prov. 8. 23. The Word had a Being before the World had a Beginning. He that was in the Beginning never begun, and therefore ever was, ἄχρονος. So Nonnus.

2. His Co-exiſtence with the Father; The Word was with God, and the Word was God. Let none ſay, that when we invite them to Chriſt, we would draw them from God; for Chriſt is with God, and is God: 'Tis repeated again, v. 2. the ſame, the very ſame that we believe in and preach, was in the Beginning with God, i. e. he was ſo from Eternity: In the Beginning the World was from God, as it was created by him; but the Word was with God, as ever with him. The Word was with God, (1.) In reſpect of Eſſence and Subſtance, for the Word was God; a diſtinct Perſon or Subſiſtence, for he was with God; and yet the ſame in Subſtance, for he was God, Heb. 1. 3. (2.) In reſpect of Complacency and Felicity; there was a Glory and Happineſs which Chriſt had with God, before the World was, John 17. 5. the Son infinitely happy in the Enjoyment of his Father's Boſom, and no leſs the Father's Delight, the Son of his Love, Prov. 8. 30. (3.) In reſpect of Counſel and Deſign: the Myſtery of Man's Redemption, by this Word incarnate, was hid in God before all Worlds, Eph. 3. 9. He that undertook to bring us to God, (1 Pet. 3. 18.) was himſelf from Eternity with God: So that this grand Affair of Man's Reconciliation to God, was concerted between the Father and Son from Eternity, and they underſtand one another perfectly well in it, Zech. 6. 13. Mat. 11. 27. He was by him as one brought up with him for this Service, Prov. 8. 30. He was with God, and therefore is ſaid to come forth from the Father.

3. His Agency in making the World, v. 3. This is here, (1.) expreſly aſſerted, All Things were made by him. He was with God, not only ſo as to be acquainted with the Divine Counſels from Eternity, but to be active in the Divine Operations in the Beginning of Time. Then was I by him, Prov. 8. 30. God made the World by a Word, Pſal. 33. 6. and Chriſt was that Word: By him, not as a ſubordinate Inſtrument, but as a co-ordinate Agent, God made the World, Heb. 1. 2. not as the Work-man cuts by his Ax, but as the Body ſees by the Eye. (2.) The contrary is deny'd, Without him was not any Thing made that was made, from the higheſt Angel to the meaneſt Worm: God the Father did nothing without him in that Work. Now, (1.) This proves that he is God; for he that built all Things is God, Heb. 3. 4. The God of Iſrael often prov'd himſelf to be God with this, that he made all Things, Iſa. 40. 12, 28. ch. 42. 5. and ſee Jer. 10. 11, 12. (2.) This proves the Excellency of the Chriſtian Religion; the Author and Founder of it is the ſame, who was the Author and Founder of the World. How excellent muſt that Conſtitution needs be, which derives its Inſtitution from him who is the Fountain of all Excellency! When we worſhip Chriſt, we worſhip Him, to whom the Patriarchs gave Honour, as the Creator of the World, and on whom all Creatures depend. (3.) This ſhews how well qualify'd he was for the Work of our Redemption and Salvation: Help was laid upon one that was mighty indeed; for it was laid upon him that made all Things; and he is appointed the Author of our Bliſs, that was the Author of our Being.

4. The Original of Life and Light that is in him, v. 4. In him was Life. This further proves that he is God, and every way qualify'd for his Undertaking: For, (1.) he has Life in himſelf; not only the true God, but the living God. God is Life, he ſwears by himſelf, when he ſaith, As I live. (2.) All living Creatures have their Life in him; not only all the Matter of the Creation was made by him, but all the Life too that is in the Creation is deriv'd from him, and ſupported by him. 'Twas the Word of God that produc'd the moving Creatures having Life, Gen. 1. 20. Acts 17. 25. He is that Word by which Man lives, more than by Bread, Mat. 4. 4. (3.) Reaſonable Creatures have their Light from him: That Life, which is the Light of Men, comes from him. Life in Man is ſomething greater and nobler than it is in other Creatures; 'tis rational, and not meerly animal: When Man became a living Soul, his Life was Light, his Capacities ſuch as diſtinguiſh'd him from, and dignified him above the Beaſts that periſh. The Spirit of a Man is the Candle of the Lord, and it was the eternal Word that lighted this Candle. The Light of Reaſon, as well as the Life of Senſe, is deriv'd from him, and depends upon him. This proves him fit to undertake our Salvation; for Life and Light, ſpiritual and eternal Life and Light, are the two great Things that fallen Man, who lies ſo much under the Power of Death and Darkneſs, has need of: From whom may we better expect the Light of Divine Revelation than from him, who gave us the Light of human Reaſon? And if, when God gave us natural Life, that Life was in his Son; how readily ſhould we receive the Goſpel-Record, that he hath given us Eternal Life, and that Life too is in his Son.

5. The Manifeſtation of him to the Children of Men. It might be objected, if this eternal Word was all in all thus in the Creation of the World, whence is it that he has been ſo little taken notice of, and regarded? To this he anſwers, v. 5: The Light ſhines, but the Darkneſs comprehends it not. Obſerve,

1. The Diſcovery of the eternal Word to the lapſed World, even before he was manifeſted in the Fleſh; The Light ſhineth in Darkneſs. Light is Self-evidencing, and will make itſelf-known; this Light, from whence the Light of Men comes, hath ſhined, and doth ſhine. (1.) The eternal Word, as God, ſhines in the Darkneſs of natural Conſcience: Tho' Men, by the Fall, are become Darkneſs, yet that which may be known of God, is manifeſted in them: See Rom. 1. 19, 20. The Light of Nature, is this Light ſhining in Darkneſs: Something of the Power of the Divine Word, both as Creating, and as Commanding, all Mankind has an innate Senſe of; were it not for that, this Earth would be a Hell, a Place of utter Darkneſs; bleſſed be God it is not ſo yet. (2.) The eternal Word, as Mediator, ſhone in the Darkneſs of the Old Teſtament Types and Figures, and the Prophecies and Promiſes which were of the Meſſiah, from the Beginning. He that had commanded the Light of this World to ſhine out of Darkneſs, was himſelf long a Light ſhining in Darkneſs; there was a Veil upon this Light, 2 Cor. 3. 13.

2. The Diſability of the degenerate World to receive this Diſcovery: The Darkneſs comprehended it not; the moſt of Men receiv'd the Grace of God in theſe Diſcoveries in vain. (1.) The World of Mankind comprehended not the Natural Light that was in their Underſtandings, but became vain in their Imaginations concerning the eternal God, and the eternal Word, Rom. 1. 21, 27. The Darkneſs of Error and Sin over-power'd and quite eclips'd this Light. God ſpoke once, yea, twice, but Man perceived it not, Job 33. 14. (2.) The Jews that had the Light of the Old Teſtament, yet comprehended not Chriſt in it. As there was a Veil upon Moſes's Face, ſo there was upon the People's Hearts. In the Darkneſs of the Types and Shadows, the Light ſhone; but ſuch was the Darkneſs of their Underſtandings, that they could not ſee it. It was therefore requiſite, that Chriſt ſhould come both to rectify the Errors of the Gentile World, and to improve the Truths of the Jewiſh Church.

6 There was a man ſent from God, whoſe name was John. 7 The ſame came for a witneſs, to bear witneſs of the light, that all men through him might believe. 8 He was not that light, but was ſent to bear witneſs of that light. 9 That was the true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world. 10 He was in the world, and the world was made by him, and the world knew him not. 11 He came unto his own, and his own received him not. 12 But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the ſons of God, even to them that believe on his name. 13 Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the fleſh, nor of the will of man, but of God. 14 And the word was made fleſh, and dwelt among us (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father) full of grace and truth.

The Evangeliſt deſigns to bring in John Baptiſt, bearing an honourable Teſtimony to Jeſus Chriſt. Now in theſe Verſes, before he doth that,

Firſt, He gives us ſome Account of this Witneſs he is about to produce. His Name is John, which ſignifies gracious; his Converſation was auſtere, but he was not the leſs gracious. Now,

1. We are here told concerning him in general, that he was a Man ſent of God. The Evangeliſt had ſaid concerning Jeſus Chriſt, that he was with God, and that he was God; but here concerning John, that he was a Man, a meer Man. God is pleas'd to ſpeak to us by Men like ourſelves. John was a great Man, but he was a Man, a Son of Man; he was ſent from God, he was God's Meſſenger, ſo he is call'd, Mal. 3. 1. God gave him both his Miſſion, and his Meſſage, both his Credentials and his Inſtructions. John wrought no Miracle, nor do we find that he had Viſions and Revelations; but the Strictneſs and Purity of his Life and Doctrine, and the direct Tendency of both to reform the World, and to revive the Intereſts of God's Kingdom of Men, were plain Indications that he was ſent of God.

2. We are here told what his Office and Buſineſs was, v. 7. The ſame came for a Witneſs, an Eye-Witneſs, a leading Witneſs. He came εἰς μαρτυρίαν, for a Teſtimony. The legal Inſtitutions had been long a Teſtimony for God, in the Jewiſh Church; by them revealed Religion was kept up, hence we read of the Tabernacle of the Teſtimony, the Ark of the Teſtimony, the Law and the Teſtimony; but now Divine Revelation is to be turned into another Channel: Now the Teſtimony of Chriſt is the Teſtimony of God, 1 Cor. 1.6. and 2. 1. Among the Gentiles, God indeed had not left himſelf without Witneſs, Acts 14. 17. but the Redeemer had no Teſtimonies borne him among them: There was a profound Silence concerning him, till John Baptiſt came for a Witneſs to him. Now obſerve,

(1.) The Matter of his Teſtimony; he came to bear Witneſs of the Light. Light is a Thing which witneſſeth for itſelf, and carries its own Evidence along with it: But to thoſe who ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light, 'tis neceſſary there ſhould be thoſe that bear Witneſs to it. Chriſt's Light needs not Man's Teſtimony, but the World's Darkneſs doth. John was like the Night Watchman that goes round the Town, proclaiming the Approach of the Morning Light to thoſe that have cloſ'd their Eyes, and are not willing themſelves to obſerve it; or like that Watchman that was ſet to tell thoſe who aſk'd, What of the Night, that the Morning comes, and if ye will enquire, enquire ye; Iſa. 21. 11, 12. He was ſent of God, to tell the World that the long look'd for Meſſias was now come, who ſhould be a Light to lighten the Gentiles, and the Glory of his People Iſrael; and that Diſpenſation at hand, which would bring Life and Immortality to light.

(2.) The Deſign of his Teſtimony, That all Men through him might believe; not in him, but in Chriſt, whoſe Way he was ſent to prepare: He taught Men to look through him, and paſs through him to Chriſt; through the Doctrine of Repentance for Sin, to that of Faith in Chriſt. He prepared Men for the Reception and Entertainment of Chriſt and his Goſpel, by awakening them to a Sight and Senſe of Sin; and their Eyes being thereby opened, they might be ready to admit thoſe Beams of Divine Light which in the Perſon and Doctrine of the Meſſiah were now ready to ſhine in their Faces. If they would but receive this Witneſs of Man, they would ſoon find that the Witneſs of God was greater, 1 John 5. 9. See John 10. 41. Obſerve, it was deſign'd that all Men thro' him might believe, excluding none from the kind and beneficial Influences of his Miniſtry, that did not exclude themſelves, as Multitudes did, who rejected the Counſel of God againſt themſelves, and ſo received the Grace of God in vain.

(3.) We are here cautioned not to miſtake him for the Light, who only came to bear Witneſs to it; v. 8. He was not that Light that was expected and promiſed, but only was ſent to bear Witneſs of that great and ruling Light. He was a Star, like that which guided the wiſe Men to Chriſt: A Morning Star, but he was not the Sun, nor the Bridegroom, but a Friend of the Bridegroom; not the Prince, but his Harbinger. There were thoſe who reſted in John's Baptiſm, and look'd no farther, as thoſe Epheſians, Acts 19.3. To rectify whoſe Miſtake, the Evangeliſt here, when he ſpeaks very honourably of him, yet ſhews that he muſt veil to Chriſt. He was great as the Prophet of the Higheſt, but not the Higheſt himſelf. Note, We muſt take heed of over-valuing Miniſters, as well as under-valuing them; they are not our Lords, nor have they Dominion over our Faith, but Miniſters by whom we believe, Stewards of our Lord's Houſe. We muſt not give up ourſelves by an implicit Faith to their Conduct, for they are not that Light; but we muſt attend to, and receive their Teſtimony, for they are ſent to bear Witneſs of that Light; ſo then let us eſteem of them, and not otherwiſe. Had John pretended to be that Light, he had not been ſo much as a faithful Witneſs of that Light. Thoſe who uſurp the Honour of Chriſt, forfeit the Honour of being the Servants of Chriſt; yet John was very ſerviceable as a Witneſs to the Light, tho' he was not that Light. Thoſe may be of great Uſe to us, who yet ſhine with a borrowed Light.

Secondly, Before he goes on with John's Teſtimony, he returns to give us a farther Account of this Jeſus, to whom John bore Record. Having ſhew'd, in the beginning of the Chapter, the Glories of his God-head, he here comes to ſhew the Graces of his Incarnation, and his Favours to Man as Mediator.

1. Chriſt was the true Light, v. 9. not as if John Baptiſt were a falſe Light; but in compariſon with Chriſt, he was a very ſmall Light: Chriſt is that great Light that deſerves to be call'd ſo; other Lights are but figuratively and equivocally call'd ſo; Chriſt is the true Light. The Fountain of all Knowledge and of all Comfort muſt needs be the true Light. He is the true Light, and for the Proof of it, he doth not refer us to the Emanations of his Glory in the inviſible World, the Beams with which he enlightens that; but to thoſe Rays of his Light which are darted downwards, and with which this dark World of ours is enlightned. But how doth Chriſt lighten every Man that comes into the World?

(1.) By his Creating Power, he lightens every Man with the Light of Reaſon; that Life which is the Light of Men, is from him: All the Diſcoveries and Directions of Reaſon, all the Comfort it gives us, and all the Beauty it puts upon us, is from Chriſt.

(2.) By the Publication of his Goſpel to all Nations, he doth in effect lighten every Man. John Baptiſt was a Light, but he enlightened only Jeruſalem and Judea, and the Region round about Jordan, like a Candle that enlightens one Room; but Chriſt is the true Light, for he is a Light to lighten the Gentiles. His everlaſting Goſpel is to be preach'd to every Nation and Language, Rev. 14. 6. Like the Sun wich lightens every Man that will open his Eyes and receive its Light, Pſal. 19.6. to which the Preaching of the Goſpel is compar'd, Rom. 10.18. Divine Revelation is not now to be confin'd, as it had been, to one People, but to be diffuſed to all People, Mat. 5.15.

(3) By the Operation of his Spirit and Grace, he lighteth all thoſe that are enlightened to Salvation: And thoſe that are not enlightened by him, periſh in Darkneſs. The Light of the Knowledge of the Glory of God is ſaid to be in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt, and is compared with that Light which was at the beginning commanded to ſhine out of Darkneſs, and which lighteth every Man that comes into the World. Whatever Light any Man has, he is indebted to Chriſt for it, whether it be natural, or ſupernatural.

2. Chriſt was in the World, v. 10. He was in the World as the eſſential Word before his Incarnation, upholding all Things; but this ſpeaks of his being in the World, when he took our Nature upon him, and dwelt among us; ſee John 16. 28. I am come into the World. The Son of the Higheſt was here in this lower World; that Light in this dark World, that Holy Thing in this ſinful polluted World. He left a World of Bliſs and Glory, and was here in this melancholy, miſerable World. He undertook to reconcile the World to God, and therefore was in the World to treat about it, and ſettle that Affair; to ſatisfy God's Juſtice for the World, and diſcover God's Favour to the World. He was in the World, but not of it, and ſpeaks with an Air of Triumph, when he can ſay, Now I am no more in it, John 17.11. The greateſt Honour that ever was put upon this World, which is ſo mean and inconſiderable a part of the Univerſe, was, that the Son of God was once in the World; and as it ſhould engage our Affections to things above, that there Chriſt is, ſo it ſhould reconcile us to our preſent Abode in this World, that once Chriſt was here: He was in the World for a while, but it is ſpoken of as a Thing paſt; and ſo it will be ſaid of us ſhortly, we were in the World: Oh that when we are here no more, we may be where Chriſt is! Now obſerve here,

(1.) What reaſon Chriſt had to expect the moſt affectionate and reſpectful Welcome poſſible into this World, for the World was made by him: Therefore he came to ſave a loſt World, becauſe it was a World of his own making. Why ſhould not he concern himſelf to revive the Light that was of his own kindling, to reſtore a Life of his own infuſing, and to renew the Image that was originally of his own impreſſing? The World was made by him, and therefore ought to do him Homage.

(2.) What cold Entertainment he met with notwithſtanding: The World knew him not. The great Maker, Ruler, and Redeemer of the World was in it, and few or none of the Inhabitants of the World were aware of it. The Ox knows his Owner, but the more brutiſh World did not; they did not own him, did not bid him Welcome, becauſe they did not know him; and they did not know him, becauſe he did not make himſelf known in that way that they expected, in external Glory and Majeſty: His Kingdom came not with Obſervation, becauſe it was to be a Kingdom of Trial and Probation. When he ſhall come as a Judge, the World ſhall know him.

3. He came to his own, v. 11. not only to the World, which was his own, but to the People of Iſrael, that were peculiarly his own above all People; of them he came, among them he liv'd, and to them he was firſt ſent. The Jews were at this time a mean deſpicable People; the Crown was fallen from their Head; yet in remembrance of the ancient Covenant, as bad as they were, and as poor as they were, Chriſt was not aſhamed to look upon them as his own. Τὰ ἴδια, his own Things, not τοὺς ἰδίους, his own Perſons, as true Believers are call'd, John 13.1. The Jews were his, as a Man's Houſe and Lands, and Goods are his, which he uſeth and poſſeſſeth; but Believers are his, as a Man's Wife and Children are his own, which he loves and enjoys. He came to his own, to ſeek and ſave them, becauſe they were his own. He was ſent to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, for it was he whoſe own the Sheep were. Now obſerve,

1. That the generality rejected him; His own received him not. He had Reaſon to expect that thoſe who were his own, ſhould have bidden him Welcome, conſidering how great the Obligations were which they lay under to him; and how fair the Opportunities were, which they had of coming to the Knowledge of him. They had the Oracles of God, who told them beforehand when and where to expect him, and of what Tribe and Family he ſhould ariſe. He came among them himſelf, introduc'd with Signs and Wonders, and himſelf the greateſt; and therefore it is not ſaid of them as it was of the World, v. 10. that they knew him not; but his own, tho' they could not but know him, yet they received him not; did not receive his Doctrine, did not welcome him as the Meſſiah, but fortified themſelves againſt him. The Chief Prieſts, that were in a particular manner his own, for the Levites were God's Tribe, were Ring-leaders in this Contempt put upon him: Now this was very unjuſt, becauſe they were his own, and therefore he might command their Reſpects; and it was very unkind and ungrateful, becauſe he came to them to ſeek and ſave them, and ſo court their Reſpects. Note, Many who in Profeſſion are Chriſt's own, yet do not receive him, becauſe they will not part with their Sins, nor have him to reign over them.

2. That yet there was a Remnant who own'd him, and were faithful to him. Tho' his own receiv'd him not, yet there were thoſe that received him, v. 12. But as many as received him. Tho' Iſrael were not gathered, yet Chriſt was glorious: Tho' the Body of that Nation perſiſted and periſhed in Unbelief, yet there were many of them that were wrought upon to ſubmit to Chriſt, and many more that were not of that Fold. Obſerve here,

1. The true Chriſtian's Deſcription and Property: And that is, that he receives Chriſt, and believes on his Name; the latter explains the former. Note, (1.) To be a Chriſtian indeed, is to believe on Chriſt's Name; 'tis to aſſent to the Goſpel Diſcovery, and conſent to the Goſpel Propoſal concerning him. His Name is the Word of God; the King of Kings; the Lord of Righteonſneſs; Jeſus a Saviour. Now to believe on his Name, is to acknowledge that he is what theſe great Names ſpeak him, and to acquieſce in it, that he be ſo to us. (2.) Believing in Chriſt's Name, is receiving him as a Gift from God. We muſt receive his Doctrine as true and good; receive his Law as juſt and holy; receive his Offers as kind and advantageous; and we muſt receive the Image of his Grace, and Impreſſions of his Love, as the governing Principle of our Affections and Actions.

2. The true Chriſtian's Dignity and Privilege are Two-fold.

1. The Privilege of Adoption, which takes them into the Number of God's Children; To them gave he Power to become the Sons of God. Hitherto the Adoption pertained to the Jews only; Iſrael is my Son, my Firſt-born; but now by Faith in Chriſt, Gentiles are the Children of God, Gal. 3.26. They have Power, ἐξουσίαν, Authority; for no Man taketh this Power to himſelf, but who is authorized by the Goſpel Charter. To them gave he a Right; to them gave he this Prehimence. This Power have all the Saints. Note, (1.) It is the unſpeakable Privilege of all good Chriſtians, that they are become the Children of God. They were by Nature Children of Wrath, Children of this World. If they be the Children of God, they become ſo, are made ſo. Fiunt non naſcuntur Chriſtiani. Tertul. Behold what manner of Love is this. 1 John 3.1. God calls them his Children, they call him Father, and are entitled to all the Privileges of Children; thoſe of their Way, and thoſe of their Home. (2.) The Privilege of Adoption is entirely owing to Jeſus Chriſt; he gave this Power to them that believe on his Name. God is his Father, and ſo ours; and it is by virtue of our Eſpouſals to him, and Union with him, that we ſtand related to God as a Father. 'Twas in Chriſt that we were predeſtinated to the Adoption; from him we receive both the Character and the Spirit of Adoption, and he is the Firſt-born among many Brethren. The Son of God became a Son of Man, that the Sons and Daughters of Men might become the Sons and Daughters of God Almighty.

2. The Privilege of Regeneration, v. 13. Which were born. Note, All the Children of God are born again; all that are adopted are regenerated: This Real Change evermore attends that Relative one. Where-ever God confers the Dignity of Children, he creates the Nature and Diſpoſition of Children; Men cannot do ſo when they adopt. Now here we have an Account of the Original of this new Birth. 1. Negatively, (1.) It is not propagated by Natural Generation from our Parents. It is not of Blood, nor of the Will of the Fleſh, nor of corruptible Seed; 1 Pet. 1. 23. Man is called Fleſh and Blood, becauſe thence he has his Original; but we do not become the Children of God, as we become the Children of our Natural Parents. Note, Grace doth not run in a Blood, as Corruption doth. Man polluted, begat a Son in his own Likeneſs, Gen. 5. 3. But Man ſanctified and renewed, doth not beget a Son in that Likeneſs. The Jews gloried much in their Parentage, and the noble Blood that run in their Veins; we are Abraham's Seed, and therefore to them pertained the Adoption, becauſe they were born of that Blood; but this New Teſtament Adoption is not founded in any ſuch natural Relation. (1.) It is not produced by the Natural Power of our own Will. As it is not of Blood, or of the Will of the Fleſh, ſo neither is it of the Will of Man: That labours under a moral Impotency of determining itſelf to that which is Good; ſo that the Principles of the Divine Life are not of our own Planting, 'tis the Grace of God that makes us willing to be his: Nor can human Laws or Writings prevail to ſanctify and regenerate a Soul; if they cou'd, the new Birth would be by the Will of Man. But 2. Poſitively, it is of God. This new Birth is owing to the Word of God, as the Means, 1 Pet. 1. 23. and to the Spirit of God as the great and ſole Author. True Believers are born of God, 1 John 3.9. and 5.1. and this is neceſſary to their Adoption; for we cannot expect the Love of God, if we have not ſomething of his Likeneſs, nor claim the Privilege of Adoption, if we be not under the Power of Regeneration.

4. The Word was made Fleſh, v. 14. This expreſſeth Chriſt's Incarnation more clearly than thoſe before. By his Divine Preſence he always was in the World, and by his Prophets he came to his own. But now the Fulneſs of time was come, he was ſent forth after another manner, made of a Woman, Gal. 4. 4. God manifeſted in the Fleſh, according to the Faith and Hope of holy Job, Chap. 19. 26. Yet ſhall I ſee God in my Fleſh. Obſerve here,

1. The Human Nature of Chriſt with which he was veil'd; and that expreſs'd two Ways.

(1.) The Word was made Fleſh. Foraſmuch as the Children who were to become the Sons of God, were Partakers of Fleſh and Blood, he alſo himſelf likewiſe took part of the ſame, Heb. 2. 14. The Socinians agree, that Chriſt is both God and Man, but they ſay, he was Man, and was made God, as Moſes, Exod. 7. 1. directly contrary to John here, who ſaith, θεὸς ἦν, he was God, but σὰρξ ἐγένετο, he was made Fleſh. Compare, v. 1. with this. This ſpeaks not only that he was really and truly Man, but that he ſubjected himſelf to the Miſeries and Calamities of the Human Nature. He was made Fleſh, the meaneſt part of Man; Fleſh ſpeaks Man weak, and he was crucified through Weakneſs, 2 Cor. 13. 4. Fleſh ſpeaks Man Mortal and Dying, Pſal. 78. 39. and Chriſt was put to death in the Fleſh, 1 Pet. 3. 18. Nay, Fleſh ſpeaks Man tainted with Sin, Gen. 6. 3. And Chriſt, tho' he was perfectly holy and harmleſs, yet appeared in the Likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. and was made Sin for us, 2 Cor. 5. 6. When Adam had ſinn'd, God ſaid to him, Duſt thou art, not only becauſe made out of the Duſt, but becauſe by Sin he was ſunk into Duſt: His Fall did σωματῶν τὴν ψύχην, turn him as it were all into Body, made him Earthly: Therefore he that was made a Curſe for us, was made Fleſh, and condemn'd Sin in the Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. Wonder at this, that the Eternal Word ſhould be made Fleſh, when Fleſh was come into ſuch an ill Name; that he who made all Things, ſhould himſelf be made Fleſh, one of the meaneſt things, and ſubmit to that from which he was at the greateſt diſtance. The Voice that uſhered in the Goſpel, cried, All Fleſh is Graſs, Iſa. 40. 1. to make the Redeemer's Love the more wonderful; who to redeem and ſave us, was made Fleſh, and wither'd as Graſs, but the Word of the Lord, who was made Fleſh, endures for ever; when made Fleſh, he ceaſed not to be the Word of God.

(2.) He dwelt among us, here in this lower World. Having taken upon him the Nature of Man, he put himſelf into the Place and Condition of other Men. The Word might have been made Fleſh, and dwelt among the Angels; but having taken a Body of the ſame Mould with us, in it he came and reſided in the ſame World with us. He dwelt among us, us Worms of the Earth, us that he had no need of, us that he got nothing by; us that were corrupt and depraved, and revolted from God. The Lord God came and dwelt even among the Rebellious, Pſal. 68, 18. He that dwelt among Angels, thoſe noble and excellent Beings, came and dwelt among us that are a Generation of Vipers; us Sinners, which was worſe to him than David's dwelling in Meſech and Kedar; or Ezekiel's dwelling among Scorpions; or the Church of Pergamus, dwelling where Satan's Seat is. When we look upon the upper World, the World of Spirits, how mean and contemptible doth this Fleſh, this Body appear, which we carry about with us, and this World in which our Lot is caſt; and how hard is it to a contemplative Mind to be reconciled to them? But that the Eternal Word was made Fleſh, was cloath'd with a Body as we are, and dwelt in this World as we do; this has put an Honour upon them both, and ſhould make us willing to abide in the Fleſh while God has any Work for us to do; for Chriſt dwelt in this lower World, as bad as it is, till he had finiſhed what he had to do there, John 17.4. He dwelt among us Jews, that the Scripture might be fulfill'd. He ſhall dwell in the Tents of Shem, Gen. 9.27. And ſee Zech. 2. 10. Tho' the Jews were unkind to him, yet he continued to dwell among them; tho', (as ſome of the antient Writers tell us) he was invited to better Treatment by Abgarus, King of Edeſſa, yet he removed not to any other Nation.

He dwelt among us. He was in the World, not as a Wayfaring Man that tarries but for a Night, but he dwelt among us, made a long Reſidence: The Original Word is obſervable, ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν, he dwelt among us, he dwelt as in a Tabernacle; which intimates, (1.) That he dwelt here in very mean Circumſtances, as Shepherds that dwell in Tents: He did not dwell among us as in a Palace, but as in a Tent; for he had not where to lay his Head, and was always upon the remove. (2.) That his State here was a Military State; Soldiers dwell in Tents, he had long ſince proclaim'd War with the Seed of the Serpent, and now he takes the Field in Perſon; ſets up his Standard, and pitcheth his Tent, to proſecute this War. (3.) That his Stay among us was not to be perpetual. He dwelt here as in a Tent, not as at Home. The Patriarchs by dwelling in Tabernacles, confeſſed that they were Strangers and Pilgrims on Earth, and ſought the better Country, and ſo did Chriſt, leaving us an example, Heb. 13. 13, 14. (4.) That as of old God dwelt in the Tabernacle of Moſes, by the Shechinah, between the Cherubims, ſo now he dwells in the human Nature of Chriſt; that is now the true Shechinah, the Symbol of God's peculiar Preſence: And we are to make all our Addreſſes to God through Chriſt, and from him to receive Divine Oracles.

2. The Beams of his Divine Glory that darted through this Veil of Fleſh. We beheld his Glory, the Glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of Grace and Truth. The Sun is ſtill the Fountain of Light, tho' eclips'd or clouded; ſo Chriſt was ſtill the Brightneſs of his Father's Glory, even then when he dwelt among us in this lower World. And how ſlightly ſoever the Jews thought of him, there were thoſe that ſaw through the Veil. Obſerve,

1. Who were the Witneſſes of this Glory; We, his Diſciples and Followers, that convers'd moſt freely and familiarly with him; we among whom he dwelt. Other Men diſcover their Weakneſſes to thoſe that are moſt familiar with them, but it was not ſo with Chriſt; thoſe that were moſt intimate with him, ſaw moſt of his Glory. As it was with his Doctrine, the Diſciples knew the Myſteries of it, while others had it under the Veil of Parables; ſo it was with his Perſon, they ſaw the Glory of his Divinity, while others ſaw only the Veil of his human Nature. He manifeſted himſelf to them, and not unto the World. Theſe Witneſſes were a competent Number, Twelve of them, a whole Jury of Witneſſes; Men of Plainneſs and Integrity, and far from any Thing of Deſign or Intrigue.

2. What Evidence they had of it; we ſaw it. They had not their Evidence by Report, at ſecond hand, but were themſelves Eye-Witneſſes of thoſe Proofs on which they built their Teſtimony, that he was the Son of the Living God; We ſaw it. The Word ſignifies a fixed abiding Sight, ſuch as gave them an Opportunity of making their Obſervations. This Apoſtle himſelf explains this, What we declare unto you of the Word of Life, is, what we have ſeen with our Eyes, and what we have look'd upon, 1 John 1.1.

3. What the Glory was; The Glory as of the only begotten of the Father. The Glory of the Word made Fleſh, was ſuch a Glory as became the only begotten Son of God, and could not be the Glory of any other. Note (1.) Jeſus Chriſt is the only begotten of the Father: Believers are the Children of God by the ſpecial Favour of Adoption, and the ſpecial Grace of Regeneration; they are in a Senſe ὁμοιούσιοι, of a like Nature, 1 Pet. 1.4. and have the Image of his Perfections; but Chriſt is ὁμοούσιος, of the ſame Nature, and is the expreſs Image of his Perſon, and the Son of God by an eternal Generation. Angels are Sons of God, but he never ſaid to any of them, This Day have I begotten thee, Heb. 1.5. (2.) He was evidently declared to be the only begotten of the Father, by that which was ſeen of his Glory when he dwelt among us. Tho' he was in the Form of a Servant in reſpect of outward Circumſtances, yet in reſpect of Graces, his Form was as that of the Fourth in the fiery Furnace, like the Son of God. His Divine Glory appeared in the Holineſs and Heavenlineſs of his Doctrine; in his Miracles, which extorted from many this Acknowledgement, that he was the Son of God; it appeared in the Purity and Goodneſs, and Beneficence of his whole Converſation: God's Goodneſs is his Glory, and he went about doing good: He ſpoke and acted in every thing as an incarnate Deity. Perhaps the Evangeliſt had a particular Regard to the Glory of his Transfiguration, which he was an Eye-Witneſs of; ſee 2 Pet. 1.16,17,18. God's calling him his beloved Son in whom he was well pleas'd, ſpoke him the only begotten of the Father; but the full Proof of this was at his Reſurrection.

4. What Advantage thoſe he dwelt among had from this. He dwelt among them full of Grace and Truth. In the Old Tabernacle wherein God dwelt was the Law, in this was Grace; in that were Types, in this was Truth. The incarnate Word was every way qualified for his Undertaking as Mediator, for he was full of Grace and Truth, the two great things that fallen Man ſtands in need of; and this proved him to be the Son of God as much as the Divine Power and Majeſty that appeared in him. (1.) He has a Fulneſs of Grace and Truth for himſelf; he had the Spirit without Meaſure. He was full of Grace, i. e. fully acceptable to his Father, and therefore qualified to interceed for us; and full of Truth, i. e. fully appris'd of thoſe things he was to reveal, and therefore fit to inſtruct us. He had a Fulneſs of Knowledge and a Fulneſs of Compaſſion. (2.) He has a Fulneſs of Grace and Truth for us. He receiv'd that he might give, and God was well pleaſed in him, that he might be well pleaſed with us in him; and this was the Truth of the legal Types.

15 ¶ John bare Witneſs of him, and cried, ſaying, This was he of whom I ſpake. He that cometh after me, is preferred before me; for he was before me. 16 And of his Fulneſs have all we received, and grace for grace. 17 For the Law was given by Moſes, but grace and truth came by Jeſus Chriſt. 18 No man hath ſeen God at any time; the only begotten Son which is in the Boſom of the Father, he hath declared him.

In theſe Verſes,

Firſt, The Evangeliſt begins again to give us John Baptiſt's Teſtimony concerning Chriſt, v. 15. He had ſaid, v. 8. that he came for a Witneſs; now here he tells us that he did accordingly bear Witneſs.

Here, 1. Obſerve, how he expreſs'd his Teſtimony, he cried, according to the Prediction, that he ſhould be the Voice of one crying. The Old Teſtament Prophets cried aloud to ſhew People their Sins; this New Teſtament Prophet cried aloud to ſhew People their Saviour. This intimates, (1.) That it was an open publick Teſtimony proclaimed, that all manner of Perſons might take Notice of it, for all are concerned in it. Falſe Teachers entice ſecretly, but Wiſdom publiſhes her Dictates in the chief Places of Concourſe. (2.) That he was free and hearty in bearing this Teſtimony. He cried as one that was both well aſſured of, and well affected to the Truth he witneſſed of. He that had leaped in his Mother's Womb for Joy of Chriſt's Approach when newly conceived, doth now with a like Exultation of Spirit, welcome his publick Appearance.

2. What his Teſtimony was. He appeals to what he had ſaid at the Beginning of his Miniſtry, when he had directed them to expect one that ſhould come after him, whoſe Fore-runner he was, and never intended any other but to lead them to him, and to prepare his Way. This he had given them notice of from the Firſt. Note, It is very comfortable to a Miniſter to have the Teſtimony of his Conſcience for him, that he ſet out in his Miniſtry with honeſt Principles and ſincerce Intentions, with a ſingle Eye to the Glory and Honour of Chriſt. Now what he had then ſaid, he applies to this Jeſus whom he had lately baptiz'd, and who was ſo remarkably owned from Heaven: This was he of whom I ſpake. John did not tell them there would ſhortly appear ſuch a one among them, and then leave them to find him out; but in this he went beyond all the Old Teſtament Prophets, that he particularly ſpecified the Perſon, this was he, that's the very Man I told you of, and to him all I ſaid is to be accommodated. Now what was it he ſaid?

1. He had given the Preference to this Jeſus: He that comes after me, is preferred before me. In the time of his Birth and publick Appearance; that ſucceeds me in Preaching, and making Diſciples, yet is a more excellent Perſon upon all Accounts; as the Prince or Peer that comes after, is prefer'd before the Harbinger, or Gentleman-Uſher that makes way for him. Note, Jeſus Chriſt, who was to be called the Son of the higheſt, Luke 1.32. was prefer'd before John Baptiſt, who was to be called only the Prophet of the higheſt, Luke 1.76. John was a Miniſter of the New Teſtament, but Chriſt was the Mediator of the New Teſtament. And obſerve, Tho' John was a great Man, and had a great Name and Intereſt, yet he was forward to give the Preference to him to whom it belonged. Note, all the Miniſters of Chriſt muſt prefer him and his Intereſt, before themſelves and all their own Intereſt? They will make an ill Account, That ſeek their own Things, not the Things of Chriſt, Phil. 2.21. He comes after me, and yet is preferred before me. Note, God diſpenſeth his Gifts according to his good Pleaſure, and many times croſſeth Hands, as Jacob did, preferring the Younger before the Elder. Paul far outſtrip'd thoſe that were in Chriſt before him.

2. He here gives a good Reaſon for it, for he was before me. Πρῶτός μου ἦν, He was my firſt, or firſt to me; he was my firſt Cauſe, my Original. The Firſt is one of God's Names, Iſa. 44. 6. He is before me, is my Firſt. (1.) In reſpect of Seniority, he was before me, for he was before Abraham, John 8. 58. Nay he was before all Things, Col. 1.17. I but of Yeſterday, he from Eternity. It was but in thoſe Days that John Baptiſt came, Mat. 3.1. but the goings forth of our Lord Jeſus were of Old, from Everlaſting, Mic. 5.2. This proves two Natures in Chriſt; Chriſt, as Man, came after John, as to his publick Appearance; Chriſt as God, was before him; and how could he otherwiſe be before him, but by an eternal Exiſtence? (2.) In reſpect of Supremacy, for he was my Prince; ſo ſome Princes are call'd the Firſt; πρῶτον: 'Tis he for whoſe Sake and Service I am ſent; he is my Maſter, I am his Miniſter and Meſſenger.

Secondly, He preſently returns again to ſpeak of Jeſus Chriſt, and cannot go on with John Baptiſt's Teſtimony till v. 19. The 16th Verſe has a manifeſt Connexion with v. 14. where the incarnate Word was ſaid to be full of Grace and Truth. Now here he makes this not only the Matter of our Adoration, but of our Thankfulneſs, becauſe from that Fulneſs of his we all have received. He received Gifts for Men, Pſal. 68. 18. that he might give Gifts to Men, Eph. 4.8. He was fill'd that he might fill all in all, Eph. 1. 23. might fill our Treaſures, Prov. 8.21. He has a Fountain of Fulneſs overflowing. We all have received. All we Apoſtles, ſo ſome. We have received the Favour of this Apoſtleſhip, that's Grace; and a Fitneſs for it, that's Truth; or rather, All we Believers, as many as received him, v. 17. received from him. Note, All true Believers receive from Chriſt's Fulneſs; the beſt and greateſt Saints cannot live without him, the meaneſt and weakeſt may live by him. This excludes proud boaſting, that we have nothing but we have received it; and ſilenceth perplexing Fears, that we want nothing but we may receive it.

Let us ſee what it is that we have received.

1. We have received Grace for Grace. Our Receivings by Chriſt are all ſummed up in this one Word Grace; we have received, καὶ χάριν, even Grace, ſo great a Gift, ſo rich, ſo invaluable; we have received no leſs than Grace; that's a Gift to be ſpoken of with an Emphaſis. 'Tis repeated, Grace for Grace; for to every Stone in this Building, as well as to the top Stone, we muſt cry, Grace, Grace. Obſerve,

1. The Bleſſing receiv'd; 'tis Grace: the good Will of God towards us, and the good Work of God in us. God's good Will works the good Work, and then the good Work qualifies us for further Tokens of his good Will. As the Ciſtern receives Water from the Fulneſs of the Fountain, the Branches Sap from the Fulneſs of the Root, and the Air Light from the fulneſs of the Sun, ſo we receive Grace from the Fulneſs of Chriſt.

2. The manner of its Reception; Grace for Grace, χάριν ἀντὶ χάριτος. The Phraſe is ſingular, and Interpreters put different Senſes upon it, each of which will be of uſe to illuſtrate the unſearchable Riches of the Grace of Chriſt. Grace for Grace ſpeak,

1. The Freeneſs of his Grace; 'tis Grace for Grace ſake; ſo Grotius. We receive Grace, not for our ſakes, be it known to us, but even ſo, Father, becauſe it ſeem'd good in thy ſight. 'Tis a Gift according to Grace, Rom.12.6. It is Grace to us for the ſake of Grace to Jeſus Chriſt. God was well pleas'd in him, and is therefore well pleaſed with us in him, *Eph.*1.6.

2. The Fulneſs of this Grace. Grace for Grace is abundance of Grace, Grace upon Grace; ſo Camero; one Grace heap'd upon another; as Skin for Skin, is Skin after Skin, even all that a Man has, Job 2.4. 'Tis a Bleſſing pour'd out that there ſhall not be room to receive it; plenteous Redemption. One Grace a Pledge of more Grace. Joſeph, he will add. 'Tis ſuch a Fulneſs, as is called the Fulneſs of God, which we are fill'd with. We are not ſtraiten'd in the Grace of Chriſt, if we be not ſtraiten'd in our own Boſoms.

3. The Serviceableneſs of this Grace. Grace for Grace, is Grace for the promoting and advancing of Grace. Grace to be exercis'd by ourſelves, gracious Habits for gracious Acts; Grace to be miniſter'd to others, gracious Vouchſafements for gracious Performances. Grace is a Talent to be traded with. The Apoſtles received Grace, *Rom.*1.5. *Eph.*3.8. that they might communicate it, 1 *Pet.*4.10.

4. The Subſtitution of New Teſtament Grace, in the room and ſtead of Old Teſtament Grace; ſo Beza. And this Senſe is confirm'd by what follows, v. 17. for the Old Teſtament had Grace in Type, the New Teſtament has Grace in Truth. There was a Grace under the Old Teſtament, the Goſpel was preach'd then, *Gal.*3.8. but that Grace is ſuperſeded, and we have Goſpel Grace inſtead of it, a Glory which excelleth, 2 Cor.3.10. Diſcoveries of Grace are now more clear, Diſtributions of Grace far more plentiful; this is Grace inſtead of Grace.

5. It ſpeaks the Augmentation and Continuance of Grace; Grace for Grace, is one Grace to improve, confirm, and perfect another Grace. We are changed into the Divine Image, from Glory to Glory, from one degree of glorious Grace to another, 2 Cor. 3.18. Thoſe that have true Grace, have that for more Grace, Jam. 4.6. When God gives Grace, he ſaith, Take this in part, for he which hath promiſed will perform.

6. It ſpeaks the Agreeableneſs and Conformity of Grace in the Saints, to the Grace that is in Jeſus Chriſt: ſo Mr. Clerk. Grace for Grace is Grace in us anſwering to Grace in him, as the Impreſſion upon the Wax anſwers the Seal, Line for Line. The Grace we receive from Chriſt changeth us into the ſame Image, 2 Cor. 3.18. the Image of the Son, Rom. 8.29. the Image of the Heavenly, 1 Cor.15.49.

2. We have received Grace and Truth, v.17. He had ſaid *v.*14. that Chriſt was full of Grace and Truth; now here he ſaith, that by him Grace and Truth come to us. From Chriſt we receive Grace, this is a String he delights to harp upon, he cannot go off from it. Two things he further obſerves in this Verſe concerning this Grace.

(1.) Its Preference above the Law of Moſes. The Law was given by Moſes, and it was a glorious Diſcovery, both of God's Will concerning Man, and his good Will to Man; but the Goſpel of Chriſt is a much clearer Diſcovery, both of Duty and Happineſs. That which was given by Moſes, was purely terrifying and threatning, and bound with Penalties, a Law which could not give Life, which was given with abundance of Terror, *Heb.*12.18. But that which is given by Jeſus Chriſt, is of another Nature, it has all the beneficial Uſes of the Law, but not the Terror, for it is Grace. Grace teaching, Tit.2.11. Grace reigning, Rom.5.21. It is a Law, but a remedial Law. The Endearments of Love are the Genius of the Goſpel, not the Affrightments of Law and the Curſe.

(2.) Its Connexion with Truth; Grace and Truth. In the Goſpel we have the Diſcovery of the greateſt Truths, to be embrac'd by the Underſtanding, as well as of the richeſt Grace to be embrac'd by the Will and Affections. It is a faithful Saying, and worthy of all Acceptation, i. e. it is Grace and Truth. The Offers of Grace are ſincere, and what we may venture our Souls upon; they are made in earneſt, for it is Grace and Truth. 'Tis Grace and Truth, with reference to the Law that was given by Moſes: For it is, (1.) the Performance of all the Old Teſtament Promiſes. In the Old Teſtament, we often find Mercy and Truth put together, i. e. Mercy according to Promiſe; ſo here Grace and Truth is Grace according to Promiſe: See Luke 1.72. 1 Kings 8.56. (2.) It is the Subſtance of all the Old Teſtament Types and Shadows. Something of Grace there was both in the Ordinances that were inſtituted for Iſrael, and the Providences that were concerning Iſrael; but they were only Shadows of good Things to come, even of that Grace that is to be brought to us by the Revelation of Jeſus Chriſt. He is the true Paſchal Lamb, the true Scape-Goat, the true Manna, &c. They had Grace in the Picture, we have Grace in the Perſon, that's Grace and Truth. Grace and Truth came, ἐγένετο, was made; the ſame Word that was uſed, *v.*3. concerning Chriſt's making all things. The Law was only made known by Moſes, but the Being of this Grace and Truth, as well as the Diſcovery of it, is owing to Jeſus Chriſt; this was made by him, as the World at firſt was; and by him this Grace and Truth do conſiſt.

3. Another thing we receive from Chriſt, is, a clear Revelation of God to us, *v.*18. He hath declared God to us, whom no Man hath ſeen at any time. This was the Grace and Truth which came by Chriſt, the Knowledge of God, and an Acquaintance with him. Obſerve,

1. The Inſufficiency of all other Diſcoveries; No Man hath ſeen God at any Time. This ſpeaks, (1.) That the Nature of God being Spiritual, he is inviſible to bodily Eyes, he is a Being whom no Man hath ſeen or can ſee, 1 Tim. 6.16. we have therefore need to live by Faith, by which we ſee him that is inviſible, Heb.11.27. (2.) That the Revelation which God made of himſelf in the Old Teſtament, was very ſhort and imperfect, in compariſon with that which he has made by Chriſt; no Man hath ſeen God at any Time, i. e. what was ſeen and known of God before the Incarnation of Chriſt, was nothing to that which is now ſeen and known; Life and Immortality are now brought to a much clearer Light than they were then. (3.) That none of the Old Teſtament Prophets were ſo well qualified to make known the Mind and Will of God to the Children of Men, as our Lord Jeſus was, for none of them had ſeen God at any time; Moſes beheld the Similitude of the Lord, Num.12.8. but was told he could not ſee his Face, Exod.33.20. But this recommends Chriſt's Holy Religion to us, that it was founded by one that had ſeen God, and knew more of his Mind than any one elſe ever did, for he had ſeen him, which they never did.

2. The All-ſufficiency of the Goſpel Diſcovery, prov'd from its Author, the only begotten Son which is in the Boſom of the Father, he has declared him. Obſerve here,

1. How fit he was to make this Diſcovery, and every way qualified for it. He, and none but he, was worthy to take the Book and open the Seals, Rev. 5.9. For (1.) He is the only begotten Son, and who ſo likely to know the Father as the Son; or in whom is the Father better known than in the Son, *Mat.*11.27. He is of the ſame Nature with the Father, ſo that he who hath ſeen him hath ſeen the Father, John 14.9. The Servant is not ſuppos'd to know ſo well what his Lord doth, as the Son. John 15.15. Moſes was faithful as a Servant, but Chriſt as a Son. (2.) He is in the Boſom of the Father. He had lain in his Boſom from Eternity; when he was here upon Earth, yet ſtill as God he was in the Boſom of the Father, and thither he returned when he aſcended: In the Boſom of the Father, i.e. 1. In the Boſom of his ſpecial Love, dear to him, in whom he was well pleas'd, always his Delight. All God's Saints are in his Hand, but his Son was in his Boſom, in the Nature and Eſſence, and therefore in the higheſt Degree one in Love. 2. In the Boſom of his ſecret Counſels. As there was a mutual Complacency, ſo there was mutual Conſciouſneſs between the Father and Son, *Mat.*11.27. None ſo fit as he to make known God, for none knew his Mind ſo as he did. Our moſt ſecret Counſels we are ſaid to hide in our Boſom (in petto) Chriſt was privy to the Boſom Counſels of the Father. The Prophets ſat down at his Feet as Scholars, Chriſt lay in his Boſom as a Friend. See *Eph.*3.11.

2. How free he was in making this Diſcovery: He hath declared; Him is not in the Original. He hath declar'd that of God, which no Man had at any time ſeen or known; not only that which was hid of God, but that which was hid in God, *Eph.*3.9. ἐξηγήσατο, it ſignifies a plain, clear, and full Diſcovery, not by general and doubtful Hints, but by particular Explications: He that runs may now read the Will of God, and the Way of Salvation. This is the Grace, this the Truth that came by Jeſus Chriſt.

19. ¶ And this is the record of John, when the Jews ſent Prieſts and Levites from Jeruſalem, to aſk him, Who art thou? 20 And he confeſſed, and denied not: but confeſſed, I am not the Chriſt. 21 And they aſked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And he ſaith, I am not. Art thou that Prophet? And he anſwered, No. 22 Then ſaid they unto him, Who art thou? that we may give an anſwer to them that ſent us: what ſayeſt thou of thy ſelf? 23 He ſaid, I am the Voice of one crying in the Wilderneſs, Make ſtrait the way of the Lord, as ſaid the Prophet Eſaias. 24 And they which were ſent, were of the Phariſees. 25 And they aſked him, and ſaid unto him, Why baptizeſt thou then, if thou be not that Chriſt, nor Elias, neither that prophet? 26 John anſwered them, ſaying, I baptize with water: but there ſtandeth one among you, whom ye know not; 27 He it is, who coming after me, is preferred before me, whoſe ſhoes latchet I am not worthy to unlooſe. 28 Theſe things were done in Bethabara, beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing.

We have here the Teſtimony of John, which he delivered to the Meſſengers, which were ſent from Jeruſalem to examine him. Obſerve here, Firſt, Who they were that ſent to him, and who they were that were ſent.

1. They that ſent to him were the Jews at Jeruſalem; the great Sanhedrim, or High-Commiſſion Court, which ſate at Jeruſalem, and was the Repreſentative of the Jewiſh Church, who took Cognizance of all Matters relating to Religion. One would think, they that were the Fountains of Learning, and the Guides of the Church, ſhould have (by Books) underſtood the Times ſo well, as to know that the Meſſiah was at hand, and therefore ſhould preſently have known him that was his Forerunner, and readily embraced him; but, inſtead of that, they ſent Meſſengers to croſs Queſtions with him. Secular Learning, Honour and Power, ſeldom diſpoſe Mens Minds to the Reception of Divine Light.

2. They that were ſent, were, (1.) Prieſts and Levites, probably Members of the Council, Men of Learning, Gravity and Authority; John Baptiſt was himſelf a Prieſt, of the Seed of Aaron, and therefore 'twas not fit he ſhould be examined by any but Prieſts. It was propheſied concerning John's Miniſtry, that it ſhould purify the Sons of Levi, Mal. 3. 3. and therefore they were jealous of him and his Reformation. (2.) They were of the Phariſees, proud, Self-juſtitiaries, that thought they needed no Repentance; and therefore could not bear one that made it his Buſineſs to preach Repentance.

Secondly, On what Errand they were ſent; 'twas to enquire concerning John and his Baptiſm. They did not ſend for John up to them, probably becauſe they feared the People, leſt the People where John was, ſhould be provoked to riſe, or leſt the People, where they were, ſhould be brought acquainted with him; they thought 'twas good keeping him at a Diſtance.

They enquire concerning him, (1.) To ſatisfy their Curioſity; as the Athenians enquired concerning Paul's Doctrine, for the Novelty of it, Acts 17. 19, 20. Such a proud Conceit they had of themſelves, that the Doctrine of Repentance was to them ſtrange Doctrine. (2.) 'Twas to ſhew their Authority. They thought they looked great, when they called him to Account, whom all Men counted as a Prophet, and arraigned him at their Bar. (3.) 'Twas with a Deſign to ſuppreſs him, and ſilence him, if they could find any Colour of it, for they were jealous of his growing Intereſt; and his Miniſtry agreed neither with the Moſaick Diſpenſation, which they had been long under, nor with the Notions they had formed of the Meſſiah's Kingdom.

Thirdly, What was the Anſwer he gave them, and his Account, both concerning himſelf, and concerning his Baptiſm, in both which he witneſſed to Chriſt.

1. Concerning himſelf, and what he profeſſed himſelf to be. They asked him, Σὺ τίς εἶ; Thou, who art thou? John's appearing in the World was ſurprizing; he was in the Wilderneſs till the Day of his ſhewing unto Iſrael; his Spirit, his Converſe, his Doctrine, had ſomething in them, which commanded, and gained Reſpect; but he did not, as Seducers do, give out himſelf to be ſome great One. He was more induſtrious to do Good, than to appear Great; and therefore waved ſaying any thing of himſelf, till he was legally interrogated. Thoſe ſpeak beſt for Chriſt, that ſay leaſt of themſelves, whoſe own Works praiſe them, not their own Lips.

He anſwers their Interrogatory,

1. Negatively. He was not that great One, whom ſome took him to be. God's faithful Witneſſes ſtand more upon their Guard, againſt undue Reſpects, than againſt unjuſt Contempts. Paul writes as warmly againſt thoſe that over-valued him, and ſaid, I am of Paul, as againſt thoſe that under-valued him, and ſaid, his bodily Preſence was weak, and rent his Cloths when he was called a God.

1. John diſowns himſelf to be the Chriſt, v. 20. he ſaid, I am not the Chriſt, who was now expected and waited for. Note, The Miniſters of Chriſt muſt remember that they are not Chriſt, and therefore muſt not uſurp his Powers and Prerogatives, nor aſſume the Praiſes due to him only. They are not Chriſt, and therefore muſt not lord it over God's Heritage, nor pretend to a Dominion over the Faith of Chriſtians. They cannot create Grace and Peace, they cannot enlighten, convert, quicken, comfort, for they are not Chriſt. Obſerve how emphatically this is here expreſs'd concerning John: He confeſſed and denied not, but confeſſed; it notes his Vehemence and Conſtancy in making this Proteſtation. Note, Temptations to Pride, and aſſuming that Honour to ourſelves which doth not belong to us, ought to be reſiſted with a great deal of Vigour and Earneſtneſs. When John was taken to be the Meſſiah, he did not connive at it with a Si populus vult decipi decipiatur; but openly and ſolemnly without any Ambiguities, confeſſed, I am not the Chriſt; ὅτι οὐκ εἰμὶ ἐγὼ ὁ Χριστὸς; I am not the Chriſt, not I; another is at hand who is he, but I am not. His diſowning himſelf to be the Chriſt, is call'd his confeſſing, and not denying Chriſt. Note, Thoſe that humble and abaſe themſelves, thereby confeſs Chriſt, and give Honour to him; but thoſe that will not deny themſelves, do in effect deny Chriſt.

2. He diſowns himſelf to be Elias, v. 21. The Jews expected the Perſon of Elias to return from Heaven, and to live among them, and promis'd themſelves great Matters from it; and hearing of John's Character, Doctrine, and Baptiſm, and obſerving that he appear'd as one dropt from Heaven, in the ſame Part of the Country from which Elijah was carry'd to Heaven, it is no wonder that they were ready to take him for this Elijah; but he diſown'd this Honour too. He was indeed propheſy'd of under the Name of Elijah, Mal. 4. 5. and he came in the Spirit and Power of Elias, Luke 1. 17. and was the Elias that was to come, Mat. 11. 14. but he was not the Perſon of Elias; not that Elias that went to Heaven in the fiery Chariot, as he was that met Chriſt in his Transfiguration: He was the Elias that God had promiſed, not the Elias that they fooliſhly dream'd of. Elias did come, and they knew him not, Mat. 17. 12. nor did he make himſelf known to them as the Elias, becauſe they had promis'd themſelves ſuch an Elias as God never promis'd them.

3. He diſowns himſelf to be that Prophet, or the Prophet. (1.) He was not that Prophet which Moſes ſaid, the Lord would raiſe up to them, of their Brethren, like unto him. If they meant that, they needed not ask that Queſtion, for that Prophet was no other than the Meſſiah, and he had ſaid already, I am not the Chriſt. (2.) He was ſuch a Prophet as they expected and wiſh'd for, who like Samuel, and Elijah, and ſome other of the Prophets, would interpoſe in publick Affairs, and reſcue them from under the Roman Yoke. (3.) He was not one of the old Prophets rais'd from the Dead, as they expected one to come before Elias, as Elias before the Meſſiah. (4.) Tho' John was a Prophet, yea, more than a Prophet, yet he had his Revelation not by Dreams and Viſions, as the Old Teſtament Prophets had theirs; his Commiſſion and Work was of another Nature, and belong'd to another Diſpenſation. If John had ſaid that he was Elias, and was a Prophet, he might have made his Words good, but Miniſters muſt upon all Occaſions expreſs themſelves with the utmoſt Caution, both that they do not confirm People in any Miſtakes, and particularly, that they give not Occaſion to any to think of them above what is meet.

2. Affirmatively. The Committee, that was ſent to examine him, preſs'd for a poſitive Anſwer, v. 22. urging the Authority of them that ſent them, which they expected he ſhould pay a Deference to: Tell us, What art thou? Not that we may believe thee, and be baptized by thee, but that we may give an Anſwer to them that ſent us, and it may not be ſaid that we were ſent on a Fool's Errand: John was look'd upon as a Man of Sincerity, and therefore they believ'd he would not give an evaſive, ambiguous Anſwer, but would be fair, and above-board, and give a plain Anſwer to a plain Queſtion; What ſayeſt thou of thyſelf? And he did ſo, I am the Voice of one crying in the Wilderneſs. Obſerve,

1. He gives his Anſwer in the Words of Scripture, to ſhew that the Scripture was fulfill'd in him; and that his Office was ſupported by a Divine Authority. What the Scripture ſaith of the Office of the Miniſtry, ſhould be often thought of by thoſe of that high Calling, who muſt look upon themſelves as that, and that only, which the Word of God makes them.

2. He gives in his Anſwer in very humble, modeſt, ſelf-denying Expreſſions; he chuſeth to apply that Scripture to himſelf, which ſpoke not his Dignity, but his Duty and Dependance, which ſpeaks him little; I am the Voice, as if he were, Vox & preterea nihil.

3. He gives ſuch an Account of himſelf as might be profitable to them, and might excite and awaken them to hearken to him, for he was the Voice: ſee Iſa. 40. 3. a Voice to alarm; an articulate Voice to inſtruct. Miniſters are but the Voice, the Vehicle by which God is pleas'd to communicate his Mind: What is Paul, and Apollos, but Meſſengers? Obſerve,

1. He was a human Voice. The People were prepared to receive the Law by the Voice of Thunders, and a Trumpet exceeding loud, ſuch as made them tremble; but they were prepar'd for the Goſpel by the Voice of a Man like ourſelves, a ſtill ſmall Voice, ſuch as that in which God came to Elijah, 1 Kings 19. 12.

2. He was the Voice of one crying; which notes, (1.) His Earneſtneſs and Importunity in calling People to Repentance; he cry'd aloud and did not ſpare. Miniſters muſt preach as thoſe that are in earneſt, and are themſelves affected with thoſe Things which they deſire to affect others with. Thoſe Words are not likely to thaw the Hearers Hearts, that freeze between the Speakers Lips. (2.) His open Publication of the Doctrine he preach'd; he was the Voice of one crying, that all manner of Perſons might hear and take Notice. Doth not Wiſdom cry; Prov. 8. 3.

3. 'Twas in the Wilderneſs that this Voice was crying; in a Place of Silence and Solitude, out of the Noiſe of the World, and the Hurry of its Buſineſs; the more retir'd we are from the Tumult of ſecular Affairs, the better prepar'd are we to hear from God.

4. That which he cried, was, Make ſtrait the way of the Lord; that is, (1.) He came to rectify the Miſtakes of People concerning the ways of God; 'tis certain they are right Ways; but the Scribes and Phariſees, with their corrupt Gloſſes upon the Law, had made them crooked: Now John Baptiſt calls People to return to the Original Rule. (2.) He came to prepare and diſpoſe People for the Reception and Entertainment of Chriſt and his Goſpel. 'Tis an Alluſion to the Harbingers of a Prince, or great Men, that cry, make Room. Note, When God is coming towards us, we muſt prepare to meet him, and let the Word of the Lord have a free Courſe: See Pſal. 24. 7.

2. Here is his Teſtimony concerning his Baptiſm.

1. The Enquiry which the Committee made about it, v. 25. Why Baptizeſt thou, if thou be not the Chriſt, nor Elias, nor that Prophet? (1.) They readily apprehended Baptiſm to be fitly and properly uſed as a ſacred Rite and Ceremony, for the Jewiſh Church had uſed it with Circumciſion in the Admiſſion of Proſelytes, to ſignify the cleanſing them from the Pollutions of their former State: That Sign was made uſe of in the Chriſtian Church, that it might be the more paſſable. Chriſt did not affect Novelty, nor ſhould his Miniſters. (2.) They expected it would be uſed in the Days of the Meſſiah, becauſe it was promiſed that then there ſhould be a Fountain opened, Zech. 13. 1. and clean Water ſprinkled, Ezek. 36. 25. 'Tis taken for granted that Chriſt, and Elias and that Prophet would baptize, for they came to purify a polluted World. Divine Juſtice drowned the old World in its Filth, but divine Grace has provided for the cleanſing of this new World from its Filth. (3.) They would therefore know by what Authority John baptized, his denying himſelf to be Elias, or that Prophet, ſubjected him to this further Queſtion, Why baptizeſt thou? Note, It is no new thing for a Man's Modeſty to be turned againſt him, and improved to his Prejudice; but it is better Men ſhould take Advantage of our low Thoughts of ourſelves to trample upon us, than the Devil take Advantage of our high Thoughts of ourſelves, to tempt us to Pride, and draw us into his Condemnation.

2. The Account he gave of it, v. 26, 27.

1. He owned himſelf to be only the Miniſter of the outward Sign; I baptize with Water, and that's all; I am no more, and do no more than what you ſee, I have no other Title but John the Baptiſt; I cannot confer the ſpiritual Grace ſignified by it. Paul was in Care that none ſhould think of him above what they ſaw him to be, 2 Cor. 12. 6. ſo was John Baptiſt. Miniſters muſt not ſet up for Maſters.

2. He directed them to one that was greater than himſelf, and would do that for them, if they pleas'd, which he could not do. I baptize with Water, and that's the utmoſt of my Commiſſion; I have nothing to do, but by this to lead you to one that comes after me, and conſign you to him. Note, The great Buſineſs of Chriſt's Miniſters, is to direct all People to him; we preach not ourſelves, but Chriſt Jeſus the Lord. John gave the ſame Account to this Committee, that he had given to the People, v. 15. This was he of whom I ſpake. John was conſtant and uniform in his Teſtimony, not as a Reed ſhaken with the Wind. The Sanhedrim were jealous of his Intereſt in the People, but he is not afraid to tell them that there is one at the Door that will go beyond him.

1. He tells them of Chriſt's Preſence among them, now at this Time; there ſtands one among you, at this time, whom ye know not: Chriſt ſtood among the common People, and was as one of them. Note 1. There is much true Worth lies hid in this World: Obſcurity is often the Lot of real Excellency. Saints are God's hidden ones, therefore the World knows them not. 2. God himſelf is often nearer us than we are aware of, The Lord is in this Place, and I knew it not. They were gazing in Expectation of the Meſſiah, Lo he is here, or he is there, when the Kingdom of God was abroad, and already among them, Luke 17. 21.

2. He tells them of his Preference above himſelf; he comes after me, and yet is preferred before me: This he had ſaid before; he adds here, whoſe Shoe-Latchet I am not worthy to unlooſe; I am not fit to be named the ſame day with him; 'tis an Honour too great for me to pretend to be in the meaneſt Office about him. Allude, 1 Sam. 25. 41. Thoſe to whom Chriſt is precious, reckon his Service, even the moſt deſpiſed Inſtances of it, an Honour to them. See Pſal. 84. 10. If ſo great a Man as John accounted himſelf unworthy of the Honour of being near Chriſt, how unworthy then ſhould we account ourſelves! Now one would think theſe Chief Prieſts and Phariſees, upon this Intimation given concerning the Approach of the Meſſiah, ſhould preſently have asked, who and where this excellent Perſon was; and who more likely to tell them, than he who had given them this general Notice? No, they did not think that was any part of their Buſineſs or Concern; they came to moleſt John, not to receive any Inſtructions from him: So that their Ignorance was wilful; they might have known Chriſt, and would not.

Laſtly, Notice is taken of the Place where all this was done, v. 28. In Bethabara beyond Jordan. Bethabara ſignifies the Houſe of Paſſage; ſome think it was the very Place where Iſrael paſſed over Jordan into the Land of Promiſe, under the Conduct of Joſhua; there was opened the way into the Goſpel State by Jeſus Chriſt. It was at a great Diſtance from Jeruſalem, beyond Jordan; probably becauſe what he did there would be leaſt offenſive to the Government; Amos muſt go propheſy in the Country, not near the Court; but it was ſaid that Jeruſalem ſhould put ſo far from her the things that belonged to her Peace. He made this Confeſſion in the ſame Place where he was Baptizing, that all thoſe who attended his Baptiſm might be Witneſſes of it, and none might ſay, they knew not what to make of him.

29. ¶ The next Day John ſeeth Jeſus coming unto him, and ſaith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the ſin of the World. 30 This is he of whom I ſaid, after me cometh a man which is preferred before me: for he was before me. 31 And I knew him not: but that he ſhould be made manifeſt to Iſrael, therefore am I come baptizing with water. 32 And John bare record, ſaying, I ſaw the Spirit deſcending from heaven, like a dove, and it abode upon him. 33 And I knew him not: but he that ſent me to baptize with water, the ſame ſaid unto me, Upon whom thou ſhalt ſee the Spirit deſcending, and remaining on him, the ſame is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghoſt. 34 And I ſaw and bare record that this is the Son of God. 35 ¶ Again, the next day after John ſtood, and two of his diſciples: 36 And looking upon Jeſus as he walked, he ſaith, Behold the Lamb of God.

We have in theſe Verſes an Account of John's Teſtimony concerning Jeſus Chriſt, which he witneſſed to his own Diſciples that followed him. As ſoon as ever Chriſt was Baptiz'd, he was immediately hurried into the Wilderneſs to be Tempted; there he was forty Days; during his Abſence, John had continued to bear Teſtimony to him, and to tell the People of him; but now at laſt he ſees Jeſus coming to him, returning from the Wilderneſs of Temptation: As ſoon as that Conflict was over, Chriſt preſently returned to John, who was Preaching and Baptizing. Now Chriſt was tempted for Example and Encouragement to us; and this teaches us, (1.) That the Hardſhips of a tempted State ſhould engage us to keep cloſe to Ordinances, to go into the Sanctuary of God, Pſal. 73. 17. Our Combats with Satan ſhould oblige us to keep cloſe to the Communion of Saints: Two is better than One. (2.) That the Honours of a Victorious State muſt not ſet us above Ordinances. Chriſt had triumph'd over Satan, and been attended by Angels; and yet after all, he returns to the Place where John was Preaching and Baptizing. As long as we are on this ſide Heaven, whatever extraordinary Viſits of Divine Grace we may have here at any Time, we muſt ſtill keep cloſe to the ordinary Means of Grace and Comfort, and walk with God in them.

Now here are Two Teſtimonies borne by John to Chriſt, but thoſe Two agree in One.

Firſt, Here's his Teſtimony to Chriſt on the firſt Day, that he ſaw him coming from the Wilderneſs; and here four Things are witneſſed by him concerning Chriſt, when he had him before his Eyes.

1. That he is the Lamb of God, which taketh away the Sin of the World, v. 29. Let us learn here,

1. That Jeſus Chriſt is the Lamb of God, which ſpeaks him the great Sacrifice by whom Atonement is made for Sin, and Man reconciled to God. Of all the legal Sacrifices, he chuſeth to allude to the Lambs that were offered, not only becauſe a Lamb is an Emblem of Meekneſs, and Chriſt muſt be led as a Lamb to the Slaughter, Iſa 53. 7. but with a ſpecial Reference, (1.) To the daily Sacrifice which was offered every Morning and Evening continually, and that was always a Lamb, Exod. 29. 38. which was a Type of Chriſt, as the everlaſting Propitiation, whoſe Blood continually ſpeaks. (2.) To the Paſchal Lamb, the Blood of which being ſprinkled upon the Door-Poſts, ſecured the Iſraelites from the Stroke of the deſtroying Angel. Chriſt is our Paſſover, 1 Cor. 5. 7.

He is the Lamb of God; he is appointed by him, Rom. 3. 25. he was devoted to him; John 17. 19. and he was accepted with him; in him he was well pleaſed. The Lot which fell on the Goat that was to be offered for a Sin-Offering, is call'd the Lord's Lot, Lev. 18. 8, 9. So Chriſt, who was to make Atonement for Sin, is call'd the Lamb of God.

2. That Jeſus Chriſt, as the Lamb of God, takes away the Sin of the World. This was his Undertaking, he appeared to put away Sin by the Sacrifice of himſelf, Heb. 9. 26. John Baptiſt had called People to repent of their Sins, in order to the Remiſſion of them: Now here he ſhews how, and by whom that Remiſſion was to be expected; what Ground of Hope have we that our Sins ſhall be pardoned upon our Repentance, tho' our Repentance makes no Satisfaction for them? This Ground of Hope we have, Jeſus Chriſt is the Lamb of God.

(1.) He takes away Sin. He being Mediator between God and Man, takes away that which is above any thing offenſive to the Holineſs of God, and deſtructive to the Happineſs of Man. He came, 1. To take away the Guilt of Sin by the Merit of his Death, to vacate the Judgment, and reverſe the Attainder which Mankind lay under, by an Act of Indemnity, which all penitent, obedient Believers may claim the Benefit of. 2. To take away the Power of Sin by the Spirit of his Grace, ſo that it ſhall not have Dominion, Rom. 6. 14. Chriſt, as the Lamb of God, waſheth us from our Sins in his own Blood, i. e. he both juſtifies and ſanctifies us: He taketh away Sin. He is ὁ αἴρων, he is taking away the Sin of the World; which ſpeaks it not a ſingle, but a continued Act; it is his conſtant Work and Office, to take away Sin, which is ſuch a Work of Time, that it will never be compleated till Time ſhall be no more. He is always taking away Sin by the continual Interceſſion of his Blood in Heaven, and the continual Influence of his Grace on Earth.

(2.) He takes away the Sin of the World; purchas'd Pardon for all thoſe that repent and believe the Goſpel, of what Country, Nation, or Language ſoever they be. The legal Sacrifices had Reference only to the Sins of Iſrael, to make Atonement for them; but the Lamb of God was offered to be a Propitiation for the Sin of the whole World; ſee 1 John 2.12. This is encouraging to our Faith; if Chriſt takes away the Sin of the World, then why not my Sin? Chriſt levell'd his Force at the main Body of Sin's Army, ſtruck at the Root, and aim'd at the Overthrow of that Wickedneſs which the whole World lay in: God was in him reconciling the World to himſelf.

(3.) He doth this by taking it upon himſelf. He is the Lamb of God that bears the Sin of the World, ſo the Margin reads it. He bore Sin for us, and ſo bears it from us; he bore the Sin of many, as the Scape-Goat had the Sins of Iſrael put upon his Head, Lev. 16. 21. God would have taken away the Sin, by taking away the Sinner, as he took away the Sin of the old World; but he has found out a way of aboliſhing the Sin, and yet ſparing the Sinner, by making his Son Sin for us.

3. That it is our Duty with an Eye of Faith, to behold the Lamb of God thus taking away the Sin of the World. See him taking away Sin, and let that increaſe our Hatred of Sin, and Reſolutions againſt it: Let us hold that faſt, which the Lamb of God came to take away; for Chriſt will either take our Sins away, or take us away. Let it increaſe our Love to Chriſt, who loved us, and waſhed us from our Sins in his own Blood, Rev. 1. 5. Whatever God is pleas'd to take away from us, if withal he take away our Sins, we have Reaſon to be thankful, and no Reaſon to complain.

2. That this was he of whom he had ſpoken before, v. 30,31. This is he, this Perſon whom I now point at, you ſee where he ſtands: This is he of whom I ſaid, after me cometh a Man. Obſerve,

(1.) This Honour John had above all the Prophets, that whereas they ſpoke of him as one that ſhould come, he ſaw him already come; This is he: He ſees him now, he ſees him nigh, Numb. 24. 17. Such a difference there is between preſent Faith, and future Viſion. Now we love one whom we have not ſeen, then we ſhall ſee him whom our Souls love; ſhall ſee him, and ſay, This is he of whom I ſaid, my Chriſt, and my All; my Beloved, and my Friend.

(2.) John calls Chriſt a Man; after me comes a Man, ἀνὴρ, a ſtrong Man: Like the Man, the Branch, or the Man of God's right Hand.

(3.) He refers himſelf to what he had ſaid of him before; This is he of whom I ſaid. Note, Thoſe who have ſaid the moſt honourable Things of Chriſt, will never ſee Cauſe to unſay them; but the more they know him, the more they are confirm'd in their Eſteem of him. John ſtill thinks as meanly of himſelf, and as highly of Chriſt as ever. Tho' Chriſt appeared not in any external Pomp or Grandeur, yet John is not aſhamed to own, This is he I meant, that is preferred before me. And it was neceſſary that John ſhould thus ſhew them the Perſon, otherwiſe they could not have believed, that one who made ſo mean a Figure ſhould be he of whom John had ſpoken ſuch great Things.

(4.) He proteſts againſt any Confederacy or Combination with this Jeſus; And I knew him not. Tho' there was ſome Relation between them, Elizabeth was Couſin to the Virgin Mary, yet there was no Acquaintance at all between them; John had no perſonal Knowledge of Jeſus, till he ſaw him come to his Baptiſm. Their manner of Life had been different; John had ſpent his Time in the Wilderneſs, in Solitude, Jeſus at Nazareth, in Converſation: There was no Correſpondence, no Interviews between them, that the matter might appear to be wholly carried on by the Direction and Diſpoſal of Heaven, and not by any Deſign or Concert of the Perſons themſelves. And as he hereby diſowns all Colluſion, ſo alſo all Partiality and ſiniſter Regard in it; he could not be ſuppoſed to favour him as a Friend, for there was no Friendſhip or Familiarity between them. Nay, as he could not be byaſs'd to ſpeak honourably of him, becauſe he was a Stranger to him; ſo really being ſuch a Stranger to him, he was not able to ſay any thing of him but what he receiv'd from above, to which he appeals, John 3. 27. Note, They who are taught, believe and confeſs one whom they have not ſeen, and bleſſed are they who yet have believed.

(5.) That the great Intention of John's Miniſtry and Baptiſm was to introduce Jeſus Chriſt. That he ſhould be made manifeſt to Iſrael, therefore am I come baptizing with Water. Obſerve, (1.) Tho' John did not know Jeſus by Face, yet he knew that he ſhould be made manifeſt. Note, We may know the Certainty of that which yet we do not fully know the Nature and Intention of. We know that the Happineſs of Heaven ſhall be made manifeſt to Iſrael, but cannot deſcribe it. (2.) The general Aſſurance John had that Chriſt ſhould be made manifeſt, ſerv'd to carry him with Diligence and Reſolution through his Work, tho' he was kept in the Dark concerning Particulars: Therefore am I come. Our Aſſurance of the Reality of Things, tho' they are unſeen, is enough to quicken us to our Duty. (3.) God reveals himſelf to his People by degrees. At firſt John knew no more concerning Chriſt, but that he ſhould be made manifeſt; in confidence of that he came baptizing, and now he is favour'd with a Sight of him. They that upon God's Word believe what they do not ſee, ſhall ſhortly ſee what they now believe. (4.) The Miniſtry of the Word and Sacraments is deſigned for no other end, but to lead People to Chriſt, and to make him more and more manifeſt. (5.) Baptiſm with Water, made way for the manifeſting of Chriſt, as it ſuppos'd our Corruption and Filthineſs, and ſignified our cleanſing by him who is the Fountain open'd.

3. That this was he upon whom the Spirit deſcended from Heaven like a Dove. For the confirming of his Teſtimony concerning Chriſt, he here voucheth the extraordinary Appearance at his Baptiſm, in which God himſelf bore Witneſs to him: This was a conſiderable Proof of Chriſt's Miſſion. Now to aſſure us of the Truth of it, we are told, v. 32,33.

1. That John Baptiſt ſaw it; he bare Record; did not relate it as a Story, but ſolemnly atteſted it, with all the Seriouſneſs and Solemnity of Witneſs-bearing: He made Affidavit of it; I ſaw the Spirit deſcending from Heaven: John could not ſee the Spirit, but he ſaw the Dove, which was a Sign and Repreſentation of the Spirit. The Spirit came now upon Chriſt, both to make him fit for his Work, and to make him known to the World. Chriſt was notify'd, not by the Deſcent of a Crown upon him, or by a Transfiguration, but by the Deſcent of the Spirit as a Dove upon him, to qualify him for his Undertaking. Thus the firſt Teſtimony given to the Apoſtles, was by the Deſcent of the Spirit upon them: God's Children are made manifeſt by their Graces, their Glories are reſerv'd for their future State. Obſerve, (1.) The Spirit deſcended from Heaven, for every good and perfect Gift is from above. (2.) He deſcended like a Dove, an Emblem of Meekneſs, and Mildneſs, and Gentleneſs, which makes him fit to teach. The Dove brought the Olive-Branch of Peace, Gen. 8. 11. (3.) The Spirit that deſcended upon Chriſt, abode upon him, as was foretold, Iſa. 11. 2. The Spirit did not move him at Times, as Sampſon, Judg. 13. 25. but at all Times. The Spirit was given to him without Meaſure; 'twas his Prerogative to have the Spirit always upon him, ſo that he could at no time be found either unqualified for his Work himſelf, or unfurniſhed for the Supply of thoſe that ſeek to him for his Grace.

2. That he was bidden to expect it, which very much corroborates the Proof. It was not John's bare Conjecture, that ſurely he on whom he ſaw the Spirit deſcending, was the Son of God; but it was an inſtituted Sign given him before, by which he might know it for certain, v. 33. I knew him not. This he inſiſts much upon, that he knew no more of him than other People did, otherwiſe than by Revelation: But he that ſent me to Baptize, gave me this Sign, upon whom thou ſhalt ſee the Spirit deſcending, the ſame is he.

1. See here what ſure Grounds John went upon in his Miniſtry and Baptiſm, that he might proceed with all imaginable Satisfaction. (1.) He did not run without ſending; God ſent him to Baptize: He had a warrant from Heaven for what he did. When a Miniſter's Call is clear, his Comfort is ſure, tho' his Succeſs is not always ſo. (2.) He did not run without ſpeeding; for when he was ſent to Baptize with Water, he was directed to one that ſhould Baptize with the Holy Ghoſt; under that Notion John Baptiſt was taught to expect Chriſt, as one who would give that Repentance and Faith which he call'd People to, and would carry on and compleat that bleſſed Structure, which he was now laying the Foundation of. Note, It is a great Comfort to Chriſt's Miniſters in their Adminiſtration of the outward Signs, that he, whoſe Miniſters they are, can confer the Grace ſignified thereby, and ſo put Life and Soul, and Power, into their Miniſtrations; can ſpeak to the Heart what they ſpeak to the Ear, and breath upon the dry Bones, on which they propheſy.

2. See what ſure Grounds he went upon in his Deſignation of the Perſon of the Meſſiah. God had before given him a Sign, as he did to Samuel concerning Saul; on whom thou ſhalt ſee the Spirit deſcend, that ſame is he; this not only prevented any Miſtakes, but gave him Boldneſs in his Teſtimony: When he had ſuch Aſſurance as this given him, he could ſpeak with Aſſurance. When John was told this before, his Expectations could not but be very much rais'd; and when the Event exactly anſwer'd the Prediction, his Faith could not but be much confirm'd. And theſe Things are written that we may believe.

4. That he is the Son of God. This is the Concluſion of John's Teſtimony, that in which all the Particulars centre, as the quod erat demonſtrandum; v. 34. I ſaw and bare Record, that this is the Son of God.

1. The Truth aſſerted, is, That this is the Son of God; the Voice from Heaven proclaim'd him, and John ſubſcrib'd to it; not only that he ſhould Baptize with the Holy Ghoſt by a Divine Authority, but that he has a Divine Nature: This was the peculiar Chriſtian Creed, that Jeſus is the Son of God, Mat. 16. 16. and here's the firſt framing of it.

2. John's Teſtimony to it; I ſaw and bare Record. Not only I now bear Record of it, but I did ſo as ſoon as I had ſeen it. Obſerve, (1.) What he ſaw he was forward to bear Record of, as they, Acts 4. 20. We cannot but ſpeak the Things which we have ſeen. (2.) What he bare Record of, was what he ſaw. Chriſt's Witneſſes are Eye-Witneſſes, and therefore the more to be credited: They did not ſpeak by Hearſay and Report, 2 Pet. 1.16.

Secondly, Here is John's Teſtimony to Chriſt the next Day after, v. 35,36. Where obſerve,

1. He took every Opportunity that offered itſelf to lead People to Chriſt; John ſtood looking upon Jeſus as he walked. It ſhould ſeem John was now retired from the Multitude, and was in cloſe Converſation with two of his Diſciples. Note, Miniſters ſhould not only in their publick Preaching, but in their private Converſe, witneſs to Chriſt, and ſerve his Intereſts. He ſaw Jeſus walking at ſome diſtance, yet did not go to him, himſelf, becauſe he would ſhun every thing that might give the leaſt Colour to ſuſpect a Combination. He was looking upon Jeſus, ἐμβλέψας, he look'd ſtedfaſtly, and fix'd his Eyes upon him. Thoſe that would lead others to Chriſt, muſt be diligent and frequent in the Contemplation of him themſelves. John had ſeen Chriſt before, but now look'd upon him, 1 John 1.1.

2. He repeated the ſame Teſtimony which he had given to Chriſt the Day before, tho' he could have delivered ſome other great Truth concerning him; but thus he would ſhew that he was uniform and conſtant in his Teſtimony, and conſiſtent with himſelf. His Doctrine was the ſame in private that it was in publick, as Paul's was, Acts 20. 20,21. 'Tis good to have that repeated which we have heard, Phil. 3.1. The Doctrine of Chriſt's Sacrifice for the taking away of the Sin of the World, ought eſpecially to be inſiſted upon by all good Miniſters. Chriſt the Lamb of God, Chriſt and him crucified.

3. He intended this eſpecially for his two Diſciples that ſtood with him; he was willing to turn them over to Chriſt, for to this end he bore Witneſs to Chriſt in their hearing, that they might leave all to follow him; even that they might leave him. He did not reckon that he loſt thoſe Diſciples that went over from him to Chriſt, any more than the Schoolmaſter reckons that Scholar loſt whom he ſends to the Univerſity. John gathered Diſciples, not for himſelf, but for Chriſt, to prepare them for the Lord, Luke 1.17. So far was he from being jealous of Chriſt's growing Intereſt, that there was nothing he was more deſirous of. Humble, generous Souls, will give others their due Praiſe, without fear of diminiſhing themſelves by it. What we have of Reputation, as well as of other things, will not be the leſs for our giving every body their own.

37 And the two diſciples heard him ſpeak, and they followed Jeſus. 38 Then Jeſus turned, and ſaw them following, and ſaith unto them, What ſeek ye? They ſaid unto him, Rabbi, (which is to ſay, being interpreted, Maſter) where dwelleſt thou? 39 He ſaith unto them, Come and ſee. They came and ſaw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day, for it was about the tenth hour. 40 One of the two which heard John ſpeak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother. 41. He firſt findeth his own brother Simon, and ſaith unto him, We have found the Meſſias, which is, being interpreted, the Chriſt. 42 And he brought him to Jeſus. And when Jeſus beheld him, he ſaid, Thou art Simon the Son of Jonah: thou ſhalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a ſtone.

We have here the turning over of two Diſciples from John to Jeſus, and one of them fetching in a third, and theſe are the firſt Fruits of Chriſt's Diſciples; ſee how ſmall the Church was in its Beginnings, and what the Dawning of the Day of its great Things were.

Firſt, Andrew, and another with him, were the two that John Baptiſt had directed to Chriſt, v. 37. who the other was, we are not told; ſome think it was Thomas, comparing chap. 21.2. others that it was John himſelf, the Penman of this Goſpel, who uſeth induſtriouſly to conceal his Name, John 13.23. and 20.3.

1. Here's their Readineſs to go over to Chriſt, they heard John ſpeak of Chriſt as the Lamb of God, and they followed Jeſus. Probably they had heard John ſay the ſame thing the day before, and then it had not the effect upon them which now it had; ſee the Benefit of Repetition, and of private, perſonal Converſe. They heard him ſpeak of Chriſt as the Lamb of God that takes away the Sin of the World, and that made them follow him. Note, The ſtrongeſt and moſt prevailing Argument with a ſenſible awakened Soul to follow Chriſt, is, that it is he, and he only, that takes away Sin.

2. The kind Notice Chriſt took of them, v. 38. they came behind him; but tho' he had his Back towards them, he was ſoon aware of them, and turn'd and ſaw them following. Note, Chriſt takes early Cognizance of the firſt Motions of a Soul towards him, and the firſt Step taken in the way to Heaven; ſee Iſa. 64.5. Luke 15.20. He did not ſtay till they begg'd leave to ſpeak with him, but ſpoke firſt: What Communion there is between a Soul and Chriſt, 'tis he that begins the Diſcourſe. He ſaith unto them, What ſeek ye? This was not a Reprimand for their Boldneſs in intruding into his Company; he that came to ſeek us, never check'd any for ſeeking him; but on the contrary, tis a kind Invitation of them into his Acquaintance, whom he ſaw baſhful and modeſt; come, what have you to ſay to me? What is your Petition? What is your Requeſt? Note, They whoſe Buſineſs it is to inſtruct People in Affairs of their Souls, ſhould be humble and mild, and eaſy of Acceſs, and ſhould encourage thoſe that apply to them. The Queſtion Chriſt put to them, is what we ſhould all put to ourſelves, when we begin to follow Chriſt, and take upon us the Profeſſion of his Holy Religion; What ſeek ye? What do we deſign, and deſire? Thoſe that follow Chriſt, and yet ſeek the World, or themſelves, or the Praiſe of Men, deceive themſelves. What ſeek we in ſeeing Chriſt, do we ſeek a Teacher, Ruler and Reconciler? In following Chriſt do we ſeek the Favour of God and Eternal Life? If our Eye be ſingle in this, we are full of Light.

3. Their modeſt Enquiry concerning the Place of his Abode? Rabbi, where dwelleſt thou? (1.) In calling him Rabbi, they intimate, that their Deſign in coming to him, was to be taught by him; Rabbi ſignifies Maſter, a teaching Maſter; the Jews called their Doctors, or Learned Men, Rabbies. The Word comes from Rab, multus, or magnus, a Rabbi, a great Man, and one that, as we ſay, hath much in him. Never was there ſuch a Rabbi as our Lord Jeſus, ſuch a great one, in whom were hid all the Treaſures of Wiſdom and Knowledge. Theſe came to Chriſt to be his Scholars, ſo muſt all thoſe that apply themſelves to him. John had told them he was the Lamb of God, now this Lamb is worthy to take the Book, and open the Seals as a Rabbi, Rev. 5.9. and unleſs we give up ourſelves to be ruled and taught by him, he will not take away our Sins. (2.) In asking where he dwelt, they intimate a deſire to be better acquainted with him: Chriſt was a Stranger in this Country, ſo that they mean where was his Inn where he lodged? For there they would attend him at ſome ſeaſonable time when he ſhould appoint, to receive Inſtruction from him; they would not preſs rudely upon him, when it was not proper: Civility and good Manners well become thoſe who follow Chriſt. And beſides, they hoped to have more from him than they could have in a ſhort Conference now by the way. They reſolved to make a Buſineſs, not a By-Buſineſs of converſing with Chriſt. Thoſe that have had ſome Communion with Criſt, cannot but deſire, (1.) A further Communion with him; they follow on to know more of him. (2.) A fixed Communion with him; where they may ſit down at his Feet, and abide by his Inſtructions: 'Tis not enough to take a Turn with Chriſt now and then, but we muſt lodge with him.

4. The courteous Invitation Chriſt gave them to his Lodgings; He ſaith unto them, Come and ſee: Thus ſhall good Deſires towards Chriſt, and Communion with him be countenanced. (1.) He invites them to come to his Lodgings: The nearer we approach to Chriſt, the more we ſee of his Beauty and Excellency. Deceivers maintain their Intereſt in their Followers, by keeping them at a Diſtance, but that which Chriſt deſired to recommend him to the Eſteem and Affections of his Followers, was, that they would come and ſee; Come and ſee what a mean Lodging I have, what poor Accommodations I take up with, that you may not expect any worldly Advantage by following me, as they did, who made their Court to the Scribes and Phariſees, and call'd them Rabbi. Come and ſee what you muſt count upon if you follow me; ſee Mat. 8.20. (2.) He invites them to come preſently and without delay. They ask'd where he lodged, that they might wait upon him at a more convenient Seaſon, but Chriſt invites them immediately to come and ſee; never in better time than now. Hence learn, (1.) As to others, That it's beſt taking People when they are in a good Mind; ſtrike while the Iron is hot. (2.) As to ourſelves, That it is Wiſdom to embrace the preſent Opportunities; Now is the accepted Time, 2 Cor. 6.2.

5. Their chearful, and (no doubt) thankful Acceptance of his Invitation; they came and ſaw where he dwelt, and abode with him that Day. It had been more Modeſty and Manners than had done them good, if they had refuſed this Offer. (1.) They readily went along with him; they came and ſaw where he dwelt. Gracious Souls chearfully accept Chriſt's gracious Invitations; as David, Pſal. 27.8. They enquired not how they might be accommodated with him, but would put that to the venture, and make the beſt of what they found: 'Tis good being where Chriſt is, where-ever it be. (2.) They were ſo well pleaſed with what they found, that they abode with him that Day; Maſter, it is good to be here, and he bid them welcome. It was about the tenth Hour: Some think that John reckons according to the Roman Computation, and that it was about Ten a-clock in the Morning, and they ſtaid with him till Night; others think that John reckons, as the other Evangeliſts did, according to the Jewiſh Computation, and that it was four a-clock in the Afternoon, and they abode with him that Night, and the next Day. Dr. Lightfoot conjectures, that this next day that they ſpent with Chriſt, was a Sabbath Day, and it being late, they could not get home before the Sabbath. As it is our Duty, where-ever we are, to contrive to ſpend the Sabbath, as much as may be to our Spiritual Benefit and Advantage; ſo they are Bleſſed, who by the lively Exerciſes of Faith, Love, and Devotion, ſpend their Sabbaths in Communion with Chriſt. Theſe are Lord's Days indeed, Days of the Son of Man.

Secondly, Andrew brought his Brother Peter to Chriſt; if Peter had been the Firſt-born of Chriſt's Diſciples, the Papiſts would have made a Noiſe with it: He did, indeed, afterwards come to be more eminent in Gifts, but Andrew had the Honour firſt to be acquainted with Chriſt, and to be the Inſtrument of bringing Peter to him. Obſerve,

(1.) The Information which Andrew gave to Peter, with an Intimation to come to Chriſt.

1. He found him: He firſt finds his own Brother Simon; his finding implies his ſeeking him. Simon came along with Andrew to attend John's Miniſtry and Baptiſm, and Andrew knew where to look for him. Perhaps the other Diſciple that was with him, went out to ſeek ſome Friend of his, at the ſame Time, but Andrew ſped firſt; he firſt findeth Simon, who came only to attend on John, but has his Expectations out-done, he meets with Jeſus.

2. He told him whom they had found; We have found the Meſſias. Obſerve, (1.) He ſpeaks humbly, not I have found, aſſuming the Honour of the Diſcovery to himſelf, but we have, rejoicing that he had ſhared with others in it. (2.) He ſpeaks exultingly, and with Triumph; we have found that Pearl of great Price, that true Treaſure; and having found it, he proclaims it, as thoſe Lepers, 2 Kings 8. 9. for he knows he ſhall have never the Leſs in Chriſt for others ſharing. (3.) He ſpeaks intelligently; we have found the Meſſias, which was more than had yet been ſaid: John had ſaid he is the Lamb of God, and the Son of God; which Andrew compares with the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, and comparing them together, concludes he is the Meſſiah promiſed to the Fathers, for 'tis now that the Fulneſs of Time is come: Thus by making God's Teſtimonies his Meditation, he ſpeaks more clearly concerning Chriſt than ever his Teacher had done, Pſal. 119. 99.

3. He brought him to Jeſus; would not undertake to inſtruct him himſelf, but brought him to the Fountain-Head, perſuaded him to come to Chriſt, and introduc'd him. Now this was, (1.) An Inſtance of true Love to his Brother, his own Brother, ſo he is called here, becauſe he was very dear to him. Note, We ought, with a particular Concern and Application, to endeavour the Spiritual Welfare of thoſe that are related to us; for their Relation to us, adds both to the Obligation, and to the Opportunity of doing Good to their Souls. (2.) 'Twas an Effect of his Day's Converſation with Chriſt. Note, The beſt Evidence of our profiting by the Means of Grace, is the Piety and Uſefulneſs of our Converſation afterwards: Hereby it appeared that Andrew had been with Jeſus, that he was ſo full of him, that he had been in the Mount, for his Face ſhone. He knew there was enough in Chriſt for all; and having taſted that he is gracious, could not reſt till thoſe he lov'd had taſted it too. Note, True Grace hates Monopolies, and loves not to eat its Morſels alone.

(2.) The Entertainment that Jeſus Chriſt gave to Peter, who was never the leſs welcome for his being influenced by his Brother to come, v. 43. Obſerve,

1. Chriſt called him by his Name: When Jeſus beheld him, he ſaid, Thou art Simon, the Son of Jona. It ſhould ſeem that Peter was utterly a Stranger to Chriſt; and if ſo, (1.) It was a Proof of Chriſt's Omniſcience, that upon the firſt Sight, without any Enquiry, he could tell the Name both of him and of his Father: The Lord knows them that are his; and their whole Caſe. However, (2.) It was an Inſtance of his condeſcending Grace and Favour, that he did thus freely and affably call him by his Name, tho' he was of mean Extraction, and Vir nullius nominis. 'Twas an Inſtance of God's Favour to Moſes, that he knew him by Name, Exod. 33. 17. Some obſerve the Signification of theſe Names, Simon, Obedient; Jona, a Dove. An Obedient, Dove-like Spirit, qualifies us to be the Diſciples of Chriſt.

2. He gave him a New Name; Cephas.

1. His giving him a Name, ſpeaks Chriſt's Favour to him. A new Name ſpeaks ſome great Dignity, Rev. 2. 17. Iſa. 62. 2. By this, Chriſt not only wiped off the Reproach of his mean and obſcure Parentage, but adopted him into his Family, as one of his own.

2. The Name which he gave him, ſpeaks his Fidelity in Chriſt. Thou ſhalt be called Cephas, that's Hebrew for a Stone, which is by Interpretation, Peter; ſo it ſhould be render'd, as Acts 9. 39. Tabitha, which by Interpretation is called Dorcas: the former Hebrew, the latter Greek, for a young Roe. Peter's Natural Temper was ſtiff, and hardy, and reſolute, which I take to be the principal Reaſon why Chriſt called him Cephas, a Stone. When Chriſt afterwards prayed for him, that his Faith might not fail, that ſo he might be firm to Chriſt himſelf, and at the ſame Time bid him ſtrengthen his Brethren, and lay out himſelf for the Support of others, then he made him what he here called him, Cephas, a Stone. Thoſe that come to Chriſt muſt come with a fixed Reſolution to be firm and conſtant to him, like a Stone, ſolid and ſtedfaſt; and it is by his Grace that they are ſo: His ſaying, be thou ſteddy, makes them ſo. Now, this doth no more prove that Peter was the ſingular or only Rock upon which this Church is built, than the calling of James and John Boanerges, proves them the only Sons of Thunder; or the calling of Joſes Barnabas, proves him the only Son of Conſolation.

43 ¶ The day following, Jeſus would go forth into Galilee, and findeth Philip, and ſaith unto him, Follow me. 44 Now Philip was of Bethſaida, the city of Andrew and Peter. 45 Philip findeth Nathanael, and ſaith unto him, We have found him of whom Moſes in the law, and the prophets did write, Jeſus of Nazareth, the ſon of Joſeph. 46 And Nathanael ſaid unto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip ſaith unto him, Come and ſee. 47 Jeſus ſaw Nathanael coming to him, and ſaith of him, Behold an Iſraelite indeed, in whom is no guile. 48 Nathanael ſaith unto him, Whence knoweſt thou me? Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Before that Philip called thee when thou waſt under the fig-tree, I ſaw thee. 49 Nathanael anſwered and ſaith unto him, Rabbi, thou art the ſon of God, thou art the king of Iſrael. 50 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Becauſe I ſaid unto thee, I ſaw thee under the fig-tree, believeſt thou? thou ſhalt ſee greater things than theſe. 51 And he ſaith unto him, Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, Hereafter you ſhall ſee heaven open, and the angels of God aſcending and deſcending upon the ſon of man.

We have here the Call of Philip and Nathanael.

Firſt, Philip was called immediately to Chriſt himſelf, not as Andrew, who was directed to Chriſt by John; or Peter, who was invited by his Brother. God has various Methods of bringing his choſen ones home to himſelf. But whatever Means he uſes, he is not tied to any.

1. Philip was called in a preventing Way: Jeſus findeth Philip, Chriſt ſought us, and found us, before we made any Enquiries after him. The Name Philip is of a Greek Original, and much uſed among the Gentiles, which ſome make an Inſtance of the Degeneracy of the Jewiſh Church at this Time, and their Conformity to the Nations; yet Chriſt changed not his Name.

2. He was call'd the Day following: See how cloſely Chriſt applied himſelf to his Buſineſs. When Work is to be done for God, we muſt not loſe a Day. Yet obſerve, Chriſt now called One or Two a Day; but after the Spirit was poured out, there were Thouſands a Day effectually called, in which was fulfilled John 14. 12.

3. Jeſus would go forth into Galilee to call him. Chriſt will find out all thoſe that are given to him, where-ever they are, and none of them ſhall be loſt.

4. Philip was brought to be a Diſciple, by the Power of Chriſt going along with that Word, Follow me. See the Nature of true Chriſtianity; 'tis following Chriſt, devoting ourſelves to his Converſe and Conduct, attending his Motions, and treading in his Steps. See the Efficacy of the Grace of Chriſt making the Call of his Word to prevail; 'tis the Rod of his Strength.

5. We are told that Philip was of Bethſaida, and Andrew and Peter were ſo too, v. 44. Theſe eminent Diſciples received not Honour from, but reflected Honour upon the Place of their Nativity. Bethſaida ſignifies the Houſe of Nets, becauſe inhabited moſtly by Fiſhermen; thence Chriſt choſe Diſciples, who were to be furniſhed with extraordinary Gifts, and therefore needed not the ordinary Advantages of Learning. Bethſaida was a wicked Place, Mat. 11. 21. yet even there was a Remnant, according to the Election of Grace.

Secondly, Nathanael was invited to Chriſt by Philip, and much is ſaid concerning him. In which we may obſerve,

1. What paſſed between Philip and Nathanael, in which appears an obſervable Mixture of pious Zeal with Weakneſs, ſuch as is uſually found in Beginners, that are yet but asking the Way to Zion. Here's,

(1.) The joyful News that Philip brought to Nathanael, v. 45. As Andrew before, ſo Philip here, having got ſome Knowledge of Chriſt himſelf, reſts not till he has made manifeſt the Saviour of that Knowledge. Philip, tho' newly come into an Acquaintance with Chriſt himſelf, yet ſteps aſide to ſeek Nathanael. Note, When we have the faireſt Opportunities of getting Good to our own Souls, yet even then we muſt ſeek Opportunities of doing Good to the Souls of others; remembring the Words of Chriſt, It is more Bleſſed to give than to receive, Acts 20. 35. O, ſaith Philip, we have found him of whom Moſes and the Prophets did write. Obſerve here, (1.) What a Tranſport of Joy Philip was in upon this new Acquaintance with Chriſt; we have found him whom we have ſo often talked of, ſo long wiſhed and waited for: At laſt he is come, he is come, and we have found him. (2.) What an Advantage it was to him, that he was ſo well acquainted with the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, which prepared his Mind for the Reception of Evangelical Light, and made the Entrance of it much the more eaſy: Him of whom Moſes and the Prophets did write. What was written entirely, and from Eternity, in the Book of the Divine Counſels, was in Part at ſundry Times, and in divers Manners, copied out into the Book of the Divine Revelations. Glorious Things were written there concerning the Seed of the Woman, the Seed of Abraham, Shiloh, the Prophet like Moſes, the Son of David, Immanuel, the Man, the Branch, Meſſiah, the Prince: Philip had ſtudied theſe Things, and was full of them, which made him readily welcome Chriſt. (3.) What Miſtakes and Weakneſſes he laboured under; he called Chriſt, Jeſus of Nazareth, whereas he was of Bethlehem; and the Son of Joſeph, whereas he was but his ſuppoſed Son. Young Beginners in Religion are ſubject to Miſtakes, which Time and the Grace of God will rectify. It was his Weakneſs to ſay, We have found him, for Chriſt found them, before they found Chriſt: He did not yet apprehend, as Paul did, how he was apprehended of Chriſt Jeſus, Phil. 3. 12.

(2.) The Objection which Nathanael made againſt this, v. 46. Can there any good Thing come out of Nazareth? Here, (1.) His Caution was commendable, that he did not lightly aſſent to every Thing that was ſaid, but took it into Examination; our Rule is to prove all Things. But, (2.) His Objection aroſe from Ignorance. If he meant that no good Thing could come out of Nazareth, it was owing to his Ignorance of the Divine Grace, as if that were leſs affected to one Place than another, or ty'd itſelf to Mens fooliſh and ill-natured Obſervations. If he meant that the Meſſiah, that great good Thing could not come out of Nazareth, ſo far he was right; Moſes, in the Law, ſaid that he ſhould come out of Judah, and the Prophets had aſſigned Bethlehem for the Place of his Nativity; but then he was ignorant of the Matter of Fact, that this Jeſus was born at Bethlehem; ſo that the Blunder Philip made, in calling him Jeſus of Nazareth, occaſioned this Objection. Note, The Miſtakes of Preachers often give Riſe to the Prejudices of Hearers.

(3.) The ſhort Reply which Philip gave to this Objection; Come and ſee. (1.) It was his Weakneſs that he could not give a ſatisfactory Anſwer to it; yet 'tis the common Caſe of young Beginners in Religion: We may know enough to ſatisfy ourſelves, and yet not be able to ſay enough to ſilence the Cavils of a ſubtle Adverſary. (2.) It was his Wiſdom and Zeal, that when he could not anſwer the Objection himſelf, he would have him go to one that could; Come and ſee. Let not us ſtand arguing here, and raiſing Difficulties to ourſelves which we cannot get over; let us go and converſe with Chriſt himſelf, and theſe Difficulties will all vaniſh preſently. Note, It is Folly to ſpend that Time in doubtful Diſputation, which might be better ſpent, and to much better Purpoſe, in the Exerciſes of Piety and Devotion. Come and ſee; not go and ſee, but come, and I'll go along with thee; as Iſa. 2. 3. Jer. 50. 5. From this Parley between Philip and Nathanael, we may obſerve, (1.) That many People are kept from the Ways of Religion, by the unreaſonable Prejudices they have conceived againſt Religion, upon the Account of ſome foreign Circumſtances which do not at all touch the Merits of the Cauſe.

(2.) The beſt Way to remove thoſe Prejudices they have entertained againſt Religion, is to prove themſelves, and make Trial of it. Let us not anſwer this Matter before we hear it.

2. What paſs'd between Nathanael and our Lord Jeſus. He came and ſaw not in vain.

1. Our Lord Jeſus bore a very honourable Teſtimony to Nathanael's Integrity, Jeſus ſaw him coming, and met him with favourable Encouragement; he ſaid of him to thoſe about him, Nathanael himſelf being within hearing, Behold an Iſraelite indeed. Obſerve,

1. That he did commend him; not to flatter him, or puff him up with a good Conceit of himſelf, but perhaps, becauſe he knew him to be a modeſt Man, if not a melancholy Man, one that had mean and hard Thoughts of himſelf; was ready to doubt his own Sincerity, and Chriſt by this Teſtimony put the Matter out of doubt. Nathanael had more than any of the Candidates objected againſt Chriſt, but Chriſt hereby ſhewed that he excus'd it, and was not extreme to mark what he ſaid amiſs, becauſe he knew his Heart was upright. He did not retort upon him, Can any good Thing come out of Cana? (John 21. 2.) an obſcure Town in Galilee; but kindly gives him this Character, to encourage us to hope for Acceptance with Chriſt, notwithſtanding our Weakneſs, and to teach us to ſpeak honourably of thoſe, who without Cauſe have ſpoken ſlightly of us, and to give them their due Praiſe.

2. That he commended him for his Integrity.

1. Behold an Iſraelite indeed! 'Tis Chriſt's Prerogative to know what Men are indeed; we can but hope the beſt. The whole Nation were Iſraelites in Name, but all are not Iſrael that are of Iſrael, Rom. 9. 6. but here was an Iſraelite indeed. (1.) A ſincere Follower of the good Example of Iſrael, whoſe Character it was, that he was a plain Man, in Oppoſition to Eſau's Character of a cunning Man. He was a genuine Son of honeſt Jacob, not only of his Seed, but of his Spirit. (2.) A ſincere Profeſſor of the Faith of Iſrael; he was true to the Religion he profeſs'd, and liv'd up to it; he was really as good as he ſeem'd, and his Practice of a piece with his Profeſſion. He is the Jew that is one inwardly, Rom. 2. 29. ſo he the Chriſtian.

2. He is one in whom is no Guile, that's the Character of an Iſraelite indeed, a Chriſtian indeed. No Guile towards Men; a Man without Trick or Deſign; a Man that one may truſt: No Guile towards God, that is, ſincere in his Repentance for Sin; ſincere in his Covenanting with God; in whoſe Spirit is no Guile, Pſal. 32. 2. he doth not ſay without Guilt, but without Guile. Tho' in many Things he is fooliſh and forgetful, yet in nothing falſe, nor wickedly departing from God: There is no allowed, approved Guilt in him; not painted, tho' he have his Spots; Behold this Iſraelite indeed. (1.) Take notice of him, that you may learn his Way, and do like him. (2.) Admire him; Behold and wonder. The Hypocriſy of the Scribes and Phariſees had ſo leavened the Jewiſh Church and Nation, and their Religion was ſo degenerated into Formality, or State-Policy, that an Iſraelite indeed was a Man wondered at; a Miracle of Divine Grace, like Job, Chap. 1. 8.

2. Nathanael is much ſurprized at this, upon which Chriſt gives him a further Proof of his Omniſciency, and a kind Memorial of his former Devotion.

1. Here's Nathanael's Modeſty, in that he was ſoon put out of Countenance at the kind Notice Chriſt was pleaſed to take of him; Whence knoweſt thou me? Me, that am unworthy of thy Cognizance; who am I, O Lord God? 2 Sam. 7. 18. This was an Evidence of his Sincerity, that he did not catch at the Praiſe he met with, but declined it. Chriſt knows us better than we know ourſelves; we know not what is in a Man's Heart by looking in his Face, but all Things are naked and open before Chriſt, Heb. 4. 12, 13. Doth Chriſt know us? Let us covet to know him.

(2.) Here's Chriſt's further Manifeſtation of himſelf to him; Before Philip called thee, I ſaw thee.

(1.) He gives him to underſtand that he knew him, and ſo manifeſts his Divinity. 'Tis God's Prerogative infallibly to know all Perſons, and all Things; by this Chriſt prov'd himſelf to be God upon many Occaſions. 'Twas propheſied concerning the Meſſiah, that he ſhould be of quick Underſtanding in the Fear of the Lord, i. e. in judging the Sincerity and Degree of the Fear of God in others, and that he ſhould not judge after the Sight of his Eyes, Iſa. 11. 2, 3. Here he anſwers that Prediction. See 2 Tim. 2. 19.

(2.) That before Philip call'd him, he ſaw him under the Fig-tree; this manifeſts a particular Kindneſs for him. (1.) His Eye was towards him before Philip called him, which was the firſt Time that ever Nathanael was acquainted with Chriſt: Chriſt has Knowledge of us, before we have any Knowledge of him; ſee Iſa. 45. 4. Gal. 4. 9. (2.) His Eye was upon him when he was under the Fig-Tree; this was a private Token which no body underſtood but Nathanael: When thou waſt retired under the Fig-Tree in thy Garden, and thoughteſt no Eye ſaw thee, I had then mine Eye upon thee, and ſaw that which was very acceptable. 'Tis moſt probable, Nathanael under the Fig-Tree, was employ'd as Iſaac in the Field, in Meditation and Prayer, and Communion with God. Perhaps, then, and there it was, that he ſolemnly joined himſelf to the Lord in an inviolable Covenant: Chriſt ſaw in ſecret, and by this publick Notice of it, did, in part, reward him openly. Sitting under the Fig-Tree, notes Quietneſs and Compoſedneſs of Spirit, which much befriends Communion with God: See Mic. 4. 4. Zech. 3. 10. Nathanael herein was an Iſraelite indeed, that like Iſrael he wreſtled with God alone, Gen. 32. 24. pray'd, not like the Hypocrites in the Corners of the Streets, but under the Fig-Tree.

3. Nathanael hereby obtained a full Aſſurance of Faith in Jeſus Chriſt, expreſſed in that noble Acknowledgment, v. 49. Rabbi, Thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Iſrael: That is, in ſhort, thou art the true Meſſiah. Obſerve here,

1. How firmly he believ'd with the Heart. Tho' he had lately laboured under ſome Prejudices concerning Chriſt, they were now all vaniſhed. Note, The Grace of God in working Faith caſts down Imaginations. Now he asks no more, Can any good Thing come out of Nazareth? for he believes Jeſus of Nazareth to be the Chief Good, and embraceth him accordingly.

2. How freely he confeſs'd with the Mouth. And his Confeſſion is made in Form of an Adoration, directed to our Lord Jeſus himſelf, which is a proper Way of confeſſing our Faith. (1.) He confeſſeth Chriſt's prophetical Office, in calling him Rabbi, a Title which the Jews commonly gave to their Teachers: Chriſt is the great Rabbi, at whoſe Feet we muſt all be brought up. (2.) He confeſſeth his Divine Nature and Miſſion, in calling him the Son of God, that Son of God ſpoken of, Pſal. 2. 7. tho' he had but a Human Form and Aſpect, yet having a Divine Knowledge, the Knowledge of the Heart, and of Things diſtant and ſecret, from thence he concludes him to be the Son of God. (3.) He confeſſeth, Thou art the King of Iſrael; that King of Iſrael whom we have been long waiting for. If he be the Son of God, he is King of the Iſrael of God. Nathanael hereby proves himſelf an Iſraelite indeed, that he ſo readily owns and ſubmits to the King of Iſrael.

4. Chriſt hereupon raiſeth the Hopes and Expectations of Nathanael to ſomething further, and greater than all this, v. 50, 51. Chriſt is very tender of young Converts, and will encourage good Beginnings, tho' weak, Mat. 12. 20.

1. He here ſignifies his Acceptance, and (it ſhould ſeem) his Admiration of the ready Faith of Nathanael; Becauſe I ſaid I ſaw thee under the Fig-Tree, believeſt thou? He wonders that ſuch a ſmall Indication of Chriſt's Divine Knowledge ſhould have ſuch an Effect; 'twas a Sign Nathanael's Heart was prepar'd beforehand, elſe the Work had not been done ſo ſuddenly. Note, It is much for the Honour of Chriſt and his Grace, when the Heart is ſurrender'd to him at the firſt Summons.

2. He promiſeth him much greater Helps for the Confirmation and Encreaſe of his Faith, than he had had for the firſt Production of it.

1. In general, Thou ſhalt ſee greater Things than theſe, ſtronger Proofs of my being the Meſſiah; the Miracles of Chriſt and his Reſurrection. Note, 1. To him that hath, and makes good Uſe of what he hath, more ſhall be given. 2. Thoſe who truly believe the Goſpel, will find its Evidences grow upon them, and will ſee more and more cauſe to believe it. 3. Whatever Diſcoveries Chriſt is pleas'd to make of himſelf to his People, while they are here in this World, he hath ſtill greater Things than theſe to make known to them; a Glory yet further to be revealed.

2. In particular; not thou only, but ye, all you my Diſciples, whoſe Faith this is intended for the Confirmation of, ye ſhall ſee Heaven open'd; that's more than telling Nathanael of his being under the Fig-Tree. This is introduc'd with a ſolemn Preface, Verily, verily, I ſay unto you. This commands both a fixed Attention to what is ſaid, as very weighty, and a full Aſſent to it as undoubtedly true; I ſay it, whoſe Word you may rely upon. Amen, Amen. None uſed this Word at the Beginning of a Sentence but Chriſt, tho' the Jews often uſed it at the Cloſe of a Prayer, and ſometimes doubled it. It is a ſolemn Aſſeveration. Chriſt is call'd the Amen, Rev. 3. 14. and ſo ſome take it here, I the Amen, the Amen ſay unto you; I the faithful Witneſs. Note, The Aſſurances we have of the Glory to be reveal'd, are built upon the Word of Chriſt.

Now ſee what it is that Chriſt aſſures them of. Hereafter, or within a while, or e'er long, or from henceforth ye ſhall ſee Heaven open'd.

1. It is a mean Title that Chriſt here takes to himſelf, the Son of Man; a Title frequently apply'd to him in the Goſpel, but always by himſelf. Nathanael had call'd him the Son of God, and King of Iſrael: He calls himſelf Son of Man, (1.) To expreſs his Humility in the midſt of the Honours done him. (2.) To teach his Humanity, which is to be believ'd as well as his Divinity. (3.) To intimate his preſent State of Humiliation, that Nathanael might not expect this King of Iſrael to appear in external Pomp.

2. Yet they are great Things he here foretels; ye ſhall ſee Heaven open'd, and the Angels of God aſcending and deſcending upon the Son of Man.

1. Some underſtand it literally, as pointing at ſome particular Event. Either, (1.) There was ſome Viſion of Chriſt's Glory, in which this was exactly fulfill'd, which Nathanael was an Eyewitneſs of, as Peter, and James, and John, were of his Transfiguration. There were many Things which Chriſt did, and thoſe in the Preſence of his Diſciples, which were not written, John 20. 30. and why not that? Or, (2.) It was fulfill'd in the many Miniſtrations of the Angels to our Lord Jeſus, eſpecially that at his Aſcenſion, when Heaven was open'd to receive him, and the Angels aſcended and deſcended to attend him, and to do him Honour, and this in the Sight of the Diſciples. Chriſt's Aſcenſion was the great Proof of his Miſſion, and much confirm'd the Faith of his Diſcipies, John 6. 6, 7. Or, (3.) It may refer to Chriſt's ſecond Coming to judge the World, when the Heavens ſhall be open, and every Eye ſhall ſee him, and the Angels of God ſhall aſcend and deſcend about him, as Attendants on him, every one employ'd, and a buſy Day it will be. See 2 Theſſ. 1. 10.

2. Others take it figuratively, as ſpeaking of a State or Series of Things, to commence from henceforth; and ſo we may underſtand it, (1.) Of Chriſt's Miracles. Nathanael believ'd, becauſe Chriſt, as the Prophets of old, could tell him Things ſecret; but what is this? Chriſt is now beginning a Diſpenſation of Miracles, much more great and ſtrange than this, as if Heaven were open'd, and ſuch a Power ſhall be exerted by the Son of Man, as if the Angels which excel in Strength, were continually attending his Orders. Immediately after this, Chriſt began to work Miracles, Chap. 2. 11. Or, (2.) Of his Mediation, and that bleſſed Intercourſe which he hath ſettled between Heaven and Earth, which his Diſciples ſhould, by degrees, be let into the Myſtery of. (1.) By Chriſt, as Mediator, they ſhall ſee Heaven open'd, that we may enter into the Holieſt, by his Blood, Heb. 10. 19 20. Heaven open'd, that by Faith we may look in, and at length may go in; may now behold the Glory of the Lord, and hereafter enter into the Joy of our Lord. And, (2.) They ſhall ſee Angels aſcending and deſcending upon the Son of Man. Through Chriſt we have Communion with, and Benefit by the Holy Angels, and Things in Heaven and Things on Earth are reconcil'd, and gather'd together. Chriſt is to us as Jacob's Ladder, Gen. 28. 12. by whom Angels continually aſcend and deſcend for the good of the Saints.

CHAP. II.

In the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, we had an Account of the firſt Diſciples whom Jeſus call'd, Andrew and Peter, Philip and Nathanael. Theſe were the firſt Fruits to God and to the Lamb, Rev. 14. 4. Now in this Chapter, we have, (1.) The Story of the firſt Miracle which Jeſus wrought, turning Water into Wine, at Cana of Galilee, v. 1—11. and his appearing at Capernaum, v. 12. (2.) The Story of the firſt Paſſover he kept at Jeruſalem, after he began his publick Miniſtry. His driving the Buyers and Sellers out of the Temple, v. 13—17. and the Sign he gave to thoſe who quarrel'd with him for it, v. 18—22. with an Account of ſome half-thick Believers that follow'd him thereupon, for ſome time, v. 23—25. but he knew them too well to put any Confidence in them.

AND the third day there was a marriage in Cana of Galilee; and the mother of Jeſus was there.
2 And both Jeſus was called, and his diſciples, to the marriage. 3 And when they wanted wine, the mother of Jeſus ſaith unto him, They have no wine.
4 Jeſus ſaith unto her, Woman, what have I to do with thee? mine hour is not yet come. 5 His mother ſaith unto the ſervants, Whatſoever he ſaith unto you, do it.
6 And there were ſet there ſix water-pots of ſtone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, containing two or three firkins a-piece. 7 Jeſus ſaith unto them, Fill the water-pots with water, and they filled them up to the brim. 8 And he ſaith unto them, Draw out now, and bear unto the governour of the feaſt. And they bare it. 9 When the ruler of the feaſt had taſted the water that was made wine, and knew not whence it was, (but the ſervants which drew the water knew) the governour of the feaſt called the bridegroom, 10 And ſaith unto him, Every Man at the beginning doth ſet forth good wine; and when men have well drunk, then that which is worſe: but thou haſt kept the good wine until now, 11 This beginning of miracles did Jeſus in Cana of Galilee, and manifeſted forth his glory; and his diſciples believed on him.

We have here the Story of Chriſt's miraculous converting of Water into Wine at a Marriage in Cana of Galilee. There were ſome few ſo well diſpos'd as to believe in Chriſt, and to follow him when he did no Miracle; yet it was not likely many ſhould be wrought upon, till he had ſomething wherewith to anſwer thoſe that ask'd, what Sign ſheweſt thou? He could have wrought Miracles before, could have made them the common Actions of his Life, and the common Entertainments of his Friends; but Miracles being deſign'd for the ſacred and ſolemn Seals of his Doctrine, he began not to work any till he began to preach his Doctrine. Now obſerve, Firſt, The Occaſions of this Miracle. Maimonides obſerves it to be the Honour of Moſes, that all the Signs he did in the Wilderneſs, he did them upon Neceſſity; we needed Food, he brought us Manna, and ſo did Chriſt. Obſerve,

1. The Time, the third Day, after he came into Galilee; the Evangeliſt keeps a Journal of Occurrences, for no Day paſſed without ſomething extraordinary done or ſaid. Our Maſter fill'd up his time better than his Servants do, and never lay down at Night complaining, as the Roman Emperor did, that he had loſt a Day.

2. The Place; 'twas at Cana in Galilee; in the Tribe of Aſher, Joſh. 19. 28. of which before it was ſaid, that he ſhall yield royal Dainties, Gen. 49. 20. Chriſt began to work Miracles in an obſcure Corner of the Country, remote from Jeruſalem, which was the publick Scene of Action, to ſhew that he ſought not Honour from Men, John 5. 41. but would put Honour upon the Lowly. His Doctrine and Miracles would not be ſo much oppos'd by the plain honeſt Galileans, as they would be by the proud and prejudic'd Rabbins, Politicians, and Grandees at Jeruſalem.

3. The Occaſion it ſelf was a Marriage: probably one or both of the Parties were a-kin to our Lord Jeſus. The Mother of Jeſus is ſaid to be there, and not to be call'd, as Jeſus and his Diſciples were; which intimates that ſhe was there as one at home. Obſerve the Honour which Chriſt hereby put upon the Ordinance of Marriage, that he grac'd the Solemnity of it, not only with his Preſence, but with his firſt Miracle; becauſe it was inſtituted and bleſs'd in Innocency; becauſe by it he would ſtill ſeek a godly Seed; becauſe it reſembles the myſtical Union between him and his Church; and becauſe he foreſaw that in the Papal Kingdom, while the Marriage Ceremony would be unduly dignified, and advanced into a Sacrament, the married State would be unduly vilified, as inconſiſtent with any ſacred Function. There was a Marriage, γάμος, a Marriage-Feaſt, to grace the Solemnity; Marriages were uſually celebrated with Feſtivals; Gen. 29. 22. Jud. 14. 10. in token of Joy, and friendly Reſpect, and for the confirming of Love.

4. Chriſt and his Mother and Diſciples were principal Gueſts at this Entertainment. The Mother of Jeſus (that was her moſt honourable Title) was there; no mention being made of Joſeph, we conclude him dead before this: Jeſus was call'd, and he came, accepted the Invitation, and feaſted with them; to teach us to be reſpectful to our Relations, and ſociable with them, tho' they be mean. Chriſt was to come in a Way different from that of John Baptiſt, who came neither eating nor drinking, Mat. 11. 18, 19. It is the Wiſdom of the Prudent, to ſtudy how to improve Converſation, rather than how to decline it.

There was a Marriage, and Jeſus was called. Note, 1. It is very deſirable, when there is a Marriage, to have Jeſus Chriſt preſent at it; to have his ſpiritual, gracious Preſence, to have the Marriage owned and bleſſed by him, the Marriage is then honourable indeed: And they that marry in the Lord, (1 Cor. 7. 39.) do not marry without him. 2. They that would have Chriſt with them at their Marriage, muſt invite him by Prayer; that's the Meſſenger that muſt be ſent to Heaven for him; and he will come; Thou ſhalt call, and I will anſwer. And he'll turn the Water into Wine.

The Diſciples alſo were invited; thoſe Five whom he had call'd, Chap. 1. for as yet he had no more; they were his Family, and were invited with him. They had thrown themſelves upon his Care, and they ſoon find, tho' he had no Wealth, he had good Friends. Note, (1.) Thoſe that follow Chriſt ſhall feaſt with him, they ſhall fare as he fares, ſo he has beſpoke for them, John 12. 26. Where I am, there ſhall my Servant be. (2.) Love to Chriſt is teſtify'd by a Love to thoſe that are his for his ſake; our Goodneſs extendeth not to him, but to the Saints. Calvin obſerves how generous the Maker of the Feaſt was, tho' he ſeems to be but of ſmall Subſtance, to invite four or five Strangers more than he thought of, becauſe they were Followers of Chriſt, which ſhews (ſaith he) there is more of Freedom and Liberality, and true Friendſhip, in the Converſation of ſome meaner Perſons, than among many of higher Rank.

Secondly, The Miracle it ſelf. In which obſerve,

1. They wanted Wine, v. 3. (1.) There was Want at a Feaſt; tho' much provided, yet all ſpent. While we are in this World, we ſometimes find ourſelves in Straits, even then when we think ourſelves in the Fulneſs of our Sufficiency. If always ſpending, perhaps all's ſpent e'er we are aware. (2.) There was Want at a Marriage-Feaſt. Note, They that being married, are come to care for the Things of the World, muſt expect Trouble in the Fleſh, and count upon Diſappointment. (3.) It ſhould ſeem the Occaſion of this Want was, Chriſt and his Diſciples being there, were more Company than they expected, when the Proviſion was made; but they who ſtraiten themſelves for Chriſt, ſhall not loſe by him.

2. The Mother of Jeſus ſollicited him to aſſiſt her Friends in this Strait. We are told, v. 3, 4, 5. what paſs'd between Chriſt and his Mother upon this Occaſion.

1. She acquaints him with the Plunge they were at, v. 3. She ſaith unto him, They have no Wine. Some think ſhe did not expect from him any miraculous Supply, he having as yet wrought no Miracle; but that ſhe would have him make ſome decent Excuſe to the Company, and make the beſt of it to ſave the Bridegroom's Reputation, and keep him in Countenance. Or (as Calvin ſuggeſts) would have him make up the Want of Wine with ſome holy profitable Diſcourſe; but moſt probably ſhe look'd for a Miracle; for ſhe knew he was now appearing as the great Prophet, like unto Moſes, who ſo oft ſeaſonably ſupply'd the Wants of Iſrael; and tho' this was his firſt publick Miracle, perhaps he had ſometimes relieved her and her Husband in their low Eſtate. The Bridegroom might have ſent out for more Wine, but ſhe was for going to the Fountain-Head. Note, (1.) We ought to be concerned for the Wants and Straits of our Friends, and not ſeek our own Things only. (2.) In our own and our Friends Straits, 'tis our Wiſdom and Duty to apply ourſelves to Chriſt by Prayer. (3.) In our Addreſſes to Chriſt, we muſt not preſcribe to him, but humbly ſpread our Caſe before him, and then refer ourſelves to him to do as he pleaſeth.

2. He gave her a Reprimand for it, for he ſaw more amiſs in it than we do, elſe he had not treated it thus.

Here's, 1. The Rebuke it ſelf, Woman, what have I to do with thee? As many as Chriſt loves, he rebukes and chaſtens. He calls her Woman, not Mother; when we begin to be aſſuming, we ſhould be minded what we are, Men and Women, frail, fooliſh, and corrupt. The Queſtion, τί ἐμοὶ καὶ σοὶ, might be read, what is that to me and thee? what is it to us if they do want? but it is always uſed, as we render it, What have I to do with thee? as Judg. 11. 12. 2 Sam. 16. 10. Ezra 4. 3. Mat. 8. 29. And therefore ſpeaks a Reſentment, yet not at all inconſiſtent with that Reverence and Subjection which he paid to his Mother, according to the Fifth Commandment, Luke 2. 51. for there was a Time when it was Levi's Praiſe, that he ſaid to his Father, I have not known him, Deut. 33. 9. Now this was intended to be, (1.) A Check to his Mother, for interpoſing in a Matter, which was the Act of his God-head, which had no dependance on her, and which ſhe was not the Mother of. Tho', as Man, he was David's Son, and her's; yet, as God, he was David's Lord, and her's, and he would have her know it. The greateſt Advancements muſt not make us forget ourſelves, and our Place; nor the Familiarity which the Covenant of Grace admits us to, breed Contempt, Irreverence, or any kind or degree of Preſumption. (2.) 'Twas an Inſtruction to others of his Relations, many of whom were preſent here, that they muſt never expect him to have any regard to his Kindred, according to the Fleſh, in his working Miracles, or that therein he ſhould gratify them, who in this Matter were no more to him than other People. In the Things of God, we muſt not know Faces. (3.) 'Tis a ſtanding Teſtimony againſt that Idolatry, which he foreſaw his Church would in after Ages ſink into, in giving undue Honours to the Virgin Mary; a Crime which the Roman Catholicks, as they call themſelves, are notoriouſly guilty of, when they call her the Queen of Heaven, the Salvation of the World, their Mediatrix, their Life and Hope; not only depending upon her Merit and Interceſſion, but beſeeching her to command her Son to do them good: Monſtra te eſſe Matrem—Juſſu Matris impera Salvatori.—Doth he not here expreſly ſay, when a Miracle was to be wrought, even in the Days of his Humiliation, and his Mother did but tacitly hint an Interceſſion, Woman, what have I to do with thee? which was plainly deſign'd either to prevent or aggravate ſuch groſs Idolatry, ſuch horrid Blaſphemy. The Son of God is appointed our Advocate with the Father, but the Mother of our Lord was never deſign'd to be our Advocate with the Son.

2. The Reaſon of this Rebuke; Mine Hour is not yet come; for every thing Chriſt did, and that was done to him, he had his Hour, the fixed time, and the fitteſt time, which was punctually obſerv'd. (1.) Mine Hour for working Miracles is not yet come, yet afterwards he wrought this, before the Hour, becauſe he foreſaw it would confirm the Faith of his Infant Diſciples, v. 11. which was the End of all his Miracles; ſo that this was an Earneſt of the many Miracles he would work when his Hour was come. (2.) Mine Hour of working Miracles openly is not yet come, therefore do not talk of it thus publickly. (3.) Is not the Hour of my Exemption from thine Authority yet come, now I have begun to act as a Prophet? So Gregory Nyſſen. (4.) Mine Hour for working this Miracle is not yet come. His Mother moved him to help them when the Wine began to fail, ſo it may be read, v. 2. But his Hour was not come, till it was quite ſpent, and there was a total Want; not only to prevent any Suſpicion of mixing ſome of the Wine that was left with the Water, but to teach us, that Man's Extremity is God's Opportunity, to appear for the Help and Relief of his People. Then his Hour is come, when we are reduc'd to the utmoſt Strait, and know not what to do. This encouraged thoſe that waited for him, to believe, that tho' his Hour was not yet come, it would come. Note, The Delays of Mercy are not to be conſtrued the Denials of Prayer. At the End it ſhall ſpeak.

3. Notwithſtanding this, ſhe encouraged herſelf with Expectation, that he would help her Friends in this Strait, for ſhe bid the Servants obſerve his Orders, v. 5.

1. She took the Reproof very ſubmiſſively, and did not reply to it. 'Tis beſt not to deſerve Reproof from Chriſt, but next beſt to be meek and quiet under it, and to count it a Kindneſs, Pſal. 141. 5.

2. She kept her Hope in Chriſt's Mercy, that he would yet grant her Deſire. When we come to God in Chriſt for any Mercy, two Things diſcourage us. (1.) Senſe of our own Follies and Infirmities; ſurely ſuch imperfect Prayers as ours cannot ſpeed. (2.) Senſe of our Lord's Frowns and Rebukes. Afflictions are continued, Deliverances delay'd, and God ſeems angry at our Prayers; this was the Caſe of the Mother of our Lord here, and yet ſhe encourageth herſelf with Hope, that he will at length give in an Anſwer of Peace; to teach us, to wreſtle with God by Faith and Fervency in Prayer, even then, when he ſeems in his Providence to walk contrary to us. We muſt againſt Hope believe in Hope, Rom. 4. 18.

3. She directed the Servants to have an Eye to him immediately, and not to make their Applications to her, as it is probable they had done. She quits all Pretenſions to an Influence upon him, or Interceſſion with him; let their Souls wait only on him, Pſal. 62. 5.

4. She directed them punctually to obſerve his Orders, without diſputing or asking Queſtions. Being conſcious to herſelf of a Fault in preſcribing to him, ſhe cautions the Servants to take heed of the ſame Fault, and to attend both his Time and his Way for Supply; Whatſoever he ſaith unto you, do it, tho' you may think it never ſo improper. If he ſaith, Give the Gueſts Water when they call for Wine, do it. If he ſaith, Pour out from the Bottom of the Veſſels that are ſpent, do it; He can make a few Drops of Wine multiply to ſo many Draughts. Note, Thoſe that expect Chriſt's Favours, muſt with an implicit Obedience obſerve his Orders. The Way of Duty is the Way to Mercy; and Chriſt's Methods muſt not be objected againſt.

4. Chriſt did at length miraculouſly ſupply them, for he is often better than his Word, but never worſe.

1. The Miracle itſelf was turning Water into Wine. The Subſtance of Water acquiring a new Form, and having all the Accidents and Qualities of Wine; ſuch a Transformation is a Miracle. But the Popiſh Tranſubſtantiation, the Subſtance chang'd, but the Accidents remaining the ſame, is a Monſter. By this Chriſt ſhewed himſelf to be the God of Nature, who maketh the Earth to bring forth Wine, Pſal. 104. 14, 15. The extracting the Blood of the Grape every Year from the Moiſture of the Earth, is no leſs a Work of Power, tho' being according to the common Law of Nature, it is not ſuch a Work of Wonder as this. The Beginning of Moſes's Miracles, was turning Water into Blood, Exod. 4. 9. ch. 7. 20. the Beginning of Chriſt's Miracles, was turning Water into Wine; which intimates the Difference between the Law of Moſes, and the Goſpel of Chriſt. The Curſe of the Law turns Water into Blood, common Comforts into Bitterneſs and Terror; the Bleſſing of the Goſpel turns Water into Wine. Chriſt hereby ſhew'd, that his Errand into the World was to heighten and improve Creature-Comforts to all Believers, and make them Comforts indeed. Shiloh is ſaid to waſh his Garments in Wine, Gen. 49. 11. the Water for waſhing being turn'd into Wine. And the Goſpel Call is, Come ye to the Waters and buy Wine, Iſa. 55. 1.

2. The Circumſtances of it magnified it, and freed it from all Suſpicion of Cheat or Colluſion: For,

1. It was done in Water-pots, v. 6. There were ſet there ſix Water-pots of Stone. Obſerve, (1.) For what Uſe theſe Water-pots were intended, viz. for their legal Purifications from ceremonial Pollutions, enjoin'd by the Law of God, and many more by the Tradition of the Elders; the Jews eat not except they waſh oft, Mark 7. 3. and they uſed much Water in their waſhing, for which Reaſon here were ſix large Water-pots provided. 'Twas a Saying among them, Qui multâ utitur aquâ in lavando multas conſequetur in hoc mundo divitias. (2.) To what Uſe Chriſt put them; quite different from what they were intended; to be the Receptacles of the miraculous Wine. Thus Chriſt came to bring in the Grace of the Goſpel, which is as Wine, that cheareth God and Man, Judg. 9. 13. inſtead of the Shadows of the Law, which were as Water, weak and beggarly Elements. Theſe were Water-pots that had never been uſed to have Wine in them; and of Stone, which is not apt to retain the Scent of former Liquors, if ever they had had Wine in them. They contained two or three Firkins a-piece; two or three Meaſures, Baths, or Ephahs; the Quantity is uncertain, but very conſiderable. We may be ſure it was not intended to be all drank at this Feaſt, but for a further Kindneſs to the new-married Couple, as the multiplied Oil was to the poor Widow, out of which ſhe might pay her Debt, and live of the reſt, 2 Kings 4. 7. Chriſt gives like himſelf; gives abundantly, according to his Riches in Glory. 'Tis the Pen-man's Language to ſay, they contain'd two or three Firkins, for the holy Spirit could have aſcertain'd juſt how much; thus John 6. 19. to teach us to ſpeak cautiouſly, and not confidently of thoſe Things whereof we have not good Aſſurance.

2. The Water-pots were fill'd up to the Brim by the Servants, at Chriſt's Word, v. 7. As Moſes, the Servant of the Lord, when God bid him, went to the Rock to draw Water; ſo theſe Servants, when Chriſt bid them, went to the Water to fetch Wine. Note, Since no Difficulties can be oppos'd to the Arm of God's Power, no Improbabilities are to be objected againſt the Word of his Command.

3. The Miracle was wrought ſuddenly, and in ſuch a manner, as greatly magnified it. As ſoon as they had fill'd the Water-pots, preſently he ſaid, Draw out now, v. 8. It was done,

(1.) Without any Ceremony in the Eye of the Spectators. One would have thought, as Naaman, he ſhould have come out and ſtood, and call'd on the Name of God, 2 Kings 5. 11. No, he ſits ſtill in his Place, ſaith not a Word, but wills the Thing, and ſo works it. Note, Chriſt doth great Things and marvellous, without Noiſe, works manifeſt Changes in a hidden way. Sometimes Chriſt, in working Miracles, uſed Words and Signs, but it was for their Sakes that ſtood by, John 11. 47.

(2.) Without any Heſitation or Uncertainty in his own Breaſt. He did not ſay, Draw out now, and let me taſte it, queſtioning whether the Thing were done as he will'd it or no; but with the greateſt Aſſurance imaginable, tho' it was his firſt Miracle, he recommends it to the Maſter of the Feaſt firſt. As he knew what he would do, ſo he knew what he could do, and made no Eſſays in his Work; but all good, very good, even in the Beginning.

Our Lord Jeſus directed the Servants,

1. To draw it out; not let it alone in the Veſſel to be admir'd, but draw it out to be drunk. Note, (1.) Chriſt's Works are all for uſe; he gives no Man a Talent to be bury'd, but to be traded with. Has he turn'd thy Water into Wine, given thee Knowledge and Grace? 'tis to profit withal, and therefore Draw out now. 2. Thoſe that would know Chriſt, muſt make Trial of him; muſt attend upon him in the Uſe of ordinary Means, and then may expect extraordinary Influences. That which is laid up, for all that fear God, is wrought for thoſe that truſt in him, Pſal. 33. 19. that by the Exerciſe of Faith, draw out what is laid up.

2. To preſent it to the Governour of the Feaſt. Some think this Governour of the Feaſt was only the chief Gueſt, that ſate at the upper End of the Table; and if ſo, ſure our Lord Jeſus ſhould have had that Place, for he was upon all Accounts the principal Gueſt; but it ſeems another had the uppermoſt Room, probably one that lov'd it, Mat. 23. 6. and choſe it, Luke 14. 7. And Chriſt, according to his own Rule, ſate down in the loweſt Room; but tho' he was not treated as the Maſter of the Feaſt, he kindly approv'd himſelf a Friend to the Feaſt, and if not its Founder, yet its beſt Benefactor. Others think this Governour was the Inſpector and Monitor of the Feaſt: The ſame with Plutarch's Sympoſiarcha, whoſe Office it was to ſee that each had enough, and none did exceed, and that there were no Indecencies, or Diſorders. Note, Feaſts have need of Governours, becauſe too many, when they are at Feaſts, have not the Government of themſelves. Some think this Governour was the Chaplain, ſome Prieſt or Levite that crav'd a Bleſſing, and gave Thanks, and Chriſt would have the Cup brought to him, that he might bleſs it, and bleſs God for it; for the extraordinary Tokens of Chriſt's Preſence and Power were not to ſuperſede or joſtle out the ordinary Rules and Methods of Piety and Devotion.

4. The Wine which was thus miraculouſly provided, was of the beſt and richeſt Wine, which was acknowledg'd by the Governour of the Feaſt; and that it was really ſo, and not his Fancy, is certain, becauſe he knew not whence it was, v. 9. 10. (1.) It was certain this was Wine. The Governour knew that when he drank it, tho' he knew not whence it was; the Servants knew whence it was, but had not yet taſted it. If the Taſter had ſeen the drawing of it, or the Drawers had had the taſting of it, ſomething might have been imputed to Fancy; but now no room is left for Suſpicion. (2.) That 'twas the beſt Wine. Note, Chriſt's Works commend themſelves even to thoſe that know not their Author. The Products of Miracles were always the beſt in their kind. This Wine had a ſtronger Body, and better Flavour, than ordinary. This the Governour of the Feaſt takes notice of to the Bridegroom, with an Air of Pleaſantneſs, as uncommon. (1.) The common Method was otherwiſe. Good Wine is brought out to the beſt Advantage at the Beginning of a Feaſt, when the Gueſts have their Heads clear, and their Appetites freſh, and can reliſh it, and will commend it; but when they have well drunk, when their Heads are muddy, and their Appetites pall'd, good Wine is but thrown away upon them, worſe will ſerve them: See the Vanity of all the Pleaſures of Senſe, they ſoon ſurfeit, but never ſatiſfy; the longer they are enjoy'd, the leſs pleaſant they grow. (2.) This Bridegroom obliged his Friends with a Reſerve of the beſt Wine, for the Grace-Cup; Thou haſt kept the good Wine till now; not knowing whom they were indebted to for this good Wine, he returns the Thanks of the Table to the Bridegroom. She did not know that I gave her Corn and Wine, Hoſ. 2. 8.

Now, 1. Chriſt in providing thus plentifully for the Gueſts, tho' he hereby allows a ſober, chearful Uſe of Wine, eſpecially in Times of Rejoicing, Neh. 8. 10. yet he doth not invalidate his own Caution, nor invade it in the leaſt, which is, that our Hearts be not at any time, no not at a Marriage Feaſt, overcharg'd with Surfeiting and Drunkenneſs, Luke 21. 34. When Chriſt provided ſo much good Wine for them that had well drank, he intended to try their Sobriety, and to teach them how to abound, as well as how to want. Temperance per force, is a thankleſs Virtue; but if Divine Providence give us abundance of the Delights of Senſe, and Divine Grace enable us to uſe them moderately, this is Self-denial that's praiſe-worthy. He alſo intended that ſome ſhould be left for the Confirmation of the Truth of the Miracle to the Faith of others. And we have Reaſon to think that the Gueſts at this Table were ſo well taught, or at leaſt were now ſo well aw'd by the Preſence of Chriſt, that none of them abus'd this Wine to exceſs. And theſe two Conſiderations drawn from this Story, may be ſufficient at any time to fortify us againſt Temptations to Intemperance. (1.) That our Meat and Drink are the Gifts of God's Bounty to us, and we owe our Liberty to uſe them, and our Comfort in the Uſe of them, to the Mediation of Chriſt; 'tis therefore ungrateful and impious to abuſe them. (2.) That where-ever we are, Chriſt has his Eye upon us; we ſhould eat Bread before God, Exod. 18. 12. and then we ſhould not feed ourſelves without Fear.

2. He hath given us a Specimen of the Method he takes in dealing with thoſe that deal with him, which is to reſerve the beſt for the laſt, and therefore they muſt deal upon Truſt. The Recompence of their Services and Sufferings is reſerv'd for the other World; it is a Glory to be reveal'd. The Pleaſures of Sin give their Colour in the Cup, but at the laſt, bite; but the Pleaſures of Religion will be Pleaſures for evermore.

In the Concluſion of this Story, v. 11. we are told,

1. That this was the Beginning of Miracles which Jeſus did. Many Miracles have been wrought concerning him at his Birth, and Baptiſm, and he himſelf was the greateſt Miracle of all; but this was the firſt that was wrought by him. He could have wrought Miracles when he diſputed with the Doctors, but his Hour was not come. He had Power, but there was a Time of the hiding of his Power.

2. That herein he manifeſted his Glory; hereby he prov'd himſelf to be the Son of God, and his Glory to be that of the only begotten of the Father. He alſo diſcover'd the Nature and End of his Office; the Power of a God, and the Grace of a Saviour appearing in all his Miracles, and particularly in this, manifeſted the Glory of the long expected Meſſiah.

3. That his Diſciples believed on him. Thoſe whom he had call'd, Chap. 1. who had ſeen no Miracle, and yet follow'd him, now ſaw this, ſhar'd in it, and had their Faith ſtrengthen'd by it. Note, 1. Even the Faith that is true, at firſt is but weak. The ſtrongeſt Men were once Babes, ſo were the ſtrongeſt Chriſtians. 2. The manifeſting of the Glory of Chriſt is the great Confirmation of the Faith of Chriſtians, 12 ¶ After this, he went down to Capernaum, he, and his mother, and his brethren, and his diſciples, and they continued there not many days. 13 ¶ And the Jews paſſover was at hand, and Jeſus went up to Jeruſalem, 14 And found in the temple thoſe that ſold oxen, and ſheep, and doves, and the changers of money, ſitting: 15 And when he had made a ſcourge of ſmall cords, he drove them all out of the temple, and the ſheep, and the oxen; and poured out the changers of money, and overthrew the tables; 16 And ſaid unto them that ſold doves, Take theſe things hence; make not my father's houſe an houſe of merchandiſe. 17 And his diſciples remembred that it was written, The zeal of thine houſe hath eaten me up. 18 ¶ Then anſwered the Jews, and ſaid unto him, What ſign ſheweſt thou unto us, ſeeing that thou doeſt theſe things? 19 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Deſtroy this temple, and in three days I will raiſe it up. 20 Then ſaid the Jews, Forty and ſix years was this temple in building, and wilt thou raiſe it up in three days? 21 But he ſpake of the temple of his body. 22 When therefore he was riſen from the dead, his diſciples remembred that he had ſaid this unto them: and they believed the ſcripture, and the word which Jeſus had ſaid.

Here we have,

Firſt, The ſhort Viſit Chriſt made to Capernaum, v. 12. 'Twas a large and populous City, about a Day's Journey from Cana; 'tis called his own City, Mat. 9. 1. becauſe he made it his Head Quarters in Galilee, and what little Reſt he had, was there. 'Twas a Place of Concourſe, and therefore Chriſt choſe it, that the Fame of his Doctrine and Miracles might from thence ſpread the further. Obſerve,

1. The Company that attended him thither; His Mother, his Brethren, and his Diſciples. Where-ever Chriſt went, 1. He would not go alone, but would take thoſe with him, who had put themſelves under his Conduct, that he might inſtruct them, and they might atteſt his Miracles. 2. He ſhould not go alone, but they would follow him, becauſe they lik'd the Sweetneſs either of his Doctrine, or of his Wine, John 6. 26. His Mother, tho' he had lately given her to underſtand, that in the Works of his Miniſtry he ſhould pay no more Reſpect to her than to any other Perſon, yet followed him; not to intercede with him, but to learn of him. His Brethren alſo, and Relations, that were at the Marriage, and were wrought upon by the Miracle there; and his Diſciples, who attended him where-ever he went. It ſhould ſeem People were more affected with Chriſt's Miracles at firſt, than they were afterwards, when Cuſtom made them ſeem leſs ſtrange.

2. His Continuance there, which was at this time not many Days, deſigning now only to begin the Acquaintance, he would afterwards improve there. Chriſt was ſtill upon the Remove, would not confine his Uſefulneſs to one Place, becauſe many needed him. And he would teach his Followers to look upon themſelves but as Sojourners in this World; and his Miniſters to follow their Opportunities, and go where their Work led them. We do not now find Chriſt in the Synagogues, but he privately inſtructed his Friends, and thus enter'd upon his Work by Degrees: 'Tis good for young Miniſters to accuſtom themſelves to pious and edifying Diſcourſe in private, that they may with the better Preparation, and greater Awe, approach their publick Work. He did not ſtay long at Capernaum, becauſe the Paſſover was at hand, and he muſt attend it at Jeruſalem, for every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon. The leſs Good muſt give way to the greater; and all the Dwellings of Jacob muſt veil to the Gates of Zion.

Secondly, The Paſſover he kept at Jeruſalem; 'tis the firſt after his Baptiſm, and the Evangeliſt takes Notice of all the Paſſovers he kept henceforward, which were four in all, the fourth, that at which he ſuffer'd, three Years after this; and half a Year was now paſt ſince his Baptiſm. Chriſt being made under the Law, obſerv'd the Paſſover at Jeruſalem; ſee Exod. 23. 17. Thus he taught us by his Example a ſtrict Obſervance of Divine Inſtitutions, and a diligent Attendance on Religious Aſſemblies. He went up to Jeruſalem when the Paſſover was at hand, that he might be there with the firſt. 'Tis called, The Jews Paſſover, becauſe it was peculiar to them: Chriſt is our Paſſover; now ſhortly God will no longer own it for his. Chriſt kept the Paſſover at Jeruſalem yearly, ever ſince he was 12 Years old, in Obedience to the Law; but now he is enter'd upon his publick Miniſtry, we may expect ſomething more from him than before; and Two Things we are here told he did there.

1. He purged the Temple, ver. 14—17. Obſerve here,

1. The firſt Place we find him in at Jeruſalem, was the Temple, and it ſhould ſeem he did not make any publick Appearance till he came thither; for his Preſence and Preaching there, was that Glory of the latter Houſe, which was to exceed the Glory of the former, Hag. 2. 9. It was foretold, Mal. 3. 1. I will ſend my Meſſenger, John Baptiſt; he never preach'd in the Temple, but the Lord, whom ye ſeek, he ſhall ſuddenly come to his Temple, ſuddenly after the Appearing of John Baptiſt; ſo that this was the Time, and the Temple the Place, when and where the Meſſiah was to be expected.

2. The firſt Work we find him at in the Temple, was the purging of it; for ſo it was foretold there, Mal. 3. 2, 3. He ſhall ſit as a Refiner, and purify the Sons of Levi. Now was come the Time of Reformation, Chriſt came to be the great Reformer; and according to the Method of the Reforming Kings of Judah, he firſt purged out what was amiſs, (and that uſed to be Paſſover Work too, as in Hezekiah's time, 2 Chron. 30. 14, 15. and Joſiah's, 2 Kings 23. 4, &c.) and then taught them to do well; firſt purge out the Old Leaven, and then keep the Feaſt. Chriſt's Deſign in coming into the World, was to reform the World, and he expects that all who come to him, ſhould reform their Hearts and Lives, Gen. 35. 2. And this he has taught us by purging the Temple.

See here, 1. What were the Corruptions that were to be purged out. He found a Market in one of the Courts of the Temple, that which was called, the Court of the Gentiles, within the Mountain of that Houſe. There, (1.) They ſold Oxen, and Sheep, and Doves for Sacrifice; we will ſuppoſe not for common Uſe, but for the Conveniency of thoſe who came out of the Country, and could not bring their Sacrifices in Specie along with them; ſee Deut. 14. 24, 25, 26. This Market perhaps had been kept by the Pool of Betheſda, Chap. 5. 2. but was admitted into the Temple by the chief Prieſts, for filthy Lucre; for no doubt, the Rents for ſtanding there, and Fees for ſearching the Beaſts ſold there, and certifying that they were without Blemiſh, would be a conſiderable Revenue to them. Great Corruptions in the Church owe their Riſe to the Love of Money, 1 Tim. 6. 5, 10. (2.) They chang'd Money, for the Conveniency of thoſe that were to pay a half Shekel in Specie every Year, by way of Poll, for the Service of the Tabernacle, Exod. 30. 12. and no doubt they got by it.

2. What Courſe our Lord took to purge out thoſe Corruptions. He had ſeen theſe in the Temple formerly, when he was in a private Station, but never went about to drive them out till now, when he had taken upon him the publick Character of a Prophet. He did not complain to the chief Prieſts, for he knew they countenanced thoſe Corruptions: But he himſelf,

1. Drove out the Sheep and Oxen, and thoſe that ſold them, out of the Temple. He never uſed Force to drive any into the Temple, but only to drive thoſe out that profaned it: He did not ſeize the Sheep and Oxen for himſelf, did not diſtrain and impound them, tho' he found them Damage faiſſant, actual Treſpaſſers upon his Father's Ground, but only drove them out, and their Owners with them. He made a Scourge of ſmall Cords, which probably they had led their Sheep and Oxen with, and thrown them away upon the Ground, thence Chriſt gathered them. Sinners prepare the Scourges, with which they themſelves will be driven out from the Temple of the Lord. He did not make a Scourge to chaſtiſe the Offenders, his Puniſhments are of another Nature, but only to drive out the Cattle; he aim'd no further than at Reformation. See Rom. 13. 3, 4. 2 Cor. 10. 8.

2. He pour'd out the Changers Money, τὸ κέρμα; The ſmall Money. The Nummorum Famulus. In pouring out the Money, he ſhew'd his Contempt of it, he threw it to the Ground, to the Earth as it was. In overthrowing the Tables, he ſhew'd his Diſpleaſure againſt thoſe that make Religion a Matter of worldly Gain. Money-Changers in the Temple are the Scandal of it. Note, In Reformation 'tis good to make thorough Work; he drove them all out; and not only threw out the Money, but in overturning the Tables, threw out the Trade too.

3. He ſaid to them that ſold Doves, (Sacrifices for the Poor) Take theſe Things hence. The Doves, tho' they took up leſs Room, and were a leſs Nuſance than the Oxen and Sheep, yet muſt not be allowed there. The Sparrows and Swallows were welcome that were left to God's Providence, Pſal. 84. 3. but not the Doves that were appropriated to Man's Profit. God's Temple muſt not be made a Pigeon-houſe. But ſee Chriſt's Prudence in his Zeal. When he drove out the Sheep and Oxen, the Owners might follow them; when he poured out the Money, they might gather it up again; but if he had turned the Doves flying, perhaps they could not have been retrieved; therefore to them that ſold Doves, he ſaid, Take theſe Things hence. Note, Diſcretion muſt always guide and govern our Zeal, that we do nothing unbecoming ourſelves, or miſchievous to others.

4. He gave them a good Reaſon for what he did, Make not my Father's Houſe a Houſe of Merchandize. Reaſon for Conviction ſhould accompany Force for Correction.

1. Here is a Reaſon why they ſhould not profane the Temple; becauſe it was the Houſe of God, and not to be made a Houſe of Merchandize. Merchandize is a good thing in the Exchange, but not in the Temple. This was, (1.) To alienate that which was dedicated to the Honour of God; 'twas Sacrilege; 'twas robbing God. (2.) 'Twas to debaſe that which was ſolemn and awful, and to make it mean. (3.) 'Twas to diſturb and diſtract thoſe Services, in which Men ought to be moſt ſolemn, ſerious, and intent. 'Twas particularly an Affront to the Sons of the Stranger in their Worſhip, to be forced to herd themſelves with the Sheep and Oxen, and to be diſtracted in their Worſhip by the Noiſe of a Market, for this Market was kept in the Court of the Gentiles. (4.) 'Twas to make the Buſineſs of Religion ſubſervient to a ſecular Intereſt; for the Holineſs of the Place muſt advance the Market, and promote the Sale of their Commodities. Thoſe make God's Houſe a Houſe of Merchandize, (1.) Whoſe Minds are fill'd with Cares about worldly Buſineſs, when they are attending on religious Exerciſes, as thoſe, Amos 8.5. Ezek. 33. 31. (2.) Who perform Divine Offices for filthy Lucre, and ſell the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 8.18.

2. Here is a Reaſon why he was concerned to purge it; becauſe it is my Father's Houſe. And (1.) Therefore he had Authority to purge it, for he was faithful as a Son over his own Houſe, Heb. 3. 5,6. In calling God his Father, he intimates that he was the Meſſiah, of whom it was ſaid, He ſhall build a Houſe for my Name, and I will be his Father, 2 Sam. 7. 12,13. (2.) Therefore he had a Zeal for the purging of it. It is my Father's Houſe, and therefore I cannot bear to ſee it prophaned, and him diſhonoured. Note, if God be our Father in Heaven, and it be therefore our Deſire that his Name may be ſanctified, it cannot but be our Grief to ſee it polluted.

Chriſt's purging the Temple thus, may juſtly be reckoned among his wonderful Works; Inter omnia ſigna qua fecit Dominus hoc mihi videtur eſſe mirabilius, Hieron. Conſidering, 1. That he did it without the Aſſiſtance of any of his Friends; Probably it had been no hard Matter to have raiſed the Mob, who had a great Veneration for the Temple, againſt theſe Prophaners of it, but Chriſt never countenanced any thing that was tumultuous or diſorderly. There was none to uphold, but his own Arm did it. 2. That he did it without the Reſiſtance of any of his Enemies, either the Market People themſelves, or the chief Prieſts that gave them their Licences, and had the Poſſe Templi at their Command. But the Corrruption was too plain to be juſtified; Sinners own Conſciences are Reformers beſt Friends; yet that was not all, there was a Divine Power put forth herein, a Power over the Spirits of Men; and in this Non-reſiſtance of theirs, that Scripture was fulfilled, Mal. 3. 2, 3, Who ſhall ſtand when he appears?

Laſtly, Here's the Remark which his Diſciples made upon it, v. 17. They remembred that it was written, The Zeal of thine Houſe hath eaten me up. They were ſomewhat ſurprized at firſt, to ſee him whom they were directed to as the Lamb of God in ſuch a Heat; and him whom they believed to be the King of Iſrael, take ſo little State upon him as to do this himſelf: But one Scripture came to their Thoughts, which taught them to reconcile this Action both with the Meekneſs of the Lamb of God, and with the Majeſty of the King of Iſrael; for David ſpeaking of the Meſſiah, takes Notice of his Zeal for God's Houſe, as ſo great, that it even eat him up, it made him forget himſelf, Pſal. 69. 9. Obſerve,

1. The Diſciples came to underſtand the Meaning of what Chriſt did, by remembring the Scriptures; They remembered now that it was written. Note, The Word of God, and the Works of God, do mutually explain and illuſtrate each other. Dark Scriptures are expounded by their Accompliſhment in Providence, and difficult Providences are made eaſy by comparing them with the Scriptures. See of what great uſe it is to the Diſciples of Chriſt, to be ready and mighty in the Scriptures, and to have their Memories well ſtored with Scripture Truths, by which they will be furniſhed for every good Work.

2. The Scripture they remember'd was very oppoſite; The Zeal of thine Houſe has eaten me up: David was in this a Type of Chriſt, that he was zealous for God's Houſe, Pſal. 132. 2, 3. what he did for it, was with all his Might; ſee 1 Chron. 29. 2. the latter part of that Verſe; Pſal. 69. 9. is applied to Chriſt, Rom. 15. 3. as the former part of it here. All the Graces that were to be found among the Old Teſtament Saints, were eminently in Chriſt, and particularly this of Zeal for the Houſe of God; and in them as they were Patterns to us, ſo they were Types of him. Obſerve, 1. Jeſus Chriſt was zealouſly affected to the Houſe of God, his Church, lov'd it, and was always jealous for its Honour and Welfare. 2. This Zeal did even eat him up; it made him humble himſelf, and ſpend himſelf, and expoſe himſelf. My Zeal has conſumed me, Pſal. 119. 139. Zeal for the Houſe of God forbids us to conſult our own Credit, Eaſe, and Safety, when they come in Competition with our Duty and Chriſt's Service; and ſometimes carries on our Souls in our Duty ſo far, and ſo faſt, that our Bodies cannot keep pace with them, and makes us as deaf as our Maſter was, to thoſe who ſuggeſt, Spare thy ſelf. The Grievances here redreſs'd might ſeem but ſmall, and ſuch as ſhould have been conniv'd at; but ſuch was Chriſt's Zeal, that he could not bear even them that ſold and bought in the Temple; Si ibi ebrios inveniret, quid faceret Dominus? ſaith St. Auſtin: If he had found Drunkards in the Temple, how much more would he have been diſpleaſed?

2. Chriſt having thus purged the Temple, gave a Sign to thoſe who demanded it, to prove his Authority for ſo doing. Obſerve here,

1. Their Demand of a Sign; Then anſwered the Jews, i. e. the Multitude of the People, with their Leaders. Being Jews, they ſhould rather have ſtood by him, and aſſiſted him to vindicate the Honour of their Temple; but inſtead of that, they objected againſt it. Note, They who apply themſelves in good earneſt to the Work of Reformation, muſt expect to meet with Oppoſition. And when they could object nothing againſt the thing itſelf, they queſtioned his Authority to do it; What Sign ſheweſt thou unto us, to prove thy ſelf authoriſed and commiſſioned to do theſe things? It was indeed a good Work to purge the Temple; but what had he to do to undertake it, who was in no Office there? They look'd upon it as an Act of Juriſdiction, and that he muſt prove himſelf a Prophet, yea more than a Prophet. But was not the Thing itſelf Sign enough? His Ability to drive ſo many from their Poſts without Oppoſition, was a Proof of his Authority; he that was armed with ſuch a Divine Power, ſure was armed with a Divine Commiſſion. What ailed theſe Buyers and Sellers, that they fled? that they were driven back? Surely it was at the Preſence of the Lord, Pſal. 114. 5, 7. no leſs a Preſence.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Demand, v. 19. He did not immediately work a Miracle to convince them, but gives them a Sign in ſomething to come, the Truth of which muſt appear by the Event, according to Deut. 18.21.

Now, 1. The Sign that he gives them, is, his own Death and Reſurrection; He refers them to that which would be: (1.) His laſt Sign. If they would not be convinced by what they ſaw and heard, let them wait. (2.) The great Sign to prove him to be the Meſſiah; for concerning him, it was foretold that he ſhould be bruiſed, Iſa. 53. 5. cut off, Dan. 9.26. and yet that he ſhould not ſee Corruption, Pſal. 16. 10. Theſe Things were fulfilled in the Bleſſed Jeſus, and therefore, Truly he was the Son of God, and had Authority in the Temple, his Father's Houſe.

2. He foretels his Death and Reſurrection, not in plain Terms, as he often did to his Diſciples, but in figurative Expreſſions; as afterwards, when he gave this for a Sign, he call'd it the Sign of the Prophet Jonas; ſo here Deſtroy this Temple, and in three Days I will raiſe it up. Thus ſpake he to them who were willingly ignorant, in Parables, that they might not perceive, Mat. 13. 13. They that will not ſee, ſhall not ſee. Nay, this figurative Speech uſed here, proved ſuch a ſtumbling Block to them, that it was produced in Evidence againſt him at his Trial, to prove him a Blaſphemer, Mat. 26. 60,61. Had they humbly ask'd him the meaning of what he ſaid, he would have told them, and it had been a Savour of Life unto Life to them; but they were reſolved to cavil, and it prov'd a Savour of Death unto Death. They that would not be convinced, were hardened, and the manner of the Expreſſion of his Prediction, occaſioned the Accompliſhment of the Prediction itſelf.

(1.) He foretels his Death by the Jews Malice in theſe Words, Deſtroy ye this Temple, i. e. ye will deſtroy it, I know ye will, I will permit you to deſtroy it. Note, Chriſt, even at the Beginning of his Miniſtry, had a clear Foreſight of all his Sufferings at the end of it, and yet went on chearfully in it. 'Tis good at ſetting out to expect the worſt.

(2.) He foretels his Reſurrection by his own Power; in three Days I will raiſe it up. There were others that were raiſed, but Chriſt raiſed himſelf, reſumed his own Life.

Now he choſe to expreſs this by deſtroying and re-edifying the Temple, (1.) Becauſe he was now to juſtify himſelf in purging the Temple, which they had profan'd, q. d. you that defile one Temple, will deſtroy another, and I'll prove my Authority to purge what you have defiled, by raiſing what you will deſtroy. The profaning of the Temple is the deſtroying of it, and its Reformation its Reſurrection. (2.) Becauſe the Death of Chriſt was indeed the Deſtruction of the Jewiſh Temple, the procuring Cauſe of it; and his Reſurrection was the raiſing up of another Temple, the Goſpel Church, Zech. 6.12. the Ruins of their Place and Nation, John 11. 48. were the Riches of the World. See Amos 9. 11. Acts 15.16.

3. Their Cavil at this Anſwer, ver. 20. Forty and ſix Years was this Temple in building. Temple-work was always ſlow Work, and can'ſt thou make ſuch quick Work of it? Now here, (1.) They ſhew ſome Knowledge, they could tell how long the Temple was in Building. Dr. Lightfoot computes that it was juſt 46 Years from the founding of Zerubbabel's Temple, in the ſecond Year of Cyrus, to the compleat Settlement of the Temple-Service, in the 32d Year of Artaxerxes; and alſo, that from Herod's beginning to build this Temple, in the 18th Year of his Reign, to this very time, when the Jews ſaid this, was juſt 46 Years; Forty and Six Years ᾠκοδομήθη, hath this Temple been built. (2.) They ſhew more Ignorance, (1.) Of the meaning of Chriſt's Words. Note, Men oft run into groſs Miſtakes, by underſtanding that literally, which the Scripture ſpeaks figuratively; what abundance of Miſchief has been done, by interpreting, This is my Body, after a corporal and carnal manner! (2.) Of the Almighty Power of Chriſt, as if he could do no more than another Man. Had they known that this was he who built all things in ſix Days, they would not have made it ſuch an Abſurdity, that he ſhould build a Temple in three Days.

4. A Vindication of Chriſt's Anſwer from their Cavil. The Difficulty is ſoon ſolv'd by explaining the Terms; He ſpake of the Temple of his Body, v. 21. Tho' Chriſt had diſcovered a great Reſpect for the Temple in purging it, yet he will have us know, that the Holineſs of it, which he was ſo jealous for, was but typical, and leads us to the Conſideration of another Temple, which that was but a ſhadow of, the Subſtance being Chriſt, Heb. 9.9. Col. 2.17. Some think when he ſaid, deſtroy this Temple, he pointed to his own Body, or laid his Hand upon it; however, 'tis certain he ſpake of the Temple of his Body. Note, The Body of Chriſt is the true Temple, of which that at Jeruſalem was a Type. (1.) Like the Temple, 'twas built by immediate Divine Direction, a Body haſt thou prepared me, 1 Chron. 28. 19. (2.) Like the Temple 'twas a holy Houſe, 'tis called that holy thing. (3.) 'Twas like the Temple, the Habitation of God's Glory; there the eternal Word dwelt, the true Shechinah. He is Emanuel, God with us. (4.) The Temple was the Place and Medium of Intercourſe between God and Iſrael; there God reveal'd himſelf to them, there they preſented themſelves and their Services to him. Thus by Chriſt God ſpeaks to us, and we ſpeak to him. Worſhippers look'd towards that Houſe, 1 Kings 8.30,35. So we muſt worſhip God with an Eye to Chriſt.

5. A Reflection which the Diſciples made upon this long after, inſerted here to illuſtrate the Story, ver. 22. When he was riſen from the Dead, ſome Years after, his Diſciples remembred that he had ſaid this. We found them, ver. 17. remembring what had been written before of him, and here remembring what they had heard from him. Note, The Memories of Chriſt's Diſciples ſhould be like the Treaſure of the good Houſholder, furniſhed with Things both new, and old, Matth. 13. 52. Now obſerve,

1. When they remembred that Saying; when he was riſen from the Dead. It ſeems they did not at this time fully underſtand Chriſt's Meaning, for they were as yet but Babes in Knowledge; but they laid it up in their Hearts, and afterwards it became both intelligible and uſeful. Note, It is good to hear for the time to come, Iſa. 42. 23. The Juniors in Years and Profeſſion ſhould treaſure up thoſe Truths, which at preſent they do not well underſtand either the meaning or uſe of, for they will be ſerviceable to them hereafter, when they come to greater Proficiency. 'Twas ſaid of the Scholars of Pythagoras, that his Precepts ſeem'd to freeze in them till they were 40 Years old, and then they began to thaw; ſo this Saying of Chriſt reviv'd in the Memories of his Diſciples, when he was riſen from the Dead: and why then? (1.) Becauſe then the Spirit was poured out to bring Things to their Remembrance, which Chriſt had ſaid to them, and to make them both eaſy and ready to them, John 14. 26. That very Day that Chriſt roſe from the Dead, he opened their Underſtandings, Luke 24.45. (2.) Becauſe then this Saying of Chriſt was fulfilled, when the Temple of his Body had been deſtroy'd and was raiſ'd again; and that upon the third Day, then they remembred this among other Words Chriſt had ſaid to this Purpoſe. Note, It contributes much to the Underſtanding of the Scripture, to obſerve the fulfilling of the Scripture. The Event will expound the Prophecy.

2. What Uſe they made of it; They believed the Scripture, and the Word that Jeſus had ſaid; i. e. their Belief of theſe was confirm'd and receiv'd freſh Support and Vigour. They were ſlow of Heart to believe, Luke 24.25. but they were ſure. The Scripture, and the Word of Chriſt, are here put together, not becauſe they concur and exactly agree together, but becauſe they mutually illuſtrate and ſtrengthen each other. When the Diſciples ſaw both what they had read in the Old Teſtament, and what they had heard from Chriſt's own Mouth, fulfill'd in his Death and Reſurrection, they were the more confirm'd in their Belief of both.

23 ¶ Now when he was at Jeruſalem at the paſſover, in the feaſt-day, many believed in his name, when they ſaw the miracles which he did. 24 But Jeſus did not commit himſelf unto them, becauſe he knew all men. 25 And needed not that any ſhould teſtify of man: for he knew what was in man.

We have here an Account of the Succeſs, the poor Succeſs of Chriſt's Preaching and Miracles at Jeruſalem, while he kept the Paſſover there. Obſerve,

1. That our Lord Jeſus, when he was at Jeruſalem, at the Paſſover, did preach and work Miracles. Peoples believing on him, implied that he preach'd, and 'tis expreſly ſaid, they ſaw the Miracles he did He was now in Jeruſalem, the holy City; whence the Word of the Lord was to go forth; his Reſidence was moſtly in Galilee, and therefore when he was in Jeruſalem, he was very buſy. The Time was holy Time, the Feaſt-Day, time appointed for the Service of God; at the Paſſover the Levites taught the good Knowledge of the Lord, 2 Chron. 30. 22. and Chriſt took that Opportutunity of preaching, when the Concourſe of People was great, and thus he would own and honour the Divine Inſtitution of the Paſſover.

2. That hereby many were brought to believe in his Name, to acknowledge him a Teacher come from God, as Nicodemus did, *ch.*3.2. a great Prophet; and probably ſome of thoſe who look'd for Redemption in Jeruſalem, believ'd him to be the Meſſiah promiſed, ſo ready were they to welcome the firſt Appearance of that bright and Morning Star.

3. That yet Jeſus did not commit himſelf unto them, v. 24. ȣ̓κ ἐπίϛευεν ἑαυτὸν ἀυτοῖς. He did not truſt himſelf with them. 'Tis the ſame Word that is uſed for believing in him. So that to believe in Chriſt, is to commit ourſelves to him, and to his Conduct. Chriſt did not ſee Cauſe to repoſe any Confidence in theſe new Converts at Jeruſalem, where he had many Enemies, that ſought to deſtroy him; either, (1.) Becauſe they were falſe, at leaſt ſome of them, and would betray him if they had an Oppotunity, or were ſtrongly tempted to it. He had more Diſciples that he could truſt among the Galileans, than among the Dwellers at Jeruſalem. In dangerous Times and Places, 'tis Wiſdom to take heed who you confide in, μέμνησο ἀπιϛεῖν, Learn to diſtruſt. Or, (2.) Becauſe they were weak, and I would hope that this was the worſt of it; not that they were treacherous, and deſigned him a Miſchief: But, (1.) They were timorous and wanted Zeal and Courage, and might perhaps be frightened to do an ill Thing. In times of Difficulty and Danger, Cowards are not fit be truſted. Or, (2.) They were tumultuous, and wanted Diſcretion and Conduct. Theſe in Jeruſalem perhaps had their Expectations more raiſ'd than others, of the temporal Reign of the Meſſiah, and in that Expectation would be ready to give ſome bold Strokes at the Government, if Chriſt would have committed himſelf to them, and put himſelf at the Head of them; but he would not, for his Kingdom is not of this World. We ſhould be ſhy of turbulent unquiet People, as our Maſter here was, tho' they profeſs to believe in Chriſt as theſe did.

4. That the Reaſon why he did not commit himſelf to them, was, becauſe he knew them, v. 25. knew the Wickedneſs of ſome, and the Weakneſs of others. The Evangeliſt takes this Occaſion to aſſert Chriſt's Omniſcience.

1. He knew all Men, not only their Names and Faces, as it is poſſible for us to know many; but their Nature, Diſpoſitions, Affections, Deſigns, ſo as we do not know any Man, ſcarce ourſelves. He knows all Men, for his powerful Hand made them all, his piercing Eye ſees them all, ſees into them. He knows his ſubtle Enemies and all their ſecret Projects; his falſe Friends, and their true Characters; what they really are, whatever they pretend to be. He knows them that are truly his, knows their Integrity, and knows their Infirmity too. He knows their Frame.

2. He needed not that any ſhould teſtify of Man. His Knowledge was not by Information from others, but by his own infallible Intuition. 'Tis the Infelicity of earthly Princes, that they muſt ſee with other Mens Eyes, and hear with other Mens Ears, and take Things as they are repreſented to them; but Chriſt goes purely upon his own Knowledge. Angels are his Meſſengers, but not his Spies, for his own Eyes run to and fro through the Earth, 2 Chron. 16.9. This may comfort us in reference to Satan's Accuſations, that Chriſt will not take Mens Characters from him.

3. He knew what was in Man; in particular Perſons, in the Nature and Race of Man. We know what is done by Men, Chriſt knows what is in them, tries the Heart and the Reins. This is the Prerogative of that eſſential eternal Word, Heb. 4. 12, 13. we invade his Prerogative, if we preſume to judge Mens Hearts. How fit is Chriſt to be the Saviour of Men, very fit to be the Phyſician, who hath ſuch a perfect Knowledge of the Patient's State and Caſe, Temper, and Diſtemper; knows what's in him. How fit alſo to be the Judge of all, for the Judgment of him who knows all Men, all in Men, muſt needs be according to Truth.

Now this is all the Succeſs of Chriſt's Preaching and Miracles at Jeruſalem, in this Journey. The Lord comes to his Temple, and none come to him, but a Parcel of weak, ſimple People, that he can neither have Credit from, nor put Confidence in; yet he ſhall at length ſee of the Travel of his Soul.

CHAP. III.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) Chriſt's Diſcourſe with Nicodemus, a Phariſee, concerning the great Myſteries of the Goſpel, which he here privately lets him into, v. 1 —— 21. (2.) John Baptiſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples concerning Chriſt, upon Occaſion of his coming into the Neighbourhood where he was, v. 22 —— 36. in which he fairly and faithfully reſigns all his Honour and Intereſt to him.

1 THere was a man of the Phariſees, named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews: 2 The ſame came to Jeſus by night, and ſaid unto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do theſe miracles that thou doſt, except God be with him. 3 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Verily verily I ſay unto thee, except a man be born again, he cannot ſee the kingdom of God. 4 Nicodemus ſaith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the ſecond time into his mother's womb and be born? 5 Jeſus anſwered, Verily verily I ſay unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. 6 That which is born of the fleſh, is fleſh: and that which is born of the ſpirit, is ſpirit. 7 Marvel not that I ſaid unto thee, Ye muſt be born again. 8 The wind bloweth where it liſteth, and thou heareſt the ſound thereof, but canſt not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: ſo is every one that is born of the Spirit. 9 Nicodemus anſwered and ſaid unto him, How can theſe things be? 10 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto him, Art thou a maſter of Iſrael, and knoweſt not theſe things? 11 Verily, verily I ſay unto thee, we ſpeak that we do know, and teſtify that we have ſeen; and ye receive not our witneſs. 12 If I have told you earthly things, and ye believed not, how ſhall ye believe, if I tell you of heavenly things? 13 And no man hath aſcended up to heaven, but he that came down from heaven, even the Son of man which is in heaven. 14 ¶ And as Moſes lifted up the ſerpent in the wilderneſs, even ſo muſt the Son of man be lifted up: 15 That whoſoever believeth in him, ſhould not periſh, but have eternal life. 16 ¶ For God ſo loved the World, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoſoever believeth in him ſhould not periſh, but have everlaſting life. 17 For God ſent not his Son into the world to condemn the world: but that the world thro' him might be ſaved. 18 ¶ He that believeth on him, is not condemned: but he that believeth not, is condemned already, becauſe he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God. 19 And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkneſs rather than light, becauſe their deeds were evil. 20 For every one that doeth evil, hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, leſt his deeds ſhould be reproved. 21 But he that doeth truth, cometh to the light, that his deeds may be made manifeſt, that they are wrought in God.

We found in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, that few were brought to Chriſt at Jeruſalem; yet here was one, a conſiderable one; 'tis worth while to go a great way for the Salvation, tho' but of one Soul. Obſerve,

1. Who this Nicodemus was. Not many mighty and noble are called, yet ſome are, and here was one. Not many of the Rulers, or of the Phariſees; yet, (1.) This was a Man of the Phariſees, bred to Learning, a Scholar; let it not be ſaid, that all Chriſt's Followers are unlearned and ignorant Men. The Principles of the Phariſees, and the Peculiarities of their Sect, were directly contrary to the Spirit of Chriſtianity, yet there were ſome, in whom even thoſe high Thoughts were caſt down, and brought into Obedience to Chriſt. The Grace of Chriſt is able to ſubdue the greateſt Oppoſition. (2.) He was a Ruler of the Jews, a Member of the great Sanhedrin, a Senator, a Privy-Counſellor, a Man of Authority in Jeruſalem. As bad as Things were, there were ſome Rulers well inclin'd, who yet could do little Good, becauſe the Stream was ſo ſtrong againſt them; they were over-rul'd by the Majority, and yoak'd with thoſe that were corrupt, ſo that the Good which they would do, they could not do it; yet Nicodemus continued in his Place, and did what he could, when he could not do what he would.

2. His ſolemn Addreſs to our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, v. 2. See here,

1. When he came; He came to Jeſus by Night. Obſerve,

1. He made a private and particular Addreſs to Chriſt, and did not think it enough to hear his publick Diſcourſes. He reſolved to talk with him by himſelf, where he might be free with him. Perſonal Converſe with ſkilful faithful Miniſters, about the Affairs of our Souls, would be of great uſe to us, Mal. 2.7.

2. He made this Addreſs by Night, which may be conſider'd either, (1.) As an Act of Prudence and Diſcretion. Chriſt was engaged all Day in publick Work, and he would not interrupt him then, nor expect his Attendance then; but obſerved Chriſt's Hour, and waited on him when he was at Leiſure. Note, Private Advantages to ourſelves, and our own Families, muſt give way to thoſe that are publick, and of more general Uſe. The greater Good muſt be preferred before the leſs. Chriſt had many Enemies, and therefore Nicodemus came incognito to him, leſt, if the Chief Prieſts had known it, they ſhould have been the more enraged againſt Chriſt. (2.) As an Act of Zeal and Forwardneſs. Nicodemus was a Man of Buſineſs, and could not ſpare Time all Day to make Chriſt a Viſit, and therefore he would rather take Time from the Diverſions of the Evening, or the reſt of the Night, than not converſe with Chriſt. When others were Sleeping, he was getting Knowledge, as David by Meditation, Pſal. 63. 6. and 119. 148. Probably 'twas the very next Night after he ſaw Chriſt's Miracles, and he would not ſlip the firſt Opportunity of purſuing his Convictions. He knew not how ſoon Chriſt might leave the Town, nor what might happen betwixt that and another Feaſt, and therefore would loſe no Time. In the Night his Converſe with Chriſt would be more free, and leſs liable to Diſturbance. Theſe were Noctes Chriſtianæ, much more inſtructive than the Noctes Atticæ. Or, (3.) As an Act of Fear and Cowardice: He was afraid or aſham'd to be ſeen with Chriſt, and therefore came in the Night. When Religion is out of Faſhion, there are many Nicodemites, eſpecially among the Rulers, who have a better Affection to Chriſt and his Religion, than they would be known to have. But Obſerve, (1.) Tho' he came by Night, Chriſt bid him welcome, accepted his Integrity, and pardoned his Infirmity; conſidered his Temper, which perhaps was timorous, and the Temptation he was in from his Place and Office; and hereby taught his Miniſters to become all Things to all Men, and to encourage good Beginnings, tho' they are weak. Paul preached privately to them of Reputation, Gal.2. 2. (2.) Tho' now he came by Night, yet afterwards, when there was occaſion, he own'd Chriſt publickly, John 7.50. and 19. 39. The Grace which at firſt is but a Grain of Muſtard-Seed, may grow to be a great Tree.

2. What he ſaid. He did not come to talk with Chriſt about Politicks and State Affairs, tho' he was a Ruler, but about the Concern of his own Soul, and its Salvation, and without Circumlocutions comes preſently to the Buſineſs; he calls Chriſt Rabbi, which ſignifies a great Man; ſee Iſa. 19. 20. He ſhall ſend them a Saviour and a great one; a Saviour and a Rabbi, ſo the Word is. There is Hopes of thoſe who have a reſpect for Chriſt, and think and ſpeak honourably of him. He tells Chriſt how far he had attained; we know that thou art a Teacher. Obſerve,

1. His Aſſertion concerning Chriſt: Thou art a Teacher come from God; not educated or ordained by Men, as other Teachers, but ſupported with Divine Inſpiration, and Divine Authority. He that was to be Sovereign Ruler, came firſt to be a Teacher, for he would rule with Reaſon, not with Rigor; by the Power of Truth, not of the Sword. The World lay in Ignorance and Miſtake; the Jewiſh Teachers were corrupt, and cauſed them to err; it's time for the Lord to work: He came a Teacher from God, from God as the Father of Mercies, in pity to a dark deceived World; from God as the Father of Lights, and Fountain of Truth; all that Light and Truth which we may venture our Souls upon.

2. His Aſſurance of it; We know, not only I, but others; ſo he took it for granted, the Thing being ſo plain and ſelf-evident. Perhaps he knew that there were divers of the Phariſees and Rulers with whom he convers'd, that were under the ſame Convictions, but had not the Grace to own it. Or, we may ſuppoſe he ſpeaks in the Plural Number, we know, becauſe he brought with him one or more of his Friends and Pupils, to receive Inſtructions from Chriſt, knowing them to be of common Concern. Maſter, (ſaith he) we come with a deſire to be taught, to be thy Scholars, for we are fully ſatisfied thou art a Divine Teacher.

3. The Ground of this Aſſurance; No Man can do theſe Miracles that thou doſt, except God be with him. Here, 1. We are aſſured of the Truth of Chriſt's Miracles, and that they were not counterfeit. Here was Nicodemus, a judicious, ſenſible, inquiſitive Man, one that had all the Reaſon and Opportunity imaginable to examine them, was ſo fully ſatisfied they were real Miracles, that he was wrought upon by them, to go contrary to his Intereſt, and the Stream of thoſe of his own Rank, who were prejudic'd againſt Chriſt.

2. We are directed what Inference to draw from Chriſt's Miracles; therefore we are to receive him as a Teacher come from God: His Miracles were his Credentials. The Courſe of Nature could not be altered but by the Power of the God of Nature, who we are ſure is the God of Truth and Goodneſs, and would never ſet his Seal to a Lye, or a Cheat.

3. The Diſcourſe between Chriſt and Nicodemus hereupon, or rather the Sermon Chriſt preach'd to him; the Contents of it, and that perhaps an Abſtract of Chriſt's publick Preaching: ſee v. 11,12.

Four Things our Saviour here diſcourſeth of.

Firſt, Concerning the Neceſſity and Nature of Regeneration, and the New-Birth, v. 3——8.

Now we muſt conſider this, (1.) As pertinently anſwered to Nicodemus's Addreſs: Jeſus anſwered, v. 3. This Anſwer was either, 1. A Rebuke of what he ſaw defective in the Addreſs of Nicodemus. It was not enough for him to admire Chriſt's Miracles, and acknowledge his Miſſion, but he muſt be born again. 'Tis plain he expected the Kingdom of Heaven, i. e. the Kingdom of the Meſſiah now ſhortly to appear; is betimes aware of the Dawning of that Day, and according to the common Notion of the Jews, he expects it to appear in external Pomp and Power; doubts not but this Jeſus who works theſe Miracles, is either the Meſſiah, or his Prophet; and therefore makes his Court to him, compliments him, and ſo hopes to ſecure a Share to himſelf of the Advantages of that Kingdom. But Chriſt tells him he can have no Benefit by that change of the State, unleſs there be a change of the Spirit, of the Principles and Diſpoſitions, equivalent to a new Birth. Nicodemus came by Night, but this will not do, ſaith Chriſt: His Religion muſt be own'd before Men; ſo Dr. Hammond. Or, 2. A Reply to what he ſaw deſign'd in his Addreſs. When Nicodemus own'd Chriſt a Teacher come from God, one intruſted with an extraordinary Revelation from Heaven, he plainly intimated a Deſire to know what it was, and a Readineſs to receive it, and Chriſt gives it him. (2.) We may conſider this as poſitively and vehemently aſſerted by our Lord Jeſus; Verily, Verily, I ſay unto thee, I the Amen, the Amen ſay it, ſo it may be read: I the faithful and true Witneſs. The Matter is ſettled irreverſibly, That except a Man be born again, he cannot ſee the Kingdom of God: I ſay it to thee, tho' a Phariſee, tho' a Maſter in Iſrael. Obſerve,

1. What it is that is requir'd; to be born again: that is, (1.) We muſt live a new Life. Birth is the beginning of Life; to be born again, is to begin anew, as thoſe that have hitherto liv'd either much amiſs, or to little Purpoſe. We muſt not think to patch up the old Building, but begin from the Foundation. (2.) We muſt have a new Nature, new Principles, new Affections, new Aims. We muſt be born ἄνωθεν, which ſignifies both denuo, and deſuper. (1.) We muſt be born anew, ſo the Word is taken, Gal. 4. 9. and ab initio, Luke 1. 3. By our firſt Birth we were corrupt, ſhapen in Sin and Iniquity, we muſt therefore undergo a ſecond Birth; our Souls muſt be faſhion'd and enliven'd anew. (2.) We muſt be born from above, ſo the Word is uſed by the Evangeliſt, Chap. 3. 31. and 19. 11. and I take it to be eſpecially intended here, not excluding the other; for to be born from above, ſuppoſeth being born again. But this new Birth hath its riſe from Heaven, Chap. 1. 13. and its Tendency to Heaven: 'Tis to be born to a divine and heavenly Life, a Life of Communion with God and the upper World, and in order to this, 'tis to partake of a divine Nature, and bear the Image of the heavenly.

2. The Indiſpenſible Neceſſity of this; except a Man (any one that partakes of the human Nature, and conſequently of the Corruptions of that, except he) be born again, he cannot ſee the Kingdom of God: The Kingdom of the Meſſiah begun in Grace, and perfected in Glory. Except we be born from above, we cannot ſee this. That is, (1.) We cannot underſtand the Nature of it. Such is the Nature of the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, (in which Nicodemus deſired to be inſtructed) that the Soul muſt be new modell'd and molded; the natural Man muſt become a ſpiritual Man, before he is capable of receiving and underſtanding them, 1 Cor. 2. 14. (2.) We cannot receive the Comfort of it; cannot expect any Benefit by Chriſt and his Goſpel, not have any part or lot in the Matter. Note, Regeneration is abſolutely neceſſary to our Happineſs here and hereafter. Conſidering what we are by Nature, how corrupt and ſinful; what God is, in whom alone we can be happy, and what Heaven is, to which the Perfection of our Happineſs is reſerv'd, it will appear in the Nature of the Thing that we muſt be born again; becauſe 'tis impoſſible we ſhould be happy, if we be not Holy; ſee 2 Cor. 6. 11, 12.

This great Truth, of the Neceſſity of Regeneration, being thus ſolemnly laid down;

1. It is objected againſt by Nicodemus, v. 4. how can a Man be born when he is old; old as I am; γέρων ὢν, being an old Man, Can he enter the ſecond Time into his Mother's Womb and be born? Herein appears, 1. His Weakneſs in Knowledge; what Chriſt ſpoke ſpiritually, he ſeems to have underſtood after a corporal and carnal Manner; as if there were no other way of regenerating and new molding an immortal Soul, but by new framing the Body, and bringing that back to the Rock out of which it was hewn; as if there were ſuch a connexion between the Soul and the Body, that there could be no faſhioning the Heart anew, but by forming the Bones anew. Nicodemus, as the other Jews, valued himſelf, no doubt, very much by his firſt Birth, and the Dignities and Privileges of that; the Place of it, the holy Land, perhaps the holy City; his Parentage, ſuch as that which Paul could have glory'd in, Phil. 3. 5. And therefore 'tis a great ſurprize to him to hear of being born again: Could he be better bred and born, than bred and born an Iſraelite? Or by any other Birth ſtand fairer for a Room in the Kingdom of the Meſſiah? Indeed they look'd upon a proſelyted Gentile to be as one born again, or born anew, but could not imagine how a Jew, a Phariſee, could ever better himſelf by being born again; he therefore thinks if he muſt be born again, it muſt be of her that bare him firſt. They that are proud of their firſt Birth, are hardly brought to a new Birth. 2. His Willingneſs to be taught. He doth not turn his back upon Chriſt, becauſe of this hard Saying, but ingenuouſly acknowledges his Ignorance, which implies a Deſire to be better inform'd; and ſo I take this, rather than that he had ſuch groſs Notions of the new Birth Chriſt ſpoke of. Lord, make me to underſtand this, for it is a Riddle to me; I am ſuch a Fool, as to know no other Way for a Man to be born, but of his Mother. When we meet with that in the Things of God, which is dark, and hard to be underſtood, we muſt with Humility and Induſtry continue our Attendance upon the Means of Knowledge, till God ſhall reveal even that unto us.

2. It is opened and further explained by our Lord Jeſus, v. 5, 6, 7, 8. From the Objection, he takes occaſion,

1. To repeat and confirm what he had ſaid, v. 5. Verily, Verily, I ſay unto thee, the very ſame that I ſaid before. Note, The Word of Chriſt is not Yea and Nay, but Yea and Amen; what he hath ſaid he will abide by, whoever ſaith againſt it; nor will he retract any of his Sayings for the Ignorance and Miſtakes of Men. Tho' Nicodemus underſtood not the Myſtery of Regeneration, yet Chriſt aſſerts the Neceſſity of it as poſitively as before. Note, 'Tis Folly to think of evading the Obligation of Evangelical Precepts, by pleading that they are unintelligible. Rom. 3. 3, 4.

2. To expound and clear what he had ſaid concerning Regeneration; for the Explication of which, he further ſhews,

1. The Author of this bleſſed Change, and who it is that works it. To be born again, is to be born of the Spirit, v. 5, 6, 8. 'Tis not wrought by any Wiſdom or Power of our own, but by the Power and Influence of the bleſſed Spirit of Grace: 'Tis the Sanctification of the Spirit, 1 Pet. 1. 2. and renewing of the Holy Ghoſt, Tit. 3. 5. The Word he works by, is his Inſpiration; and the Heart to be wrought on, he has acceſs to.

2. The Nature of this Change, and what that is which is wrought; it is Spirit, v. 6. Thoſe that are regenerated are made Spiritual, and refined from the Droſs and Dregs of Senſuality. The Dictates and Intereſts of the Rational and Immortal Soul have retrieved the Dominion they ought to have over the Fleſh. The Phariſees placed their Religion in external Purity, and external Performances; and it would be a mighty Change indeed with them, no leſs than a new Birth, to become Spiritual.

3. The Neceſſity of this Change.

(1.) Chriſt here ſhews that it is neceſſary in the Nature of the Thing, for we are not fit to enter into the Kingdom of God till we are born again; v. 6. That which is born of the Fleſh, is Fleſh. Here's our Malady, and the Cauſes of it, which are ſuch as ſpeak plain, that there's no Remedy but we muſt be born again.

(1.) We are here told what we are; we are Fleſh, not only Corporeal, but Corrupt, Gen. 6. 3. The Soul is ſtill a Spiritual Subſtance, but ſo wedded to the Fleſh, ſo captivated by the Will of the Fleſh, ſo in love with the Delights of the Fleſh, ſo employ'd in making Proviſion for the Fleſh, that it is juſtly called Fleſh; 'tis carnal. And what Communion can there be between God who is a Spirit, and a Soul in this Condition?

(2.) How we came to be ſo; by being born of the Fleſh: It is a Corruption that is bred in the Bone with us; and therefore we cannot have a new Nature but we muſt be born again. The corrupt Nature which is Fleſh, takes Riſe from our firſt Birth; and therefore the new Nature which is Spirit, muſt take Riſe from a ſecond Birth. Nicodemus ſpoke of entring again into his Mother's Womb and being born; but if he could do ſo, to what Purpoſe? If he were born of his Mother a hundred Times, that would not mend the Matter, for ſtill that which is born of the Fleſh, is Fleſh; a clean Thing cannot be brought out of an unclean: He muſt ſeek for another Original, muſt be born of the Spirit, or he cannot become Spiritual. The Caſe is in ſhort this; Man, tho' made to conſiſt of Body and Soul, yet his Spiritual Part had then ſo much the Dominion over his Corporeal Part, that he was denominated a Living Soul, Gen. 2. 7. but by indulging the Appetite of the Fleſh in eating the forbidden Fruit, he proſtituted the juſt Dominion of the Soul to the Tyranny of ſenſual Luſt, and became no longer a Living Soul, but Fleſh; Duſt thou art: The living Soul became dead and unactive; thus in the Day he ſinn'd he ſurely died, and ſadly he became Earthly. In this degenerate State he begat a Son in his own Likeneſs, he tranſmitted the human Nature, which had been intirely depoſited in his Hands, thus corrupted and deprav'd; and in the ſame plight it is ſtill propagated. Corruption and Sin are woven into our Nature; we are ſhapen in Iniquity, which makes it neceſſary that the Nature be changed. It is not enough to put on a new Coat, or a new Face, but we muſt put on the new Man, we muſt be new Creatures.

(2.) Chriſt makes it further neceſſary by his own Word, v. 7. Marvel not that I ſaid unto thee, ye muſt be born again. (1.) Chriſt hath ſaid it, and as he himſelf never did nor ever will unſay it, ſo all the World cannot gainſay it, that we muſt be born again. He who is the great Law-giver, whoſe Will is a Law; he who is the great Mediator of the New Covenant, and has full Power to ſettle the Terms of our Reconciliation to God, and Happineſs in him; he who is the great Phyſician of Souls, knows their Caſe, and what is neceſſary to their Cure; he hath ſaid ye muſt be born again. I ſaid unto thee that which all are concerned in, ye muſt, ye all, one as well as another, ye muſt be born again: Not only the common People, but the Rulers, the Maſters in Iſrael. (2.) We are not to marvel at it; for when we conſider the Holineſs of the God with whom we have to do, the great deſign of our Redemption, the Pravity of our Nature, and the Conſtitution of the Happineſs ſet before us, we ſhall not think it ſtrange that ſo much ſtreſs is laid upon this, as the one Thing needful, that we muſt be born again.

4. This Change is illuſtrated by Two Compariſons.

1. The regenerating Work of the Spirit is compared to Water, v. 5. To be born again is to be born of Water, and of the Spirit, i. e. of the Spirit working like Water, as Mat. 3. 11. with the Holy Ghoſt and with Fire, means, with the Holy Ghoſt as with Fire.

1. That which is primarily intended here, is to ſhew that the Spirit in ſanctifying a Soul, (1.) Cleanſeth and purifieth it as Water; takes away its Filth, by which 'twas unfit for the Kingdom of God. 'Tis the waſhing of Regeneration, Tit. 3. 5. Ye are waſhed, 1 Cor. 6.11. ſee Ezek. 36. 25. (2.) Cools and refreſheth it, as Water doth the hunted Hart, and the weary Traveller. The Spirit is compared to Water, Iſa. 44. 3. John 7.38,39. In the firſt Creation the Fruits of Heaven were born of Water, Gen. 1.20. in alluſion to which, perhaps they that are born from above, are born of Water.

2. 'Tis probable Chriſt had an Eye to the Ordinance of Baptiſm, which John had uſed, and he himſelf had begun to uſe. You muſt be born again of the Spirit, which Regeneration by the Spirit ſhould be ſignified by waſhing with Water, as the viſible Sign of that ſpiritual Grace: Not that all they, and they only, that are baptized are ſaved; but without that new Birth which is wrought by the Spirit, and ſignified by Baptiſm, none ſhall be look'd upon as the protected, privileg'd Subjects of the Kingdom of Heaven. The Jews cannot partake of the Benefits of the Meſſiah's Kingdom they had ſo long look'd for, unleſs they quit all Expectations of being juſtified by the Works of the Laws, and ſubmit to the Baptiſm of Repentance, the great Goſpel Duty, for the Remiſſion of Sins, the great Goſpel Privilege.

2. It is compar'd to Wind, v. 8. The Wind blows where it liſteth—ſo is every one that is born of the Spirit. The ſame Word (πνεῦμα) ſignifies both the Wind and the Spirit. The Spirit came upon the Apoſtles in a ruſhing mighty Wind, Acts 2. 2. His ſtrong Influences on the Hearts of Sinners are compared to the breathing of the Wind, Ezek. 37. 9. and his ſweet Influences on the Souls of Saints, to the North and South Wind, Cant. 4.16. This Compariſon is here uſed, to ſhew,

1. That the Spirit in Regeneration works Arbitrarily, and as a free Agent. The Wind blows where it liſteth for us, and doth not attend our Order, nor is ſubject to our Command; God directs it, it fulfils his Word, Pſal. 148.8. The Spirit diſpenſeth his Influences where, and when, on whom, and in what Meaſure and Degree he pleaſeth; dividing to every Man ſeverally as he will, 1 Cor. 12.11.

2. That he works Powerfully, and with evident Effects: Thou heareſt the Sound thereof; tho' its Cauſes are hidden, its Effects are manifeſt. When the Soul is brought to mourn for Sin, to groan under the Burthen of Corruption, to breathe after Chriſt, to cry Abba, Father, then we hear the Sound of the Spirit; we find he is at work, as Acts 9. 11. Behold he prays.

3. That he works Myſteriouſly, and in ſecret hidden Ways; Thou canſt not tell whence it comes, or whither it goes. How it gathers, and how it ſpends its Strength, is a Riddle to us; ſo the Manner and Methods of the Spirit's working, is a Myſtery: Which Way went the Spirit? 1 King. 22.24. See Eccl. 11.5. and compare it with Pſal. 139.14.

Secondly, Here's a Diſcourſe concerning the Certainty, and Sublimity of Goſpel Truths, which Chriſt takes occaſion for, from the Weakneſs of Nicodemus.

Here's, 1. The Objection which Nicodemus ſtill made, v. 9. How can theſe Things be? Chriſt's Explication of the Doctrine of the Neceſſity of Regeneration, it ſhould ſeem, made it never the clearer to him. The Corruption of Nature, which makes it neceſſary, and the Way of the Spirit which makes it practicable, are as much Myſteries to him as the Thing itſelf: Tho' he had in general owned Chriſt a Divine Teacher, yet he was unwilling to receive his Teachings when they did not agree with the Notions he had imbibed. Thus many profeſs to admit the Doctrine of Chriſt in general, and yet will neither believe the Truths of Chriſtianity, nor ſubmit to the Laws of it further than they pleaſe: Chriſt ſhall be their Teacher, provided they may chuſe their Leſſon. Now here,

(1.) Nicodemus owns himſelf ignorant of Chriſt's meaning after all; How can theſe Things be? They are Things I do not underſtand, my Capacity will not reach them: Thus the Things of the Spirit of God are Fooliſhneſs to the natural Man. He is not only eſtranged from them, and therefore they are dark to him, but prejudic'd againſt them, and therefore they are Fooliſhneſs to him.

(2.) Becauſe this Doctrine was unintelligible to him, (ſo he was pleas'd to make it) he queſtions the Truth of it; as if becauſe it was a Paradox to him, 'twas a Chimera in itſelf. Many have ſuch an Opinion of their own Capacity, as to think that cannot be prov'd which they cannot believe; by Wiſdom they knew not Chriſt.

2. The Reproof which Chriſt gave him for his Dulneſs and Ignorance; Art thou a Maſter in Iſrael; Διδάσκαλος, a Teacher, a Tutor, one that ſits in Moſes's Chair, and yet not only unacquainted with the Doctrine of Regeneration, but uncapable of underſtanding it? This Word is a Reproof, (1.) To thoſe that undertake to teach others, and yet are ignorant and unſkilful in the Word of Righteouſneſs themſelves. (2.) To thoſe that ſpend their Times in learning and teaching Notions and Ceremonies in Religion, Niceties and Criticiſms in the Scripture, and neglect that which is practical, and tends to reform the Heart and Life. Two Words in the Reproof are very emphatical. (1.) The Place where his Lot was caſt; in Iſrael, where there was ſuch great Plenty of the Means of Knowledge, where Divine Revelation was. He might have learned this out of the Old Teſtament. (2.) The Things he was thus ignorant in; theſe Things, theſe neceſſary Things, theſe great Things, theſe divine Things; had he never read, Pſal. 50.5,10. *Ezek.*18.13. and 36.25,26.

3. Chriſt's Diſcourſe hereupon, of the certainty and ſublimity of Goſpel Truths, v. 11,12,13. To ſhew the Folly of thoſe who make ſtrange of theſe things, and to recommend them to our ſearch. Obſerve here,

1. That the Truths Chriſt taught were very certain, and what we may venture upon, v. 11. We ſpeak that we do know; We, whom doth he mean beſides himſelf? Some underſtand it of thoſe that bore Witneſs of him, and with him on Earth; the Prophets and John Baptiſt, they ſpoke what they knew, and had ſeen and were themſelves abundantly ſatisfied in: Divine Revelation carries its own Proof along with it. Others of thoſe that bore Witneſs from Heaven, the Father and the Holy Ghoſt; the Father was with him, the Spirit of the Lord was upon him; therefore he ſpeaks in the plural Number, as Joh. 14.23. We will come unto him. Obſerve, (1.) That the Truths of Chriſt are of undoubted Certainty. We have all the Reaſon in the World to be aſſured, that the Sayings of Chriſt are faithful Sayings, and ſuch as we may venture our Souls upon; for he is not only a credible Witneſs, who would not go about to deceive us, but a competent Witneſs, who could not himſelf be deceived: We teſtify that we have ſeen. He ſpoke not upon Hearſay, but upon the cleareſt Evidence, and therefore with the greateſt Aſſurance. What he ſpoke of God, of the inviſible World, of Heaven and Hell, and of the Divine Will concerning us, and the Counſels of Peace, was what he knew, and had ſeen, for he was by him as one brought up with him, Prov. 8.30. Whatever Chriſt ſpoke, he ſpoke of his own Knowledge. (2.) That the Unbelief of Sinners is greatly aggravated by the infallible Certainty of the Truths of Chriſt. The Things are thus ſure, thus clear, and yet, ye receive not our Witneſs. Multitudes to be Unbelievers of that which yet, (ſo cogent are the Motives of Credibility) they cannot disbelieve.

2. The Truths Chriſt taught, tho' communicated in Language and Expreſſions borrow'd from common and earthly Things, yet in their own Nature were moſt ſublime and heavenly; this is intimated, v. 12. If I had told them earthly Things, i. e. have told them the great Things of God in ſimilitudes taken from earthly Things, to make them the more eaſy and intelligible, as that of the new Birth, and the Wind: If I have thus accommodated myſelf to your Capacities, and liſp'd to you in your own Language, and cannot make you to underſtand my Doctrine, what would you do, if I ſhould accommodate myſelf to the Nature of the Things, and ſpeak with the Tongue of Angels, that Language which Mortals cannot utter; if ſuch familiar Expreſſions be ſtumbling Blocks, what would abſtract Ideas be, and ſpiritual Things painted proper? Now we may learn hence, (1.) To admire the height and depth of the Doctrine of Chriſt; 'tis a great Myſtery of Godlineſs. The Things of the Goſpel are heavenly things, out of the Road of the Enquiries of human Reaſon, and much more out of the reach of its Diſcoveries. (2.) To acknowledge with thankfulneſs the Condeſcenſion of Chriſt, that he is pleas'd to ſuit the Manner of the Goſpel Revelation to our Capacities; to ſpeak to us as to Children. He conſiders our Frame, that we are of the Earth, and our Place, that we are on the Earth, and therefore ſpeaks to us earthly Things, and makes Things ſenſible the Vehicle of Things ſpiritual, to make them the more eaſy and familiar to us: Thus he has done both in Parables, and in Sacraments. (3.) To lament the Corruption of our Nature, and our great unaptneſs to receive and entertain the Truths of Chriſt. Earthly Things are deſpis'd becauſe they are vulgar, and heavenly Things becauſe they are abſtruſe; and ſo whatever Method is taken, ſtill ſome fault or other is found with it, Mat. 11.17. but Wiſdom is, and will be juſtified of her Children notwithſtanding.

3. Our Lord Jeſus, and none but he, was fit to reveal to us a Doctrine thus certain, thus ſublime; v. 13. No Man hath aſcended up into Heaven, but he——

1. None but he was able to reveal to us the Will of God for our Salvation. Nicodemus addreſs'd to Chriſt as a Prophet, but we muſt know that he is greater than all the Old Teſtament Prophets, for none of them had aſcended into Heaven. They wrote by Divine Inſpiration, but not of their own Knowledge; ſee Joh. 1.18. Moſes aſcended into the Mount, but not into Heaven: No Man hath attained to the certain Knowledge of God, and heavenly Things, ſo as Chriſt has; ſee Mat. 11.27. It is not for us to ſend to Heaven for Inſtructions, we muſt wait to receive what Inſtructions Heaven will ſend to us; ſee Prov. 30. 4. Deut. 30.12.

2. Jeſus Chriſt is able and fit, and every way qualified to reveal the Will of God to us; for it is he that came down from Heaven, and is in Heaven. He had ſaid, v. 12. How ſhall ye believe, if I tell you of heavenly Things. Now here, (1.) He gives them an Inſtance of thoſe heavenly Things which he could tell them of, when he tells them of one that came down from Heaven, and yet is the Son of Man; is the Son of Man, and yet is in Heaven. If the Regeneration of the Soul of Man was ſuch a Myſtery, what then is the Incarnation of the Son of God? Theſe are divine and heavenly things indeed. We have here an Intimation of Chriſt's two diſtinct Natures in one Perſon; his divine Nature, in that he came down from Heaven; his human Nature, in that he is the Son of Man; and that Union of thoſe Two, in that while he is the Son of Man, yet he is in Heaven. (2.) He gives them a Proof of his Ability to ſpeak to them heavenly Things, and to lead them into the Arcana of the Kingdom of Heaven, by telling them,

1. That he came down from Heaven. The Intercourſe ſettled between God and Man began above; the firſt Motion towards it did not ariſe from this Earth, but came down from Heaven. We love him, and ſend to him, becauſe he firſt loved us, and ſent to us. Now this ſpeaks, (1.) Chriſt's divine Nature. He that came down from Heaven, is certainly more than a mere Man; he is the Lord from Heaven, 1 Cor. 15. 47. (2.) His intimate Acquaintance with the Divine Counſels; for coming from the Court of Heaven, he had been from Eternity converſant with them. (3.) It ſpeaks God manifeſt. Under the Old Teſtament God's Favours to his People are expreſſed by his hearing from Heaven, 2 Chron. 7. 14. looking from Heaven, Pſal. 80. 14. ſpeaking from Heaven, Neh. 9. 13. ſending from Heaven, Pſal. 57. 3. But the New Teſtament ſhews us God coming down from Heaven to teach and ſave us. That he thus deſcended, is an admirable Myſtery, for the Godhead cannot change Places, nor did he bring his Body from Heaven; but that he thus condeſcended for our Redemption, is a more admirable Mercy; herein he commended his Love.

2. That he is the Son of Man, that Son of Man ſpoken of by Daniel, chap. 7.13. by which the Jews always underſtand to be meant the Meſſiah. Chriſt, in calling himſelf the Son of Man, ſhews that he is the ſecond Adam, for the firſt Adam was the Father of Man. And of all the Old Teſtament Titles of the Meſſiah, he choſe to make uſe of this, becauſe it was moſt expreſſive of his Humility, and moſt agreeable to his preſent State of Humiliation.

3. That he is in Heaven. Now at this Time when he is talking with Nicodemus on Earth, yet as God he is in Heaven; the Son of Man, as ſuch, was not in Heaven till his Aſcenſion; but he that was the Son of Man, by his Divine Nature, was now every where preſent, and particularly in Heaven. Thus the Lord of Glory, as ſuch, could not be crucified, nor God, as ſuch, ſhed his Blood; yet that Perſon who was the Lord of Glory was crucified, 1 Cor. 2. 8. and God purchaſed the Church with his own Blood, Acts 20.28. So cloſe is the Union of the Two Natures in one Perſon, that there is a Communication of Properties. He doth not ſay ὃς ἐστι but ὁ ὢν ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ, GOD is the ὁ ὢν, he that is, and Heaven is the Habitation of his Holineſs.

Thirdly, Chriſt here diſcourſeth of the great Deſign of his own coming into the World, and the Happineſs of thoſe that believe in him, v. 14——18. Here we have the very Marrow and Quinteſſence of the whole Goſpel; that faithful Saying, 1 Tim. 1. 15. that Jeſus Chriſt came to ſeek and to ſave the Children of Men from Death, and recover them to Life. Now Sinners are dead Men upon a twofold Account. (1.) As one that is mortally wounded, or ſick of an incurable Diſeaſe, is ſaid to be a dead Man, for he is dying; and ſo Chriſt came to ſave us, by healing us as the brazen Serpent heal'd the Iſraelites, v. 14, 15. (2.) As one that is juſtly condemned to die for an unpardonable Crime, is a dead Man; he is dead in Law; and in reference to this Part of our Danger, Chriſt came to ſave as a Prince or a Judge, publiſhing an Act of Indemnity, or general Pardon, under certain Proviſo's; this ſaving here is oppoſed to condemning, v. 16, 17, 18.

1. Jeſus Chriſt came to ſave us, by healing us, as the Children of Iſrael that were ſtung with fiery Serpents, were cur'd, and liv'd, by looking up to the brazen Serpent; we have the Story of it, Numb. 21.6,7,8,9. 'Twas the laſt Miracle that paſs'd through the Hand of Moſes before his Death.

Now in this Type of Chriſt we may obſerve,

1. The deadly and deſtructive Nature of Sin, that's implied here. The Guilt of Sin is like the Pain of the Biting of a fiery Serpent; the Power of Corruption is like the Venom diffuſed thereby. The Devil is the old Serpent, ſubtle at firſt, Gen. 3. 1. but ever ſince fiery, and his Temptations fiery Darts; his Aſſaults terrifying, his Victories deſtroying. Aſk awakened Conſciences, aſk damned Sinners, and they will tell you how charming ſoever the Allurements of Sin are, at the laſt it bites like a Serpent, Prov. 23. 30,31. God's Wrath againſt us for Sin, is as thoſe fiery Serpents which God ſent among the People to puniſh them for their Murmurings. The Curſes of the Law are as fiery Serpents, ſo are all the Tokens of Divine Wrath.

2. The powerful Remedy provided againſt this fatal Malady. The Caſe of poor Sinners is deplorable, but is it deſperate? Thanks be to God it is not, there is Balm in Gilead. The Son of Man is lifted up, as the Serpent of Braſs was by Moſes, which cur'd the ſtung Iſraelites. (1.) It was a Serpent of Braſs that cur'd them. Braſs is bright; we read of Chriſt's Feet ſhining like Braſs, Rev. 1. 15. 'Tis durable, Chriſt is the ſame; 'twas made in the Shape of a fiery Serpent, and yet had no Poiſon, no Sting fitly repreſenting Chriſt, who was made Sin for us, and yet knew no Sin; was made in the likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, and yet not ſinful; as harmleſs as a Serpent of Braſs. The Serpent was a curſed Creature, Chriſt was made a Curſe. That which cured them, minded them of their Plague; ſo in Chriſt, Sin is ſet before us moſt fiery and formidable. (2.) It was lifted up upon a Pole, and ſo muſt the Son of Man be lifted; thus it behoved him, Luke 24. 26, 46. No Remedy now, Chriſt is lifted up, 1. In his Crucifixion; he was lifted up upon the Croſs: His Death is call'd his being lifted up, Joh. 12. 32,33. he was lifted up as a Spectacle, as a Mark; lifted up between Heaven and Earth, as if he had been unworthy of either, and abandon'd by both. 2. In his Exaltation; he was lifted up to the Father's right Hand, to give Repentance and Remiſſion; he was lifted up to the Croſs, to be further lifted up to the Crown. 3. In the publiſhing and preaching of his everlaſting Goſpel, Rev. 14. 6. The Serpent was lifted up, that all the Thouſands of Iſrael might ſee it; Chriſt in the Goſpel is exhibited to us, evidently ſet forth; Chriſt is lifted up as an Enſign, Iſa. 11. 10. (3.) It was lifted up by Moſes; Chriſt was made under the Law of Moſes, and Moſes teſtified of him. (4.) Being thus lifted up, 'twas appointed for the Cure of thoſe that were bitten by fiery Serpents; he that ſent the Plague, provided the Remedy; none could redeem and ſave us, but he whoſe Juſtice had condemned us: 'Twas God himſelf that found the Ranſom, and the Efficacy of it depends upon his Appointment. The fiery Serpents were ſent to puniſh them for their tempting Chriſt, ſo the Apoſtle ſaith, 1 Cor. 10.9. and yet they were healed by Virtue derived from him. He whom we have offended is our Peace.

3. The way of applying this Remedy, and that is by believing, which plainly alludes to the Iſraelites looking up to the brazen Serpent, in order to their being healed by it. If any ſtung Iſraelite was either ſo little ſenſible of his Pain and Peril, or had ſo little Confidence in the Word of Moſes, as not to look up to the brazen Serpent, juſtly did he die of his Wound; but every one that look'd up to it did well, Num. 21.9. If any ſo far ſlight either their Diſeaſe, by Sin, or the Method of Cure by Chriſt, as not to embrace Chriſt upon his own Terms, their Blood is upon their own Head: He hath ſaid, Look and be ſaved, Iſa. 45.22. look and live. We muſt take a complacency in, and give conſent to the Methods which infinite Wiſdom has taken of ſaving a guilty World, by the Mediation of Jeſus Chriſt, as the great Sacrifice and Interceſſor.

4. The great Encouragements given us by Faith to look up to him. (1.) 'Twas for this end that he was lifted up, that his Followers might be ſaved, and he will purſue his End. (2.) The Offer that's made of Salvation by him is general, That whoſoever believes in him, without Exception, might have Benefit by him. (3.) The Salvation offered is compleat. (1.) They ſhall not periſh, ſhall not die of their Wounds, tho' they may be pain'd, and ill frightened, Iniquity ſhall not be their Ruin. But that's not all. (2.) They ſhall have eternal Life. They ſhall not only not die of their Wounds in the Wilderneſs, but they ſhall reach Canaan, (which they were then juſt ready to enter into) they ſhall enjoy the promis'd Reſt.

2. Jeſus Chriſt came to ſave us by pardoning us, that we might not die by the Sentence of the Law, v. 16, 17. Here's Goſpel indeed, good News, the beſt that ever came from Heaven to Earth: Here's much, here's all in a little, the Word of Reconciliation in Miniature.

1. Here's God's Love in giving his Son for the World, v. 16. where we have three Things.

1. The great Goſpel Myſtery reveal'd; God ſo loved the World, that he gave his only begotten Son. The Love of God the Father, is the Original of our Regeneration by the Spirit, and our Reconciliation by the lifting up of the Son. Note, 1. Jeſus Chriſt is the only begotten Son of God. This magnifies his Love in giving him for us, in giving him to us; now know we that he loves us, when he has given his only begotten Son for us, which ſpeaks not only his Dignity in himſelf, but his Dearneſs to his Father: he was always his Delight. 2. In order to the Redemption and Salvation of Man, it pleaſed God to give his only begotten Son. He not only gave him, i. e. ſent him into the World with full and ample Power to negotiate a Peace between Heaven and Earth, but he gave him, i. e. he gave him up to ſuffer and die for us, as the great Propitiation, or expiatory Sacrifice. It comes in here as a Reaſon why he muſt be lifted up, for ſo it was determined and deſigned by the Father, who gave him for this Purpoſe, and prepared him a Body in order to it. His Enemies could not have taken him, if his Father had not given him. Tho' he was not yet crucified, yet in the determinate Counſel of God, he was given up, Acts 2. 23. Nay further, God hath given him, that is, he hath made an Offer of him to all, and given him to all true Believers, to all the Intents and Purpoſes of the New Covenant. He has given him to be our Prophet, a Witneſs to the People; the High-Prieſt of our Profeſſion; to be our Peace; to be Head of the Church, and Head over all Things to the Church: To be to us all we need. 3. Herein God has commended his Love to the World. God ſo loved the World; ſo really, ſo richly. Now his Creatures ſhall ſee that he loves them, and wiſhes them well. So loved the World of fallen Man, as he did not love that of fallen Angels; ſee Rom. 5.8. 1 Joh 4.10. Behold and wonder, that the great God ſhould love ſuch a worthleſs World! That the holy God ſhould love ſuch a wicked World, with a Love of good Will, when he could not look upon it with any Complacency! This was a Time of Love indeed, Ezek. 16. 6, 8. The Jews vainly conceited that the Meſſiah ſhould be ſent only in Love to their Nation, and to advance that upon the Ruins of their Neighbours; but Chriſt tells them he came in Love to the whole World, Gentiles as well as Jews, 1 John 2. 2. Tho' many of the World of Mankind periſh, yet God's giving his only begotten Son was an Inſtance of his Love to the whole World, becauſe through him there is a general Offer of Life and Salvation made to all. 'Tis Love to the revolted, rebellious Province, to iſſue out a Proclamation of Pardon and Indemnity to all that will come in, plead it upon their Knees, and return to their Allegiance. So far God loved the apoſtate, lapſed World, that he ſent his Son with this fair Propoſal, That whoſoever believes in him, one or other, ſhall not periſh. Salvation has been of the Jews, but now Chriſt is known, Salvation to the Ends of the Earth; a common Salvation.

2. Here's the great Goſpel Duty, and that is to believe in Jeſus Chriſt, whom God hath thus given, given for us, given to us, to accept the Gift, and anſwer the Intention of the Giver. We muſt yield an unfeigned Aſſent and Conſent to the Record God hath given in his Word concerning his Son. God having given him to us to be our Prophet, Prieſt, and King, we muſt give up ourſelves to be ruled, and taught, and ſaved by him.

3. Here's the great Goſpel Benefit, That whoſoever believes in Chriſt ſhall not periſh. This he had ſaid before, and here repeats it. It is the unſpeakable Happineſs of all true Believers, which they are eternally indebted to Chriſt for, (1.) That they are ſaved from the Miſeries of Hell, delivered from going down to the Pit, they ſhall not periſh: God has taken away their Sin, they ſhall not die; a Pardon is purchas'd, and ſo the Attainder is reverſed. (2.) They are intitled to the Joys of Heaven: They ſhall have everlaſting Life. The convicted Traytor is not only pardon'd, but preferred, and made a Favourite, and treated as one whom the King of Kings delights to honour. Out of Priſon he cometh to reign, Eccl. 4. 14. If Believers, then Children; and if Children, then Heirs.

2. Here's God's Deſign in ſending his Son into the World; it was, that the World through him might be ſaved. He came into the World with Salvation in his Eye, with Salvation in his Hand. Therefore the fore-mentioned Offer of Life and Salvation is ſincere, and ſhall be made good to all that by Faith accept it. V. 47. God ſent his Son into the World, this guilty, rebellious, apoſtate World; ſent him as his Agent, or Ambaſſador, not as ſometimes he had ſent Angels into the World, as Viſitants, but as Reſident. Ever ſince Man ſinned, he has dreaded the approach and appearance of any ſpecial Meſſenger from Heaven, as being conſcious of Guilt, and looking for Judgment; we ſhall ſurely die, for we have ſeen God. If therefore the Son of God himſelf come, we are concerned to enquire on what Errand he comes; is it Peace? Or, as they ask'd Samuel, trembling, Comeſt thou peaceably? And this Scripture returns the Anſwer, Peaceably.

1. He did not come to condemn the World. We had Reaſon enough to expect he ſhould, for it is a guilty World; 'tis convicted, and what Cauſe can be ſhewn why Judgment ſhould not be given, and Execution awarded according to Law. That one Blood of which all Nations of Men are made, Acts 17. 26. is not only tainted with an hereditary Diſeaſe, like Gehazi's Leproſy, but it is tainted with an hereditary Guilt, like that of the Amalekites, with whom God had War from Generation to Generation; and juſtly may ſuch a World as this be condemn'd; and if God would have ſent to condemn it, he had Angels at Command to pour out the Vials of his Wrath; a Cherubim with a flaming Sword ready to do Execution. If the Lord had been pleaſed to kill us, he would not have ſent his Son among us. He came with full Powers indeed to execute Judgment, Joh. 5. 22, 27. but did not begin with a Judgment of Condemnation, did not proceed upon the Out-lawry, nor take Advantage againſt us for the breach of the Covenant of Innocency, but puts us upon a new Trial before a Throne of Grace.

2. He came that the World through him might be ſaved; that a Door of Salvation might be opened to the World, and whoever would, might enter in by it. God was in Chriſt reconciling the World to himſelf, and ſo ſaving it. An Act of Indemnity is paſs'd and publiſhed, through Chriſt a remedial Law made; and the World of Mankind dealt with not according to the Rigors of the firſt Covenant, but according to the Riches of the ſecond. That the World through him might be ſaved, for it could never be ſaved but through him; there is not Salvation in any other. This is good News to a convinced Conſcience, healing to broken Bones and bleeding Wounds, that Chriſt our Judge came not to condemn, but to ſave.

3. From all this is inferred the Happineſs of true Believers; v. 18. he that believed on him, is not condemned. Tho' he have been a Sinner, a great Sinner, and ſtands convicted, (habes confitentem reum) yet upon his believing, Proceſs is ſtay'd, Judgment is arreſted, and he is not condemned. This ſpeaks more than a Reprieve; he is not condemned, that is, he is acquitted; he ſtands upon his Deliverance (as we ſay) and if he be not condemned, he is diſcharged; ȣ κρίνεται, he is not judged; not dealt with in ſtrict Juſtice according to the deſert of his Sins. He is accuſed, and he cannot plead not Guilty to the Indictment, but he can plead in Bar, can plead a Noli proſequi upon the Indictment, as bleſſed Paul doth, who is he that condemns? it is Chriſt that died. He is afflicted, chaſtened of God, perſecuted by the World, but he is not condemned. The Croſs perhaps lies heavy upon him, but he is ſaved from the Curſe. Condemn'd by the World, it may be, but not condemn'd with the World, Rom. 8. 1. 1 Cor. 11. 32.

Fourthly, Chriſt in the cloſe diſcourſeth concerning the deplorable Condition of thoſe that perſiſt in Unbelief, and wilful Ignorance, v. 18—21.

1. Read here the Doom of thoſe that will not believe in Chriſt; they are condemn'd already. Obſerve, (1.) How great the Sin of Unbelievers is; 'tis aggravated from the Dignity of the Perſon they ſlight; they believe not in the Name of the only begotten Son of God, who is infinitely true, and deſerves to be believ'd; infinitely good, and deſerves to be embrac'd. God ſent one to ſave us that was deareſt to himſelf, and ſhall not he be deareſt to us? Shall we not believe on his Name, who has a Name above every Name? (2.) How great the Miſery of Unbelievers is; they are condemn'd already; which ſpeaks, (1.) A certain Condemnation. They are as ſure to be condemned in the Judgment of the great Day, as if they were condemned already. (2.) A preſent Condemnation. The Curſe has already taken hold of them, the Wrath of God now faſtens upon them. They are condemned already, for their own Hearts condemn them. (3.) A Condemnation grounded upon the former Guilt: He is condemned already, for he lies open to the Law for all his Sins; the Obligation of the Law is in full Force, Power, and Virtue againſt him, becauſe he is not by Faith intereſted in the Goſpel defeaſance; He is condemned already, becauſe he has not believ'd. Unbelief may truly be called the great damning Sin, becauſe it leaves us under the Guilt of all our other Sins; it is a Sin againſt the Remedy, againſt our Appeal.

2. Read alſo the Doom of thoſe that would not ſo much as know him, v. 19. Many inquiſitive People had Knowledge of Chriſt and his Doctrine, and Miracles, but they were prejudic'd againſt him; and would not believe in him, while the generality were ſottiſhly careleſs and ſtupid, and would not know him. And this is the Condemnation, the Sin that ruined them, that Light is come into the World, and they loved Darkneſs rather. Now here obſerve, (1.) That the Goſpel is Light, and when the Goſpel came, Light came into the World. Light is ſelf-evidencing, ſo is the Goſpel, it proves its own Divine Original. Light is diſcovering, and truly the Light is ſweet, and rejoiceth the Heart. 'Tis a Light ſhining in a dark Place, and a dark Place indeed the World would be without it. It is come into all the World, Col. 1. 6. and not confin'd to one Corner of it, as the Old Teſtament Light was. (2.) It is the unſpeakable Folly of the moſt of Men, that they loved Darkneſs rather than Light, rather than this Light. The Jews lov'd the dark Shadows of their Law, and the Inſtructions of their blind Guides, rather than the Doctrine of Chriſt. The Gentiles loved their ſuperſtitious Services of an unknown God, whom they ignorantly worſhipp'd, rather than the reaſonable Service which the Goſpel enjoins. Sinners, that were wedded to their Luſts, lov'd their Ignorance and Miſtakes, which ſupported them in their Sins, rather than the Truths of Chriſt that wou'd have parted them from their Sins. Man's Apoſtacy began in an Affectation of forbidden Knowledge, but is kept up by an Affectation of forbidden Ignorance. Wretched Man is in love with his Sickneſs, in love with his Slavery, and will not be made free, will not be made whole. (3.) The true Reaſon why Men love Darkneſs rather than Light, is, becauſe their Deeds are evil. They love Darkneſs, becauſe they think 'tis an excuſe for their evil Deeds; and they hate the Light becauſe it robs them of the good Opinion they had of themſelves, by ſhewing them their Sinfulneſs and Miſery. Their Caſe is ſad, and becauſe they are reſolved they will not mend it, they are reſolved they will not ſee it. (4.) Wilful Ignorance is ſo far from excuſing Sin, that it will be found at the great Day to aggravate the Condemnation. This is the Condemnation, this is it that ruins Souls, that they ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light, and will not ſo much as admit a Parley with Chriſt and his Goſpel; they ſet God ſo much at defiance, that they deſire not the Knowledge of his Ways, Job 21. 14. We muſt account in the Judgment, not only for the Knowledge we had and uſed not, but for the Knowledge we might have had, and would not; not only for the Knowledge we ſinn'd againſt, but for the Knowledge we ſinn'd away.

For the further Illuſtration of this, he ſhews, v. 20, 21. That according as Mens Hearts and Lives are good or bad, accordingly they ſtand affected to the Light Chriſt has brought into the World.

1. It is not ſtrange, if thoſe that do Evil, and reſolve to perſiſt in it, hate the Light of Chriſt's Goſpel, for it is a common Obſervation, that every one that doth Evil, hateth the Light, v. 20. Evil-doers ſeek Concealment, out of Senſe of Shame, and Fear of Puniſhment, ſee Job 24. 13, &c. Sinful Works are Works of Darkneſs, Sin from the firſt affected Concealment, Job. 31. 33. The Light ſhakes the Wicked, Job 38. 12, 13. Thus the Goſpel is a Terror to the wicked World; they come not to this Light, but keep as far off it as they can, leſt their Deeds ſhould be reproved. Note, 1. The Light of the Goſpel is ſent into the World to reprove the evil Deeds of Sinners; to make them manifeſt, Eph. 5. 13. to ſhew People their Tranſgreſſions; to ſhew that to be Sin, which was not thought to be ſo; and to ſhew them the Evil of their Tranſgreſſions, that Sin by the new Commandment might appear exceeding ſinful. The Goſpel has its Convictions to make way for its Conſolations. 2. 'Tis for this Reaſon that Evil-doers hate the Light of the Goſpel. There were thoſe that had done evil, and were ſorry for it, who had this Light welcome, as the Publicans and Harlots. But he that doth Evil, that doth it, and reſolves to go on in it, hates the Light; cannot bear to be told of his Faults. All that Oppoſition which the Goſpel of Chriſt has met with in the World, comes from the wicked Heart, influenced by the wicked one. Chriſt is hated becauſe Sin is loved. 3. They who do not come to the Light, thereby evidence a ſecret Hatred of the Light. If they had not an Antipathy to ſaving Knowledge, they would not ſit down ſo contentedly in damning Ignorance.

2. On the other hand, upright Hearts that approve themſelves to God in their Integrity, bid this Light welcome, v. 20. He that doth Truth, comes to the Light. It ſeems then, tho' the Goſpel had many Enemies, it had ſome Friends. It is a common Obſervation, that Truth ſeeks no Corners. They who mean and act honeſtly, dread not a Scrutiny, but deſire it rather; now this is applicable to the Goſpel Light; as it convinceth and terrifies Evil doers, ſo it confirms and comforts thoſe that walk in their Integrity. Obſerve here,

1. The Character of a good Man. (1.) He is one that doth Truth; i. e. he acts truely and ſincerely in all he doth. Tho' ſometimes he comes ſhort of doing good, the Good he would do, yet he doth Truth; he aims honeſtly; he has his Infirmities, but holds faſt his Integrity; as Gaius, that did faithfully, 3 John 5. as Paul, 2 Cor. 1. 12. as Nathanael, John 1. 37. as Aſa, 1 Kings 15. 14. (2.) He is one that cometh to the Light. He is ready to receive and entertain Divine Revelation, as far as it appears to him to be ſo, what Uneaſineſs ſoever it may create him. He that doth Truth, is willing to know the Truth by himſelf, and to have his Deeds made manifeſt. A good Man is much in trying himſelf, and deſirous that God would try him, Pſal. 26. 2. He is ſollicitous to know what the Will of God is, and reſolves to do it, tho' never ſo contrary to his own Wills and Intereſts.

2. Here's the Character of a good Work; it is wrought in God, in Union with him by a covenanting Faith, and in Communion with him by devout Affections. Our Works are then good, and will bear the Teſt, when the Will of God is the Rule of them, and the Glory of God the End of them: when they are done in his Strength, and for his ſake, to him, and not to Men; and if by the Light of the Goſpel it be manifeſt to us, that our Works are thus wrought, then ſhall we have rejoicing, Gal. 6. 4. 2 Cor. 1. 12.

Thus far we have Chriſt's Diſcourſe with Nicodemus; 'tis likely much more paſs'd between them, and it had a good Effect, for we find, John 19. 39. that Nicodemus, tho' he was puzzled at firſt, yet afterwards became a faithful Diſciple of Chriſt.

22 ¶ After theſe things came Jeſus and his diſciples into the land of Judea, and there he tarried with them, and baptized. 23 ¶ And John alſo was baptizing in Enon, near to Salim, becauſe there was much water there: and they came, and were baptized. 24 For John was not yet caſt into priſon. 25 ¶ Then there aroſe a queſtion between ſome of John's diſciples and the Jews, about purifying. 26 And they came unto John, and ſaid unto him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan, to whom thou bareſt witneſs, behold, the ſame baptizeth, and all men come to him. 27 John anſwered and ſaid, A man can receive nothing, except it be given him from heaven. 28 Ye yourſelves bear me witneſs, that I ſaid, I am not the Chriſt, but that I am ſent before him. 29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom, which ſtandeth and heareth him, rejoyceth greatly, becauſe of the bridegroom's voice: this my joy therefore is fulfilled. 30 He muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe. 31 He that cometh from above, is above all: he that is of the earth, is earthly, and ſpeaketh of the earth: he that cometh from heaven, is above all. 32 And what he hath ſeen and heard, that he teſtifieth; and no man receiveth his teſtimony. 33 He that hath received his teſtimony, hath ſet to his ſeal, that God is true. 34 For he whom God hath ſent, ſpeaketh the words of God: for God giveth not the ſpirit by meaſure unto him. 35 The father loveth the ſon, and hath given all things into his hand. 36 He that believeth on the ſon, hath everlaſting life: and he that believeth not the ſon, ſhall not ſee life: but the wrath of God abideth on him.

In theſe Verſes we have,

1. Chriſt's Removal into the Land of Judea, v. 22. and there he tarried with his Diſciples. Obſerve,

(1.) Our Lord Jeſus, after he enter'd upon his publick Work, travell'd much, and remov'd often, as the Patriarchs in their Sojournings. As it was a good part of his Humiliation, that he had no certain dwelling Place, but was as Paul, in Journeyings often; ſo it was an Inſtance of his unwearied Induſtry in the Work, for which he came into the World, that he went about in Proſecution of it; many a weary Step he took, to do good to Souls. This Sun of Righteouſneſs took a large Circuit, to diffuſe his Light and Heat, Pſal. 19. 6.

(2.) He was not wont to ſtay long at Jeruſalem; tho' he went frequently thither, yet he ſoon returned into the Country; as here, After theſe Things, after he had had this Diſcourſe with Nicodemus, he came into the Land of Judea; not ſo much for greater Privacy, tho mean and obſcure Places beſt ſuited the humble Jeſus in his humble State, but for greater Uſefulneſs; his Preaching and Miracles perhaps made moſt Noiſe at Jeruſalem, the Fountain Head of News, but did leaſt Good there, where the Topping Men of the Jewiſh Church had ſo much the Aſcendant.

(3.) When he came into the Land of Judea, his Diſciples came with him, for theſe were they that continued with him in his Temptations. Many that flocked to him at Jeruſalem, would not follow his Motions into the Country, they had no Buſineſs there, but his Diſciples attended him. If the Ark remove, it's better remove and go after it, (as they did, Joſh. 3. 3.) than ſit ſtill without it, tho' it be in Jeruſalem itſelf.

(4.) There he tarried with them, διέτριβε. He converſ'd with them, diſcourſ'd with them. He did not retire into the Country for his Eaſe and Pleaſure, but for more free Converſation with his Diſciples and Followers. See Cant. 7. 11, 12. Note, Thoſe that are ready to go with Chriſt, ſhall find him as ready to ſtay with them. 'Tis ſuppos'd he now ſtaid 5 or 6 Months in this Country.

(5.) There he baptized; he admitted Diſciples, ſuch as believed in him, and had more Honeſty and Courage than thoſe had at Jeruſalem, Chap. 2. 24. John began to baptize in the Land of Judea, Mat. 3. 1. therefore Chriſt began there, for John had ſaid, There comes one after me. He baptized not himſelf, with his own Hand, but his Diſciples by his Order and Directions, as appears, ch. 4. 4. But his Diſciples baptizing, was his baptizing. Holy Ordinances are Chriſt's, tho' adminiſtred by weak Men.

2. John's Continuance in his Work as long as his Opportunities laſted, v. 23, 24. Here we are told,

1. That John was baptizing. Chriſt's Baptiſm was for Subſtance the ſame with John's, for he bore Witneſs to Chriſt, and therefore they did not at all claſh or interfere with one another. But, (1.) Chriſt began to preach and baptize before John laid it down, that he might be ready to receive John's Diſciples when he ſhould be taken off, and ſo the Wheels might be kept a going. It is a Comfort to uſeful Men, when they are going off the Stage, to ſee thoſe riſing up, who are likely to fill up their Room. (2.) John continued to preach and baptize, tho' Chriſt had taken it up; for he would ſtill, according to the Meaſure given to him, advance the Intereſts of God's Kingdom. There was ſtill Work for John to do, for Chriſt was not yet generally known, nor the Minds of People thoroughly prepared for him by Repentance. From Heaven John had received his Command, and he would go on in his Work, till from thence he received his Countermand, and would have his Diſmiſſion from the ſame Hand that gave him his Commiſſion. He doth not come in to Chriſt, leſt what had formerly paſt ſhould look like a Combination between them; but he goes on with his Work, till Providence lays him aſide. The greater Gifts of ſome do not render the Labours of others that come ſhort of them needleſs, and uſeleſs; there is Work enough for all Hands. They are ſullen that will ſit down and do nothing, when they ſee themſelves out-ſhone. Tho' we have but one Talent, we muſt account for that; and when we ſee ourſelves going off, yet muſt go on to the laſt.

2. That he baptized in Enon near Salim, Places we find no where elſe mention'd; and therefore the Learned are altogether at a loſs where to find them; where-ever it was, it ſeems John removed from Place to Place; he did not think there was any Virtue in Jordan, becauſe Jeſus was baptized there, which ſhould engage him to ſtay there; but as he ſaw cauſe, remov'd to other Waters. Miniſters muſt follow their Opportunities; and he choſe a Place where there was much Water; ὕδατα πολλὰ, many Waters, i. e. many Streams of Water; ſo that where-ever he met with any that were willing to ſubmit to his Baptiſm, Water was at hand to baptize them with; ſhallow perhaps, as is uſual where there are many Brooks, but ſuch as would ſerve his purpoſe. And in that Country, plenty of Water was a valuable Thing.

3. That thither People came to him, and were baptized. Tho' they did not come in ſuch vaſt Crowds, as they did when he firſt appear'd, yet now he was not without Encouragement, but there were ſtill thoſe that attended and own'd him. Some refer this both to John and to Jeſus; They came and were baptized, i. e. ſome came to John, and were baptized by him, ſome to Jeſus, and were baptized by him; and as their Baptiſm was one, ſo were their Hearts.

4. It is noted, v. 4. that John was not yet caſt into Priſon, to clear the Order of the Story, and to ſhew that theſe Paſſages related here, Chap. 2. and 3. in the Harmony, are to come in before Mat. 4. 12. John never deſiſted from his Work as long as he had his Liberty; nay, he ſeems to have been the more induſtrious, becauſe he foreſaw his Time was ſhort; he was not yet caſt into Priſon, but he expected it e'er long, John 9. 4.

3. A Conteſt between John's Diſciples and the Jews, about purifying, v. 25. See how the Goſpel of Chriſt came not to ſend Peace upon Earth, but Diviſion. Obſerve,

1. Who were the Diſputants; ſome of John's Diſciples, and the Jews, who had not ſubmitted to his Baptiſm of Repentance. Penitents and Impenitents divide this ſinful World. In this Conteſt it ſhould ſeem John's Diſciples were the Aggreſſors, and gave the Challenge, and 'tis a Sign they were Novices that had more Zeal than Diſcretion. The Truths of God have often ſuffer'd by the Raſhneſs of ſome, that have undertaken to defend them, before they were able to do it.

2. What was the Matter in Diſpute, about Purifying, about religious Waſhing. (1.) We may ſuppoſe that John's Diſciples cry'd up his Baptiſm, his Purifying, as inſtar omnium, and gave the Preference to that as perfecting and ſuperſeding all the Purifications of the Jews; and they were in the right: but young Converts are too apt to boaſt of their Attainments, whereas he that has found the Treaſure ſhould hide it, till he's ſure he has it, and not talk of it too much at firſt. (2.) No doubt, but the Jews, with as much Aſſurance, applauded the Purifyings that were in uſe among them, both thoſe that were inſtituted by the Law of Moſes, and thoſe that were impos'd by the Tradition of the Elders; for the former they had a Divine Warrant, and for the latter the Uſage of the Church. Now it's very likely, that the Jews in this Diſpute, when they could not deny the excellent Nature and Deſign of John's Baptiſm, rais'd an Objection againſt it from Chriſt's Baptiſm, which gave Occaſion for the Complaint that follows here, v. 26. Here's John baptizing in one Place, (ſay they) and Jeſus at the ſame time baptizing in another Place, and therefore John's Baptiſm, which his Diſciples ſo much applaud, is either, (1.) Dangerous, and of ill Conſequence to the Peace of the Church and State, for you ſee it opens a Door to endleſs Parties; now John has begun, we ſhall have every little Teacher ſet up for a Baptiſt preſently. Or, (2.) That at the beſt it was defective and imperfect. If John's Baptiſm, which you cry up thus, have any good in it, yonder's the Baptiſm of Jeſus goes beyond it; ſo that for your Parts, you are ſhaded already by a greater Light, and your Baptiſm is ſoon gone out of Requeſt. Thus Objections are made againſt the Goſpel, from the Advancement and Improvement of Goſpel Light; as if Childhood and Manhood were contrary to each other, and the Superſtructure were againſt the Foundation. There was no Reaſon to object Chriſt's Baptiſm againſt John's, for they conſiſted very well together.

4. A Complaint which John's Diſciples made to their Maſter concerning Chriſt, and his baptizing, v. 26. They being nonplus'd by the fore-mention'd Objection, and probably ruffled, and put into a Heat by it, come to their Maſter, and tell him, Rabbi, he that was with thee, and was baptized of thee, is now ſet up for himſelf, he baptizeth, and all Men come to him; and wilt thou ſuffer it? Their Itch of diſputing occaſion'd this. 'Tis common for Men, when they find themſelves run aground in the Heat of Diſputation, to fall foul upon thoſe that do them no harm. If theſe Diſciples of John had not undertaken to diſpute about Purifying, before they underſtood the Doctrine of Baptiſm, they might have anſwer'd the Objection without being put into a Paſſion. In their Complaint they ſpeak reſpectfully to their own Maſter, Rabbi; but ſpeak very ſlightly of our Saviour, tho' they do not name him.

1. They ſuggeſt that Chriſt's ſetting up a Baptiſm of his own was a Piece of Preſumption, very unaccountable; as if John having firſt ſet up this Right of Baptizing, he muſt have the Monopoly of it, and as it were a Patent for the Invention. He that was with thee beyond Jordan, as a Diſciple of thine, behold and wonder, the ſame, the very ſame baptizeth, and takes thy Work out of thy Hand. Thus the voluntary Condeſcenſions of the Lord Jeſus, as that of his being baptized by John, are often unjuſtly and very unkindly turn'd to his Reproach.

2. They ſuggeſt that it was a Piece of Ingratitude to John; He to whom thou beareſt Witneſs, baptizeth; as if Jeſus ow'd all his Reputation to the honourable Character John gave of him, and yet had very unworthily improv'd it to the Prejudice of John. But Chriſt needed not John's Teſtimony, John 5. 36. He reflected more Honour upon John than he received from him; yet thus it is incident to us to think, that others are more indebted to us than really they are. And beſides, Chriſt's Baptiſm was not in the leaſt an Impeachment, but indeed the greateſt Improvement of John's Baptiſm; which was but to lead the Way to Chriſt's. John was juſt to Chriſt in bearing Witneſs to him, and Chriſt's anſwering his Teſtimony, did rather enrich than impoveriſh John's Miniſtry.

3. They conclude that it would be a total Eclipſe to John's Baptiſm, for all Men come to him; they that uſed to follow with us, now flock after him, it's therefore time for us to look about us. It was not indeed ſtrange that all Men came to him. As far as Chriſt is manifeſted, he will be magnified; but why ſhould John's Diſciples grieve at that? Note, Aiming at the Monopoly of Honour and Reſpect, has been in all Ages the Bane of the Church, and the Shame of its Members and Miniſters; as alſo a Vying of Intereſts, and a Jealouſy of Rivalſhip and Competition. We miſtake if we think, that the excelling Gifts and Graces, and Labours and Uſefulneſs of one, is a Diminution and Diſparagement to another, that has obtained Mercy to be faithful; for the Spirit is a free Agent, diſpenſing to every one ſeverally as he will. Paul rejoic'd in the Uſefulneſs, even of thoſe that oppos'd him, Phil. 1. 18. we muſt leave it to God to chuſe, employ, and honour his own Inſtruments as he pleaſeth, and not covet to be placed alone.

5. Here's John's Anſwer to this Complaint, which his Diſciples made, v. 27, &c. His Diſciples expected he ſhould have reſented this Matter as they did; but Chriſt's Manifeſtation to Iſrael was no ſurprize to John, but what he looked for; 'twas no Diſturbance to him, but what he wiſh'd for. He therefore check'd the Complaint, as Moſes, Envieſt thou for my ſake? and took this Occaſion to confirm the Teſtimonies he had formerly borne to Chriſt, as ſuperior to him, chearfully conſigning and turning over to him all the Intereſt he had in Iſrael. In this Diſcourſe here, the firſt Miniſter of the Goſpel (for ſo John was) is an excellent Pattern to all Miniſters to humble themſelves, and to exalt the Lord Jeſus.

Firſt, John here abaſeth himſelf in compariſon with Chriſt, v. 27, to 30. The more others magnify us, the more we muſt humble ourſelves; and fortify ourſelves againſt the Temptation of Flattery and Applauſe, and the Jealouſy of our Friends for our Honour, by remembring our Place, and what we are, 1 Cor. 3. 5.

1. John acquieſceth in the Divine Diſpoſal, and ſatisfieth himſelf with that, v. 27. A Man can receive nothing, except it be given him from Heaven, whence every good Gift comes, Jam. 1. 18. A general Truth very applicable in this Caſe. Different Employments are according to the Direction of Divine Providence; different Endowments according to the Diſtribution of the Divine Grace. No Man can take any true Honour to himſelf, Heb. 5.4. We have as neceſſary and conſtant a Dependance upon the Grace of God in all the Motions and Actions of the ſpiritual Life, as we have upon the Providence of God in all the Motions and Actions of the natural Life. Now this comes in here as a Reaſon, (1.) Why we ſhould not envy thoſe that have a larger Share of Gifts than we have, or move in a larger Sphere of Uſefulneſs. John minds his Diſciples, that Jeſus had not thus excelled him, except he had received it from Heaven, for as Man and Mediator he received Gifts; and if God gave him the Spirit without Meaſure, v. 34. ſhall they grudge at it? The ſame Reaſon will hold as to others. If God is pleas'd to give to others more Ability and Succeſs, than to us, ſhall we be diſpleas'd at it, and reflect upon him as unjuſt, unwiſe, and partial. See Mat. 20. 15. (2.) Why we ſhould not be diſcontented, tho' we be inferior to others in Gifts and Uſefulneſs, and be eclips'd by their Excellencies. John was ready to own that it was the Gift, the free Gift of Heaven, that made him a Preacher, a Prophet, a Baptiſt; it was God that gave him the Intereſt he had in the Love and Eſteem of the People, and if now his Intereſt decline, God's Will be done: He that gives may take. What we receive from Heaven, we muſt take as it is given: Now John never received a Commiſſion for a ſtanding perpetual Office, but only for a temporary one, which muſt ſoon expire, and therefore when he has fulfill'd his Miniſtry, he can contentedly ſee it go out of date. Some give quite another Senſe of theſe Words; John had taken pains with his Diſciples to teach them the Reference which his Baptiſm had to Chriſt, who ſhould come after him, and yet be preferred before him, and do that for them which he could not do; and yet after all, they doat upon John, and grudge this Preference of Chriſt above him: Well, ſaith John, I ſee, A Man can receive, i. e. perceive, nothing, except it be given him from Heaven. The Labour of Miniſters is all loſt Labour, unleſs the Grace of God make it effectual. Men do not underſtand that which is made moſt plain, nor believe that which is made moſt evident, unleſs it be given them from Heaven to underſtand and believe it.

2. John appeals to the Teſtimony he had formerly given concerning Chriſt, v. 18. you can bear me Witneſs, that I ſaid again and again, I am not the Chriſt, but that I am ſent before him. See how ſteddy and conſtant John was in his Teſtimony to Chriſt, and not as a Reed ſhaken with the Wind; neither the Frowns of the chief Prieſts, nor the Flatteries of his own Diſciples, could make him change his Note. Now this ſerves here, (1.) As a Conviction to his Diſciples, of the Unreaſonableneſs of their Complaint. They had ſpoken of the Witneſs which their Maſter bore to Jeſus, v. 26. Now, ſaith John, Do not you remember what the Teſtimony was that I did bear? Call that to mind, and you will ſee your own Cavil anſwer'd. Did I not ſay, I am not the Chriſt, why then do you ſet me up as a Rival with him that is? Did I not ſay, I am ſent before him? Why then doth it ſeem ſtrange to you that I ſhould ſtand by and give way to him? (2.) It's a Comfort to himſelf, that he had never given his Diſciples any Occaſion thus to ſet him up in Competition with Chriſt; but on the contrary, had particularly caution'd them againſt this Miſtake, tho' he might have made a Hand of it for himſelf. It is a Satisfaction to faithful Miniſters, if they have done what they could in their Places, to prevent any Extravagancies that their People ran into. John had not only not encouraged them to hope that he was the Meſſiah, but had plainly told them the contrary; which was now a Satisfaction to him. 'Tis a common Excuſe for thoſe who have undue Honour paid them, Si populus vult decipi, decipiatur; but that's an ill Maxim for them to go by, whoſe Buſineſs it is to undeceive People. The Lip of Truth ſhall be eſtabliſhed.

3. John profeſſeth the great Satisfaction he had in the Advancement of Chriſt and his Intereſt. He was ſo far from regretting it, as his Diſciples did, that he rejoic'd in it: This he expreſſeth, v. 29. by an elegant Similitude. (1.) He compares our Saviour to the Bridegroom; He that has the Bride, is the Bridegroom. Do all Men come to him? It's well, whither elſe ſhould they go? Has he got the Throne in Mens Affections? Who elſe ſhould have it? 'Tis his Right; to whom ſhould the Bride be brought but to the Bridegroom? Chriſt was propheſied of in the Old Teſtament as a Bridegroom, Pſal. 45. The Word was made fleſh, that the Diſparity of Nature might not be a Bar to the Match; Proviſion is made for the Purifying of the Church, that the Defilement of Sin might be no Bar; Chriſt eſpouſeth his Church to himſelf; he has the Bride, for he has her Love, he has her Promiſe; The Church is ſubject to Chriſt. As far as particular Souls are devoted to him in Faith and Love, ſo far the Bridegroom has the Bride. (2.) He compares himſelf to the Friend of the Bridegroom, who attends upon him, to do him Honour and Service, aſſiſts him in proſecuting the Match, ſpeaks a good Word for him, uſeth his Intereſt on his Behalf, rejoiceth when the Match goes on, and moſt of all, when the Point is gain'd, and he hath the Bride. All that John had done in preaching and baptizing, was to introduce him; and now he was come, he had what he wiſh'd for. The Friend of the Bridegroom ſtands and hears him, ſtands expecting him, and waiting for him, rejoiceth with Joy, becauſe of the Bridegroom's Voice, becauſe he is come to the Marriage, after he had been long expected. Note, 1. Faithful Miniſters are Friends of the Bridegroom, to recommend him to the Affections and Choice of the Children of Men; to bring Letters and Meſſages from him, for he courts by Proxy; and herein they muſt be faithful to him. 2. The Friends of the Bridegroom muſt ſtand and hear the Bridegroom's Voice, muſt receive Inſtructions from him, and attend his Orders; muſt deſire to have Proofs of Chriſt ſpeaking in them and with them, 2 Cor. 13. 3. that's the Bridegroom's Voice. 3. The eſpouſing of Souls to Jeſus Chriſt, in Faith and Love, is the fulfilling of the Joy of every good Miniſter. If the Day of Chriſt's Eſpouſals be the Day of the Gladneſs of his Heart, Cant. 3. ult. it cannot but be theirs too, who love him, and wiſh well to his Honour and Kingdom. Surely they have no greater Joy.

4. He owns it highly fit and neceſſary, that the Reputation and Intereſt of Chriſt ſhould be advanced, and his own diminiſhed, v. 30. He muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe. If they grieve at the growing Greatneſs of the Lord Jeſus, they will have more and more Occaſion to grieve, as they have that indulge themſelves in Envy and Emulation. John ſpeaks of Chriſt's Increaſe, and his own Decreaſe, not only as neceſſary and unavoidable, which could not be help'd, and therefore muſt be borne, but as highly juſt and agreeable, and is entirely ſatisfied in it. (1.) He was well pleas'd to ſee the Kingdom of Chriſt getting ground; He muſt increaſe. You think he has gain'd a deal, but 'tis nothing to what he will gain. Note, The Kingdom of Chriſt is and will be a growing Kingdom, like the Light of the Morning, like the Grain of Muſtard-ſeed. (2.) He was not at all diſpleas'd, that the Effect of this was the diminiſhing of his own Intereſt; I muſt decreaſe. Created Excellencies are under this Law, they muſt decreaſe; I have ſeen an End of all Perfection. Note, 1. The ſhining forth of the Glory of Chriſt eclipſeth the Luſtre of all other Glory. The Glory that ſtands in Competition with Chriſt, that of the World and the Fleſh, decreaſeth and loſeth Ground in the Soul, as the Knowledge and Love of Chriſt increaſe and get ground; but it is here ſpoken of that which is ſubſervient to him. As the Light of the Morning increaſeth, that of the Morning-Star decreaſeth. 2. If our Diminution and Abaſement may but in the leaſt contribute to the Advancement of Chriſt's Name, we muſt chearfully ſubmit to it, and be content to be any thing, to be nothing, ſo that Chriſt may be all.

Secondly, John Baptiſt here advanceth Chriſt, and inſtructs his Diſciples concerning him, that they might be ſo far from grieving that ſo many come to him, that they might come to him themſelves.

1. He inſtructs them concerning the Dignity of Chriſt's Perſon, v. 31. He that cometh from above, that cometh from Heaven, is above all. Here, (1.) He ſuppoſeth his Divine Original, that he came from above, from Heaven, which ſpeaks not only his Divine Extraction, but his Divine Nature. He had a being before his Conception, a heavenly Being. None but he that came from Heaven, was fit to ſhew us the Will of Heaven, or the Way to Heaven. When God would ſave Man, he ſent from above. (2.) Hence he infers his Sovereign Authority, he is above all; above all Things, and all Perſons, God over all, bleſſed for evermore. 'Tis daring Preſumption to diſpute Precedency with him. When we come to ſpeak of the Honours of the Lord Jeſus, we find they tranſcend all Conception and Expreſſion, and we can ſay but this, He is above all. 'Twas ſaid of John Baptiſt, there was not a greater came from Heaven. His Deſcent from Heaven put ſuch a Dignity upon him, as he was not diveſted of by his being made Fleſh; ſtill he was above all.

This he further illuſtrates by the Meanneſs of thoſe, who ſtood in Competition with him; He that is of the Earth is earthly, ὁ ὢν ἐκ τῆς γῆς ἐκ τῆς γῆς ἐστι, He that is of the Earth is of the Earth; he that has his Original of the Earth, has his Food out of the Earth, has his Converſe with earthly things, and his Concern is for them. Note, 1. Man has his Riſe out of the Earth; not only Adam at firſt, but we alſo ſtill are formed out of the Clay, Job 33. 6. Look to the Rock whence we were hewn. 2. Man's Conſtitution is therefore earthly; not only his Body frail and mortal, but his Soul corrupt and carnal, and its Bent and Biaſs ſtrong towards earthly things. The Prophets and Apoſtles were of the ſame Mould with other Men; they were but earthen Veſſels, tho' they had a rich Treaſure lodg'd in them; and ſhall theſe be ſet up as Rivals with Chriſt? Let the Potſherds ſtrive with the Potſherds of the Earth, but let them not cope with him that came from Heaven.

2. Concerning the Excellency and Certainty of his Doctrine. His Diſciples were diſpleas'd, that Chriſt's Preaching was admir'd and attended upon more than his; but he tells them there was Reaſon enough for it. For,

1. He, for his part, ſpoke of the Earth, and ſo do all thoſe that are of the Earth. The Prophets were Men, and ſpoke like Men, of themſelves they could not ſpeak, but of the Earth, 2 Cor. 3. 5. The Preaching of the Prophets, and of John, was but low and flat, compared with Chriſt's Preaching; as Heaven is high above the Earth, ſo were his Thoughts above theirs. By them God ſpoke on Earth, but in Chriſt he ſpeaketh from Heaven.

2. But he that cometh from Heaven, is not only in his Perſon, but in his Doctrine, above all the Prophets that ever liv'd on Earth; none teacheth like him. The Doctrine of Chriſt is here recommended to us,

(1.) As infallibly ſure and certain, and to be entertain'd accordingly, v. 32. What he hath ſeen and heard, that he teſtifieth. See here, (1.) Chriſt's Divine Knowledge; he teſtified nothing but what he had ſeen and heard, what he was perfectly appriz'd of, and throughly acquainted with. What he diſcover'd of the Divine Nature, and of the inviſible World, was what he had ſeen; what he reveal'd of the Mind of God, was what he had heard immediately from him, and not at ſecond-hand. The Prophets teſtified what was made known to them in Dreams and Viſions, by the Mediation of Angels, but not what they had ſeen and heard. John was the Crier's Voice, that ſaid, Make room for the Witneſs, and keep Silence, while the Charge is given; but then leaves it to the Witneſs to give in his Teſtimony himſelf, and the Judge to give the Charge himſelf. The Goſpel of Chriſt is not a doubtful Opinion, like an Hypotheſis, or new Notion in Philoſophy, which every one is at liberty to believe, or not; but it is a Revelation of the Mind of God, which is of eternal Truth in it ſelf, and of infinite Concern to us. (2.) His Divine Grace and Goodneſs; that which he had ſeen and heard, becauſe he knew it nearly concern'd us, he was pleas'd to make known to us. What Paul had ſeen and heard in the third Heavens, he could not teſtify, 2 Cor. 12. 4. but Chriſt knew how to utter what he had ſeen and heard. Chriſt's Preaching, is here called his teſtifying, to note, (1.) The convincing Evidence of it; 'twas not reported as News by hearſay, but it was teſtified as Evidence given in Court, with great Caution and Aſſurance. (2.) The affectionate Earneſtneſs of the Delivery of it; 'twas teſtified with Concern and Importunity, as Acts 18. 5.

From the Certainty of Chriſt's Doctrine, John takes Occaſion, (1.) To lament the Infidelity of the moſt of Men; tho' he teſtifies what is infallibly true, yet no Man receiveth his Teſtimony, i. e. very few, next none, none in compariſon with thoſe that refuſe it. They receive it not, they will not hear it, they do not heed it, or give credit to it. This he ſpeaks of, not only as Matter of Wonder, that ſuch a Teſtimony ſhould not be receiv'd; Who hath believed our Report? how ſtupid and fooliſh is the greateſt Part of Mankind, what Enemies to themſelves! But as Matter of Grief; John's Diſciples griev'd that all Men came to Chriſt, v. 26. they thought his Followers too many. But John grieves that no Man came to him, he thought them too few. Note, The Unbelief of Sinners is the Grief of Saints. 'Twas for this that St. Paul had great Heavineſs, Rom. 9. 2. (2.) He takes Occaſion to commend the Faith of the choſen Remnant, v. 37. He that hath received his Teſtimony (and ſome ſuch there were, tho' very few) hath ſet to his Seal that God is true; God is true, tho' we do not ſet our Seal to it; let God be true, and every Man a Lyar; his Truth needs not our Faith to ſupport it, but by Faith we do ourſelves the Honour and Juſtice to ſubſcribe to his Truth, and hereby God reckons himſelf honour'd. God's Promiſes are all Yea, and Amen, by Faith we put our Amen to them; as Rev. 22. 20. Obſerve, He that receives the Teſtimony of Chriſt, ſubſcribes not only to the Truth of Chriſt, but to the Truth of God, for his Name is the Word of God; the Commandments of God, and the Teſtimony of Chriſt, are put together, Rev. 12. 17. By believing in Chriſt we ſet to our Seal, (1.) That God is true to all the Promiſes which he has made concerning Chriſt; that which he ſpake by the Mouth of all his holy Prophets; what he ſware to our Fathers is all accompliſh'd, and not one Iota or Tittle of it fallen to the Ground, Luke 1. 70, &c. Acts 13. 32, 33. (2.) That he is true to all the Promiſes he has made in Chriſt; we venture our Souls upon God's Veracity, being ſatisfied that he is true; we are willing to deal with him upon Truſt, and to quit all in this World for a Happineſs in Reverſion, and out of Sight. By this we greatly honour God's Faithfulneſs. Whom we give Credit to, we give Honour to.

(2.) 'Tis recommended to us as a Divine Doctrine; not his own, but his that ſent him, v. 39. For he whom God hath ſent, ſpeaks the Word of God, which he was ſent to ſpeak, and enabled to ſpeak, for God giveth not the Spirit by Meaſure unto him. The Prophets were as Meſſengers that brought Letters from Heaven; but Chriſt came under the Character of an Embaſſador, and treats with us as ſuch: For, (1.) He ſpoke the Words of God, and nothing he ſaid, ſavoured of human Infirmity; both Subſtance and Language were divine. He proved himſelf ſent of God, John 3. 1. and therefore his Words are to be receiv'd as the Words of God. By this Rule we may try the Spirits; thoſe that ſpeak as the Oracles of God, and propheſy according to the Proportion of Faith, are to be received as ſent of God. (2.) He ſpoke ſo as no other Prophet did; for God giveth not the Spirit by meaſure to him. None can ſpeak the Words of God, without the Spirit of God, 1 Cor. 2. 10, 11. The Old Teſtament Prophets had the Spirit, and in different Degrees, 2 Kings 2. 9, 10. But whereas God gave them the Spirit by Meaſure, 1 Cor. 12. 4. he gave him to Chriſt without Meaſure; all Fulneſs dwelt in him, the Fulneſs of the Godhead, an unmeaſurable Fulneſs. The Spirit was not in Chriſt as in a Veſſel, but as in a Fountain, as in a bottomleſs Ocean. "The Prophets that had the Spirit in a limited "manner, only with reſpect to ſome particular Revelation, "ſometimes ſpake of themſelves, but he that had the Spirit al-"ways reſiding in him without ſtint, always ſpoke the Words of "God. So Dr. Whitby.

3. Concerning the Power and Authority he is inveſted with, which gives him the Preheminence above all others, and a more excellent Name than they.

1. He is the beloved Son of the Father, v. 35. The Father loveth the Son. The Prophets were faithful as Servants, but Chriſt as a Son; they were employ'd as Servants, but Chriſt beloved as a Son, always his Delight, Prov. 8. 30. The Father was well pleas'd in him; not only he did love him, but he doth love him; he continued his Love to him, even in his Eſtate of Humiliation, lov'd him never the leſs for his Poverty and Sufferings.

2. He is Lord of all. The Father, as an Evidence of his Love to him, hath given all things into his Hand. Love is generous. The Father took ſuch a Complacency, and had ſuch a Confidence in him, that he conſtituted him the great Feoffee in Truſt for Mankind. Having given him the Spirit without meaſure, he gave him all things, for he was thereby qualified to be the Maſter and Manager of all. Note, It is the Honour of Chriſt, and the unſpeakable Comfort of all Chriſtians, that the Father hath given all things into the Hand of the Mediator. (1.) All Power; ſo 'tis explain'd, Mat. 28. 18. All the Works of Creation being put under his Feet, all the Affairs of Redemption are put into his Hand; he is Lord of all. Angels are his Servants, Devils are his Captives. He has Power over all Fleſh; the Heathen given him for his Inheritance. The Kingdom of Providence is committed to his Adminiſtration. He has Power to ſettle the Terms of the Covenant of Peace as the great Plenipotentiary, to govern his Church as the great Law-giver, to diſpenſe Divine Favours as the great Almoner, and to call all to account as the great Judge. Both the Golden Sceptre, and the Iron Rod are given into his Hand. (2.) All Grace is given into his Hand as the Channel of Conveyance; all things, i. e. all thoſe good Things which God intended to give to the Children of Men; Eternal Life, and all its Preliminaries. We are unworthy that the Father ſhould give thoſe things into our Hands, for we have made ourſelves the Children of his Wrath; he hath therefore appointed the Son of his Love to be Truſtee for us, and the things he intended for us, he gives into his Hands, who is worthy, and has merited both Honours for himſelf, and Favours for us. They are given into his Hands, by him to be given into ours. This is a great Encouragement to Faith, that the Riches of the New Covenant are depoſited in ſo ſure, ſo kind, ſo good a Hand, the Hand of him that purchaſed them for us, and us for himſelf; who is able to keep all that which both God and Believers have agreed to commit to him.

3. He is the Object of that Faith which is made the great Condition of eternal Happineſs, and herein he has the Preheminence above all others, v. 36. He that believeth on the Son hath Life. We have here the Application of what he had ſaid concerning Chriſt and his Doctrine, and it is the Concluſion of the whole Matter. If God has put this Honour upon the Son, we muſt by Faith give Honour to him. As God offers and conveys good things to us, by the Teſtimony of Jeſus Chriſt, whoſe Word is the Vehicle of Divine Favours; ſo we receive and partake of thoſe Favours, by believing the Teſtimony, and entertaining that Word as true and good; this way of receiving fitly anſwers that way of giving. We have here the Sum of that Goſpel, which is to be preached to every Creature, Mark 16. 16. Here is,

1. The bleſſed State of all true Chriſtians; He that believes on the Son, hath everlaſting Life. Note, 1. It is the Character of every true Chriſtian, that he believes on the Son of God; not only believes him, that what he ſaith is true, but believes on him, conſents to him, and confides in him. The Benefit of true Chriſtianity is no leſs than Everlaſting Life; that's it which Chriſt came to purchaſe for us, and confer upon us; it can be no leſs than the Happineſs of an immortal Soul in an immortal God. 3. True Believers, even now, have everlaſting Life; not only they ſhall have it hereafter, but they have it now. For, (1.) They have very good Security for it. 2. The Deed by which it paſſeth, is ſeal'd and deliver'd to them, and ſo they have it; 'tis put into the Hands of their Guardian for them, and ſo they have it, tho' the Uſe be not yet transferred into Poſſeſſion. They have the Son of God, and in him they have Life; and the Spirit of God the Earneſt of this Life. (2.) They have the comfortable Foretaſtes of it, in preſent Communion with God, and the Tokens of his Love. Grace is Glory begun.

2. The wretched and miſerable Condition of Unbelievers; He that believeth not the Son, is undone, ὁ ἀπειθῶν. The Word includes both Incredulity, and Diſobedience. An Unbeliever is one that gives not Credit to the Doctrine of Chriſt, nor is in Subjection to the Government of Chriſt. Now thoſe that will neither be taught nor rul'd by Chriſt, (1.) They cannot be happy in this World, or that to come; he ſhall not ſee Life, that Life which Chriſt came to beſtow. He ſhall not enjoy it, he ſhall not have any comfortable Proſpect of it, ſhall never come within ken of it, except to aggravate his Loſs of it. (2.) They cannot but be miſerable; the Wrath of God abides upon an Unbeliever. He is not only under the Wrath of God, which is as ſurely the Soul's Death as his Favour is its Life; but it abides upon him. All the Wrath he has made himſelf liable to, by the Violation of the Law, if not remov'd by the Grace of the Goſpel, is bound upon him. God's Wrath for his daily actual Tranſgreſſions, lights and lies upon him. Old Scores lie undiſcharged, and new ones added. Something done every Day to fill the Meaſure, and nothing to empty it. Thus the Wrath of God abides, for it is treaſur'd up againſt the Day of Wrath.

CHAP. IV.

It was more than any Thing elſe the Glory of the Land of Iſrael, that it was Immanuel's Land, Iſa. 8. 9. Not only the Place of his Birth, but the Scene of his Preaching and Miracles. This Land, in our Saviour's Time, was divided into Three Parts: Judea in the South, Galilee in the North, and Samaria lying between them. Now in this Chapter, we have Christ in each of theſe Three Parts of that Land 1. Departing out of Judea, v. 1—3. 2. Paſſing through Samaria, which, tho' a Viſit in tranſitu, here takes up moſt Room. (1.) His coming into Samaria, v. 4—6. (2.) His Diſcourſe with the Samaritan Woman at a Well, v. 7—26. (3.) The Notice which the Woman gave of him to the City, v. 27—30. (4.) Chriſt's Talk with his Diſciples in the mean time, v. 31—38. (5.) The good Effect of this among the Samaritans, v. 39—42. 3. We find him reſiding for ſome Time in Galilee, v. 43—46. and his curing of a Nobleman's Son there, that was at death's door, v. 46—54.

WHEN therefore the Lord knew how the Phariſees had heard that Jeſus made and baptized more diſciples than John, 2 (Though Jeſus himſelf baptized not, but his diſciples) 3 He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee.

We read of Chriſt's coming into Judea, chap. 3. 22. after he had kept the Feaſts at Jeruſalem; and now he left Judea four Months before Harveſt, as is ſaid here, v. 35. ſo that 'tis computed he ſtaid in Judea about ſix Months, to build upon the Foundation John had laid there. We have no particular Account of his Sermons and Miracles there, only in general, v. 1.

1. That he made Diſciples; he prevail'd with many to embrace his Doctrine, to follow him as a Teacher come from God. His Miniſtry was ſucceſsful, notwithſtanding the Oppoſition it met with, Pſal. 110. 3. μαθητὰς ποιεῖ, it ſignifies the ſame with μαθητεύω, to Diſciple. Compare Gen. 12. 5. The Souls which they had gotten; which they had made; ſo the Word is, which they had made Proſelytes. Note, It is Chriſt's Prerogative to make Diſciples: Firſt to bring them to his Foot, and then form and faſhion them to his Will. Fit, non naſcitur Chriſtianus. Tertull.

2. That he baptiz'd thoſe whom he made Diſciples; admitted them by waſhing them with Water; not himſelf, but by the Miniſtry of his Diſciples, v. 2. (1.) Becauſe he would put a difference between his Baptiſm and that of John, who baptized all himſelf; for he baptized as a Servant, Chriſt as a Maſter. (2.) He would apply himſelf more to Preaching-Work, which was the more excellent, 1 Cor. 1. 17. (3.) He would put Honour upon his Diſciples, by empowering and employing them to do it; and ſo train them up to further Services. (4.) If he had baptiz'd ſome himſelf, they would have been apt to value themſelves upon that, and deſpiſe others; which he would prevent, as Paul, 1 Cor. 1. 13, 14. (5.) He would reſerve himſelf for the Honour of baptizing with the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 1. 5. (6.) He would teach us, that the Efficacy of Sacraments depends not on any Virtue in the Hand that adminiſters them; as alſo, that what is done by his Miniſters, according to his Direction, he owns as done by himſelf.

3. That he made and baptized more Diſciples than John; not only more than John did at this time, but more than he had done at any time. Chriſt's Converſe was more winning than John's. His Miracles were convincing, and the Cures he wrought gratis very inviting.

4. That the Phariſees were inform'd of this; they heard what Multitudes he baptized; for they had from his firſt appearing a jealous Eye upon him, and wanted not Spies to give them notice concerning him. Obſerve, (1.) When the Phariſees thought they had got rid of John, (for he was by this time clapt up) and were pleaſing themſelves with that, Jeſus appears, who was a greater Vexation to them than ever John had been. The Witneſſes will riſe again. (2.) That which grieved them, was, that Chriſt made ſo many Diſciples. The Succeſs of the Goſpel exaſperates its Enemies, and it's a good Sign it is getting ground, when the Powers of Darkneſs are enrag'd againſt it.

5. That our Lord Jeſus knew very well what Informations were given in againſt him to the Phariſees. 'Tis likely the Informers were willing to have their Names concealed, and the Phariſees loth to have their Deſigns known; but none can dig ſo deep as to hide their Counſels from the Lord, Iſa. 29.15. and Chriſt is here call'd the Lord. He knew what was told the Phariſees, and how much 'tis likely it exceeded the Truth; for it is not likely that Jeſus had yet baptized more than John; but ſo the thing was repreſented, to make him appear the more formidable. See 2 Kings 6. 12.

6. That hereupon our Lord Jeſus left Judea, and departed again to go to Galilee.

1. He left Judea, becauſe he was likely to be perſecuted there, even to the Death, ſuch was the Rage of the Phariſees againſt him, and ſuch their impious Politicks to devour the Man Child in his Infancy. To eſcape their Deſigns, Chriſt quitted the Country, and went thither, where what he did would be leſs provoking than juſt under their Noſe. For (1.) His Hour was not yet come, (John 7. 38.) the Time fixed in the Counſels of God, and the Old Teſtament Prophecies for Meſſiah's being cut off. He had not finiſhed his Teſtimony, and therefore would not ſurrender or expoſe himſelf. (2.) The Diſciples he had gather'd in Judea, were not able to bear Hardſhips, and therefore he would not expoſe them. (3.) Hereby he gave an Example to his own Rule; When they perſecute you in one City, flee to another. We are not call'd to ſuffer, while we may avoid it without Sin; and therefore tho' we may not for our own Preſervation, change our Religion, yet we may change our Place. Chriſt ſecured himſelf not by Miracle, but in a Way common to Men, for the Direction and Encouragement of his ſuffering People.

2. He departed into Galilee, becauſe he had Work to do there, and many Friends and fewer Enemies. He went to Galilee now, (1.) Becauſe John's Miniſtry had now made Way for him there; for Galilee, which was under Herod's Juriſdiction, was the laſt Scene of John's Baptiſm. (2.) Becauſe John's Impriſonment had now made Room for him there: That Light being now put under a Buſhel, the Minds of People would not be divided between him and Chriſt. Thus both the Liberties and Reſtraints of good Miniſters, are for the Furtherance of the Goſpel, Phil. 1. 12. But to what purpoſe doth he go into Galilee for Safety? Herod, the Perſecutor of John, will never be the Protector of Jeſus. Chemnitius here notes, Pii in hâc vitâ quos fugiant, habent; ad quos vero fugiant, ut in tuto ſint, non habent, niſi ad te Deus, qui ſolus refugium noſtrum es.

4 And he muſt needs go through Samaria. 5 Then cometh he to a city of Samaria, which is called Sychar, near to the parcel of ground that Jacob gave to his ſon Joſeph. 6 Now Jacob's well was there. Jeſus therefore being wearied with his journey, ſat thus on the well: and it was about the ſixth hour. 7 There cometh a woman of Samaria to draw water: Jeſus ſaith unto her, Give me to drink. 8 For his diſciples were gone away into the city to buy meat. 9 Then ſaith the woman of Samaria unto him, How is it that thou being a Jew, askeſt drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? for the Jews have no dealings with the Samaritans. 10 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto her, If thou kneweſt the gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Give me to drink, thou wouldeſt have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water. 11 The woman ſaith unto him, Sir, thou haſt nothing to draw with, and the well is deep: from whence then haſt thou that living water? 12 Art thou greater than our father Jacob, which gave us the well, and drank thereof himſelf, and his children, and his cattel? 13 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto her, Whoſoever drinketh of this water, ſhall thirſt again: 14 But whoſoever drinketh of the water that I ſhall give him, ſhall never thirſt: but the water that I ſhall give him, ſhall be in him a well of water ſpringing up unto everlaſting life. 15 The woman ſaith unto him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirſt not, neither come hither to draw. 16 Jeſus ſaith unto her, Go, call thy husband and come hither. 17 The woman anſwered and ſaid, I have no husband. Jeſus ſaid unto her, Thou haſt well ſaid, I have no husband: 18 For thou haſt had five husbands, and he whom thou now haſt is not thy husband: in that ſaidſt thou truly. 19 The woman ſaith unto him, Sir, I peceive that thou art a prophet: 20 Our fathers worſhipped in this mountain; and ye ſay, that in Jeruſalem is the place where men ought to worſhip. 21 Jeſus ſaith unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh when ye ſhall neither in this mountain, nor at Jeruſalem, worſhip the Father. 22 Ye worſhip ye know not what: we know what we worſhip: for ſalvation is of the Jews. 23 But the hour cometh, and now is, when the true worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in ſpirit and in truth; for the Father ſeeketh ſuch to worſhip him. 24 God is a Spirit, and they that worſhip him, muſt worſhip him in ſpirit and in truth. 25 The woman ſaith unto him, I know that Meſſias cometh, which is called Chriſt: when he is come, he will tell us all things. 26 Jeſus ſaith unto her, I that ſpeak unto thee am he.

We have here an account of the Good Chriſt did in Samaria, when he paſſed through that Country in his way to Galilee. The Samaritans both in Blood and Religion were mongrel Jews; the Poſterity of thoſe Colonies which the King of Aſſyria planted there after the Captivity of the ten Tribes, with whom the Poor of the Land that were left behind, and many other Jews, afterwards incorporated themſelves. They worſhipped the God of Iſrael only, to whom they erected a Temple on Mount Gerizzim, in competition with that of Jeruſalem. There was great Enmity between them and the Jews; the Samaritans would not admit Chriſt when they ſaw he was going to Jeruſalem, Luke 9. 53. The Jews thought they could not give him a worſe Name, than to ſay He is a Samaritan. When the Jews were in Proſperity, the Samaritans claim'd kindred to them, Ezra 4. 2. but when they were in Diſtreſs, they were Medes and Perſians: See Joſeph. Antiq. l. 11. c. 8. l. 12. c. 7. Now obſerve,

1. Chriſt's coming into Samaria. He charged his Diſciples not to enter into any City of the Samaritans, Mat. 10. 5. viz. not to preach the Goſpel, or work Miracles; nor did he here preach publickly, or work any Miracle, his Eye being to the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael. But what Kindneſs he here did them, was accidental; 'twas only a Crumb of the Childrens Bread that uſually fell from the Maſter's Table.

1. His Road from Judea to Galilee, lay through the Country of Samaria, v. 4. He muſt needs go thro' Samaria. There was no other Way, unleſs he would have fetch'd a Compaſs on the other ſide Jordan, a great way about. The wicked and prophane are at preſent ſo intermix'd with God's Iſrael, that unleſs we go out of the World, we cannot avoid going through the Company of ſuch, 1 Cor. 5.10. We have therefore need of the Armour of Righteouſneſs on the Right Hand and on the Left, that we may neither give Provocation to them, nor contract Pollution by them. We ſhould not go into Places of Temptation, but when we needs muſt; and then we ſhould not reſide in them, but haſten through them. Some think that therefore Chriſt muſt needs go through Samaria, becauſe of the good Work he had to do there; a poor Woman to be converted, a loſt Sheep to be ſought and ſaved: This was Work his Heart was upon, and therefore he muſt needs go this Way. It was happy for Samaria, that it lay in Chriſt's way, which gave him an Opportunity of calling on them; When I paſſed by thee, I ſaid unto thee, live, Ezek. 16. 6.

2. His Baiting Place happened to be at a City of Samaria. Now obſerve,

1. The Place deſcribed. 'Twas call'd Sychar; probably the ſame with Sichem, or Shechem, a Place which we read much of in the Old Teſtament. Thus are the Names of Places commonly corrupted by Tract of Time. Shechem yielded the firſt Proſelytes that ever came into the Church of Iſrael, Gen. 34. 29. and 35. 2. and now it is the firſt Place where the Goſpel is preached out of the Commonwealth of Iſrael; ſo Dr. Lightfoot obſerves; as alſo, that the Valley of Achor, which was given for a Door of Hope, Hope to the poor Gentiles, ran along by this City, Hoſ. 2. 15. Abimelech was made King here; 'twas Jeroboam's Royal Seat; but the Evangeliſt, when he would give us the Antiquities of the Place, takes notice of Jacob's Intereſt there, which was more its Honour, than its crowned Heads. 1. Here lay Jacob's Ground, the Parcel of Ground which Jacob gave to his Son Joſeph, whoſe Bones were buried in it, Gen. 48. 22. Joſh. 24. 32. Probably this is mentioned, to intimate that Chriſt, when he repos'd himſelf hard by here, took occaſion from the Ground which Jacob gave Joſeph, to meditate on the good Report which the Elders by Faith obtained. Jerom choſe to live in the Land of Canaan, that the Sight of the Places might affect him the more with Scripture Stories. 2. Here was Jacob's Well which he digg'd, or at leaſt uſed for himſelf and his Family. We find no mention of this Well in the Old Teſtament, but the Tradition was, that it was Jacob's Well.

2. The Poſture of our Lord Jeſus at this Place: Being wearied with his Journey, he ſat thus on the Well. We have here our Lord Jeſus,

1. Labouring under the common Fatigue of Travellers: He was wearied with his Journey. Tho' it was yet but the ſixth Hour, and he had perform'd but half his Day's Journey, yet he was weary; or, becauſe it was the ſixth Hour, the Time of the Heat of the Day, therefore he was weary. Here we ſee, (1.) That he was a true Man, and ſubject to the common Infirmities of the human Nature. Toil came in with Sin, Gen. 3. 19. and therefore Chriſt having made himſelf a Curſe for us, ſubmitted to it. (2.) That he was a poor Man, elſe he might have travelled on Horſeback, or in a Chariot. To this Inſtance of Meanneſs and Mortification he humbled himſelf for us, that he went all his Journies on foot. When Servants were on Horſes, Princes walked as Servants on the Earth, Eccl. 10. 7. When we are carry'd eaſily, let us think on the Wearineſs of our Maſter. (3.) It ſhould ſeem he was but a tender Man, and not of a robuſt Conſtitution; it ſhould ſeem his Diſciples were not tired, for they went into the Town without any Difficulty, when their Maſter ſat down, and could not go a Step further. Bodies of the fineſt Mold are moſt ſenſible of Fatigue, and can worſt bear it.

4. We have him here betaking himſelf to the common Relief of Travellers; being wearied, he ſat thus on the Well. (1.) He ſat on the Well, an uneaſy Place, cold and hard; he had no Coach, no eaſy Chair to repoſe himſelf in, but took to that which was next Hand, to teach us not to be nice and curious in the Conveniencies of this Life, but content with mean Things. (2.) He ſat thus, in an uneaſy Poſture; ſat careleſly; (incurioſe & neglectim) or, he ſat ſo, as People that are wearied with Travelling uſe to ſit.

2. His Diſcourſe with a Samaritan Woman, which is here recorded at large, while Chriſt's Diſpute with the Doctors, and his Diſcourſe with Moſes and Elias on the Mount, are bury'd in ſilence.

This Diſcourſe is reducible to four Heads.

Firſt, They diſcourſe concerning the Water, v. 7—15. Notice is firſt taken of the Circumſtances that gave occaſion to this Diſcourſe.

1. There comes a Woman of Samaria to draw Water. This intimates her Poverty, ſhe had no Servant to be a Drawer of Water; and her Induſtry, ſhe would do it herſelf. See here, (1.) How God owns and approves of honeſt humble Diligence in our Places. Chriſt was made known to the Shepherds when they were keeping their Flock. (2.) How the Divine Providence brings about glorious Purpoſes by Events which ſeem to us fortuitous and accidental. This Woman's meeting with Chriſt at the Well, may mind us of the Stories of Rebekah, Rachel, and Jethro's Daughter, who all met with Husbands, good Husbands, no worſe than Iſaac, Jacob, and Moſes, when they came to the Wells for Water. (3.) How the preventing Grace of God ſometimes brings People unexpectedly under the Means of Converſion and Salvation. He is found of them that ſought him not.

2. His Diſciples were gone away into the City to buy Meat. Hence learn a Leſſon, (1.) Of Juſtice and Honeſty. The Meat Chriſt eat, he bought and paid for, as Paul, 2 Theſ. 3. 8. (2.) Of daily Dependance upon Providence; Take no Thought for the Morrow. Chriſt did not go into the City to eat, but ſent his Diſciples to fetch his Meat thither; not becauſe he ſcrupled eating in a Samaritan City; but, (1.) Becauſe he had a good Work to do at that Well, which might be done while they were catering. 'Tis Wiſdom to fill up our vacant Minutes with that which is good, that the Fragments of Time may not be loſt. Peter, while his Dinner was getting, fell into a Trance, Acts 10. 12. (2.) Becauſe it was more private and retir'd, more cheap and homely to have his Dinner brought him hither, than to go into the Town for it. Perhaps his Purſe was low, and he would teach us good Husbandry; to ſpend according to what we have, and not go beyond it: However, he would teach us not to affect great Things. Chriſt could eat his Dinner as well upon a Draw-Well, as in the beſt Inn in the Town. Let us comport with our Circumſtances.

Now this gave Chriſt an Opportunity of diſcourſing with this Woman about Spiritual Concerns, and he improv'd it; he often preached to Multitudes that crowded after him for Inſtruction, yet here he condeſcends to teach a ſingle Perſon, a Woman, a poor Woman, a Stranger, a Samaritan, to teach his Miniſters to do likewiſe; as thoſe that know what a glorious Atchievement it is to help to ſave, tho' but one Soul, from Death.

Let us obſerve the Particulars of this Diſcourſe.

1. Jeſus begins with a modeſt Requeſt for a Draught of Water; Give me to drink. He that for our ſakes became poor, here becomes a Beggar, that they who are in want, and cannot dig, may not be aſhamed to beg. Chriſt ask'd for it, not only becauſe he needed it, and needed her help to come at it, but becauſe he would draw on further Diſcourſe with her; and teach us to be willing to be beholden to the meaneſt when there is occaſion. Chriſt is ſtill begging in his poor Members, and a Cup of cold Water, like this here, given to them in his Name, ſhall not loſe its Reward.

2. The Woman, tho' ſhe doth not deny his Requeſt, yet quarrels with him, becauſe he did not carry on the Humour of his own Nation; v. 9. How is it? Obſerve, (1.) What a mortal Feud there was between the Jews and the Samaritans; the Jews have no Dealings with the Samaritans. The Samaritans were the Adverſaries of Judah, Ezra 4. 1. were, upon all Occaſions, miſchievous to them. The Jews were extremely malicious againſt them, "look'd upon them as having no part in the "Reſurrection; excommunicated and curſed them by the ſe-"cret Name of God; by the glorious Writing of the Tables, "and by the Curſe of the Upper and Lower Houſe of Judg-"ment; with this Law, That no Iſraelite eat of any Thing "that is a Samaritan's, for it is as if he eat Swines Fleſh." So Dr. Lightfoot, out of Rabbi Tanchum. Note, Quarrels about Religion are uſually the moſt implacable of all other. Men were made to have Dealings one with another; but if Men, becauſe one worſhips at one Temple, and another at another, will deny the Offices of Humanity and Charity, and common Civility, will be moroſe and unnatural, ſcornful and cenſorious, and this under colour of Zeal for Religion, they plainly ſhew, that however their Religion may be true, they are not truly Religious; but pretending to ſtickle for Religion, ſubvert the Deſign of it.

(2.) How ready the Woman was to upbraid Chriſt with the Haughtineſs and Ill-nature of the Jewiſh Nation: How is it, that thou being a Jew, askeſt Drink of me? By his Dreſs, or Dialect, or both, ſhe knew him to be a Jew, and thinks it ſtrange that he runs not to the ſame exceſs of Riot againſt the Samaritans with other Jews. Note, Moderate Men of all ſides, are (like Joſhua, and his Fellows, Zech. 3. 8.) Men wondered at. Two Things this Woman wonders at. (1.) That he ſhould ask this Kindneſs; for it was the Pride of the Jews that they would endure any Hardſhip, rather than be beholden to a Samaritan. 'Twas part of Chriſt's Humiliation, that he was born of the Jewiſh Nation, which was now not only in an ill State, ſubject to the Romans, but in an ill Name among the Nations: With what diſdain did Pilate ask, Am I a Jew? Thus he made himſelf not only of no Reputation, but of ill Reputation; but herein he has ſet us an Example of ſwimming againſt the Stream of common Corruptions. We muſt, like our Maſter, put on Goodneſs, and Kindneſs, tho' it ſhould be never ſo much the Genius of our Country, or the Humour of our Party, to be moroſe and ill-natured. This Woman expected that Chriſt ſhould be as other Jews were; but it is unjuſt to charge upon every individual Perſon, even the common Faults of the Community. No Rule, but has ſome Exceptions. (2.) She wonders he ſhould expect to receive this Kindneſs from her that was a Samaritan: You Jews could deny it to one of our Nation, and why ſhould we grant it to one of yours? Thus Quarrels are propagated endleſly by Revenge and Retaliation.

3. Chriſt takes this Occaſion to inſtruct her in Divine Things; v. 10. If thou knewest the Gift of God, thou wouldſt have asked. Obſerve, (1.) He waves her Objection of the Feud between the Jews and the Samaritans, and takes no notice of it. Some Differences are beſt heal'd by being ſlighted, and by avoiding all Occaſions of entering into Diſpute about them. Chriſt will convert this Woman, not by ſhewing her that the Samaritan Worſhip was Schiſmatical, tho' really it was ſo, but by ſhewing her her own Ignorance and Immoralities, and her need of a Saviour. (2.) He poſſeſſeth her with an Apprehenſion that ſhe had now an Opportunity (a fairer Opportunity than ſhe was aware of) of gaining that which would be of unſpeakable Advantage to her. She had not the Helps that the Jews had, to diſcern the Signs of the Times, and therefore Chriſt tells her expreſly, ſhe had now a Seaſon of Grace; this was the Day of her Viſitation.

(1.) He hints to her what ſhe ſhould know, but was ignorant of; If thou kneweſt the Gift of God, that is, as the next Words explain it, Who it is that ſaith, give me to drink. If thou kneweſt who I am: She ſaw him to be a Jew, a poor weary Traveller, but he would have her know ſomething more concerning him than did yet appear. Note, (1.) Jeſus Chriſt is the Gift of God; the richeſt Token of God's Love to us, and the richeſt Treaſure of all Good for us. A Gift, not a Debt which we could demand from God; not a Loan, which he will demand from us again; but a Gift, a free Gift, Joh. 3. 16. (2.) It is an unſpeakable Privilege to have this Gift of God propos'd and offer'd to us; to have an Opportunity of embracing it. He who is the Gift of God, is now ſet before thee, and addreſſeth himſelf to thee; 'tis he that ſaith, give me to drink; this Gift comes a begging to thee. (3.) Tho' Chriſt is ſet before us, and ſues to us in and by his Goſpel, yet there are Multitudes that know him not. They know not who it is that ſpeaks to them in the Goſpel, that ſaith, give me to drink; they perceive not that 'tis the Lord that calls them.

(2.) He hopes concerning her, what ſhe would have done if ſhe had known him; to be ſure ſhe would not have given him ſuch a rude and uncivil Anſwer; nay, ſhe would have been ſo far from affronting him, that ſhe would have made her Addreſſes to him; Thou wouldſt have ask'd. Note, 1. Thoſe that would have any Benefit by Chriſt, muſt ask for it, muſt be earneſt in Prayer to God for it. 2. Thoſe that have a right Knowledge of Chriſt, will ſeek to him; and if we do not ſeek unto him, 'tis a Sign we do not know him, Pſal. 9. 10. 3. Chriſt knows what they that want the Means of Knowledge would have done, if they had had them, Mat. 11. 21.

(3.) He aſſures her what he would have done for her, if ſhe had applied herſelf to him. He would have given thee (and not have upbraided thee, as thou doſt me) living Water. By this living Water is meant the Spirit, who is not like the Water in the Bottom of the Well, which he ask'd for ſome of, but like living or running Water, which was much more valuable. Note, 1. The Spirit of Grace is as living Water; ſee John 7. 38. Under this Similitude the Bleſſings of the Meſſiah had been promis'd in the Old Teſtament, Iſa. 12. 3. and 35. 7. and 44. 3. and 55. 1. Zech. 14. 8. The Graces of the Spirit, and his Comforts, ſatiſfy the thirſting Soul, that knows its own Nature and Neceſſity. 2. Jeſus Chriſt can and will give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him; for he receiv'd that he might give.

4. The Woman objects againſt, and cavils at the gracious Intimation Chriſt gave her; v. 11, 12. Thou haſt nothing to draw with; and beſides, Art thou greater than our Father Jacob? What he ſpoke figuratively, ſhe took literally; Nicodemus did ſo too. See what confus'd Notions they have of ſpiritual Things, who are wholly taken up with the Things that are ſenſible. Some reſpect ſhe pays to his Perſon, in calling him Sir, or Lord; but little reſpect to what he ſaid, which ſhe doth but banter.

1. She doth not think him capable of furniſhing her with any Water, no, not this in the Well, that is juſt at hand: Thou haſt nothing to draw with, and the Well is deep. This ſhe ſaid, not knowing the Power of Chriſt, for he who cauſeth the Vapours to aſcend from the Ends of the Earth, needs nothing to draw. But there are thoſe who will truſt Chriſt no further than they can ſee him, and will not believe his Promiſe, unleſs the Means of the Performance of it be viſible; as if he were ty'd to our Methods, and could not draw Water without our Buckets. She asks ſcornfully, Whence haſt thou this living Water? I ſee not whence thou canſt have it. Note, The Springs of that living Water, which Chriſt has for thoſe that come to him, are ſecret and undiſcovered: The Fountain of Life is hid with Chriſt. Chriſt has enough for us, tho' we ſee not whence he hath it.

2. She doth not think it poſſible he ſhould furniſh her with any better Water than this, which ſhe could come at, but he could not; Art thou greater than our Father Jacob, who gave us the Well——

1. We will ſuppoſe the Tradition true, that Jacob himſelf, and his Children, and Cattle did drink of this Well. And we may obſerve from it, (1.) The Power and Providence of God, in the Continuance of the Fountains of Water from Generation to Generation, by the conſtant Circulation of the Rivers, like the Blood in the Body, Eccl. 1. 7. to which Circulation, perhaps the Flux and Reflux of the Sea, like the Pulſes of the Heart, doth contribute. (2.) The Plainneſs of the Patriarch Jacob, his Drink was Water, and he and his Children drank of the ſame Well with his Cattle.

2. Yet allowing that to be true, ſhe was out in ſeveral Things; As (1.) In calling Jacob Father. What Authority had the Samaritans to reckon themſelves of the Seed of Jacob? They were deſcended from that mix'd Multitude, which the King of Aſſyria had placed in the Cities of Samaria; what have they to do then with Jacob? Becauſe they were the Invaders of Iſrael's Rights, and the unjuſt Poſſeſſors of Iſrael's Lands; were they therefore the Inheritors of Iſrael's Blood and Honour? How abſurd were thoſe Pretenſions? (2.) She is out in claiming this Well as Jacob's Gift, whereas he did no more give it, than Moſes gave the Manna, John 6. 32. But thus we are apt to call the Meſſengers of God's Gifts, the Donors of them; and to look ſo much at the Hands they paſs through, as to forget the Hand they come from. Jacob gave it to his Sons, not to them. Yet thus the Church's Enemies not only uſurp, but monopolize the Church's Privileges. (3.) She was out in ſpeaking of Chriſt, as not worthy to be compared with our Father Jacob. An over-fond Veneration for Antiquity, make's God's Graces in the good People of our own Day to be ſlighted.

5. Chriſt anſwers this Cavil, and makes it out that the living Water he had to give, was far better than that of Jacob's Well, v. 13, 14. Tho' ſhe ſpoke perverſly, Chriſt did not caſt her off, but inſtructed, and encouraged her. He ſhews her,

1. That the Water of Jacob's Well yielded but a tranſient Satisfaction and Supply; Whoſo drinketh of this Water, ſhall thirſt again. 'Tis no better than other Water, 'twill quench the preſent Thirſt, but the Thirſt will return, and in a few Hours a Man will have as much need, and as much deſire of Water as ever he had. This ſpeaks, (1.) The Infirmities of our Bodies in this preſent State; they are ſtill neceſſitous and ever craving. Life is a Fire, a Lamp, which will ſoon go out, without continual Supplies of Fuel and Oil: The natural Heat preys upon itſelf. (2.) The Imperfections of all our Comforts in this World, they are not laſting, nor our Satisfaction in them remaining. Whatever Waters of Comfort we drink of, we ſhall thirſt again. Yeſterday's Meat and Drink will not do to-day's Work.

2. That the living Waters he would give, ſhould yield a laſting Satisfaction and Bliſs, v. 14. Chriſt's Gifts appear moſt valuable, when they come to be compared with the Things of this World; for there will appear no Compariſon between them. Whoever partakes of the Spirit of Grace, and the Comforts of the Everlaſting Goſpel, (1.) He ſhall never thirſt, he ſhall never want that which will abundantly ſatisfy his Soul's Deſires; they are longing, but not languiſhing. A deſiring Thirſt he has, nothing more than God, but ſtill more and more of God, but not a deſpairing Thirſt. (3.) Therefore he ſhall never thirſt, becauſe this Water that Chriſt gives ſhall be in him a Well of Water. He can never be reduced to Extremity, that has in himſelf a Fountain of Supply and Satisfaction. (1.) Ever ready, for it ſhall be in him. The Principle of Grace planted in him is the Spring of his Comfort; ſee John 7. 38. A good Man is ſatisfied from himſelf, for Chriſt dwells in his Heart. The Anointing abides in him; he needs not ſneak to the World for Comfort; the Work, and the Witneſs of the Spirit in the Heart, furniſheth him with a firm Foundation of Hope, and an over-flowing Fountain of Joy. (2.) Never failing, for it ſhall be in him a Well of Water. He that has at hand but a Bucket of Water, needs not thirſt as long as that laſts, but that will ſoon be exhauſted; but Believers have in them a Well of Water, over-flowing, ever flowing. The Principles and Affections which Chriſt's holy Religion forms in the Souls of thoſe that are captivated to the Power of it, are this Well of Water. (1.) 'Tis ſpringing up, ever in Motion, which ſpeaks the Actings of Grace ſtrong and vigorous. If good Truths ſtagnate in our Souls, like ſtanding Water, they do not anſwer the End of our receiving them: If there be a good Treaſure in the Heart, we muſt thence bring forth good Things. (2.) 'Tis ſpringing up unto everlaſting Life; which ſpeaks, (1.) The Aims of gracious Actings. A ſanctified Soul has its Eye upon Heaven; means that, deſigns that, doth all for that, will take up with nothing ſhort of that. Spiritual Life ſprings up towards its own Perfection in eternal Life. (2.) The Conſtancy of thoſe Actings, 'twill continue ſpringing up till it come to Perfection. (3.) The Crown of them, eternal Life at laſt. The living Water riſeth from Heaven, and therefore riſeth towards Heaven; ſee Eccl. 1. 7. And now, is not this Water better that that of Jacob's Well?

6. The Woman (whether in jeſt or earneſt is heard to ſay) begs of him to give her ſome of this Water; v. 13. Give me this Water, that I thirſt not. (1.) Some think ſhe ſpeaks tauntingly, and ridicules what Chriſt had ſaid as meer ſtuff, and in deriſion of it; not deſires, but challengeth him to give her ſome of this Water. A rare Invention; 'twill ſave me a deal of Pain if I thirſt not, and a deal of Pains if I never come hither to draw. But, (2.) Others think 'twas a well-meant, but weak and ignorant Deſire. She apprehended that he meant ſomething very good and uſeful, and therefore ſaith Amen at a venture: Whatever it be, let me have it; who will ſhew me any good? And Eaſe or ſaving of Labour is a valuable Good to poor labouring People. Note, 1. Even thoſe that are weak and ignorant, may yet have ſome faint and fluctuating Deſires towards Chriſt and his Gifts, and ſome good Wiſhes of Grace and Glory. 2. Carnal Hearts, in their beſt Wiſhes, look no higher than carnal Ends. Give it me, ſaith ſhe, not that I may have everlaſting Life, which Chriſt propos'd, but that I come not hither to draw.

Secondly, The next Subject of Diſcourſe with this Woman, is concerning her Husband, v. 16, 17, 18. 'Twas not to let fall the Diſcourſe of the Water of Life, that Chriſt ſtarted this, as many who will bring in any Impertinence in Converſation, that they may drop a ſerious Subject; but it is with a gracious Deſign that Chriſt mentioned it. What he had ſaid concerning his Grace and eternal Life, he found had made little Impreſſion upon her, becauſe ſhe had not been convinced of Sin; therefore waving the Diſcourſe about the living Water, he ſets himſelf to awaken her Conſcience, to open the Wound of Guilt, and then ſhe would more eaſily apprehend the Remedy by Grace. And this is the Method of dealing with Souls; they muſt firſt be made weary and heavy laden under the Burthen of Sin, and then brought to Chriſt for Reſt; firſt prick'd to the Heart, and then heal'd. This is the Courſe of Spiritual Phyſick, and if we proceed not in this Order, we begin at the wrong End.

Obſerve, 1. How diſcreetly and decently Chriſt introduceth this Diſcourſe, v. 16. Go call thy Husband and come hither. How, (1.) This Order Chriſt gave her, had a very good Colour. Call thy Husband, that he may teach thee, and help thee to underſtand theſe Things, which thou art ſo ignorant of. The Wives that will learn, muſt ask their Husbands, 1 Cor. 14. 35. who muſt dwell with them, as Men of Knowledge, 1 Pet. 3. 7. Call thy Husband, that he may learn with thee; that then ye may be Heirs together of the Grace of Life. Call thy Husband, that he may be Witneſs to what paſſeth between us; Chriſt would thus teach us to provide Things honeſt in the Sight of all Men, and to ſtudy that which is of good Report. (2.) As it had a good Colour, ſo it had a good Deſign, for from hence he would take Occaſion to call her Sin to Remembrance. There is need of Art and Prudence in giving Reproofs; to fetch a Compaſs, as the Woman of Tekoa, 2 Sam. 14. 20.

2. How induſtriouſly the Woman ſeeks to evade the Conviction, and yet inſenſibly convicts herſelf, and e'er ſhe is aware, owns her Fault; ſhe ſaid, I have no Husband. Her Saying this, intimated no more, but that ſhe did not care to have her Husband ſpoken of, nor that Matter mentioned any more. She would not have her Husband come thither, leſt in further Diſcourſe, the Truth of the Matter ſhould come out to her Shame; and therefore pray go on to talk of ſomething elſe, I have no Husband; ſhe would be thought a Maid or a Widow, whereas, tho' ſhe had no Husband, ſhe was neither. The carnal Mind is very ingenious to ſhift off Convictions, and to keep them from faſtning; careful to cover the Sin.

3. How cloſely our Lord Jeſus brings home the Conviction to her Conſcience. 'Tis probable he ſaid more than is here recorded, for ſhe thought he told her all that ever ſhe did, v. 29. but that which is here recorded is concerning her Husbands: Here's (1.) A ſurprizing Narrative of her paſt Converſation; thou haſt had five Husbands. Doubtleſs it was not her Affliction, the burying of ſo many Husbands, but her Sin, that Chriſt intended to upbraid her with; either ſhe had eloped (as the Law ſpeaks) had over-run her Husbands, and married others; or by her undutiful, unclean diſloyal Carriage, had provoked them to divorce her; or by indirect Means had, contrary to Law, divorc'd them. Thoſe who make light of ſuch ſcandalous Practices as theſe, as no more but nine Days Wonder, and as if the Guilt were over as ſoon as the Talk is over, ſhould remember that Chriſt keeps Account of all. (2.) A ſevere Reproof of her preſent State of Life; He whom thou now haſt, is not thy Husband: Either ſhe was never married to him at all, or he had ſome other Wife; or which is moſt probable, her former Husband, or Husbands were living; ſo that in ſhort, ſhe liv'd in Adultery. Yet obſerve how mildly Chriſt tells her of it; he doth not call her a Whore, but tells her, He with whom thou liveſt is not thy Husband; and then leaves it to her own Conſcience to tell her ſo. Note, Reproofs are ordinarily moſt profitable, when they are leaſt provoking. (3.) Yet in this he puts a better Conſtruction than it would well bear, upon what ſhe ſaid, by way of Shuffle and Evaſion; Thou haſt well ſaid, I have no Husband; and again, in that ſaidſt thou truly. What ſhe intended as a Denial of the Fact, that ſhe had none with whom ſhe lived as a Husband, he favourably interpreted, or at leaſt turn'd upon her as a Confeſſion of the Fault. Note, Thoſe who would win Souls, ſhould make the beſt of them, whereby they may hope to work upon their good Nature; for if they make the worſt of them, they certainly exaſperate their ill Nature.

Thirdly, The next Subject of Diſcourſe with this Woman, is concerning the Place of Worſhip, v. 19—24. Where we may obſerve,

1. A Caſe of Conſcience propos'd to Chriſt, by the Woman, concerning the Place of Worſhip, v. 19, 20. And there,

1. The Inducement ſhe had to put this Caſe; Sir, I perceive that thou art a Prophet. She doth not deny the Truth of what he had charged her with, but by her Silence owns the Juſtice of the Reproof; nor is ſhe put into a Paſſion by it, as many are when they are touched in a ſore Place; doth not impute his Cenſure to the general Diſguſt the Jews had to the Samaritans; but (which is a rare Thing) can bear to be told of a Fault. But that is not all, ſhe goes further; (1.) She ſpeaks reſpectfully to him, calls him Sir. Thus ſhould we honour thoſe that deal faithfully with us. This was the Effect of Chriſt's Meekneſs in reproving her; he gave her no ill Language, and then ſhe gave him none. (2.) She acknowledges him to be a Prophet, one that had a Correſpondence with Heaven. Note, The Power of the Word of Chriſt in ſearching the Heart, and convincing the Conſcience of ſecret Sins, is a great Proof of its Divine Authority, 1 Cor. 14. 24, 25. (3.) She deſires ſome further Inſtruction from him. Many that are not angry at their Reprovers, nor fly in their Faces, yet are afraid of them, and keep out of their Way; but this Woman was willing to have ſome more Diſcourſe with him that told her of her Faults.

2. The Caſe itſelf that ſhe propounded, concerning the Place of Religious Worſhip in Publick. Some think ſhe ſtarted this to ſhift off further Diſcourſe concerning her Sin. Controverſies in Religion often prove great Prejudices to ſerious Godlineſs: But it ſhould ſeem ſhe propos'd it with a good Deſign; ſhe knew ſhe muſt worſhip God, and deſired to do it aright; and therefore meeting with a Prophet, begs his Direction. Note, It is our Wiſdom to improve all Opportunities of getting Knowledge in the Things of God. When we are in Company with thoſe that are fit to teach, let us be forward to learn; and have a good Queſtion ready to put to thoſe who are able to give a good Anſwer.

It was agreed between the Jews and the Samaritans, that God is to be worſhipped; thoſe who were ſuch Fools as to worſhip falſe Gods, yet were not ſuch Brutes as to worſhip none. And that Religious Worſhip is an Affair of great Importance: Men would not contend about it, if they were not concerned about it. But the Matter in variance was, where they ſhould worſhip God? Obſerve how ſhe ſtates the Caſe;

1. As for the Samaritans, Our Fathers worſhipped in this Mountain, near adjoining to this City, and this Well; there the Samaritan Temple was built by Sanballat; in favour of which ſhe inſinuates, (1.) That whatever the Temple was, the Place was Holy; 'twas Mount Gerizzim, the Mountain on which the Bleſſings were pronounced; and ſome think the ſame on which Abraham built his Altar, Gen. 12. 6, 7. and Jacob his, Gen. 33. 18. (2.) That it might plead Preſcription, for our Fathers worſhipped here. She thinks they have Antiquity, Tradition, and Succeſſion on their Side: A vain Converſation oft ſupports itſelf with this, that it was received by Tradition from our Fathers. But ſhe had little Reaſon to boaſt of their Fathers, for when Antiochus perſecuted the Jews, the Samaritans, for fear of ſharing with them in their Sufferings, not only renounced all Relation to the Jews, but ſurrender'd their Temple to Antiochus, with a requeſt that it might be dedicated to Jupiter Olympius, and call'd by his Name. Joſeph. Antiqu. l. 12. c. 7.

2. As to the Jews; Ye ſay, that in Jeruſalem is the Place where Men ought to worſhip. The Samaritans govern'd themſelves by the five Books of Moſes, and (ſome think) received them only as Canonical: Now tho' they found frequent mention there of the Place God would chuſe, yet they did not find it named there; and they ſaw the Temple at Jeruſalem ſtript of many of its ancient Glories, and therefore think themſelves at Liberty to ſet up another Place; Altar againſt Altar.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Caſe of Conſcience, v. 21. &c. Thoſe that apply themſelves to Chriſt for Inſtruction, ſhall find him Meek, to teach the Meek his Way. Now here,

1. He puts a ſlight upon the Queſtion as ſhe had propos'd it, concerning the Place of Worſhip, v. 21. Woman, believe me, as a Prophet, and mark what I ſay, 'Thou art expecting the Hour to come, when either by ſome Divine Revelation, or ſome ſignal Providence, this Matter ſhall be decided in favour either of Jeruſalem, or of Mount Gerizzim; but I tell thee, the Hour is at hand, when it ſhall be no more a Queſtion; that which thou haſt been taught to lay ſo much weight on, ſhall be ſet aſide as a Thing indifferent. Note, It ſhould cool us in our Conteſts, to think that thoſe Things which now fill us, and which we make ſuch a Noiſe about, ſhall ſhortly vaniſh, and be no more; the very Things we are ſtriving about, are paſſing away. The Hour comes, when ye ſhall neither in this Mountain, nor yet at Jeruſalem, worſhip the Father. (1.) The Object of Worſhip is ſuppoſed to continue ſtill the ſame, God, as a Father; under that Notion the very Heathen worſhipped God, the Jews did ſo, and probably the Samaritans. (2.) But a Period ſhall be put to all Niceneſs, and all Differences about the Place of Worſhip. The approaching Diſſolution of the Jewiſh Oeconomy, and the erecting of the Evangelical State, ſhall ſet this Matter at large, and lay all in common, ſo that it ſhall be a Thing perfectly indifferent, whether in either of theſe Places, or any other, Men worſhip God, for they ſhall not be ty'd to any Place; neither here nor there, but both, and any where, and every where. Note, The Worſhip of God is not now under the Goſpel appropriated to any Place, as it was under the Law, but 'tis God's Will that Men pray every where, 1 Tim. 2. 8. Mal. 1. 11. Our Reaſon teacheth us to conſult Decency and Convenience in the Places of our Worſhip; but our Religion gives no preference to one Place above another in reſpect of Holineſs, and Acceptableneſs to God. They who prefer any Worſhip, meerly for the ſake of the Houſe or Building in which it is perform'd (tho' it were as Magnificent, and as ſolemnly Conſecrated as ever Solomon's Temple was) forget that the Hour is come, when there ſhould be no difference put in God's Account; no not between Jeruſalem, which had been ſo famous for Sanctity, and the Mountain of Samaria, which had been ſo infamous for Impiety.

2. He lays a Streſs upon other Things in the Matter of Religious Worſhip. When he made ſo light of the Place of Worſhip, he did not intend to leſſen our Concern about the Thing itſelf, which therefore he takes occaſion to diſcourſe of more fully.

1. As to the preſent State of the Controverſy, he determines againſt the Samaritan Worſhip, and in favour of the Jews, v. 22. He tells her here,

(1.) That the Samaritans are certainly in the wrong; not meerly becauſe they worſhipped in this Mountain, tho' while Jeruſalem's Choice was in force, that was ſinful, but becauſe they were out in the Object of their Worſhip; if the Worſhip itſelf had been as it ſhould be, its Separation from Jeruſalem might have been conniv'd at, as the high Places were in the beſt Reigns, but ye worſhip ye know not what; or, that which ye do not know; they worſhipped the God of Iſrael, the true God, Ezr. 4. 2. 2 Kings 17. 32. but they were ſunk into groſs Ignorance; they worſhipped him as the God of that Land, 2 Kings 17. 27, 33. as a local Deity, like the Gods of the Nations; whereas God muſt be ſerved as God, as the univerſal Cauſe and Lord. Note, Ignorance is ſo far from being the Mother of Devotion, that it is the Murtherer of it. Thoſe that worſhip God ignorantly, offer the Blind for Sacrifice, and it is the Sacrifice of Fools.

(1.) That the Jews were certainly in the Right. For,

(1.) We know what we worſhip. We go upon ſure Grounds in our Worſhip, for our People are catechiz'd and train'd up in the Knowledge of God, as he has revealed himſelf in the Scripture. Note, Thoſe who by the Scriptures have obtained ſome Knowledge of God (a certain, tho' not a perfect Knowledge) may worſhip him comfortably to themſelves, and acceptably to him, for they know what they worſhip. Chriſt elſewhere condemns the Corruptions of the Jews Worſhip, Mat. 15. 9. and yet here defends the Worſhip itſelf; the Worſhip may be true, where yet it is not pure and entire. Obſerve, our Lord Jeſus was pleas'd to reckon himſelf among the Worſhippers of God; we worſhip. Tho' he were a Son (and then are the Children free) yet learned he this Obedience in the Days of his Humiliation. Let not the greateſt of Men think the Worſhip of God below them, when the Son of God himſelf did not.

(2.) Salvation is of the Jews, and therefore they know what they worſhip, and what Ground they go upon in their Worſhip. Not that all the Jews were ſaved, or that it was not poſſible but that many of the Gentiles and Samaritans might be ſaved; for in every Nation, he that fears God, and works Righteouſneſs, is accepted of him. But, (1.) The Author of Eternal Salvation come of the Jews, and appears among them, Rom. 9. 8. and is ſent firſt to bleſs them. (2.) The Means of eternal Salvation are afforded to them. The Word of Salvation (Acts 13. 26.) was of the Jews. It was delivered to them, and was through them derived to other Nations. This was a ſure Guide to them in their Devotions, and they followed it, and therefore knew what they worſhipped. To them were committed the Oracles of God, Rom. 3. 2. and the Service of God, Rom. 9. 4. The Jews therefore being thus privileged and advanced, it was Preſumption for the Samaritans to vye with them.

2. He deſcribes the Evangelical Worſhip, and which only God would accept of, and be well pleas'd with; having ſhew'd that the Place is indifferent, he comes to ſhew what is neceſſary and eſſential; That we worſhip God in Spirit and in Truth, v. 23, 24. The Streſs is not to be laid upon the Place where we worſhip God, but with what Mind we worſhip him. Note, The moſt effectual Way to make up Differences in the leſſer Matters of Religion, is to be more zealous in the greater. They who daily make it the Matter of their Care to worſhip God in the Spirit, one would think ſhould not make it the Matter of their Strife, whether he ſhould be worſhipped here or there. Chriſt had juſtly preferr'd the Jewiſh Worſhip before the Samaritan, yet here he intimates the Imperfection of that. The Worſhip was Ceremonial, Heb. 9. 1, 10. The Worſhippers were generally carnal, and much Strangers to the inward Part of Divine Worſhip. Note, It is poſſible we may be better than our Neighbours, and yet not ſo good as we ſhould be. It concerns us to be right, not only in the Objects of our Worſhip, but in the Manner of it; and that's it which Chriſt here inſtructs us in. Obſerve,

1. The great and glorious Revolution which ſhould introduce this Change; The Hour cometh, and now is. The fixed ſtated Time, concerning which it was of old determined, when it ſhould come, and how long it ſhould laſt. The Time of its Appearance is fix'd to an Hour, ſo punctual and exact are the divine Counſels; the Time of its Continuance is limited to an Hour, ſo cloſe and preſſing is the Opportunity of Divine Grace, 2 Cor. 6. 2. This Hour cometh, it is coming in its full Strength, Luſtre and Perfection, it now is in the Embryo and Infancy. The perfect Day is coming, and now it dawns. 2. The bleſſed Change itſelf. In Goſpel-times the true Worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father in Spirit, and in Truth. As Creatures, we worſhip the Father of all: As Chriſtians, we worſhip the Father of our Lord Jeſus. Now the Change ſhall be, (1.) In the Nature of the Worſhip; Chriſtians ſhall worſhip God, not in the Ceremonial Obſervances of the Moſaick Inſtitution, but in Spiritual Ordinances, conſiſting leſs in bodily Exerciſe, and animated and invigorated more with a divine Power and Energy. The Way of Worſhip Chriſt has inſtituted is rational and intellectual, and refined from thoſe external Rites and Ceremonies with which the Old-Teſtament Worſhip was both clouded and clogg'd. This is called true Worſhip, in oppoſition to that which was typical: The Legal Services were Figures of the true, Heb. 9. 9, 24. They that revolted from Judaiſm to Chriſtianity, are ſaid to begin in the Spirit, and end in the Fleſh, Gal. 3. 3. Such was the Difference between Old Teſtament and New Teſtament Inſtitutions.

(2.) In the Temper and Diſpoſition of the Worſhippers; and ſo the true Worſhippers are good Chriſtians, diſtinguiſhed from Hypocrites; all ſhould, and they will worſhip God in Spirit and in Truth. 'Tis ſpoken of, v. 23. as their Character, and v. 24. as their Duty. Note, It is required of all that worſhip God, that they worſhip him in Spirit and in Truth. (1.) We muſt worſhip God in Spirit, Phil. 3. 3. We muſt depend upon God's Spirit for Strength and Aſſiſtance, laying our Souls under his Influences and Operations; we muſt devote our own Spirits to, and employ them in the Service of God, Rom. 1. 9. muſt worſhip him with Fixedneſs of Thought, and a Flame of Affection; with all that is within us. Spirit is ſometimes put for the new Nature, in oppoſition to the Fleſh, which is the corrupt Nature; and ſo to worſhip God with our Spirit, is to worſhip him with our Graces, Heb. 12. 28. (2.) In Truth, that is, in Sincerity; God requires not only the inward Part in our Worſhip, but Truth in the outward Part, Pſal. 51. 6. We muſt mind the Power more than the Form; muſt aim at God's Glory, and not to be ſeen of Men; draw near with a true Heart, Heb. 10. 22.

3. The Reaſons why God muſt be thus worſhipped.

1. Becauſe in Goſpel-times they, and they only, are accounted the true Worſhippers. The Goſpel erects a ſpiritual Way of Worſhip, ſo that the Profeſſors of the Goſpel are not true in their Profeſſion, do not live up to the Goſpel Light and Laws, if they do not worſhip God in Spirit and in Truth.

2. Becauſe the Father ſeeketh ſuch Worſhippers of him. This intimates, (1.) That ſuch Worſhippers are very rare, and ſeldom met with, Jer. 30. 21. The Gate of ſpiritual Worſhipping is ſtrait. (2.) That ſuch Worſhip is neceſſary, and what the God of Heaven inſiſts upon. When God comes to enquire for Worſhippers, the Queſtion will not be, Who worſhipped at Jeruſalem: But, who worſhipped in Spirit? That will be the Touchſtone. (3.) That God is greatly well pleaſed with, and graciouſly accepts of ſuch Worſhip, and ſuch Worſhippers. I have deſired it, Pſal. 132. 13, 14. Cant. 2. 14. (4.) That there has been, and will be, to the End, a Remnant of ſuch Worſhippers; his ſeeking ſuch Worſhippers, implies his making them ſuch; God is in all Ages gathering in to himſelf a Generation of ſpiritual Worſhippers.

3. Becauſe God is a Spirit. Chriſt came to declare God to us, John 1. 18. And this he has declared concerning him; he declared it to this poor Samaritan Woman, for the meaneſt are concerned to know God, and with this Deſign to rectify her Miſtakes concerning religious Worſhip; to which nothing would contribute more than the right Knowledge of God. Note, 1. God is a Spirit, for he is an infinite and eternal Mind, an intelligent Being, Incorporeal, Immaterial, Inviſible, and Incorruptible. 'Tis eaſier to ſay, what God is not, than what he is; a Spirit has not Fleſh and Bones; but who knows the way of a Spirit: If God were not a Spirit, he could not be perfect, nor infinite, nor eternal, independent, nor the Father of Spirits. (2.) The Spirituality of the Divine Nature is a very good Reaſon for the Spirituality of Divine Worſhip. If we don't worſhip God who is a Spirit, in the Spirit, we neither give him the Glory due to his Name, and ſo do not perform the Act of Worſhip; nor can we hope to obtain his Favour and Acceptance, and ſo we miſs of the End of Worſhip, Mat. 15. 8, 9.

Fourthly, The laſt Subject of Diſcourſe with this Woman, is concerning the Meſſias, v. 25, 26. Obſerve here,

1. The Faith of the Woman by which ſhe expected the Meſſiah; I know that Meſſias cometh——and he will tell us all Things. She had nothing to object againſt what Chriſt had ſaid; his Diſcourſe was, for ought ſhe knew, what might become the Meſſiah then expected; but from him ſhe ſhould receive it, and in the mean time thinks beſt to ſuſpend her Belief. Thus many have no Heart to the Price in their Hand, (Prov. 17. 16.) becauſe they think they have a better in their Eyes, and deceive themſelves with a Promiſe that they will learn that hereafter, which they neglect now. Obſerve here,

(1.) Whom ſhe expects; I know that Meſſias cometh. The Jews and Samaritans, tho' ſo much at variance, agreed in the Expectation of the Meſſiah, and his Kingdom. The Samaritans received the Writings of Moſes, and were no Strangers to the Prophets, nor to the Hopes of the Jewiſh Nation; thoſe who knew leaſt, knew this, that Meſſias was to come; ſo general and unconteſted was the Expectation of him; and at this time more rais'd than ever, for the Sceptre was departed from Judah, Daniel's Weeks were near expiring, ſo that ſhe concludes, not only he will come, but ἔρχεται he comes, he is juſt at hand, Meſſias which is called Chriſt. The Evangeliſt, tho' he retains the Hebrew Word Meſſiah, which the Woman uſed, in honour to the holy Language, and to the Jewiſh Church, that uſed it familiarly, yet writing for the Uſe of the Gentiles, he takes care to render it by a Greek Word of the ſame Signification, which is called Chriſt, Anointed; giving an Example to the Apoſtle's Rule, that whatever is ſpoken in an unknown, or leſs vulgar Tongue, ſhould be interpreted, 1 Cor. 14. 27, 28.

(2.) What ſhe expects from him; He will tell us all things relating to the Service of God, which are needful for us to know; will tell us that which will ſupply our Defects, rectify our Miſtakes, and put an end to all our Diſputes. He will tell us the Mind of God fully and clearly, and keep back nothing. Now this implies an Acknowledgement, (1.) Of the Deficiency and Imperfection of the Diſcovery they now had of the Divine Will, and the Rule they had of the Divine Worſhip, it could not make the Comers thereunto perfect, and therefore they expected ſome great Advance and Improvement in matters of Religon, a Time of Reformation. (2.) Of the Sufficiency of the Meſſiah to make this Change; He will tell us all Things, which we want to know, and about which we wrangle in the dark. He will introduce Peace, by leading us into all Truth, and diſpelling the Miſts of Error. It ſeems this was the Comfort of good People in thoſe dark Times, that Light would ariſe; if they found themſelves at a loſs, and run a-ground, it was a Satisfaction to them to ſay, When Meſſias comes, he will tell us all things; as it may be to us now, with reference to his ſecond Coming; now we ſee through a Glaſs, but then Face to Face.

2. The Favour of our Lord Jeſus in making himſelf known to her, v. 26. I that ſpeak to thee am he. Chriſt did never make himſelf known ſo expreſly to any, as he did here to this poor Samaritan, and to the blind Man, John 9. 37. no not to John Baptiſt, when he ſent to him, Mat. 11. 4, 5. no not to the Jews when they challeng'd him to tell them whether he was the Chriſt, John 10.24. But (1.) Chriſt would thus put an Honour upon ſuch as were poor and deſpis'd, Jam. 2. 6. (2.) This Woman, for ought we know, had never any Opportunity of ſeeing Chriſt's Miracles, which were then the ordinary Method of Conviction. Note, To thoſe who have not the Advantage of the external Means of Knowledge and Grace, God hath ſecret Ways of making up the Want of them; we muſt therefore judge charitably concerning ſuch. God can make the Light of Grace ſhine into the Heart, even where he doth not make the Light of the Goſpel ſhine in the Face. (3.) This Woman was better prepared to receive ſuch a Diſcovery than others were; ſhe was big with Expectation of the Meſſiah, and ready to receive Inſtruction from him. Chriſt will manifeſt himſelf to thoſe, who with an honeſt humble Heart, deſire to be acquainted with him. I that ſpeak to thee am he. See here, 1. How near Jeſus Chriſt was to her, when ſhe knew not who he was, Gen. 28. 16. Many are lamenting Chriſt's Abſence, and longing for his Preſence, when at the ſame time he is ſpeaking to them. 2. How Chriſt makes himſelf known to us, by ſpeaking to us. I that ſpeak unto thee ſo cloſely, ſo convincingly, with ſuch Aſſurance, with ſuch an Authority, I am he.

27 ¶ And upon this came his diſciples, and marvelled that he talked with the woman: yet no man ſaid, What ſeekeſt thou? or why talkeſt thou with her? 28 The woman then left her water-pot, and went her way into the city, and ſaith to the men, 29 Come, ſee a man which told me all things that ever I did: Is not this the Chriſt? 30 Then they went out of the city, and came unto him. 31 ¶ In the mean while his diſciples prayed him, ſaying, Maſter eat. But he ſaid unto them, I have meat to eat that ye know not of. 33 Therefore ſaid the diſciples one to another, Hath any man brought him ought to eat? 34 Jeſus ſaith unto them, My meat is to do the will of him that ſent me, and to finiſh his work. 35 Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harveth? behold I ſay unto you, Lift up your Eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harveſt. 36 And he that reapeth, receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal: that both he that ſoweth, and he that reapeth may rejoice together.
37 And herein is that ſaying true, One ſoweth, and another reapeth. 38 I ſent you to reap that whereon ye beſtowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entered into their labours. 39 ¶ And many of the Samaritans of that city believed on him, for the ſaying of the woman, which teſtified, He told me all that ever I did. 40 So when the Samaritans were come unto him, they beſought him that he would tarry with them: and he abode there two days. 41 And many more believed, becauſe of his own word: 42
And ſaid unto the woman, Now we believe, not becauſe of thy ſaying: for we have heard him ourſelves, and know that this is indeed the Chriſt, the Saviour of the world.

We have here the Remainder of the Story, of what happen'd when Chriſt was in Samaria, after the long Conference he had with the Woman.

Firſt, The Interruption given to this Diſcourſe, by the Diſciples coming. 'Tis likely much more was ſaid than is recorded; but juſt when the Diſcourſe was brought to a head, when Chriſt had made himſelf known to her as the true Meſſiah, then came the Diſciples. The Daughters of Jeruſalem ſhall not ſtir up nor awake my Love till he pleaſe. (1.) They admired at Chriſt's Converſe with this Woman; marvelled that he talk'd thus earneſtly, (as perhaps they obſerv'd at a diſtance) with a Woman, a ſtrange Woman alone; he uſed to be more reſerved; eſpecially with a Samaritan Woman, that was not of the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael; they thought their Maſter ſhould be as ſhy of the Samaritans as the other Jews were, at leaſt that he ſhould not preach the Goſpel to them. They wonder'd he ſhould condeſcend to talk with ſuch a poor contemptible Woman, forgetting what deſpicable Men they themſelves were, when Chriſt firſt call'd them into Fellowſhip with himſelf. (2.) Yet they acquieſc'd in it, they knew it was for ſome good Reaſon, and ſome good End, which he was not bound to give them an account of, and therefore none of them asked, What ſeekeſt thou? or, Why talkeſt thou with her? Thus when particular Difficulties occur in the Word and Providence of God, it is good to ſatisfy ourſelves with this in general, that all is well which Jeſus Chriſt ſaith and doth. Perhaps there was ſomething amiſs in their marvelling that Chriſt talked with the Woman, and that it was ſomething like the Phariſees being offended at his eating with Publicans and Sinners. But whatever they thought, they ſaid nothing; If thou haſt thought Evil at any time, lay thy Hand upon thy Mouth, to keep that evil Thought from turning into an evil Word, Prov. 30.32. *Pſal.*39. 1,2,3.

Secondly, The Notice which the Woman gave to her Neighbours, what an extraordinary Perſon ſhe had happily met with, v. 28,29. Obſerve here,

1. How ſhe forgot her Errand to the Well, v. 28. Therefore becauſe the Diſciples were come, and broke up the Diſcourſe, and perhaps ſhe obſerved they were not pleaſed with it, ſhe went her way. She withdrew in Civility to Chriſt, that he might have leiſure to eat his Dinner. She delighted in his Diſcourſe, but would not be rude; every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon. She ſuppoſed that Jeſus when he had din'd, would go forward in his Journey, and therefore haſtened to tell her Neighbours, that they might come quickly; Yet a little while is the Light with you. See how ſhe improv'd time; when one good Work was done, ſhe applied herſelf to another. When Opportunities of getting good ceaſe, or are interrupted, we ſhould ſeek Opportunities of doing good; when we have done hearing the Word, then is a time to be ſpeaking of it.

Notice is taken of her leaving her Water-Pot, or Pail. (1.) She left it in Kindneſs to Chriſt, that he might have to drink with his Dinner; and fair Water was his drink; he turn'd Water into Wine for others, but not for himſelf. Compare this with Rebecca's Civility to Abraham's Servant, Gen. 24. 18. and ſee that Promiſe, Mat. 10.42. (2.) She left it, that ſhe might make the more haſte into the City, to carry thither theſe good Tidings. Thoſe whoſe Buſineſs it is to publiſh the Name of Chriſt, muſt not encumber or entangle themſelves with any thing that will retard or hinder them therein. When the Diſciples were to be made Fiſhers of Men, they muſt forſake all. (3.) She left her Water-Pot as one careleſs of it, being wholly taken up with better Things. Note, Thoſe who are brought to the Knowledge of Chriſt, will ſhew it by a holy Contempt of this World, and the Things of it. And thoſe who are newly acquainted with the Things of God, muſt be excus'd, if at firſt they be ſo taken up with that new World, into which they are brought, that the things of this World ſeem to be for a time wholly neglected. Mr. Hilderſham, in one of his Sermons on this Verſe, from this Inſtance, largely juſtifies thoſe, who leave their worldly Buſineſs on Week-days to go hear Sermons.

2. How ſhe minded her Errand to the Town, for her Heart was upon it; ſhe went into the City, and ſaid to the Men, probably the Aldermen, the Men in Authority, whom, it may be, ſhe found met together upon ſome publick Buſineſs; or to the Men, i. e. to every Man ſhe met in the Streets; ſhe proclaim'd it in the chief Places of Concourſe; Come, ſee a Man which told me all things that ever I did, is not this the Chriſt? Obſerve,

1. How ſolicitous ſhe was to bring her Friends and Neighbours acquainted with Chriſt. When ſhe had found that Treaſure, ſhe called together her Friends and Neighbours, as Luke 15. 4. not only to rejoice with her, but to ſhare with her, knowing there was enough to enrich herſelf, and all that would partake with her. Note, They that have been themſelves with Jeſus, and have found Comfort in him, ſhould do all they can to bring others to him; has he done us the Honour to make himſelf known to us, let us do him the Honour to make him known to others; nor can we do ourſelves a greater Honour: This Woman becomes an Apoſtle, Quæ ſcortum fuerat egreſſa, regreditur magiſtra Evangelica, ſaith Aretius. Chriſt had bid her call her Husband, which ſhe thought was warrant enough to call every body: She went into the City, the City where ſhe dwelt, among her Kinsfolks and Acquaintance. Tho' every Man is my Neighbour that I have Opportunity of doing good to, yet I have moſt Opportunity, and therefore lie under the moſt Obligations to do good to thoſe that live near me. Where the Tree falls, there let it be made uſeful.

2. How fair and ingenuous ſhe was in the Notice ſhe gave them concerning this Stranger ſhe had met with.

(1.) She tells them plainly what induced her to admire him; He has told me all things that ever I did. No more is recorded but what he told her of her Husbands; but it is not improbable he had told her more of her Faults. Or, his telling her of that which ſhe knew he could not by any ordinary Means come to the Knowledge of, convinc'd her that he could have told her of all that ever ſhe did. If he has a Divine Knowledge, it muſt be an Omniſcience. He told her that which none knew but God, and her own Conſcience. Two things affected her, (1.) The Extent of his Knowledge; we ourſelves cannot tell all things that ever we did; many things paſs unheeded, and more paſs away, and are forgotten, but Jeſus Chriſt knows all the Thoughts, Words and Actions of all the Children of Men. See Heb. 4. 13. He hath ſaid, I know thy Works. (2.) The Power of his Word; this made a great Impreſſion upon her, that he told her her ſecret Sins, with ſuch an unaccountable Power and Energy, that being told of one, ſhe is convinc'd of all, and judg'd of all. She doth not ſay, Come ſee a Man that has told me ſtrange Things concerning religious Worſhip, and the Laws of it; that has decided the Controverſy between this Mountain and Jeruſalem, a Man that calls himſelf the Meſſias, but come ſee a Man that has told me of my Sins; ſhe faſtens upon that part of Chriſt's Diſcourſe, which one would think ſhe ſhould have been moſt ſhy of repeating: but experimental Proofs of the Power of Chriſt's Word and Spirit, are of all other the moſt cogent and convincing; and that Knowledge of Chriſt, into which we are led by the Conviction of Sin and Humiliation, is moſt likely to be ſound and ſaving.

(2.) She invites them to come and ſee him whom ſhe had conceiv'd ſo high an Opinion of. Not barely come and look upon him; ſhe doth not invite them to him as a Shew, but come and converſe with him, come and hear his Wiſdom as I have done, and you'll be of my mind. She would not undertake to manage the Arguments, which had convinc'd her in ſuch a manner as to convince others; all that ſee the Evidence of Truth themſelves, are not able to make others ſee it; but come and talk with him, and you'll find ſuch a Power in his Word, as far exceeds all other Evidence. Note, Thoſe who can do little elſe towards the Conviction and Converſion of others, may and ſhould bring them to thoſe means of Grace, which they themſelves have found effectual. Jeſus was now at the Town's End, now come ſee him. When Opportunities of getting the Knowledge of God are brought to our Doors, we are inexcuſable if we neglect them; ſhall we not go over the Threſhold to ſee him, whoſe Day Prophets and Kings deſired to ſee?

(3.) She reſolves to appeal to themſelves, and their own Sentiments upon the Trial; Is not this the Chriſt? She does not peremptorily ſay, He is the Meſſiah, how clear ſoever ſhe was in her own Mind; and yet ſhe very prudently mentions the Meſſiah, whom otherwiſe they would not have thought of, and then refers it to themſelves; ſhe will not impoſe her Faith upon them, but only propoſe it to them. By ſuch fair, but forcible Appeals as theſe, Mens Judgments and Conſciences are ſometimes taken hold of, e'er they are aware.

3. What Succeſs ſhe had in this Invitation, v. 30. They went out of the City and came to him. Tho' it might ſeem very improbable, that a Woman of ſo ſmall a Figure, and ſo ill a Character, ſhould have the Honour of the firſt Diſcovery of the Meſſiah among the Samaritans, yet it pleaſed God to incline their Hearts to take notice of her Report, and not to ſlight it as an idle Tale. Time was, when Lepers were the firſt that brought Tidings to Samaria, of a great Deliverance, 2 Kings 7. 3, &c. They came unto him; did not ſend for him into the City to them, but, in token of their Reſpect to him, and the Earneſtneſs of their Deſire to ſee him, they went out to him: Thoſe that would know Chriſt, muſt meet him where he records his Name.

Thirdly, Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Diſciples, while the Woman was abſent, v. 31——34. See how induſtrious our Lord Jeſus was to redeem Time, to husband every Minute of it, and to fill up the Vacancies of it. When the Diſciples were gone into the Town, his Diſcourſe with the Woman was edifying, and ſuited to her Caſe; when ſhe was gone into the Town, her Diſcourſe with them was no leſs edifying, and ſuited to their Caſe; 'twere well if we could thus gather up the Fragments of Time, that none of it may be loſt.

Two Things are obſervable in this Diſcourſe:

1. How Chriſt expreſſeth the Delight which he himſelf had in his Work. His Work was to ſeek and ſave that which was loſt, to go about doing good. Now this Work we here find him wholly taken up with.

For, 1. He neglected his Meat and Drink for his Work. When he ſate down upon the Well he was weary, and needed Refreſhment; but this Opportunity of ſaving Souls made him forget his Wearineſs and Hunger. And he minded his Food ſo little, that, (1.) His Diſciples were forced to invite him to it; they pray'd him, they preſſed him, ſaying, Maſter eat. 'Twas an Inſtance of their Love to him, that they invited him, leſt he ſhould be fainty and ſick for want of ſome Support; but it was a greater Inſtance of his Love to Souls, that he needed Invitation; let us learn hence a holy Indifferency, even to the needful Supports of Life, in compariſon with ſpiritual Things. (2.) He minded it ſo little, that they ſuſpected he had Meat brought him in their Abſence, v. 33. Has any Man brought him ought to eat? He had ſo little Stomach to his Dinner, that they were ready to think he had din'd already. They that make Religion their Buſineſs, when any of its Affairs are to be attended, will prefer them before their Food; as Abraham's Servant, that would not eat till he had told his Errand, Gen. 24. 33. and Samuel, that would not ſit down till David was anointed, 1 Sam. 16. 11.

2. He made his Work his Meat and Drink. The Work he had done in inſtructing the Woman; the Work he had to do among the Samaritans; the Proſpect he now had of doing good to many, this was Meat and Drink to him; 'twas the greateſt Pleaſure and Satisfaction imaginable. Never did a hungry Man, or an Epicure, expect a plentiful Feaſt with ſo much deſire, nor feed upon its Dainties with ſo much Delight, as our Lord Jeſus expected, and improv'd an Opportunity of doing good to Souls. Concerning this, he ſaith, (1.) That it was ſuch Meat as the Diſciples knew not of. They did not imagine that he had any Deſign or Proſpect of planting his Goſpel among the Samaritans; this was a piece of Uſefulneſs they never thought of. Note, Chriſt, by his Goſpel and Spirit, doth more good to the Souls of Men, than his own Diſciples know of, or expect. This may be ſaid of good Chriſtians too, who live by Faith, that they have Meat to eat, which others know not of; Joy, which a Stranger doth not intermeddle with. Now this Word made them aſk, Has any Man brought him ought to eat? So apt were even his own Diſciples to underſtand him after a corporal and carnal manner, when he uſed Similitudes. (2.) That the Reaſon why his Work was his Meat and Drink, was, becauſe it was his Father's Work, his Father's Will, v. 34. My Meat is to do the Will of him that ſent me. Note, (1.) The Salvation of Sinners is the Will of God, and the Inſtruction of them in order thereunto, is his Work: See 1 Tim. 2. 4. There's a choſen Remnant, whoſe Salvation is in a particular manner his Will. (2.) Chriſt was ſent into the World on this Errand, to bring People to God; to know him, and to be happy in him. (3.) He made this Work his Buſineſs and Delight. When his Body needed Food, his Mind was ſo taken up with this, that he forgot both Hunger and Thirſt, both Meat and Drink. Nothing could be more grateful to him than doing good: When he was invited to Meat, he went, that he might do good; for that was his Meat always. (4.) He was not only ready upon all Occaſions to go to his Work, but he was earneſt, and in care to go through it, and to finiſh his Work, in all the Parts of it. He reſolv'd never to quit it, or lay it down till he could ſay, It is finiſh'd. Many have Zeal to carry them out at firſt, but not Zeal to carry them on to the laſt; but our Lord Jeſus was intent upon finiſhing his Work. Our Maſter has herein left us an Example, that we may learn to do the Will of God as he did. (1.) With Diligence and cloſe Application, as thoſe that make a Buſineſs of it. (2.) With Delight and Pleaſure; in it as in our Element. (3.) With Conſtancy and Perſeverance; not only minding to do, but aiming to finiſh our Work.

2. See here, how Chriſt having expreſs'd his Delight in his Work, excites his Diſciples to Diligence in their Work; they were Workers with him, and therefore ſhould be Workers like him, and make their Work their Meat as he did. The Work they had to do, was to preach the Goſpel, and by it to ſet up the Kingdom of the Meſſiah. Now this Work he here compares to Harveſt-Work, which is the gathering in of the Fruits of the Earth; and this Similitude he proſecutes throughout this Diſcourſe, v. 35——38. Note, Goſpel-Time is Harveſt-Time, and Goſpel-Work Harveſt-Work. The Harveſt is before appointed and expected, ſo was the Goſpel. Harveſt-Time is buſy Time; all Hands muſt be then at work; every one muſt work for himſelf, that he may reap the Graces and Comforts of the Goſpel. Miniſters muſt work for God, to gather in Souls to him. Harveſt-Time is Opportunity, a ſhort and limited Time, which will not laſt always; and Harveſt-Work is Work that muſt be done then, or not at all: ſo the Time of the Enjoyment of the Goſpel is a particular Seaſon, which muſt be improv'd for its proper Purpoſes; for once paſs'd, it cannot be recall'd.

The Diſciples were to gather in a Harveſt of Souls for Chriſt. Now he here ſuggeſts three Things to them, to quicken them to Diligence.

1. That is was neceſſary Work, and the Occaſion for it very urgent and preſſing, v. 35. Ye ſay 'tis four Months to Harveſt, but I ſay, The Fields are already white. Here's, (1.) A Saying of Chriſt's Diſciples, concerning the Corn-Harveſt: There are yet four Months, and then comes Harveſt; which may be taken either generally: You ſay, for the Encouragement of the Sower at Seed-time, that it will be but four Months to the Harveſt. With us 'tis but about four Months between the Barley Seedneſs, and the Barley Harveſt; probably 'twas ſo with them as to other Grain: or particularly, now at this Time you reckon 'twill be four Months to next Harveſt, according to the ordinary Courſe of Providence. The Jews Harveſt began at the Paſſover, about Eaſter, much earlier in the Year than ours; by which it appears, that this Journey of Chriſt from Judea to Galilee, was in the Winter, about the End of November, for he travelled all Weathers to do Good. God has only promis'd us a Harveſt every Year, but has appointed the Weeks of Harveſt: ſo that we know when to expect it, and take our Meaſures accordingly. (2.) Here's a Saying of Chriſt's, concerning the Goſpel Harveſt; his Heart was as much upon the Fruits of his Goſpel, as the Hearts of others were upon the Fruits of the Earth; and to that he would lead the Thoughts of his Diſciples. Look—the Fields are already white unto the Harveſt. 1. Here in this Place where they now were, there was Harveſt-Work for him to do. They would have him to eat, v. 31. Eat, ſaith he, I have other Work to do that is more needful: Look what Crowds of Samaritans are coming out of the Town, over the Fields, that are ready to receive the Goſpel; probably there were many now in View. Peoples Forwardneſs to hear the Word, is a great Excitement to Miniſters Diligence and Liveliness in preaching it.

2. In other Places, all the Country over, there was Harveſt-Work enough for them all to do. Conſider the Regions; think of the State of the Country, and you'll find there are Multitudes as ready to receive the Goſpel, as a Field of Corn that's fully ripe is ready to be reaped. The Fields were now made white to the Harveſt. (1.) By the Decree of God reveal'd in the Prophecies of the Old Teſtament. Now was the Time when the Gathering of the People ſhould be to Chriſt, Gen. 44. 10. when great Acceſſions ſhould be made to the Church, and the Bounds of it ſhould be enlarg'd, and therefore 'twas Time for them to be buſy. 'Tis a great Encouragement to us to engage in any Work for God; if we underſtand by the Signs of the Times, that this is the proper Seaſon for that Work, for then it will proſper. (2.) By the Diſpoſition of Men. John Baptiſt had made ready a People prepared for the Lord, Luke 1. 17. Since he began to preach the Kingdom of God, every Man preſſed into it, Luke 16. 16. This therefore was a Time for the Preachers of the Goſpel to apply themſelves to their Work with the utmoſt Vigour; to thruſt in their Sickle, when the Harveſt was ripe, Rev. 14. 15. It was neceſſary to work now, pity ſuch a Seaſon ſhould be let ſlip. If the Corn that's ripe be not reaped, it will ſhed, and be loſt, and the Fowls will pick it up. If Souls that are under Convictions, and have ſome good Inclinations, be not help'd now, their hopeful Beginnings will come to nothing, and they will be a Prey to Pretenders: It was alſo eaſy to work now; when the Peoples Hearts are prepared, the Work will be done ſuddenly, 2 Chr. 29. 36. It cannot but quicken Miniſters to take Pains in preaching the Word, when they obſerve that People take Pleaſure in hearing it.

2. That it was profitable and advantageous Work, which they themſelves would be Gainers by; v. 36. He that reapeth, receiveth Wages, and ſo ſhall you. Chriſt has undertaken to pay thoſe well whom he employs in his Work; for he will never do as Jehoiakim did, that uſed his Neighbour's Service without Wages, Jer. 22. 13. or thoſe, who by Fraud kept back the Hire of thoſe particularly who reaped down their Corn-Fields, Jam. 5. 4. Chriſt's Reapers, tho' they cry to him Day and Night, ſhall never have cauſe to cry againſt him, nor to ſay they ſerv'd a hard Maſter. He that reapeth, not only ſhall receive Wages, but doth receive it. There is a preſent Reward in the Service of Chriſt, and his Work is its own Wages.

(1.) Chriſt's Reapers have Fruit; he gathereth Fruit unto Life Eternal, i. e. he ſhall both ſave himſelf and thoſe that hear him, 1 Tim. 4. 16. If the faithful Reaper ſave his own Soul, that's Fruit abounding to his Account, 'tis Fruit gather'd to Life Eternal. And if over and above this, he be inſtrumental to ſave the Souls of others too, there's Fruit gather'd: Souls gather'd to Chriſt are Fruit, good Fruit, the Fruit that Chriſt ſeeks for, Rom. 1. 13. 'tis gathered for Chriſt, Cant. 8. 11, 12. 'tis gathered to Life Eternal. This is the Comfort of faithful Miniſters, that their Work has a Tendency to the Eternal Salvation of precious Souls.

(2.) They have Joy; that he that ſows, and they that reap, may rejoice together. The Miniſter, who is the happy Inſtrument of beginning a good Work, is he that ſows, as John Baptiſt was; He that is employ'd to carry it on, and perfect it, is he that reaps, and both ſhall rejoice together. Note, 1. Tho' God is to have all the Glory of the Succeſs of the Goſpel, yet faithful Miniſters may themſelves take the Comfort of it. The Reapers ſhare in the Joy of Harveſt, tho' the Profits belong to the Maſter, 1 Theſ. 2. 19. 2. Thoſe Miniſters who are variouſly gifted and employed, ſhould be ſo far from envying one another, that they ſhould rather mutually rejoice in each other's Succeſs and Uſefulneſs. Tho' all Chriſt's Miniſters are not alike ſerviceable, nor alike ſucceſsful, yet if they have obtain'd Mercy of the Lord to be faithful, they ſhall all enter together into the Joy of their Lord at laſt.

3. That it was eaſy Work, and Work that was half done to their Hands by thoſe that were gone before them, v. 37, 38. One ſoweth and another reapeth. This ſometimes ſpeaks a grievous Judgment upon him that ſows, Mic. 6. 15. Deut. 28. 30. Thou ſhalt ſow and another ſhall reap; as Deut. 6. 11. Houſes full of all good Things which thou filledſt not. So here Moſes and the Prophets, and John Baptiſt had pav'd the Way to the Goſpel, had ſown the good Seed, which the New Teſtament Miniſters did in effect but gather the Fruit of. I ſent you to reap that whereon ye beſtowed, in compariſon, no Labour; Iſa. 40. 3, 4, 5.

This ſpeaks Two Things concerning the Old Teſtament Miniſtry. (1.) That it was very much ſhort of the New Teſtament Miniſtry. Moſes and the Prophets ſowed, but they could not be ſaid to reap, ſo little did they ſee of the Fruit of their Labours. Their Writings have done much more good ſince they left us, than ever their Preaching did. (2.) That it was very much ſerviceable to the New Teſtament Miniſtry, and made Way for it; the Writings of the Prophets, which were read in the Synagogues every Sabbath Day, rais'd Peoples Expectations of the Meſſiah, and ſo prepared them to bid him Welcome. Had it not been for the Seed ſown by the Prophets, this Samaritan Woman could not have ſaid, We know that the Meſſias cometh. The Writings of the Old Teſtament are, in ſome reſpect, more uſeful to us, than they could be to thoſe to whom they were firſt written, becauſe better underſtood by the Accompliſhment of them. See 1 Pet. 1. 12. Heb. 4. 2. Rom. 16. 25, 26.

This alſo ſpeaks Two Things concerning the Miniſtry of the Apoſtles of Chriſt. (1.) That it was a fruitful Miniſtry; they were Reapers that gathered in a great Harveſt of Souls to Jeſus Chriſt, and did more in Seven Years towards the ſetting up of the Kingdom of God among Men, than the Prophets of the Old Teſtament had done in twice ſo many Ages. (2.) That it was much facilitated, eſpecially among the Jews, to whom they were firſt ſent, by the Writings of the Prophets. The Prophets ſowed in Tears, crying out, We have laboured in vain; the Apoſtles reaped in Joy, ſaying, Thanks be to God who always cauſeth us to triumph. Note, From the Labours of Miniſters that are dead and gone, much good Fruit may be reaped by the People that ſurvive them, and the Miniſters that ſucceed them. John Baptiſt, and thoſe that aſſiſted him, had laboured, and the Diſciples of Chriſt enter'd into their Labours, built upon their Foundation, and reaped the Fruit of what they ſowed. See what Reaſon we have to bleſs God for thoſe that are gone before us, for their Preaching and their Writing; for what they did, and ſuffered in their Day, for we are entered into their Labours; their Studies and Services have made our Work the eaſier. And when the ancient and modern Labourers, thoſe that came into the Vineyard at the Third Hour, and thoſe that came in at the Eleventh, meet in the Day of Account, they will be ſo far from envying one another the Honour of their reſpective Services, that both they that ſowed, and they that reaped, ſhall rejoice together; and the great Lord of the Harveſt ſhall have the Glory of all.

Fourthly, The good Effect which this Viſit Chriſt made to the Samaritans (en paſſant) had upon them, and the Fruit which was now preſently gathered among them, v. 39—42. See what Impreſſions were made on them.

1. By the Woman's Teſtimony concerning Chriſt; tho' a ſingle Teſtimony, and of one of no good Report, and the Teſtimony no more but this, He told me all that ever I did; yet it had a good Influence upon many. One would have thought his telling the Woman of her ſecret Sins, ſhould have made them afraid of coming to him, leſt he ſhould tell them alſo of their Faults; but they will venture that, rather than not be acquainted with one that they had reaſon to think was a Prophet. And Two Things they were brought to.

1. To credit Chriſt's Word, v. 39. Many of the Samaritans of that City believed on him for the Saying of the Woman. So far they believed on him, that they took him for a Prophet, and were deſirous to know the Mind of God from him; this is favourably interpreted a believing on him. Now obſerve,

(1.) Who they were that believed; many of the Samaritans, who were not of the Houſe of Iſrael. Their Faith was not only an Aggravation of the Unbelief of the Jews, from whom better might have been expected, but an Earneſt of the Faith of the Gentiles, who would welcome that which the Jews rejected.

(2.) Upon what Inducement they believed; for the Saying of the Woman. See here, (1.) How God is ſometimes pleas'd to uſe very weak and unlikely Inſtruments for the beginning and carrying on of a good Work. A little Maid directed a great Prince to Eliſha, 2 Kings 5. 2. (3.) How great a Matter a little Fire kindles: Our Saviour, by inſtructing one poor Woman, ſpread Inſtruction to a whole Town. Let not Miniſters be either careleſs in their preaching, or diſcouraged in it, becauſe their Hearers are few and mean, for by doing good to them, good may be convey'd to more, and thoſe that are more conſiderable: If they teach every Man his Neighbour, and every Man his Brother, a great Number may learn at ſecond-hand. Philip preached the Goſpel to a ſingle Gentleman in his Chariot upon the Road, and he not only received it himſelf, but carry'd it into his Country, and propagated it there. (3.) See how good it is to ſpeak experimentally of Chriſt, and the things of God. This Woman could ſay little of Chriſt, but what ſhe did ſay, ſhe ſpoke feelingly: He told me all that ever I did. Thoſe that are moſt likely to do good, that can tell what God has done for their Souls, Pſal. 66. 16.

2. They were brought to court his Stay among them; v. 40. when they were come to him, they beſought him that he would tarry with them. Upon the Woman's Report they believ'd him to be a Prophet, and came to him; and when they ſaw him, the Meanneſs of his Appearance, and the manifeſt Poverty of his outward Condition, did not leſſen their Eſteem of him, and Ex-

Expectations from him, but ſtill they reſpected him as a Prophet. Note, There is Hopes of thoſe who are got over the vulgar Prejudices that Men have againſt true Worth in a low Eſtate. Bleſſed are they that are not offended in Chriſt at the firſt Sight. So far were they from being offended in him, that they begg'd he would tarry with them. (1.) That they might teſtify their Reſpects to him, and treat him with the Honour and Kindneſs due to his Character. God's Prophets and Miniſters are welcome Gueſts to all thoſe who ſincerely embrace the Goſpel; as to Lydia, Acts 16. 15. (2.) That they might receive Inſtruction from him. Thoſe that are taught of God, are truly deſirous to learn more, and to be better acquainted with Chriſt. Many would have flock'd to one that would tell them their Fortune, but theſe flock'd to one that would tell them their Faults; tell them of Sin and Duty. The Hiſtorian ſeems to lay an Emphaſis upon their being Samaritans, as Luke 10. 33. and 17. 16. The Samaritans had not that Reputation for Religion that the Jews had; yet the Jews, who ſaw Chriſt's Miracles, drove him from them, while the Samaritans, who ſaw not his Miracles, nor ſhar'd in his Favours, invited him to them. The Proof of the Goſpel's Succeſs, is not always according to the probability, nor what is experienc'd, according to what is expected either way. The Samaritans were taught by the Cuſtom of their Country, to be ſhy of Converſation with the Jews. There were Samaritans that refus'd to let Chriſt go through their Town, Luke 9. 52. Yet theſe begg'd him to tarry with them. Note, It adds much to the Praiſe of our Love to Chriſt and his Word, if it conquers the Prejudices of Education and Cuſtom, and ſets light by the Cenſures of Men.

Now we are told that Chriſt granted their Requeſt. (1.) He abode there. Tho' it was a City of the Samaritans, near adjoining to their Temple, yet when he was invited, he tarried there; tho' he was upon a Journey, and had further to go, yet when he had an Opportunity of doing good, he abode there. That's no real Hindrance which will further our Account. Yet he abode there but two Days, becauſe he had other Places to viſit, and other Work to do, and thoſe two Days were as many as came to the ſhare of this City, out of the few Days of our Saviour's ſojourning upon Earth.

2. We are told what Impreſſions were made upon them by Chriſt's own Word, and his perſonal Converſe with them, v. 41, 42. What he ſaid and did there, is not related; whether he healed their Sick or no; but it is intimated in the Effect, that he ſaid and did that which convinc'd them that he was the Chriſt; and the Labours of a Miniſter are beſt told by the good Fruit of them. Their hearing of him, had a good Effect, but now their Eyes ſee him; and the Effect of that was,

1. That their Number grew, v. 41. Many more believed: Many that would not be perſuaded to go out of the Town to him, yet, when he came among them, were wrought upon to believe in him. Note, It is comfortable to ſee the Number of Believers; and ſometimes the Zeal and Forwardneſs of ſome, may be a means to provoke many, and to ſtir them up to a holy Emulation, Rom. 11. 14.

2. That their Faith grew. Thoſe who had been wrought upon by the Report of the Woman, now ſaw cauſe to ſay, Now we believe, not for thy ſaying, v. 42.

Here are Three Things in which their Faith grew.

1. In the Matter of it, or that which they did believe. Upon the Teſtimony of the Woman, they believ'd him to be a Prophet, or ſome extraordinary Meſſenger from Heaven, but now they have convers'd with him, they believe that he is the Chriſt, the Anointed one, the very ſame that was promis'd to the Fathers, and expected by them; and that being the Chriſt, he is the Saviour of the World; for that was the Work to which he was anointed, to ſave his People from their Sins. They believed him to be the Saviour, not only of the Jews, but of the World, which they hoped would take them in, tho' Samaritans, for it was promis'd that he ſhould be Salvation to the Ends of the Earth, Iſa. 49. 6.

2. In the Certainty of it; their Faith now grew up to a full Aſſurance; we know that this is indeed the Chriſt; ἀληθῶς; not a pretended Chriſt, but a real one; not a typical Saviour, as many under the Old Teſtament, but truly one. Such an Aſſurance as this of Divine Truths, is what we ſhould labour after; not only we think it probable, and are willing to ſuppoſe, that Jeſus may be the Chriſt, but we know that he is indeed the Chriſt.

3. In the Ground of it, which was a kind of ſpiritual Senſation and Experience: Now we believe, not becauſe of thy Sayings, for we have heard him ourſelves. They had before believ'd for her ſaying, and it was well, 'twas a good ſtep; but now they find further, and much firmer footing for their Faith; now we believe, becauſe we have heard him ourſelves, and have heard ſuch excellent and divine Truths, accompanied with ſuch commanding Power and Evidence, that we are abundantly ſatisfied and aſſured that this is the Chriſt. This is like what the Queen of Sheba ſaid of Solomon, 1 Kings 10. 6, 7. The one half was not told me. Theſe Samaritans, who believ'd for the Woman's ſaying, now gained further Light, for to him that hath, ſhall be given: He that is faithful in a little, ſhall be truſted with more.

In this Inſtance, we may ſee how Faith comes by hearing. (1.) Faith comes to the Birth by hearing the Report of Men. Theſe Samaritans, for the ſake of the Woman's Saying, believ'd ſo far as to come and ſee, to come and make Tryal. Thus the Inſtructions of Parents and Preachers, and the Teſtimony of the Church, and our experienced Neighbours, recommend the Doctrine of Chriſt to our Acquaintance, and incline us to entertain it as highly probable. But, (2.) Faith comes to its Growth, Strength, and Maturity, by hearing the Teſtimony of Chriſt himſelf; and this goes further, and recommends his Doctrine to our Acceptance, and obligeth us to believe it as undoubtedly certain. We are induced to look into the Scripture, by the Saying of thoſe who told us, that in them they had found eternal Life; but when we ourſelves find it in them too, have experienced the enlightning, convincing, regenerating, ſanctifying, comforting Power of the Word, now we believe, not for their ſaying, but becauſe we have ſearched them ourſelves. And, our Faith ſtands not in the Wiſdom of Men, but in the Power of God, 1 Cor. 2. 5. 1 Joh. 5. 9, 10.

Thus was the Seed of the Goſpel ſown in Samaria; what Effect there was of this afterward, doth not appear; but we find that Four or Five Years after, when Philip preached the Goſpel in Samaria, he found ſuch bleſſed Remains of this good Work now wrought, that the People with one accord gave heed to thoſe Things which Philip ſpoke, Acts 8. 5, 6, 8. But as ſome were pliable to Good, ſo were others to Evil, whom Simon Magus bewitch'd with his Sorceries, v. 9, 10.

43 ¶ Now after two days he departed thence, and went into Galilee: 44 For Jeſus himſelf teſtified, that a prophet hath no honour in his own country. 45
Then when he was come into Galilee, the Galileans received him, having ſeen all the things that he did at Jeruſalem at the feaſt: for they alſo went unto the feaſt. 46 So Jeſus came again into Cana of Galilee, where he made the water wine. And there was a certain noble man, whoſe ſon was ſick at Capernaum.
47 When he heard that Jeſus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went unto him, and beſought him that he would come down, and heal his ſon: for he was at the point of death. 48 Then ſaid Jeſus unto him, Except ye ſee ſigns and wonders, ye will not believe. 49 The nobleman ſaith unto him, Sir, come down e'er my child die. 50 Jeſus ſaith unto him, Go thy way: thy ſon liveth. And the man believed the word that Jeſus had ſpoken unto him, and he went his way. 51 And as he was now going down, his ſervants met him, and told him, ſaying, Thy ſon liveth. 52 Then enquired he of them the hour, when he began to amend: and they ſaid unto him, Yeſterday at the ſeventh hour the fever left him. 53 So the father knew that it was at the ſame hour, in the which Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thy ſon liveth; and himſelf believed, and his whole houſe. 54 This is again the ſecond miracle that Jeſus did, when he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's coming into Galilee, v. 43. Tho' he was as welcome among the Samaritans as he could be any where, and had better Succeſs; yet after Two Days he left them; not ſo much becauſe they were Samaritans, and he would not confirm thoſe in their Prejudices againſt them, who ſaid, He is a Samaritan, (John 8. 48.) but becauſe he muſt preach to other Cities, (Luke 4. 43.) He went into Galilee, for there he ſpent much of his Time. Now ſee here,

1. Whither Chriſt went, into Galilee, into the Country of Galilee, but not to Nazareth, which was ſtrictly his own Country; he went among the Villages, but declin'd going to Nazareth, the head City, for a Reaſon here given, which Jeſus himſelf teſtify'd, who knew the Temper of his Country-men, the Hearts of all Men, and the Experiences of all Prophets; and it is this, That a Prophet has no Honour in his own Country. Note, (1.) Prophets ought to have Honour, becauſe God has put Honour upon them, and we do or may receive Benefit by them. (2.) The Honour due to the Lord's Prophets; has very often been deny'd them, and Contempt put upon them. (3.) This due Honour is moſt frequently deny'd them in their own Country; ſee Luke 4. 24. Mat. 13. 57. not that it is univerſally true; no Rule but hath ſome Exceptions, but it holds for the moſt part. Joſeph, when he began to be a Prophet, was moſt hated by his Brethren; David diſdain'd by his Brother, 1 Sam. 17. 28. Jeremiah malign'd by the Men of Anathoth, Jer. 11. 21. Paul by his Country-men the Jews; and Chriſt's near Kinſmen ſpoke moſt ſlightly of him, John 7. 5. Mens Pride and Envy makes them ſcorn to be inſtructed by thoſe, that when Time was, were their School-fellows, and Play-fellows. Deſire of Novelty, and of that which is far fetched, and dear bought, and ſeems to drop out of the Sky to them, makes them deſpiſe thoſe Perſons and Things which they have been long uſed to, and know the Riſe of. (4.) It is a great Diſcouragement to a Miniſter, to go among a People that have no Value for him or his Labours. Chriſt would not go to Nazareth, becauſe he knew how little Reſpect he ſhould have there. (5.) It's juſt with God to deny his Goſpel to thoſe that deſpiſe the Miniſters of it. They that mock the Meſſengers, forfeit the Benefit of the Meſſage, Mat. 21. 35, 41.

2. What Entertainment he met with among the Galileans in the Country, v. 45. They received him, bid him Welcome, and chearfully attended on his Doctrine. Chriſt and his Goſpel are not ſent in vain; if they have not Honour with ſome, they ſhall have with others. Now the Reaſon given why theſe Galileans were ſo ready to receive Chriſt, is becauſe they had ſeen the Miracles he did at Jeruſalem, v. 45. Obſerve, (1.) They went up to Jeruſalem at the Feaſt, the Feaſt of the Paſſover. The Galileans lay very remote from Jeruſalem, and their way thither lay through the Country of the Samaritans, which was troubleſome for a Jew to paſs through, worſe than Baca's Valley of old; yet in Obedience to God's Command, they went up to the Feaſt, and there they became acquainted with Chriſt. Note, They that are diligent and conſtant in attending on publick Ordinances, ſome time or other meet with more ſpiritual Benefit than they expect. (2.) At Jeruſalem they ſaw Chriſt's Miracles, which recommended him and his Doctrine very much to their Faith, and Affections. The Miracles were wrought for the Benefit of them at Jeruſalem, yet the Galileans, who were accidentally there, got more Advantage by them, than they did for whom they were chiefly deſigned. Thus the Word preach'd to a mix'd Multitude, may perhaps edify occaſional Hearers more than the conſtant Auditory.

3. What City he went to when he would go to a City; he choſe to go to Cana of Galilee, where he had made the Water Wine, v. 46. thither he went to ſee if there were any good Fruits of that Miracle remaining; and if there were, to confirm their Faith, and to water what he had planted. The Evangeliſt mentions this Miracle here, to teach us to keep in remembrance what we have ſeen of the Works of Chriſt.

Secondly, His curing of the Nobleman's Son that was ſick of a Fever. This Story is not recorded by any other of the Evangeliſts; it comes in Mat. 4. 23.

Obſerve, 1. Who the Petitioner was, and who the Patient; the Petitioner was a Nobleman, the Patient was his Son: There was a certain Nobleman. Regulus, ſo the Latin, a little King; ſo call'd, either for the Largeneſs of his Eſtate, or the Extent of his Power, or the Royalties that belong'd to his Manor. Some underſtand it as ſpeaking his Preferment, he was a Courtier, in ſome Office about the King; others as ſpeaking his Party, he was an Herodian, a Royaliſt, a Prerogative Man, one that eſpous'd the Intereſt of the Herods, Father and Son; perhaps it was Chuza, Herod's Steward, Luke 8. 3. or Manaon, Herod's forſter Brother, Acts 13. 1. There were Saints in Caſar's Houſhold. The Father a Nobleman, and yet the Son ſick; for Dignities, and Titles of Honour, will be no Security to Perſons and Families from the Aſſaults of Sickneſs and Death. 'Twas Fifteen Miles from Capernaum where this Nobleman liv'd, to Cana, where Chriſt now was, yet this Affliction in his Family ſent him ſo far to Chriſt.

2. How the Petitioner made his Application to the Phyſician. Having heard that Jeſus was come out of Judea to Galilee, and finding that he did not come towards Capernaum, but turned off towards the other ſide of the Country, he went to him himſelf, and beſought him to come heal his Son, v. 47. See here, (1.) His tender Affection to his Son, that when he was ſick he would ſpare no Pains to get help for him. (2.) His great Reſpect to our Lord Jeſus; that he would come himſelf to wait upon him, when he might have ſent a Servant; and that he beſought him, when as a Man in Authority, ſome would think, he might have order'd his Attendance. The greateſt Men, when they come to God, muſt become Beggars, and ſue ſub forma pauperis.

As to the Errand he came upon, we may obſerve a Mixture in his Faith. (1.) There was Sincerity in it, he did believe that Chriſt could heal his Son, tho' his Diſeaſe was dangerous. 'Tis likely he had Phyſicians to him, who had given him over, but he believ'd that Chriſt could cure him when the Caſe ſeemed deplorable. (2.) Yet there was Infirmity in his Faith, he believ'd that Chriſt could heal his Son, but as it ſhould ſeem, he thought he could not heal him at a diſtance, and therefore he beſought him that he would come down and heal him, expecting, as Naaman did, that he will come and ſtrike his Hand over the Patient, as if he could not cure him but by a Phyſical Contact. Thus are we apt to limit the Holy One of Iſrael, and to ſtint him to our Forms. The Centurion, a Gentile, a Soldier, was ſo ſtrong in Faith, as to ſay, Lord, I am not worthy that thou ſhould'ſt come under my Roof, Mat. 8. 8. This Nobleman, a Jew, muſt have Chriſt to come down, tho' it was a good Day's Journey, and deſpairs of a Cure unleſs he come down, as if he muſt teach Chriſt how to work. We are encouraged to pray, but we are not allow'd to preſcribe; Lord heal me, but whether with a Word, or a Touch, Thy Will be done.

3. The gentle Rebuke he met with in this Addreſs; v. 48. Jeſus ſaid unto him, I ſee how it is, Except ye ſee Signs and Wonders, ye will not believe, as the Samaritans did, tho' they ſaw no Signs and Wonders, and therefore I muſt work Miracles among you. Tho' he was a Nobleman, and now in Grief about his Son, and had ſhew'd great Reſpect to Chriſt in coming ſo far to him, yet Chriſt gives him a Reproof; Men's Dignity in the World ſhall not exempt them from the Rebukes of the Word or Providence; for Chriſt reproves not after the hearing of his Ears, but with Equity, Iſa. 11. 3. Obſerve, Chriſt firſt ſhews him his Sin and Weakneſs, to prepare him for Mercy, and then grants him his Requeſt. Chriſt humbles thoſe firſt with his Frowns, whom he intends to honour with his Favours. The Comforter ſhall firſt convince. Herod long'd to ſee ſome Miracle, Luke 23. 8. and this Courtier was of the ſame mind, and the generality of the People too.

Now that which is blamed, is, (1.) That whereas they had heard by credible and unconteſtable Report of the Miracles he had wrought in other Places, they would not believe except they ſaw them with their own Eyes, Luke 4. 23. they muſt be honoured, and they muſt be humour'd, or they will not be convinced. Their Country muſt be graced, and their Curioſity gratified with Signs and Wonders, or elſe, tho' the Doctrine of Chriſt be ſufficiently prov'd by Miracles wrought elſewhere, they will not believe; like Thomas, they will yield to no Method of Conviction, but what they ſhall preſcribe. (2.) That whereas they had ſeen divers Miracles which they could not gainſay the Evidence of, but which ſufficiently prove Chriſt a Teacher come from God, and ſhould now have applied themſelves to him for Inſtruction in his Doctrine, which by its native Excellency would have gently led them on in believing to a ſpiritual Perfection; inſtead of this, they would go no further in believing, than they were driven by Signs and Wonders. The ſpiritual Power of the Word did not affect them, did not attract them, but only the ſenſible Power of Miracles, which were for them who believe not, but Propheſying for them that believe, 1 Cor. 14. 22. Thoſe that admire Miracles only, and deſpiſe Propheſying, rank themſelves with Unbelievers.

4. His continued Importunity in his Addreſs, v. 49. Sir, come down e'er my Child die, Κύριε, Lord, ſo it ſhould be rendered. In this Reply of his we have,

1. Something that was commendable; he took the Reproof patiently, he ſpoke to Chriſt reſpectfully; tho' he was one of thoſe that wore ſoft Cloathing, yet he could bear his Reproof. 'Tis none of the Privileges of Peerage to be above the Reproofs of the Word of Chriſt; but it is a Sign of a good Temper and Diſpoſition in Men, eſpecially in great Men, when they can be told of their Faults and not be angry. And as he did not take the Reproof for an Affront, ſo he did not take it for a Denial, but ſtill proſecuted his Requeſt, and continued to wreſtle till he prevailed. Nay, he might argue this, If Chriſt heal my Soul, ſure he will heal my Son; if he cure my Unbelief, he will cure his Fever. This is the Method Chriſt takes, firſt to work upon us, and then to work for us; and there's hopes, if we find him entring upon his Method.

2. Here's ſomething that was Blame-worthy; that was his Infirmity: for, 1. He ſeems to take no Notice of the Reproof Chriſt gave him, ſaith nothing to it, either by way of Confeſſion, or Excuſe, for he is ſo wholly taken up with Concern about his Child, that he can mind nothing elſe. Note, The Sorrow of the World is a great Prejudice to our profiting by the Word of Chriſt: Inordinate Care and Grief are Thorns that choke the good Seed; ſee Exod. 6. 9. 2. He ſtill diſcovered the Weakneſs of his Faith in the Power of Chriſt. (1.) He muſt have Chriſt to come down, thinking, elſe he could do the Child no Kindneſs. It's hard to perſuade ourſelves, that Diſtance of Time and Place are no Obſtructions to the Knowledge and Power of our Lord Jeſus; yet ſo it is, he ſees afar off, for his Eyes run to and fro; and he acts afar off, for his Word, the Word of his Power, runs very ſwiftly. (2.) He believes Chriſt could heal a ſick Child, but not that he could raiſe a dead Child, and therefore, O come down e'er my Child die; as if then it would be too late; whereas Chriſt has the ſame Power over Death, that he has over bodily Diſeaſes. He forgot that Elijah and Eliſha had rais'd dead Children, and is Chriſt's Power inferior to theirs? Obſerve what haſte he is in; Come down e'er my Child die; as if there were danger of Chriſt's ſlipping his Time. He that believeth, doth not make haſte, but refers himſelf to Chriſt; Lord, what, and when, and how thou pleaſeſt.

Fifthly, The Anſwer of Peace which Chriſt gave to his Requeſt at laſt, v. 50. Go thy way, thy Son liveth. Chriſt here give us an Inſtance,

1. Of his Power; that he not only could heal, but could heal with ſo much Eaſe, without the Trouble of a Viſit. Here's nothing ſaid, nothing done, nothing order'd to be done, and yet the Cure wrought; thy Son liveth. The healing Beams of the Sun of Righteouſneſs diſpenſe benign Influences from one end of Heaven to another, and there is nothing hid from the Heat thereof. Tho' Chriſt is now in Heaven, and his Church on Earth, he can ſend from above. This Nobleman would have Chriſt come down and heal his Son, Chriſt will heal his Son and not go down; and thus the Cure is the ſooner wrought, and the Nobleman's Miſtakes rectify'd, and his Faith confirm'd: ſo that the Thing was better done in Chriſt's way. When he denies what we aſk, he gives what is much more to our Advantage; we aſk for Eaſe, he gives Patience. Obſerve, His Power was exerted by his Word: In ſaying, thy Son lives, he ſhew'd that he has Life in himſelf, and Power to quicken whom he will. Chriſt's ſaying thy Soul lives, makes it alive.

2. Of his Pity; he obſerv'd the Nobleman to be in Pain about his Son, and his natural Affection diſcover'd itſelf in that Word, e'er my Child, my dear Child die; and therefore Chriſt drop'd the Reproof, and gave him aſſurance of the Recovery of his Child; for he knows how a Father pities his Children.

Sixthly, The Nobleman's Belief of the Word of Chriſt; he believed, and went away. Tho' Chriſt did not gratify him ſo far, as to go down with him, he is ſatisfy'd with the Method Chriſt took, and reckons he has gained his Point. How quickly, how eaſily is that which is lacking in our Faith, perfected by the Word and Power of Chriſt! Now he ſees no Sign or Wonder, and yet believes the Wonder done.

1. Chriſt ſaid, Thy Son liveth, and the Man believ'd him; not only believ'd the Omniſcience of Chriſt, that he knew the Child recover'd, but the Omnipotence of Chriſt, that the Cure was effected by his Word. He left him dying, yet when Chriſt ſaid, he lives, like the Father of the Faithful, againſt Hope he believ'd in Hope, and ſtagger'd not through Unbelief.

2. Chriſt ſaid, Go thy Way, and as an Evidence of the Sincerity of his Faith, he went his Way, and gave neither Chriſt nor himſelf any further Diſturbance. He did not preſs Chriſt to come down, did not ſay, if he do recover, yet a Viſit will be acceptable; no, he ſeems no further ſollicitous, but like Hannah, he goes his way, and his Countenance is no more ſad. As one intirely ſatisfied, he made no great haſte home; did not hurry home that Night, but return'd leiſurely, as one that was perfectly eaſy in his own Mind.

1. His Servants met him with the agreeable News of the Child's Recovery, v. 51. Probably they met him not far from his own Houſe, and knowing what their Maſter's Cares were, they were willing as ſoon as they could to make him eaſy. David's Servants were loth to tell him when the Child was dead. Chriſt ſaid, Thy Son liveth, and now the Servants ſay the ſame. Good News will meet thoſe that hope in God's Word.

2. He enquired what Hour the Child began to recover, v. 52. not as if he doubted the Influence of Chriſt's Word upon the Child's Recovery, but he was deſirous to have his Faith confirm'd, and might be able to ſatisfy any to whom he ſhould relate it; for it was a material Circumſtance. Note, 1. It is good to furniſh ourſelves with all the corroborating Proofs and Evidences that may be, to ſtrengthen our Faith in the Word of Chriſt, that it may grow up to a full Aſſurance; ſhow me a Token for good. 2. The diligent comparing of the Works of Chriſt with his Word, will be of great uſe to us for the confirming of our Faith. That was the Courſe this Nobleman took; He enquired of the Servants the Hour when he began to amend, and they told him, Yeſterday at the ſeventh Hour, (at One a-clock in the Afternoon, or, as ſome think this Evangeliſt reckons, at Seven a-clock at Night) the Fever left him; not only he began to amend, but he was perfectly well on a ſudden; ſo the Father knew that it was at the ſame Hour, when Jeſus ſaid to him, Thy Son liveth. As the Word of God well ſtudied, will help us to underſtand his Providences, ſo the Providence of God well obſerv'd will help us to underſtand his Word, for God is every day fulfilling the Scripture. Two Things would help to confirm his Faith. 1. That the Child's Recovery was ſudden, and not gradual. They name the preciſe Time to an Hour, Yeſterday, not about, but at the ſeventh Hour the Fever left him; not it abated, or began to decreaſe, but left him in an inſtant. The Word of Chriſt did not work like Phyſick, which muſt have Time to operate, and produce the Effect, and perhaps cures by Expectation only; no, with Chriſt it was dictum, factum, he ſpake and it was done; not, he ſpake and it was ſet a doing. 2. That it was juſt at the ſame Time that Chriſt ſpoke to him. At that very Hour. The Synchroniſms and Co-incidences of Events, add very much to the Beauty and Harmony of Providence. Obſerve the Time, and the Thing itſelf will be more illuſtrious, for every Thing is beautiful in its Time; at the very Time when 'tis promiſed, as Iſrael's Deliverance, Exod. 12. 41. at the very Time when 'tis pray'd for, as Peter's Deliverance. Acts 12. 12. In Mens Works, Diſtance of Place is the delay of Time, and the retarding of Buſineſs; but it is not ſo in the Works of Chriſt. The Pardon, and Peace, and Comfort, and ſpiritual Healing, which he ſpeaks in Heaven, is, if he pleaſes, at the ſame Time effected and wrought in the Souls of Believers; and when theſe Two come to be compar'd in the great Day, Chriſt will be glorified in his Saints, and admir'd in all them that believe.

Eighthly, The happy Effect and Iſſue of this. The bringing of the Cure to the Family, brought Salvation to it.

1. The Nobleman himſelf believ'd. He had before believed the Word of Chriſt with reference to this particular Occaſion, but now he believed in Chriſt as the Meſſiah promis'd, and became one of his Diſciples. Thus the particular Experience of the Power and Efficacy of one Word of Chriſt, may be a happy Means to introduce and ſettle the whole Authority of Chriſt's Dominion in the Soul. Chriſt has many ways of gaining the Heart, and by the Grant of a temporal Mercy, may make way for better Things.

2. His whole Houſe believed likewiſe. (1.) Becauſe of the Intereſt they all had in the Miracle, which preſerv'd the Bloſſom and Hopes of the Family; this affected them all, and endear'd Chriſt to them, and recommended him to their beſt Thoughts. (2.) Becauſe of the Influence the Maſter of the Family had upon them all. A Maſter of a Family cannot give Faith to thoſe under his Charge, nor force them to believe, but he may be inſtrumental to remove external Prejudices which obſtruct the Operation of the Evidence, and then the Work is more than half done. Abraham was famous for this, Gen. 18. 19. and Joſhua, ch. 24. 15. This was a Nobleman, and probably had a great Houſhold, but when he comes into Chriſt's School, he brings them all along with him. What a bleſſed Change was here in this Houſe, occaſioned by the Sickneſs of the Child; this ſhould reconcile us to Afflictions, we know not what Good may follow from them. Probably the Converſion of this Nobleman, and his Family at Capernaum, might invite Chriſt to come afterward and ſettle at Capernaum as his head Quarters in Galilee. When great Men receive the Goſpel, they may be inſtrumental to bring it to the Places where they live.

Laſtly, Here is the Evangeliſt's Remark upon this Cure, v. 54. This is the ſecond Miracle; referring to Chap. 2. 11. where the turning Water into Wine is ſaid to be the Firſt; that was ſoon after his firſt return out of Judea, this ſoon after his ſecond. In Judea he had wrought many Miracles, Chap. 3. 2. and 4. 45. they had the firſt Offer, but being driven thence, he wrought Miracles in Galilee: Somewhere or other Chriſt will find a Welcome. People may if they pleaſe ſhut the Sun out of their own Houſes, but cannot ſhut it out of the World. This is noted to be the ſecond Miracle, (1.) To remind us of the firſt wrought in the ſame Place ſome Months before. Freſh Mercies ſhould revive the Remembrance of former Mercies, as former Mercies ſhould encourage our Hopes of further Mercies. Chriſt keeps account of his Favours, whether we do or no. (2.) To let us know that this Cure was before thoſe many Cures which the other Evangeliſts mention to be wrought in Galilee, Mat. 4. 23. Mark. 1. 34. Luke 4. 40. Probably this Cure, the Patient being a Perſon of Quality, was the more talked of for that reaſon, and ſent him Crowds of Patients; when this Nobleman apply'd himſelf to Chriſt, Multitudes follow'd. What abundance of Good may great Men do, if they be good Men!

CHAP. V.

We have in the Goſpels a faithful Record of all that Jeſus began both to do and to teach, Acts 1. 1. Theſe Two are interwoven, becauſe what he taught explained what he did, and what he did confirm'd what he taught. Accordingly, we have in this Chapter a Miracle and a Sermon. (1.) The Miracle was the Cure of an impotent Man that had been diſeaſed Thirty-eight Years, with the Circumſtances of that Cure, v. 1—16. (2.) The Sermon was Chriſt's Vindication of himſelf before the Sanhedrin, when he was proſecuted as a Criminal for healing the Man on the Sabbath-Day: In which, (1.) He aſſerts his Authority as Meſſiah, and Mediator between God and Man, v. 17—29. (2.) He proves it by the Teſtimony of his Father, of John Baptiſt, of his Miracles, and of the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, and condemns the Jews for their Unbelief, v. 30—47.

AFter this there was a feaſt of the Jews, and Je-ſus went up to Jeruſalem. 2 Now there is at Jeruſalem by the ſheep-market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue, Betheſda, having five porches. 3 In theſe lay a great multitude of impotent folk, of blind, halt, withered, waiting for the moving of the water. 4 For an angel went down at a certain ſeaſon into the pool, and troubled the water:
whoſoever then firſt after the troubling of the water ſtepped in, was made whole of whatſoever diſeaſe he had. 5 And a certain man was there which had an infirmity thirty and eight years. 6 When Jeſus ſaw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long time in that caſe, he ſaith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole? 7 The impotent man anſwered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another ſteppeth down before me. 8 Jeſus ſaith unto him, Riſe, take up thy bed and walk. 9 And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed and walked: and on the ſame day was the ſabbath.
10 ¶ The Jews therefore ſaid unto him that was cured,
It is the ſabbath-day; it is not lawful for thee to carry thy bed. 11 He anſwered them, He that made me whole, the ſame ſaid unto me, Take up thy bed and walk. 12 Then ask'd they him, What Man is that which ſaid unto thee, take up thy bed and walk? 13 And he that was healed, wiſt not who it was: for Jeſus had conveyed himſelf away, a multitude being in that place. 14 After Jeſus findeth him in the temple, and ſaid unto him, Behold thou art made whole: ſin no more, leſt a worſe thing come unto thee. 15 The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jeſus which had made him whole. 16 And therefore did the Jews perſecute Jeſus, and ſought to ſlay him, becauſe he had done theſe things on the ſabbath-day.

This miraculous Cure is not recorded by any other of the Evangeliſts, who confine themſelves moſtly to the Miracles wrought in Galilee, but John relates thoſe wrought at Jeruſalem. Concerning this obſerve, Firſt, The Time when this Cure was wrought; it was at a Feaſt of the Jews, i. e. the Paſſover, for that was the moſt celebrated Feaſt. Chriſt, tho' reſiding in Galilee, yet went up to Jeruſalem, at the Feaſt, v. 1.

1. Becauſe it was an Ordinance of God, which as a Subject he would obſerve, being made under the Law; tho' as a Son, he might have pleaded an Exemption. Thus he would teach us to attend Religious Aſſemblies, Heb. 10.25.

2. Becauſe it was an Opportunity of Good; for, (1.) There was great Numbers gathered together there at that Time; 'twas a general Rendezvous at leaſt of all ſerious, thinking People from all Parts of the Country, beſides Proſelytes from other Nations: And Wiſdom muſt cry in the Places of Concourſe, Prov. 1.21. (2.) It was to be hoped that they were in a good Frame, for they came together to worſhip God, and to ſpend their Time in religious Exerciſes. Now a Mind inclined to Devotion, and ſequeſtring itſelf to the Exerciſes of Piety, lies very open to the further Diſcoveries of divine Light and Love, and to it Chriſt will be acceptable.

Secondly, The Place where this Cure was wrought; at the Pool of Betheſda, which had a miraculous healing Virtue in it, and is here particularly deſcribed, v. 2,3,4.

1. Where it was ſituated; At Jeruſalem by the Sheep-Market; ἐπὶ τῇ προβατικῇ; it might as well be rendered, The Sheep-Cote, where the Sheep were kept; or the Sheep-Gate, which we read of, Neh. 3. 1. through which the Sheep were brought; as the Sheep-Market, where they were ſold. Some think it was near the Temple, and if ſo, it yielded a melancholy but profitable Spectacle to thoſe that went up to the Temple to pray.

2. How it was called; it was a Pool, (a Pond, or Bath) which is called in Hebrew, Betheſda: The Houſe of Mercy; for therein appeared much of the Mercy of God to the Sick and Diſeaſed. In a World of ſo much Miſery as this is, 'tis well there are ſome Betheſdas, Houſes of Mercy, Remedies againſt theſe Maladies, that the Scene is not all Melancholy. An Alms-Houſe, ſo Dr. Hammond. Dr. Lightfoot's Conjecture is, that this was the upper Pool, Iſa. 7.3. and the old Pool, Iſa. 22.11. That it had been uſed for waſhing from ceremonial Pollutions, for Convenience of which the Porches were built to dreſs and undreſs in, but was lately become Medicinal.

3. How it was fitted up; it had five Porches, Cloyſters, or Piazzas, or roofed Walks in which the Sick lay. Thus the Charity of Men concurred with the Mercy of God for the Relief of the diſtreſſed. Nature has provided Remedies, but Men muſt provide Hoſpitals.

4. How it was frequented with Sick and Cripples; v. 3. In theſe lay a great Multitude of Impotent Folk. How many are the Afflictions of the afflicted in this World? How full of Complaints are all Places, and what Multitudes of impotent Folk? It may do us good to viſit the Hoſpitals ſometimes, that we may take occaſion from the Calamities of others, to thank God for our Comforts. The Evangeliſt inſtances in three Sorts of diſeaſed People that lay here, Blind, Halt, and Withered, or Sinew-ſhrunk, either in one particular Part, as the Man with the withered Hand, or all over Paralytick. Theſe are mentioned, becauſe being leaſt able to help themſelves into the Water, they lay longeſt waiting in the Porches. Thoſe that were ſick of theſe bodily Diſeaſes, took the Pains to come far, and had the Patience to wait long for a Cure; any of us would have done the ſame, and we ought to do ſo: but O! that Men were as wiſe for their Souls, and as ſolicitous to get their ſpiritual Diſeaſes healed. We are all by Nature impotent Folk in ſpiritual Things, Blind, Halt, and Withered, but effectual Proviſion is made for our Cure, if we will but obſerve Orders.

5. What Virtue it had for the Cure of theſe impotent Folk; v. 4. An Angel went down, and troubled the Water; and whoſo firſt ſtept in, was made whole. That this ſtrange Virtue in the Pool, was natural or artificial rather, and was the effect of the waſhing of the Sacrifices, which impregnated the Water with I know not what healing Virtue, even for blind People; and that this Angel was a Meſſenger, a common Perſon ſent down to ſtir the Water, is altogether groundleſs; there was a Room in the Temple on purpoſe to waſh the Sacrifices in. Expoſitors generally agree, that the Virtue this Pool had, was ſupernatural. 'Tis true, the Jewiſh Writers, who do not uſe to be ſparing in recounting the Praiſes of Jeruſalem, do none of them make the leaſt mention of this healing Pool; of which Silence in this Matter, perhaps this was the Reaſon, that it was taken for a Preſage of the near Approach of the Meſſiah; and therefore, they who deny'd him to be come, induſtriouſly conceal'd ſuch an Indication of his coming; ſo that this here is all the Account we have of it. Obſerve,

1. The Preparation of the Medicine by an Angel, who went down into the Pool, and ſtirred the Water. Angels are God's Servants, and Friends to Mankind; and perhaps are more active in the removing of Diſeaſes, as evil Angels in the inflicting of them, than we are aware of. Raphael, the Apocryphal Name of an Angel, ſignifies, Medicina Dei, God's Phyſick, or Phyſician rather: See what mean Offices the holy Angels condeſcend to, for the Good of Men! If we would do the Will of God as the Angels do it, we muſt think nothing below us but Sin. The troubling of the Water, was the Signal given of the Deſcent of the Angel; as the going upon the Top of the Mulberry Trees was to David, and then they muſt beſtir themſelves. The Waters of the Sanctuary are then healing, when they are put in Motion. Miniſters muſt ſtir up the Gift that is in them: When they are cold and dull in their Miniſtrations, the Waters ſettle, and are not apt to heal. The Angel deſcended to ſtir the Water, not daily, perhaps not frequently, but at a certain Seaſon; ſome think at the Three ſolemn Feaſts, to grace thoſe Solemnities; or, now and then, as infinite Wiſdom thought fit: God is a free Agent, in diſpenſing his Favours.

2. The Operation of the Medicine; Whoever firſt ſtept in, was made whole. Here's, (1.) A miraculous Extent of the Virtue, as to the Diſeaſes cur'd; what Diſeaſe ſoever it was, this Water cured it. Natural and artificial Baths are as hurtful in ſome Caſes, as they are uſeful in others; but this was a Remedy for every Malady, even for thoſe that came from contrary Cauſes. The Power of Miracles ſucceeds, where the Power of Nature ſuccumbs. (2.) A miraculous Limitation of the Virtue, as to the Perſons cur'd; he that firſt ſtept in, had the Benefit, i. e. he, or they that ſtept in preſently, were cured, not thoſe that lingred and came in after. This teaches us to obſerve and improve our Opportunities, and to look about us, that we ſlip not a Seaſon which may never return. The Angel ſtir'd the Waters, but left the Diſeaſed to themſelves to get in. God has put Virtue into the Scriptures and Ordinances, for he would have heal'd us; but if we do not make a due Improvement of them, 'tis our own Fault, we would not be healed.

Now this is all the Account we have of this ſtanding Miracle; 'tis uncertain when it began, and when it ceas'd. Some conjecture it began when Eliaſhib, the High-Prieſt, began the building of the Wall about Jeruſalem, and ſanctified it with Prayer; and that God teſtified his Acceptance, by putting this Virtue into the adjoining Pool. Some think it began now lately, at Chriſt's Birth; nay, others at his Baptiſm. Dr. Lightfoot finding in Joſephus Antiqu. l. 15. c. 7. mention of a great Earthquake in the ſeventh Year of Herod, thirty Years before Chriſt's Birth, ſuppoſed, that ſince there uſed to be Earthquakes at the Deſcent of Angels, that then the Angel firſt deſcended to ſtir this Water. Some think it ceaſed with this Miracle, others at Chriſt's Death; however, 'tis certain it had a gracious Signification.

1. It was a Token of God's good Will to that People, and an Indication, that tho' they had been long without Prophets and Miracles, yet God had not caſt them off; tho' they were now an oppreſſed, deſpiſed People, and many were ready to ſay, Where are all the Wonders that our Fathers told us of? God did hereby let them know, that he had ſtill a Kindneſs for the City of their Solemnities.

We may from hence take occaſion to acknowledge with Thankfulneſs, God's Power and Goodneſs in the Mineral Waters, that contribute ſo much to the Health of Mankind, for God made the Fountains of Water, Rev. 14.7.

2. It was a Type of the Meſſiah, who is the Fountain opened; and was intended to raiſe Peoples Expectations of him, who is the Sun of Righteouſneſs, that ariſeth with healing under his Wings. Theſe Waters had formerly been uſed for Purifying, now for Healing, to ſignify both the cleanſing and curing Virtue of the Blood of Chriſt, that incomparable Bath, which heals all our Diſeaſes. The Waters of Siloam, which fill'd this Pool, ſignified the Kingdom of David, and of Chriſt, the Son of David, Iſa. 8. 6. fitly therefore have they now this ſovereign Virtue put into them. The Laver of Regeneration is to us, as Betheſda's Pool, healing our ſpiritual Diſeaſes; not at certain Seaſons, but at all Times: Whoever will, let him come.

Thirdly, The Patient on whom this Cure was wrought, v. 5. One that had been infirm thirty-eight Years.

1. His Diſeaſe was grievous; he had an Infirmity, a Weakneſs; he had loſt the Uſe of his Limbs, at leaſt on one Side, as is uſual in Palſies. 'Tis ſad to have the Body ſo diſabled, that inſtead of being the Soul's Inſtrument, it is become, even in the Affairs of this Life, its Burthen. What Reaſon have we to thank God for bodily Strength, and to uſe it for him, and pity thoſe who are his Priſoners !

2. The Duration of it was tedious, Thirty eight Years ; he was lame longer than moſt live. Many are ſo long diſabled for the Offices of Life, that as the Pſalmiſt complains, they ſeem to be made in vain ; for Suffering, not for Service ; born to be always dying. Shall we complain of one weariſome Night, or one ill Fit, who perhaps for many Years have ſcarce known what it has been to be a Day ſick, when many others, better than we, have ſcarce known what it has been to be a Day well. Mr. Baxter's Note on this Paſſage is very affecting ; " How great " a Mercy was it to live Thirty-eight Years under God's whole- " ſome Diſcipline —— O my God (ſaith he) I thank thee for " the like Diſcipline of Fifty-eight Years; how ſafe a Life is " this in compariſon of full Proſperity and Pleaſure."

Fourthly, The Cure and the Circumſtances of it briefly related, v. 6,7,8,9.

1. Jeſus ſaw him lie. Obſerve, when Chriſt came up to Jeruſalem, he viſited not the Palaces, but the Hoſpitals, which is an Inſtance of his Humility and Condeſcenſion, and tender Compaſſion, and an Indication of his great Deſign in coming into the World, which was to ſeek and ſave the Sick and Wounded. There was a great Multitude of poor Cripples here at Betheſda, but Chriſt faſtened his Eyes upon this one, and ſingled him out from the reſt, becauſe he was Senior of the Houſe, and in a more deplorable Condition than any of the reſt ; and Chriſt delights to help the helpleſs, and hath Mercy on whom he will have Mercy. Perhaps his Companions in Tribulation inſulted over him, becauſe he had been often diſappointed of a Cure, therefore Chriſt took him for his Patient : It is his Honour to ſide with the weakeſt, and bear up thoſe whom he ſees run down.

2. He knew, and conſidered how long he had lain in this Condition. Thoſe that have been long in Affliction, may comfort themſelves with this, that God keeps Account how long, and knows our Frame.

3. He ask'd him, Wilt thou be made whole ? A ſtrange Queſtion to be ask'd one that had been ſo long ſo ill. Some indeed would not be made whole, becauſe their Sores ſerve them to beg by, and ſerve them for an Excuſe for Idleneſs ; but this poor Man was as unable to go a begging, as to work, yet Chriſt put it to him, (1.) To expreſs his own Pity and Concern for him. Chriſt is tenderly inquiſitive concerning the Deſires of thoſe that are in Affliction, and is willing to know what is their Petition ; what ſhall I do for you ? (2.) To try him whether he would be beholden to him for a Cure, whom the great People were ſo prejudiced againſt, and ſought to prejudice others. (3.) To teach him to value the Mercy, and to excite in him Deſires after it. In ſpiritual Caſes, People are not willing to be cured of their Sins, are loth to part with them. If this Point therefore were but gained, if People were willing to be made whole, the Work were half done, for Chriſt is willing to heal, if we be but willing to be healed, Mat. 8. 3.

4. The poor impotent Man takes this Occaſion to renew his Complaint, and to ſet forth the Miſery of his Caſe, which makes his Cure the more illuſtrious, v. 7. Sir, I have no Man to put me into the Pool. He ſeems to take Chriſt's Queſtion as an Imputation of Careleſſneſs and Neglect : If thou hadſt had a mind to be healed, thou wouldſt have look'd better to thy hits, and have got into the healing Waters long before now ; no, Maſter, ſaith the poor Man, it is not for want of a good Will, but of a good Friend, that I am unhealed : I have done what I could to help myſelf, but in vain, for none elſe will help me.

(1.) He doth not think of any other Way of being cured, but by theſe Waters, and deſires no other Friendſhip, but to be help'd into them ; therefore when Chriſt cured him, his Imagination or Expectation could not contribute to it, for he thought of no ſuch thing.

(2.) He complains for want of Friends to help him in : I have no Man, no Friend to do me that Kindneſs. One would think ſome of thoſe that had been themſelves healed, ſhould have lent him a Hand, but 'tis common for the Poor to be deſtitute of Friends ; no Man careth for their Soul. To the Sick and Impotent, 'tis as true a piece of Charity to work for them, as to relieve them ; and thus the Poor are capable of being charitable to one another, and ought to be ſo, tho' we ſeldom find that they are ſo ; I ſpeak it to their Shame.

(3.) He bewails his Infelicity, that very often when he was coming, another ſtept in before him : But a Step between him and a Cure, and yet he continues Impotent. None had the Charity to ſay, your Caſe is worſe than mine, do you go in now, and I'll ſtay till the next Time ; for there's no getting over the old Maxim, Every one for himſelf. Having been ſo often baulk'd, he begins to deſpair, and now is Chriſt's Time to come into his Relief ; he delights to help in deſperate Caſes. Obſerve, How mildly this Man ſpeaks of the Unkindneſs of thoſe about him, without any peeviſh Reflections ; as we ſhould be thankful for the leaſt Kindneſs, ſo we ſhould be patient under the greateſt Contempts ; and let our Reſentments be never ſo juſt, yet our Expreſſions ſhould ever be calm. And obſerve farther to his praiſe, that tho' he had waited ſo long in vain, yet ſtill he continued lying by the Pool-ſide, hoping that ſome time or other help would come, Hab. 2. 3.

5. Our Lord Jeſus hereupon cures him with a Word ſpeaking, tho' he neither ask'd it, nor thought of it.

Here's, 1. The Word he ſaid, v. 8. Riſe take up thy Bed.

1. He is bidden to riſe and walk ; a ſtrange Command to be given to an impotent Man, that had been long diſabled ; but this Divine Word was to be the Vehicle of a Divine Power ; 'twas a Command to the Diſeaſe to be gone, to Nature to be ſtrong, but it is expreſs'd as a Command to him to beſtir himſelf. He muſt riſe and walk, i. e. attempt to do it, and in the Eſſay he ſhould receive Strength to do it. The Converſion of a Sinner is the Cure of a chronical Diſeaſe ; this is ordinarily done by the Word, a Word of Command, ariſe and walk ; turn and live, make ye a new Heart ; which no more ſuppoſes a Power in us to do it, without the Grace of God, diſtinguiſhing Grace, than this ſuppos'd ſuch a Power in the impotent Man. But if he had not attempted to help himſelf, he had not been cured, and he muſt have borne the Blame ; yet it doth not therefore follow, that when he did riſe and walk, it was by his own Strength ; no, 'twas by the Power of Chriſt, and he muſt have all the Glory. Obſerve, Chriſt did not bid him riſe and go into the Waters, but riſe and walk. Chriſt did that for us, which the Law could not do, and ſet that aſide.

2. He is bidden to take up his Bed. (1.) To make it to appear that it was a perfect Cure, and purely miraculous, for he did not recover Strength by degrees from the Extremity of Weakneſs and Impotency, he ſuddenly ſtept into the higheſt Degree of bodily Strength ; ſo that he was able to carry as great a Load as any Porter, that had been as long uſed to it, as he had been diſuſed : He who this Minute was not able to turn him in his Bed, the next Minute was able to carry his Bed. The Man ſick of the Palſy, Mat. 9. 6. was bidden to go to his Houſe, but probably this Man had no Houſe to go to, the Hoſpital was his Home ; therefore he is bidden to riſe and walk. (2.) 'Twas to proclaim the Cure, and make it publick ; for being the Sabbath-Day, whoever carried a Burthen through the Streets, made himſelf very remarkable, and every one would enquire what was the Meaning of it, thereby the Notice of the Miracle would ſpread to the Honour of God. (3.) Chriſt would thus witneſs againſt the Tradition of the Elders, which had ſtretch'd the Law of the Sabbath beyond its Intention ; and would likewiſe ſhew that he was Lord of the Sabbath, and had Power to make what Alterations he pleaſed about it, and to over-rule the Law. Joſhua and the Hoſt of Iſrael, march'd about Jericho on the Sabbath-Day, when God commanded them ; ſo did this Man carry his Bed in obedience to a Command. The Caſe may be ſuch, that it may become a Work of Neceſſity, or Mercy, to carry a Bed on the Sabbath-Day ; but here it was more, 'twas a Work of Piety, being deſigned purely for the Glory of God. (4.) He would hereby try the Faith and Obedience of his Patient. By carrying his Bed publickly, he expoſed himſelf to the Cenſure of the Eccleſiaſtical Court, and was liable at leaſt to be ſcourged in the Synagogue. Now will he run the venture of that, in Obedience to Chriſt ? Yes he will. Thoſe that have been healed by Chriſt's Word, ſhould be ruled by his Word, whatever it coſt them.

2. The Efficacy of this Word, v. 9. a Divine Power went along with it, and immediately he was made whole, took up his Bed, and walked. (1.) He felt the Power of Chriſt's Word healing him, immediately he was made whole. What a joyful Surprize was this to the poor Cripple to find himſelf, all of a ſudden, ſo eaſy, ſo ſtrong, ſo able to help himſelf ; what a new World was he in in an Inſtant ! Nothing is too hard for Chriſt to do. (2.) He obeyed the Power of Chriſt's Word commanding him ; He took up his Bed and walked, and did not care who blamed him, or threatned him for it. The Proof of our ſpiritual Cure, is our riſing and walking. Hath Chriſt healed our ſpiritual Diſeaſes, let us go whitherſoever he ſends us, and take up whatever he is pleas'd to lay upon us, and walk before him.

Fifthly, What came of the poor Man after he was cured. We are here told,

1. What paſs'd between him and the Jews, who ſaw him carry his Bed on the Sabbath-Day ; for on that Day this Cure was wrought, and it was the Sabbath that fell within the Paſſover Week, and therefore a High Day, John 19. 31. Chriſt's Work was ſuch, as that he needed not make any Difference between Sabbath-Days, and other Days, for he was always about his Father's Buſineſs ; but he wrought many remarkable Cures on that Day, perhaps to encourage his Church, to expect thoſe ſpiritual Favours from him, in their Obſervance of the Chriſtian Sabbath, which were typified by his miraculous Cures. Now, here,

1. The Jews quarrel with the Man for carrying his Bed on the Sabbath Day, telling him it was not lawful, v. 10. it doth not appear whether they were Magiſtrates, who had Power to puniſh him, or common People, who could only inform againſt him ; but thus far was commendable, that while they knew not by what Authority he did it, they were jealous for the Honour of the Sabbath, and could not unconcernedly ſee it prophaned ; like Nehemiah, chap. 13. 17.

2. The Man juſtifies himſelf in what he did, by a Warrant that would bear him out, v. 11. I do not do it in Contempt of the Law and the Sabbath, but in Obedience to one, who by making me whole, hath given an undeniable Proof that he is greater than either. He that could work ſuch a Miracle, as to make me whole, no doubt might give me ſuch a Command, as to carry my Bed; he that could over-rule the Powers of Nature, no doubt might over-rule a poſitive Law, eſpecially in an Inſtance not of the Eſſence of the Law: He that was ſo kind as to make me whole, would not be ſo unkind as to bid me do what is ſinful. Chriſt, by curing another Paralytick, prov'd his Power to forgive Sin, here to give Law; if his Pardons are valid, his Edicts are ſo, and his Miracles prove both.

3. The Jews enquire further, who it was that gave him this Warrant; v. 12. What Man is that? Obſerve, How induſtriouſly they over-look'd that which might be a Ground of their Faith in Chriſt. They enquire not, no not for Curioſity, who is that that made thee whole? While they induſtriouſly catch'd at that which might be a Ground of Reflection upon Chriſt, What Man is that which ſaid unto thee, take up thy Bed? They would fain ſubpœna the Patient to be a Witneſs againſt his Phyſician, and to be his Betrayer. In their Queſtion obſerve, (1.) They reſolve to look upon Chriſt as a mere Man; What Man is that? For tho' he gave never ſuch convincing Proofs of it, they were reſolv'd they would never own him to be the Son of God. (2.) They reſolve to look upon him as an ill Man, and take it for granted that he who bid this Man carry his Bed, whatever divine Commiſſion he might produce, was certainly a Delinquent, and as ſuch they reſolve to proſecute him; What Man is that who durſt give ſuch Orders?

4. The poor Man was unable to give them any Account of him, v. 13. He wiſt not who he was.

1. Chriſt was unknown to him when he heal'd him. Probably he had heard of the Name of Jeſus, but had never ſeen him, and therefore would not tell that this was he. Note, Chriſt doth many a good Turn for thoſe that know him not, Iſa. 45. 4, 5. He enlightens, ſtrengthens, quickens, comforts us, and we wiſt not who he is; nor are aware how much we receive daily by his Mediation. This Man being unacquainted with Chriſt, could not actually believe in him for a Cure, but Chriſt knew the Diſpoſitions of his Soul, and ſuited his Favours to them, as to the blind Man in a like Caſe, John 9.36. Our Covenant and Communion with God, takes riſe, not ſo much from our Knowledge of him, as from his Knowledge of us. We know God, or rather are known of him, Gal. 4.9.

2. For the preſent he kept himſelf unknown; for as ſoon as he had wrought the Cure, he convey'd himſelf away, he made himſelf unknown, ſo ſome read it; a Multitude being in that Place. This is mentioned to ſhew either, (1.) How Chriſt conveyed himſelf away, by retiring into the Crowd, ſo as not to be diſtinguiſh'd from a common Perſon: He that was the Chief of Ten Thouſand, often made himſelf one of the Throng. It is ſometimes the Lot of thoſe who have by their Services ſignaliz'd themſelves, to be levell'd with the Multitude, and over-looked. Or, (2.) Why he convey'd himſelf away; becauſe there was a Multitude there, and he induſtriouſly avoided both the Applauſe of thoſe who would admire the Miracle, and cry that up, and the Cenſure of thoſe who would cenſure him as a Sabbath-breaker, and run him down. Thoſe that are active for God in their Generation, muſt expect to paſs by evil Report, and good Report; and it is Wiſdom as much as may be, to keep out of the hearing of both: leſt by the one we be exalted, and by the other depreſs'd above meaſure. Chriſt left the Miracle to commend itſelf, and the Man on whom it was wrought to juſtify it.

2. What paſs'd between him and our Lord Jeſus at their next Interview, v. 14. Obſerve here,

1. Where Chriſt found him, in the Temple, the Place of Worſhip, publick Worſhip; in our Attendance on publick Worſhip we may expect to meet with Chriſt, and improve our Acquaintance with him. Obſerve, (1.) Chriſt went to the Temple; tho' he had many Enemies, yet he appeared in Publick, becauſe there he bore his Teſtimony to divine Inſtitutions, and had Opportunity of doing Good. (2.) The Man that was cured went to the Temple, there Chriſt found him the ſame Day, as it ſhould ſeem, that he was healed; thither he ſtraightway went. (1.) Becauſe he had by his Infirmity been ſo long detained thence; perhaps he had not been there of Thirty-eight Years, and therefore as ſoon as ever the Embargo is taken off, his firſt Viſit ſhall be to the Temple, as Hezekiah intimates his ſhall be, Iſa. 38. 22. What is the Sign that I ſhall go up to the Houſe of the Lord. (2.) Becauſe he had by his Recovery a good Errand thither; he went up to the Temple, to return Thanks to God for his Recovery. When God has at any time reſtored us our Health, we ought to attend him with ſolemn Praiſes, Pſal. 116. 18,19. and the ſooner the better, while the Senſe of the Mercy is freſh. (3.) Becauſe he had by carrying his Bed, ſeem'd to put a Contempt upon the Sabbath, he would thus ſhew that he had an Honour for it, and made Conſcience of Sabbath Sanctification, in that on which the chief Streſs of it is laid, which is the publick Worſhip of God: Works of Neceſſity and Mercy are allowed, but when they are over, we muſt go to the Temple.

2. What he ſaid to him. When Chriſt has cured us, he has not done with us, he now applies himſelf to the healing of his Soul, and this by the Word too.

1. He gives him a Memorandum of his Cure, Behold thou art made whole; he found himſelf made whole, yet Chriſt calls his Attention to it. Behold, conſider it ſeriouſly, how ſudden, how ſtrange, how cheap, how eaſy the Cure was; admire it, behold and wonder; remember it, let the Impreſſions of it abide, and never be loſt, Iſa. 38.9.

2. He gives him a Caution againſt Sin; in Conſideration hereof, being made whole, ſin no more. This implies, that his Diſeaſe was the Puniſhment of Sin, whether of ſome remarkable flagrant Sin, or only of Sin in general, we cannot tell; but we know that Sin is the procuring Cauſe of Sickneſs, Pſal. 107. 17, 18. Some obſerve, that Chriſt did not make mention of Sin to any of his Patients, but only to this impotent Man, and to one other who was in like manner diſeaſed, Mark. 2. 5. While thoſe chronical Diſeaſes laſted, they prevented the outward Acts of many Sins; and therefore now the Diſability was removed, they had the more need to be watchful. Chriſt intimates to him, that thoſe who are made whole, that are eas'd of the preſent ſenſible Puniſhment of Sin, are in danger of returning to Sin, when the Terror and Reſtraint of that is over, unleſs divine Grace dry up the Fountain: When the Trouble, which only damm'd up the Current, is over, the Waters will return to their old Courſe; and therefore there is need of great Watchfulneſs, leſt after healing Mercy, we return again to Folly. The Miſery we were made whole from, warns us to ſin no more; having felt the Smart of Sin, the Mercy we were made whole by, is an Engagement upon us not to offend him who healed us. This is the Voice of every Providence, Go, and ſin no more. This Man began his new Life very hopefully in the Temple, yet Chriſt ſaw it neceſſary to give him this Caution; for 'tis common with People when they are ſick, to promiſe much, when newly recovered, to perform ſomething, but after a while to forget all.

3. He gives him warning of his Danger, in caſe he ſhould return to his former ſinful Courſe, leſt a worſe thing come to thee. Chriſt who knows all Mens Hearts, knew that he was one of thoſe that muſt be frightened from Sin. Thirty-eight Years Lameneſs, one would think, was a Thing ill enough; yet there's ſomething worſe that will come to him, if he relapſe into Sin, after God has given him ſuch a Deliverance as this, Ezr. 4.13,14. The Hoſpital where he lay, was a melancholy Place, but Hell much more ſo: The Doom of Apoſtates is a worſe thing than Thirty-eight Years Lameneſs.

Now after this Interview between Chriſt and his Patient, obſerve in the Two following Verſes,

1. The Notice which the poor ſimple Man gave to the Jews concerning Chriſt, v. 15. he told them it was Jeſus that had made him whole. We have Reaſon to think he intended this for the Honour of Chriſt, and the Benefit of the Jews, little thinking that he that had ſo much Power and Goodneſs, could have any Enemies; but thoſe that wiſh well to Chriſt's Kingdom, muſt have the Wiſdom of the Serpent, leſt they do more hurt than good with their Zeal, and not caſt Pearls before Swine.

2. The Rage and Enmity of the Jews againſt him; Therefore did the Rulers of the Jews perſecute Jeſus. See, (1.) How abſurd and unreaſonable their Enmity to Chriſt was. Therefore, becauſe he had made a poor ſick Man well, and ſo eas'd the publick Charge, upon which 'tis likely he had ſubſiſted; therefore they perſecuted him, becauſe he did good in Iſrael. (2.) How bloody and cruel it was, they ſought to ſlay him; nothing leſs than his Blood, his Life would ſatisfy them. (3.) How it was varniſh'd over with a colour of Zeal for the Honour of the Sabbath, for this was the pretended Crime, becauſe he had done theſe things on the Sabbath Day; as if that Circumſtance were enough to vitiate the beſt and moſt Divine Actions, and to render him obnoxious, whoſe Deeds were otherwiſe moſt meritorious. Thus Hypocrites often cover their real Enmity againſt the Power of Godlineſs, with a pretended Zeal for the Form of it.

17 ¶ But Jeſus anſwered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. 18 Therefore the Jews ſought the more to kill him, becauſe he not only had broken the ſabbath, but ſaid alſo that God was his Father, making himſelf equal with God. 19 Then anſwered Jeſus and ſaid unto them, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, The Son can do nothing of himſelf, but what he ſeeth the Father do; for what things ſoever he doth, theſe alſo doeth the Son likewiſe. 20 For the Father loveth the Son, and ſheweth him all things that himſelf doeth: and he will ſhew him greater works than theſe, that ye may marvel. 21 For as the Father raiſeth up the dead, and quickeneth them: even ſo the Son quickeneth whom he will. 22 For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son. 23 That all men ſhould honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son, honoureth not the Father which hath ſent him. 24 Verily, verily I ſay unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that ſent me, hath everlaſting life, and ſhall not come into condemnation; but is paſſed from death unto life. 25 Verily, verily I ſay unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead ſhall hear the voice of the ſon of God: and they that hear ſhall live. 26 For as the Father hath life in himſelf, ſo hath he given to the ſon to have life in himſelf; 27 And hath given him authority to execute judgment alſo, becauſe he is the ſon of man. 28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves ſhall hear his voice, 29 And ſhall come forth, they that have done good, unto the reſurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the reſurrection of damnation. 30 I can of mine own ſelf do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is juſt; becauſe I ſeek not mine own will, but the will of the father which hath ſent me.

We have here Chriſt's Diſcourſe upon Occaſion of his being accus'd as a Sabbath-breaker; and it ſeems to be his Vindication of himſelf before the Sanhedrin, when he was arraign'd before them; whether on the ſame Day, or two or three Days after, doth not appear, probably the ſame Day. Obſerve,

1. The Doctrine laid down, by which he juſtified what he did on the Sabbath-Day, v. 17. He anſwered them. This ſuppoſeth that he had ſomething laid to his Charge; or, what they ſuggeſted one to another, when they ſought to ſlay him, v. 16. he knew, and gave this Reply to, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work. At other Times, in anſwer to the like Charge, he had pleaded the Example of David eating the Shew-bread, of the Prieſts ſlaying the Sacrifices, and of the Peoples watering their Cattle on the Sabbath-Day; but here he goes higher, and alledgeth the Example of his Father, and his Divine Authority: waving all other Pleas, he inſiſts upon that which was inſtar omnium, and abides by it, which he had mention'd, Mat. 12. 8. The Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath-Day; but here enlarges on it.

1. He pleads that he was the Son of God, plainly intimated in his calling God his Father; and if ſo, his Holineſs was unqueſtionable, and his Sovereignty unconteſtable, and he might make what Alterations he pleas'd of the Divine Law. Surely they will reverence the Son, the Heir of all Things.

2. That he was a Worker together with God.

(1.) My Father worketh hitherto. The Example of God's reſting on the Seventh Day from all his Work, is in the Fourth Commandment made the Ground of our obſerving it as a Sabbath, or Day of Reſt. Now God reſted only from ſuch a Work as he had done the Six Days before; otherwiſe he worketh hitherto; he is every Day working, Sabbath-Days, and Week-Days, upholding and governing all the Creatures, and concurring by his common Providence to all the Motions and Operations of Nature, to his own Glory; therefore, when we are appointed to reſt on the Sabbath-Day, yet we are not reſtrained from doing that which has a direct Tendency to the Glory of God; as the Man's carrying his Bed had.

(2.) I work; not only therefore I may work, like him, in doing good on Sabbath-Days, as well as other Days, but I alſo work with him. As God created all Things by Chriſt, ſo he ſupports and governs all by him, Heb. 1. 3. This ſets what he doth above all Exception; he that is ſo great a Worker, muſt needs be an uncontroulable Governour; he that doth all, is Lord of all, and therefore Lord of the Sabbath; which particular Branch of his Authority, he would now aſſert, becauſe he was ſhortly to ſhew it further, in the Change of the Day from the Seventh to the Firſt.

2. The Offence that was taken at his Doctrine, v. 18. The Jews ſought the more to kill him. His Defence was made his Offence, as if by juſtifying himſelf, he had made ill worſe. Note, Thoſe that will not be enlightened by the Word of Chriſt, will be enraged and exaſperated by it; and nothing more vexeth the Enemies of Chriſt, than his aſſerting his Authority; ſee Pſal. 2. 3, 4, 5. They ſought to kill him,

(1.) Becauſe he had broken the Sabbath; for let him ſay what he would in his own Juſtification, they are reſolved, right or wrong, to find him guilty of Sabbath-breaking. When Malice and Envy ſit upon the Bench, Reaſon and Juſtice may e'en be ſilent at the Bar, for whatever they can ſay will undoubtedly be over-ruled.

(2.) Not only ſo, but he had ſaid alſo, That God was his Father. Now they pretend a Jealouſy for God's Honour, as before for the Sabbath-Day, and charge Chriſt with it as a heinous Crime, that he made himſelf equal with God; and a heinous Crime it had been, if he had not really been ſo. 'Twas the Sin of Lucifer, I will be like the moſt High. Now,

(1.) This was juſtly inferred from what he ſaid; that he was the Son of God, and that God was his Father, πατέρα ἴδιον, his own Father; his, ſo as he was no one's elſe. He had ſaid that he work'd with his Father, by the ſame Authority and Power, and hereby he made himſelf equal with God. Ecce intelligunt Judæi quod non intelligunt Ariani!

(2.) Yet it was unjuſtly imputed to him as an Offence, that he equal'd himſelf with God, for he was and is God equal with the Father, Phil. 2. 6. and therefore Chriſt, in anſwer to this Charge, doth not except againſt the Innuendo as ſtrained or forced, but makes out his Claim, and proves that he is equal with God, in Power and Glory.

3. Chriſt's Diſcourſe upon this Occaſion, which continues without Interruption to the End of the Chapter: In theſe Verſes he explains, and afterwards confirms his Commiſſion, as Mediator, and Plenipotentiary in the Treaty between God and Man. And as the Honours he is hereby intitled to, are ſuch as 'tis not fit for any Creature to receive, ſo the Work he is hereby intruſted with is ſuch, as it is not poſſible for any Creature to go thro' with, and therefore he is God equal with the Father.

1. In general; He is one with the Father in all he doth as Mediator, and there was a perfect good Underſtanding between them in the whole Matter. 'Tis uſhered in with a ſolemn Preface, v. 19. Verily, verily I ſay unto you; I the Amen, the Amen ſay it. This ſpeaks what is ſaid to be, (1.) Very Awful and Great, and ſuch as commands the moſt ſerious Attention. (2.) Very ſure, and ſuch as commands an unfeigned Aſſent. (3.) It intimates, that they are Matters purely of Divine Revelation; Things which Chriſt has told us, and which we could not otherwiſe have come to the Knowledge of. Two Things he ſaith in general, concerning the Son's Oneneſs with the Father in working.

1. That the Son conforms to the Father; v. 19. The Son can do nothing of himſelf, but what he ſees the Father do, for theſe Things doth the Son. The Lord Jeſus as Mediator is, (1.) Obedient to his Father's Will; ſo entirely obedient, that he can do nothing of himſelf, in the ſame Senſe as it is ſaid God cannot lye, cannot deny himſelf; which ſpeaks the Perfection of his Truth, not any Imperfection in his Strength: So here, Chriſt was ſo entirely devoted to his Father's Will, that it was impoſſible for him in any Thing to act ſeparately. (2.) He is obſervant of his Father's Counſel; he can, he will do nothing but what he ſees the Father do. No Man can find out the Work of God, but the only begotten Son, who lay in his Boſom, ſees what he doth, and is intimately acquainted with his Purpoſes, and has the Plan of them ever before him. What he did as Mediator throughout his whole Undertaking, was the exact Tranſcript or Counterpart of what the Father did; that is, what he deſign'd when he formed the Plan of our Redemption in his eternal Counſels, and ſettled thoſe Meaſures in every Thing which never could be broke, nor ever needed to be alter'd; 'twas the Copy of that great Original; 'twas Chriſt's Faithfulneſs, as it was Moſes's, that he did all according to the Pattern ſhew'd him in the Mount. This is expreſs'd in the preſent Tenſe, what he ſees the Father do, for the ſame reaſon, that when he was here upon Earth, 'twas ſaid he is in Heaven, John 3. 13. and is in the Boſom of the Father, John 1. 18. as he was even then by his Divine Nature preſent in Heaven, ſo the Things done in Heaven, were preſent to his Knowledge. What the Father did in his Counſels, the Son had ever in his View, and ſtill he had his Eye upon it, as David in Spirit ſpake of him, I have ſet the Lord always before me, Pſal. 16. 8. (3.) Yet he is equal with the Father in working, for what Things ſoever the Father doth, theſe alſo doth the Son likewiſe; he did the ſame Things, not ſuch Things, but ταῦτα, the ſame Things: and he did them in the ſame manner, ὁμοίως, likewiſe; with the ſame Authority and Liberty, and Wiſdom, the ſame Energy and Efficacy: Doth the Father enact, repeal, and alter poſitive Laws? Doth he over-rule the Courſe of Nature, know Mens Hearts? So doth the Son. The Power of the Mediator is a Divine Power.

2. That the Father communicates to the Son, v. 20. Obſerve, 1. The Inducement to it, The Father loveth the Son; he declar'd, This is my beloved Son. He had not only a good Will to the Undertaking, but an infinite Complacency in the Undertaker. Chriſt was now hated of Men, one whom the Nation abhorred, Iſa. 49. 7. but he comforted himſelf with this, that his Father lov'd him. 2. The Inſtances of it. He ſheweth it,

1. In what he doth communicate to him; He ſheweth him all Things that himſelf doth. The Father's Meaſures in making and ruling the World are ſhew'd to the Son, that he may take the ſame Meaſures in framing and governing the Church; which Work was to be a Duplicate of the Work of Creation and Providence, and is therefore called the World to come. He ſheweth him all Things, ἃ αὐτὸς ποιεῖ, which he doth, i. e. which the Son doth, ſo it might be conſtrued; all that the Son doth, is by Direction from the Father: He ſhews him,

2. In what he will communicate; he will ſhew him, i. e. will appoint and direct him to do greater Works than theſe. (1.) Works of greater Power than the curing of the impotent Man, for he ſhould raiſe the Dead, and ſhould himſelf riſe from the Dead. By the Power of Nature, with the Uſe of Means, a Diſeaſe may poſſibly in Time be cured; but Nature can never, by the Uſe of any Means, in any Time raiſe the Dead. (2.) Works of greater Authority than warranting the Man to carry his Bed on the Sabbath-Day. They thought that a daring Attempt, but what was that to his abrogating the whole Ceremonial Law, and inſtituting new Ordinances, which he would ſhortly do; that ye may marvel. Now they look'd upon his Works with Contempt and Indignation, but he will ſhortly do that which they will look upon with Amazement, Luke 7. 16. Many are brought to marvel at Chriſt's Works, whereby he has the Honour of them, that are not brought to believe, by which they would have the Benefit of them.

2. In particular; he proves his Equality with the Father, by inſtancing in ſome of thoſe Works which he doth, that are the peculiar Works of God. This is enlarged upon, v. 21—30. (1.) He doth, and ſhall do that which is the peculiar Work of God's Almighty Power, raiſing the Dead, and giving Life, v. 21, 25, 26, 28. (2.) He doth, and ſhall do that which is the peculiar Work of God's Sovereign Dominion and Juriſdiction, judging, and executing Judgment, v. 22, 23, 24, 27. Theſe two are interwoven, as being nearly connected; and what is ſaid once, is repeated and inculcated; put both together, and they'll prove that Chriſt ſaid not amiſs when he made himſelf equal with God.

Firſt, Obſerve what is here ſaid concerning the Mediator's Power to raiſe the Dead, and give Life. See,

1. His Authority to do it, v. 21. As the Father raiſeth up the Dead, ſo the Son quickeneth whom he will.

(1.) It is God's Prerogative to raiſe the Dead, and give Life, even his who firſt breathed into Man the Breath of Life, and ſo made him a living Soul; ſee Deut. 32. 30. 1 Sam. 2. 6. Pſal. 68. 20. Rom. 4. 17. This God had done by the Prophets Elijah and Eliſha, and it was a Confirmation of their Miſſion. A Reſurrection from the Dead never lay in the common Road of Nature, nor ever fell within the Thought of thoſe that ſtudied only the Compaſs of Nature's Power, one of whoſe received Axioms was point-blank againſt it; A Privatione ad habitum non datur regreſſus: it was therefore ridicul'd at Athens as an abſurd Thing, Acts 17. 32. It is purely the Work of a Divine Power, and the Knowledge of it purely by Divine Revelation. This the Jews would own.

(2.) The Mediator is inveſted with this Prerogative; He quickeneth whom he will; raiſeth whom he pleaſeth to Life, and when he pleaſes. He doth not enliven Things by natural Neceſſity, as the Sun doth, whoſe Beams revive of courſe; but he acts as a free Agent, has the diſpenſing of his Power in his own Hand, and is never either conſtrained, or reſtrained in the Uſe of it. As he has the Power, ſo he has the Wiſdom and Sovereignty of a God; has the Keys of the Grave, and of Death, Rev. 1. 18. not as a Servant, to open and ſhut, as he is bidden, for he has it as the Key of David, which he is Maſter of, Rev. 3. 7. An abſolute Prince is deſcribed by this, Dan. 5. 19. whom he would he ſlew, or kept alive; 'tis true of Chriſt without an Hyperbole.

2. His Ability to do it. Therefore he has Power to quicken whom he will as the Father doth, becauſe he hath Life in himſelf, as the Father has, v. 26.

(1.) 'Tis certain the Father has Life in himſelf. Not only he is a Self-exiſtent Being, who doth not derive from, or depend upon any other, Exod. 3. 14. but he is a ſovereign Giver of Life; he has the Diſpoſal of Life in himſelf, and of all Good, for ſo Life ſometimes ſignifies; 'tis all derived from him, and dependent on him; he is to his Creatures the Fountain of Life, and all Good; Author of their Being, and Well-Being; the living God, and the God of all Living.

(2.) 'Tis as certain, that he hath given to the Son to have Life in himſelf. As the Father is the Original of all natural Life and Good, being the great Creator, ſo the Son, as Redeemer, is the Original of all ſpiritual Life and Good; is that to the Church, that the Father is to the World; ſee 1 Cor. 8. 6. Col. 1. 19. The Kingdom of Grace, and all the Life in that Kingdom, is as fully and abſolutely in the Hand of the Redeemer, as the Kingdom of Providence is in the Hand of the Creator; and as God, who gives Being to all Things, has his Being of himſelf, ſo Chriſt, who gives Life, raiſed himſelf to Life, by his own Power, John 10. 18.

3. His acting according to this Authority and Ability. Having Life in himſelf, and being authorized to quicken whom he will, by virtue hereof there are accordingly Two Reſurrections performed by his powerful Word; both which are here ſpoken of.

1. A Reſurrection that now is, v. 29. a Reſurrection from the Death of Sin to the Life of Righteouſneſs, by the Power of Chriſt's Grace; The Hour is coming, and now is. 'Tis a Reſurrection begun already, and further to be carry'd on; when the Dead ſhall hear the Voice of the Son of God. This is plainly diſtinguiſhed from that, v. 28. which ſpeaks of the Reſurrection at the End of Time. This ſaith nothing, as that doth, of the Dead in their Graves, and of all them, and their coming forth. Now, (1.) Some think this was fulfill'd in thoſe whom he miraculouſly rais'd to Life, Jairus's Daughter, the Widow's Son, and Lazarus; and it is obſervable, that all that Chriſt rais'd, were ſpoken to, as, Damſel ariſe, Young Man ariſe, Lazarus come forth; whereas, thoſe rais'd under the Old Teſtament, were rais'd not by Word, but other Applications, 1 Kings 17. 21. 2 Kings 4. 34. and 12. 21. Some underſtand it of thoſe Saints that roſe with Chriſt, but we do not read of the Voice of the Son of God calling them. But, (2.) I rather underſtand it of the Power of the Doctrine of Chriſt, for the recovering and quickning of thoſe that were dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins, Eph. 1. 5, 6. The Hour was coming, when dead Souls ſhould be made alive by the preaching of the Goſpel, and a Spirit of Life from God accompanying it; nay, it then was, while Chriſt was upon Earth. It may refer eſpecially to the calling of the Gentiles, which is ſaid to be as Life from the Dead, and ſome think was prefigured by Ezekiel's Viſion, chap. 37. 1. and foretold, Iſa. 26. 19. Thy dead Men ſhall live. But it is to be apply'd to all the wonderful Succeſs of the Goſpel, both among Jews and Gentiles; an Hour which ſtill is, and is ſtill coming, till all the Elect be effectually called. Note, 1. Sinners are ſpiritually dead, deſtitute of ſpiritual Life, Senſe, Strength, and Motion, dead to God, miſerable, but neither ſenſible of their Miſery, nor able to help themſelves out of it. 2. The Converſion of a Soul to God, is its Reſurrection from Death to Life; then it begins to live, when it begins to live to God, to breathe after him, and move towards him. 3. It is by the Voice of the Son of God, that Souls are rais'd to ſpiritual Life; 'tis wrought by his Power, and that Power conveyed and communicated by his Word; the Dead ſhall hear, ſhall be made to hear, to underſtand, receive and believe the Voice of the Son of God; to hear it as his Voice, then the Spirit by it gives Life, otherwiſe the Letter kills. 4. The Voice of Chriſt muſt be heard by us, that we may live by it. They that hear and attend to what they hear, ſhall live. Hear, and your Soul ſhall live, Iſa. 55. 3.

2. A Reſurrection yet to come; this is ſpoken of, v. 28, 29. introduc'd with, Marvel not at this, which I have ſaid of the firſt Reſurrection, do not reject it as incredible and abſurd, for at the End of Time you ſhall ſee a more ſenſible and amazing Proof of the Power and Authority of the Son of Man. As his own Reſurrection was reſerved to be the final and concluding Proof of his perſonal Commiſſion; ſo the Reſurrection of all Men, is reſerv'd to be a like Proof of his Commiſſion to be executed by his Spirit. Now obſerve here,

1. When this Reſurrection ſhall be: The Hour is coming; 'tis fix'd to an Hour; ſo very punctual is this great Appointment. The Judgment is not adjourn'd, ſine die, to ſome time, not yet pitch'd upon; no, He hath appointed a Day. The Hour is coming. (1.) It is not yet come, 'tis not the Hour ſpoken of at v. 5. that is coming, and now is. Thoſe erred dangerouſly, who ſaid the Reſurrection was paſt already, 2 Tim. 2. 18. But, (2.) It will certainly come, it is coming on, nearer every Day than other; it is at the Door. How far off it is, we know not, but we know that it is infallibly deſign'd, and unalterably determin'd.

2. Who ſhall be rais'd: All that are in the Graves, all that have died from the Beginning of Time, and all that ſhall die to the End of Time. 'Twas ſaid, Dan. 12. 2. many ſhall ariſe; Chriſt here tells us, thoſe many ſhall be all: All muſt appear before the Judge, and therefore all muſt be rais'd; every Perſon, and the whole of every Perſon; every Soul ſhall return to its Body, and every Bone to its Bone. The Grave is the Priſon of dead Bodies, where they are detained; their Furnace, where they are conſum'd, (Job 24. 19.) yet in proſpect of their Reſurrection we may call it their Bed, where they ſleep to be awak'd again; their Treaſury, where they are laid up to be uſed again. Thoſe that are not put into Graves, yet ſhall ariſe; but becauſe moſt are put into Graves, Chriſt uſeth this Expreſſion, All that are in the Graves. The Jews uſed the Word Sheol, for the Grave, which ſignifies the State of the Dead; all that are in that State ſhall hear.

3. How they ſhall be rais'd. Two Things are here told us.

1. The Efficient of this Reſurrection; they ſhall hear his Voice, i. e. he ſhall cauſe them to hear it, as Lazarus was made to hear that Word, Come forth; a Divine Power ſhall go along with the Voice, to put Life into them, and enable them to obey it. When Chriſt roſe, there was no Voice heard, not a Word ſpoken, becauſe he roſe by his own Power; but at the Reſurrection of the Children of Men, we find Three Voices ſpoken of, 1 Theſ. 4. 16. The Lord ſhall deſcend with a Shout, the Shout of a King, with the Voice of the Archangel; either Chriſt himſelf, the Prince of the Angels, or, the Commander in Chief under him, of the heavenly Hoſts; and with the Trumpet of God. The Soldiers Trumpet ſounding the Alarm of War, the Judges Trumpet publiſhing the Summons to the Court.

2. The Effect of it; they ſhall come forth out of their Graves, as Priſoners out of their Priſon-Houſe; they ſhall ariſe out of the Duſt, and ſhake themſelves from it; ſee Iſa. 52. 1, 2, 11. But that's not all, they ſhall appear before Chriſt's Tribunal; ſhall come forth as thoſe that are to be try'd, come forth to the Bar, publickly to receive their Doom.

4. To what they ſhall be rais'd; to a different State of Happineſs or Miſery, according to their different Character; to a State of Retribution, according to what they did in the State of Probation.

1. They that have done Good ſhall come forth to the Reſurrection of Life; they ſhall live again to live for ever. Note, 1. Whatever Name Men are call'd by, or whatever plauſible Profeſſion they make, it will be well in the great Day with thoſe only that have done Good, have done that which is pleaſing to God, and profitable to others. 2. The Reſurrection of the Body will be a Reſurrection of Life to all thoſe, and thoſe only, that have been ſincere and conſtant in doing Good. They ſhall not only be publickly acquitted, as a pardoned Criminal, we ſay, has his Life, but they ſhall be admitted into the Preſence of God, and that's Life, 'tis better than Life; they ſhall be attended with Comforts in Perfection. To live is to be happy, and they ſhall be advanc'd above the Fear of Death; that's Life indeed, in which Mortality is for ever ſwallowed up.

2. They that have done Evil, to the Reſurrection of Damnation; they ſhall live again to be for ever dying. The Phariſees thought the Reſurrection pertained only to the Juſt, but Chriſt here rectifies that Miſtake. Note, 1. Evil Doers, whatever they pretend, will be treated in the Day of Judgment as evil Men. 2. The Reſurrection will be to evil Doers, that did not by Repentance undo what they had done amiſs, a Reſurrection of Damnation. They ſhall come forth to be publickly convicted of Rebellion againſt God, and publickly condemn'd to everlaſting Puniſhment; to be ſentenc'd to it, and immediately ſent to it without Reprieve; ſuch will the Reſurrection be.

Secondly, Obſerve what is here ſaid concerning the Mediator's Authority to execute Judgment, v. 22, 23, 24, 27. As he hath an Almighty Power, ſo he has a Sovereign Juriſdiction; and who ſo fit to preſide in the great Affairs of the other Life, as he who is the Father and Fountain of Life? Here's,

1. Chriſt's Commiſſion or Delegation to the Office of a Judge, which is twice ſpoken of here; v. 22. He hath committed all Judgment to the Son; and again, v. 27. Hath given him Authority.

(1.) The Father judgeth no Man; not that the Father has reſign'd the Government, but he is pleas'd to govern by Jeſus Chriſt; ſo that Man is not under the Terror of dealing with God immediately, but hath the comfort of Acceſs to him by a Mediator. The Father judgeth no Man, i. e. (1.) He doth not rule us by the meer right of Creation, but by Covenant, and upon certain Terms, ſettled by a Mediator. Having made us, he may do what he pleaſeth with us, as the Potter with the Clay; but he doth not do ſo, he draws us with the Cords of a Man. (2.) He doth not determine our everlaſting Condition by the Covenant of Innocency, nor take the Advantage he has againſt us, for the Violation of that Covenant, the Mediator having undertaken to make a vicarious Satisfaction, upon which the Matter is referred to him, and God is willing to enter upon a new Treaty. Not under the Law of the Creator, but the Grace of the Redeemer.

(2.) He hath committed all Judgment to the Son, hath conſtituted him Lord of all, Acts 10. 36. Rom. 14. 9. as Joſeph in Egypt, Gen. 41. 40. This was propheſied of, Pſal. 72. 1. Iſa. 11. 3, 4. Jer. 23. 5. Mic. 5. 1, 4. Pſal. 67. 4. and 96. 13. and 98. 9. All Judgment is committed to our Lord Jeſus; for, (1.) He is entruſted with the Adminiſtration of the providential Kingdom, is Head over all Things, Eph. 1. 20. Head of every Man, 1 Cor. 11. 3. All Things conſiſt by him, Col. 1. 17. (2.) He is impowered to make Laws, immediately to bind Conſcience. I ſay unto you, is now the Form in which the Statutes of the Kingdom of Heaven run: Be it Enacted by the Lord Jeſus, and by his Authority. All the Acts now in Force are touched with his Scepter. (3.) He is authorized to appoint and ſettle the Terms of the New Covenant, and to draw up the Articles of Peace between God and Man; 'tis God in Chriſt that reconciles the World, and to him he has given Power to confer Eternal Life. The Book of Life is the Lamb's Book; by his Award we muſt ſtand or fall. (4.) He is commiſſioned to carry on, and compleat the War with the Powers of Darkneſs; to caſt out, and give Judgment againſt the Prince of this World, John 12. 31. He is commiſſioned, not only to judge, but to make War, Rev. 19. 12. All that will fight for God againſt Satan, muſt liſt themſelves under his Banner. (5.) He is conſtituted ſole Manager of the Judgment of the great Day. The Ancients generally underſtood theſe Words of that crowning Act of his Judicial Power. The final and univerſal Judgment is committed to the Son of Man, the Tribunal is his, 'tis the Judgment-Seat of Chriſt; the Retinue is his, his mighty Angels; he will try the Cauſes, and paſs the Sentence, Acts 17. 31.

(3.) He hath given him Authority to execute Judgment alſo, v. 27. Obſerve, (1.) What the Authority is which our Redeemer is inveſted with: an Authority to execute Judgment; he has not only a Legiſlative and Judicial Power, but an Executive Power too. The Phraſe here is uſed particularly for the Judgment of Condemnation, Jude 15. ποιῆσαι κρίσιν, to execute Judgment upon all; the ſame with his taking Vengeance, 2 Theſ. 1. 8. The Ruin of impenitent Sinners comes from the Hand of Chriſt; he that executes Judgment upon them, is the ſame that would have wrought Salvation for them, which makes the Sentence unexceptionable; and there's no Relief againſt the Sentence of the Redeemer: Salvation itſelf cannot ſave thoſe whom the Saviour condemns, which makes the Ruin remedileſs. (2.) Whence he has that Authority; the Father gave it him. Chriſt's Authority, as Mediator, is delegated and derived; he acts as the Father's Vicegerent, as the Lord's Anointed, the Lord's Chriſt.

Now all this redounds very much to the Honour of Chriſt, acquitting him from the Guilt of Blaſphemy, in making himſelf equal with God; and very much to the Comfort of all Believers, who may, with the greateſt Aſſurance, venture their All in ſuch hands.

2. Here are the Reaſons (Reaſons of State) for which this Commiſſion was given him. He hath all Judgment committed to him for two Reaſons.

(1.) Becauſe he is the Son of Man; which ſpeaks theſe Three Things. (1.) His Humiliation and gracious Condeſcenſion. Man is a Worm, the Son of Man a Worm, yet this was the Nature, this the Character which the Redeemer aſſumed, in purſuance of the Counſels of Love; this low Eſtate he ſtoop'd to, and ſubmitted to all the Mortifications attending it, becauſe it was his Father's Will; in recompence therefore of this wonderful Obedience, God did thus dignify him; becauſe he condeſcended to be the Son of Man, his Father made him Lord of All, Phil. 2. 8, 9. (2.) His Affinity and Alliance to us. The Father has committed the Government of the Children of Men to him, becauſe being the Son of Man, he is of the ſame Nature with thoſe whom he is ſet over, and therefore the more unexceptionable, and the more acceptable as a Judge. Their Government ſhall proceed from the midſt of them, Jer. 30. 20. Of this that Law was typical: One of thy Brethren ſhalt thou ſet King over thee, Deut. 17. 15. (3.) His being the Meſſiah promis'd. In that famous Viſion of his Kingdom and Glory, Dan. 7. 13, 14. he is call'd the Son of Man; and, Pſal. 8. 4, 5, 6. thou haſt made the Son of Man have Dominion over the Works of thy Hands. He is the Meſſiah, and therefore is inveſted with all this Power. The Jews uſually called the Chriſt the Son of David; but Chriſt uſually called himſelf the Son of Man, which was the more humble Title, and ſpeaks him a Prince and Saviour, not to the Jewiſh Nation only, but to the whole Race of Mankind.

(2.) That all Men ſhould honour the Son, v. 23. The honouring of Jeſus Chriſt is here ſpoken of, (1.) As God's great Deſign. The Son intended to glorify the Father, and therefore the Father intended to glorify the Son, John 13. 32. (2.) As Man's great Duty in compliance with that Deſign. If God will have the Son honoured, it is the Duty of all thoſe to honour him, to whom he is made known. Obſerve here,

1. The Dignity that is to be done to our Lord Jeſus. We muſt honour the Son; muſt look upon him as one that is to be honoured, both upon the Account of his tranſcendent Excellencies and Perfections in himſelf, and the Relations he ſtands in to us, and muſt ſtudy to give him Honour accordingly; muſt confeſs that he is Lord, and worſhip him; muſt honour him who was diſhonoured for us.

2. The Degree of it; Even as they honour the Father. This ſuppoſeth it our Duty to honour the Father; for revealed Religion is founded on natural Religion, and directs us to honour the Son, to honour him with Divine Honour; we muſt honour the Redeemer with the ſame Honour that we honour the Creator with. So far was it from Blaſphemy, that he made himſelf equal with God, that it is the higheſt Injury that can be, for us to make him otherwiſe. The Truths and Laws of the Chriſtian Religion, as far as they are revealed, are as ſacred and honourable as thoſe of natural Religion, and to be equally had in eſtimation; for we lie under the ſame Obligations to Chriſt, the Author of our Well-Being, that we lie under to the Author of our Being; and have as neceſſary a dependance upon the Redeemer's Grace, as upon the Creator's Providence, which is a ſufficient Ground for this Law, to honour the Son as we honour the Father.

To enforce this Law, 'tis added, He that honours not the Son, honours not the Father, which hath ſent him. Some pretend a reverence for the Creator, and ſpeak honourably of him, who make light of their Redeemer, and ſpeak contemptibly of him; but let ſuch know, that the Honours and Intereſts of the Father and Son are ſo inſeparably twiſted and interwoven, that the Father never reckons himſelf honoured by any that diſhonour the Son. Note, (1.) Indignities done to the Lord Jeſus, reflect upon God himſelf, and will ſo be conſtrued and reckoned for in the Court of Heaven: The Son having ſo far eſpous'd the Father's Honour, as to take to himſelf the Reproaches caſt on him, Rom. 15. 3. The Father doth no leſs eſpouſe the Son's Honour, and counts himſelf ſtruck at through him. (2.) The Reaſon of this is, becauſe the Son is ſent and commiſſioned by the Father; 'tis the Father which hath ſent him. Affronts to an Ambaſſador are juſtly reſented by the Prince that ſends him. And by this Rule, thoſe who truly honour the Son, honour the Father alſo; ſee Phil. 2. 11.

3. Here's the Rule by which the Son goes in executing this Commiſſion, ſo thoſe Words ſeem to come in, v. 24. He that heareth, and believeth, hath Everlaſting Life. Where we have the Subſtance of the whole Goſpel; the Preface commands Attention to a Thing moſt weighty, and Aſſent to a Thing moſt certain; Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, I, to whom you hear all Judgment is committed, I, in whoſe Lips is a Divine Sentence: Take from me the Chriſtian's Character and Charter.

1. The Character of a Chriſtian; He that heareth my Word, and believes on him that ſent me. To be a Chriſtian indeed, is, (1.) To hear the Word of Chriſt. 'Tis not enough to be within hearing of it, but we muſt attend on it, as Scholars on the Inſtructions of their Teachers; and attend to it, as Servants to the Commands of their Maſters; we muſt hear and obey it, muſt abide by the Goſpel of Chriſt as the fixed Rule of our Faith and Practice. (2.) To believe on him that ſent him, for Chriſt's Deſign is to bring us to God; and as he is the firſt Original of all Grace, ſo he is the laſt Object of all Faith. Chriſt is our Way, God is our Reſt. We muſt believe on God as having ſent Jeſus Chriſt, and recommended himſelf to our Faith and Love, by manifeſting his Glory in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Cor. 4. 6. as his Father and our Father.

2. The Charter of a Chriſtian, which all thoſe are intereſted in, that are Chriſtians indeed. See what we get by Chriſt; 1. A Charter of Pardon, He ſhall not come into Condemnation: The Grace of the Goſpel is a full Diſcharge from the Curſe of the Law. A Believer ſhall not only not lie under Condemnation eternally, but not come into Condemnation now; not come into the Danger of it, Rom. 8. 11. not come into Judgment, not be ſo much as arraign'd. 2. A Charter of Privileges; he is paſſed out of Death to Life, is inveſted in a preſent Happineſs in ſpiritual Life, and intituled to a future Happineſs in eternal Life. The Tenor of the firſt Covenant was, Do this and live; the Man that doth them ſhall live in them. Now this proves Chriſt equal with the Father, that he has Power to propoſe the ſame Benefit to the Hearers of his Word, that had been propoſed to the Keepers of the old Law, viz. Life; hear and live, believe and live, is what we may venture our Souls upon when we are diſabled to do and live, ſee John 17. 2.

4. Here's the Righteouſneſs of his Proceedings purſuant to this Commiſſion, v. 30. All Judgment being committed to him, we cannot but ask how he manageth it? And here he anſwers, My Judgment is juſt. All Chriſt's Acts of Government, both Legiſlative and Judicial, are exactly agreeable to the Rules of Equity, ſee Prov. 8. 8. There can lie no Exceptions againſt any of the Determinations of the Redeemer; and therefore as there ſhall be no Repeal of any of his Statures, ſo there ſhall be no Appeal from any of his Sentences.

His Judgments are certainly juſt, for they are directed,

1. By the Father's Wiſdom; I can of my own ſelf do nothing, nothing without the Father; but as I hear, I judge. As he had ſaid before, v. 19. the Son can do nothing but what he ſees the Father do; ſo here, nothing but what he hears the Father ſay. As I hear, (1.) From the ſecret eternal Counſels of the Father, ſo I judge. Would we know what we may depend upon in our dealing with God? Hear the Word of Chriſt; we need not dive into the Divine Counſels, thoſe ſecret Things, which belong not to us, but attend to the revealed Dictates of Chriſt's Government and Judgment, and thoſe will furniſh us with an unerring Guide; for what Chriſt has adjudged, is an exact Copy or Counterpart of what the Father has decreed. (2.) From the publiſhed Records of the Old Teſtament. Chriſt in all the Execution of his Undertaking, had an Eye to the Scripture, and made it his Buſineſs to conform to that, and fulfil that, as it was written in the Volume of the Book. Thus he has taught us to do nothing of our ſelves, but as we hear from the Word of God, ſo to judge of Things and act accordingly.

2. By the Father's Will; My Judgment is juſt, and cannot be otherwiſe, becauſe I ſeek not mine own Will, but his who ſent me. Not as if the Will of Chriſt were contrary to the Will of the Father, as the Fleſh is contrary to the Spirit in us. But (1.) Chriſt had, as Man, the natural and innocent Affections of the humane Nature, Senſe of Pain, and Pleaſure, an Inclination to Life, an Averſion to Death, yet he pleaſed not himſelf; did not confer with theſe, nor conſult theſe, when he was to go on in his Undertaking, but acquieſc'd intirely in the Will of his Father. (2.) What he did as Mediator was not the Reſult of any peculiar, particular Purpoſe and Deſign of his own; what he did ſeek to do, was not for his own Mind's ſake, but he was therein guided by his Father's Will, and the Purpoſe which he had purpoſed to himſelf. This our Saviour did upon all Occaſions refer himſelf to, and govern himſelf by.

Thus our Lord Jeſus has open'd his Commiſſion, (whether to the Conviction of his Enemies, or no) to his own Honour, and the Everlaſting Comfort of all his Friends, who here ſee him able to ſave to the uttermoſt.

31 ¶ If I bear witneſs of my ſelf, my witneſs is not true. 32 There is another that beareth witneſs of me, and I know that the witneſs which he witneſſeth of me, is true. 33 Ye ſent unto John, and he bare witneſs unto the truth. 34 But I receive not teſtimony from man: but theſe things I ſay, that ye might be ſaved. 35 He was a burning and a ſhining light: and ye were willing for a ſeaſon to rejoice in his light. 36 ¶ But I have a greater witneſs than that of John; for the works which the Father hath given me to finiſh, the ſame works that I do, bear witneſs of me, that the Father hath ſent me. 37 And the Father himſelf which hath ſent me, hath born witneſs of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor ſeen his ſhape. 38 And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath ſent, him ye believe not. 39 ¶ Search the ſcriptures, for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which teſtify of me. 40 And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life. 41 I receive not honour from men. 42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you. 43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another ſhall come in his own name, him ye will receive. 44 How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and ſeek not the honour that cometh from God only. 45 Do not think that I will accuſe you to the Father: there is one that accuſeth you, even Moſes, in whom ye truſt. 46 For had ye believed Moſes, ye would have believed me: for he wrote of me. 47 But if ye believe not his writings, how ſhall ye believe my words?

In theſe Verſes our Lord Jeſus proves and confirms the Commiſſion he had produc'd, and makes it out that he was ſent of God, to be the Meſſiah.

1. He ſets aſide his own Teſtimony of himſelf, v. 31. If I bear Witneſs of myſelf, tho' it is infallibly true, John 8.14. yet according to the common Rule of Judgment among Men, you will not admit it as legal Proof, nor allow it to be given in Evidence. Now, (1.) This reflects Reproach upon the Sons of Men, and their Veracity and Integrity. Surely we may ſay deliberately, what David ſaid in haſte, All Men are Lyars, elſe it would never have been ſuch a received Maxim, That a Man's Teſtimony of himſelf is ſuſpicious, and not to be relied on; 'tis a Sign that Self-love is ſtronger than the Love of Truth. And yet, (2.) It reflects Honour on the Son of God, and ſpeaks his wonderful Condeſcenſion, that tho' he is the faithful Witneſs, the Truth itſelf, who may challenge to be credited upon his Honour, and his own ſingle Teſtimony, yet is pleas'd to wave his Privilege, and for the Confirmation of our Faith, refers himſelf to his Vouchers, that we might have full Satisfaction.

2. He produceth other Witneſſes that bear Teſtimony to him that he was ſent of God.

Firſt, The Father himſelf bore Teſtimony to him, v. 32. There is another that beareth Witneſs, which I take to be meant of God the Father, for Chriſt mentions his Teſtimony with his own, John 8. 18. I bear Witneſs of myſelf, and the Father beareth Witneſs of me. Obſerve,

1. The Seal which the Father put to his Commiſſion. He beareth Witneſs of me, not only hath done ſo by a Voice from Heaven, but ſtill doth ſo by the Tokens of his Preſence with me. See who they are to whom God will bear Witneſs. (1.) To thoſe whom he ſends and employs; where he gives Commiſſions, he gives Credentials. (2.) To thoſe who bear Witneſs to him; ſo Chriſt did. God will own and honour thoſe that own and honour him. (3.) To thoſe who decline bearing Witneſs of themſelves; ſo Chriſt did. Thoſe that humble and abaſe themſelves, and ſeek not their own Glory, God will take care they ſhall not loſe by it.

2. The Satisfaction Chriſt had in this Teſtimony; I know that the Witneſs which he witneſſeth of me is true. I am very well aſſured that I have a divine Miſſion, and do not in the leaſt heſitate concerning it, thus he had the Witneſs in himſelf. The Devil tempted him to queſtion his being the Son of God, but he never yielded.

Secondly, John Baptiſt witneſſed to Chriſt, v. 33, &c. John came to bear Witneſs of the Light, Chap. 1.7. his Buſineſs was to prepare his Way, and direct People to him; Behold the Lamb of God. Now the Teſtimony of John was, 1. A ſolemn and publick Teſtimony; ye ſent an Embaſſy of Prieſts and Levites to John, which gave him an Opportunity of publiſhing what he had to ſay; 'twas not a popular, but a judicial Teſtimony. 2. 'Twas a true Teſtimony; he bore Witneſs to the Truth, as a Witneſs ought to do; the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth. Chriſt doth not ſay, he bore Witneſs to me, tho' every one knew he did, but like an honeſt Man, he bore Witneſs to the Truth. Now John was confeſſedly ſuch a holy, good Man, ſo mortified to the World, and ſo converſant with Divine Things, that it could not be imagined he ſhould be guilty of ſuch a Forgery and Impoſture, as to ſay what he did concerning Chriſt, if it had not been ſo, and if he had not been ſure of it.

Two Things are added concerning John's Teſtimony.

1. That it was a Teſtimony, ex abundanti, more than he needed to vouch; v. 34. I receive not Teſtimony from Men. Tho' Chriſt ſaw fit to quote John's Teſtimony, 'tis with a Proteſtation that it ſhall not be deemed or conſtrued ſo as to prejudice the Prerogative of his Self-ſufficiency. Chriſt needs no Letters of Commendation, no Teſtimonials or Certificates, but what his own Worth and Excellency brings with him: why then did Chriſt here urge the Teſtimony of John? Why, theſe things I ſay that ye might be ſaved. This he aimed at in all his Diſcourſes, to ſave not his own Life, but others Souls; he produced John's Teſtimony, becauſe being one of themſelves, it was to be hoped they would hearken to it. Note, (1.) Chriſt deſires, and deſigns the Salvation, even of his Enemies and Perſecutors. (2.) The Word of Chriſt is the ordinary Means of Salvation. (3.) Chriſt in his Word conſiders our Infirmities, and condeſcends to our Capacities; conſulting not ſo much what it befits ſo great a Prince to ſay, as what we can bear, and what will be moſt likely to do us good.

2. That it was a Teſtimony, ad hominem, becauſe John Baptiſt was one whom they had a Reſpect for, v. 35. He was a Light among you. Obſerve,

1. The Character of John Baptiſt, He was a burning and a ſhining Light. Chriſt oft ſpoke honourably of John, he was now in Priſon, under a Cloud, yet Chriſt gives him his due Praiſe, which we muſt be ready to do to all that faithfully ſerve God. (1.) He was a Light not, Φῶς, Lux; ſo Chriſt was the Light, but λύχνος, Lucerna, a Luminary, a derived, ſubordinate Light. His Office was to enlighten a dark World with Notices of the Meſſiah's Approach, to whom he was as the Morning-Star. (2.) He was a burning Light, which notes Sincerity; painted Fire may be made to ſhine, but that which burns, is true Fire. It notes alſo his Activity, Zeal, and Fervency, burning in Love to God, and the Souls of Men; Fire is always working on itſelf or ſomething elſe, ſo is a good Miniſter. (3.) He was a ſhining Light, which notes either his exemplary Converſation, in which our Light ſhines, Mat. 5.18. Or, an eminent diffuſive Influence. He was illuſtrious in the Sight of others; tho' he affected Obſcurity, Retirement, and was in the Deſarts, yet ſuch was his Doctrine, his Baptiſm, his Life, that he became very remarkable, and attracted the Eyes of the Nation.

2. The Affections of the People to him; Ye were willing for a Seaſon to rejoice in his Light. (1.) It was a Tranſport they were in upon the appearing of John; ye were willing ἠθελήσατε, ye delighted to rejoice in the Light; you were very proud that you had ſuch a Man among you that was the Honour of your Country; ye were willing, ἀγαλλιαθῆναι, willing to dance and make a Noiſe about his Light, as Boys about a Bonfire. (2.) It was but Tranſient, and ſoon over; ye were fond of him, πρὸς ὥραν, for an Hour, for a Seaſon, as little Children are fond of a new Thing; ye were pleas'd with John a while, but ſoon grew weary of him and his Miniſtry, and ſaid he had a Devil, and now you have him in Priſon. Note, Many that ſeem to be affected and pleas'd with the Goſpel at firſt, afterwards deſpiſe and reject it; 'tis common for forward and noiſy Profeſſors to cool and fall off. Theſe here rejoiced in John's Light, but never walk'd in it, and therefore did not ſtick to it, like the ſtony Ground. While Herod was a Friend to John Baptiſt, the People careſs'd him, but when he fell under Herod's Frowns he loſt their Favours. Ye were willing to countenance John, πρὸς ὥραν, i. e. for temporal Ends, ſo ſome take it; you were glad of him, in hopes to make a Tool of him by his Intereſt, and under the Umbrage of his Name, to have ſhaken off the Roman Yoke, and recover'd the Civil Liberty and Honour of your Country. Now, (1.) Chriſt mentions their Reſpects to John, to condemn them for their preſent Oppoſition to him, to whom John bore Witneſs. If they had continued their Veneration for John, as they ought to have done, they would have embraced Chriſt. (2.) He mentions the paſſing away of their Reſpects, to juſtify God in depriving them, as he had now done, of John's Miniſtry, and putting that Light under a Buſhel.

Thirdly, Chriſt's own Works witneſſed to him; v. 36. I have a Teſtimony greater than that of John, for if we believe the Witneſs of Men, ſent of God, as John was, the Witneſs of God, immediately, and not by the Miniſtry of Men, is greater, 1 Joh. 5.9. Obſerve, Tho' the Witneſs of John was a leſs cogent, and leſs conſiderable Witneſs, yet our Lord was pleas'd to make uſe of it. We muſt be glad of all the Supports that offer themſelves for the Confirmation of our Faith, tho' they may not amount to a Demonſtration, and not invalidate any, under pretence there are others more concluſive; we have occaſion for them all.

Now this greater Witneſs was the Works which his Father had given him to finiſh. That is,

1. In General. The whole Courſe of his Life and Miniſtry, his revealing God and his Will to us, ſetting up his Kingdom among Men, reforming the World, deſtroying Satan's Kingdom, reſtoring fallen Man to his Primitive Purity and Felicity, and ſhedding abroad in Men's Hearts the Love of God, and one another. All that Work, of which he ſaid when he died, It is finiſhed, it was all, from firſt, to laſt, Opus Deo dignum; all he ſaid and did was holy and heavenly, and a divine Purity, Power, and Grace ſhone in it, and prov'd abundantly that he was ſent of God.

2. In Particular. The Miracles he wrought for the Proof of his Divine Miſſion witneſſed of him. Now it is here ſaid, 1. That theſe Works were given him by the Father, that is, he was both appointed, and impower'd to work them, for as Mediator, he derived both Commiſſion and Strength from his Father. 2. They were given him to finiſh; he muſt do all thoſe Works of Wonder which the Counſel and Foreknowledge of God had before determined to be done; and his finiſhing them proves a Divine Power, for as for God his Work is perfect. 3. Theſe Works did bear Witneſs of him, did prove that he was ſent of God, and that what he ſaid concerning himſelf was true; ſee Heb. 2. 4. Acts 2. 22. That the Father had ſent him, as a Father, not as a Maſter ſends his Servant on an Errand, but as a Father ſends his Son to take Poſſeſſion for himſelf; if God had not ſent him, he would not have ſeconded him, would not have ſeal'd him, as he did by the Works he gave him to do, for the World's Creator will never be its Deceiver.

Fourthly, He produceth more fully than before his Father's Teſtimony concerning him, v. 27. The Father that ſent me hath borne Witneſs of me. The Prince doth not uſe to follow his Ambaſſador himſelf to confirm his Commiſſion, viva voce, but God was pleas'd to bear Witneſs of his Son himſelf, by a Voice from Heaven at his Baptiſm, Mat. 3. 17. This is my Ambaſſador, This is my beloved Son. The Jews reckon'd Bath-kol, the Daughter of a Voice, a Voice from Heaven, one of the Ways by which God made known his Mind; in that Way he had own'd Chriſt publickly and ſolemnly, and repeated it, Mat. 17. 5. Note, 1. Thoſe whom God ſends, he will bear Witneſs of; where he gives a Commiſſion, he will not fail to ſeal it; he that never left himſelf without Witneſs, (Acts 14. 17.) will never leave any of his Servants ſo, who go upon his Errand. 2. Where God demands Belief, he will not fail to give ſufficient Evidence, as he has done concerning Chriſt. That which was to be witneſſed concerning Chriſt, was chiefly this, that the God we had offended, was willing to accept of him as Mediator. Now concerning this, he has himſelf (and he was fitteſt to do it) given us full Satisfaction, declaring himſelf well pleaſed in him; if we be ſo, the Work is done.

Now it might be ſuggeſted, if God himſelf thus bore Witneſs of Chriſt, how came it to paſs that he was not univerſally receiv'd by the Jewiſh Nation, and their Rulers? To this Chriſt here anſwers, that it was not to be thought ſtrange, nor their Infidelity weaken his Credibility, for Two Reaſons.

1. Becauſe they were not acquainted with ſuch extraordinary Revelations of God and his Will; Ye have neither heard his Voice at any Time, nor ſeen his Shape, or Appearance. They ſhew'd themſelves to be as ignorant of God, tho' they profeſs'd Relation to him, as we are of a Man we never either ſaw or heard. But what do I talk to you of God's bearing Witneſs of me, he is one you know nothing of, nor have any Acquaintance or Communion with. Note, Ignorance of God is the true Reaſon of Men's rejecting the Record he has given concerning his Son. A right Underſtanding of natural Religion, would diſcover to us ſuch admirable Congruities in the Chriſtian Religion, as would greatly diſpoſe our Minds to the Entertainment of it. Some give this Senſe of it: The Father bore Witneſs of me by a Voice, and the Deſcent of a Dove, which is ſuch an extraordinary Thing, that you never ſaw or heard the like; and yet for my ſake there was ſuch a Voice and Appearance; yea, and you might have heard that Voice, you might have ſeen that Appearance as others did, if you had cloſely attended the Miniſtry of John, but by ſlighting it you miſs'd of that Teſtimony.

2. Becauſe they were not affected, no not with the ordinary Ways by which God had revealed himſelf to them; v. 38. Ye have not his Word abiding in you. They had the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, might they not by them be diſpoſed to receive Chriſt? Yes, if they had had their due Influence upon them. But, (1.) The Word of God was not in them; it was among them, in their Country, in their Hands, but not in them, in their Hearts; not ruling in their Souls, but only ſhining in their Eyes, and ſounding in their Ears. What did it avail them that they had the Oracles of God committed to them, Rom. 3. 2. when they had not theſe Oracles commanding in them? if they had, they would readily have embraced Chriſt. (2.) It did not abide. Many have the Word of God coming into them, and making ſome Impreſſions for a while, but it doth not abide with them, 'tis not conſtantly in them, as a Man at Home, but only now and then as a way-faring Man. If the Word abide in us, if we converſe with it by frequent Meditation, conſult with it upon every Occaſion, and conform to it in our Converſation, we ſhall then readily receive the Witneſs of the Father concerning Chriſt; ſee John 7. 17.

But how did it appear, that they had not the Word of God abiding in them? It appeared by this, whom he hath ſent, him ye believe not. There was ſo much ſaid in the Old Teſtament concerning Chriſt, to direct People when and where to look for him, and ſo to facilitate the Diſcovery of him, that if they had duly conſidered thoſe Things, they could not have avoided the Conviction of Chriſt's being ſent of God; ſo that their not believing in Chriſt, was a certain Sign that the Word of God did not abide in them. Note, The Indwelling of the Word and Spirit, and Grace of God in us, is beſt try'd by the Effects of it, particularly by our receiving what he ſends; the Commands he ſends, the Meſſengers, the Providences he ſends, eſpecially Chriſt, whom he hath ſent.

Fifthly, The laſt Witneſs he calls is the Old Teſtament, which witneſſed of him, and to it he appeals, v. 39, &c. Search the Scriptures, ἐρευνᾶτε; it may be read, either, (1.) Ye do ſearch the Scriptures, and ye do well to do ſo; you read them daily in your Synagogues, you have Rabbies and Doctors, and Scribes, that make it their Buſineſs to ſtudy them, and criticize upon them. The Jews boaſted of the flouriſhing of Scripture Learning in the Days of Hillel, who died about Twelve Years after Chriſt's Birth, and reckoned ſome of thoſe who were then Members of the Sanhedrin, the Beauties of their Wiſdom, and the Glories of their Law; and Chriſt owns, that they did indeed ſearch the Scriptures, but it was in ſearch of their own Glory; ye do ſearch the Scriptures, and therefore if ye were not wilfully blind, you would believe in me. Note, 'Tis poſſible for Men to be very ſtudious in the Letter of the Scripture, and yet to be ſtrangers to the Power and Influence of it. Or, (2.) As we read it, Search the Scriptures; and ſo, 1. It was ſpoken to them in the Nature of an Appeal; you profeſs to receive and believe the Scriptures, there I'll join Iſſue with you, let that be the Judge, provided you will not reſt in the Letter, (hærere in cortice) but will ſearch into it. Note, When Appeals are made to the Scriptures, they muſt be ſearch'd. Search the whole Book of Scripture throughout, compare one Paſſage with another, and explain one by another. We muſt likewiſe ſearch particular Paſſages to the bottom, and ſee not what they ſeem to ſay prima facie, but what they ſay, indeed. 2. It is ſpoken to us in the Nature of Advice, or Command to all Chriſtians to ſearch the Scriptures. Note, All thoſe who would find Chriſt muſt ſearch the Scriptures, not only read them and hear them, but ſearch them. Which notes, (1.) Diligence in ſeeking, Labour and Study, and a cloſe Application of Mind. (2.) Deſire and Deſign of finding. We muſt aim at ſome ſpiritual Benefit and Advantage in reading and ſtudying the Scripture, and often aſk, what am I now ſearching for? We muſt ſearch as for hid Treaſures, Prov. 2. 4. as thoſe that ſeek for Gold or Silver, or that dive for Pearl, Job 28. 1—11. This enobled the Bereans, Acts 17. 11.

Now there are two Things which we are here directed to have in our Eye in our ſearching of the Scripture; Heaven our End, and Chriſt our Way.

1. We muſt ſearch the Scriptures for Heaven as our great End; for in them ye think ye have eternal Life. The Scripture aſſures us of an eternal State ſet before us, and offers to us an eternal Life in that State; it contains the Chart that deſcribes it, the Charter that conveys it, the Direction in the Way that leads to it, and the Foundation upon which the Hope of it is built; and this is worth ſearching for there, where we are ſure to find it. But to the Jews Chriſt ſaith only, ye think ye have eternal Life in the Scriptures; becauſe tho' they did retain the Belief and Hope of eternal Life, and grounded their Expectations of it upon the Scriptures, yet herein they miſs'd it, that they looked for it by the bare reading and ſtudying of the Scripture. 'Twas a common but corrupt Saying among them, He that has the Words of the Law, has eternal Life; they thought they were ſure of Heaven, if they could ſay by Heart, or rather by Rote, ſuch and ſuch Paſſages of Scripture, as they were directed to by the Tradition of the Elders; as they thought all the Vulgar curſed, becauſe they did not thus know the Law, John 7. 49. ſo they concluded all the Learned undoubtedly Bleſſed.

2. We muſt ſearch the Scriptures for Chriſt, as the new and living Way that leads to this End. Thoſe are they, the great and principal Witneſſes that teſtify of me. Note, 1. The Scriptures, even thoſe of the Old Teſtament, teſtify of Chriſt, and by them God bears Witneſs to him. The Spirit of Chriſt in the Prophets teſtified before-hand of him, 1 Pet. 1. 11. the Purpoſes and Promiſes of God concerning him, and the previous Notices of him. The Jews knew very well that the Old Teſtament teſtified of the Meſſias, and were critical in their Remarks upon the Paſſages that looked that way, and yet were careleſs, and wretchedly over-ſeen in the Application of them. 2. Therefore we muſt ſearch the Scriptures, and may hope to find eternal Life in that ſearch, becauſe they teſtify of Chriſt; for this is Life eternal to know him, ſee 1 John 5. 11. Chriſt is the Treaſure hid in the Field of the Scriptures; the Water in thoſe Wells, the Milk in thoſe Breaſts.

To this Teſtimony he annexeth a Reproof of their Infidelity and Wickedneſs in four Inſtances; particularly,

1. Their Neglect of him and his Doctrine, v. 40. Ye will not come to me, that ye might have Life. You ſearch the Scriptures, you believe the Prophets, which you cannot but ſee teſtify of me, and yet you will not come to me, to whom they direct you. Their Eſtrangement from Chriſt was not ſo much the fault of their Underſtandings, as of their Wills. This is expreſs'd as a Complaint; Chriſt offered Life, and it would not be accepted. Note, 1. There is Life to be had with Jeſus Chriſt for poor Souls; we may have Life, the Life of Pardon and Grace, and Comfort and Glory; Life is the Perfection of our Being, and incluſive of all Happineſs, and Chriſt is our Life. 2. Thoſe that would have this Life, muſt come to Jeſus Chriſt for it; we may have it for the coming for. It ſuppoſeth an Aſſent of the Underſtanding to the Doctrine of Chriſt, and the Record given concerning him; it lies in the Conſent of the Will to his Government and Grace, and it produceth an anſwerable Compliance in the Affections and Actions. 3. The only Reaſon why Sinners die, is becauſe they will not come to Chriſt for Life and Happineſs; 'tis not becauſe they cannot, but becauſe they will not. They will neither accept of the Life offered, becauſe Spiritual and Divine; nor will they agree to the Terms on which it is offered, nor apply themſelves to the uſe of the appointed Means; they will not be cured, for they will not obſerve the Methods of Cure. 4. The Wilfulneſs and Obſtinacy of Sinners in rejecting the Tenders of Grace, is a great Grief to the Lord Jeſus, and what he complains of.

Thoſe Words, v. 41. I receive not Honour from Men, come in a Parentheſis, to obviate an Objection againſt him, as if he ſought his own Glory, and made himſelf the Head of a Party, in obliging all to come to him, and applaud him. Note, 1. He did not covet or court the Applauſe of Men; did not in the leaſt affect that worldly Pomp and Splendor which the carnal Jews expected their Meſſiah to appear in. He charged thoſe he cured, not to make him known, and withdrew from thoſe that would have made him King. 2. He had not the Applauſe of Men. Inſtead of receiving Honour from Men, he received a great deal of Diſhonour and Diſgrace from Men, for he made himſelf of no Reputation. 3. He needed not the Applauſe of Men, 'twas no Addition to his Glory, whom all the Angels of God worſhip; nor was he any otherwiſe pleaſed with it, than as it was according to his Father's Will, and for the Happineſs of thoſe, who in giving Honour to him, received much greater Honour from him.

2. Their want of the Love of God, v. 42. I know you very well, that you have not the Love of God in you. Why ſhould I wonder that you do not come to me, when you want even the firſt Principle of natural Religion, which is the Love of God. Note, The Reaſon why People ſlight Chriſt, is becauſe they do not love God; for if we did indeed love God, we would love him who is his expreſs Image, and haſten to him by whom only we may be reſtored to the Favour of God. He had charged them, v. 37. with Ignorance of God, and here with want of Love to him; therefore Men have not the Love of God, becauſe they deſire not the Knowledge of him.

Obſerve, (1.) The Crime charged upon them; You have not the Love of God in you. They pretended a great Love to God, and thought they prov'd it by their Zeal for the Law, the Temple, and the Sabbath, and yet they were really without the Love of God. Note, There are many who make a great Profeſſion of Religion, that yet ſhew they want the Love of God, by their Neglect of Chriſt, and their Contempt of his Commandments; they hate his Holineſs, and undervalue his Goodneſs. Obſerve, 'Tis the Love of God in us, the Love that is ſeated in the Heart, and is a living, active Principle there, that God will accept; the Love ſhed abroad there, Rom. 5. 5.

(2.) The Proof of this Charge, by the perſonal Knowledge of Chriſt, who ſearcheth the Heart, Rev. 2. 23. and knows what is in Man; I know you. Chriſt ſees through all our Diſguiſes, and can ſay to each of us, I know thee. 1. Chriſt knows Men better than their Neighbours know them. The People thought that the Scribes and Phariſees were very devout and good Men, but Chriſt knew they had nothing of the Love of God in them. 2. Chriſt knows Men better than they know themſelves. Theſe Jews had a very good Opinion of themſelves, but Chriſt knew how corrupt their inſide was, notwithſtanding the plauſible Shews of their Outſide; we may deceive ourſelves, but we cannot deceive him. 3. Chriſt knows Men that do not, and will not know him; he looks on thoſe who induſtriouſly look off him, and calls them by their own Name, their true Name, who have not known him.

3. Another Crime charged upon them, is their Readineſs to entertain falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets, while they obſtinately oppos'd him who was the true Meſſias; v. 43. I am come in my Father's Name, and ye received me not; if another ſhould come in his own Name, him ye will receive. Be aſtoniſhed, O Heaven, at this, Jer. 2. 12, 13. For my People have committed Two Evils, great Evils indeed. (1.) They have forſaken the Fountain of living Waters, for they would not receive Chriſt, who came in his Father's Name, had his Commiſſion from his Father, and did all for his Glory. (2.) They have hewn out broken Ciſterns, they hearken to every one who will ſet up in his own Name. They forſake their own Mercies, that's bad enough, and 'tis for lying Vanities, that's worſe. Obſerve here, (1.) Thoſe are falſe Prophets who come in their own Name, who run without being ſent, and ſet up for themſelves only. (2.) It is juſt with God to ſuffer thoſe to be deceived with falſe Prophets, who receive not the Truth in the Love of it, 2 Theſ. 2. 10, 11. The Errors of Antichriſt are the juſt Puniſhment of thoſe who obey not the Doctrine of Chriſt. They that ſhut their Eyes againſt the true Light, are by the Judgment of God given up to wander endleſly after falſe Lights, and to be led aſide after every ignis fatuus. (3.) It is the groſs Folly of many, that while they nauſeate ancient Truths, they are fond of upſtart Errors; they loath Manna, and at the ſame time feed upon Aſhes. After the Jews had rejected Chriſt and his Goſpel, they were continually haunted with Spectres, with falſe Chriſts, and falſe Prophets, Mat. 24. 24. and their Proneneſs to follow ſuch, occaſioned thoſe Diſtractions and Seditions that haſtened their Ruin.

4. They are here charg'd with Pride and Vain-glory, and Unbelief the Effects of it, v. 44. Having ſharply reprov'd their Unbelief, like a wiſe Phyſician, he here ſearcheth into the Cauſe, lays the Axe to the Root. They therefore ſlighted and under-valued Chriſt, becauſe they admired and over valued themſelves. Here's,

1. Their Ambition of worldly Honour. Chriſt deſpiſed it, v. 41. they ſet their Hearts upon it; Ye receive Honour one of another, i. e. ye look for a Meſſiah in outward Pomp, and promiſe your ſelves worldly Honour by him. You receive Honour, i. e. 1. You deſire to receive it, and aim at that in all you do.

2. Ye give Honour to others, and applaud them only that they may return it, and may applaud you. Petimus dabimuſque viciſſim. 'Tis the proud Man's Art to throw Honour upon others, only that it may rebound upon himſelf. 3. You are very careful to keep all the Honours to yourſelves, and confine them to your own Party, as if you had the Monopoly of that which is honourable. 4. What Reſpects are ſhew'd you, you receive them yourſelves, and do not tranſmit them to God, as Herod. Idolizing Men and their Sentiments, and affecting to be idoliz'd by them, and their Applauſes, are Pieces of Idolatry, as directly contrary to Chriſtianity as any other.

2. Their neglect of ſpiritual Honour, call'd here the Honour that comes from God only; this they ſought not, nor minded. Note, 1. True Honour is that which comes from God only, that's real and laſting Honour; thoſe are honourable indeed whom he takes into Covenant and Communion with himſelf. 2. This Honour have all the Saints. All that believe in Chriſt, through him receive the Honour that comes from God: He is not partial, but will give Glory where-ever he gives Grace. 3. This Honour that comes from God, we muſt ſeek, muſt aim at it, and aſk for it, and take up with nothing ſhort of it, Rom. 2. 1. we muſt account it our Reward, as the Phariſees accounted the Praiſe of Men. 4. Thoſe that will not come to Chriſt, and thoſe that are ambitious of worldly Honour, make it appear that they ſeek not the Honour that comes from God, and 'tis their Folly and Ruin.

3. The Influence this had upon their Infidelity; How can ye believe who are thus affected? Obſerve here, (1.) The Difficulty of believing ariſeth from ourſelves, and our own Corruption; we make our Work hard to ourſelves, and then complain it is impracticable. (2.) The Ambition and Affectation of worldly Honour is a great Hindrance to Faith in Chriſt. How can they believe, who make the Praiſe and Applauſe of Men their Idol? When the Profeſſion and Practice of ſerious Godlineſs is unfaſhionable, is every where ſpoken againſt; when Chriſt and his Followers are Men wondered at, and to be a Chriſtian, is to be like a ſpeckled Bird, (and this is the common Caſe) how can they believe, the Top of whoſe Ambition is to make a fair ſhew in the Fleſh?

Sixthly, The laſt Witneſs here called, is Moſes, v. 45, &c. The Jews had a great Veneration for Moſes, and valued themſelves upon their being the Diſciples of Moſes, and pretended to adhere to Moſes in their Oppoſition to Chriſt; but Chriſt here ſhews them,

1. That Moſes was a Witneſs againſt the unbelieving Jews, and accuſed them to the Father; There is one that accuſeth you, even Moſes. This may be underſtood, either, (1.) As ſhewing the Difference between the Law and the Goſpel. Moſes, that is, the Law, accuſeth you, for by the Law is the Knowledge of Sin; it condemns you, 'tis to thoſe that truſt to it a Miniſtration of Death and Condemnation; but it is not the Deſign of Chriſt's Goſpel to accuſe us: Think not that I will accuſe you. Chriſt did not come into the World as a Momus, to find Fault, and pick Quarrels with every body, or as a Spy upon the Actions of Men, or a Promoter to fiſh for Crimes; no, He came to be an Advocate, not an Accuſer, to reconcile God and Man, and not to ſet them more at variance; what Fools were they then, that adhered to Moſes againſt Chriſt, and deſired to be under the Law? Gal. 4. 21. Or, (2.) As ſhewing the manifeſt Unreaſonableneſs of their Infidelity. Think not that I will appeal from your Bar to God's, and challenge you to anſwer there for what you do againſt me, as injured Innocency uſes to do; no, I do not need; you are already accus'd and caſt in the Court of Heaven; Moſes himſelf ſaith enough to convict you of, and condemn you for your Unbelief. Let them not miſtake concerning Chriſt, tho' he was a Prophet, he did not improve his Intereſt in Heaven againſt thoſe that perſecuted him: did not, as Elias, make Interceſſion againſt Iſrael, Rom. 11. 2. or as Jeremiah, deſire to ſee God's Vengeance on them, Jer. 20. 12. Inſtead of accuſing his Crucifiers to his Father, he pray'd Father forgive them. Nor let them miſtake concerning Moſes, as if he would ſtand by them in rejecting Chriſt; no, There is one that accuſeth you, even Moſes, in whom ye truſt. Note 1. External Privileges and Advantages, are commonly the vain Confidence of thoſe who reject Chriſt and his Grace. The Jews truſted in Moſes, and thought their having his Laws and Ordinances would ſave them. 2. Thoſe that confide in their Privileges, and do not improve them, will find, not only that their Confidence is diſappointed, but that thoſe very Privileges will be Witneſſes againſt them.

2. That Moſes was a Witneſs for Chriſt and to his Doctrine, v. 46, 47. he wrote of me. Moſes did particularly propheſy of Chriſt, as the Seed of the Woman, the Seed of Abraham, the Shiloh, the great Prophet; the Ceremonies of the Law of Moſes, were Figures of him that was to come. The Jews made Moſes the Patron of their Oppoſition to Chriſt, but Chriſt here ſhews them their Error, that Moſes was ſo far from writing againſt Chriſt, that he wrote for him, and of him. But,

1. Chriſt here charges it on the Jews, that they did not believe Moſes. He had ſaid, v. 45. that they truſted in Moſes, and yet here undertakes to make out that they did not believe Moſes; they truſted to his Name, but they did not receive his Doctrine in its true Senſe and Meaning; they did not rightly underſtand, nor give Credit to what there was in the Writings of Moſes concerning the Meſſiah.

2. He proves this Charge from their Disbelief of him; Had ye believed Moſes, ye would have believed me. Note, 1. The ſureſt Trial of Faith is by the Effects it produceth; many ſay they believe, whoſe Actions give their Words the Lye, for had they believed the Scriptures, they would have done otherwiſe than they did. 2. Thoſe who rightly believe one part of Scripture, will receive every part. The Prophecies of the Old Teſtament were ſo fully accompliſhed in Chriſt, that they who rejected Chriſt, did in effect deny thoſe Prophecies, and ſet them aſide.

3. From their Disbelief of Moſes, he infers that it was not ſtrange they rejected him; If ye believe not his Writings, how ſhall ye believe my Words? How can it be thought ye ſhould? (1.) If ye do not believe ſacred Writings, thoſe Oracles which are in black and white, which is the moſt certain Way of Conveyance? How ſhall ye believe my Words, which uſe to be leſs regarded? (2.) If you do not believe Moſes, for whom you have ſuch a profound Veneration, how is it likely you ſhould believe me, whom you look upon with ſo much Contempt? See Exod. 6. 12. (3.) If ye believe not what Moſes ſpake and wrote of me, which is a ſtrong and cogent Teſtimony for me, how ſhall ye believe me and my Miſſion? If we admit not the Premiſes, how ſhall we admit the Concluſion? The Truth of the Chriſtian Religion, it being a Matter purely of Divine Revelation, depends upon the Divine Authority of the Scripture; if therefore we believe not the Divine Inſpiration of thoſe Writings, how ſhall we receive the Doctrine of Chriſt?

Thus ends Chriſt's Plea for himſelf, in anſwer to the Charge exhibited againſt him; what Effect it had, we know not; it ſhould ſeem to have had this, their Mouths were ſtopt for the preſent, and they could not for ſhame but drop the Proſecution, and yet their Hearts were hardened.

CHAP. VI.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) The Miracle of the Loaves, v. 1—14. (2.) Chriſt's walking upon the Water, v. 15—21. (3.) The Peoples flocking after him at Capernaum, v. 22—25. (4.) His Conference with them, occaſioned by the Miracle of the Loaves, in which he reproves them for ſeeking carnal Food, and directs them to ſpiritual Food, v. 26, 27. ſhewing them how they muſt labour for ſpiritual Food, v. 28, 29. and what that ſpiritual Food is, v. 30—59. (5.) Their Diſcontent at what he ſaid, and the Reproof he gave them for it, v. 60—65. (6.) The Apoſtacy of many from him, and his Diſcourſe with his Diſciples that adhered to him upon that Occaſion, v. 66—71.

AFter theſe things Jeſus went over the ſea of Galilee, which is the ſea of Tiberias. 2 And a great multitude followed him, becauſe they ſaw his miracles which he did on them that were diſeaſed. 3 And Jeſus went up into a mountain, and there he ſat with his diſciples. 4 And the paſſover, a feaſt of the Jews, was nigh. 5 When Jeſus then lift up his eyes, and ſaw a great company come unto him, he ſaith unto Philip, Whence ſhall we buy bread that theſe may eat? 6 (And this he ſaid to prove him: for he himſelf knew what he would do.) 7 Philip anſwered him, Two hundred penny-worth of bread is not ſufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little. 8 One of his diſciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, ſaith unto him, 9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley-loaves, and two ſmall fiſhes: but what are they among ſo many? 10 And Jeſus ſaid, Make the men ſit down. Now there were much graſs in the place. So the men ſat down, in number about five thouſand. 11 And Jeſus took the loaves, and when he had given thanks, he diſtributed to the diſciples, and the diſciples to them that were ſet down; and likewiſe of the fiſhes, as much as they would. 12 When they were filled, he ſaid unto his diſciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be loſt. 13 Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves, which remained over and above unto them that had eaten. 14 Then thoſe men, when they had ſeen the miracle that Jeſus did, ſaid, This is of a truth that prophet that ſhould come into the world.

We have here an Account of Chriſt's feeding Five Thouſand Men with Five Loaves and two Fiſhes: which Miracle is in this reſpect remarkable, that it is the only Paſſage of the Actions of Chriſt's Life, that is recorded by all the Four Evangeliſts.

John, who uſeth not to relate what had been recorded by thoſe who wrote before him, yet relates this, becauſe of the Reference the following Diſcourſes has to it.

Obſerve, 1. The Place and Time, where and when this Miracle was wrought, which are noted for the greater Evidence of the Truth of the Story; it is not ſaid that it was done once upon a Time, no Body knows where, but the Circumſtances are ſpecified, that the Fact might be enquired into.

1. The Country that Chriſt was in, v. 1. He went over the Sea of Galilee, call'd elſewhere the Lake of Genneſareth, here the Sea of Tiberias, from a City adjoining, which Herod had lately enlarged and beautified, and called ſo in Honour of Tiberius the Emperor, and probably had made his Metropolis. Chriſt did not go directly over, croſs this Inland Sea, but made a coaſting Voyage to another Place on the ſame Side. It is not tempting God to chuſe to go by Water, when there is Convenience for it, even to thoſe Places whither we might go by Land; for Chriſt never tempted the Lord his God, Mat. 4. 7.

2. The Company that he was attended with; a great Multitude followed him becauſe they ſaw his Miracles, v. 2. Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus, while he went about doing Good, lived continually in a Crowd, which gave him more Trouble than Honour. Good and uſeful Men muſt not complain of a Hurry of Buſineſs when they are ſerving God and their Generation; 'twill be time enough to enjoy ourſelves, when we come to that World where we ſhall enjoy God. 2. Chriſt's Miracles drew many after him that were not effectually drawn to him. They had their Curioſity gratified by the Strangeneſs of them, who had not their Conſciences convinced by the Power of them.

3. Chriſt's poſting himſelf advantageouſly to entertain them, v. 3. He went up into a Mountain, and there he ſat with his Diſciples, that he might the more conveniently be ſeen and heard by the Multitude that crowded after him; this was a natural Pulpit, and not like Ezra's, made for the Purpoſe. Chriſt was now driven to be a Field-Preacher, but his Word was never the worſe, nor the leſs acceptable for that, to thoſe who knew how to value it; who followed him ſtill, not only when he went out to a deſart Place, but when he went up to a Mountain, tho' up-hill be againſt Heart. He ſat there, as Teachers uſe to do in Cathedra; he did not ſit at Eaſe, nor ſit in State; yet ſat as one having Authority; ſat ready to receive Addreſſes that were made to him, whoever would, might come and find him there. He ſat with his Diſciples, he condeſcended to take them to ſit with him, to put a Reputation upon them before the People, and give them an Earneſt of the Glory in which they ſhould ſhortly ſit with him. We are ſaid to ſit with him, Eph. 2. 6.

4. The Time when it was. The firſt Words after thoſe Things, do not ſignify that this immediately followed what was related in the foregoing Chapter, for it was a conſiderable Time after, and they ſignify no more but in proceſs of Time; but we are told, v. 4. that it was when the Paſſover was nigh; which is here noted, (1.) Becauſe, perhaps that had brought in all the Apoſtles from their reſpective Expeditions, whither they were ſent as Itinerant Preachers, that they might attend their Maſter to Jeruſalem to keep the Feaſt. (2.) Becauſe it was a Cuſtom with the Jews, religiouſly to obſerve the approach of the Paſſover Thirty Days before with ſome ſort of Solemnity; ſo long before they had it in their Eye, repair'd the Roads, mended Bridges if occaſion were, and diſcours'd of the Paſſover, and the Inſtitution of it. (3.) Becauſe, perhaps the Approach of the Paſſover, when every one knew Chriſt would go up to Jeruſalem, and be abſent for ſome Time, made the Multitude flock the more after him, and attend the more diligently on him. Note, The Proſpect of loſing our Opportunities, ſhould quicken us to improve them with double Diligence. And when ſolemn Ordinances are approaching, 'tis good to prepare for them by converſing with the Word of Chriſt.

2. The Miracle it ſelf. And there obſerve,

1. The Notice Chriſt took of the Crowd that attended him, v. 5. He lift up his Eyes, and ſaw a great Company come to him, poor, mean, ordinary People, no doubt; for ſuch make up the Multitudes, eſpecially in ſuch remote Corners of the Country; yet Chriſt ſhewed himſelf pleaſed with their Attendance, and concerned for their Welfare; to teach us to condeſcend to them of low Eſtate, and not to ſet thoſe with the Dogs of our Flock, whom Chriſt hath ſet with the Lambs of his. The Souls of the Poor are as precious to Chriſt, and ſhould be ſo to us, as thoſe of the Rich.

2. The Enquiry he made concerning the Way of providing for them. He directed himſelf to Philip, who had been his Diſciple from the firſt, and had ſeen all his Miracles, and particularly that of his turning Water into Wine; and therefore it might be expected that he ſhould have ſaid, Lord, if thou wilt, it is eaſy to thee to feed them all; thoſe that, like Iſrael, have been Witneſſes of Chriſt's Works, and have ſhared in the Benefit of them, are inexcuſable, if they ſay, Can he furniſh a Table in the Wilderneſs? Philip was of Bethſaida, in the Neighbourhood of which Town Chriſt now was, and therefore he was moſt likely to help them to Proviſion at the beſt hand; and probably much of the Company was known to him, and he concerned for them. Now Chriſt ask'd, Whence ſhall we buy Bread that theſe may eat? (1.) He takes it for granted that they muſt all eat with him. One would think when he had taught and healed them, he had done his part, and now they ſhould rather have been contriving how to treat him and his Diſciples; for ſome of the People, it's likely, were Rich, and we are ſure that Chriſt and his Diſciples were poor, yet he is ſollicitous to entertain them. Thoſe that will accept Chriſt's ſpiritual Gifts, inſtead of paying for them, ſhall be paid for their Acceptance of them. Chriſt having fed their Souls with the Bread of Life, feeds their Bodies alſo with Food convenient, to ſhew that the Lord is for the Body, and to encourage us to pray for our daily Bread; and to ſet us an Example of Compaſſion to the Poor, Jam. 2. 15. (2.) His Enquiry is, Whence ſhall we buy bread? One would think, conſidering his Poverty, he ſhould rather have ask'd, Where ſhall we have Money to buy for them? But he will rather lay out all he has, than they ſhall want. He will buy to give, and we muſt labour that we may give, Eph. 4. 28.

3. The Deſign of this Enquiry, 'twas only to try the Faith of Philip, for he himſelf knew not what would do, v. 6. Note, 1. Our Lord Jeſus is never at a loſs in his Counſels; but how difficult ſoever the Caſe is, he knows what he has to do, and what courſe he will take; Acts 15. 18. He knows the Thoughts he has towards his People, Jer. 29. 11. and is never at Uncertainty; when we know not, he himſelf knows what he will do. 2. When Chriſt is pleas'd to puzzle his People, 'tis only with a Deſign to prove them. The Queſtion put Philip to a Non-plus, yet Chriſt propoſed it to try whether he would ſay, Lord, if thou wilt exert thy Power for them, we need not buy Bread.

4. Philip's Anſwer to this Queſtion, Two Hundred Pennyworth of Bread is not ſufficient, v. 7. Maſter, it's to no purpoſe to talk of buying Bread for them, for neither will the Country afford ſo much Bread, nor can we afford to lay out ſo much Money, ask Judas elſe, who carries the Bag. Two Hundred Pence of their Money, amounts to about Six Pounds of ours; and if they lay out all that at once, it will exhauſt their Fund, and break them, and they muſt ſtarve themſelves. Grotius computes, that Two Hundred Pennyworth of Bread would ſcarce reach to Two Thouſand, but Philip would go as near hand as he could, will have every one to take a little; and Nature, we ſay, is content with a little. See the Weakneſs of Philip's Faith, that in this Strait, as if the Maſter of the Family had been an ordinary Perſon, he look'd for Supply only in an ordinary Way. Chriſt might now have ſaid to him, as he did afterwards, Have I been ſo long Time with you, and yet haſt thou not known me, Philip? Or, as God to Moſes, in a like Caſe, Is the Lord's Hand waxen ſhort? We are apt thus to diſtruſt God's Power, when viſible and ordinary Means fail, that is, to truſt him no further than we can ſee him.

5. The Information which Chriſt received from another of his Diſciples, concerning the Proviſion they had. 'Twas Andrew, here ſaid to be Simon Peter's Brother; tho' he was ſenior to Peter in Diſcipleſhip, and inſtrumental to bring Peter to Chriſt, yet Peter afterwards ſo far out-ſhone him, that he is deſcribed by his Relation to Peter: He acquainted Chriſt with what they had at hand; and in that we may ſee,

(1.) The Strength of his Love to thoſe whom he ſaw his Maſter concern'd for, in that he was willing to bring out all they had, tho' he knew not but they might want themſelves, and any one would have ſaid, Charity begins at home. He did not go about to conceal it, under pretence of being a better Husband of their Proviſion than the Maſter was, but honeſtly gives in an Account of all they had. There is a Lad here, παιδάριον, a little Lad, probably one that uſed to follow this Company, as Sutlers do the Camp, with Proviſions to ſell, and the Diſciples had beſpoke what he had for themſelves; and it was Five Barley Loaves, and Two ſmall Fiſhes. Here, (1.) The Proviſion was coarſe and ordinary; they were Barley-loaves. Canaan was a Land of Wheat, Deut. 8. 8. its Inhabitants were commonly fed with the fineſt Wheat, Pſal. 81. 16. the Kidneys of Wheat, Deut. 32. 14. yet Chriſt and his Diſciples were glad of Barley-bread. It doth not follow hence, that we ſhould tye our ſelves to ſuch coarſe Fare, and place Religion in it; when God brings that which is finer to our Hands, let us receive it and be thankful; but it doth follow, that therefore we muſt not be deſirous of Dainties, Prov. 23. 5. nor murmur if we be reduced to coarſe Fare, but be content and thankful, and well reconciled to it; Barley-bread is what Chriſt had, and better than we deſerve: Nor let us deſpiſe the mean Proviſion of the Poor, nor look upon it with Contempt, remembring how Chriſt was provided for. (2.) It was but ſhort and ſcanty; there were but Five Loaves, and thoſe ſo ſmall, that one little Lad carried them all; and we find, 2 Kings 4. 42, 43. that Twenty Barley-loaves, with ſome other Proviſion to help out, would not dine a Hundred Men without a Miracle. There were but Two Fiſhes, and thoſe ſmall ones, δύο ὀψάρια, ſo ſmall that one of them was but a Morſel: Piſciculi aſſati, I take the Fiſh to be pickled or ſouſed, for they had not Fire to dreſs them with. The Proviſion of Bread was little, but that of Fiſh was leſs, in proportion to it, ſo that many a bit of dry Bread they muſt eat, before they could make a Meal of this Proviſion; but they were content with it. Bread is Meat for our Hunger, but they that murmured for Fleſh, 'tis ſaid, they asked Meat for their Luſts, Pſal. 78. 18. Well, Andrew was willing the People ſhould have this as far as it would go. Note, A diſtruſtful Fear of wanting

ourſelves, ſhould not hinder us from needful Charity to others.

(2.) See here the Weakneſs of his Faith, in that Word; But what are they among ſo many? To offer that to ſuch a Multitude is but to mock them. Philip and he had not that actual Conſideration of the Power of Chriſt, which they had had ſuch large Experience of, as they ſhould have had. Who fed the Camp of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs? He that could make one Man chaſe a Thouſand, could make one Loaf feed a Thouſand.

6. The Directions Chriſt gave the Diſciples to ſeat the Gueſts, v. 20. Make the Men ſit down, tho' ye have nothing to ſet before them, and truſt me for that; this was like ſending Providence to Market, and going to buy without Money: Chriſt would thus try their Obedience. Obſerve, 1. The Furniture of the Dining-Room; there was much Graſs in that Place, tho' a deſart Place; ſee how bountiful Nature is, makes Graſs to grow upon the Mountains, Pſal. 147. 8. This Graſs was uneaten; God gives not only enough, but more than enough: Here was this Plenty of Graſs where Chriſt was Preaching; the Goſpel brings other Bleſſings along with it; Then ſhall the Earth yield her increaſe, Pſal. 67. 6. This Plenty of Graſs made the Place the more commodious for them that muſt ſit on the Ground, and ſerved them for Cuſhions, or Beds, (as they call'd what they ſat on at Meat, Eſth. 1. 6.) and conſidering what Chriſt ſaith of the Graſs of the Field, Mat. 6. 29, 30. theſe Beds excelled thoſe of Ahaſuerus: Nature's Pomp is the moſt Glorious. 2. The Number of the Gueſts, about Five Thouſand. A great Entertainment, repreſenting that of the Goſpel, which is a Feaſt for all Nations, Iſa. 25. 6. a Feaſt for all Comers.

7. The Diſtribution of the Proviſion, v. 11. Obſerve, 1. It was done with Thankſgiving; he gave Thanks. Note, 1. We ought to give thanks to God for our Food, for 'tis a Mercy to have it, and we have it from the Hand of God, and muſt receive it with Thankſgiving, 1 Tim. 4. 4, 5. And this is the Sweetneſs of our Creature-Comforts, that they will furniſh us with Matter, and give us occaſion for that excellent Duty of Thankſgiving. 2. Tho' our Proviſion be coarſe and ſcanty, tho' we have neither Plenty nor Dainty, yet we muſt give Thanks to God for what we have.

2. It was diſtributed from the Hand of Chriſt by the Hands of his Diſciples, v. 11. Note, 1. All our Comforts come to us originally from the Hand of Chriſt; whoever brings them, 'tis he that ſends them, he diſtributes to them, who diſtribute to us. 2. In diſtributing the Bread of Life to thoſe that follow him, he is pleaſed to make uſe of the Miniſtration of his Diſciples; they are the Servitors at Chriſt's Table, or rather, Rulers in his Houſhold, to give to every one their Portion of Meat in due Seaſon.

3. It was done to univerſal Satisfaction. They did not every one take a little, but all had as much as they would; not a ſhort Allowance, but a full Meal; and conſidering how long they had faſted, with what an Appetite they ſat down, how agreeable this miraculous Food may be ſuppos'd to be above common Food, it was not a little that ſerved them, when they eat as much as they would, and on Free-coſt. Thoſe whom Chriſt feeds with the Bread of Life, he doth not ſtint, Pſal. 81. 10. There were but Two ſmall Fiſhes, and yet they had of them too as much as they would. He did not reſerve them for the better ſort of the Gueſts, and put off the Poor with dry Bread, but treated them all alike, for they were all alike welcome. They who call feeding upon Fiſh faſting, reproach the Entertainment Chriſt here made, which was a full Feaſt.

8. The Care that was taken of the broken Meat.

1. The Orders Chriſt gave concerning it, v. 12. When they were filled, and every Man had within him a ſenſible Witneſs to the Truth of the Miracle, Chriſt ſaid to the Diſciples, the Servants he employ'd, Gather up the Fragments. Note, We muſt always take care that we make no waſte of any of God's good Creatures, for the Grant we have of them, tho' large and full, is with this Proviſo, Wilful Waſte only excepted. 'Tis juſt with God to bring us to the want of that which we make waſte of. The Jews were very careful not to loſe any Bread, or let it fall to the Ground to be trodden upon. Qui panem contemnit, in gravem incidit paupertatem, was a Saying among them. Tho' Chriſt could command Supplies whenever he pleas'd, yet he would have the Fragments gather'd up. When we are filled, we muſt remember that others want, and we may want. Thoſe that would have wherewith to be charitable, muſt be provident. Had this broken Meat been left upon the Graſs, the Beaſts and Fowls would have gather'd it up; but that which is fit to be Meat for Men, is waſted and loſt, if it be thrown to the brute Creatures. Chriſt did not order the broken Meat to be gather'd up till all were fill'd; we muſt not begin to hoard and lay up, till all is laid out that ought to be, for that's with-holding more than is meet. Mr. Baxter notes here, "How much leſs ſhould we loſe God's Word, or Helps, or our "Time, or ſuch greater Mercies?

2. The Obſervance of theſe Orders, v. 13. They fill'd Twelve Baskets with the Fragments; which was an Evidence, not only of the Truth of the Miracle, that they were fed, not with Fancy but with real Food, witneſs thoſe Remains, but of the Greatneſs of it; they were not only filled, but there was all this over and above: ſee how large the Divine Bounty is, it not only fills the Cup, but makes it run over; Bread enough, and to ſpare in our Father's Houſe. The Fragments fill'd Twelve Baskets, one for each Diſciple; they were thus repaid with Intereſt for their Willingneſs to part with what they had for publick Service; ſee 2 Chron. 31. 10. The Jews lay it as a Law upon themſelves, when they have eaten a Meal, to be ſure to leave a Piece of Bread upon the Table, upon which the Bleſſing after Meat may reſt; for it is a Curſe upon the wicked Man, Job 20. 21. that there ſhall none of his meat be left.

3. Here's the Influence which this Miracle had upon the People, who taſted of the Benefit of it, v. 14. they ſaid, This is of a truth that Prophet. Note, 1. Even the vulgar Jews, with great Aſſurance, expected the Meſſias to come into the World, and to be a Great Prophet. They ſpeak here with aſſurance of his coming. The Phariſees deſpis'd them, as not knowing the Law; but it ſhould ſeem they knew more of him, that is the End of the Law, than they did. 2. The Miracles which Chriſt wrought, did clearly demonſtrate that he was the Meſſiah promiſed, a Teacher come from God, the Great Prophet, and could not but convince the amazed Spectators, that this was he that ſhould come. 3. There were many who were convinc'd he was that Prophet which ſhould come into the World, who yet did not cordially receive his Doctrine, for they did not continue in it. Such a wretched incoherence and inconſiſtency there is between the Faculties of the corrupt, unſanctified Soul, that 'tis poſſible for Men to acknowledge that Chriſt is that Prophet, and yet turn a deaf Ear to him.

15 ¶ When Jeſus therefore perceived that they would come and take him by force, to make him a king, he departed again into a mountain himſelf alone. 16 And when even was now come, his diſciples went down unto the ſea. 17 And entered into a ſhip, and went over the ſea towards Capernaum: and it was now dark, and Jeſus was not come to them. 18 And the ſea aroſe, by reaſon of a great wind that blew. 19 So when they had rowed about five and twenty, or thirty furlongs, they ſee Jeſus walking on the ſea, and drawing nigh unto the ſhip: and they were afraid. 21 But he ſaith unto them, It is I, be not afraid. 21 Then they willingly received him into the ſhip, and immediately the ſhip was at the land whither they went.

1. Obſerve, What induced him to retire; becauſe he perceived that they who acknowledged him to be that Prophet that ſhould come into the World, would come and take him by force to make him a King, v. 15. Now here we have an Inſtance,

(1.) Of the irregular Zeal of ſome of Chriſt's Followers; nothing would ſerve but they would make him a King.

Now, 1. This was an Act of Zeal, for the Honour of Chriſt, and againſt the Contempt which the ruling Part of the Jewiſh Church put upon him. They were concerned to ſee ſo great a Benefactor to the World, ſo little eſteem'd of in it, and therefore, ſince Royal Titles are counted the moſt Illuſtrious, they would make him a King, knowing that the Meſſiah was to be a King; and if a Prophet like Moſes, then a Sovereign Prince and Lawgiver like him; and if they cannot ſet him up, upon the holy Hill of Zion, a Mountain in Galilee ſhall ſerve for the preſent. Thoſe whom Chriſt has feaſted with the Royal Dainties of Heaven, ſhould, in return for his Favour, make him their King, and ſet him upon the Throne in their Souls: Let him that has fed us, rule us. But, 2. It was an irregular Zeal; for, 1. It was grounded upon a Miſtake concerning the Nature of Chriſt's Kingdom, as if it were to be of this World; and he muſt appear with outward Pomp, a Crown on his Head, and an Army at his Foot; ſuch a King as this they would make him, which was as great a Diſparagement to his Glory, as it would be to lacker Gold, or paint a Ruby. Right Notions of Chriſt's Kingdom, would keep us to right Methods for the advancing of it. 2. It was excited by the Love of the Fleſh; they would make him their King, who could feed them ſo plentifully without their Toil, and ſave them from the Curſe of eating their Bread in the Sweat of their Face. 3. It was intended to carry on a ſecular Deſign; they hoped this might be a fair Opportunity of ſhaking off the Roman Yoke, which they were weary of. If they had one to head them, who could victual an Army cheaper than another could provide for a Family, they were ſure of the Sinews of the War, and could not fail of Succeſs, and the Recovery of their ancient Liberties. Thus is Religion often proſtituted to a ſecular Intereſt, and Chriſt is ſerv'd only to ſerve a Turn, Rom. 16. 18. Vix quæritur Jeſus, propter Jeſum, ſed propter aliud, Aug. Nay, 4. 'Twas a tumultuous, ſeditious Attempt, and a Diſturbance of the Publick Peace; 'twould make the Country a Seat of War, and expoſe it to the Reſentments of the Roman Power. 5. It was contrary to the Mind of our Lord Jeſus himſelf; for they would take him by force, whether he would or no. Note, Thoſe who force Honours upon Chriſt, which he has not required at their Hands, diſpleaſe him, and do him the greateſt Diſhonour. They that ſay, I am of Chriſt, in Oppoſition to thoſe that are of Apollos, and Cephas, ſo making Chriſt the Head of a Party, take him by force to make him a King, contrary to his own Mind.

(2.) Here's an Inſtance of the Humility, and Self-denial of the Lord Jeſus, that when they would have made him a King, he departed; ſo far was he from countenancing the Deſign, that he effectually quaſhed it. Herein he has left a Teſtimony, (1.) Againſt Ambition, and Affectation of worldly Honour, to which he was perfectly mortified, and has taught us to be ſo. Had they come to take him by force, and make him a Priſoner, he could not have been more induſtrious to abſcond, than he was when they would make him a King. Let not us then covet to be the Idols of the Crowd, nor be deſirous of vain Glory. (2.) Againſt Faction and Sedition, Treaſon and Rebellion, and whatever tends to diſturb the Peace of Kings and Provinces. By this it appears he was no Enemy to Cæſar, nor would have his Followers be ſo, but the quiet in the Land; that he would have his Miniſters decline every Thing that looks like Sedition, or looks towards it, and improve their Intereſt only for their Works ſake.

2. Obſerve whither he retir'd, he departed again into a Mountain, εἰς το ὄρος, into the Mountain, the Mountain where he had preach'd, v. 3. whence he came down into the Plain to feed the People, and then returned to it alone, to be private. Chriſt, tho' ſo uſeful in the Places of Concourſe, yet choſe ſometimes to be alone, to teach us to ſequeſter ourſelves from the World now and then, for the more free Converſe with God and our own Souls; and never leſs alone, ſaith the ſerious Chriſtian, than when alone. Publick Services muſt not joſtle out private Devotions.

2. Here's the Diſciples Diſtreſs at Sea. They that go down to the Sea in Ships, theſe ſee the Works of the Lord, for he raiſeth the ſtormy Wind, Pſal. 107. 23. Apply that to theſe Diſciples.

1. Here's their going down to the Sea in a Ship, v. 16, 17. When Even was come, and they had done their Day's Work, it was time to look homewards, and therefore they went Abroad, and ſet ſail for Capernaum. This they did by particular Direction from their Maſter, with Deſign (as it ſhould ſeem) to get them out of the Way of the Temptation of countenancing thoſe that would have made him a King.

2. Here's the ſtormy Wind ariſing, and fulfilling the Word of God. They were Chriſt's Diſciples, and were now in the way of their Duty, and Chriſt was now in the Mount praying for them, and yet in this Diſtreſs. The Perils and Afflictions of this preſent Time, may very well conſiſt with our Intereſt in Chriſt and his Interceſſion. They had lately been feaſted at Chriſt's Table, but after the Sun-ſhine of Comfort, expect a Storm. (1.) It was now dark, this made the Storm the more dangerous and uncomfortable. Sometimes the People of God are in Trouble, and cannot ſee their Way out; in the Dark concerning the Cauſe of their Trouble, concerning the Deſign and Tendency of it, and what the Iſſue will be. (2.) Jeſus was not come to them. When they were in that Storm, Mat. 8. 21. Jeſus was with them, but now their Beloved had withdrawn himſelf, and was gone. The Abſence of Chriſt is the great Aggravation of the Troubles of Chriſtians. (3.) The Sea aroſe by reaſon of a great Wind. 'Twas calm and fair when they put to Sea; they were not ſo preſumptuous as to lanch out in a Storm, but it aroſe when they were at Sea. In Times of Tranquillity we muſt prepare for Trouble, for it may ariſe when we little think of it. Let it comfort good People, when they happen to be in Storms at Sea, that the Diſciples of Chriſt were ſo; and let the Promiſes of a gracious God ballance the Threats of an angry Sea; tho' in a Storm, and in the Dark, ſo were Chriſt's Diſciples. Clouds and Darkneſs ſometimes ſurround the Children of the Light, and of the Day.

3. Here's Chriſt's ſeaſonable Approach to them when they were in this Peril, v. 19. They had row'd (being forc'd by the contrary Winds to betake themſelves to their Oars) about Twenty five or Thirty Furlongs. The holy Spirit that indicted this, could have aſcertain'd the Number of Furlongs preciſely, but that being only circumſtantial, that's left to be expreſs'd according to the Conjecture of the Penman. And when they were got off a good way at Sea, they ſee Jeſus walking on the Sea. See here, (1.) The Power Chriſt has over the Laws and Cuſtoms of Nature, to controul and diſpenſe with them at his Pleaſure. 'Tis natural for heavy Bodies to ſink in Water, but Chriſt walk'd upon the Water, as upon dry Land; which was more than Moſes's dividing the Water, and walking through the Water. (2.) The Concern Chriſt has for his Diſciples in Diſtreſs; He drew nigh to the Ship; for therefore he walk'd upon the Water, as he rides upon the Heavens for the help of his People, Deut. 33. 26. He will not leave them comfortleſs, when they ſeem to be toſſed with Tempeſts, and not comforted. When they are baniſh'd, as John, into remote Places, or ſhut up as Paul and Silas in cloſe Places, he will find Acceſs to them, and will be nigh them. (3.) The Relief Chriſt gives to his Diſciples in their Fears. They were afraid, more afraid of an Apparition (for ſo they ſuppos'd him to be) than of the Winds and Waves. 'Tis more terrible to wreſtle with the Rulers of the Darkneſs of this World, than with a tempeſtuous Sea. When they thought a Dæmon haunted 'em, and perhaps was inſtrumental to raiſe the Storm, they were more terrified than they had been, while they ſaw nothing in it but what was natural. Note, 1. Our real Diſtreſſes are often much increaſed by our imaginary ones, the Creatures of our own Fancy. 2. Even the Approaches of Comfort and Deliverance are often ſo miſconſtrued, as to become the Occaſions of Fear and Perplexity. We are often not only worſe frighten'd than hurt, but then moſt frighten'd when we are ready to be help'd. But when they were in this Fright, how affectionately did Chriſt ſilence their Fears with that compaſſionate Word, v. 20. It is I, be not afraid. Nothing more powerful to convince Sinners than that Word, I am Jeſus whom thou perſecuteſt; nothing more powerful to comfort Saints than this, I am Jeſus whom thou loveſt: It is I that love thee, and ſeek thy good: Be not afraid of me, no nor of the Storm; when Trouble is nigh, Chriſt is nigh.

4. Here's their ſpeedy Arrival at the Port they were bound for, v. 17. (1.) They welcom'd Chriſt into the Ship; they willingly received him. Note, Chriſt's abſenting himſelf for a Time, is but ſo much the more to endear himſelf at his Return to his Diſciples, that value his Preſence above any Thing; ſee Cant. 3. 4. (2.) Chriſt landed them ſafe at the Shore; immediately the Ship was at Land whither they went. Note, 1. The Ship of the Church, in which the Diſciples of Chriſt have embark'd themſelves, and their All, may be much ſhatter'd and diſtreſs'd, yet it ſhall come ſafe to the Harbour at laſt; toſs'd at Sea, but not loſt; caſt down, but not deſtroy'd; the Buſh burning, but not conſum'd. 2. The Power and Preſence of the Church's King, ſhall expedite and facilitate her Deliverance, and conquer the Difficulties which have baffled the Skill and Induſtry of all her other Friends. The Diſciples had row'd hard, but could not make their Point till they had got Chriſt in the Ship, and then the Work was done ſuddenly. If we have received Chriſt Jeſus the Lord, have received him willingly, tho' the Night be dark, and the Wind high, yet we may comfort ourſelves with this, we ſhall be at ſhore ſhortly, and are nearer to it than we think we are. Many a doubting Soul is fetch'd to Heaven by a pleaſing Surprize, or ever it is aware.

22 ¶ The day following, when the people which ſtood on the other ſide of the ſea, ſaw that there was none other boat there, ſave that one whereinto his diſciples were entered, and that Jeſus went not with his diſciples into the boat, but that his diſciples were gone away alone: 23 (Howbeit there came other boats from Tiberias, nigh unto the place where they did eat bread, after that the Lord had given thanks.) 24 When the people therefore ſaw that Jeſus was not there, neither his diſciples, they alſo took ſhipping, and came to Capernaum, ſeeking for Jeſus. 25 And when they had found him on the other ſide of the ſea, they ſaid unto him, Rabbi, when cameſt thou hither? 26 Jeſus anſwered them, and ſaid, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, Ye ſeek me, not becauſe ye ſaw the miracles, but becauſe ye did eat of the loaves, and were filled. 27 Labour not for the meat which periſheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlaſting life, which the ſon of man ſhall give unto you: for him hath God the Father ſealed.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, The careful Enquiry which the People made afrer Chriſt, v. 23, 24. They ſaw the Diſciples go to Sea, they ſaw Chriſt retire to the Mountain, probably with an Intimation that he deſir'd to be private for ſome Time; but their Hearts being ſet upon it to make him a King, they way-laid his Return; and the Day following, the hot Fit of their Zeal ſtill continuing,

1. They are here much at a Loſs for him; he was gone, and they wot not what was become of him; they ſaw there was no other Boat there, but that in which the Diſciples went off, Providence ſo ordering it for the confirming of the Miracle of his walking on the Sea, for there was no Boat for him to go in. They obſerved alſo, that Jeſus did not go with his Diſciples, but they went off alone, and had left him among them on their Side of the Water. Note, Thoſe who would find Chriſt, muſt diligently obſerve all his Motions, and learn to underſtand the Tokens of his Preſence and Abſence, that they may ſteer accordingly.

2. They are very induſtrious in ſeeking him. They ſearched the Places thereabouts, and when they ſaw that Jeſus was not there, nor his Diſciples, neither he nor any one that could give Tidings of him, they reſolved to ſearch elſewhere. Note, Thoſe that would find Chriſt, muſt accompliſh a diligent Search; muſt ſeek till they find; muſt go from Sea to Sea to ſeek the Word of God, rather than live without it. And thoſe whom Chriſt has feaſted with the Bread of Life, ſhou'd have their Souls carry'd out in earneſt Deſires towards him. Much would have more in Communion with Chriſt. Now, 1. They reſolved to go to Capernaum in queſt of him; there was his Head Quarters, where he uſually reſided. Thither his Diſciples were gone, and they knew he would not be long abſent from them; they that would find Chriſt, muſt go forth by the Foot-ſteps of the Flock. 2. Providence favour'd them with an Opportunity of going thither by Sea, which was the ſpeedieſt way; for there came other Boats from Tiberias, that lay further off upon the ſame Shore, nigh, tho' not ſo nigh to the Place where they did eat Bread, in which they might ſoon make a Trip to Capernaum, and probably the Boats were bound for that Port. Note, Thoſe that in Sincerity ſeek Chriſt, and ſeek Opportunities of Converſe with him, are commonly own'd and aſſiſted by Providence in thoſe Purſuits. The Evangeliſt, having Occaſion to mention their eating the multiplied Bread, adds, after that the Lord had given Thanks, v. 11. So much were the Diſciples affected with their Maſter's giving Thanks, that they can never forget the Impreſſions made upon them by it, but took a Pleaſure in remembring the gracious Words that then proceeded out of his Mouth. That was the Grace and Beauty of that Meal; and made it remarkable, their Hearts burn'd within them.

3. They laid hold on the Opportunity that offer'd itſelf, and they alſo took ſhipping, and came to Capernaum, ſeeking for Jeſus. They did not defer, in hopes to ſee him again on this ſide the Water, but their Convictions being ſtrong, and their Deſires warm, they follow'd him preſently. Good Motions are often cruſh'd, and come to nothing, for want of being proſecuted in time. They came to Capernaum, and for ought appears, theſe unſound hypocritical Followers of Chriſt had a calm and pleaſant Paſſage, while his ſincere Diſciples had a rough and ſtormy one. 'Tis not ſtrange if it fare worſt with the beſt Men in this evil World. They came ſeeking Jeſus. Note, Thoſe that would find Chriſt, and find Comfort in him, muſt be willing to take Pains, and, as thoſe here, compaſs Sea and Land to ſeek and ſerve him, who came from Heaven to Earth to ſeek and ſave us.

Secondly, The Succeſs of this Enquiry, v. 25. They found him on the other ſide of the Sea. Note, Chriſt will be found of thoſe that ſeek him, firſt or laſt; and it's worth while to croſs a Sea, nay to go from Sea to Sea, and from the River to the Ends of the Earth, to ſeek Chriſt, if we may but find him at laſt. Thoſe People appear'd afterwards to be unſound, and not acted by any good Principle, and yet were thus zealous. Note, Hypocrites may be very forward in their Attendance on God's Ordinances. If Men have no more to ſhew for their Love to Chriſt, but only their running after Sermons and Prayers, and their Pangs of Affection to good Preaching, they have Reaſon to ſuſpect themſelves no better than this eager Croud. But tho' theſe People were no better principled, and Chriſt knew it, yet he was willing to be found of them, and admitted them into Fellowſhip with him; if we could know the Hearts of Hypocrites, yet while their Profeſſion is plauſible, we muſt not exclude them our Communion, much leſs when we do not.

Thirdly, The Queſtion they put to him when they found him; Rabbi, when cameſt thou hither? It ſhould ſeem by v. 59. that they found him in the Synagogue. They knew that was the likelieſt Place to ſeek Chriſt in, for it was his Cuſtom to attend publick Aſſemblies for Religious Worſhip, Luke 4. 16. Note, Chriſt muſt be ſought, and will be found in the Congregations of his People, and in the Adminiſtration of his Ordinances; publick Worſhip is what Chriſt chuſeth to own, and grace with his Preſence, and the Manifeſtations of himſelf. There they found him, and all they had to ſay to him was, Rabbi, when cameſt thou hither? They ſaw he would not be made a King, and therefore ſay no more of that, but call him Rabbi, their Teacher. Their Enquiry refers not only to the Time, but to the Manner of his conveying himſelf thither, not only when, but how cameſt thou hither, for there was no Boat for him to come in. They were curious in asking concerning Chriſt's Motions, but not ſolicitous to obſerve their own.

Fourthly, The Anſwer Chriſt gave them, not direct to their Queſtion; What was it to them, when and how he came thither? but ſuch an Anſwer as their Caſe requir'd.

1. He diſcovers the corrupt Principles that they acted from in their following of him, v. 26. Verily, verily I ſay unto you, I that ſearch the Heart, and know what is in Man, I the Amen, the faithful Witneſs, Rev. 3. 14, 15. Ye ſeek me, that's well, but 'tis not from a good Principle; Chriſt knows not only what we do, but why we do it. Theſe follow'd Chriſt, 1. Not for his Doctrine ſake; not becauſe ye ſaw the Miracles. The Miracles were the great Confirmation of his Doctrine, Nicodemus ſought for him for the ſake of them, John 3. 2. and argued from the Power of his Works, to the Truth of his Word; but theſe here were ſo ſtupid and mindleſs, that they never conſider'd that. But, 2. It was for their own Bellies ſake, becauſe ye did eat of the Loaves and were filled; not becauſe he taught them, but becauſe he fed them. He had given them, 1. A full Meal's Meat, they did eat, and were filled; and ſome of them perhaps were ſo poor, that they had not known of a long time before now, what it was to have their Bellies full, to eat and leave. 2. A dainty Meal's Meat; 'tis probable as the miraculous Wine was the beſt Wine, ſo was the miraculous Food, more than ordinary pleaſant. 3. A cheap Meal's Meat, that coſt them nothing, no Reckoning brought in. Note, Many follow Chriſt for Loaves, and not for Love. Thus they do, who aim at ſecular Advantages in their Profeſſion of Religion, and follow it, becauſe by this Craft they got their Preferments; Quanti profuit nobis hæc Fabula de Christo! ſaid one of the Popes: Theſe People complimented Chriſt with Rabbi, and ſhew'd him great Reſpect, yet he told them thus faithfully of their Hypocriſy; his Miniſters muſt hence learn not to flatter thoſe that flatter them, not to be bribed by fair Words not to give faithful Reproofs where there is Cauſe for them; nor cry Peace to all that cry Rabbi to them.

2. He directs them to better Principles, v. 27. Labour for that Meat that endures to everlaſting Life. He had diſcours'd with the Woman of Samaria, under the Similitude of Water; here he ſpeaks of the ſame things under the Similitude of Meat, taking Occaſion from the Loaves they had eaten. His Deſign is,

1. To moderate our worldly Purſuits; Labour not for the Meat that periſheth. This doth not forbid honeſt Labour for Food convenient, 2 Theſſ. 3. 12. But we muſt not make the Things of this World our chief Care and Concern. Note, 1. The Things of the World are Meat that periſheth. Worldly Wealth, Honour and Pleaſure, theſe are Meat, they feed the Fancy, and many times that's all; and fill the Belly, things which Men hunger after as Meat, and glut themſelves with, and which a carnal Heart, as long as they laſt, may make a Shift to live upon; but they periſh, are of a periſhing Nature, wither of themſelves, and are expos'd to a thouſand Accidents; thoſe that have the largeſt Share of them, are not ſure to have them while they live, but are ſure to leave them and loſe them when they die. 2. It is therefore Folly for us inordinately to labour after them. 1. We muſt not labour in Religion, nor work the Works thereof, for this periſhing Meat, with an Eye to this; muſt not make our Religion ſubſervient to a worldly Intereſt, nor aim at ſecular Advantages in ſacred Exerciſes. 2. We muſt not at all labour for this Meat; that is, we muſt not make theſe periſhing things our chief Good, nor make our Care and Pains about them our chief Buſineſs; not ſeek thoſe things firſt, and moſt, Prov. 23. 45.

2. To quicken and excite our gracious Purſuits: Beſtow your Pains to better Purpoſe, and labour for that Meat which belongs to the Soul. Of which he ſhews,

1. That it is unſpeakably deſirable; 'tis Meat which endures to everlaſting Life; 'tis a Happineſs which will laſt as long as we muſt, which not only itſelf endures eternally, but will nouriſh us up to everlaſting Life. The Bleſſings of the New Covenant are our Preparative for eternal Life, our Preſervative to it, and the Pledge and Earneſt of it.

2. It is undoubtedly attainable. Shall all the Treaſures of the World be ranſack'd, and all the Fruits of the Earth gather'd together, to furniſh us with Proviſions that will laſt to Eternity; no, The Sea ſaith, it is not in me; among all the Treaſures hid in the Sand, it cannot be gotten for Gold: but it is that which the Son of Man ſhall give; ἣν δώσει, either which Meat, or which Life the Son of Man ſhall give. Obſerve here, 1. Who gives the Meat; the Son of Man, the great Houſholder, and Maſter of the Stores, who is entruſted with the Adminiſtration of the Kingdom of God among Men, and the Diſpenſation of the Gifts, Graces, and Comforts of that Kingdom, and has Power to give eternal Life, with all the Means of it, and Preparations for it. We are bid to labour for it, as if it were to be got by our own Induſtry, and ſold upon that valuable Conſideration (as the Heathen ſaid, Dii Laboribus omnia vendunt.) But when we have labour'd never ſo much for it, we have not merited it as our Hire, but the Son of Man gives it. And what more free than Gift? It is an Encouragement, that he who has the giving of it is the Son of Man, for then we may hope the Sons of Men that ſeek it, and labour for it, ſhall not fail to have it. 2. What Authority he has to give it; for him hath God the Father ſealed, τοῦτον γὰρ ὁ Πατὴρ ἐσφράγισεν ὁ θεὸς, for him the Father hath ſealed (i. e. prov'd and evidenc'd) to be God; ſo ſome read it; he has declar'd him to be the Son of God with Power. He hath ſealed him, i. e. hath given him full Authority to deal between God and Man, as God's Embaſſador to Man, and Man's Interceſſor with God; and has prov'd his Commiſſion by Miracles; having given him Authority, he hath given us Aſſurance of it; having intruſted him with unlimited Powers, he hath ſatisfied us with undoubted Proofs of them; ſo that as he might go on with Confidence in his Undertaking for us, ſo may we in our Reſignations to him. God the Father ſealed him with the Spirit that reſted on him, by the Voice from Heaven, by the Teſtimony he bore to him in Signs and Wonders. Divine Revelation is perfected in him, in him the Viſion and Prophecy is ſealed up, Dan. 9. 24. to him all Believers ſeal that he is true, John 3. 33. and in him they are all ſealed, 2 Cor. 1. 22.

28 Then ſaid they unto him, What ſhall we do, that we might work the works of God? 29 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath ſent. 30 They ſaid therefore unto him, What ſign ſheweſt thou then, that we may ſee, and believe thee? what doſt thou work? 31 Our Fathers did eat manna in the deſert; as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat. 32 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, Moſes gave you not that bread from heaven; but my Father giveth you the true bread from heaven. 33 For the bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world. 34 Then ſaid they unto him, Lord, evermore give us this bread. 35 And Jeſus ſaid unto them, I am the bread of life, he that cometh to me ſhall never hunger; and he that believeth on me, ſhall never thirſt. 36 But I ſaid unto you, that ye alſo have ſeen me, and believe not. 37 All that the Father giveth me, ſhall come to me; and him that cometh to me, I will in no wiſe caſt out. 38 For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that ſent me. 39 And this is the Father's will which hath ſent me, that of all which he hath given me, I ſhould loſe nothing, but ſhould raiſe it up again at the laſt day. 40 And this is the will of him that ſent me, that every one which ſeeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlaſting life: and I will raiſe him up at the laſt day. 41 The Jews then murmured at him, becauſe he ſaid, I am the bread which came down from heaven. 42 And they ſaid, Is not this Jeſus the Son of Joſeph, whoſe father and mother we know? how is it then, that he ſaith, I came down from heaven? 43 Jeſus therefore anſwered and ſaid unto them, Murmur not among your ſelves. 44 No man can come to me, except the Father which hath ſent me, draw him, and I will raiſe him up at the laſt day. 45 It is written in the prophets, And they ſhall be all taught of God. Every Man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me. 46 Not that any man hath ſeen the Father, ſave he which is of God, he ſath ſeen the Father. 47 Verily, verily I ſay unto you, He that believeth on me, hath everlaſting life. 48 I am that bread of life. 49 Your fathers did eat manna in the wilderneſs, and are dead. 50 This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof, and not die. 51 I am the living bread, which came down from heaven, if any man eat of this bread, he ſhall live for ever: and the bread that I will give, is my fleſh, which I will give for the life of the world. 52 The Jews therefore ſtrove among themſelves, ſaying, How can this man give us his fleſh to eat? 53 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, Except ye eat the fleſh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you. 54 Whoſo eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternal life, and I will raiſe him up at the laſt day. 55 For my fleſh is meat indeed, and my blood is drink indeed. 56 He that eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him. 57 As the living Father hath ſent me, and I live by the Father: ſo he that eateth me, even he ſhall live by me. 58 This is that bread which came down from heaven: not as your fathers did eat manna, and are dead: he that eateth of this bread, ſhall live for ever. 59 Theſe things ſaid he in the ſynagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

Whether this Conference was with the Capernaites, in whoſe Synagogue Chriſt now was, or with thoſe who came from the other ſide of the Sea, is not certain nor material; however it is an Inſtance of Chriſt's Condeſcenſion, that he gave them leave to aſk him Queſtions, and did not reſent the Interruption as an Affront; no not from his common Hearers, tho' not his immediate Followers. Thoſe that would be apt to teach, muſt be ſwift to hear, and ſtudy to anſwer. 'Tis the Wiſdom of Teachers, when they are aſk'd even impertinent unprofitable Queſtions, from thence to take Occaſion to anſwer that which is profitable, that the Queſtion may be rejected, but not the Queriſt.

Now, 1. Chriſt having told them, that they muſt work for the Meat he ſpoke of, muſt labour for it, they enquire what work they muſt do, and he anſwers them, v. 28, 29.

1. Their Enquiry was pertinent enough, v. 28. What ſhall we do that we may work the Works of God? Some underſtand it as a pert Queſtion, What Works of God can we do more and better than thoſe we do in Obedience to the Law of Moſes? but I rather take it as a humble ſerious Queſtion, ſpeaking to them to be at leaſt for the preſent in a good Mind, and willing to know and do their Duty; and I take it that they who aſk'd this Queſtion how and what, v. 30. and made that Requeſt, v. 34. were not the ſame Perſons with thoſe that murmured, v. 41, 42. and ſtrove, v. 52. for thoſe are expreſly called the Jews, which came out of Judea, (for thoſe were ſtrictly call'd Jews) to cavil, whereas theſe were of Galilee, and came to be taught. This Queſtion here intimates, that they were convinc'd, that they who would obtain this everlaſting Meat, (1.) They muſt aim to do ſomething great. They that look high in their Expectations, and hope to enjoy the Glory of God, muſt aim high in thoſe Endeavours, and ſtudy to do the Works of God, Works which he requires and will accept of, Works of God diſtinguiſh'd from the Works of worldly Men in their worldly Purſuits. 'Tis not enough to ſpeak the Words of God, but we muſt do the Works of God. (2.) That they muſt be willing to do any thing. What ſhall we do? Lord, I am ready to do whatever thou appointeſt, tho' never ſo diſpleaſing to Fleſh and Blood, Acts 9. 6.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer was plain enough, v. 29. This is the Work of God, that ye believe. Note, 1. The Work of Faith is the Work of God. They enquire after the Works of God, in the plural Number, being careful about many things; but Chriſt directs them to one Work, which includes all, the one thing needful, that ye believe, which ſuperſedes all the Works of the Ceremonial Law; the Work which is neceſſary to the Acceptance of all the other Works, and which produceth them, for without Faith, you cannot pleaſe God. 'Tis God's Work, for it is of his working in us, it ſubjects the Soul to his working on us, and quickens the Soul in working for him. 2. That Faith is the Work of God, which cloſeth with Chriſt, and relies upon him. 'Tis to believe on him, as one whom God hath ſent, as God's Commiſſioner in the great Affair of Peace between God and Man, and as ſuch to reſt upon him, and reſign our ſelves to him. See John 14. 1.

2. Chriſt having told them that the Son of Man would give them this Meat, they enquire concerning him, and he anſwers their Enquiry.

1. Their Enquiry is after a Sign, v. 30. What Sign ſheweſt thou? Thus far they were right, that ſince he required them to give him Credit, he ſhould produce his Credentials, and make it out by Miracle, that he was ſent of God. Moſes having confirm'd his Miſſion by Signs, 'twas requiſite that Chriſt, who came to ſet aſide the Ceremonial Law, ſhould in like manner confirm his. What doſt thou work? What doſt thou drive at? What laſting Characters of a divine Power doſt thou deſign to leave upon thy Doctrine? But herein they miſs'd it. (1.) That they over-look'd the many Miracles which they had ſeen wrought by him, and which amounted to an abundant Proof of his divine Miſſion: Is this a time of day to aſk what Sign ſheweſt thou, eſpecially at Capernaum, the Staple of Miracles, where he had done ſo many mighty Works, Signs ſo ſignificant of his Office and Undertaking? Were not theſe very Perſons but t'other day miraculouſly fed by him? None ſo blind as they that will not ſee, for they may be ſo blind, as to queſtion whether it be Day or no, when the Sun ſhines in their Faces. (2.) That they prefer'd the miraculous Feeding of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs before the Miracles Chriſt wrought, v. 31. Our Fathers did eat Manna in the Deſart; and to ſtrengthen the Objection, they quote a Scripture for it, he gave them Bread from Heaven, taken from Pſal. 78. 24. He gave them of the Corn of Heaven. What a good Uſe might be made of this Story which they here refer to! 'Twas a memorable Inſtance of God's Power and Goodneſs, often mentioned to the Glory of God, Neh. 9. 20, 21. yet ſee how theſe People perverted it, and made an ill Uſe of it.

1. Chriſt reproved them for their Fondeſs of the miraculous Bread, and bid them not ſet their Hearts upon Meat which periſheth; why, ſay they, Meat for the Belly, was the great good thing that God gave to our Fathers in the Deſart, and why ſhould not we then labour for that Meat? If God made much of them, why ſhould not we be for thoſe that will make much of us?

2. Chriſt had fed five thouſand Men with five Loaves, and had given them that as one Sign, to prove him ſent of God; but under colour of magnifying the Miracles of Moſes, they tacitly under-value that Miracle of Chriſt, and evade the Evidence of it. Chriſt fed his Thouſands, but Moſes, his hundred Thouſands: Chriſt fed them but once, and then reproved thoſe who follow'd him in hope to be ſtill fed, and put them off with a Diſcourſe of ſpiritual Food, but Moſes fed his Followers 40 Years, and Miracles were not their Rarities, but their daily Bread; Chriſt fed them with Bread out of the Earth, Barley Bread, and Fiſhes out of the Sea; but Moſes fed Iſrael with Bread from Heaven, Angels Food. Thus big did theſe Jews talk of the Manna which their Fathers did eat; but their Fathers had ſlighted it, as much as they did now the Barley Loaves, and call'd it light Bread, Numb. 21. 5. Thus apt are we to ſlight and over-look the Appearance of God's Power and Grace in our own Times, while we pretend to admire the Wonders which our Fathers told us of. Suppoſe this Miracle of Chriſt was out-done by that of Moſes, yet there were other Inſtances, in which Chriſt's Miracles out-ſhone his; and beſides, all true Miracles prove a divine Doctrine, tho' not equally illuſtrious in the Circumſtances, which were ever diverſified according as the Occaſion did require. As much as the Manna excell'd the Barley Loaves, ſo much, and much more did the Doctrine of Chriſt excel the Law of Moſes, and his heavenly Inſtitutions the carnal Ordinances of that Diſpenſation.

1. Here's Chriſt's Reply to this Enquiry; wherein,

1. He rectifies their Miſtake concerning the Typical Manna. It was true, their Fathers did eat Manna in the Deſart. But, 1. It was not Moſes that gave it them, nor were they obliged to him for it: He was but the Inſtrument, and therefore they muſt look beyond him, to God. We do not find that Moſes did ſo much as pray to God for the Manna; and he ſpoke unadviſedly, when he ſaid, Muſt we fetch Water out of the Rock; for Moſes gave them not either that Bread, or that Water. 2. It was not given them, as they imagined, from Heaven, from the higheſt Heavens, but only from the Clouds, and therefore not ſo much excelling that which had its Riſe from the Earth, as they thought. Becauſe the Scripture ſaith, he gave them Bread from Heaven, it doth not follow that it was heavenly Bread, or was intended to be the Nouriſhment of Souls. Miſunderſtanding Scripture-Language, occaſions many Miſtakes in the Things of God.

2. He informs them concerning the true Manna, of which he was a Type; But my Father giveth you the true Bread from Heaven; that which is truly and properly the Bread from Heaven, of which that was but a Shadow and Figure, is now given, not to your Fathers who are dead and gone, but to you of this preſent Age, for whom the better Things were reſerved: He is now giving you that Bread from Heaven, which is truly ſo call'd: As much as the Throne of God's Glory is above the Clouds of the Air, ſo much doth the ſpiritual Bread of the everlaſting Goſpel excel the Manna. In calling God his Father, he ſpeaks himſelf greater than Moſes; for Moſes was faithful but as a Servant, Chriſt as a Son, Heb. 3. 5.

Now this Objection of theirs concerning the Manna, gave further occaſion to Chriſt, to diſcourſe of himſelf under the ſimilitude of Bread, and of believing under the ſimilitude of eating and drinking; to which, together with his putting of both together in the eating of his Fleſh, and drinking of his Blood, together with the Remarks made upon it by the Hearers, the reſt of this Conference may be reduced.

Firſt, Chriſt having ſpoken of himſelf as the great Gift of God, and the true Bread, v. 32. largely explains and confirms this, that we may rightly know him.

1. He here ſhews that he is the true Bread; this he repeats again and again, v. 33,35,48,49,50,51. Obſerve,

1. That Chriſt is Bread; is that to the Soul which Bread is to the Body, nouriſheth and ſupporteth the ſpiritual Life, is the Staff of it, as Bread doth the bodily Life; 'tis the Staff of Life. The Doctrine of the Goſpel concerning Chriſt; that he is the Mediator between God and Man, that he is our Peace, our Righteouſneſs, our Redeemer; by theſe things do Men live. Our Bodies could better live without Food, than our Souls without Chriſt. Bread-Corn is bruiſed, Iſa. 28. 28. ſo was Chriſt; he was born at Bethlehem, the Houſe of Bread, and typified by the Shew-bread.

2. That he is the Bread of God, v. 33. Divine Bread; 'tis he that is of God, v. 46. Bread which my Father gives, v. 32. which he has made to be the Food of our Souls; the Bread of God's Family, his Children's Bread. The Levitical Sacrifices are call'd the Bread of God, Lev. 21. 21,22. and Chriſt is the great Sacrifice; Chriſt in his Word ,and Ordinances the Feaſt upon the Sacrifice.

3. That he is the Bread of Life, v. 35. and again, v. 48. that Bread of Life, alluding to the Tree of Life in the midſt of the Garden of Eden, which was to Adam the Seal of that part of the Covenant, do this and live, of which he might eat and live. Chriſt is the Bread of Life, for he is the Fruit of the Tree of Life. (1.) He is the living Bread, ſo he explains himſelf, v. 51. I am the living Bread. Bread is itſelf a dead thing, and nouriſheth not, but by the help of the Faculties of a living Body; but Chriſt is himſelf living Bread, and nouriſheth by his own Power. Manna was a dead Thing, if kept but one Night it putrified, and bred Worms; but Chriſt is everliving, everlaſting Bread, that never moulds, or waxeth old. The Doctrine of Chriſt crucified, is now as ſtrengthening and comforting to a Believer as ever it was, and his Mediation ſtill of as much Value and Efficacy as ever. (2.) He gives Life unto the World, v. 33. ſpiritual and eternal Life; the Life of the Soul in Union and Communion with God here, and in the Viſion and Fruition of him hereafter; a Life that includes in it all Happineſs. The Manna did only preſerve and ſupport Life, did not preſerve and perpetuate Life, much leſs reſtore it; but Chriſt gives Life to thoſe that were dead in Sin. The Manna was ordained only for the Life of the Iſraelites, but Chriſt is given for the Life of the World; none are excluded from the Benefit of this Bread, but ſuch as exclude themſelves. Chriſt came to put Life into the Minds of Men; Principles productive of acceptable Performances.

4. That he is the Bread which came down from Heaven; this is oft repeated here, v. 33, 50, 51, 58. This notes, (1.) The Divinity of Chriſt's Perſon. As God he had a Being in Heaven, from whence he came to take our Nature upon him; I came down from Heaven, from whence we may infer his Antiquity, he was in the Beginning with God; his Ability, for Heaven is the Firmament of Power; and his Authority, he came with a Divine Commiſſion. (2.) The Divine Original of all that Good which flows to us through him. He cometh, not only καταβὰς, v. 51. but καταβαίνων, he is deſcending, noting a conſtant Communication of Light, Life, and Love from God to Believers thro' Chriſt, as the Manna deſcended daily: See Eph. 1. 3. Omnia de ſuper.

5. That he is that Bread, of which the Manna was a Type and Figure, v. 58. that Bread, the true Bread, v. 32. As the Rock that they drank of was Chriſt, ſo was the Manna they eat of ſpiritual Bread, 1 Cor. 10. 3, 4. Manna was given to Iſrael, ſo Chriſt to the ſpiritual Iſrael. There was Manna enough for them all, ſo in Chriſt a Fulneſs of Grace for all Believers; he that gathers much of this Manna, will have none to ſpare when he comes to uſe it; and he that gathers little, when his Grace comes to be perfected in Glory, ſhall find that he has no lack. Manna was to be gathered in the Morning, and thoſe that would find Chriſt, muſt ſeek him early. Manna was ſweet, and as the Author of the Wiſdom of Solomon tells us, Chap. 16. 20. was agreeable to every Palate; and to them that believe, Chriſt is precious. Iſrael liv'd upon Manna till they came to Canaan; and Chriſt is our Life. There was a Memorial of the Manna preſerv'd in the Ark, ſo of Chriſt in the Lord's Supper, as the Food of Souls.

2. He here ſhews what his Undertaking was, and what his Errand into the World. Laying aſide the Metaphor, he ſpeaks plainly, and ſpeaks no Proverb, giving us an Account of his Buſineſs among Men, v. 38,39,40.

1. He aſſures us in general, that he came from Heaven upon his Father's Buſineſs, v. 38. not to do his own Will, but the Will of him that ſent him. He came from Heaven, which ſpeaks him an intelligent, active Being, who voluntarily deſcended to this lower World, a long Journey, and a great Step downwards, conſidering the Glories of the World he came from, and the Calamities of the World he came to: We may well ask with wonder, what mov'd him to ſuch an Expedition? And here he tells us, he did not come to do his own Will, but the Will of his Father; not that he had any Will that ſtood in competition with the Will of his Father, but they to whom he ſpoke ſuſpected he might; no, ſaith he, my own Will is not the Spring I act from, nor the Rule I go by, but I am come to do the Will of him that ſent me; that is, 1. Chriſt did not come into the World as a private Perſon, that acts for himſelf only, but under a publick Character, to act for others, as an Ambaſſador, or Plenipotentiary, authoriz'd by a publick Commiſſion; he came into the World as God's Great Agent, and the World's Great Phyſician. It was not any Buſineſs that brought him hither, but he came to ſettle Affairs between Parties, no leſs conſiderable than the Great Creator, and the whole Creation. 2. Chriſt, when he was in the World, did not carry on any private Deſign, nor had any ſeparate Intereſt at all, diſtinct from theirs for whom he acted. The Scope of his whole Life was to glorify God, and do good to Men; he therefore never conſulted his own Eaſe, Safety, or Quiet, but when he was to lay down his Life, tho' he had a humane Nature which ſtartled at it, he ſet aſide the Conſideration of that, and reſolved his Will, as Man, into the Will of God; not as I will, but as thou wilt.

2. He acquaints us in particular with that Will of the Father, which he came to do; he here declares the Decree, the Inſtructions he was to purſue.

1. The private Inſtructions given to Chriſt, that he ſhould be ſure to ſave all the choſen Remnant; and this is the Covenant of Redemption between the Father and the Son; v. 38. This is the Father's Will which hath ſent me; this is the Charge I am intruſted with, that of all which he hath given me, I ſhould loſe none.

Note, (1.) There is a certain Number of the Children of Men, given by the Father to Jeſus Chriſt to be his Care, and ſo to be to him for a Name and a Praiſe; given him for an Inheritance, for a Poſſeſſion. Let him do all that for them which their Caſe requires; teach them, and heal them; pay their Debt, and plead their Cauſe; prepare them for, and preſerve them to eternal Life; and then let him make his beſt of them. The Father might diſpoſe of them as he pleas'd: As Creatures, their Lives and Beings were derived from him; as Sinners, their Lives and Beings were forfeited to him; he might have ſold them for the Satisfaction of his Juſtice, and delivered them to the Tormentors; but he pitch'd upon them to be the Monuments of his Mercy, and delivered them to the Saviour. Thoſe whom God choſe to be the Objects of his ſpecial Love, he lodg'd as a Truſt in the Hands of Chriſt.

(2.) Jeſus Chriſt has undertaken that he will loſe none of thoſe that were thus given him of the Father. The many Sons whom he was to bring to Glory, ſhall all be forth-coming, and none of them miſſing, Mat. 18.14. None of them ſhall be loſt for want of a ſufficient Price to purchaſe them, or ſufficient Grace to ſanctify them. If I bring him not unto thee, and ſet him before thee, let me bear the Blame for ever, Gen. 43. 9.

(3.) Chriſt's Undertaking for thoſe that are given him, extends to the Reſurrection of their Bodies; I will raiſe it up again at the laſt Day; which ſuppoſeth all that goes before, but this is to crown and compleat the Undertaking: the Body is a part of the Man, and therefore a part of Chriſt's Purchaſe and Charge; it pertains to the Promiſes, and therefore it ſhall not be loſt. The Undertaking is not only, that he ſhall loſe none, no Perſon, but that he ſhall loſe nothing, no part of the Perſon, and therefore not the Body. Chriſt's Undertaking will never be accompliſh'd till the Reſurrection, when the Souls and Bodies of the Saints ſhall be re-united, and gathered to Chriſt, that he may preſent them to the Father; Behold I, and the Children that thou haſt given me! Heb. 2. 13. 2 Tim. 1. 12.

(4.) The Spring and Original of all this, is the Sovereign Will of God; the Counſels of his Will, according to which he worketh all this. This was the Commandment he gave to his Son when he ſent him into the World, and to which the Son always had an Eye.

2. The publick Inſtructions which were to be given to the Children of Men, in what Way, and upon what Terms, they might obtain Salvation by Chriſt; and this is the Covenant of Grace between God and Man. Who the particular Perſons were that were given to Chriſt, is a Secret, The Lord knows them that are his; we do not, nor is it fit we ſhould; but tho' their Names are conceal'd, their Characters are publiſh'd. An Offer is made of Life and Happineſs upon Goſpel Terms, that by it thoſe that were given to Chriſt, might be brought to him, and others left inexcuſable, v. 40. This is the Will, the revealed Will of him that ſent me; the Method agreed upon, upon which to proceed with the Children of Men, that every one, Jew or Gentile, that ſees the Son and believes on him, may have everlaſting Life, and I will raiſe him up. This is Goſpel indeed, good News.

Is it not reviving to hear this? 1. That eternal Life may be had if it be not our own fault. That whereas upon the Sin of the firſt Adam the Way of the Tree of Life was block'd up; by the Grace of the ſecond Adam it is laid open again: The Crown of Glory is ſet before us as the Prize of our high Calling, which we may run for and obtain. 2. Every one may have it. This Goſpel is to be preach'd, this Offer made to all, and none can ſay it belongs not to me, Rev. 22. 17. 3. This everlaſting Life is ſure to all thoſe who believe in Chriſt, and to them only. He that ſees the Son, and believes on him, ſhall be ſav'd. Some underſtand this ſeeing as a Limitation of this Condition of Salvation to thoſe only that have the Revelation of Chriſt and his Grace made to them. Every one that has the Opportunity of being acquainted with Chriſt, and improves that ſo well as to believe in him, ſhall have everlaſting Life; ſo that none ſhall be condemn'd for Unbelief, however they may for other Sins, but thoſe who have had the Goſpel preached to them, who like theſe Jews here, v. 36. have ſeen, and yet have not believed; have known Chriſt, and yet truſted in him. But I rather underſtand ſeeing, here to mean the ſame Thing with believing, for 'tis θεωρῶν, which ſignifies not ſo much the Sight of the Eye, (as v. 36. ἑωράκατέ με) as the Contemplation of the Mind. Every one that ſees the Son, that is, believes on him, ſees him with an Eye of Faith, by which we come to be duly acquainted and affected with the Doctrine of the Goſpel concerning him. 'Tis to look upon him, as the ſtung Iſraelites upon the brazen Serpent. 'Tis not a blind Faith that Chriſt requires, that we ſhould be willing to have our Eyes put out, and then follow him; but that we ſhould ſee him, and ſee what Ground we go upon in our Faith. 'Tis then right, when 'tis not taken up upon Hear-ſay, believing as the Church believes, but is the Reſult of a due Conſideration of, and Inſight into the Motives of Credibility: Now mine Eye ſees thee; we have heard him ourſelves. 4. Thoſe who believe in Jeſus Chriſt, in order to their having everlaſting Life, ſhall be raiſed up by his Power at the laſt Day. He had it in charge as his Father's Will, v. 39. and here he ſolemnly makes it his own Undertaking, I will raiſe him up; which ſignifies not only the return of the Body to Life, but the putting of the whole Man into a full Poſſeſſion of the eternal Life promiſ'd.

Now Chriſt diſcourſing thus concerning himſelf, as the Bread of Life that came down from Heaven, let us ſee what Remarks his Hearers made upon it.

1. When they heard of ſuch a Thing as the Bread of God, which gives Life, they heartily pray'd for it, v. 34. Lord evermore give us this Bread. I cannot think that this is ſpoken ſcoffingly, and in a way of Deriſion, as moſt Interpreters underſtand it; give us ſuch Bread as this if thou canſt; let us be fed with it, not for one Meal, as with the Five Loaves, but evermore; as if this were no better a Prayer than that of the impenitent Thief, If thou be the Chriſt, ſave thyſelf and us. But I take this Requeſt to be made, tho' ignorantly, yet honeſtly, and to be well meant; for they call him Lord, and deſire a Share in what he gives, whatever he means by it. General, and confus'd Notions of Divine Things, produce in carnal Hearts ſome kind of Deſires towards them, and Wiſhes of them; like Balaam's Wiſh, to die the Death of the Righteous. Thoſe who have an indiſtinct Knowledge of the Things of God, who ſee Men as Trees walking, make, as I may call them, inarticulate Prayers for ſpiritual Bleſſings. They think the Favour of God a good Thing, and Heaven a fine Place, and cannot but wiſh them their own, while they have no Value or Deſire at all of that Holineſs which is neceſſary both to the one, and to the other. Let this be the Deſire of our Souls; have we taſted that the Lord is gracious, been feaſted with the Word of God, and Chriſt in the Word? let us ſay, Lord evermore give us this Bread: Let the Bread of Life be our daily Bread, the heavenly Manna our continual Feaſt, and let us never know the want of it.

2. But when they underſtood, that by this Bread of Life Jeſus meant himſelf, then they deſpis'd it. Whether they were the ſame Perſons that had pray'd for it, v. 34. or ſome others of the Company, doth not appear; it ſeems to be ſome others, for they are called Jews. Now 'tis ſaid, v. 41. they murmured at him. This comes in immediately after that ſolemn Declaration Chriſt had made of God's Will, and his own Undertaking concerning Man's Salvation, v. 39, 40. which certainly were ſome of the moſt weighty and gracious Words that ever proceeded out of the Mouth of our Lord Jeſus, the moſt faithful, and beſt worthy of all Acceptation; one would think, that like Iſrael in Egypt, when they heard that God had thus viſited them, they ſhould have bowed their Heads and worſhipped; but on the contrary, inſtead of cloſing with the Offer made them, they murmured, quarrel'd with what Chriſt ſaid; and tho' they did not openly oppoſe and contradict it, yet they privately whiſpered among themſelves in contempt of it, and inſtill'd into one anothers Minds Prejudices againſt it. Many that will not profeſſedly contradict the Doctrine of Chriſt, their Cavils are ſo weak and groundleſs, that they are either aſham'd to own them, or afraid to have them ſilenced, yet ſay in their Hearts, they do not like it.

Now, 1. That which offended them, was Chriſt's aſſerting his Original to be from Heaven, v. 41, 42. How is it that he ſaith, I came down from Heaven? They had heard of Angels coming down from Heaven, but never of a Man; overlooking the Proofs he had given them of his being more than a Man.

2. That which they thought juſtified them herein, was, that they knew his Extraction on Earth, Is not this Jeſus, the Son of Joſeph, whoſe Father and Mother we know? They took it heinouſly that he ſhould ſay he came down from Heaven, when he was one of them. They ſpeak ſlightly of his bleſſed Name, Jeſus; Is not this Jeſus? They take it for granted that Joſeph was really his Father, tho' he was only reputed to be ſo. Note, Miſtakes concerning the Perſon of Chriſt, as if he were a mere Man, conceiv'd, and born by ordinary Generation, occaſion the Offence that is taken at his Doctrine and Offices. Thoſe who ſet him on a level with other the Sons of Men, whoſe Father and Mother we know, no wonder if they derogate from the Honour of his Satisfaction, and the Myſteries of his Undertaking, and like the Jews here, murmur at his Promiſe to raiſe us up at the laſt Day.

Secondly, Chriſt having ſpoken of Faith as the great Work of God, v. 29. diſcourſeth largely concerning this Work, inſtructing, and encouraging us in it.

1. He ſhews what it is to believe in Chriſt.

(1.) To believe in Chriſt, is to come to Chriſt; he that comes to me, is the ſame with him that believes in me, v. 35. and again v. 37. He that comes unto me: ſo v. 44, 45. Repentance towards God is coming to him, Jer. 3. 22. as our chief Good, and higheſt End; and ſo Faith towards our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, is coming to him as our Prince and Saviour, and our Way to the Father. It notes the Out-goings of our Affections towards him, for thoſe are the Motions of the Soul, and Actions agreeable; 'Tis to come off from all thoſe Things that ſtand in Oppoſition to him, or Competition with him, and to come up to thoſe Terms upon which Life and Salvation are offered to us through him. When he was here on Earth, 'twas more than barely coming where he was; ſo 'tis now, more than coming to his Word and Ordinances.

(2.) It is to feed upon Chriſt, v. 51. If any Man eat of this Bread; the former notes applying ourſelves to Chriſt, this notes applying Chriſt to ourſelves, with Appetite and Delight, that we may receive Life and Strength, and Comfort from him: To feed on him as the Iſraelites on the Manna, having quitted the Fleſh-pots of Egypt, and not depending on the Labour of their Hands, to eat of that, but living purely on the Bread given them from Heaven.

2. He ſhews what is to be got by believing in Chriſt, what will he give us if we come to him? What ſhall we be the better if we feed upon him? Want, and Death, are the chief Things we dread; may we but be aſſured of the Comforts of our Being, and the Continuance of it in the midſt of thoſe Comforts, we have enough; now theſe Two are here ſecured to true Believers.

1. They ſhall never want, never hunger, never thirſt, v. 35. Deſires they have, earneſt Deſires, but thoſe ſo ſuitable, ſo ſeaſonably, ſo abundantly ſatisfied, that they cannot be call'd Hunger and Thirſt, which is uneaſy and painful. Thoſe that did eat Manna, and drank of the Rock, hunger'd and thirſted afterwards; Manna ſurfeited them, Water out of the Rock fail'd them, but there is ſuch an overflowing Fulneſs in Chriſt, as can never be exhauſted, and ſuch overflowing Communications from him as can never be interrupted.

2. They ſhall never die, not die eternally; for, (1.) He that believeth on Chriſt hath everlaſting Life, v. 47. he hath the Aſſurance of it, the Grant of it, the Earneſt of it; he has it in the Promiſe and firſt Fruits. Union with Chriſt, and Communion with God in Chriſt, is everlaſting Life begun. (2.) Whereas they that did eat Manna died, Chriſt is ſuch Bread as a Man may eat of, and never die, v. 49, 50. Obſerve here,

1. The Inſufficiency of the Typical Manna; Your Fathers did eat Manna in the Wilderneſs, and are dead. There may be much good uſe made of the Death of our Fathers; their Graves ſpeak to us, and their Monuments are our Memorials, particularly of this, That the greateſt Plenty of the moſt dainty Food, will neither prolong the Thread of Life, nor put by the ſtroke of Death. Thoſe that did eat Manna, Angels Food, yet died like other Men. There could be nothing amiſs in their Diet to ſhorten their Days, nor could their Deaths be haſten'd by the Toils and Fatigues of Life, for they neither ſow'd nor reap'd, and yet they died. (1.) Many of them died by the immediate Strokes of God's Vengeance for their Unbelief and Murmurings; for tho' they did eat that ſpiritual Meat, yet with many of them God was not well pleas'd, but they were overthrown in the Wilderneſs, 1 Cor. 10. 3, 4, 5. Their eating Manna was no Security to them from the Wrath of God, as believing in Chriſt is to us. (2.) The reſt of them died in a courſe of Nature, and their Carcaſſes fell under a Divine Sentence, in that Wilderneſs where they did eat Manna. In that very Age when Miracles were daily Bread, was the Life of Man reduc'd to the Stint it now ſtands at, as appears, Pſal. 90. 10. Let them not boaſt ſo much of Manna then.

2. The All-ſufficiency of the true Manna, of which the other was a Type; This is the Bread that cometh down from Heaven, that truly divine and heavenly Food, that a Man may eat thereof and not die, i. e. not fall under the Wrath of God, which is killing to the Soul; not die the ſecond Death, no nor the firſt Death finally and irrecoverably; not die, i. e. not periſh, nor come ſhort of the heavenly Canaan, as the Iſraelites did of the earthly, for want of Faith, tho' they had Manna.

This is further explained by that Promiſe in the next Words, If any Man eat of this Bread, he ſhall live for ever, v. 53. That's the Meaning of his never dying; tho' he go down to Death, he ſhall paſs through it to that World where there ſhall be no more Death. To live for ever, is not to be for ever, (the Damned in Hell ſhall be for ever; the Soul of Man was made for an endleſs State) but to be happy for ever. And becauſe the Body muſt needs die, and be as Water ſpilt upon the Ground, Chriſt here undertakes for the gathering of that up too, as before, v. 44. I will raiſe him up at the laſt Day; and even that ſhall live for ever.

3. He ſhews what Encouragements we have to believe in Chriſt. Chriſt here ſpeaks of ſome who had ſeen him, and yet believed not, v. 36. They ſaw his Perſon and Miracles, and heard him preach, and yet were not wrought upon to believe in him. Faith is not always the Effect of Sight; the Soldiers were Eye-witneſſes of his Reſurrection, and yet inſtead of believing in him, bely'd him; ſo that it is a difficult Thing to bring People to believe in Chriſt: And by the Operation of the Spirit of Grace, thoſe that have not ſeen, yet have believed.

Two Things we are here aſſured of, to encourage our Faith.

1. That the Son will bid all thoſe welcome that come to him; v. 37. Him that cometh unto me, I will in no wiſe caſt out. How welcome ſhould this Word be to our Souls, which bids us welcome to Chriſt. Him that comes, 'tis in the ſingular Number, ſpeaking Favour, not only to the Body of Believers in general, but to every particular Soul that applies itſelf to Chriſt. Here, 1. the Duty requir'd is a pure Goſpel-Duty; to come to Chriſt, that we may come to God by him. His Beauty and Love, thoſe great Attractives, muſt draw us to him; Senſe of Need, and Fear of Danger, muſt drive us to him; any thing to bring us to Chriſt. 2. The Promiſe is a pure Goſpel-Promiſe; I will in no wiſe caſt out, ȣ̓ μὴ ἐκϐαλῶ ἔξω; there are Two Negatives, I will not, no, I will not. 1. Much Favour is expreſs'd here. We have reaſon to fear that he ſhould caſt us out; conſidering our Meanneſs, our Vileneſs, our Unworthineſs to come, our Weakneſs in coming, we may juſtly expect that he ſhould frown upon us, and ſhut his Doors againſt us; but he obviates theſe Fears with this Aſſurance, he will not do it; will not diſdain us tho' we are mean, will not reject us tho' we are ſinful. Do poor Scholars come to him to be taught? Tho' they be dull and ſlow, he will not caſt them out. Do poor Patients come to him to be cur'd? Poor Clients come to him to be adviſ'd? Tho' their Caſe be bad, and tho' they come empty-handed, he will in no wiſe caſt them out. But, 2. More Favour is implied than is expreſs'd; when 'tis ſaid he will not caſt them out, the meaning is, he will receive them, and entertain them, and give them all that which they come to him for: As he will not refuſe them at their firſt coming, ſo he will not afterwards upon every Diſpleaſure caſt them out. His Gifts and Callings are without Repentance.

2. That the Father will, without fail, bring all thoſe to him in due Time that were given him. In the ſeveral Tranſactions between the Father and the Son, relating to Man's Redemption, as the Son undertook for the Juſtification, Sanctification, and Salvation of all that ſhould come to him; let me have them put into my Hands, and then leave the Management of them to me; ſo the Father, the Fountain, and Original of Being, Life and Grace, undertook to put into his Hand all that were given him, and bring them to him.

Now, 1. He here aſſures us that this ſhall be done, v. 37. All that the Father giveth me ſhall come to me. Chriſt had complain'd, v. 36. of thoſe, who, tho' they had ſeen him, yet would not believe on him; and then he adds this, (1.) For their Conviction and Awakening; plainly intimating, that their not coming to him, and believing on him, if they perſiſted in it, would be a certain Sign that they did not belong to the Election of Grace; for how can we think that God gave us to Chriſt, if we give ourſelves to the World and the Fleſh, 2 Pet. 1. 10. (2.) For his own Comfort and Encouragement; tho' Iſrael be not gather'd, yet ſhall I be glorious. The Election has obtain'd, and ſhall, tho' Multitudes be blinded, Rom. 11. 7. Tho' he loſe many of his Creatures, yet none of his Charge; All that the Father gives him ſhall come to him notwithſtanding. Here we have,

1. The Election deſcribed; All that the Father giveth me, πᾶν ὃ δίδωσι, every Thing which the Father gives to me. The Perſons of the Elect, and all that belong to them; all their Services, all their Intereſts; as all that he hath is theirs, ſo all that they have is his, and he ſpeaks of them as his All: They were given him in full Recompence of his Undertaking. Not only all Perſons, but all Things are gather'd together in Chriſt, Eph. 1. 10. and reconciled, Col. 1. 20. The giving of the choſen Remnant to Chriſt, is ſpoken of, v. 39. as a Thing done, he hath given them; here 'tis ſpoken of as a Thing in the doing, he giveth them; becauſe, when the firſt-begotten was brought into the World, it ſhould ſeem there was a renewal of the Grant ſee Heb. 10. 5, &c. God was now about to give him the Heathen for his Inheritance, Pſal. 2. 8. to put him in Poſſeſſion of the deſolate Heritages, Iſa. 49. 8. to divide him a Portion with the great, Iſa. 53. 12. And tho' the Jews, who ſaw him, believed not on him, yet theſe (ſaith he) ſhall come to me; the other Sheep which are not of this Fold, ſhall be brought, John 10. 15. ſee Acts 13. 45——48.

2. The Effect of it ſecured; they ſhall come to me. This is not in the Nature of a Promiſe, but a Prediction, that as many as were in the Counſel of God ordain'd to Life, ſhall be brought to Life, by being brought to Chriſt. They are ſcatter'd, are mingled among the Nations, yet none of them ſhall be forgotten, not a Grain of God's Corn ſhall be loſt, as is promis'd, Amos 9. 9. They are by Nature alienated from Chriſt, and averſe to him, and yet they ſhall come. As God's Omniſcience is engag'd for the finding of them all out, ſo is his Omnipotence for the bringing of them all in. Not they ſhall be driven to me, but they ſhall come freely, ſhall be made willing.

2. He here acquaints us how it ſhould be done. How ſhall thoſe who are given to Chriſt be brought to him? Two Things are to be done in order to it.

1. Their Underſtandings ſhall be enlighten'd; that's promis'd, v. 45, 46. It is written in the Prophets, who ſpake of theſe Things before, And they ſhall be all taught of God; this we find, Iſa. 54. 13. and Jer. 31. 34. They ſhall all know me. Note, In order to our believing in Jeſus Chriſt, 'tis neceſſary that we be taught of God; that is, (1.) That there be a Divine Revelation made to us, diſcovering to us, both what we are to believe concerning Chriſt, and why we are to believe it. There are ſome Things which even Nature teacheth, but to bring us to Chriſt there is need of a higher Light. (2.) That there be a Divine Work wrought in us, enabling us to underſtand and receive theſe revealed Truths, and the Evidence of them. God is giving us Reaſon, teacheth us more than the Beaſts of the Earth; but in giving us Faith, he teacheth us more than the natural Man. Thus all the Church's Children, all that are genuine, are taught of God; he hath undertaken their Education.

It follows then, by way of Inference from this, That every Man that has heard and learned of the Father, comes to Chriſt, v. 45. (1.) It is here implied, that none will come to Chriſt but thoſe that have heard, and learned of the Father: We ſhall never be brought to Chriſt, but under a Divine Conduct. Except God, by his Grace, enlighten our Minds, inform our Judgments, and rectify our Miſtakes; and not only tell us that we may hear, but teach us that we may learn the Truth as it is in Jeſus, we ſhall never be brought to believe in Chriſt. (2.) That this Divine Teaching doth ſo neceſſarily produce the Faith of God's Elect, that we may conclude that thoſe who do not come to Chriſt, have never heard, or learned of the Father; for if they had, doubtleſs they would have come to Chriſt. In vain do Men pretend to be taught of God, if they believe not in Chriſt, for he teacheth no other Leſſon, Gal. 1. 8, 9. See how God deals with Men as reaſonable Creatures, draws them with the Cords of a Man, opens the Underſtanding firſt, and then by that in a regular way influenceth the inferiour Faculties; thus he comes in by the Door, but Satan as a Robber climbs up another way.

But leſt any ſhould dream of a viſible Appearance of God the Father to the Children of Men, to teach them theſe Things, and entertain any groſs Conceptions about hearing and learning of the Father, he adds, v. 46. Not that any Man hath ſeen the Father, 'tis implied, nor can ſee him with bodily Eyes, or may expect to learn of him as Moſes did, to whom he ſpake Face to Face; but God, in enlightning Men's Eyes, and teaching them, works in a ſpiritual Way. The Father of Spirits hath acceſs to, and influence upon Mens Spirits undiſcerned. Thoſe that have not ſeen his Face, have felt his Power. And yet there is one intimately acquainted with the Father, he which is of God, i. e. Chriſt himſelf, he hath ſeen the Father, John 1. 18. Note, 1. Jeſus Chriſt is of God in a peculiar manner, God of God, Light of Light; not only ſent of God, but begotten of God before all Worlds. 2. 'Tis the Prerogative of Chriſt to have ſeen the Father, perfectly to know him and his Counſels. 3. Even that Illumination which is preparative to Faith, is convey'd to us thro' Chriſt. Thoſe that learn of the Father, foraſmuch as they cannot ſee him themſelves, muſt learn of Chriſt, who alone hath ſeen him. As all Divine Diſcoveries are made through Chriſt, ſo through him all Divine Powers are exerted.

2. Their Wills ſhall be bow'd. If the Soul of Man had now its original Rectitude, there needed no more to influence the Will, but the Illumination of the Underſtanding; but in the depraved Soul of fallen Man, there is a Rebellion of the Will againſt the right Dictates of the Underſtanding; a carnal Mind, which is Enmity itſelf to the Divine Light and Law: 'Tis therefore requiſite that there be a Work of Grace wrought upon the Will, which is here call'd drawing; v. 44. No Man can come to me, except the Father, which hath ſent me, draw him. The Jews murmur'd at the Doctrine of Chriſt, not only would not receive it themſelves, but were angry that others did; Chriſt over-heard their ſecret Whiſperings, and ſaid, v. 43. Murmur not among yourſelves; lay not the Fault of your Diſlike of my Doctrine one upon another, as if 'tis becauſe you find it generally diſtaſted; no, 'tis long of yourſelves, and your own corrupt Diſpoſitions, which are ſuch as amount to a moral Impotency; your Antipathies to the Truths of God, and Prejudices againſt them are ſo ſtrong, that nothing leſs than a Divine Power can conquer them. And this is the Caſe of all Mankind; No Man can come to me, can perſuade himſelf to come up to the Terms of the Goſpel, except the Father which hath ſent me draw him, v. 44.

Obſerve, 1. The Nature of the Work, 'tis drawing, which ſpeaks not a Force put upon the Will, but a Change wrought in the Will, whereby of unwilling we are made willing, and a new Biaſs given to the Soul by which it inclines to God. This ſeems to be more than a moral Suaſion, for by that 'tis in the power of Man to draw; yet 'tis not to be called a phyſical Impulſe, for it lies out of the Road of Nature; but he that formed the Spirit of Man within him by his creating Power, and faſhioneth the Hearts of Men by his providential Influence, knows how to new-mould the Soul, and to alter its Bent and Temper, and make it conformable to himſelf, and his own Will, without doing any Wrong to its natural Liberty. 'Tis ſuch a drawing as works not only a compliance, but a chearful compliance, a complacency; Draw us, and we will run after thee.

2. The Neceſſity of it; no Man in this weak and helpleſs State can come to Chriſt without it. As we cannot do any natural Action without the Concurrence of common Providence, ſo we cannot do any Action morally good, without the influence of ſpecial Grace; in which the new Man lives, and moves, and has its Being, as much as the meer Man has in the Divine Providence.

3. The Author of it; The Father which hath ſent me. The Father having ſent Chriſt, will ſucceed him, for he would not ſend him on a fruitleſs Errand. Chriſt having undertaken to bring Souls to Glory, God promiſed him, in order thereunto, to bring them to him, and ſo to give him Poſſeſſion of thoſe whom he had given him a Right to. God having by Promiſe given the Kingdom of Iſrael to David, did at length draw the Hearts of the People to him; ſo having ſent Chriſt to ſave Souls, he ſends Souls to him to be ſaved by him.

4. The Crown and Perfection of this Work; and I will raiſe him up at the laſt Day. This is four Times mentioned in this Diſcourſe, and doubtleſs it includes all the intermediate and preparatory Workings of Divine Grace. When he raiſes them up at the laſt Day, he will put the laſt Hand to his Undertaking, will bring forth the Top-ſtone. If he undertake this, ſure he can do any Thing, and will do every Thing that is neceſſary in order to it. Let our Expectations be carry'd out towards a Happineſs reſerv'd for the laſt Day, when all the Years of Time ſhall be fully compleat and ended.

Thirdly, Chriſt having thus ſpoken of himſelf, as the Bread of Life, and of Faith as the Work of God, comes more particularly to ſhew, what of himſelf is this Bread, viz. his Fleſh, and that to believe, is to eat of that, v. 51—58. where he ſtill proſecutes the Metaphor of Food. Obſerve,

1. The Preparation of this Food; The Bread that I will give, is my Fleſh, v. 51. The Fleſh of the Son of Man, and his Blood, v. 53. His Fleſh is Meat indeed, and his Blood is Drink indeed, v. 55.

2. The Participation of this Food; we muſt eat the Fleſh of the Son of Man, and drink his Blood, v. 53. and again, v. 54. Whoſo eateth my Fleſh and drinketh my Blood; and the ſame Words, v. 56, and 57. he that eateth me. This is certainly a Parable, or figurative Diſcourſe, wherein the Actings of the Soul upon Things Spiritual and Divine are repreſented by bodily Actions about Things ſenſible; which made the Truths of Chriſt more intelligible to ſome, and leſs ſo to others, Mark. 4. 12. Now let us ſee,

1. How this Diſcourſe of Chriſt was liable to miſtake and miſconſtruction, that Men might ſee and not perceive.

(1.) It was miſconſtrued by the carnal Jews, to whom 'twas firſt delivered, v. 52. They ſtrove among themſelves; they whiſper'd in each others Ears their Diſſatisfaction, How can this Man give us his Fleſh to eat? Chriſt ſpoke, v. 51. of giving his Fleſh for us to ſuffer and die, but they, without due Conſideration, underſtood it of his giving it to us to be eaten, which gave occaſion to Chriſt to tell them, that however what he had ſaid was otherwiſe intended, yet even that alſo of eating his Fleſh, was no ſuch abſurd Thing, if rightly underſtood, as prima facie they took [illegible]o be.

(2.) It has been wretchedly miſconſtrued by the Church of Rome, for the Support of their monſtrous Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation, which gives the Lye to our Senſes, contradicts the Nature of a Sacrament, and overthrows all convincing Evidence. They, like theſe Jews here, underſtand it of a corporal and carnal eating of Chriſt's Body, like Nicodemus, John 3. 4. The Lord's Supper was not yet inſtituted, and therefore it could have no reference to that; 'tis a ſpiritual eating and drinking that is here ſpoken of, not a ſacramental.

(3.) It is miſunderſtood by many ignorant, carnal People, who from hence infer, that if they take the Sacrament when they die, they ſhall certainly go to Heaven; which as it makes many that are weak cauſeleſly uneaſy if they want it, ſo it makes many that are wicked cauſeleſly eaſy if they have it. Let us ſee therefore,

2. How this Diſcourſe of Chriſt's is to be underſtood.

1. What is meant by the Fleſh and Blood of Chriſt. 'Tis call'd, v. 53. The Fleſh of the Son of Man, and his Blood; his as Meſſiah and Mediator: The Fleſh and Blood which he aſſum'd in his Incarnation, Heb. 2. 14. and which he gave up in his Death and Sufferings; My Fleſh which I will give to be crucified and ſlain. 'Tis ſaid to be given for the Life of the World, i. e. 1. Inſtead of the Life of the World, which was forfeited by Sin, Chriſt gives his own Fleſh as a Ranſom or Counter-price. Chriſt was our Bail, bound Body for Body (as we ſay) and therefore his Life muſt go for ours, that ours may be ſpared: Here am I, let theſe go their way. 2. In order to the Life of the World, to purchaſe a general Offer of eternal Life to all the World, and the ſpecial Aſſurances of it to all Believers. So that the Fleſh and Blood of the Son of Man, is the Redeemer incarnate, and dying; 'tis Chriſt and him crucified, and the Redemption wrought out by him, with all the precious Benefits of Redemption; Pardon of Sin, Acceptance with God, the Adoption of Sons, Acceſs to the Throne of Grace, the Promiſes of the Covenant, and eternal Life. Theſe are call'd the Fleſh and Blood of Chriſt, (1.) Becauſe they are purchaſed by his Fleſh and Blood, by the breaking of his Body, and the ſhedding of his Blood. Well may the purchaſed Privileges be denominated from the Price that was paid for them, for it puts a value upon them; write upon them pretium ſanguinis. (2.) Becauſe they are Meat and Drink to our Souls. Fleſh with the Blood was prohibited, Gen. 9. 4. but the Privileges of the Goſpel are as Fleſh and Blood to us, prepared for the Nouriſhment of our Souls. He had before compared himſelf to Bread, which is neceſſary Food; here to Fleſh, which is delicious. 'Tis a Feaſt of fat Things, Iſa. 25. 6. The Soul is ſatisfied with Chriſt as with Marrow and Fatneſs, Pſal. 63. 5. 'Tis Meat indeed, and Drink indeed; truly ſo, i. e. ſpiritually, ſo Dr. Whitby; as Chriſt is call'd the true Vine, or truly Meat, in oppoſition to the Shews and Shadows with which the World ſhams off thoſe that feed upon it. In Chriſt and his Goſpel there is a real Supply, and ſolid Satisfaction; that's Meat indeed, and Drink indeed, which ſatiates and repleniſheth, Jer. 31. 25, 26.

2. What is meant by eating this Fleſh, and drinking this Blood, which is ſo neceſſary and beneficial; 'tis certain it means neither more nor leſs than believing in Chriſt. As we partake of Meat and Drink by eating and drinking, ſo we partake of Chriſt and his Benefits by Faith: And believing in Chriſt includes theſe four Things which eating and drinking doth. (1.) It implies an Appetite to Chriſt. This ſpiritual eating and drinking begins with hungring and thirſting, Mat. 5. 6. earneſt and importunate Deſires after Chriſt, not willing to take up with any Thing ſhort of an Intereſt in him: Give me Chriſt, or elſe I die. (2.) An Application of Chriſt to ourſelves. Meat look'd upon will not nouriſh us, but Meat fed upon, and ſo made our own, and as it were one with us. We muſt ſo accept of Chriſt as to appropriate him to ourſelves; My Lord, and my God, John 20. 28. (3.) A Delight in Chriſt and his Salvation. The Doctrine of Chriſt crucified muſt be Meat and Drink to us, moſt pleaſant and delightful. We muſt feaſt upon the Dainties of the New Teſtament in the Blood of Chriſt, taking as great a Complacency in the Methods which infinite Wiſdom has taken to redeem and ſave us, as ever we did in the moſt needful Supplies, or grateful Delights of Nature. (4.) A Derivation or Nouriſhment from him, and a dependance upon him for the Support and Comfort of our ſpiritual Life, and the Strength, Growth, and Vigour of the new Man. To feed upon Chriſt, is to do all in his Name, in Union with him, and by Virtue drawn from him; 'tis to live upon him as we do upon our Meat. How our Bodies are nouriſhed by our Food, we cannot deſcribe, but that they are ſo, we know and find; ſo it is with this ſpiritual Nouriſhment. Our Saviour was ſo well pleaſed with this Metaphor, as very ſignificant and expreſſive, that when afterwards he would inſtitute ſome outward ſenſible Signs, by which to repreſent our communicating of the Benefits of his Death, he choſe thoſe of eating and drinking, and made them ſacramental Actions.

Having thus explained the general Meaning of this Part of Chriſt's Diſcourſe, the Particulars are reducible to Two Heads.

1. The Neceſſity of our feeding upon Chriſt, v. 53. Except ye eat the Fleſh of the Son of Man, and drink his Blood, ye have no Life in you. That is, 1. It is a certain Sign you have no ſpiritual Life in you, if you have no deſire towards Chriſt, nor delight in him. If the Soul doth not hunger and thirſt; certainly it doth not live: 'Tis a Sign we are dead indeed, if we are dead to ſuch Meat and Drink as this. When artificial Bees, that by curious Springs were made to move to and fro, were to be diſtinguiſhed from natural ones, (they ſay) 'twas done by putting Honey among them, which the natural Bees only flock'd to, but the artificial ones minded it not, for they had no Life in them. 2. It is certain you can have no ſpiritual Life, unleſs you derive it from Chirſt by Faith; ſeparated from him, you can do nothing. Faith in Chriſt is the primum vivens, the firſt living Principle of Grace; without it we have not the Truth of ſpiritual Life, nor any Title to eternal Life: Our Bodies may as well live without Meat, as our Souls without Chriſt.

2. The Benefit and Advantage of it, in Two Things.

1. We ſhall be one with Chriſt, as our Bodies are with our Food when 'tis digeſted: v. 56. He that eats my Fleſh, and drinks my Blood, that lives by Faith in Chriſt crucified, ('tis ſpoken of as a continued Act) he dwelleth in me, and I in him. By Faith we have a cloſe and intimate Union with Chriſt; he is in us, and we in him, John 17. 21, 22, 23. 1 Joh. 3. 24. Believers dwell in Chriſt as their ſtrong Hold, or City of Refuge; Chriſt dwells in them as the Maſter of the Houſe, to rule it, and provide for it. Such is the Union between Chriſt and Believers, that he ſhares in their Griefs, and they ſhare in his Graces and Joys; he ſups with them upon their bitter Herbs, and they with him upon his rich Dainties. 'Tis an inſeparable Union, like that between the Body and the digeſted Food, Rom. 8. 35. 1 Joh. 4. 13.

2. We ſhall live, ſhall live eternally by him, as our Bodies live by our Food. 1. We ſhall live by him, v. 57. As the living Father hath ſent me, and I live by the Father, ſo he that eateth me, even he ſhall live by me. We have here the Series and Order of the Divine Life. (1.) God is the living Father, hath Life in, and of himſelf: I am that I am is his Name for ever. (2.) Jeſus Chriſt as Mediator lives by the Father; he has Life in himſelf, John 5. 26. but he has it of the Father; he that ſent him, not only qualified him with that Life which was neceſſary to ſo great an Undertaking, but conſtituted him the Treaſury of Divine Life to us; breath'd into the ſecond Adam the Breath of ſpiritual Lives, as into the firſt Adam the Breath of natural Lives. (3.) True Believers receive this Divine Life by virtue of their Union with Chriſt, which is inferr'd from the Union between the Father and the Son, as it is compar'd to it, John 17. 21. for therefore he that eateth me, or feeds on me, even he ſhall live by me: Thoſe that live upon Chriſt, ſhall live by him. The Life of Believers is had from Chriſt, John 1. 16. it is hid with Chriſt, Col. 3. 4. we live by him as the Members by the Head, the Branches by the Root; becauſe he lives, we ſhall live alſo. 2. We ſhall live eternally by him; ver. 54. Whoſo eateth my Fleſh, and drinketh my Blood, as it is prepared in the Goſpel to be the Food of Souls, he hath eternal Life; he hath it now, as v. 40. he hath that in him which is eternal Life begun; he has the Earneſt and Foretaſte of it, and the Hope of it; he ſhall live for ever, v. 54. His Happineſs ſhall run parallel with the longeſt Line of Eternity itſelf.

The Hiſtorian concludes with an Account where Chriſt had this Diſcourſe with the Jews, v. 59. In the Synagogue, as he taught; implying, that he taught them many other Things beſides theſe, but this was that in his Diſcourſe which was new. He adds this, that he ſaid theſe Things in the Synagogue, to ſhew, (1.) The Credit of Chriſt's Doctrine. His Truths ſought no Corners, but were publickly preach'd in mixt Aſſemblies, as able to abide the moſt ſevere and impartial Teſt. Chriſt pleaded this upon his Trial, John 18. 20. I ever taught in the Synagogue. (2.) The Credibility of his Narrative of it. To aſſure you that the Diſcourſe was fairly repreſented, he appeals to the Synagogue at Capernaum, where it might be examined.

60 Many therefore of his diſciples, when they had heard this, ſaid, This is an hard ſaying, who can hear it? 61 When Jeſus knew in himſelf, that his diſciples murmured at it, he ſaid unto them, Doth this offend you? 62 What and if ye ſhall ſee the ſon of man aſcend up where he was before? 63 It is the ſpirit that quickeneth, the fleſh profiteth nothing: the words that I ſpeak unto you, they are ſpirit, and they are life. 64 But there are ſome of you that believe not. For Jeſus knew from the beginning, who they were that believed not, and who ſhould betray him. 65 And he ſaid, Therefore ſaid I unto you, that no man can come unto me, except it were given unto him of my Father. 66 ¶ From that time many of his diſciples went back, and walked no more with him. 67 Then ſaid Jeſus unto the twelve, Will ye alſo go away? 68 Then Simon Peter anſwered him, Lord, to whom ſhall we go? thou haſt the words of eternal life. 69 And we believe, and are ſure, that thou art that Chriſt, the ſon of the living God. 70 Jeſus anſwered them, Have not I choſen you twelve, and one of you is a devil? 71 He ſpake of Judas Iſcariot, the ſon of Simon: for he it was that ſhould betray him, being one of the twelve.

We have here an Account of the Effect of Chriſt's Diſcourſe; ſome were offended, and others edified by it; ſome driven from him, and others brought nearer to him.

Firſt, To ſome it was a ſavour of Death unto Death, not only to the Jews, who were profeſſed Enemies to him and his Doctrine, but even to many of his Diſciples, ſuch as were Diſciples at large, that were his frequent Hearers, and followed him in publick; a mixt Multitude, like thoſe among Iſrael, that began all the Diſcontents. Now here we have,

1. Their Murmurings at the Doctrine they heard, v. 60. not a few, but many of them were offended at it. Of the ſeveral ſorts of Ground that received the Seed, only one in four brought forth Fruit. See what they ſay to it, v. 60. This is a hard Saying, who can hear it? 1. They do not like it themſelves, what Stuff is this? Eat the Fleſh and drink the Blood of the Son of Man? If it be underſtood figuratively, it is not intelligible; if literally, not practical. What! muſt they turn Cannibals? Can they not be Religious, but they muſt be Barbarous? Si Chriſtiani adorant quod comedunt (ſaid Averroes) ſit Anima mea cum Philoſophis. Now, when they found it an hard Saying, if they had humbly begg'd of Chriſt to have declar'd unto them this Parable, he would have opened it, and their Underſtandings too, for the Meek will he teach his way; but they were not willing to have Chriſt's Sayings explained to them, becauſe they would not loſe this Pretence for rejecting them, that they were hard Sayings. 2. They think it impoſſible any one elſe ſhould like it, Who can hear it? Surely none can. Thus the Scoffers at Religion are ready to undertake, that all the intelligent Part of Mankind concur with them; they conclude with great Aſſurance that no Man of Senſe will admit the Doctrine of Chriſt, nor any Man of Spirit ſubmit to his Laws; becauſe they cannot bear to be ſo tutored, ſo ty'd up themſelves, they think none elſe can; who can hear it? Thanks be to God, Thouſands have heard theſe Sayings of Chriſt, and have found them not only eaſy, but pleaſant, as their neceſſary Food.

2. Chriſt's Animadverſions upon their Murmurings.

1. He well enough knew their Murmurings, v. 61. Their Cavils were ſecret in their own Breaſts, or whiſper'd among themſelves in a Corner. But, 1. Chriſt knew them, he ſaw them, he heard them. Note, Chriſt takes notice not only of the bold and open Defiances that are done to his Name and Glory by daring Sinners, but of the ſecret Slights that are put upon his Doctrine by carnal Profeſſors; he knows that which the Fool ſaith in his Heart, and cannot for Shame ſpeak out; he obſerves how his Doctrine is reſented by thoſe to whom 'tis preach'd; who rejoice in it, and who murmur at it; who are reconcil'd to it, and bow before it; and who quarrel with it, and rebel againſt it, tho' never ſo ſecretly. 2. He knew it in himſelf, not by any Information given him, or any external Indication of the Thing, but by his own Divine Omniſcience. He knew it, not as the Prophets, by a Divine Revelation made to him. That which the Prophets deſired to know, was ſometimes hid from them, as 2 Kings 4. 27. but by a Divine Knowledge in him. He is that eſſential Word that diſcerns the Thoughts of the Heart, Heb. 4. 12, 13. Thoughts are Words to Chriſt, we ſhould therefore take heed not only what we ſay and do, but what we think.

2. He well enough knew how to anſwer them; Doth this offend you? Is this a Stumbling-Block to you? See how People by their own wilful Miſtakes create Offences to themſelves! They take Offence where there is none given, and make it even there where there is nothing to make it of. Note, We may juſtly wonder that ſo much Offence ſhould be taken at the Doctrine of Chriſt for ſo little Cauſe. Chriſt ſpeaks of it here with wonder, Doth this offend you? How unreaſonable are your Quarrels?

Now in anſwer to thoſe who condemned his Doctrine as intricate and obſcure, (Si non vis intelligi, debes negligi.)

1. He gives them a Hint of his Aſcenſion into Heaven, as that which would give an irreſiſtible Evidence of the Truth of his Doctrine, v. 62. What, and if ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man aſcend up where he was before? And what then? 1. If I ſhould tell you of that, ſurely it would much more offend you, and you would think my Pretenſions too high indeed. If this be ſo hard a Saying that you cannot hear it, how will you digeſt it when I tell you of my returning to Heaven, from whence I came down? See John 3. 12. Thoſe who ſtumble at ſmaller Difficulties, ſhould conſider how they'll get over greater. 2. When you ſee the Son of Man aſcend, this will much more offend you, for then my Body will be leſs capable of being eaten by you in that groſs Senſe wherein you now underſtand it; ſo Dr. Whitby. Or, 3. When you ſee that, or hear it from thoſe that ſhall ſee it, ſurely then you will be ſatisfied. You think I take too much upon me, when I ſay, I came down from Heaven, for that was it you quarrel'd with, v. 42. but will you think ſo when you ſee me return to Heaven? If he aſcended, certainly he deſcended, Eph. 4. 9, 10. Chriſt did often refer himſelf thus to ſubſequent Proofs, as John 1. 50, 51. and 2. 14. Mat. 12. 40. and 26. 64. Let us wait a while till the Myſtery of God ſhall be finiſhed, and then we ſhall ſee there was no reaſon to be offended at any of Chriſt's Sayings.

2. He gives them a general Key to this, and all ſuch parabolical Diſcourſes, teaching them that they are to be underſtood ſpiritually, and not after a corporeal and carnal manner; v. 63. It is the Spirit that quickens, the Fleſh profiteth nothing. As it is in the natural Body, the animal Spirits quicken and enliven it, and without theſe the moſt nouriſhing Food would profit nothing; what would the Body be the better for Bread, if it were not quickened and animated by the Spirit; ſo it is with the Soul. 1. The bare Participation of Ordinances, unleſs the Spirit of God work with them, and quicken the Soul by them, profiteth nothing; the Word and Ordinances, if the Spirit work with them, are as Food to a living Man; if not, they are as Food to a dead Man. Even the Fleſh of Chriſt, the Sacrifice for Sin, will avail us nothing, unleſs the bleſſed Spirit quicken our Souls thereby, and enforce the powerful Influences of his Death upon us, till we by his Grace are planted together in the Likeneſs of it. 2. The Doctrine of eating Chriſt's Fleſh, and drinking his Blood, if it be underſtood literally, profits nothing, but rather leads us into Miſtakes and Prejudices; but the Spiritual Senſe and Meaning of it quickens the Soul, makes it alive, and lively, for ſo it follows, The Words that I ſpeak unto you, they are Spirit, and they are Life. To eat the Fleſh of Chriſt, is a hard Saying, but to believe that Chriſt died for me, and to derive from that Doctrine, Strength and Comfort in my Approaches to God, my Oppoſitions of Sin, and Preparations for a future State; this is the Spirit and Life of that Saying, and conſtruing it thus, it is an excellent Saying. The Reaſon why Men miſlike Chriſt's Sayings, is becauſe they miſtake them. The literal Senſe of a Parable doth us no good, we are never the wiſer for it, but the ſpiritual Meaning is inſtructive. 3. The Fleſh, i. e. thoſe that are in the Fleſh, (ſo ſome underſtand it) that are under the Power of a carnal Mind, they profit nothing by Chriſt's Diſcourſes; but the Spirit, i. e. thoſe that have the Spirit, that are ſpiritual, they are quicken'd and enliven'd by them, for they are received ad modum recipientis. They found fault with Chriſt's Sayings, whereas the Fault was in themſelves; 'tis only to ſenſual Minds that ſpiritual Things are ſenſeleſs and ſapleſs, ſpiritual Minds reliſh them; ſee 1 Cor. 2. 14, 15.

3. He gives them an Intimation of his Knowledge of them, and that he had expected no better from them, tho' they call'd themſelves his Diſciples, v. 64, 65. Now was fulfilled that of the Prophet, ſpeaking of Chriſt and his Doctrine, Iſa. 53. 1. Who hath believed our Report, and to whom is the Arm of the Lord reveal'd? Both theſe Chriſt here takes notice of.

(1.) They did not believe his Report. There are ſome of you, who ſaid you would leave all to follow me, who yet believe not; and this was the Reaſon why the Word preached did not profit them, becauſe it was not mixed with Faith, Heb. 4. 2. They did not believe him to be the Meſſiah, elſe they would have acquieſced in the Doctrine he preached, and not have quarrel'd with it, tho' there were ſome Things in it dark and hard to be underſtood. Oportet diſcentem credere. Young Beginners in Learning, muſt take Things upon their Teachers Word. Note, 1. Among thoſe who are nominal Chriſtians, there are many that are real Infidels. 2. The Unbelief of Hypocrites, before it diſcovers it ſelf to the World, is naked and open before the Eyes of Chriſt. He knew from the Beginning who they were of the Multitudes that followed him, that believed, and who of the Twelve ſhould betray him; he knew from the Beginning of their Acquaintance with him, and Attendance on him, when they were in the hotteſt Pang of their Zeal, who were ſincere, as Nathanael, John 1. 47. and who were not. Before they diſtinguiſhed themſelves by any Overt-act, he could infallibly diſtinguiſh who believed, and who did not; whoſe Love was counterfeit, and whoſe cordial. We may gather thence, 1. That the Apoſtacy of thoſe who have long made a plauſible Profeſſion of Religion, is a certain Proof of their conſtant Hypocriſy, and that from the Beginning they believed not; but is not a Proof of the poſſibility of the total and final Apoſtacy of any true Believers: Such Revolts are not to be call'd the Fall of real Saints, but the Diſcovery of pretended ones; ſee 1 John 2. 19. Stella cadens non ſtella fuit. 2. That it is Chriſt's Prerogative to know the Heart; he knows who they are that believe not, but diſſemble in their Profeſſion, and yet continues them room in his Church, the Uſe of his Ordinances, and the Credit of his Name, and doth not diſcover them in this World, unleſs they by their own Wickedneſs diſcover themſelves, becauſe ſuch is the Conſtitution of his viſible Church, and the diſcovering Day is yet to come; but if we pretend to judge Men's Hearts, we ſtep into Chriſt's Throne, and anticipate his Judgment. We are often deceived in Men, and ſee cauſe to change our Sentiments of them; but this we are ſure of, that Chriſt knows all Men, and his Judgment is according to Truth.

(2.) The Reaſon why they did not believe his Report, was becauſe the Arm of the Lord was not revealed unto them; for, v. 65. Therefore ſaid I unto you, that no Man can come to me except it were given unto him of my Father, referring to v. 44. Chriſt therefore could not but know who believed, and who did not, becauſe Faith is the Gift and Work of God, and all his Father's Gifts and Works could not but be known to him, for they all paſſed through his Hands. There he had ſaid, none could come to him except the Father draw him; here he ſaith, except it were given him of my Father, which ſhews that God draws Souls by giving them Grace and Strength, and a Heart to come; without which, ſuch is the moral Impotency of Man in his fallen State, that he cannot come.

3. We have here their final Apoſtacy from Chriſt hereupon, v. 66. From that Time many of his Diſciples went back and walked no more with him. When we admit into our Minds hard Thoughts of the Word and Works of Chriſt, and conceive a ſecret Diſlike, and are willing to hear Inſinuations tending to their Reproach, we are then entring into Temptation; 'tis as the letting forth of Water, 'tis looking back, which if infinite Mercy prevent not, will end in drawing back; therefore obſta Principiis, take heed of the Beginnings of Apoſtacy.

1. See here the Backſliding of theſe Diſciples; Many of them went back, to their Houſes, and Families, and Callings, which they had left for a Time to follow him; went back, one to his Farm, and another to his Merchandiſe; went back, as Orpah did, to their People, and to their Gods, Ruth 1. 15. They had enter'd themſelves in Chriſt's School, but they went back, did not only play truant for once, but took leave of him and his Doctrine for ever. Note, The Apoſtacy of Chriſt's Diſciples from him, tho' really a ſtrange Thing, yet has been ſuch a common Thing, that we need not think ſtrange at it. Here were many that went back: 'Tis often ſo, when ſome backſlide, many backſlide with them; the Diſeaſe is infectious.

2. The Occaſion of this Backſliding. From that Time, from the Time that Chriſt preached this comfortable Doctrine, that he is the Bread of Life, and thoſe who by Faith feed upon him, ſhall live by him, which one would think ſhould have engaged them to cleave the more cloſely to him, from that Time they withdrew. Note, The corrupt and wicked Heart of Man often makes that an occaſion of Offence, which is indeed matter of the greateſt Comfort. Chriſt foreſaw that they would thus take Offence at what he ſaid, and yet he ſaid it. That which is the undoubted Word and Truth of Chriſt muſt be faithfully delivered, whoever are offended at it. Mens Humours muſt be captivated to God's Word, and not that accommodated to Men's Humours.

3. The Degree of their Apoſtacy; they walked no more with him, returned no more to him, and attended no more upon his Miniſtry. It is hard for thoſe who have been once enlightened, and have taſted the good Word of God, if they fall away, to renew them again to Repentance, Heb. 6. 4, 5, 6.

Secondly, This Diſcourſe was to others a Savour of Life unto Life; many went back, but Thanks be to God all did not; even then the Twelve ſtuck to him. Tho' the Faith of ſome be overthrown, yet the Foundation of God ſtands ſure. Obſerve here,

1. The affectionate Queſtion which Chriſt put to the Twelve, v. 67. Will ye alſo go away? He ſaith nothing to them which went back; If the Unbelieving depart, let them depart; 'twas no great Loſs of thoſe whom he never had; light come, light go: But he takes this Occaſion to ſpeak to the Twelve, to confirm them, and by trying their Stedfaſtneſs the more to fix them. Will ye alſo go away? 1. It is at your Choice whether ye will or no; if ye will forſake me, now is the Time when ſo many do: 'Tis an Hour of Temptation, if ye will go back, go now. Note, Chriſt will detain none with him againſt their Wills; his Soldiers are Volunteers, not preſſed Men. The Twelve now had Time enough to try how they lik'd Chriſt and his Doctrine, and that none of them might afterwards ſay they were trapan'd into Diſcipleſhip, and if it were to do again they would not do it; he here allows them a Power of Revocation, and leaves them at their Liberty, as Joſh. 24. 15. Ruth 1. 15. 2. It is at your Peril if you do go away. If there were any ſecret Inclination in the Heart of any of them to depart from him now, he ſtops it with this awakening Queſtion, Will you alſo go away? Think not that you hang at as looſe an end as they did, and may go away as eaſily as they can. They have not been ſo intimate with me as you have been, nor received ſo many Favours from me; they are gone, but will you go? Remember your Character, and ſay, whatever others do, we will never go away: Should ſuch a Man as I flee? Neh. 6. 11. Note, The nearer we have been to Chriſt, and the longer we have been with him, the more Mercies we have received from him, and the more Engagements we have laid ourſelves under to him, the greater will be our Sin if we deſert him. 3. I have Reaſon to think you will not. Will you go away? No, I have faſter hold of you than ſo; I hope better Things of you, Heb. 6. 9. for you are they that have continued with me, Luke 22. 28. When the Apoſtacy of ſome is a Grief to the Lord Jeſus, the Conſtancy of others is ſo much the more his Honour, and he is pleaſed with it accordingly. Chriſt and Believers know one another too well to part upon every Diſpleaſure.

2. The believing Reply which Peter, in the Name of the reſt, made to this Queſtion, v. 68, 69. Chriſt put the Queſtion to them, as Joſhua put Iſrael to their Choice whom they would ſerve, with a Deſign to draw out from them a Promiſe to adhere to him, and it had the like Effect; Nay, but we will ſerve the Lord. Peter was upon all Occaſions the Mouth of the reſt, not ſo much becauſe he had more of his Maſter's Ear than they, but becauſe he had more Tongue of his own; and what he ſaid was ſometimes approv'd, and ſometimes reprimanded, Mat. 16. 17, 23.

the common Lot of thoſe who are ſwift to ſpeak. This here was well ſaid, admirably well; and probably he ſaid it by the Direction, and with the expreſs Aſſent of his Fellow-Diſciples; at leaſt he knew their Mind, and ſpoke the Senſe of them all, and did not except Judas, for we muſt hope the beſt.

1. Here's a good Reſolution to adhere to Chriſt, and ſo expreſs'd, as to intimate that they would not entertain the leaſt Thought of leaving him; Lord, to whom ſhall we go? 'Twere Folly to go from thee, unleſs we knew where to mend ourſelves? no, Lord, we like our Choice too well to change. Note, Thoſe who leave Chriſt, would do well to conſider whom they will go to, and whether they can expect to find Reſt and Peace any where but in him. See Pſal. 73. 27, 28. Hoſ. 2. 9. Whither ſhall we go? Shall we make our Court to the World? It will certainly deceive us; ſhall we return to Sin? It will certainly deſtroy us; ſhall we leave the Fountain of living Waters for broken Ciſterns? The Diſciples reſolve to continue their Purſuit of Life and Happineſs, and will have a Guide to it, and will adhere to Chriſt as their Guide, for they can never have a better. Shall we go to the Heathen Philoſophers, and become their Diſciples? They are become vain in their Imaginations, and profeſſing themſelves to be wiſe in other Things, are become Fools in Religion: Shall we go to the Scribes and Phariſees, and ſit at their Feet? What good can they do us, who have made void the Commandments of God by their Traditions? Shall we go to Moſes? He will ſend us back again to thee. Therefore if ever we find the Way to Happineſs, it muſt be in following thee. Note, Chriſt's holy Religion appears to great Advantage, when it is compared with other Inſtitutions, for then it will be ſeen how far it excels them all. Let them who find fault with this Religion, before they quit it, find a better. A Divine Teacher we muſt have, can we find a better than Chriſt; a Divine Revelation we cannot be without, if the Scripture be not ſuch a one, where elſe may we look for it?

2. Here's a good Reaſon for this Reſolution. It was not the inconſiderate Reſolve of a blind Affection, but the Reſult of mature Deliberation. The Diſciples were reſolved never to go away from Chriſt,

(1.) Becauſe of the Advantage they promiſed themſelves by him; Thou haſt the Words of eternal Life. They themſelves did not fully underſtand Chriſt's Diſcourſe, for as yet the Doctrine of the Croſs was a Riddle to them; but in the general they were ſatisfied that he had the Words of eternal Life: i. e. (1.) That the Word of his Doctrine ſhew'd the Way to eternal Life, ſet it before us, and directed us what to do, that we might inherit it. (2.) That the Word of his Doom and Determination muſt confer eternal Life. His having the Words of eternal Life, is the ſame with his having Power to give eternal Life to as many as were given him, John 17. 2. He had in the foregoing Diſcourſe aſſur'd eternal Life to his Followers, theſe Diſciples faſten upon that plain Saying, and therefore reſolved to ſtick to him, when the other over-look'd that, and faſten'd upon the hard Sayings, and therefore forſook him. Tho' we cannot account for every Myſtery, every Obſcurity in Chriſt's Doctrine, yet we know in the general it is the Word of eternal Life, and therefore muſt live and die by it; for if we forſake Chriſt, we forſake our own Merits.

(2.) Becauſe of the Aſſurance they had concerning him, v. 69. We know, and are ſure, that thou art that Chriſt. If he be the promiſed Meſſiah, he muſt bring in an everlaſting Righteouſneſs, Dan. 9. 24. and therefore has the Words of eternal Life, for Righteouſneſs reigns to eternal Life, Rom. 5. ult. Obſerve, 1. The Doctrine they believed; that this Jeſus was the Meſſiah promiſed to the Fathers, and expected by them, and that he was not a mere Man, but the Son of the living God, the ſame to whom God had ſaid, Thou art my Son, Pſal. 2. 7. In Times of Temptation to Apoſtacy, it's good to have recourſe to our firſt Principles, and ſtick to them; and if we faithfully abide by that which is paſt Diſpute, we ſhall be the better able both to find and to keep the Truth in Matters of doubtful Diſputation. 2. The Degree of their Faith; it roſe up to a full Aſſurance, we are ſure. We have known it by Experience, that's the beſt Knowledge. We ſhould take Occaſion from others wavering, to be ſo much the more eſtabliſhed, eſpecially in that which is the preſent Truth. When we have ſo ſtrong a Faith in the Goſpel of Chriſt, as boldly to venture our Souls upon it, knowing whom we have believed, then, and not till then, we ſhall be willing to venture every thing elſe for it.

3. The melancholy Remark, which our Lord Jeſus made upon this Reply of Peter's, v. 70, 71. Have not I choſen you Twelve, and one of you is a Devil? And the Evangeliſt tells us who he meant; He ſpake of Judas Iſcariot. Peter had undertaken for them all, that they would be tight to their Maſter. Now Chriſt doth not condemn his Charity, 'tis always good to hope the beſt, but he tacitly corrects his Confidence. We muſt not be too ſure concerning any. God knows them that are his, we do not. Obſerve here,

1. Hypocrites and Betrayers of Chriſt are no better than Devils. Judas not only had a Devil, but he was a Devil. One of you is a falſe Accuſer, ſo διαβολὸς ſometimes ſignifies, 1 Tim. 3. 11. and 'tis probable that Judas, when he ſold his Maſter to the chief Prieſts, repreſented him to them as an ill Man, to juſtify himſelf in what he did. But I rather take it as we read it, He is a Devil; a Devil incarnate; a fallen Apoſtle, as the Devil a fallen Angel. He is Satan, an Adverſary, an Enemy to Chriſt. He is Abaddon, and Apollyon, a Son of Perdition. He was of his Father the Devil, did his Luſts, was in his Intereſts, as Cain, 1 John 3. 12. Thoſe whoſe Bodies were poſſeſſed by the Devil, are never call'd Devils (Demoniacks, but not Devils) but Judas, into whoſe Heart Satan entered, and filled it, is called a Devil.

2. Many that are ſeeming Saints are real Devils. Judas had as fair an Outſide as many of the Apoſtles, his Venom was like that of the Serpent, cover'd with a fine Skin. He caſt out Devils, and appeared an Enemy to the Devil's Kingdom, and yet himſelf a Devil all the while. Not only he will be one ſhortly, but he is one now. 'Tis ſtrange, and to be admired, Chriſt ſpeaks of it with Wonder, Have not I? 'Tis ſad, and to be lamented, that ever Chriſtianity ſhould be made a Cloak to Diaboliſm.

3. The Diſguiſes of Hypocrites, however they may deceive Men, and put a Cheat upon them, cannot deceive Chriſt, for his piercing Eye ſees through them. He can call thoſe Devils that call themſelves Chriſtians, like the Prophet's greeting to Jeroboam's Wife, when ſhe came to him in Maſquerade, 1 Kings 14. 6. Come in, thou Wife of Jeroboam. Chriſt's Divine Sight, far better than any double Sight, can ſee Spirits.

4. There are thoſe who are choſen by Chriſt to ſpecial Services, that yet prove falſe to him; I have choſen you to the Apoſtleſhip, for 'tis expreſly ſaid, Judas was not choſen to eternal Life, John 13. 18. and yet one of you is a Devil. Note, Advancement to Places of Honour and Truſt in the Church is no certain Evidence of ſaving Grace. We have propheſied in thy Name.

5. In the moſt ſelect Societies on this ſide Heaven, it is no new Thing to meet with thoſe who are corrupt. Of the Twelve that were choſen to an intimate Converſation with an incarnate Deity, as great an Honour and Privilege as ever Men were choſen to, one was an incarnate Devil. The Hiſtorian lays an Emphaſis upon this, that Judas was one of the Twelve, that were ſo dignify'd and diſtinguiſhed. Let us not therefore reject and unchurch the Twelve, becauſe one of them is a Devil; nor ſay they are all Cheats and Hypocrites, becauſe one of them was ſo; let thoſe that are ſo, bear the Blame, and not thoſe who, while they are undiſcovered, incorporate with them. There is a Society within the Veil, into which no unclean Thing ſhall enter; a Church of Firſt-born, in which are no falſe Brethren.

CHAP. VII.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) Chriſt's declining for ſome time to appear publickly in Judea, v. 1. (2.) His Deſign to go up to Jeruſalem, at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, and his Diſcourſe with his Kindred in Galilee, concerning his going up to this Feaſt, v. 3—13. (3.) His preaching publickly in the Temple at the Feaſt. 1. In the midſt of the Feaſt, v. 14, 15. we have his Diſcourſe with the Jews, (1.) Concerning his Doctrine, v. 16—18. (2.) Concerning the Crime of Sabbath-breaking laid to his Charge, v. 19—24. (3.) Concerning himſelf, both whence he came, and whither he was going, v. 25—26. 2. On the laſt Day of the Feaſt, (1.) His gracious Invitation to poor Souls to come to him, v. 37—39. (2.) The Reception that it met with. 1. Many of the People diſputed about it, v. 40—44. 2. The chief Prieſts would have brought him into Trouble for it, but were firſt baulk'd by their Officers, v. 45—49. and then ſilenced by one of their own Court, v. 50—53.

AFter theſe things, Jeſus walked in Galilee: for he would not walk in Jewry, becauſe the Jews ſought to kill him. 2 Now the Jews feaſt of tabernacles was at hand. 3 His brethren therefore ſaid unto him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that thy diſciples alſo may ſee the works that thou doſt. 4 For there is no man that doth any thing in ſecret, and he himſelf ſeeketh to be known openly: if thou do theſe things, ſhew thy ſelf to the world. 5 For neither did his brethren believe in him. 6 Then Jeſus ſaid unto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is always ready. 7 The world cannot hate you; but me it hateth, becauſe I teſtify of it, that the works thereof are evil. 8 Go ye up unto this feaſt: I go not up yet unto this feaſt, for my time is not yet full come. 9 When he had ſaid theſe words unto them, he abode ſtill in Galilee. 10 ¶ But when his brethren were gone up, then went he alſo up unto the feaſt, not openly, but as it were in ſecret. 11 Then the Jews ſought him at the feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he? 12 And there was much murmuring among the people concerning him: for ſome ſaid, He is a good man: others ſaid, Nay; but he deceiveth the people. 13 Howbeit, no man ſpake openly of him, for fear of the Jews.

We have here,

1. The Reaſon given why Chriſt ſpent more of his Time in Galilee than in Judea, v. 1. becauſe the Jews, the People in Judea and Jeruſalem ſought to kill him, for curing the impotent Man on the Sabbath-day, John 5. 16. They thought to be the Death of him either by a popular Tumult, or by a legal Proſecution; in Conſideration of this, he kept at a diſtance in another Part of the Country, very much out of the Lines of Jeruſalem's Communication: It is not ſaid he durſt not, but he would not walk in Jewry; 'twas not through Fear and Cowardiſe that he declined it, but in Prudence, becauſe his Hour was not yet come. Note, 1. Goſpel-Light is juſtly taken away from thoſe that endeavour to extinguiſh it, and blow it out. Chriſt will withdraw from thoſe that drive him from them, and hide his Face from thoſe that ſpit in it, and juſtly ſhut up his Bowels from thoſe that ſpurn at them. 2. In times of imminent Peril, 'tis not only allowable but adviſable to withdraw and abſcond for our own Safety and Preſervation, and to chuſe the Service of thoſe Places which are leaſt perillous, Mat. 10. 23. Then, and not till then, we are called to expoſe and lay down our Lives, when we cannot ſave them without Sin. 3. If the Providence of God caſt Perſons of Merit into Places of Obſcurity, and little Note, it muſt not be thought ſtrange, 'twas the Lot of our Maſter himſelf; he who was fit to have ſat in the higheſt of Moſes's Seats, willingly walked in Galilee among the ordinary ſort of People. Obſerve, he did not ſit ſtill in Galilee, nor bury himſelf alive there, but walked; he went about doing good. When we cannot do what and where we would, we muſt do what and where we can.

2. The Approach of the Feaſt of Tabernacles, v. 2. one of the three Solemnities, which call'd for the perſonal Attendance of all the Males at Jeruſalem. See the Inſtitution of it, Lev. 23. 34, &c. and the Revival of it after a long Diſuſe, Neh. 8. 14. 'Twas intended to be both a Memorial of the Tabernacle State of Iſrael in the Wilderneſs, and a Figure of the Tabernacle State of God's ſpiritual Iſrael in this World. This Feaſt, which was inſtituted ſo many hundred Years before, was ſtill religiouſly obſerved. Note, Divine Inſtitutions are never antiquated, nor go out of date by length of time; nor muſt Wilderneſs Mercies ever be forgotten. But 'tis called the Jews Feaſt, becauſe it was now ſhortly to be aboliſh'd, as a meer Jewiſh thing, and left to them that ſerv'd the Tabernacle.

3. Chriſt's Diſcourſe with his Brethren; ſome of his Kindred, whether by his Mother, or his ſuppoſed Father, is not certain, but they were ſuch as pretended to have an Intereſt in him, and therefore interpos'd to adviſe him in his Conduct. And obſerve,

1. Their Ambition and Vain-glory in urging him to make a more publick Appearance than he did. Depart hence (ſaid they) and go into Judea, v. 3. where thou wilt make a better Figure than thou canſt here. Two Reaſons they give for this Advice.

1. That it would be an Encouragement to thoſe in and about Jeruſalem, who had a Reſpect for him; for expecting his temporal Kingdom, the Royal Seat of which they concluded muſt be at Jeruſalem, they would have Diſciples there, to be particularly countenanc'd; and thought the Time he ſpent among his Galilean Diſciples, waſted and thrown away, and his Miracles turning to no account, unleſs they at Jeruſalem ſaw them. Or, that thy Diſciples, i. e. all of them in general, who will be gathered at Jeruſalem to keep the Feaſt, may ſee thy Works, and not as here, a few at one time, and a few at another.

2. That it would be for the advancing of his own Name and Honour; There is no Man that doth any thing in ſecret, if he himſelf ſeeks to be known openly. They take it for granted, that Chriſt ſought to make known himſelf, and therefore thought it abſurd for him to conceal his Miracles; If thou do theſe things, if thou be ſo well able to gain the Applauſe of the People, and the Approbation of the Rulers, by thy Miracles, venture abroad, and ſhew thyſelf to the World. Supported with theſe Credentials, thou canſt not fail of Acceptance, and therefore it's high time to ſet up for an Intereſt, and think of being Great.

Now one would not think there were any harm in this, and yet the Evangeliſt notes it as an Evidence of their Infidelity, for neither did his Brethren believe in him, v. 5. if they had, they would not have ſaid this. Obſerve, (1.) It was an Honour to be of the Kindred of Chriſt, but no ſaving Honour; they that hear his Word, and keep it, are the Kindred he values. Sure Grace runs in no Blood in the World, when not in that of Chriſt's Family. (2.) It was a ſign Chriſt did not aim at any ſecular Intereſt, for then his Kindred would have ſtruck in with him, and he would have ſecured them firſt. (3.) There were thoſe that were a-kin to Chriſt according to the Fleſh, who did believe in him, Three of the Twelve were his Brethren; and yet others as nearly ally'd to him as they, did not believe on him. Many that have the ſame external Privileges and Advantages, do not make the ſame Uſe of them.

But what was there amiſs in this Advice which they gave him? I anſwer, (1.) It was a piece of Preſumption for them to preſcribe to Chriſt, and to teach him what Meaſures to take; 'twas a Sign they did not believe him able to guide them, when they did not think him ſufficient to guide himſelf. (2.) They diſcovered a great Careleſſneſs of his Safety, when they would have him go to Judea, where they knew the Jews ſought to kill him. They that believed in him, and loved him, diſſuaded him from Judea, John 11. 8. (3.) Some think they hoped, that if his Miracles were wrought at Jeruſalem, the Phariſees and Rulers would try them, and diſcover ſome Cheat in them, which would juſtify their Unbelief. So Dr. Whitby. (4.) Perhaps they were weary of his Company in Galilee, (for are not all theſe that ſpeak, Galileans?) and this was in effect, a Deſire that he would depart out of their Coaſts. (5.) They cauſeleſly inſinuate, that he neglected his Diſciples, and deny'd them ſuch a Sight of his Works, as was neceſſary to the Support of their Faith. (6.) They tacitly reproach him as mean-ſpirited, that he durſt not enter the Liſts with the great Men, nor thruſt himſelf upon the Stage of publick Action; which if he had any thing of Courage, and a great Soul, he would do, and not ſneak thus, and ſculk in a Corner; thus Chriſt's Humility, and his Humiliation, and the ſmall Figure which his Religion has uſually made in the World, have been often turned to the Reproach both of him and it. (7.) They ſeem to queſtion the Truth of the Miracles he wrought, in ſaying, If thou do theſe things; if they will bear the Teſt of a publick Scrutiny, in the Courts above, produce them there. (8.) They think Chriſt altogether ſuch a one as themſelves, as ſubject as they to the Politicks of the World, and as deſirous as they to make a fair Shew in the Fleſh; whereas he ſought not Honour from Men. (9.) Self was at the Bottom of all; they hoped, if he would make himſelf as great as he might, they being his Kinſmen, ſhould ſhare in his Honour, and have Reſpect paid them for his ſake. Note, 1. Many carnal People go to publick Ordinances, to worſhip at the Feaſt only to ſhew themſelves, and all their Care is to make a good Appearance, to preſent themſelves handſomely to the World. 2. Many that ſeem to ſeek Chriſt's Honour, do really therein ſeek their own, and make it ſerve a Turn for themſelves.

2. The Prudence and Humility of our Lord Jeſus, which appear'd in his Anſwer to the Advice his Brethren gave him, v. 6, 7, 8. Tho' there were ſo many baſe Inſinuations in it, he anſwered them mildly. Note, Even that which is ſaid without Reaſon, yet ſhould be anſwered without Paſſion; we ſhould learn of our Maſter to reply with Meekneſs, even to that which is moſt impertinent, and imperious; and where it is eaſy to find much amiſs, to ſeem not to ſee it, and wink at the Affront.

They expected Chriſt's Company with them to the Feaſt, perhaps hoping he would bear their Charges. But here,

(1.) He ſhews the Difference between himſelf and them, in two things,

1. His Time was ſet, ſo was not theirs. My time is not yet come, but your time is always ready. Underſtand it of the time of his going up to this Feaſt. It was an indifferent thing to them when they went, for they had nothing of Moment to do, either where they were, to detain them there, or where they were going, to haſten them thither; but every Minute of Chriſt's time was precious, and had its own particular Buſineſs allotted to it. He had ſome Work yet to be done in Galilee, before he left the Country; in the Harmony of the Goſpels betwixt this Motion made by his Kindred, and his going up to this Feaſt, comes in the Story of his ſending forth the 70 Diſciples, Luke 10. 1, &c. which was an Affair of very great Conſequence; his time is not yet, for that muſt be done firſt. Thoſe that live uſeleſs Lives, have their time always ready, they can go and come when they pleaſe; but thoſe whoſe Time is fill'd up with Duty, will often find themſelves ſtraiten'd, and they have not yet time for that which others can do at any time. Thoſe that are made the Servants of God, as all Men are, and that have made themſelves the Servants of all, as all uſeful Men have, muſt not expect, nor covet to be Maſters of their own Time. The Confinement of Buſineſs is a thouſand times better than the Liberty of Idleneſs. Or, it may be meant of the Time of his appearing publickly at Jeruſalem: Chriſt, who knows all Men, and all Things, knew that the beſt and moſt proper Time for it would be about the middle of the Feaſt. We, who are ignorant and ſhort-ſighted, are apt to preſcribe to him, and to think he ſhould deliver his People, and to ſhew himſelf now, juſt now; the preſent Time is our Time, but he is fitteſt to judge, and it may be his Time is not yet come; his People are not yet ready for Deliverance, nor his Enemies ripe for Ruin: Let us therefore wait with Patience for his Time, for all he doth will be moſt glorious in its Seaſon.

2. His Life was ſought, ſo was not theirs, v. 7. They in ſhewing themſelves to the World, did not expoſe themſelves; The World cannot hate you, for ye are of the World, its Children, its Servants, and in with its Intereſts, and no doubt the World will love its own; ſee John 15. 19. Unholy Souls, whom the holy God cannot love, the World that lies in Wickedneſs cannot hate; but he, in ſhewing himſelf to the World, laid himſelf open to the greateſt Danger, for me it hateth; Chriſt was not only ſlighted as inconſiderable in the World, The World knew him not, but hated, as if he had been hurtful to the World: thus ill was he required for his Love to the World; reigning Sin is a rooted Antipathy and Enmity to Chriſt.

But why did the World hate Chriſt, what Evil had he done it? Had he, like Alexander, under colour of conquering it, laid it waſte; no, but becauſe (ſaith he) I teſtify of it, that the Works of it are evil. Note, 1. The Works of an evil World are evil Works; as the Tree is, ſo are the Fruits: 'Tis a dark World, and an apoſtate World; and its Works, Works of Darkneſs and Rebellion. 2. Our Lord Jeſus, both by himſelf and by his Miniſters, did, and will both diſcover and teſtify againſt the evil Works of this wicked World. 3. It is a great Uneaſineſs, and Provocation to the World, to be convicted of the Evil of its Works. It is for the Honour of Virtue and Piety, that thoſe who are impious and vitious, do not care for hearing of it, for their own Conſciences make them aſham'd of the Turpitude there is in Sin, and afraid of the Puniſhment that follows after Sin. 4. Whatever is pretended, the real Cauſe of the World's Enmity to the Goſpel, is the Teſtimony it bears againſt Sin and Sinners. Chriſt's Witneſſes by their Doctrine and Converſation torment them that dwell on the Earth, and therefore are treated ſo barbarouſly, Rev. 11. 10. But 'tis better incur the World's Hatred, by our teſtifying againſt its Wickedneſs, than gain its good Will, by going down the Stream with it.

(2.) He diſmiſſeth them, with a deſign to ſtay behind for ſome time in Galilee, v. 8. Go ye up to this Feaſt, I go not up yet. 1. He allows their going to the Feaſt, tho' they were carnal and hypocritical in it. Note, Even thoſe who go not to holy Ordinances with right Affections, and ſincere Intentions, yet muſt not be hinder'd or diſcourag'd from going; who knows but they may be wrought upon there? 2. He denies them his Company, when they went to the Feaſt, becauſe they were carnal and hypocritical. Thoſe that go to Ordinances for Oſtentation, or to ſerve ſome ſecular Purpoſe, go without Chriſt, and will ſpeed accordingly. How ſad is the Condition of that Man, tho' he reckon himſelf a-kin to Chriſt, to whom he ſaith, Go up to ſuch an Ordinance, Go pray, Go hear the Word, Go receive the Sacrament, but I go not up with thee. Go thou, and appear before God, but I will not appear for thee, as Exod. 33. 1, 3. But if the Preſence of Chriſt go not with us, to what purpoſe ſhould we go up? Go ye up, I go not up. When we are going to, and coming from ſolemn Ordinances, it concerns us to be careful what Company we have, and chuſe, and to avoid that which is vain and carnal, leſt the Coal of good Affections be quench'd by corrupt Communication. I go not up yet to this Feaſt; he doth not ſay, I'll not go up at all, but not yet. There may be Reaſon for deferring a particular Duty, which yet muſt not be wholly omitted, or laid aſide. See Numb. 9. 11. The Reaſon he gives is, My Time is not yet full come. Note, Our Lord Jeſus is very exact and punctual in knowing and keeping his Time; and as it was the Time fix'd, ſo it was the beſt Time.

3. Chriſt's Continuance in Galilee till his full time was come, v. 9. He ſaying theſe things to them (ταῦτα δὲ εἰπὼν) abode ſtill in Galilee; becauſe of this Diſcourſe, he continued there; for, 1. He would not be influenc'd by thoſe that adviſ'd him to ſeek Honour from Men, nor go along with thoſe that put him upon making a Figure; he would not ſeem to countenance the Temptation. 2. He would not depart from his own Purpoſe. He had ſaid upon a clear Foreſight, and mature Deliberation, that he would not go up yet to this Feaſt, and therefore he abode ſtill in Galilee. It becomes the Followers of Chriſt thus to be ſteddy, and not to uſe Lightneſs.

4. His going up to the Feaſt when his Time was come.

Obſerve, 1. When he went. When his Brethren were gone up. He would not go up with them, leſt they ſhould have made a Noiſe and Diſturbance, under pretence of ſhewing him to the World; whereas it agreed both with the Prediction, and with his Spirit, not to ſtrive or cry, or let his Voice be heard in the Streets, Iſa. 42. 2. but he went up after them. We may lawfully join in the ſame religious Worſhip, with thoſe, that yet we ſhould decline an intimate Acquaintance and Converſe with; for the Bleſſing of Ordinances depends upon the Grace of God, and not upon the Grace of our Fellow-worſhippers. His carnal Brethren went up firſt, and then he went. Note, In the external Performances of Religion, 'tis poſſible that formal Hypocrites may get the Start of thoſe that are ſincere. Many come firſt, to the Temple, that are brought thither by Vain-glory, and go thence unjuſtified, as he, Luke 10. 10. 'Tis not who comes firſt that will be the Queſtion, but who comes fitteſt? If we bring our Hearts with us, 'tis no matter who gets before us.

2. How he went, ὡς ἐν κρυπτῷ, as if he were hiding himſelf. Not openly, but as it were, in ſecret, rather for fear of giving Offence, than of receiving Injury. He went up to the Feaſt, becauſe it was an Opportunity of honouring God, and doing good, but he went up as it were in ſecret, becauſe he would not provoke the Government. Note, Provided the Work of God be done effectually, 'tis beſt done when it's done with leaſt Noiſe. The Kingdom of God needs not come with Obſervation, Luke 17. 20. We may do the Work of God privately, and yet not do it deceitfully.

5. The great Expectation that there was of him among the Jews at Jeruſalem, v. 11, 12, 13. Having formerly come up to the Feaſts, and ſignalized himſelf by the Miracles he wrought, he had made himſelf the Subject of much Diſcourſe and Obſervation.

1. They could not but think of him, v. 11. The Jews ſought him at the Feaſt; and ſaid, where is he? (1.) The common People long'd to ſee him there, that they might have their Curioſity gratify'd with the Sight of his Perſon and Miracles. They did not think it worth while to go to him into Galilee, tho' if they had, they would not have loſt their Labour; but they hope the Feaſt will bring him to Jeruſalem, and then they ſhall ſee him. If an Opportunity of Acquaintance with Chriſt come to their Door, they can like it well enough. They ſought him at the Feaſt. When we attend upon God in his holy Ordinances, we ſhould ſeek Chriſt in them, ſeek him at the Goſpel Feaſts. And thoſe who wou'd ſee Chriſt at a Feaſt, muſt ſeek him there. Or, (2.) perhaps it was his Enemies that were thus waiting an Opportunity to ſeize him, and, if poſſible, to give an effectual Step to his Progreſs. They ſaid, Where is he? πȣ̃ ἐςιν ἐκεῖνος, Where is that Fellow? Thus ſcornfully and contemptibly do they ſpeak of him. Or it intimates how full their Hearts were with Thoughts of him, and their Town with Talk of him, they needed not name him. When they ſhould have welcomed the Feaſt as an Opportunity of ſerving God, they were glad of it as an Opportunity of perſecuting Chriſt. Thus Saul hoped to ſlay David at the New Moon, 1 Sam. 20. 27. Thoſe that ſeek Opportunity to ſin in ſolemn Aſſemblies for religious Worſhip, profane God's Ordinances to the laſt Degree, and defy him upon his own Ground; 'tis like ſtriking within the Verge of the Court.

2. The People differed much in their Sentiments concerning him, v. 12. There was much murmuring, or muttering rather, among the People concerning him. The Enmity of the Rulers againſt Chriſt, and their Enquiries after him, made him to be ſo much the more talked of, and obſerved among the People. This Ground the Goſpel of Chriſt hath got by the Oppoſition made to it, that it has been the more enquired into; and by being every where ſpoken againſt, it has come to be every where ſpoken of, and by that means has been ſpread the further, and the Merits of his Cauſe have been the more ſearched into. This Murmuring was not againſt Chriſt, but concerning him; ſome murmur'd at the Rulers, becauſe they did not countenance and encourage him; others murmured at them, becauſe they did not ſilence and reſtrain him. Some murmured that he had ſo great an Intereſt in Galilee; others, that he had ſo little Intereſt in Jeruſalem. Note, Chriſt and his Religion have been, and will be the Subject of much Controverſy and Debate, Luke 12. 51, 52. If all would agree to entertain Chriſt as they ought, there would be perfect Peace; but when ſome receive the Light, and others reſolve againſt it, there will be murmuring. The Bones in the Valley, while they were dead and dry, lay quiet; but when it was ſaid unto them, Live, there was a Noiſe and a Shaking, Ezek. 37. 7. But the Noiſe and Rencounter of Liberty and Buſineſs, are preferable ſure to the Silence and Agreement of a Priſon.

Now what were the Sentiments of the People concerning him?

1. Some ſaid, He is a good Man. This was Truth, but it was far ſhort of being the whole Truth. He was not only a good Man, but more than a Man, he was the Son of God. Many that have no ill Thoughts of Chriſt, yet have low Thoughts of him; and ſcarce honour him, even when they ſpeak well of him, becauſe they do not ſay enough: yet indeed it was his Honour, and the Reproach of thoſe that perſecuted him, that they who would not believe him to be the Meſſiah, yet could not but own he was a good Man.

2. Others ſaid, Nay, but he deceiveth the People; and if that had been true, he had been a very ill Man. The Doctrine he preached was ſound, and could not be conteſted; his Miracles real, and could not be diſprov'd; his Converſation manifeſtly holy and good, and yet it muſt be taken for granted, notwithſtanding, that there is ſome undiſcover'd Cheat at the Bottom, becauſe 'tis the Intereſt of the chief Prieſts to oppoſe him, and run him down. Such murmuring as there was among the Jews concerning Chriſt, there is ſtill among us; the Socinians ſay, He is a good Man, and further they ſay not: The Deiſts will not allow this, but ſay, He deceived the People. Thus ſome diminiſh him, others abuſe him; but great is the Truth.

3. They were frighten'd by their Superiors, from ſpeaking much of him, v. 13. No Man ſpake openly of him, for fear of the Jews. Either, 1. They durſt not openly ſpeak well of him. Whilſt any one was at Liberty to cenſure and reproach him, none durſt vindicate him. Or, 2. They durſt not ſpeak at all of him openly. Becauſe nothing could juſtly be ſaid againſt him, they would not ſuffer any thing to be ſaid of him. 'Twas a Crime to name him. Thus many have aim'd to ſuppreſs Truth, under colour of ſilencing Diſputes about it; and would have all Talk of Religion huſh'd, in hopes thereby to bury in oblivion Religion itſelf.

14 ¶ Now about the midſt of the feaſt, Jeſus went up into the temple, and taught. 15 And the Jews marvelled, ſaying, How knoweth this man letters, having never learned? 16 Jeſus anſwered them, and ſaid, My doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me. 17 If any man will do his will, he ſhall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I ſpeak of my ſelf. 18 He that ſpeaketh of himſelf, ſeeketh his own glory: but he that ſeeketh his glory that ſent him, the ſame is true, and no unrighteouſneſs is in him. 19 Did not Moſes give you the law, and yet none of you keepeth the law? Why go ye about to kill me? 20 The people anſwered and ſaid, Thou haſt a devil: who goeth about to kill thee? 21 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, I have done one work, and ye all marvel. 22 Moſes therefore gave unto you circumciſion, (not because it is of Moſes, but of the fathers) and ye on the ſabbath-day circumciſe a man. 23 If a man on the ſabbath-day receive circumciſion, that the law of Moſes ſhould not be broken; are ye angry at me becauſe

I have made a man every whit whole on the ſabbath-day?
24 Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment. 25 Then ſaid ſome of them of Jeruſalem, Is not this he whom they ſeek to kill?
26 But lo, he ſpeaketh boldly, and they ſay nothing unto him: do the rulers know indeed that this is the very Chriſt? 27 Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when Chriſt cometh, no man knoweth whence he is. 28 Then cried Jeſus in the temple as he taught, ſaying, Ye both know me, and ye know whence I am: and I am not come of myſelf, but he that ſent me is true, whom ye know not. 29 But I know him, for I am from him, and he hath ſent me.
30 Then they ſought to take him: but no man laid hands on him, becauſe his hour was not yet come.
31 And many of the people believed on him, and ſaid, When Chriſt cometh, will he do more miracles than theſe which this man hath done? 32 ¶ The Phariſees heard that the People murmured ſuch things concerning him: and the Phariſees, and the chief prieſts ſent officers to take him. 33 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, Yet a little while am I with you, and then I go unto him that ſent me. 34 Ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me: and where I am, thither ye cannot come. 35 Then ſaid the Jews among themſelves, Whither will he go, that we ſhall not find him? will he go unto the diſperſed among the Gentiles, and teach the Gentiles?
36 What manner of ſaying is this that he ſaid, Ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me: and where I am, thither ye cannot come?

Here's, 1. Chriſt's publick preaching in the Temple, v. 14. He went up into the Temple, and taught, according to his Cuſtom when he was at Jeruſalem. His Buſineſs was to preach the Goſpel of the Kingdom, and he did it in every Place of Concourſe. His Sermon is not recorded, becauſe probably 'twas to the ſame Purpoſe with the Sermons he had preach'd in Galilee, which were recorded by the other Evangeliſts. For the Goſpel is the ſame to the plain and to the polite. But that which is obſervable here, is, That it was about the midſt of the Feaſt; the 4th or 5th Day of the Eight. Whether he did not come up to Jeruſalem till the middle of the Feaſt, or whether he came up at the Beginning, but kept private till now, is not certain. But, Qu. Why did he not go to the Temple ſooner to preach? Anſ. 1. Becauſe the People would have more Leiſure to hear him, and it might be hoped would be better diſpos'd to hear him, when they had ſpent ſome Days in their Booths, as they did at the Feaſt of Tabernacles. 2. Becauſe he would chuſe to appear then, when both his Friends and his Enemies had done looking for him; and ſo gave a Specimen of the Method he would obſerve in his Appearances, which is to come at Midnight, Mat. 25. 6. But why did he appear thus publickly now? Surely it was to ſhame his Perſecutors, the chief Prieſts and Elders, (1.) By ſhewing that tho' they were very bitter againſt him, yet he did not fear them, nor their Power. See Iſa. 50. 7, 8. (2.) By taking their Work out of their Hands. Their Office was to teach the People in the Temple, and particularly at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, Neh. 8. 17, 18. But they either did not teach them at all, or taught for Doctrines the Commandments of Men, and therefore he goes up to the Temple and teaches the People. When the Shepherds of Iſrael made a Prey of the Flock, 'twas time for the chief Shepherd to appear, as was promis'd, Ezek. 34. 22, 23. Mal. 3. 1.

2. His Diſcourſe with the Jews hereupon; and the Conference, is reducible to Four Heads.

Firſt, Concerning his Doctrine. See here,

1. How the Jews admired it, v. 15. They marvelled, ſaying, How knows this Man Letters, having never learned? Obſerve here, 1. That our Lord Jeſus was not educated in Schools of the Prophets, or at the Feet of the Rabbins; not only did not travel for Learning, as the Philoſophers did, but did not make any uſe of the Schools and Academies in his own Country. Moſes was taught the Learning of the Egyptians, but Chriſt was not taught ſo much as the Learning of the Jews; having receiv'd the Spirit without Meaſure, he needed not receive any Knowledge from Man, or by Man. At the time of Chriſt's appearing, Learning flouriſhed both in the Roman Empire, and in the Jewiſh Church, more than in any Age before or ſince; and in ſuch a time of Enquiry, Chriſt choſe to eſtabliſh his Religion, not in an illiterate Age, leſt it ſhould look like a Deſign to impoſe upon the World, yet he himſelf ſtudied not the Learning then in vogue. 2. That Chriſt had Letters, tho' he had never learned them; was mighty in the Scriptures, tho' he never had any Doctor of the Law for his Tutor. 'Tis neceſſary Chriſt's Miniſters ſhould have Learning, as he had; and ſince they cannot expect to have it as he had it, by Inſpiration, they muſt take Pains to get it in an ordinary way. 3. That Chriſt having Learning, tho' he had not been taught it, made him truly great and wonderful; the Jews ſpeak of it here with Wonder. 1. Some 'tis likely took Notice of it to his Honour; he that had no human Learning, and yet ſo far excell'd all that had, certainly muſt be endued with a Divine Knowledge. 2. Others probably mentioned it in Diminution and Contempt of him; whatever he ſeems to have, he cannot really have any true Learning, for he was never at the Univerſity, nor took his Degree. 3. Some perhaps ſuggeſted that he had got his Learning by Magick Arts, or ſome unlawful Means or other: ſince they know not how he could be a Scholar, they'll think him a Conjurer.

2. What he aſſerted concerning it; Three things.

1. That his Doctrine is Divine, v. 16. My Doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me. They were offended, becauſe he undertook to teach, tho' he had never learned. In anſwer to which he tells them, that his Doctrine was ſuch as was not to be learn'd, for it was not the Product of human Thought, and natural Powers, enlarged and elevated by Reading and Converſation, but it was a Divine Revelation. As God equal with the Father, he might truly have ſaid, My Doctrine is mine, and his that ſent me; but being now in his Eſtate of Humiliation, and being, as Mediator, God's Servant, it was more congruous to ſay, My Doctrine is not mine, not mine only, or mine originally, as Man and Mediator, but his that ſent me; it doth not centre in myſelf, or lead ultimately to my ſelf, but to him that ſent me; God had promiſed concerning the great Prophet, that he would put his Words into his Mouth, Deut. 18. 18. to which Chriſt ſeems here to refer. Note, It is the Comfort of thoſe who embrace Chriſt's Doctrine, and the Condemnation of thoſe who reject it, that it is a Divine Doctrine, it is of God and not of Man.

2. That the moſt competent Judges of the Truth and Divine Authority of Chriſt's Doctrine, are thoſe that with a ſincere and upright Heart, deſire and endeavour to do the Will of God, v. 17. If any Man be willing to do the Will of God, hath his Will melted into the Will of God, he ſhall know of the Doctrine, whether it be of God, or, whether I ſpeak of myſelf. Obſerve here,

(1.) What the Queſtion is, concerning the Doctrine of Chriſt, Whether it be of God, or no, whether the Goſpel be a Divine Revelation or an Impoſture! Chriſt himſelf was willing to have his Doctrine enquired into, whether it were of God or no, much more ſhould his Miniſters; and we are concerned to examine what Grounds we go upon, for if we be deceived, we are miſerably deceiv'd.

(2.) Who are likely to ſucceed in this Search; Thoſe that do the Will of God, at leaſt are deſirous to do it. Now ſee, (1.) Who they are that will do the Will of God; they are ſuch as are impartial in their Enquiries concerning the Will of God, and are not biaſs'd by any Luſt or Intereſt; and ſuch as are reſolved by the Grace of God, when they find out what the Will of God is, to conform to it. They are ſuch as have an honeſt Principle of Regard to God, and are truly deſirous to glorify and pleaſe him. (2.) Whence it is that ſuch a one ſhall know of the Truth of Chriſt's Doctrine. 1. Chriſt has promis'd to give Knowledge to ſuch; he hath ſaid, he ſhall know, and he can give an Underſtanding. Thoſe who improve the Light they have, and carefully live up to it, ſhall be ſecured by Divine Grace from deſtructive Miſtakes. 2. They are diſpoſed and prepared to receive that Knowledge. He that is inclined to ſubmit to the Rules of the Divine Law, is diſpos'd to admit the Rays of Divine Light. To him that has, ſhall be given; thoſe have the good Underſtanding, that do his Commandments, Pſal. 111. 10. Thoſe who reſemble God, are moſt likely to underſtand him.

3. That hereby it appear'd Chriſt as a Teacher did not ſpeak of himſelf, becauſe he did not ſeek himſelf, v. 18.

1. See here the Character of a Deceiver; he ſeeketh his own Glory, which is a Sign he ſpeaks of himſelf, as the falſe Chriſts and falſe Prophets did. Here's the Deſcription of the Cheat, they ſpeak of themſelves, and have no Commiſſion or Inſtructions from God; no Warrant but their own Will, no Inſpiration but their own Imagination, their own Politicks and Artifice. Ambaſſadors ſpeak not of themſelves; thoſe Miniſters diſclaim that Character, who glory in this, that they ſpeak of themſelves. But ſee the Diſcovery of the Cheat; by this their Pretenſions are diſprov'd, they conſult purely their own Glory; Self-ſeekers are Self-ſpeakers. They who ſpeak from God, will ſpeak for God, and for his Glory; they who aim at their own Preferment and Intereſt, make it appear they had no Commiſſion from God.

2. See the contrary Character Chriſt gives of himſelf and his Doctrine; He that ſeeketh his Glory that ſent him, as I do, makes it to appear that he is true. (1.) He was ſent of God. Thoſe Teachers, and thoſe only who were ſent of God, are to be received and entertain'd by us. Thoſe that bring a Divine Meſſage, muſt prove a Divine Miſſion, either by ſpecial Revelation, or regular Inſtitution. (2.) He ſought the Glory of God. It was both the Tendency of his Doctrine, and the Tenor of his whole Converſation, to glorify God. (3.) This was a Proof that he was true, and there was no Unrighteouſneſs in him. Falſe Teachers are moſt unrighteous; they are unjuſt to God, whoſe Name they abuſe; and unjuſt to the Souls of Men, whom they impoſe upon: There cannot be a greater Piece of Unrighteouſneſs than this. But Chriſt made it appear that he was true, that he was really what he ſaid he was, that there was no Unrighteouſneſs in him; no Falſhood in his Doctrine, no Fallacy or Fraud in his Dealings with us.

Secondly, The Diſcourſe concerning the Crime that was laid to his Charge for curing the impotent Man, and bidding him carry his Bed on the Sabbath-Day, for which they had formerly proſecuted him, and which was ſtill the Pretence of their Enmity to him.

1. He argues againſt them by way of Recrimination, convicting them of far worſe Practices, v. 19. How could they for ſhame cenſure him for a Breach of the Law of Moſes, when they themſelves were ſuch notorious Breakers of it? Did not Moſes give you the Law? And it was their Privilege that they had the Law; no Nation had ſuch a Law; but it was their Wickedneſs, that none of them kept the Law; that they rebell'd againſt it, and liv'd contrary to it: Many that have the Law given them, when they have it, do not keep it. Their Neglect of the Law was univerſal, none of you keep it; neither thoſe of them that were in Poſts of Honour, who ſhould have been moſt knowing, nor thoſe who were in Poſts of Subjection, that ſhould have been moſt obedient. They boaſted of the Law, and pretended a Zeal for it, and were enraged at Chriſt for ſeeming to tranſgreſs it, and yet none of them kept it; like thoſe that ſay they are for the Church, yet never go to Church. It was an Aggravation of their Wickedneſs in perſecuting Chriſt for breaking the Law, that they themſelves did not keep it: None of you keepeth the Law, why then go ye about to kill me for not keeping it? Note, Thoſe are commonly moſt cenſorious of others, who are moſt faulty themſelves. Thus Hypocrites, that are forward to pull a Mote out of their Brother's Eye, are not aware of a Beam in their own. Why go ye about to kill me? Some make this to be the Inſtance of their not keeping the Law; ye keep not the Law, if ye did, ye would underſtand yourſelves better than to go about to kill me for doing a good Work. Thoſe that ſupport themſelves and their Intereſt by Perſecution and Violence, whatever they pretend (tho' they may call themſelves Cuſtodes utriuſque Tabulæ) are not Keepers of the Law of God. Chemnitius underſtands this as a Reaſon why it is Time to ſuperſede the Law of Moſes by the Goſpel, becauſe the Law was found inſufficient to reſtrain Sin; Moſes gave you the Law, but you do not keep it, nor are kept by it from the greateſt Wickedneſs; there is therefore need of a clearer Light, and better Law to be brought it, why then do you aim to kill me for introducing it?

Here the People rudely interrupted him in his Diſcourſe, and contradicted what he ſaid, v. 20. Thou haſt a Devil; who goes about to kill thee? This ſpeaks, 1. The good Opinion they had of their Rulers, who they think would never attempt ſo ill a Thing as to kill him; no, ſuch a Veneration they had for their Elders and chief Prieſts, that they would ſwear for them, they would do no harm to an innocent Man. Probably the Rulers had their little Emiſſaries among the People, who ſuggeſted this to them; many deny that Wickedneſs, which at the ſame Time they are contriving. 2. The ill Opinion they had of our Lord Jeſus, Thou haſt a Devil, thou art poſſeſſed with a lying Spirit, and art an ill Man for ſaying ſo; ſo ſome: Or rather, thou art Melancholy, and art a weak Man; thou frighteneſt thy ſelf with cauſeleſs Fears, as Hypochondriacal People uſe to do. Not only open Phrenſies, but ſilent Melancholies were then commonly imputed to the Power of Satan: Thou art craz'd, haſt a diſtemper'd Brain. Let us not think it ſtrange if the beſt of Men be put under the worſt of Characters.

To this vile Calumny our Saviour returns no direct Anſwer, but ſeems as if he took no Notice of it. Note, Thoſe who would be like Chriſt, muſt put up Affronts, and paſs by the Indignities and Injuries done them; muſt not regard them, much leſs reſent them, and leaſt of all revenge them: I as a deaf Man heard not. When Chriſt was reviled, he reviled not again.

2. He argues by way of Appeal, and Vindication.

1. He appeals to their own Sentiments, of this Miracle, v. 21. I have done one Work, and ye all marvel. Ye cannot chuſe but marvel at it, as truly great, and altogether ſupernatural; you muſt all own it to be marvellous. Or, tho' I have done but one Work that you have any Colour to find fault with, yet you marvel, i. e. you are offended and diſpleaſed, as if I had been guilty of ſome heinous or enormous Crime.

2. He appeals to their own Practice in other Inſtances; I have done one Work on the Sabbath, and it was done eaſily, with a Word's ſpeaking, and you all marvel, you make a mighty ſtrange Thing of it, that a religious Man ſhould dare to do ſuch a thing, whereas you your ſelves many a Time do that which is a much more ſervile Work on the Sabbath-Day, in the caſe of Circumciſion; if it be lawful for you, nay, and your Duty to circumciſe a Child on the Sabbath-Day, when it happens to be the Eighth Day, as no doubt it is, much more was it lawful and good for me to heal a diſeaſed Man on that Day. Obſerve,

1. The Riſe and Original of Circumciſion; Moſes gave you Circumciſion, gave you the Law concerning it. Here's, 1. Circumciſion is ſaid to be given you, and v. 23. they are ſaid to receive it; 'twas not impos'd upon them as a Yoke, but conferred upon them as a Favour. Note, The Ordinances of God, and particularly thoſe which are Seals of the Covenant, are Gifts given to Men, and are to be received as ſuch. 2. Moſes is ſaid to give it, becauſe it was a part of that Law which was given by Moſes; yet as Chriſt ſaid of the Manna, ch. 6. 32. Moſes did not give it them, but God; nay, and it was not of Moſes firſt, but of the Fathers, v. 22. Tho' 'twas incorporated into the Moſaick Inſtitution, yet it was ordain'd long before, for it was a Seal of the Righteouſneſs of Faith, and therefore commenc'd with the Promiſe Four Hundred and Thirty Years before, Gal. 3.17. The Church-memberſhip of Believers and their Seed, was not of Moſes, or his Law, and therefore did not fall with it; but was of the Fathers, belong'd to the Patriarchal Church, and was part of that Bleſſing of Abraham, which was to come upon the Gentiles, Gal. 3. 14.

2. The Reſpect had to the Law of Circumciſion above that of the Sabbath, in the conſtant Practice of the Jewiſh Church. The Jewiſh Caſuiſts frequently take Notice of it, Circumciſio & ejus ſanatio pellit Sabbatum; ſo that if a Child was born one Sabbath-Day, it was without fail circumciſed the next. If then, when the Sabbath Reſt was more ſtrictly inſiſted on, yet thoſe Works were allowed which were in ordine ad ſpiritualia, for the keeping up of Religion, much more are they allowed now under the Goſpel, when the Streſs is laid more upon the Sabbath Work.

3. The Inference Chriſt draws from hence in Juſtification of himſelf, and of what he had done, v. 23. A Man Child on the Sabbath-Day receives Circumciſion, that the Law of Circumciſion might not be broken; or, as the Margin reads it, without breaking the Law, viz. of the Sabbath. Divine Commmands muſt be conſtrued ſo as to agree with each other. Now, if this be allowed by yourſelves, how unreaſonable are you, who are angry with me, becauſe I have made a Man every whit whole on the Sabbath Day; ἐμοὶ χολᾶτε; the Word is uſed only here, from χόλη, Fel. They were angry at him with the greateſt Indignation; 'twas a ſpiteful Anger, Anger with Gall in it. Note, It is very abſurd and unreaſonable for us to condemn others for that which we juſtify our ſelves in. Obſerve the Compariſon Chriſt here makes between their circumciſing a Child, and his healing a Man on the Sabbath-Day. 1. Circumciſion was but a Ceremonial Inſtitution; 'twas of the Fathers indeed, but not from the beginning; but what Chriſt did, was a good Work by the Law of Nature, a more excellent Law than that which made Circumciſion a good Work. 2. Circumciſion was a bloody Ordinance, and made ſore; but what Chriſt did, was healing and made whole. The Law works Pain, and if that Work may be done on the Sabbath-Day, much more a Goſpel Work, which works Peace. 3. Eſpecially, conſidering that whereas when they had circumciſed a Child, yet care was only to heal up that Part which was circumciſed, which might be done, and yet the Child remain under other Illneſſes: Chriſt had made this Man every whit whole, ὅλον ἄνθρωπον ὑγιῆ, I have made the whole Man heathful and ſound. The whole Body was healed, for the Diſeaſe affected the whole Body, and it was a perfect Cure, ſuch as left no Relicks of the Diſeaſe behind; nay, Chriſt not only heal'd his Body, but his Soul too, by that Admonition, Go, and ſin no more; and ſo indeed made the whole Man ſound, for the Soul is the Man. Circumciſion indeed was intended for the Good of the Soul, and to make the whole Man as it ſhould be, but they had perverted it, and turn'd it into a meer carnal Ordinance; but Chriſt accompanied his outward Cures with inward Grace, and ſo made them Sacramental, and healed the whole Man.

He concludes this Argument with that Rule, v. 24. Judge not according to the Appearance, but judge righteous Judgment. This may be applied, either, (1.) In particular to this Work which they quarrel'd with as a Violation of the Law. Be not partial in your Judgement, judge not, κατ᾽ ὄψιν, with Reſpect of Perſons; knowing Faces, as the Hebrew Phraſe is, Deut. 1. 17. 'Tis contrary to the Law of Juſtice, as well as Charity, to cenſure thoſe who differ in Opinion from us as Tranſgreſſors, in taking that Liberty, which yet in thoſe of our own Party, and Way, and Opinion, we allow of; as it is alſo to commend that in ſome as neceſſary Strictneſs and Severity, which in others we condemn as Impoſition and Perſecution. Or, (2.) In general, To Chriſt's Perſon and Preaching, which they were offended at, and prejudic'd againſt. Thoſe Things that are falſe, and deſign'd to impoſe upon Men, commonly appear beſt, when they are judged of according to the outward Appearance; they appear moſt plauſible, primâ facie. This was it that gained the Phariſees ſuch an Intereſt and Reputation, that they appear'd right unto Men, Mat. 23. 27, 28. and Men judg'd of them by that Appearance, and ſo were ſadly miſtaken in them. But ſaith Chriſt, be not too confident that all are real Saints, who are ſeeming ones. And with reference to himſelf, his outward Appearance was far ſhort of his real Dignity and Excellency, for he took upon him the Form of a Servant, Phil. 2. 7. in the Likeneſs of ſinful Fleſh, Rom. 8. 3. had no Form or Comelineſs, Iſa. 53. 2. So that they who undertook to judge whether he were the Son of God or no by his outward Appearance, were not likely to judge righteous Judgment. The Jews expected the outward Appearance of the Meſſiah to be pompous and magnificent, and attended with all the Ceremonies of ſecular Grandeur, and judging of Chriſt by that Rule, their Judgment was from firſt to laſt a continual Miſtake, for the Kingdom of Chriſt was not to be of this World, nor to come with Obſervation. If a Divine Power accompanied him, and God bare him Witneſs, and the Scriptures were fulfilled in him, tho' his Appearance was never ſo mean, they ought to receive him, and to judge by Faith, and not by the Sight of the Eye. See Iſa. 11. 3. and 1 Sam. 16. 7. Chriſt and his Doctrine, and Doings, deſire nothing but righteous Judgment; if Truth and Juſtice may but paſs the Sentence, Chriſt and his Cauſe will carry the Day. We muſt not judge concerning any by their outward Appearance, not by their Titles, the Figure they make in the World, and their fluttering Shew; but by their intrinſick Worth, and the Gifts and Graces of God's Spirit in them.

Thirdly, Chriſt diſcourſeth with them here concerning himſelf, whence he came, and whither he was going, v. 25——36.

1. Whence he came, v. 25——31. In the Account of this, obſerve,

1. The Objection concerning this, ſtarted by ſome of the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, who ſeem to have been of all others moſt prejudiced againſt him, v. 25. One would think that they who lived at the Fountain-Head of Knowledge and Religion, ſhould have been moſt ready to receive the Meſſiah, but it proved quite contrary; thoſe that have Plenty of the Means of Knowledge and Grace, if they are not made better by them, are commonly made worſe; and our Lord Jeſus has oft met with the leaſt Welcome from thoſe that one would expect the beſt from. But it was not without ſome juſt Cauſe, that it came into a Proverb, The nearer the Church, the farther from God.

Theſe People of Jeruſalem ſhew'd their ill Will to Chriſt, (1.) By their reflecting upon the Rulers, becauſe they let him alone. Is not this he whom they ſeek to kill; the Multitude of the People that came up out of the Country to the Feaſt, did not ſuſpect there was any Deſign on foot againſt him, and therefore they ſaid, Who goes about to kill thee? v. 20. But they of Jeruſalem knew the Plot, and irritated their Rulers to put it in execution. Is not this he whom they ſeek to kill? Why do they not do it then? who hinders them? They ſay they have a mind to get him out of the way, and yet lo, he ſpeaketh boldly, and they ſay nothing to him; do the Rulers know indeed that this is the very Chriſt? v. 26. Here they ſlily and maliciouſly inſinuate two things to exaſperate the Rulers againſt Chriſt, when indeed they needed no Spur. 1. That by conniving at his preaching, they brought their Authority into Contempt: Muſt a Man that is condemn'd by the Sanhedrin as a Deceiver, be permitted to ſpeak boldly, without any Check or Contradiction? this makes their Sentence to be but Brutum Fulmen; if our Rulers will ſuffer themſelves to be thus trampled upon, they may thank themſelves if none ſtand in awe of them and their Laws. Note, The worſt of Perſecutions have oft been carry'd on under colour of the neceſſary Support of Authority and Government. 2. That hereby they brought their Judgment into Suſpicion; Do they know that this is the Chriſt? 'Tis ſpoken ironically, How came they to change their Mind? What new Diſcovery have they lit on? They give People occaſion to think that they believe him to be the Chriſt, and are concern'd to act vigorouſly againſt him to clear themſelves from the Suſpicion. Thus the Rulers, who had made the People Enemies to Chriſt, made them ſeven times more the Children of Hell than themſelves, Mat. 23. 15. When Religion and the Profeſſion of Chriſt's Name are out of Faſhion, and conſequently out of Repute, many are ſtrongly tempted to perſecute and oppoſe them, only that they may not be thought to favour them, and incline to them. And for this Reaſon, Apoſtates, and the degenerate Offſpring of good Parents, have been ſometimes worſe than others, as it were to wipe off the Stain of their Profeſſion. 'Twas ſtrange the Rulers thus irritated did not ſeize Chriſt; but his Hour was not yet come; and God can tie Mens Hands to Admiration, tho' he do not turn their Hearts.

(2.) By their Exception againſt his being the Chriſt; in which appeared more Malice than Matter, v. 27. If the Rulers think him to be the Chriſt, we neither can, nor will believe him to be ſo, for we have this Argument againſt it, that we know this Man whence he is; but when Chriſt comes, no Man knows whence he is. Here's a Fallacy in the Argument, for the Propoſitions are not both ad idem. (1.) If they ſpeak of his Divine Nature, it is true, that when Chriſt comes, no Man knows whence he his, for he is a Prieſt after the Order of Melchizedeck, who was without Deſcent, and his Goings forth have been of old from everlaſting, Mic. 5. 2. But then it was not true, that as for this Man, they knew whence he was, for they knew not his Divine Nature, nor how the Word was made Fleſh. (2.) If they ſpeak of his human Nature, it was true that they knew whence he was, who was his Mother, and where he was bred up; but then it was falſe, that ever it was ſaid of the Meſſiah, that none ſhould know whence he was, for it was known before where he ſhould be born, Mat. 2. 4, 5. Obſerve, 1. How they deſpis'd him, becauſe they knew whence he was. Familiarity breeds Contempt, and we are apt to diſdain the Uſe of thoſe whom we know the Riſe of; Chriſt's own received him not, becauſe he was their own, for which very Reaſon they ſhould the rather have lov'd him; and been thankful that their Nation, and their Age was honour'd with his Appearance. 2. How they endeavoured unjuſtly to faſten the Ground of their Prejudice upon the Scriptures, as if they countenanced them, when there was no ſuch Thing. Therefore People err concerning Chriſt, becauſe they know not the Scriptures.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Objection, v. 28, 29. He ſpoke freely and boldly, he cried in the Temple, as he taught; he ſpoke this louder than the reſt of his Diſcourſe, 1. To expreſs his Earneſtneſs, being griev'd for the Hardneſs of their Hearts; there may be a Vehemency in contending for the Truth, where yet there is no intemperate Heat or Paſſion. We may inſtruct Gainſayers with Warmth, and yet with Meekneſs. 2. The Prieſts, and thoſe that were prejudic'd againſt him, did not come near enough to hear his Preaching, and therefore he muſt ſpeak louder than ordinary what he will have them to hear. Whoever has Ears to hear, let him hear this.

Now Chriſt's Anſwer to their Cavil is,

1. By way of Conceſſion, granting that they did, or might, know his Original as to the Fleſh, ye both know me, and ye know whence I am. You know I am of your own Nation, and one of yourſelves. It's no Diſparagement to the Doctrine of Chriſt, that there is that in it, which is level to the Capacities of the Meaneſt; plain Truths diſcovered even by Nature's Light, of which we may ſay we know whence they are; ye know me, i. e. ye think ye know me, but ye are miſtaken; ye take me to be the Carpenter's Son, and born at Nazareth, but it is not ſo.

2. By way of Negation, denying that that which they did ſee in him, and know of him, was all that was to be known; and therefore if they look'd no further than that, they judged by the outward Appearance only. They knew whence he came perhaps, and where he had his Birth, but he will tell them what they knew not, from whom he came. 1. That he did not come of himſelf; that he did not run without ſending, nor come as a private Perſon, but with a publick Character. 2. That he was ſent of his Father; this is twice mentioned; He hath ſent me; and again, He hath ſent me, to ſay what I ſay, and do what I do. This he was himſelf well aſſur'd of, and therefore knew that his Father would bear him out; and 'tis well for us that we are aſſured of it too, that we may with holy Confidence go to God by him. 3. That he was from his Father, παρ' αὐτȣ̃ εἰμι, not only ſent from him as a Servant from his Maſter, but from him by eternal Generation, as a Son from his Father, by eſſential Emanation, as the Beams from the Sun. 4. That the Father who ſent him is true; he had promis'd to give the Meſſiah, and tho' the Jews had forfeited the Promiſe, yet he that made the Promiſe is true, and has perform'd it; he had promis'd that the Meſſiah ſhould ſee his Seed, and be ſucceſsful in his Undertaking; and tho' the Generality of the Jews reject him and his Goſpel, yet he is true, and will fulfil the Promiſe in the Calling of the Gentiles. 5. That theſe unbelieving Jews did not know the Father; He that ſent me, whom ye know not. There is much Ignorance of God, even with many that have a Form of Knowledge; and the true Reaſon why People reject Chriſt, is becauſe they do not know God; for there is ſuch a Harmony of the Divine Attributes in the Work of Redemption, and ſuch an admirable Agreement between natural and revealed Religion, that the right Knowledge of the former would not only admit, but introduce the latter. 6. Our Lord Jeſus was intimately acquainted with the Father that ſent him; but I know him. He knew him ſo well, that he was not at all in doubt, concerning his Miſſion from him, but perfectly aſſur'd of that, not at all in the dark concerning the Work he had to do, but perfectly appriz'd of that, Mat. 11. 27.

3. The Provocation which this gave to his Enemies, who therefore hated him becauſe he told them the Truth, v. 30. They ſought therefore to take him, to lay violent Hands on him, not only to do him a Miſchief, but ſome way or other to be the Death of him; but by the Reſtraint of an inviſible Power it was prevented, no body touch'd him, becauſe his Hour was not yet come; that was not the Reaſon why they did it not, but God's Reaſon why he hindered them from doing it. Note, (1.) The faithful Preachers of the Truths of God, tho' they behave themſelves with never ſo much Prudence and Meekneſs, yet muſt expect to be hated and perſecuted by thoſe, who think themſelves tormented by their Teſtimony, Rev. 11. 10. (2.) God has wicked Men in a Chain, and whatever Miſchief they would do, yet they can do no more than God will ſuffer them to do. The Malice of Perſecutors is impotent, even then when 'tis moſt impetuous, and when Satan fills their Hearts, yet God ties their Hands. (3.) God's Servants are ſometimes wonderfully protected by undiſcernable, unaccountable Means: Their Enemies do not do the Miſchief they deſigned, and yet neither they themſelves, nor any one elſe can tell why they do not. (4.) Chriſt had his Hour ſet, which was to put a Period to his Day and Work on Earth, and ſo have all his People and all his Miniſters; and till that Hour comes, the Attempts of their Enemies againſt them are ineffectual, and their Day ſhall be lengthen'd as long as their Maſter has any Work for them to do; nor can all the Powers of Hell and Earth prevail againſt them, till they have finiſhed their Teſtimony.

4. The good Effect which Chriſt's Diſcourſe had, notwithſtanding this, upon ſome of his Hearers, v. 31. Many of the People believed on him. As he was ſet for the Fall of ſome, ſo for the Riſing again of others: Even there, where the Goſpel meets with Oppoſition, yet there may be a great deal of good done, 1 Theſſ. 2. 2. Obſerve here,

1. Who they were that believed: Not a few, but many, more than one would have expected when the Stream run ſo ſtrong the other way. But theſe many were of the People, ἐκ τȣ ὄχλȣ, of the Multitude, the Crowd, the inferior ſort, the Mob, the Rabble, ſome would have called them. We muſt not meaſure the Proſperity of the Goſpel, by its Succeſs among the great ones, nor muſt Miniſters ſay they labour in vain, tho' none but the Poor, and thoſe of no Figure, receive the Goſpel; 1 Cor. 1. 26.

2. What induced them to believe; the Miracles which he did. Which were not only the Accompliſhment of the Old-Teſtament Prophecies, Iſa. 35. 5,6. but an Argument of a Divine Power. He that had an Ability to do that which none but God can do, controul and over-rule the Powers of Nature, no doubt had Authority to enact that which none but God can enact, a Law that ſhall bind Conſcience, and a Covenant that ſhall give Life.

3. How weak their Faith was; they don't poſitively aſſert, as the Samaritans did, This is indeed the Chriſt; but they only argue, When Chriſt comes, will he do more Miracles than theſe? They take it for granted that Chriſt will come, and when he comes will do many Miracles; and is not this he then? In him we ſee, tho' not all that worldly Pomp we have fancy'd, yet all that Divine Power we have believed the Meſſiah ſhould appear in, and therefore why may not this be he? They believe it, but have not Courage to own it. Note, Even weak Faith may be true Faith, and ſo accounted, ſo accepted by the Lord Jeſus, who deſpiſes not the Day of ſmall Things.

2. Whither he was going, v. 32——36. Where obſerve,

1. The Deſign of the Phariſees and chief Prieſts againſt him, v. 32.

1. The Provocation given them was, they had Information brought them by their Spies, who inſinuated themſelves into the Converſation of the People, and gathered Stories to carry to their jealous Maſters, that the People murmured ſuch Things concerning him; that there were many who had a Reſpect and Value for him, notwithſtanding all they had done to make him odious. Tho' the People did but whiſper theſe Things, and had not Courage to ſpeak out, yet the Phariſees were enraged at it. The Equity of that Government is juſtly ſuſpected by others, which is ſo ſuſpicious of itſelf, as to take notice of or to be influenced by the ſecret various and uncertain Muterings of the common People. The Phariſees valued themſelves very much upon the Reſpects of the People, and were ſenſible that if Chriſt did thus increaſe, they muſt decreaſe.

2. The Project they laid hereupon, was to ſeize Jeſus, and take him into Cuſtody: They ſent Officers to take him, not to take up thoſe who murmured concerning him, and frighten them; no, the moſt effectual way to diſperſe the Flock, is to ſmite the Shepherd. The Phariſees ſeem to be the Ring-leaders in this Proſecution, but they as ſuch had no Power, and therefore they got the chief Prieſts, the Judges of the Eccleſiaſtical Court, to join with them, who were ready enough to do ſo. The Phariſees were the great Pretenders to Learning, and the chief Prieſts to Sanctity. As the World by Wiſdom knew not God, but the greateſt Philoſophers were guilty of the greateſt Blunders in natural Religion; ſo the Jewiſh Church by their Wiſdom knew not Chriſt, but their greateſt Rabbins were the greateſt Fools concerning him, nay, they were the moſt inveterate Enemies to him. Thoſe wicked Rulers had their Officers, Officers of their Court, Church Officers, whom they employ'd to take Chriſt, and who were ready to go on their Errand, tho' it was an ill Errand. If Saul's Footmen will not go, he has a Herdſman that will turn and fall upon the Prieſts of the Lord, 1 Sam. 22. 18.

2. The Diſcourſe of our Lord Jeſus hereupon, v. 33, 34. Yet a little while I am with you, and then I go to him that ſent me; ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me, and where I am, thither ye cannot come. Theſe Words, like the Pillar of Cloud and Fire, have a bright Side, and a dark Side.

1. They have a bright Side towards our Lord Jeſus himſelf, and ſpeak abundance of Comfort to him, and all his faithful Followers, that are expoſed to Difficulties and Dangers for his Sake. Three things Chriſt here comforted himſelf with.

(1.) That he had but a little Time to continue here in this troubleſome World. He ſees he's never likely to have a quiet Day among them, but the beſt of it is, his Warfare will ſhortly be accompliſhed, and then he ſhall be no more in this World, John 17. 11. Whoever we are with in this World, Friends or Foes, 'tis but a little while we ſhall be with them. And it is Matter of Comfort to thoſe who are in the World, but not of it, and therefore are hated by it, and ſick of it, that they ſhall not be in it always, they ſhall not be in it long. We muſt be a while with thoſe that are pricking Briars, and grieving Thorns; but Thanks be to God, 'tis but a little while, and we ſhall be out of their Reach. Our Days being evil, 'tis well they are few.

(2.) That when he ſhould quit this troubleſome World, he ſhould go to him that ſent him. I go: Not I am driven away by Force, but I voluntarily go; having finiſhed my Embaſſy, I return to him, on whoſe Errand I came. Then, when I have done my Work with you, then, and not till then, I go to him that ſent me, and will receive me, will prefer me, as Embaſſadors are when they return. Their Rage againſt him would not only not hinder him from, but haſten him to the Glory and Joy that was ſet before him. Let thoſe who ſuffer for Chriſt, comfort themſelves with this, that they have a God to go to, and are going to him, going apace, to be for ever with him.

(3.) That tho' they perſecuted him here, where-ever he went, yet that none of their Perſecutions could follow him to Heaven; Ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me. It appears by their Enmity to his Followers when he was gone, that if they could have reached him, they would have perſecuted him, but ye cannot come into that Temple, as ye do into this. Where I am, i. e. where I then ſhall be; but he expreſſeth it thus, becauſe even when he was on Earth by his Divine Nature, and Divine Affections, he was in Heaven, John 3. 13.. Or it notes, that he ſhould be ſo ſoon there, that he was as good as there already. Note, It adds to the Happineſs of glorified Saints, that they are out of the Reach of the Devil and all his wicked Inſtruments.

2. Theſe Words have a black and dark Side towards theſe wicked Jews that hated and perſecuted Chriſt. They now long'd to be rid of him, Away with him from the Earth; but let them know,

(1.) That according to their Choice, ſo ſhould the Doom be. They were induſtrious to drive him from them, and their Sin ſhall be their Puniſhment, he will not trouble them long; yet a little while, and he will depart from them. It is juſt with God to forſake thoſe, that think his Preſence a Burthen. They that are weary of Chriſt, need no more to make them miſerable than to have their Wiſh.

(2.) That they would certainly repent their Choice when it was too late. 1 They ſhould in vain ſeek the Preſence of the Meſſiah; Ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me. Ye ſhall expect the Chriſt to come, but your Eyes ſhall fail with looking for him, and ye ſhall never find him. They who rejected the true Meſſiah when he did come, were juſtly abandoned to a miſerable and endleſs Expectation of one that ſhould never come. Or, it may refer to the final Rejection of Sinners, from the Favour and Grace of Chriſt at the great Day; thoſe who now ſeek Chriſt, ſhall find him; but the Day is coming, when thoſe who now refuſe him, ſhall ſeek him, and ſhall not find him. See Prov. 1. 28. they will in vain cry, Lord, Lord, open to us. Or, perhaps theſe Words might be fulfill'd in the Deſpair of ſome of thoſe Jews, who poſſibly might be convinc'd, and not converted, who would wiſh in vain to ſee Chriſt, and to hear him preach again; but the Day of Grace is over, Luke 17. 22. Yet that is not all, 2. They ſhould in vain expect a Place in Heaven, Where I am, and where all Believers ſhall be with me, thither ye cannot come; not only becauſe they are excluded by the juſt and irreverſible Sentence of the Judge, and the Sword of the Angel at every Gate of the New Jeruſalem, to keep the Way of the Tree of Life againſt thoſe who have no Right to enter, but becauſe they are diſabled by their own Iniquity, and Infidelity; ye cannot come, becauſe ye will not. Thoſe that hate to be where Chriſt is, in his Word and Ordinances on Earth, are very unfit to be where he is in his Glory in Heaven; for indeed Heaven would be no Heaven to them, ſuch are the Antipathies of an unſanctified Soul to the Felicities of that State.

3. Their Deſcant upon this Diſcourſe, v. 35, 36. They ſaid among themſelves, whither will he go? See here,

(1.) Their wilful Ignorance and Blindneſs. He had expreſly ſaid whither he would go, to him that ſent him, to his Father in Heaven, and yet they ask, Whither will he go? and what manner of Saying is this? None ſo blind as thoſe that will not ſee, that will not heed. Chriſt's Sayings are plain to him that underſtandeth, and difficult only to thoſe that are minded to quarrel.

(2.) Their daring Contempt of Chriſt's Threatnings. Inſtead of trembling at that terrible Word, ye ſhall ſeek me, and not find me; which ſpeaks the utmoſt Degree of Miſery; they banter it, and make a Jeſt of it, as thoſe Sinners that mock at Fear, and are not affrighted, Iſa. 5. 19. Amos 5. 18. Let him make Speed. But be ye not Mockers, leſt your Bands be made ſtrong.

(3.) Their inveterate Malice and Rage againſt Chriſt. All they dreaded in his Departure was, that he would be out of the Reach of their Power, Whither will he go, that we ſhall not find him? If he be above Ground; we will have him; we will leave no Place unſearch'd, as Ahab in queſt of Elijah, 1 Kings 18. 10.

(4.) Their proud Diſdain of the Gentiles, whom they here call the diſperſed of the Gentiles; meaning either the Jews that were ſcatter'd abroad among the Greeks, Jam. 1. 1. 1 Pet. 1. 1. will ye go and make an Intereſt among thoſe ſilly People? Or, the Gentiles diſperſed over the World, in Diſtinction from the Jews, who were incorporated into one Church and Nation; will he make his Court to them?

(5.) Their Jealouſy of the leaſt Intimation of Favour to the Gentiles; will he go and teach the Gentiles? Will he carry his Doctrine to them? Perhaps they had heard of ſome Items of Reſpect ſhew'd by him to the Gentiles, as in his Sermon at Nazareth, and in the Caſe of the Centurion, and the Woman of Canaan, and there was nothing they dreaded more than the Comprehenſion of the Gentiles. So common is it for thoſe who have loſt the Power of Religion, to be very jealous for the Monopoly of the Name. They now made a Jeſt of his going to teach the Gentiles, but not long after he did it in good Earneſt by his Apoſtles and Miniſters, and gather'd thoſe diſpers'd People, ſorely to the grief of the Jews, Rom. 10. 19. So true is that of Solomon, The Fear of the Wicked, it ſhall come upon him.

37 In the laſt day, that great day of the feaſt, Jeſus ſtood and cried, ſaying, If any man thirſt, let him come unto me, and drink. 38 He that believeth on me, as the ſcripture hath ſaid, out of his belly ſhall flow rivers of living water. 39 (But this ſpake he of the ſpirit, which they that believe on him, ſhould receive: for the holy Ghoſt was not yet given, becauſe that Jeſus was not yet glorified.) 40 ¶ Many of the people therefore, when they heard this ſaying, ſaid, Of a truth, this is the prophet. 41 Others ſaid, This is the Chriſt. But ſome ſaid, Shall Chriſt come out of Galilee? 52 Hath not the ſcripture ſaid, That Chriſt cometh of the ſeed of David, and out of the town of Bethlehem, where David was? 43 So there was a diviſion among the people, becauſe of him. 44 And ſome of them would have taken him; but no man laid hands on him.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, Chriſt's Diſcourſe, with the Explication of it, v. 37, 38, 39. 'Tis likely theſe are only ſhort Hints of what he enlarg'd upon, but they have in them the Subſtance of the whole Goſpel; here's a Goſpel Invitation to come to Chriſt, and a Goſpel Promiſe of Comfort and Happineſs in him. Now Obſerve,

1. When he made this Invitation. On the laſt Day of the Feaſt of Tabernacles, that great Day. The Eighth Day, which concluded that Solemnity, was to be a holy Convocation, Lev. 23. 36. Now on this Day Chriſt publiſh'd this Goſpel Call. Becauſe, 1. Much People were gather'd together; and if the Invitation was given to many, it might be hoped ſome would accept of it, Prov. 1. 7. Numerous Aſſemblies give Opportuinty of doing the more good. 2. The People were now returning to their Homes, and he would give them this to carry away with them as his parting Word. When a great Congregation is to be diſmiſs'd, and is about to ſcatter, as here, it is affecting to think, that in all probability they will never come all together again in this World; and therefore if we can ſay or do any thing to help them to Heaven, that muſt be the time. It is good to be lively at the Cloſe of an Ordinance. Chriſt made this Offer on the laſt Day of the Feaſt. (1.) To thoſe who had turn'd a deaf Ear to his Preaching on the foregoing Days of this ſacred Week; he will try them once more, and if they will yet hear his Voice, they ſhall live. (2.) To thoſe who perhaps might never have ſuch another Offer made them, and therefore were concerned to accept of this; it would be half a Year before there would be another Feaſt, and in that time they would many of them be in their Graves; Behold now is the accepted Time.

2. How he made this Invitation; Jeſus ſtood and cried. Which notes, 1. His great Earneſtneſs and Importunity. His Heart was upon it, to bring poor Souls in to himſelf. The Erection of his Body, and the Elevation of his Voice, were Indications of the Intenſeneſs of his Mind. Love to Souls will make Preachers lively. 2. His Deſire that all might take Notice, and take hold of this Invitation. He ſtood and cried, that he might the better be heard, for this is what every one that hath Ears is concern'd to hear. Goſpel Truth ſeeks no Corners, becauſe it fears no Trials. The Heathen Oracles were deliver'd clandeſtinely by them that peeped and mutter'd; but the Oracles of the Goſpel were proclaimed by one that ſtood and cried. How ſad is the Caſe of Man, that he muſt be importun'd to be happy, and how wonderful the Grace of Chriſt, that he will importune him! Ho! every one, Iſa. 55. 1.

3. The Invitation itſelf, which is, (1.) Very general; if any Man thirſt, whoever he be, he is invited to Chriſt. Be he high or low, rich or poor, young or old, bond or free, Jew or Gentile. (2.) Very gracious; If any Man thirſt, let him come to me and drink. If any Man deſires to be truly and eternally happy, let him apply himſelf to me, and be ruled by me, and I will undertake to make him ſo.

(1.) The Perſons invited are ſuch as thirſt, which may be underſtood, either, 1. Of the Indigence of their Caſes; either as to their outward Condition: If any Man be deſtitute of the Comforts of this Life, or fatigu'd with the Croſſes of it, let his Poverty and Afflictions draw him to Chriſt, for that Peace which the World can neither give nor take away: Or, as to their inward State, if any Man want ſpiritual Bleſſings, he may be ſupplied with me. Or, 2. Of the Inclination of their Souls, and their Deſires towards a ſpiritual Happineſs; If any Man hunger and thirſt after Righteouſneſs, that is, truly deſire the good Will of God towards him, and the good Work of God in him.

(2.) The Invitation itſelf, Let him come to me. Let him not go to the Ceremonial Law, which would neither pacify the Conſcience, nor purify it, and therefore could not make the Comers thereunto perfect, Heb. 10. 1. Nor let him go to the heathen Philoſophy, that doth but beguile Men, lead them into a Wood, and leave them there; but let him go to Chriſt, admit his Doctrine, ſubmit to his Diſcipline, believe in him; come to him as the Fountain of living Waters, the Giver of all Comfort.

(3.) The Satisfaction promis'd; let him come and drink, he ſhall have what he comes for, and abundantly more; ſhall have that which will not only refreſh, but repleniſh a Soul that deſires to be happy.

4. A gracious Promiſe annexed to this gracious Call, v. 38. He that believes on me, out of his Belly ſhall flow——

1. See here what it is to come to Chriſt. 'Tis to believe on him, as the Scripture hath ſaid; 'tis to receive and entertain him as he is offer'd to us in the Goſpel. We muſt not frame a Chriſt according to our Fancy, but believe in a Chriſt according to the Scripture.

2. See how thirſty Souls that come to Chriſt ſhall be made to drink; Iſrael that believed Moſes, drank of the Rock that follow'd them, the Streams followed; but Believers drank of a Rock in them, Chriſt in them; he is in them a Well of living Water, John 4. 14. Proviſion is made not only for their preſent Satisfaction, but for their continual perpetual Comfort. Here is, (1.) Living Water, running Water, which the Hebrew Language calls living, becauſe ſtill in Motion. The Graces and Comforts of the Spirit are compared to living, meaning running Water, becauſe they are the active quickening Principles of ſpiritual Life, and the Earneſts and Beginnings of eternal Life. See Jer. 2. 13. (2.) Rivers of living Water, which notes both Plenty and Conſtancy. The Comfort flows in both plentifully and conſtantly as a River; ſtrong as a Stream to bear down the Oppoſitions of Doubts and Fears. There is a Fulneſs in Chriſt of Grace for Grace. (3.) Theſe flow out of his Belly, i. e. out of his Heart and Soul. That's the Subject of the Spirit's working, and the Seat of his Government. There gracious Principles are planted, and out of the Heart in which the Spirit dwells, flow the Iſſues of Life, Prov. 4. 23. There divine Comforts are lodged, and the Joy that a Stranger doth not intermeddle with. He that believes, has the Witneſs in himſelf, 1 John 5. 10. Sat lucis intus.

Obſerve further, Where there are Springs of Grace and Comfort in the Soul, they will ſend forth Streams. Out of his Belly ſhall flow Rivers. (1.) That Grace and Comfort will evidence itſelf. Good Affections will produce good Actions, and a holy Heart will be ſeen in a holy Life; the Tree is known by its Fruits, and the Fountain by its Streams. (2.) It will communicate itſelf for the Benefit of others; a good Man is a common Good. His Mouth is a Well of Life, Prov. 10. 11. It is not enough that we drink Waters out of our own Ciſtern, that we ourſelves take the Comfort of the Grace given us, but we muſt let our Fountains be diſpers'd abroad, Prov. 5. 15, 16.

Theſe Words, as the Scripture hath ſaid, ſeem to refer to ſome Promiſe in the Old Teſtament to this Purpoſe, and there are many; as that God would pour out his Spirit, which is a Metaphor borrow'd from Waters, Prov. 1. 23. Joel 2. 28. Iſa. 44. 3. Zech. 12. 10. That the dry Land ſhould become Springs of Water, Iſa. 41. 18. That there ſhould be Rivers in the Deſart, Iſa. 43. 19. That gracious Souls ſhould be like a Spring of Water, Iſa. 58. 11. and the Church a Well of living Water, Cant. 4. 15. And here may be an Alluſion to the Waters iſſuing out of Ezekiel's Temple, Ezek. 47. 1. compare Rev. 22. 1. and ſee Zech. 14. 8. Dr. Lightfoot and others tell us, 'twas a Cuſtom of the Jews, which they received by Tradition, on the laſt Day of the Feaſt of Tabernacles, to have a Solemnity, which they call'd Libatio Aquæ, The Pouring out of Water. They fetched a Golden Veſſel of the Water from the Pool of Siloam, brought it into the Temple with Sound of Trumpet and other Ceremonies, and upon the Aſcent to the Altar, pour'd it out before the Lord with all poſſible Expreſſions of Joy. Some of their Writers make the Water to ſignify the Law, and refer to Iſa. 12. 3. and 55. 1. Others, the holy Spirit. And 'tis thought our Saviour might here allude to this Cuſtom. Believers ſhall have the Comfort, not of a Veſſel of Water fetched from a Pool, but of a River flowing from themſelves. The Joy of the Law, and the pouring out of the Water, which ſignify'd that, is not to be compar'd with the Joy of the Goſpel in the Wells of Salvation.

5. Here's the Evangeliſt's Expoſition of this Promiſe, v. 39. This ſpake he of the Spirit; not of any outward Advantages accruing to Believes, as perhaps ſome miſunderſtood him, but of the Gifts, Graces, and Comforts of the Spirit: See how Scripture is the beſt Interpreter of Scripture.

Obſerve, 1. It is promiſed to all that believe on Chriſt, that they ſhall receive the Holy Ghoſt. Some receiv'd his miraculous Gifts, Mark 16. 17, 18. all receive his ſanctifying Graces. The Gift of the Holy Ghoſt is one of the great Bleſſings promiſed in the New Covenant, Acts 2. 39. and if promis'd, no doubt perform'd to all that have an Intereſt in that Covenant.

2. The Spirit dwelling and working in Believers, is as a Fountain of living, running Water, out of which plentiful Streams flow, cooling and cleanſing as Water, mollifying and moiſtening as Water, making them fruitful, and others joyful; ſee John 3. 5. When the Apoſtles ſpoke ſo fluently of the Things of God as the Spirit gave them Utterance, Acts 2. 4. and afterwards preach'd and wrote the Goſpel of Chriſt with ſuch a Flood of Divine Eloquence, then this was fulfilled, out of his Belly ſhall flow Rivers.

3. This Plentiful Effuſion of the Spirit was yet the Matter of a Promiſe; for the Holy Ghoſt was not yet given, becauſe Jeſus was not yet glorified. See here,

1. That Jeſus was not yet glorified. It was certain he ſhould be glorified, and he was ever worthy of all Honour, but he was as yet in a State of Humiliation and Contempt. He had never forfeited the Glory he had before all Worlds, nay, he had merited a further Glory; and beſides his Hereditary Honours, might claim the Atchievement of a Mediatorial Crown, and yet all this is in Reverſion. Jeſus is now upheld, Iſa. 42. 1. is now ſatisfied, Iſa. 53. 11. is now juſtified, 1 Tim. 3. 16. but he is not yet glorified. And if Chriſt muſt wait for his Glory, let not us think much to wait for ours.

2. That the Holy Ghoſt was not yet given: οὔπω γὰρ ἦν πνεῦμα ἅγιον, For the Holy Ghoſt was not yet. The Spirit of God was from Eternity, for in the beginning he mov'd upon the Face of the Waters. He was in the Old Teſtament Prophets and Saints, and Zachary and Elizabeth were both fill'd with the Holy Ghoſt. This therefore muſt be underſtood of that eminent, plentiful and general Effuſion of the Spirit which was promiſed, Joel 2. 28. and accompliſh'd, Acts 2. 1. The Holy Ghoſt was not yet given in that viſible manner that was intended. If we compare the clear Knowledge, and ſtrong Grace of the Diſciples of Chriſt themſelves after that Day of Pentecoſt, with their Darkneſs and Weakneſs before, we ſhall underſtand in what Senſe the Holy Ghoſt was not yet given; the Earneſts and Firſt-fruits of the Spirit were given, but the full Harveſt was not yet come: That which is moſt properly call'd the Diſpenſation of the Spirit, did not yet commence. The Holy Ghoſt was not yet given in ſuch Rivers of living Water, as ſhould iſſue forth to water the whole Earth, even the Gentile World; not in the Gifts of Tongues, to which perhaps this Promiſe principally refers.

3. That the Reaſon why the Holy Ghoſt was not yet given, was becauſe Jeſus was not yet glorified. (1.) The Death of Chriſt is ſometimes called his Glorification, John 13. 31. for in his Croſs he conquer'd and triumph'd. Now the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt was purchas'd by the Blood of Chriſt; that was the valuable Conſideration upon which the Grant was grounded, and therefore till that Price was paid (tho' many other Gifts were beſtowed upon its being ſecur'd to be paid) the Holy Ghoſt was not given. (2.) There was not ſo much need of the Spirit, while Chriſt was himſelf here upon Earth, as there was when he was gone, to ſupply the Want of him. (3.) The giving of the Holy Ghoſt was to be both an Anſwer to Chriſt's Interceſſion, John 14. 16. and an Act of his Dominion; and therefore till he is glorified, and enters upon both theſe, the Holy Ghoſt is not given. (4.) The Converſion of the Gentiles was the glorifying of Jeſus. When certain Greeks began to enquire after Chriſt, he ſaid, Now is the Son of Man glorified, John 12. 23. Now the Time for that was not yet come, when the Goſpel ſhould be propagated in the Nations, and therefore there was as yet no occaſion for the Gift of Tongues, that River of living Water. But, obſerve, tho' the Holy Ghoſt was not yet given, yet he was promis'd; 'twas now the great Promiſe of the Father, Acts 1. 4. Tho' the Gifts of Chriſt's Grace are long deferr'd, yet they are well ſecur'd; and while we are waiting for the Good promiſed, we have the Promiſe to live upon, which ſhall ſpeak and ſhall not lye.

Secondly, The Conſequents of this Diſcourſe; what Entertainment it met with; in general, it occaſioned Differences, v. 43. There was a Diviſion among the People becauſe of him. There was a Schiſm, ſo the Word is; there were Diverſities of Opinions, and thoſe manag'd with Heat and Contention: Various Sentiments, and thoſe ſuch as ſet them at variance. Think we that Chriſt came to ſend Peace, that all would unanimouſly embrace his Goſpel, no, but the Effect of the Preaching of his Goſpel would be Diviſion, for while ſome are gather'd to it, others will be gather'd againſt it; and this will put Things into a ferment, as here; but this is no more the fault of the Goſpel, than it is the fault of a wholeſome Medicine, that it ſtirs up the peccant Humours in the Body, in order to the Diſcharge of them. Obſerve what the Debate was.

1. Some were taken with him, and well affected to him. Many of the People when they heard this ſaying, heard him with ſuch Compaſſion and Kindneſs invite poor Sinners to him, and with ſuch Authority engage to make them happy, they could not but think highly of him. (1.) Some of them ſaid, Of a truth this is the Prophet, that Prophet which Moſes ſpake of to the Fathers who ſhould be like unto him: Or, this is the Prophet, who, according to the received Notions of the Jewiſh Church, is to be the Harbinger and Forerunner of the Meſſiah; or, This is truly a Prophet, one divinely inſpired, and ſent of God. (2.) Others went further, and ſaid, This is the Chriſt, v. 41. not the Prophet of the Meſſiah, but the Meſſiah himſelf. The Jews had at this Time a more than ordinary expectation of the Meſſiah, which made them ready to ſay upon every occaſion, Lo here is Chriſt, or lo he is there; and this ſeems to be only the Effect of ſome ſuch confus'd and floating Notions, which catched at the firſt Appearance, for we do not find that theſe People became his Diſciples and Followers; a good Opinion of Chriſt is far ſhort of a lively Faith in Chriſt; many give Chriſt a good Word, that give him no more. Theſe here ſaid, This is the Prophet, and this is the Chriſt, but could not perſuade themſelves to leave all and follow him; and ſo this their Teſtimony to Chriſt, was but a Teſtimony againſt themſelves.

2. Others were prejudic'd againſt him. No ſooner was this great Truth ſtarted, That Jeſus is the Chriſt, but immediately it was contradicted, and argued againſt; and this one Thing, that his Riſe and Original was (as they took it for granted) out of Galilee, was thought enough to anſwer all the Arguments for his being the Chriſt. For, ſhall Chriſt come out of Galilee? Has not the Scripture ſaid, That Chriſt comes of the Seed of David?

See here, (1.) A laudable Knowledge of the Scripture. They were ſo far in the right, that the Meſſiah was to be a Rod out of the Stem of Jeſſe, Iſa. 11. 1. That out of Bethlehem ſhould ariſe the Governour, Mic. 5. 2. This even the common People knew by the traditional Expoſitions which their Scribes gave them. Perhaps theſe People, who had theſe Scriptures ſo ready to object againſt Chriſt, were not alike knowing in other Parts of Holy Writ, but had had theſe put into their Mouths by their Leaders, to fortify their Prejudices againſt Chriſt. Many that eſpouſe ſome corrupt Notions, and ſpend their Zeal in defence of them, ſeem to be very ready in the Scriptures, when indeed they know little more than thoſe Scriptures which they have been taught to pervert.

(2.) A culpable Ignorance of our Lord Jeſus. They ſpeak of it as certain, and paſt diſpute, that Jeſus was in Galilee, whereas by enquiring of himſelf, or his Mother, or his Diſciples, or by conſulting the Genealogies of the Family of David, or the Regiſter at Bethlehem, they might have known, that he was the Son of David, and a Native of Bethlehem; but this they willingly are ignorant of. Thus groſs Falſhoods in Matters of Fact concerning Perſons and Things, are often taken up by prejudiced and partial Men, and great Reſolves founded upon them, even in the ſame Place, and the ſame Age, wherein the Perſons live, and the Things are done, while the Truth might eaſily be found out.

3. Others were enrag'd againſt him, and they would have taken him, v. 44. Tho' what he ſaid was moſt ſweet and gracious, yet they were exaſperated againſt him for it: Thus did our Maſter ſuffer ill, for ſaying and doing well. They would have taken him; they hoped ſomebody or other would ſeize him, and if they had thought no one elſe would, they would have done it themſelves: They would have taken him, but no Man laid Hands on him, being reſtrain'd by an inviſible Power, becauſe his Hour was not come. As the Malice of Chriſt's Enemies is always unreaſonable, ſo ſometimes the Suſpenſion of it is unaccountable.

45 ¶ Then came the officers to the chief prieſts and phariſees; and they ſaid unto them, Why have ye not brought him? 46 The officers anſwered, Never man ſpake like this man. 47 Then anſwered them the Phariſees, Are ye alſo deceived? 48 Have any of the rulers, or of the Phariſees believed on him? 49 But this people who knoweth not the law, are curſed. 50 Nicodemus ſaith unto them, (he that came to Jeſus by night, being one of them) 51 Doth our law judge any man before it hear him, and know what he doth? 52 They anſwered, and ſaid unto him, Art thou alſo of Galilee? Search and look: for out of Galilee ariſeth no prophet. 53 And every Man went unto his own Houſe.

The Chief Prieſts and Phariſees are here in a cloſe Cabal, contriving how to ſuppreſs Chriſt; tho' this was the great Day of the Feaſt, they attended not the religious Services of the Day, but left that to the Vulgar, to whom it was common for thoſe great Eccleſiaſticks to conſign and turn over the Buſineſs of Devotion, while they thought themſelves better employed in the Affairs of Church Policy. They ſat in the Council Chamber, expecting Chriſt to be brought a Priſoner to them, they having iſſued out Warrants for the apprehending of him, v. 32. Now here we are told,

Firſt, What paſs'd between them and their own Officers, who returned without him, re infectâ. Obſerve,

1. The Reproof they gave the Officers for not executing the Warrant they gave them; Why have ye not brought him? He appear'd publickly, the People were many of 'em diſguſted, and would have aſſiſted them in taking him; this was the laſt Day of the Feaſt, and they would not have ſuch another Opportunity; why then did you neglect your Duty? It vexed them that thoſe who were their own Creatures, who depended on them, and on whom they depended, into whoſe Minds they had inſtill'd Prejudices againſt Chriſt, ſhould thus diſappoint them. Note, Miſchievous Men fret that they cannot do the Miſchief they would, Pſal. 112. 10. Neh. 6. 16.

2. The Reaſon which the Officers gave for the Non-execution of their Warrant, v. 46. Never Man ſpake like this Man. Now, 1. This was a very great Truth, that never any Man ſpake with that Wiſdom, and Power, and Grace, that convincing Clearneſs, and that charming Sweetneſs wherewith Chriſt ſpoke; none of the Prophets, no not Moſes himſelf. 2. The very Officers that were ſent to take him, were taken with him, and acknowledg'd this. Tho' 'tis likely they were Men that had no quick Senſe of Reaſon or Eloquence, and 'tis certain had no Inclination to think well of Jeſus, yet ſo much Self-evidence was there in what Chriſt ſaid, that they could not but prefer him before all thoſe that ſate in Moſes's Seat. Thus Chriſt was preſerv'd by the Power God has upon the Conſciences even of bad Men. 3. They ſaid this to their Lords and Maſters, who could not endure to hear any Thing that tended to the Honour of Chriſt, and yet could not avoid hearing this; Providence order'd it ſo, that this ſhould be ſaid to them, that it might be a Vexation in their Sin, and an Aggravation of their Sin: Their own Officers are Witneſſes againſt them, who could not be ſuſpected to be biaſs'd in favour of Chriſt. This Teſtimony of theirs ſhould have made them reflect upon themſelves with this Thought, Do we know what we are doing, when we are hating and perſecuting one that ſpeaks ſo admirably well?

3. The Phariſees endeavour to ſecure their Officers to their Intereſt, and to beget in them Prejudices againſt Chriſt, whom they ſaw them begin to be well affected to; to prevent which, they ſuggeſt Two Things.

1. That if they embrace the Goſpel of Chriſt, they will deceive themſelves; v. 47. Are ye alſo deceived? Chriſtianity has from its firſt Riſe been repreſented to the World as a great Cheat upon it, and they that embrac'd it as Men deceiv'd, then when they began to be undeceiv'd. They that look'd for a Meſſiah in external Pomp, thought them deceiv'd who believ'd in a Meſſiah that appear'd in Poverty and Diſgrace; but the Event declares, that none were ever more ſhamefully deceiv'd, nor put a greater Cheat upon themſelves, than thoſe who promis'd themſelves worldly Wealth, and ſecular Dominion with the Meſſiah. Obſerve what a Complement the Phariſees put upon theſe Officers, Are ye alſo deceiv'd? What! Men of your Senſe, and Thought, and Figure; Men that know better Things than to be impoſed upon by every Pretender, and upſtart Teacher? They endeavour to prejudice them againſt Chriſt, by perſuading 'em to think well of themſelves.

2. That they will diſparage themſelves. Moſt Men, even in their Religion, are willing to be govern'd by the Example of thoſe of the firſt Rank; theſe Officers therefore, whoſe Preferments, ſuch as they were, gave them a Senſe of Honour, are deſired to conſider,

1. That if they become Diſciples of Chriſt, they go contrary to thoſe who were Perſons of Quality and Reputation; Have any of the Rulers, or of the Phariſees believ'd on him? You know they have not, and you ought to be bound up by their Judgment, and to believe and do in Religion according to the Will of your Superiors; will you be wiſer than they? Some of the Rulers did embrace Chriſt, Mat. 9. 18. John 4. 53. and more believed in him, but wanted Courage to confeſs him, John 12. 42. But when the Intereſt of Chriſt runs low in the World, 'tis common for its Adverſaries to repreſent it as lower than really it is. But it was too true, that few, very few of them did. Note, 1. The Cauſe of Chriſt hath ſeldom had Rulers and Phariſees on its Side. It needs not ſecular Supports, nor propoſes ſecular Advantages, and therefore neither courts, nor is courted by the great Men of this World: Self-denial, and the Croſs, are hard Leſſons to Rulers and Phariſees. 2. This has confirm'd many in their Prejudices againſt Chriſt and his Goſpel, that the Rulers and Phariſees have been no Friends to them. Shall ſecular Men pretend to be more concern'd about ſpiritual Things, than ſpiritual Men themſelves? Or to ſee further into Religion than thoſe who make its Study their Profeſſion? If Rulers and Phariſees do not believe in Chriſt, they that do believe in him, will be the moſt ſingular, unfaſhionable, ungenteel People in the World, and quite out of the way of Preferment; thus are People fooliſhly ſway'd by external Motives, in Matters of eternal Moment, are willing to be damn'd for Faſhion ſake, and to go to Hell in a Compliment to the Rulers and Phariſees.

2. That they will link themſelves with the deſpicable, vulgar Sort of People, v. 49. But this People who know not the Law are curſed; meaning eſpecially, thoſe that were well-affected to the Doctrine of Chriſt. Obſerve,

1. How ſcornfully and diſdainfully they call them; this People. 'Tis not, λαὸς, this Lay-People, diſtinguiſh'd from them that were the Clergy, but ὄχλος οὗτος, this Rabble People, this pitiful, ſcandalous, ſcoundrel People, whom they diſdained to ſet with the Dogs of their Flock, tho' God had ſet them with the Lambs of his. If they mean the Commonalty of the Jewiſh Nation, they were the Seed of Abraham, and in covenant with God, and not to be ſpoken of with ſuch Contempt: The Church's common Intereſts are betray'd, when any one Part of it ſtudies to render the other mean and deſpicable. If they mean the Followers of Chriſt, tho' they were generally Perſons of ſmall Figure, and Fortune, yet by owning Chriſt, they diſcover'd ſuch a Sagacity, Integrity, and Intereſt in the Favours of Heaven, as made them truly great and conſiderable. Note, As the Wiſdom of God hath often choſen baſe Things, and Things which are deſpiſed, ſo the Folly of Men has commonly debas'd and deſpis'd thoſe whom God has choſen.

2. How unjuſtly they reproach them as ignorant of the Word of God; they know not the Law; as if none knew the Law but thoſe that knew it from them; and no Scripture-Knowledge were current, but what came out of their Mint; and as if none knew the Law, but ſuch as were obſervant of their Canons and Traditions. Perhaps many of thoſe whom they thus deſpis'd, knew the Law, and the Prophets too, better than they did. Many a plain, honeſt, unlearned Diſciple of Chriſt, by Meditation, Experience, Prayers, and eſpecially Obedience, attains to a more clear, ſound, and uſeful Knowledge of the Word of God, than ſome great Scholars with all their Wit and Learning: Thus David came to underſtand more than the Ancients, and all his Teachers, Pſal. 119. 99, 100. If the common People did not know the Law, yet the chief Prieſts and Phariſees of all Men ſhould not have upbraided them with it; for whoſe Fault was it but theirs, who ſhould have taught them better; but inſtead of that, took away the Key of Knowledge? Luke 11. 52.

3. How magiſterially they pronounce Sentence upon them; they are curſed; hateful to God, and all wiſe Men; ἐπικατάρατοι, an execrable People. 'Tis well their ſaying they were curſed did not make them ſo, for the Curſe cauſleſs ſhall not come. It is a Uſurpation of God's Prerogative, as well as great Uncharitableneſs, to ſay of any particular Perſons, much more of any Body of People, that they are Reprobates: We are unable to try, and therefore unfit to condemn, and our Rule is, Bleſs and Curſe not. Some think they mean no more, but they are apt to be deceiv'd, and made Fools of; but they uſe this odious Word, they are curſed, to expreſs their own Indignation, and to frighten their Officers from having any Thing to do with them: thus the Language of Hell in our prophane Age, calls every Thing that is diſpleaſing, curſed, and damn'd, and confounded. Now for ought appears, theſe Officers had their Convictions baffled, and ſtifled by theſe Suggeſtions, and they never enquire further after Chriſt; one Word from a Ruler or Phariſee, will ſway more with many, than the true Reaſon of Things, and the great Intereſts of their Souls.

Secondly, What paſs'd between them and Nicodemus a Member of their own Body, v. 50, &c. Obſerve,

1. The Juſt and rational Objection which Nicodemus made againſt their Proceedings. Even in their corrupt and wicked Sanhedrin, God left not himſelf quite without Witneſs againſt their Enmity; nor was the Vote againſt Chriſt carried nemine contradicente. Obſerve,

1. Who it was that appear'd againſt them; it was Nicodemus, He that came to Jeſus by Night being one of them, v. 50. Obſerve concerning him, 1. That tho' he had been with Jeſus, and taken him for his Teacher, yet he retained his Place in the Council, and his Vote among them: Some impute this to his Weakneſs and Cowardice, and think it was his Fault that he did not quit his Place; but Chriſt had never ſaid to him, follow me, elſe he would have done as others, that left all to follow him: therefore it ſeems rather to have been his Wiſdom, not preſently to throw up his Place, becauſe there he might have Opportunity of ſerving Chriſt and his Intereſt, and ſtemming the Tide of the Jewiſh Rage, which perhaps he did more than we are aware of. He might there be as Huſhai among Abſalom's Counſellors, inſtrumental to turn their Counſels into Fooliſhneſs. Tho' we muſt in no Caſe deny our Maſter, yet we may wait for an Opportunity of confeſſing him to the beſt Advantage. God has his Remnant among all Sorts; and many times finds, or puts, or makes ſome good in the worſt Places and Societies: There was Daniel in Nebuchadnezzar's Court, and Nehemiah in Artaxerxes's. 2. That tho' at firſt he came to Jeſus by Night for fear of being known, and ſtill continued in his Poſt, yet when there was occaſion, he boldly appeared in defence of Chriſt, and oppoſed the whole Council that were ſet againſt him. Thus many Believers, who at firſt were timorous, and ready to flee at the ſhaking of a Leaf, have at length by Divine Grace grown courageous, and able to laugh at the ſhaking of a Spear. Let none juſtify the diſguiſing of their Faith, by the Example of Nicodemus, unleſs like him they be ready upon the firſt Occaſion openly to appear in the Cauſe of Chriſt, tho' they ſtand alone in it; for ſo Nicodemus did here, and John 19. 39.

2. What he alledg'd againſt their Proceedings, v. 51. Doth our Law judge any Man before it hear him, (ἀκούσῃ παρ' αὐτοῦ, hear for himſelf) and know what he doth? By no means, nor doth the Law of any civiliz'd Nation allow it. Obſerve,

(1.) He prudently argues from the Principles of their own Law, and an unconteſtable Rule of Juſtice, that no Man is to be condemn'd unheard. Had he urged the Excellency of Chriſt's Doctrine, or the Evidence of his Miracles, or repeated to them his Divine Diſcourſe with him, chap. 3. it had been but to caſt Pearls before Swine, who would trample them under their Feet, and would turn again and rent him; therefore he waves them.

(2.) Whereas they had reproached the People, eſpecially the Followers of Chriſt as ignorant of the Law; he here tacitly retorts the Charge upon themſelves, and ſhews how ignorant they were of ſome of the firſt Principles of the Law, ſo unfit were they to give Law to others.

(3.) The Law is here ſaid to judge and hear, and know; when Magiſtrates that govern, and are govern'd by it, judge, and hear, and know: for they are the Mouth of the Law, and whatſoever they bind and looſe according to the Law, is juſtly ſaid to be bound and looſed by the Law.

(4.) It is highly fit that none ſhould come under the Sentence of the Law till they have firſt, by a fair Trial, undergone the Scrutiny of it. Judges, when they receive the Complaints of the Accuſer, muſt always reſerve in their Minds room for the Defence of the Accuſed; for they have two Ears, to mind them to hear both Sides; this is ſaid to be the manner of the Romans, Acts 25. 18. The Method of our Law is Oyer and Terminer, firſt to hear, and then to determine.

(5.) Perſons are to be judg'd not by what is ſaid of them, but by what they do; our Law will not aſk what Mens Opinions are of them, or Out-cries againſt them, but what have they done? What Overt Acts can they be convicted of? Sentence muſt be given, ſecundum allegata & probata. Facts, and not Faces, muſt be known in Judgment; and the Scale of Juſtice muſt be uſed before the Sword of Juſtice.

Now we may ſuppoſe the Motion Nicodemus made in the Houſe upon this, was, That Jeſus ſhould be deſir'd to come and give them an Account of Himſelf and his Doctrine, and they ſhould favour him with an impartial, unprejudic'd Hearing; but tho' none of them could gainſay his Maxim, none of them would ſecond his Motion.

2. What was ſaid to this Objection. Here's no direct Reply given to it, but when they could not reſiſt the Force of his Argument, they fell foul upon him, and what was to ſeek in Reaſon, they made up in Railing and Reproach. Note, 'Tis a ſign of a bad Cauſe, when Men cannot bear to hear Reaſon, and take it as an Affront to be minded of its Maxims: Whoever are againſt Reaſon, give Cauſe to ſuſpect that Reaſon is againſt them. See how they taunt him, Art thou alſo of Galilee? v. 52. Some think he was well enough ſerved for continuing among them, whom he knew to be Enemies to Chriſt, and for his ſpeaking no more on the behalf of Chriſt, than what he might have ſaid on behalf of the greateſt Criminal; that he ſhould not be condemn'd unheard. Had he ſaid, As for this Jeſus, I have heard him myſelf, and know he is a Teacher come from God, and you, in oppoſing him, fight againſt God, as he ought to have ſaid; he could not have been worſe abus'd, than he was for this feeble Effort of his Tenderneſs for Chriſt.

As to what they ſaid to Nicodemus, we may obſerve,

(1.) How falſe the Grounds of their arguing are; for, (1.) They ſuppoſe that Chriſt was of Galilee, and that was falſe, and if they would have been at the pains of an impartial Enquiry, they might have found it ſo. (2.) They ſuppoſe that becauſe moſt of his Diſciples were Galileans, they were all ſuch, whereas he had abundance of Diſciples in Judea. (3.) They ſuppoſe that out of Galilee no Prophet had riſen, and for this appeals to Nicodemus's ſearch; yet this was falſe too, Jonah was of Gath-hepher, Nahum an Elkoſhite, both of Galilee: Thus do they make Lyes their Refuge.

(2.) How abſurd their Arguings were upon theſe Grounds, ſuch as were a Shame to Rulers and Phariſees. (1.) Is any Man of Worth and Virtue ever the worſe for the Poverty and Obſcurity of his Country. The Galileans were the Seed of Abraham; Barbarians and Scythians are the Seed of Adam, and have we not all one Father? (2.) Suppoſing no Prophet had riſen out of Galilee, yet it is not impoſſible that any ſhould ariſe thence? If Elijah was the firſt Prophet of Gilead, as perhaps he was; and if the Gileadites were call'd Fugitives; muſt it therefore be queſtion'd whether he were a Prophet or no?

3. The haſty Adjournment of the Court hereupon, they broke up the Aſſembly in Confuſion, and with Precipitation, and every Man went to his own Houſe. They met to take Counſel together againſt the Lord, and his Anointed, but they imagined a vain Thing; and not only he that ſits in Heaven laugh'd at them, but we may ſit on Earth and laugh at them too, to ſee all the Politicks of the cloſe Cabal broken to Pieces with one plain, honeſt Word. They were not willing to hear Nicodemus, becauſe they could not anſwer him. As ſoon as they perceiv'd they had one ſuch Man among them, they ſaw it was to no purpoſe to go on with their Deſign, and therefore put off the Debate to a more convenient Seaſon, when he was abſent. Thus the Counſel of the Lord is made to ſtand, in ſpite of the Devices in the Hearts of Men.

CHAP. VIII.

In this Chapter we have, 1. Chriſt's evading the Snare which the Jews laid for him, in bringing to him a Woman taken in Adultery, v. 1—11. 2. Divers Diſcourſes, or Conferences, of his with the Jews that cavil'd at him, and ſought occaſion againſt him, and made every Thing be ſaid a Matter of Controverſy. (1.) Concerning his being the Light of the World, v. 12—20. (2.) Concerning the Ruin of the unbelieving Jews, v. 21—30. (3.) Concerning Liberty and Bondage, v. 31—37. (4.) Concerning his Father and their Father, v. 38—47. (5.) Here's his Diſcourſe in anſwer to their blaſphemous Reproaches, v. 48—50. (6.) Concerning the Immortality of Believers, v. 51—59. And in all this he endured the Contradiction of Sinners againſt himſelf.

JESUS went unto the mount of Olives. 2 And early in the morning he came again into the temple, and all the people came unto him; and he ſat down, and taught them. 3 And the ſcribes and phariſees brought unto him a woman taken in adultery; and when they had ſat her in the mids, 4 They ſay unto him, Maſter, this woman was taken in adultery, in the very act. 5 Now Moſes in the law commanded us, that ſuch ſhould be ſtoned: but what ſayeſt thou? 6 This they ſaid, tempting him, that they might have to accuſe him. But Jeſus ſtooped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground as though he heard them not. 7 So when they continued asking of him, he lift up himſelf, and ſaid unto them, He that is without ſin among you, let him firſt caſt a ſtone at her. 8 And again he ſtooped down, and wrote on the ground. 9 And they which heard it, being convicted by their own conſcience, went out one by one, beginning at the eldeſt, even unto the laſt: and Jeſus was left alone, and the woman ſtanding in the midſt. 10 When Jeſus had lift up himſelf, and ſaw none but the woman, he ſaid unto her, Woman, where are thoſe thine accuſers? hath no man condemned thee? 11 She ſaid, No man, Lord. And Jeſus ſaid unto her, Neither do I condemn thee: go, and ſin no more.

Tho' Chriſt was baſely abus'd in the foregoing Chapter, both by the Rulers, and by the People, yet here we have him ſtill at Jeruſalem, ſtill in the Temple; how often would he have gather'd them. Obſerve,

1. His Retirement in the Evening out of the Town, v. 1. He went unto the Mount of Olives; whether to ſome Friend's Houſe, or to ſome Booth pitch'd there, now at the Feaſt of Tabernacles, is not certain; whether he reſted there, or, as ſome think, continued all Night in Prayer to God, we are not told. But he went out of Jeruſalem, perhaps, becauſe he had never a Friend there that had either Kindneſs, or Courage enough to give him a Night's Lodging, while his Perſecutors had Houſes of their own to go to, chap. 7. 1. he could not ſo much as borrow a Place to lay his Head on, but he muſt go a Mile or two out of Town for. He retir'd (as ſome think) becauſe he would not expoſe himſelf to the Peril of a popular Tumult in the Night: 'Tis Prudence to go out of the way of Danger, whenever we can do it without going out of the way of Duty. In the Day-Time, when he had Work to do in the Temple, he willingly expoſed himſelf, and was under ſpecial Protection, Iſa. 49. 2. But in the Night, when he had not Work to do, he withdrew into the Country, and ſheltered himſelf there.

2. His return in the Morning to the Temple, and to his Work there, v. 2. Obſerve here,

(1.) What a diligent Preacher Chriſt was; Early in the Morning he came again and taught. Tho' he had been teaching the Day before, he taught again to-day: Chriſt was a conſtant Preacher, in Seaſon and out of Seaſon. Three Things are taken notice of here concerning Chriſt's Preaching. 1. The Time; Early in the Morning. Tho' he lodged out of Town, and perhaps had ſpent much of the Night in ſecret Prayer, yet he came early. When a Day's Work is to be done for God and Souls, 'tis good to begin betimes, and take the Day before us. 2. The Place, in the Temple; not ſo much becauſe it was a conſecrated Place, for then he would have choſen it at other Times, as becauſe it was now a Place of Concourſe. And he would hereby countenance ſolemn Aſſemblies for Religious Worſhip, and encourage People to come up to the Temple, for he had not yet left it deſolate. 3. His Poſture, he ſat down and taught, as one having Authority; and as one that intended to abide by it for ſome Time.

(2.) How diligently his Preaching was attended upon. All the People came unto him; and perhaps many of them were the Country People, who were this Day to return home from the Feaſt, and were deſirous to hear one Sermon more from the Mouth of Chriſt before they returned. They came to him, tho' he came early. They that ſeek him early, ſhall find him. Tho' the Rulers were diſpleas'd at thoſe that came to hear him, yet they would come; and he taught them, tho' they were angry at him too. Tho' there were few or none among them that were Perſons of any Figure, yet Chriſt bid them welcome, and taught them.

3. His dealing with thoſe that brought to them the Woman taken in Adultery; tempting him. The Scribes and Phariſees would not only not hear Chriſt patiently themſelves, but they diſturbed him when the People were attending on him. Obſerve here, Firſt, The Caſe propos'd to him by the Scribes and Phariſees, who herein contriv'd to pick a Quarrel with him, and bring him into a Snare, v. 3, 4, 5, 6.

1. They ſet the Priſoner to the Bar, v. 3. they brought him a Woman taken in Adultery; perhaps now lately taken, during the time of the Feaſt of Tabernacles, when it may be their dwelling in Booths, and their Feaſting and Joy might by wicked Minds, which corrupt the beſt things, be made Occaſions of Sin. Thoſe that were taken in Adultery, were by the Jewiſh Law to be put to Death, which the Roman Powers allow'd them the Execution of, and therefore ſhe was brought before the Eccleſiaſtical Court. Obſerve, ſhe was taken in her Adultery; tho' Adultery is a Work of Darkneſs, which the Criminals commonly take all the care they can to conceal, yet ſometimes 'tis ſtrangely brought to light. Thoſe that promiſe themſelves Secrecy in Sin, deceive themſelves. The Scribes and Phariſees bring her to Chriſt, and ſet her in the midſt of the Aſſembly, as if they would leave her wholly to the Judgment of Chriſt, he having ſate down as a Judge upon the Bench..

2. They prefer an Indictment againſt her, v. 4. Maſter, this Woman was taken in Adultery. Here they call him Maſter, whom but the Day before, they had call'd a Deceiver; in hopes with their Flatteries to have enſnared him, as thoſe, Luke 20. 20. But tho' Men may be impos'd upon with Compliments, he that ſearcheth the Heart cannot.

(1.) The Crime for which the Priſoner ſtands indicted, is no leſs than Adultery; which even in the Patriarchal Age, before the Law of Moſes, was look'd upon as an Iniquity to be puniſh'd by the Judges, Job 31. 9, 11. Gen. 38. 24. The Phariſees, by their vigorous Proſecution of this Offender, ſeem'd to have a great Zeal againſt the Sin, when it appear'd afterwards that they themſelves were not free from it: nay, they were within full of all Uncleanneſs, Mat. 23. 27, 28. Note, It is common for thoſe that are indulgent to their own Sin, to be ſevere againſt the Sins of others.

(2.) The Proof of the Crime was from the notorious Evidence of the Fact; an unconteſtable Proof, ſhe was taken in the Act, ſo that there was no room left to plead not guilty; had ſhe not been taken in this Act, ſhe might have gone on to another; till her Heart had been perfectly hardned; but ſometimes it proves a Mercy to Sinners to have their Sin brought to light, that they may do no more preſumptuouſly. Better our Sin ſhou'd ſhame us, than damn us, and be ſet in order before us, for our Conviction, than for our Condemnation.

3. They produce the Statute in this Caſe made and provided, and upon which ſhe was indicted, v. 5. Moſes in the Law, commanded that ſuch ſhould be ſtoned. Moſes commanded that they ſhould be put to Death, Lev. 20. 10. Deut. 22. 22. but not that they ſhould be ſtoned, unleſs the Adultereſs was eſpouſed, not married, or was a Prieſt's Daughter, Deut. 22. 21. Note, Adultery is an exceeding ſinful Sin, for it is the Rebellion of a vile Luſt, not only againſt the Command, but againſt the Covenant of our God. It is the Violation of a Divine Inſtitution in Innocency, by the Indulgence of one of the baſeſt Luſts of Man in his Degeneracy.

4. They pray his Judgment in the Caſe: But what ſayeſt thou? who pretendeſt to be a Teacher come from God to repeal old Laws, and enact new ones; what haſt thou to ſay in this Caſe? If they had ask'd this Queſtion in Sincerity, with humble Deſire to know his Mind, it had been very commendable. They that are entruſted with the Adminiſtration of Juſtice, ſhould look up to Chriſt for Direction; but this they ſaid tempting him, that they might have to accuſe him, v. 6. (1.) If he ſhould confirm the Sentence of the Law, and let it take its Courſe, they would cenſure him as inconſiſtent with himſelf, he having receiv'd Publicans and Harlots, and with the Character of the Meſſiah, who ſhould be meek, and have Salvation, and proclaim a Year of Releaſe, and perhaps they would accuſe him to the Roman Governour, for countenancing the Jews in the Exerciſe of a judicial Power. But, (2.) If he ſhould acquit her, and give his Opinion that the Sentence ſhould not be executed, as they expected he would, they would repreſent him, 1. As an Enemy to the Law of Moſes, and as one that uſurp'd an Authority to correct and controul it, and would confirm that Prejudice againſt him, which his Enemies were ſo induſtrious to propagate, that he came to deſtroy the Law and the Prophets. 2. As a Friend to Sinners, and conſequently a Favourer of Sin; if he ſhould ſeem to connive at ſuch Wickedneſs, and let it go unpuniſhed, they would repreſent him as countenancing it; and being a Patron of Offences, if he were a Protector of Offenders; than which no Reflection could be more invidious upon one that profeſs'd the Strictneſs, Purity, and Buſineſs of a Prophet.

Secondly, The Method he took to reſolve this Caſe, and ſo to break this Snare.

1. He ſeem'd to ſlight it, and turn'd a deaf Ear to it, he ſtooped down, and wrote on the Ground. 'Tis impoſſible to tell, and therefore needleſs to ask what he wrote; but it is the only mention made in the Goſpels of Chriſt's Writings; Euſebius indeed ſpeaks of his writing to Abgarus, King of Edeſſa. Some think they have a Liberty of Conjecture what he wrote here. Grotius ſaith, 'twas ſome grave weighty Saying, and that it was uſual for wiſe Men, when they were thoughtful concerning any thing. to do ſo. Jerom and Ambroſe ſuppoſe he wrote, Let the Names of theſe wicked Men be written in the Duſt. Others this, The Earth accuſeth the Earth, but the Judgment is mine. Chriſt by this teacheth us to be ſlow to ſpeak, when difficult Caſes are propos'd to us, not quickly to ſhoot our Bolt; and when Provocations are given us, or we are banter'd; to pauſe and conſider before we reply; think twice before we ſpeak once: The Heart of the Wiſe ſtudies to anſwer. Our Tranſlation from ſome Greek Copies, which add, μὴ προσποιούμενος (tho' the moſt Copies have it not) gives this Account of the Reaſon of his writing on the Ground, as tho' he heard them not. He did, as it were, look another way, to ſhew that he was not willing to take notice of their Addreſs, ſaying in effect, Who made me a Judge or a Divider? It is ſafe in many Caſes to be deaf, to that which 'tis not ſafe to anſwer, Pſal. 38. 13. Chriſt would not have his Miniſters to be entangled in ſecular Affairs; let them rather employ themſelves in any lawful Studies, and fill up their Time with writing on the Ground, which no body will heed, than buſy themſelves in that which doth not belong to them. But when Chriſt ſeem'd, as tho' he heard them not, he made it appear, that he not only heard their Words, but knew their Thoughts.

2. When they importunately, or rather impertinently preſs'd him for an Anſwer, he turn'd the Conviction of the Priſoner upon the Proſecutors, v. 7.

1. They continued asking him, and his ſeeming not to take notice of them, made them the more vehement, for now they thought ſure enough they had run him aground, and that he could not avoid the Imputation of contradicting either the Law of Moſes, if he ſhould acquit the Priſoner, or his own Doctrine of Mercy and Pardon, if he ſhould condemn her; and therefore they puſh'd on their Appeal to him with Vigour: whereas they ſhould have conſtrued his Diſregard of them, as a Check to their Deſign, and an Intimation of them to deſiſt, as they tender'd their own Reputation.

2. At laſt he put them all to Shame and Silence with one Word, He lift up himſelf, awaking as one out of ſleep, Pſal. 78. 65. and ſaid unto them, He that is without Sin among you, let him firſt caſt a Stone at her.

1. Here Chriſt avoided the Snare which they laid for him, and effectually ſav'd his own Reputation. He neither reflected upon the Law, nor excus'd the Priſoner's Guilt; nor did he on the other hand encourage the Proſecution, or countenance their Heat; ſee the good Effect of Conſideration. When we cannot make our Point by ſteering a direct Courſe, 'tis good to fetch a Compaſs.

2. In the Net which they ſpread is their own Foot taken. They came with Deſign to accuſe him, but they were forced to accuſe themſelves. Chriſt owns 'twas fit the Priſoner ſhould be proſecuted, but appeals to their Conſciences, whether they were fit to be the Proſecutors.

1. He here refers to that Rule which the Law of Moſes preſcrib'd in the Execution of Criminals, that the Hand of the Witneſſes muſt be firſt upon them, Deut. 17. 7. as in the ſtoning of Stephen, Acts 7. 58. The Scribes, and Phariſees were the Witneſſes againſt this Woman. Now Chriſt puts it to them, whether according to their own Law they would dare to be the Executioners. Durſt they take away that Life with their Hands, which they were now taking away with their Tongues; would not their own Conſciences fly in their Faces if they did?

2. He builds upon an unconteſted Maxim in Morality, that it is very abſurd for Men to be zealous in puniſhing the Offences of others, while they are every whit as guilty themſelves, and they are no better than ſelf-condemn'd who judge others, and yet themſelves do the ſame thing. If there be any of you that is without Sin, i. e. without Sin of this Nature, that has not ſome time or other been guilty of Fornication or Adultery, let him caſt the firſt Stone at her. Not that Magiſtrates, who are conſcious of Guilt themſelves, ſhould therefore connive at others Guilt. But therefore, 1. Whenever we find fault with others, we ought to reflect upon ourſelves, and to be more ſevere againſt Sin in ourſelves than in others. 2. We ought to be favourable, tho' not to the Sins, yet to the Perſons of thoſe that offend, and to reſtore them with a Spirit of Meekneſs, conſidering ourſelves and our own corrupt Nature. Aut ſumus, aut fuimus, vel poſſumus eſſe quod hic eſt. Let this reſtrain us from throwing Stones at our Brethren, and proclaiming their Faults; Let him that is without Sin, begin ſuch Diſourſe as that, and then thoſe that are truly humbled for their own Sins, will bluſh at it, and be glad to let it fall.

3. Thoſe who are any way obliged to animadvert upon the Faults of others, are concerned to look well to themſelves, and keep themſelves pure ; Mat. 7.5. Qui alterum incuſat probri, ipſum ſe intueri oportet. The Snuffers of the Tabernacle were of pure Gold.

3. Perhaps he refers to the Trial of the ſuſpected Wife by the jealous Husband, with the Waters of Jealouſy. The Man was to bring her to the Prieſt, Num. 5. 15. as the Scribes and Phariſees brought this Woman to Chriſt. Now it was a received Opinion among the Jews, and confirmed by Experience, that if the Husband who brought his Wife to that Trial, had himſelf been at any Time guilty of Adultery, Aquæ non explorant ejus Uxorem : The bitter Water had no Effect upon the Wife. Come then, ſaith Chriſt, according to your own Tradition will I judge you, if you are without Sin, ſtand to the Charge, and let the Adultereſs be executed : but if not, tho' ſhe be guilty, while you that preſent her are equally ſo, according to your own Rule, ſhe ſhall be free.

4. In this he attended to the great Work which he came into the World about, and that was to bring Sinners to Repentance ; not to deſtroy, but ſo to ſave. He aim'd to bring, not only the Priſoner to Repentance, by ſhewing her his Mercy, but the Proſecutors too, by ſhewing them their Sins; they ſought to enſnare him, he ſought to convince and convert them. Thus the Bloodthirſty hate the Upright, but the Juſt ſeek his Soul.

3. Having given them this ſtartling Word, he left them to conſider of it, and again ſtooped down, and wrote on the Ground, v. 8. As when they made their Addreſs he ſeem'd to ſlight their Queſtion, ſo now he had given them an Anſwer, he ſlighted their Reſentment of it; not caring what they ſaid to it : nay, they needed not to make any Reply ; the Matter was lodged in their own Breaſts, let them make the beſt of it there. Or, he would not ſeem to wait for an Anſwer, leſt they ſhould on a ſudden juſtify themſelves, and then think themſelves bound in Honour to perſiſt in it ; but gives them time to pauſe, and to commune with their own Hearts. God ſaith, I hearkened and heard, Jer.8.6. Some Greek Copies here read, He wrote on the Ground, ἑνὸς ἑκάϛȣ αὐτῶν τὰς ἁμαρτίας, The Sins of every one of them ; this he could do, for he ſets our Iniquities before him ; and this he will do, for he will ſet them in Order before us too ; he ſeals up our Tranſgreſſions, Job 14. 16. But he doth not write Mens Sins in the Sand, no, they are written as with a Pen of Iron, and the Point of a Diamond, Jer. 17. 1. never to be forgotten till they are forgiven.

4. The Scribes and Phariſees were ſo ſtrangely Thunder-ſtruck with the Word of Chriſt, that they let fall their Perſecution of Chriſt, whom they durſt no further tempt ; and their Proſecution of the Woman whom they durſt no longer accuſe ; v. 9. They went out one by one. (1.) Perhaps his Writing on the Ground frighten'd them, as the Hand-writing on the Wall frighten'd Belſhazzar. They concluded he was writing bitter things againſt them, writing their Doom : Happy they who have no reaſon to be afraid of Chriſt's Writing. (2.) However, what he ſaid frighten'd them, by ſending them to their own Conſciences, he had ſhew'd them to themſelves, and they were afraid if they ſhould ſtay till he lift up himſelf again, his next Word would ſhew them to the World, and ſhame them before Men, and therefore they thought it beſt to withdraw. They went out one by one, that they might go out ſoftly, and not by a noiſy Flight, diſturb Chriſt ; they gat them away by Stealth, as People being aſham'd, ſteal away when they flee in Battle, 2 Sam. 19. 3. The Order of their Departure is taken notice of, beginning at the Eldeſt, either becauſe they were moſt guilty, or firſt aware of the Danger they were in of being put to the Bluſh : And if the eldeſt quit the Field, and retreat ingloriouſly, no marvel if the younger follow them. Now ſee here,

(1.) The Force of the Word of Chriſt for the Conviction of Sinners : They which heard it were convicted by their own Conſciences. Conſcience is God's Deputy in the Soul, and one Word from him will ſet it on work, Heb. 4. 12. Thoſe that had been old in Adulteries, and long fix'd in a proud Opinion of themſelves, yet the eldeſt of them were here ſtartled by the Word of Chriſt, even Scribes and Phariſees, that were moſt conceited of themſelves, yet by the Power of Chriſt's Word are made to ſneak.

(2.) The Folly of Sinners under theſe Convictions, which appears in theſe Scribes and Phariſees. (1.) It is Folly for thoſe that are under Convictions, to make it their principal Care to avoid ſhame, as Judah, Gen. 38. 23. leſt we be ſhamed. Our Care ſhould be more to ſave our Souls, than to ſave our Credit. Saul evidenc'd his Hypocriſy, when he ſaid, I have ſinned, yet now honour me I pray thee. There's no way to get the Honour and Comfort of Penitents, but by taking the Shame of Penitents. (2.) It is folly for thoſe that are under Convictions, to contrive how to ſhift off their Convictions, and get rid of them. Theſe Scribes and Phariſees had the Wound open'd, and now they ſhould have been deſirous to have it ſearch'd, and then it might have been heal'd, but it was the Thing they dreaded and declin'd. (3.) It's Folly for thoſe that are under Convictions to get away from Jeſus Chriſt, as theſe here did, for he is the only one that can heal the Wounds of Conſcience, and ſpeak Peace to us. Thoſe that are convicted by their Conſciences, will be condemned by their Judge, if they be not juſtified by their Redeemer ; and will they then go from him ? To whom will they go ?

5. When the Self-conceited Proſecutors quitted the Field, and fled for the ſame, the Self-condemning Priſoner ſtood her Ground, with a Reſolution to abide by the Judgment of our Lord Jeſus. Jeſus was left alone from the Company of the Scribes and Phariſees, free from their Moleſtations, and the Woman ſtanding in the midſt of the Aſſembly that were attending on Chriſt's Preaching, where they ſet her, v. 3. ſhe did not ſeek to make her eſcape, tho' ſhe had Opportunity for it, but her Proſecutors had appealed unto Jeſus, and to him ſhe would go, on him ſhe would wait for her Doom. Note, Thoſe whoſe Cauſe is brought before our Lord Jeſus, will never have occaſion to remove it into any other Court, for he is the Refuge of Penitents. The Law which accuſes us, and calls for Judgment againſt us, is by the Goſpel of Chriſt made to withdraw, its Demands are anſwered, and its Clamours ſilenc'd by the Blood of Jeſus : Our Cauſe is lodged in the Goſpel-Court ; we are left with Jeſus alone, 'tis him only we have now to deal with, for to him all Judgment is committed ; let us therefore ſecure our Intereſt in him, and we are made for ever. Let his Goſpel rule us, and 'twill infallibly ſave us.

6. Here's the Concluſion of the Trial, and the Iſſue it was brought to, v. 10, 11. Jeſus lift up himſelf, and he ſaw none but the Woman. Tho' Chriſt may ſeem to take no notice of what is ſaid and done, but leave it to the contending Sons of Men to deal it out among themſelves; yet when the Hour of his Judgment is come, he will no longer keep Silence. When David had appealed to God, he prayed, Lift up thyſelf, Pſal. 7. 6. and 94. 2. The Woman, 'tis likely, ſtood trembling at the Bar, as one doubtful of the Iſſue. Chriſt was without Sin, and might caſt the firſt Stone ; but tho' none more ſevere than he againſt Sin, for he is infinitely Juſt and Holy, none more compaſſionate than he to Sinners, for he is infinitely Gracious and Merciful, and this poor Malefactor finds him ſo, now ſhe ſtands upon her Deliverance.

Here's the Method of Courts of Judicature obſerv'd :

1. The Proſecutors are call'd, Where are thoſe thine Accuſers? Hath no Man condemned thee ? Not but that Chriſt knew where they were, but he ask'd, that he might ſhame them who declin'd his Judgment, and encourage her who reſolv'd to abide by it. St. Paul's Challenge is like this, Who ſhall lay any Thing to the Charge of God's Elect ? Where are theſe their Accuſers ? The Accuſer of the Brethren ſhall be fairly caſt out, and all Indictments legally and regularly quaſhed.

2. They do not appear, when the Queſtion was ask'd, Hath no Man condemned thee ; ſhe ſaid, No Man, Lord. She ſpeaks reſpectfully to Chriſt, calls him Lord, but is ſilent concerning her Proſecutors, ſaith nothing in anſwer to that Queſtion which concerned them, Where are thoſe thine Accuſers ? Doth not triumph in their Retreat, or inſult over them, as Witneſſes againſt themſelves, not againſt her. If we hope to be forgiven by our Judge, we muſt forgive our Accuſers ; and if their Accuſations, how invidious ſoever, were the happy occaſion of awakening our Conſciences, we may eaſily forgive them this Wrong. But ſhe anſwered the Queſtion which concerned herſelf, Has no Man condemned thee ? True Penitents find it enough to give Account of themſelves to God, and will not undertake to give Account of other People.

3. The Priſoner is therefore diſcharg'd, Neither do I condemn thee, go and ſin no more. Conſider this,

1. As her Diſcharge from the temporal Puniſhment ; if they do not condemn thee to be ſtoned to Death, neither do I. Not that Chriſt came to diſarm the Magiſtrate of his Sword of Juſtice, or that it is his Will that Capital Puniſhments ſhould not be inflicted on Malefactors ; ſo far from that, the Adminiſtration of publick Juſtice is eſtabliſhed by the Goſpel, and made ſubſervient to Chriſt's Kingdom ; by me Kings reign. But Chriſt would not condemn this Woman, (1.) Becauſe it was none of his Buſineſs, he was no Judge, or Divider, and therefore would not intermeddle in ſecular Affairs. His Kingdom was not of this World. Tractent Fabrilia Fabri. (2.) Becauſe ſhe was proſecuted by thoſe that were more guilty than ſhe, and could not for ſhame inſiſt upon their Demand of Juſtice againſt her. This Law appointed the Hands of the Witneſſes to be firſt upon the Criminal, and afterward the Hands of all the People ; ſo that if they fly off, and do not condemn her, the Proſecution drops. The Juſtice of God in inflicting temporal Judgments, ſometimes takes notice of a comparative Righteouſneſs, and ſpares thoſe who are otherwiſe obnoxious, when the puniſhing of them would gratify thoſe that are worſe than they, Deut. 32. 26. But when Chriſt diſmiſs'd her, it was with this Caution, Go and ſin no more. Impunity emboldens Malefactors, and therefore thoſe who are guilty, and yet have found means to Eſcape the Edge of the Law, need not double their watch, leſt Satan get Advantage ; for the fairer the eſcape was, the fairer the Warning was, to go and ſin no more. They who help to ſave the Life of a Criminal, ſhould, as Chriſt here, help to ſave the Soul with this Caution.

2. As her Diſcharge from the Eternal Puniſhment. For Chriſt to ſay, I do not condemn thee, is in effect to ſay, I do forgive thee ; and the Son of Man had Power on Earth to forgive Sins, Sins, and could upon good Grounds give this Abſolution; for as he knew the hardneſs and impenitent Hearts of the Proſecutors, and therefore ſaid that which would confound them, ſo he knew the Tenderneſs and ſincere Repentance of the Priſoner, and therefore ſaid that which would comfort her, as he did to that Woman that was a Sinner, ſuch a Sinner as this, who was likewiſe look'd upon with diſdain by a Phariſee, Luke 7. 48. Thy Sins are forgiven thee, go in Peace. So here, Neither do I condemn thee. Note, 1. They are truly happy whom Chriſt doth not condemn, for his Diſcharge is a ſufficient Anſwer to all other Challenges, they are all coram non Judice. 2. Chriſt will not condemn thoſe, who tho' they have ſinned will go and ſin no more, Pſal. 85. 8. Iſa. 55. 7. He will not take the Advantage he has againſt us for our former Rebellions, if we will but lay down our Arms and return to our Allegiance. 3. Chriſt's Favour to us in the Remiſſion of the Sins that are paſt, ſhould be a prevailing Argument with us to go and ſin no more, Rom. 6. 1, 2. Will not Chriſt condemn thee? Go then and ſin no more.

12 Then ſpake Jeſus again unto them, ſaying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me, ſhall not walk in darkneſs, but ſhall have the light of life. 13 The Phariſees therefore ſaid unto him, Thou beareſt record of thy ſelf; thy record is not true. 14 Jeſus anſwered and ſaid unto them, Though I bear record of my ſelf, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go; but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. 15 Ye judge after the fleſh, I judge no man. 16 And yet if I judge, my judgment is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father that ſent me. 17 It is alſo written in your law, that the teſtimony of two men is true. 18 I am one that bear witneſs of my ſelf, and the Father that ſent me, beareth witneſs of me. 19 Then ſaid they unto him, Where is thy Father? Jeſus anſwered, Ye neither know me, nor my Father: if ye had known me, ye ſhould have known my Father alſo. 20 Theſe words ſpake Jeſus in the treaſury as he taught in the temple: and no man laid hands on him, for his hour was not yet come.

The reſt of this Chapter is taken up with Debates between Chriſt and contradicting Sinners, who cavil'd at the moſt gracious Words that proceeded out of his Mouth. 'Tis not certain whether theſe Diſputes were the ſame Day that the Adultereſs was diſcharg'd, 'tis probable they were, for the Evangeliſt mentions no other Day, and takes notice, v. 2. how early Chriſt began that day's Work. Tho' thoſe Phariſees that accus'd the Woman were abſconded, yet there were other Phariſees, v. 13. to confront Chriſt, who had Braſs enough in their Foreheads to keep them in Countenance, tho' ſome of their Party were put to ſuch a ſhameful Retreat; nay, perhaps that made them the more induſtrious to pick Quarrels with him, if poſſible, to retrieve the Reputation of their baffled Party.

In theſe Verſes we have,

1. A great Doctrine laid down, with the Application of it.

(1.) The Doctrine is, That Chriſt is the Light of the World; v. 12. Then ſpake Jeſus again unto them; tho' he had ſpoken a great deal to them to little purpoſe, and what he had ſaid was oppos'd, yet he ſpake again, for he ſpeaketh once, yea twice: They had turn'd a deaf Ear to what he ſaid, and yet he ſpoke again to them, ſaying, I am the Light of the World. Note, Jeſus Chriſt is the Light of the World. One of the Rabbies ſaith, Light is the Name of the Meſſiah, as it is written, Dan. 2. 22. And Light dwelleth with him. God is Light, and Chriſt is the Image of the inviſible God; God of Gods, Light of Lights. He was expected to be a Light to lighten the Gentiles, Luke 2. 22. and ſo the Light of the World, and not of the Jewiſh Church only. The viſible Light of the World is the Sun, and Chriſt is the Sun of Righteouſneſs: One Sun enlightens the whole World, ſo doth one Chriſt, and there needs no more. Chriſt's being the Light, ſpeaks, (1.) What he is in himſelf, moſt Excellent and Glorious. (2.) What he is to the World, the Fountain of Light, enlightening every Man. What a Dungeon would the World be without the Sun? ſo would it be without Chriſt, by whom Light came into the World, John 3. 19.

(2.) The Inference from this Doctrine is, He that followeth me, as a Traveller follows the Light in a dark Night, ſhall not walk in Darkneſs, but ſhall have the Light of Life. If Chriſt be the Light, then,

1. It is our Duty to follow him, to ſubmit ourſelves to his Conduct, and in every thing take Directions from him, in the way that leads to Happineſs. Many follow falſe Lights; there are Ignes fatui that lead them to Deſtruction, but Chriſt is the true Light. 'Tis not enough to look at this Light, and to gaze upon it, but we muſt follow it, believe in it, and walk in it, for 'tis a Light to our Feet, not our Eyes only.

2. It is the Happineſs of thoſe who follow Chriſt, that they ſhall not walk in Darkneſs. They ſhall not be left deſtitute of thoſe Inſtructions in the way of Truth, which are neceſſary to keep them from deſtroying Error, and thoſe Directions in the way of Duty, which are neceſſary to keep them from damning Sin. They ſhall have the Light of Life, that Knowledge and Enjoyment of God, which will be to them the Light of ſpiritual Life in this World, and of everlaſting Life in the other World, where there will be no Death nor Darkneſs. Follow Chriſt, and we ſhall undoubtedly be happy in both Worlds; Follow Chriſt, and we ſhall follow him to Heaven.

2. The Objection which the Phariſees made againſt this Doctrine, and it was very trifling and frivolous, v. 13. Thou beareſt Record of thyſelf; thy Record is not true. In this Objection they went upon the Suſpicion which we commonly have of Mens Self-commendation, which is concluded to be the native Language of Self-love, ſuch as we are all ready to condemn in others, but few are willing to own in themſelves. But in this Caſe the Objection was very unjuſt: For, (1.) they made that his Crime, and a Diminution to the Credibility of his Doctrine, which in the caſe of one who introduced a Divine Revelation was neceſſary and unavoidable. Did not Moſes and all the Prophets bear witneſs of themſelves, when they avouched themſelves to be God's Meſſengers? Did not the Phariſees ask John Baptiſt, what ſayeſt thou of thyſelf? (2.) They overlooked the Teſtimony of all the other Witneſſes, which corroborated the Teſtimony he bore of himſelf. Had he only born Record of himſelf, his Teſtimony had indeed been ſuſpicious, and the Belief of it might have been ſuſpended, but his Doctrine was atteſted by more than Two or Three credible Witneſſes, enough to eſtabliſh every Word of it.

3. Chriſt's Reply to this Objection, v. 14. He doth not retort upon them, as he might: You profeſs yourſelves to be devout and good Men, but your Witneſs is not true, but plainly vindicates himſelf; and tho' he had wav'd his own Teſtimony, chap. 5. 31. yet here he abides by it, that it did not derogate from the Credibility of his other Proofs, but was neceſſary to ſhew the Force of them. He is the Light of the World, and it is the Property of Light to be Self-evidencing: Firſt Principles prove themſelves.

He urgeth three Things to prove that his Teſtimony, tho' of himſelf, was true and cogent.

1. That he was conſcious to himſelf of his own Authority, and abundantly ſatisfied in himſelf concerning it. He did not ſpeak as one at uncertainty, nor propoſe a diſputable Notion which he himſelf heſitated about, but declar'd a Decree, and gave ſuch an Account of himſelf as he would abide by; I know whence I come, and whither I go. He was fully appris'd of his own Undertaking from firſt to laſt; knew whoſe Errand he went upon, and what his Succeſs would be; he knew what he was before his Manifeſtation to the World, and what he ſhould be after; that he came from the Father, and was going to him, John 16. 28. came from Glory, and was going to Glory, John 17. 5. This is the Satisfaction of all good Chriſtians, that tho' the World know them not, as it knew him not, yet they know whence their ſpiritual Life comes, and whither it tends, and go upon ſure Grounds.

2. That they were very incompetent Judges of him, and of his Doctrine, and not to be regarded.

(1.) Becauſe they were ignorant willingly, and reſolvedly ignorant; ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go. To what purpoſe is it to talk with thoſe who know nothing of the Matter, nor deſire to know? He had told them of his coming from Heaven, and returning to Heaven, but it was Fooliſhneſs to them, they received it not, it was what the brutiſh Man knows not, Pſal. 92. 6. They took upon them to judge of that which they did not underſtand, which lay quite out of the Road of their Acquaintance. They that deſpiſe Chriſt's Dominions and Dignities, ſpeak evil of what they know not, Jude 8. 10.

(2.) Becauſe they were partial, v. 15. Ye judge after the Fleſh. When fleſhly Wiſdom gives the rule of Judgment, and outward Shews and Appearances only are given in Evidence, and the caſe decided according to them, then Men judge after the Fleſh, and when the Conſideration of a Secular Intereſt turns the Scale in judging of ſpiritual Matters; when we judge in favour of that which pleaſes the carnal Mind, and recommends us to a carnal World, we judge after the Fleſh; and the Judgment cannot be right when the Rule is wrong. The Jews judg'd of Chriſt and his Goſpel by outward Appearances, and becauſe he appear'd ſo mean, thought it impoſſible he ſhould be the Light of the World; as if the Sun under a Cloud were no Sun.

(3.) Becauſe they were unjuſt and unfair towards him; intimated in that, I judge no Man. I neither make nor meddle with your political Affairs, nor doth my Doctrine or Practice at all intrench upon, or interfere with your Civil Rights, or Secular Powers; he thus judg'd no Man; now if he did not war after the Fleſh, it was very unreaſonable for them to judge him after the Fleſh; and to treat him as an Offender againſt the Civil Government. Or, I judge no Man, i. e. not now in my firſt coming, that's deferr'd till I come again, John 3. 17. Prima Diſpenſatio Chriſti medicinalis eſt, non judicialis. Aug.

3. That his Teſtimony of himſelf was ſufficiently ſupported and corroborated by the Teſtimony of his Father with him, and for him, v. 16. And yet if I judge, my Judgment is true. He did in his Doctrine judge, John 9. 39. tho' not politically. Conſider him then,

1. As a Judge, and his own Judgment was valid. If I judge, I who have Authority to execute Judgments, I to whom all Things are delivered, I who am the Son of God, and have the Spirit of God, if I judge, my Judgment is true, of unconteſtable Rectitude, and uncontroulable Authority, Rom. 2. 2. If I ſhould judge, my Judgment muſt be true, and then you would be condemn'd; but the Judgment Day is not yet come, you are not yet to be condemn'd but ſpar'd, and therefore now I judge no Man: ſo Chryſoſtom.

Now that which makes his Judgment unexceptionable, is,

(1.) His Father's Concurrence with him, I am not alone, but I and the Father. He had the Father's concurring Counſels to direct; as he was with the Father before the World in forming the Counſels, ſo the Father was with him in the Word in proſecuting and executing thoſe Counſels, and never left him Inops Conſilii, Iſa. 11. 2. All the Counſels of Peace (and of War too) were between them both, Zech. 6. 13. He had alſo the Father's concurring Power to authorize and confirm what he did; ſee Pſal. 89. 21, &c. Iſa. 42. 1. He did not act ſeparately, but in his own Name, and his Father's, and by the Authority aforeſaid, John 5. 17. and 14. 9, 10.

(2.) His Father's Commiſſion to him, 'tis the Father that ſent me. Note, God will go along with them that he ſends, ſee Exod. 3. 10, 12. Come, and I will ſend thee, and certainly I will be with thee. Now if Chriſt had a Commiſſion from the Father, and the Father's Preſence with him in all his Adminiſtrations, no doubt his Judgment was true and valid; no Exception lay againſt it, no Appeal lay from it.

2. Look upon him as a Witneſs, and now he appear'd no otherwiſe (having not as yet taken the Throne of Judgment) and as ſuch his Teſtimony was true, and unexceptionable; this he ſhews, v. 17, 18. where,

1. He quotes a Maxim of the Jewiſh Law, v. 17. That the Teſtimony of Two Men is true. Not as if it were always true in it ſelf, for many a time Hand has joined in Hand to bear a falſe Teſtimony, 1 Kings 21. 10. But it is allow'd as ſufficient Evidence, upon which to ground a Verdict (verum dictum) and if nothing appear to the conttary, 'tis taken for granted to be true. Reference is here had to that Law, Deut. 17. 6. At the Mouth of Two Witneſſes ſhall he that's worthy of Death be put to death. And ſee Deut. 19. 5. Num. 35. 30. 'Tis in favour of Life that in capital Cauſes Two Witneſſes were required, as with us in Caſe of Treaſon. See Heb. 6. 18.

2. He applies this to the Caſe in hand, v. 18. I am one that bears Witneſs of my ſelf, and the Father that ſent me bears Witneſs of me. Behold Two Witneſſes! Tho' in human Courts, where Two Witneſſes are required, the Criminal, or Candidate, is not admitted to be a Witneſs for himſelf, yet in a Matter purely Divine, which can be prov'd only by a Divine Teſtimony, and God himſelf muſt be the Witneſs, if the Formality of Two or Three Witneſſes be inſiſted on, there can be no other than the eternal Father, the eternal Son of the Father, and the eternal Spirit. Now if the Teſtimony of Two diſtinct Perſons, that are Man, and therefore may deceive, or be deceived, is concluſive, much more ought the Teſtimony of the Son of God concerning himſelf, backed with the Teſtimony of his Father concerning him, to command Aſſent: ſee 1 John 5. 7, 9, 10, 11. Now this proves, not only that the Father and the Son are Two diſtinct Perſons, for their reſpective Teſtimonies are here ſpoken of as the Teſtimonies of Two ſeveral Perſons; but that theſe Two are One, not only one in their Teſtimony, but equal in Power and Glory, and therefore the ſame in Subſtance. St. Auſtin here takes occaſion to caution his Hearers againſt Sabellianiſm on the one hand, which confounded the Perſons in the Godhead, and Arianiſm on the other, which deny'd the Godhead of the Son and Spirit. Alius eſt Filius, & alius Pater, non tamen aliud, ſed hoc ipſum eſt & Pater, & Filius, ſcil. unus Deus eſt, Tract 36. in Joann.

Chriſt here ſpeaks of himſelf and the Father, as Witneſſes to the World, giving in Evidence to the Reaſon and Conſcience of the Children of Men, whom he deals with as Men. And theſe Witneſſes to the World now, will in the great Day be Witneſſes againſt thoſe that perſiſt in Unbelief, and their Word will judge Men.

This was the Sum of the firſt Conference between Chriſt and theſe carnal Jews; in the Concluſion of which we are told how their Tongues were let looſe, and their Hands ty'd. 1. How their Tongues were let looſe (ſuch was the Malice of Hell) to cavil at his Diſcourſe, v. 19. Tho' in what he ſaid there appear'd nothing of human Policy or Artifice, but a Divine Security, yet they ſet themſelves to croſs Queſtions, with him. None ſo incurably blind, as thoſe that reſolve they will not ſee.

Obſerve, (1.) How they evaded the Conviction with a Cavil; Then ſaid they unto him, where is thy Father? They might eaſily have underſtood by the Tenor of this, and other his Diſcourſes, that when he ſpoke of his Father, he meant no other but God himſelf; yet they pretend to underſtand him of a common Perſon; and ſince he had appeal'd to his Teſtimony, they bid him call his Witneſs, and challenge him, if he could, to produce him; Where is thy Father? Thus as Chriſt ſaid of them, v. 15. They judge after the Fleſh. Perhaps they hereby intend a Reflection upon the meanneſs and obſcurity of his Family; where is thy Father, that he ſhould be fit to give Evidence in ſuch a Caſe as this? Thus they turn it off with a Taunt, when they could not reſiſt the Wiſdom and Spirit with which he ſpake.

(2.) How he evaded the Cavil with a further Conviction; he did not tell them where his Father was, but charg'd them with wilful Ignorance; ye neither know me nor my Father. 'Tis to no purpoſe to diſcourſe to you about Divine Things, who talk of them as blind Men do of Colours. Poor Creatures, ye know nothing of the Matter.

1. He charged them with Ignorance of God; ye know not my Father. In Judah was God known, Pſal. 76. 1. they had ſome Knowledge of him as the God that made the World, but their Eyes were darkened that they could not ſee the Light of his Glory ſhining in the Face of Jeſus Chriſt. The little Children of the Chriſtian Church know the Father, know him as a Father, John 2. 13. but theſe Rulers of the Jews did not, becauſe they would not ſo know him.

2. He ſhews them the true Cauſe of their Ignorance of God, If ye had known me, ye ſhould have known my Father alſo. The reaſon why Men are ignorant of God, is becauſe they are unacquainted with Jeſus Chriſt. Did we know Chriſt, 1. In knowing him we ſhould know the Father, whoſe Perſon he is the expreſs Image of, John 14. 9. Chryſoſtom proves hence the Godhead of Chriſt, and his Equality with his Father. We cannot ſay, he that knows a Man knows an Angel, or he that knows a Creature knows the Creator; but he that knows Chriſt, knows the Father. 2. By him we ſhall be inſtructed in the Knowledge of God, and introduced into an Acquaintance with him. If we knew Chriſt better, we ſhould know the Father better, but where the Chriſtian Religion is ſlighted and oppos'd, Natural Religion will ſoon be loſt and laid aſide: Deiſm makes way for Atheiſm. Thoſe become vain in their Imaginations concerning God, that will not learn of Chriſt.

2. See how their Hands were ty'd, tho' their Tongues were thus let looſe; ſuch was the Power of Heaven to reſtrain the Malice of Hell. Theſe Words ſpake Jeſus, theſe bold Words, theſe Words of Conviction and Reproof, in the Treaſury, an Apartment of the Temple, where to be ſure the Chief Prieſts, whoſe Gain was their Godlineſs, were moſtly reſident, attending the Buſineſs of the Revenue. Chriſt taught in the Temple, ſometimes in one part, ſometimes in another, as he ſaw occaſion. Now the Prieſts who had ſo great a Stroke in the Temple, and look'd upon it as their Demeſn, might eaſily, with the Aſſiſtance of their Janizaries that were at their beck, either have ſeiz'd him, and expos'd him to the Rage of the Mob, and that Puniſhment which they call'd the beating of the Rebels; or at leaſt have ſilenced him, and ſtopt his Mouth there, as Amos, tho' tolerated in the Land of Judah, was forbidden to propheſy in the King's Chappel, Amos 7. 12, 13. Yet even in the Temple, where they had him in their reach, No Man laid Hands on him, for his Hour was not yet come. See here, (1.) The Reſtraint laid upon his Proſecutors by an inviſible Power, none of them durſt meddle with him. God can ſet Bounds to the Wrath of Men, as he doth to the Waves of the Sea; let us not therefore fear Danger in the way of Duty, for God hath Satan and all his Inſtruments in a Chain. (2.) The Reaſon of this Reſtraint, His Hour was not yet come. The frequent mention of this intimates, how much the Time of our Departure out of the World depends upon the fixed Counſel and Decree of God. It will come, it's coming; not yet come, but it is at hand: Our Enemies cannot haſten it any ſooner, nor our Friends delay it any longer than the Time appointed of the Father, which is very comfortable to every good Man, who can look up, and ſay with Pleaſure, My Times are in thy Hands; and better there than in our own. His Hour was not yet come, becauſe his Work was not done, nor his Teſtimony finiſhed. To all God's Purpoſes there is a Time.

21 Then ſaid Jeſus again unto them, I go my way, and ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall die in your ſins: whither I go ye cannot come. 22 Then ſaid the Jews, Will he kill himſelf? becauſe he ſaith, Whither I go, ye cannot come. 23 And he ſaid unto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from above: ye are of this world, I am not of this world. 24 I ſaid therefore unto you, that ye ſhall die in your ſins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye ſhall die in your ſins. 25 Then ſaid they unto him, Who art thou? And Jeſus ſaith unto them, Even the ſame that I ſaid unto you from the beginning. 26 I have many things to ſay, and to judge of you: but he that ſent me is true, and I ſpeak to the world thoſe things which I have heard of him. 27 They underſtood not that he ſpeak to them of the Father. 28 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them, When ye have lift up the ſon of man, then ſhall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of my ſelf; but as my Father hath taught me, I ſpeak theſe things. 29 And he that ſent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone; for I do always thoſe things that pleaſe him. 30 As he ſpake theſe words, many believed on him.

Chriſt here gives fair Warning to the careleſs, unbelieving Jews, to conſider what would be the Conſequence of their Infidelity, that they might prevent it before it was too late; for he ſpake Words of Terror as well as Words of Grace. Obſerve here, Firſt, The Wrath threaten'd. Ver. 21. Jeſus ſaid again unto them that which might be likely to do them good. He continued to teach in Kindneſs to thoſe few who receiv'd his Doctrine, tho' there were many that reſiſted it, which is an Example to Miniſters to go on with their Work, notwithſtanding Oppoſition, becauſe a Remnant ſhall be ſaved. Here Chriſt changes his Voice; he had piped to them in the Offers of his Grace, and they had not danced; now he mourns to them in the Denunciations of his Wrath, to try if they would lament. He ſaid, I go my way, and ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall die in your Sins: Whither I go, ye cannot come. Every Word is terrible, and ſpeaks ſpiritual Judgments, which are the ſoreſt of all others; worſe than War, Peſtilence, and Captivity, which the Old Teſtament Prophets denounc'd.

Four Things are here threaten'd againſt the Jews.

1. Chriſt's Departure from them. I go my way, i. e. it ſhall not be long but I will go, you need not take ſo much pains to drive me from you, I ſhall go of myſelf. They ſaid to him, depart from us, we deſire not the Knowledge of thy Ways, and he takes them at their Word; but woe to thoſe from whom Chriſt departs. Ichabod, The Glory is gone, our Defence is departed when Chriſt goes. Chriſt frequently warn'd them of his Departure before he left them; he bid oft farewel, as one loth to depart, and willing to be invited, and that would have them ſtir up themſelves to take hold on him.

2. Their Enmity to the true Meſſiah, and their fruitleſs and infatuated Enquiries after another Meſſiah, when he was gone away, which were both their Sins and their Puniſhments. Ye ſhall ſeek me, which ſpeaks, either, (1.) Their Enmity to the true Chriſt. Ye ſhall ſeek to ruin my Intereſt, by perſecuting my Doctrine and Followers with a fruitleſs Deſign to root them out. This was a continual Vexation and Torment to themſelves, made them incurably ill-natur'd, and brought Wrath upon them, (God's, and their own) to the uttermoſt. Or, (2.) Their Enquiries after falſe Chriſts. Ye ſhall continue your Expectations of the Meſſiah, and be the ſelf-perplexing Seekers of a Chriſt to come, when he is already come; like the Sodomites, who being ſtruck with Blindneſs, wearied themſelves to find the Door, Rom. 9. 31, 32.

3. Their final Impenitency: Ye ſhall die in your Sins. Here's an Error in all our Engliſh Bibles, even the old Biſhops Tranſlation, and that of Geneva, (the Rhemiſts only excepted) for all the Greek Copies have it in the ſingular Number, ἐν τῇ ἁμαρτία ὑμῶν, In your Sin, ſo all the Latin Verſions; and Calvin has a Note upon the Difference between this and v. 24. where it is plural, ταῖς ἁμαρτίαις, that here it is meant eſpecially of the Sin of Unbelief, in hoc peccato veſtro, in this Sin of yours. Note, Thoſe that live in Unbelief, are for ever undone if they die in Unbelief. Or, it may be underſtood in general, Ye ſhall die in your Iniquity, as Ezek. 3. 19. and 33. 9. Many that have long liv'd in Sin, yet by a timely Repentance, through Grace, are ſaved from dying in Sin; but for thoſe who go out of this World of Probation into that of Retribution under the Guilt of Sin unpardon'd, and the Power of Sin unbroken, there remaineth no Relief; Salvation itſelf cannot ſave them, Job 20. 11. Ezek. 32. 27.

4. Their eternal Separation from Chriſt and all Happineſs in him; Whither I go, ye cannot come. When Chriſt left the World, he went to a State of perfect Happineſs; he went to Paradiſe, thither he took the Penitent Thief with him that did not die in his Sins; but the Impenitent not only ſhall not come to him, but they cannot; 'tis morally impoſſible, for Heaven would not be Heaven to thoſe that die unſanctified, and unmeet for it. Ye cannot come, becauſe ye have no right to enter into that Jeruſalem, Rev. 22. 14. Whither I go ye cannot come to fetch me thence, ſo Dr. Whitby; and the ſame is the Comfort of all good Chriſtians, that when they are got to Heaven, they will be out of the Reach of their Enemies Malice.

Secondly, The Jeſt they made of this Threatning. Inſtead of trembling at this Word, they banter'd it, and turn'd it into ridicule; v. 22. Will he kill himſelf? See here, 1. What ſlight Thoughts they had of Chriſt's Threatnings, they could make themſelves and one another merry with them, as thoſe that mock'd the Meſſengers of the Lord, and turned the Burthen of the Word of the Lord into a By-word, and Precept upon Precept, Line upon Line, into a merry Song, Iſa. 28. 13. But be ye not Mockers, leſt your Bands be made ſtrong. 2. What ill Thoughts they had of Chriſt's Meaning, as if he had an inhuman Deſign upon his own Life, to avoid the Indignities done him, like Saul. This is indeed (ſay they) to go whither we cannot follow him, for we will never kill ourſelves. Thus they make him, not only ſuch a one as themſelves, but worſe; yet in the Calamities brought by the Romans upon the Jews, many of them in Diſcontent and Deſpair did kill themſelves. They had put a much more favourable Conſtruction upon this Word of his, Chap. 7. 34, 35. Will he go to the diſperſed Gentiles? But ſee how indulged Malice grows more and more malicious.

Thirdly, The Confirmation of what he had ſaid.

1. He had ſaid, Whither I go ye cannot come, and here he gives a Reaſon for that, v. 23. Ye are from beneath, I am from above; ye are of this World, I am not of this World. Ye are ἐκ τῶν κάτω, of thoſe Things which are beneath; noting, not ſo much their Riſe from beneath, as their Affection to theſe lower Things; ye are in with theſe Things, as thoſe that belong to them, how can you come where I go, when your Spirit and Diſpoſition is ſo directly contrary to mine? See here, (1.) What the Spirit of the Lord Jeſus was, not of this World, but from above. He was perfectly dead to the Wealth of the World, the Eaſe of the Body, and the Praiſe of Men, and was wholly taken up with divine and heavenly Things, and none ſhall be with him but thoſe who are born from above, and have their Converſation in Heaven. (2.) How contrary to this their Spirit was; ye are from beneath, and of this World. The Phariſees were of a carnal, worldly Spirit, and what Communion could Chriſt have with them.

2. He had ſaid, Ye ſhall die in your Sin, and here he ſtands to it; therefore I ſaid ye ſhall die in your Sins, becauſe ye are from beneath; and he gives this further Reaſon for it, if ye believe not that I am he, ye ſhall die in your Sins, v. 24. See here, 1. What we are requir'd to believe, That I am he, ὅτι ἐγώ εἰμι, That I am, which is one of God's Names, Exod. 3. 14. 'Twas the Son of God that there ſaid, Ehejeh aſher Ehjeh, I will be what I will be; for the Deliverance of Iſrael was but a Figure of good Things to come, but now he ſaith, I am he; he that ſhould come, he that you expect the Meſſias to be, that you would have me to be to you: I am more than the bare Name of the Meſſiah; I do not only call my ſelf ſo, but I am he. True Faith doth not amuſe the Soul with an empty Sound of Words, but affects it with the Doctrine of Chriſt's Mediation, as a real Thing, that has real Effects. 2. How neceſſary it is that we believe this, if we have not this Faith, we ſhall die in our Sins; for the Matter is ſo ſettled, that without this Faith, 1. We cannot be ſav'd from the Power of Sin while we live, and therefore ſhall certainly continue in them to the laſt. Nothing but the Doctrine of Chriſt's Grace will be an Argument powerful enough, and none but the Spirit of Chriſt's Grace will be an Agent powerful enough to turn us from Sin to God; and that Spirit is given, and that Doctrine given to be effectual to thoſe only who believe in Chriſt: So that if Satan be not by Faith diſpoſſeſs'd, he has a Leaſe of the Soul for its Life: If Chriſt do not cure us, our Caſe is deſperate, and we ſhall die in our Sins. 2. Without Faith we cannot be ſav'd from the Puniſhment of Sin when we die, for the Wrath of God remains upon them that believe not, Mark 16. 16. Unbelief is the damning Sin, 'tis a Sin againſt the Remedy. Now this implies the great Goſpel Promiſe, If we believe that Chriſt is He, and receive him accordingly, we ſhall not die in our Sins. The Law ſaith abſolutely to all, as Chriſt ſaid, v. 21. Ye ſhall die in your Sin, for we are all Guilty before God; but the Goſpel is a Defeaſance of the Obligation upon Condition of believing; the Curſe of the Law is vacated and annull'd to all that ſubmit to the Grace of the Goſpel: Believers die in Chriſt, in his Love, in his Arms, and ſo are ſav'd from dying in their Sins.

Fourthly, Here's a further Diſcourſe concerning himſelf, occaſion'd by his requiring Faith in himſelf as the Condition of Salvation, v. 25—29. Obſerve,

1. The Queſtion which the Jews put to him, v. 25. Who art thou? This they ask'd tauntingly, and not with any deſire to be inſtructed. He had ſaid, ye muſt believe that I am he. By his not ſaying expreſly who he was, he plainly intimated, that in his Perſon he was ſuch a one as could not be deſcrib'd by any, and in his Office ſuch a one as was expected by all that look'd for Redemption in Iſrael; yet this awful Manner of ſpeaking, which had ſo much Significancy in it, they turn'd to his Reproach, as if he know not what to ſay of himſelf. Who art thou? That we muſt, with an implicit Faith, believe in thee, that thou art ſome mighty HE; we know not who, or what, nor are worthy to know.

2. His Anſwer to this Queſtion, wherein he directs them three Ways for Information.

1. He refers himſelf to what he had ſaid all along. Do you ask who I am, Even the ſame that I ſaid unto you from the Beginning. The Original here is a little intricate, τὴν ἀρχὴν ὅ τι καὶ λαλῶ ὑμῖν, which ſome read thus; I am the Beginning, which alſo I ſpeak unto you. So Auſtin takes it, Chriſt is call'd Ἀρχὴ, the Beginning, Col. 1. 18. Rev. 1. 8. and 21. 6. and 3. 14. and ſo it agrees with v. 24. I am he, compare Iſa. 41. 4. I am the firſt, I am he. Thoſe who object that 'tis the Accuſative Caſe, and therefore not properly anſwering to τίς εἶ; muſt undertake to conſtrue by Grammar Rules that parallel Expreſſion, Rev. 1. 8. ὁ ὤν. But moſt Interpreters agree with our Verſion, Do you ask who I am?

(1.) I am the ſame that I ſaid to you from the Beginning of Time in the Scriptures of the Old Teſtament, the ſame that from the Beginning was ſaid to be the Seed of the Woman, that ſhould break the Serpent's Head. The ſame that in all the Ages of the Church was the Mediator of the Covenant, and the Faith of the Patriarchs.

(2.) From the Beginning of my publick Miniſtry. The Account he had already given of himſelf, he reſolved to abide by; he had declared himſelf to be the Son of God, ch. 5. 16. to be the Chriſt, ch. 4. 26. and the Bread of Life, and had propoſed himſelf as the Object of that Faith which is neceſſary to Salvation, and to this he refers himſelf for an Anſwer to their Queſtion; Chriſt is one with himſelf, what he had ſaid from the Beginning, he ſaith ſtill. His is an everlaſting Goſpel.

2. He refers himſelf to his Father's Judgment, and the Inſtructions he had from him, v. 26. I have many things, more than you think of, to ſay, and in them to judge of you. But (why ſhould I trouble myſelf any further with you?) I know very well, he that ſent me is true, and will ſtand by me, and bear me out, for I ſpeak to the World, to which I am ſent as an Ambaſſador, thoſe things, all thoſe, and thoſe only, which I have heard of him. Here,

(1.) He ſuppreſſeth his Accuſations of them. He had many things to charge them with, and many Evidences to produce againſt them, but for the preſent he had ſaid enough. Note, Whatever Diſcoveries of Sin are made to us, he that ſearcheth the Heart hath ſtill more to judge of us, 1 John 3. 20. How much ſoever God reckons with Sinners in this World, there is ſtill a further Reckoning yet behind, Deut. 32. 34. Let us learn hence not to be forward to ſay all we can ſay, even againſt the worſt of Men; we may have many things to ſay by way of Cenſure, which yet it is better to leave unſaid, for what is it to us?

(2.) He enters his Appeal againſt them to his Father; He that ſent me. Here two Things comfort him;

(1.) That he had been true to his Father, and to the Truſt repoſed in him; I ſpeak to the World, for his Goſpel was to be preached to every Creature, thoſe things which I have heard of him. Being given for a Witneſs to the People, Iſa. 55. 4. He was Amen, a faithful Witneſs, Rev. 3. 14. He did not conceal his Doctrine, but ſpoke it to the World; being of common Concern, it was to be of common Notice; nor did he change or alter it, nor vary from the Inſtructions he received from him that ſent him.

(2.) That his Father would be true to him; true to the Promiſe, that he would make his Mouth like a ſharp Sword; true to his Purpoſe concerning him, which was a Decree, Pſal. 2. 7. True to the Threatnings of his Wrath againſt thoſe that ſhould reject him. Tho' he ſhould not accuſe them to his Father, yet the Father that ſent him would undoubtedly reckon with them, and would be true to what he had ſaid, Deut. 18. 19. that whoſoever would not hearken to that Prophet, whom God would raiſe up, he would require it of him. Chriſt would not accuſe them, for, ſaith he, he that ſent me is true, and will paſs Judgment on them, tho I ſhould not demand Judgment againſt them. Thus when he lets fall the preſent Proſecution; he binds them over to the Judgment Day, when it will be too late to diſpute, what they will not now be perſuaded to believe. I, as a deaf Man, heard not, for thou wilt hear, Pſal. 38. 14, 15.

Upon this Part of our Saviour's Diſcourſe, the Evangeliſt has a melancholy Remark, v. 27. They underſtood not that he ſpake to them of the Father. See here, (1.) The Power of Satan to blind the Minds of them which believe not; tho Chriſt ſpoke ſo plainly of God, as his Father in Heaven, yet they did not underſtand who he meant, but thought he ſpoke of ſome Father he had in Galilee. Thus the plaineſt Things are Riddles and Parables to thoſe who are reſolved to hold faſt their Prejudices; Day and Night are alike to the Blind. (2.) The Reaſon why the Threatnings of the Word make ſo little Impreſſion upon the Minds of Sinners, 'tis becauſe they underſtand not whoſe the Wrath is that is revealed in them: When Chriſt told them of the Truth of him that ſent him, as a Warning to them to prepare for his Judgment, which is according to Truth; they ſlighted the Warning, becauſe they underſtood not whoſe Judgment it was that they made themſelves obnoxious to.

3. He refers himſelf to their own Convictions hereafter, v. 28, 29. He finds they will not underſtand him, and therefore adjourns the Trial, till further Evidence ſhould come in; they that will not ſee, yet ſhall ſee, Iſa. 26. 11. Now obſerve here,

1. What they ſhould e'er long be convinced of; Ye ſhall know that I am he, that Jeſus is the true Meſſiah. Whether you will own it or no before Men, you ſhall be made to know it in your own Conſciences, the Convictions of which, tho you may ſtifle, yet you cannot baffle. That I am he, not which you repreſent me to be, but he that I preach myſelf to be, he that ſhould come: Two Things they ſhould be convinced of, in order to this. (1.) That he did nothing of himſelf, not of himſelf as Man, of himſelf alone, of himſelf without the Father, with whom he was one. He doth not hereby derogate from his own inherent Power, but only denies their Charge againſt him as a falſe Prophet, of whom it is ſaid, that they propheſied out of their own Hearts, and followed their own Spirits. (2.) That as his Father taught him, ſo he ſpake theſe things, that he was not αὐτοδίδακτος, but Θεοδίδακτος. The Doctrine he preached was the Counterpart of the Counſels of God, which he was intimately acquainted with, καθὼς ἐδίδαξε ταῦτα λαλῶ. I ſpeak thoſe things not only which he taught me, but as he taught me, with the ſame Divine Power and Authority.

2. When they ſhould be convinced of this. When ye have lift up the Son of Man, lifted him up upon the Croſs, as the brazen Serpent upon the Pole, John 3. 14. as the Sacrifices under the Law (for Chriſt is the great Sacrifice) which when they were offer'd, were ſaid to be elevated or lifted up; hence the Burnt-Offerings, the moſt antient and honourable of all, were called Elevations (Gnoloth from Gnolah, aſcendit) and in many other Offerings they uſed the ſignificant Ceremony, of heaving the Sacrifice up, and moving it before the Lord; thus was Chriſt lifted up. Or, it notes, That his Death was his Exaltation; they that put him to death, thought thereby for ever to have ſunk him and his Intereſt, but it proved to be the Advancement of both, John 12. 24. When the Son of Man was crucified, the Son of Man was glorified. Chriſt had called his dying, his going away; here his being lifted up: Thus the Death of the Saints, as it is their Departure out of this World, ſo it is their Advancement to a better. Obſerve, he ſpeaks of thoſe he is now talking with, as the Inſtruments of his Death, when ye have lift up the Son of Man, not that they were to be the Prieſts to offer him up; no, that was his own Act, he offer'd up himſelf, but they would be his Betrayers and Murderers: ſee Acts 2. 23. they lifted him up to the Croſs, but then he lifted up himſelf to his Father. Obſerve, with what Tenderneſs and Mildneſs Chriſt here ſpeaks to thoſe, who he certainly knew would put him to death, to teach us not to hate or ſeek the Hurt of any, tho we may have reaſon to think they hate us, and ſeek our Hurt.

Now Chriſt ſpeaks of his Death, as that which would be a powerful Conviction of the Infidelity of the Jews; When ye have lifted up the Son of Man, then ſhall ye know this. And why then? (1.) Becauſe careleſs and unthinking People are often taught the Worth of Mercies by the Want of them, Luke 17. 22. (2.) The Guilt of their Sin in putting Chriſt to death, would ſo awaken their Conſciences, that they would be put upon ſerious Enquiries after a Saviour, and then would know that Jeſus was he, who alone could ſave them. And ſo it proved, when being told, that with wicked Hands they had crucified and ſlain the Son of God, they cried out, What ſhall we do? and were made to know aſſuredly, that this Jeſus was Lord and Chriſt, Acts 2. 37. (3.) There would be ſuch Signs and Wonders attending his Death, and the lifting of him up from Death in his Reſurrection, as would give a ſtronger Proof of his being the Meſſiah, than any that had been yet given: And Multitudes were hereby brought to believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt, who had before contradicted and oppoſed him. (4.) By the Death of Chriſt, the pouring out of the Spirit was purchaſed, who would convince the World that Jeſus is he, John 16. 7, 8. (5.) The Judgments which the Jews brought upon themſelves, by putting Chriſt to death, which filled up the Meaſure of their Iniquity, were a ſenſible Conviction to the moſt hardened among them, that Jeſus was he; Chriſt had often foretold that Deſolation, as the juſt Puniſhment of their invincible Unbelief, and when it came to paſs, (lo! it did come) they could not but know that the great Prophet had been among them, Ezek. 33. 33.

3. What ſupported our Lord Jeſus in the mean time, v. 29. He that ſent me is with me, in my whole Undertaking, for the Father (the Fountain and firſt Spring of this Affair, from whom, as its great Cauſe and Author, it is derived) hath not left me alone to manage it myſelf, nor deſerted the Buſineſs, or me in the Proſecution of it, for I do always thoſe things that pleaſe him.

Here's, 1. The Aſſurance which Chriſt had of his Father's Preſence with him, which includes both a Divine Power going along with him, to enable him for his Work, and a Divine Favour manifeſted to him, to encourage him in it. He that ſent me, is with me, Iſa. 42. 1. Pſal. 89. 21. This greatly emboldens our Faith in Chriſt, and our Reliance upon his Word, that he had, and knew he had his Father with him, to confirm the Word of his Servant, Iſa. 44. 26. The King of Kings accompany'd his own Ambaſſador, to atteſt his Miſſion, and aſſiſt his Management, and never left him alone, either ſolitary or weak; it alſo aggravated the Wickedneſs of thoſe that oppoſed him, and was an Intimation to them of the Premunire they run themſelves into, by reſiſting him, for thereby they were found Fighters againſt God. How eaſily ſoever they might think to cruſh him, and run him down, let them know he had one to back him, with whom 'tis the greateſt Madneſs that can be to contend.

2. The Ground of this Aſſurance; For I do always thoſe things that pleaſe him. That is, (1.) That great Affair which our Lord Jeſus was continually engaged in, was an Affair which the Father that ſent him was highly well pleaſed with. His whole Undertaking is called the Pleaſure of the Lord, Iſa. 53. 10. becauſe of the Counſels of the eternal Mind about it, and the Complacency of the eternal Mind of it. (2.) His Management of that Affair was in nothing diſpleaſing to his Father; in executing his Commiſſion, he punctually obſerved all his Inſtructions, and did in nothing vary from them; no meer Man ſince the Fall could ſay ſuch a Word as this, for in many things we offend all; but our Lord Jeſus never offended his Father in any thing, but as became him, he fulfilled all Righteouſneſs; and this was neceſſary to the Validity and Value of the Sacrifice he was to offer up; for if he had in any thing diſpleaſed the Father himſelf, and ſo had had any Sin of his own to anſwer for, the Father could not have been pleaſed with him as a Propitiation for our Sins, but ſuch a Prieſt, and ſuch a Sacrifice became us, as was perfectly pure and ſpotleſs. We may likewiſe learn hence, that God's Servants may then expect God's Preſence with them, when they chuſe and do thoſe things that pleaſe him, Iſa. 56.45.

Fifthly, Here's the good Effect which this Diſcourſe of Chriſt's had upon ſome of his Hearers, v. 30. As he ſpake theſe Words, many believed on him. Note, 1. Tho' Multitudes periſh in their Unbelief, yet there is a Remnant according to the Election of Grace, who believe to the ſaving of the Soul. If Iſrael, the whole Body of the People, be not gathered, yet there are thoſe of them, in whom Chriſt will be glorious, Iſa. 49. 5. This the Apoſtle inſiſts upon, to reconcile the Jews Objection, with the Promiſes made unto their Fathers. There is a Remnant, Rom. 11. 5. 2. The Words of Chriſt, and particularly his threatning Words, are made effectual by the Grace of God, to bring in poor Souls to believe in him. When Chriſt told them, that if they believed not, they ſhould die in their Sins, and never get to Heaven, they thought it was time to look about them, Rom. 1.16,18. 3. Sometimes there is a wide Door opened, and an effectual one, even there where there are many Adverſaries. Chriſt will carry on his Work, tho' the Heathen rage. The Goſpel gains great Victories ſometimes there, where it meets with great Oppoſition. Let this encourage God's Miniſters to preach the Goſpel, tho' it be with much Contention, for they ſhall not labour in vain. Many may be ſecretly brought home to God by thoſe Endeavours, which are openly contradicted and cavill'd at by Men of corrupt Minds. Auſtin has an affectionate Ejaculation in his Lecture upon theſe Words, Utinam & me loquenti multi credant, non in me, ſed mecum in eo!

31 Then ſaid Jeſus to thoſe Jews which believed on him, If ye continue in my Word, then are ye my diſciples indeed; 32 And ye ſhall know the truth, and the truth ſhall make you free. 33 ¶ They anſwered him, we be Abraham's ſeed, and were never in bondage to any man: how ſayeſt thou, Ye ſhall be made free? 34 Jeſus anſwered them, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, Whoſoever committeth ſin, is the ſervant of ſin. 35 And the ſervant abideth not in the houſe for ever: but the Son abideth ever. 36 If the Son therefore ſhall make you free, ye ſhall be free indeed. 37 I know that ye are Abraham's ſeed, but ye ſeek to kill me, becauſe my word hath no place in you.

We have in theſe Verſes,

Firſt, A comfortable Doctrine laid down concerning the Spiritual Liberty of Chriſt's Diſciples, intended for the Encouragement of thoſe Jews which believed. Chriſt knowing that his Doctrine began to work upon ſome of his Hearers, and perceiving that Virtue had gone out of him, turned his Diſcourſe from the proud Phariſees, and addreſſed himſelf to thoſe weak Believers; then when he had denounced Wrath againſt thoſe that were hardened in Unbelief, then he ſpoke Comfort to thoſe few feeble Jews which believed in him. See here, 1. How graciouſly the Lord Jeſus looks to thoſe that tremble at his Word, and are ready to receive it; he hath ſomething to ſay to thoſe who have hearing Ears, and will not paſs by thoſe who ſet themſelves in his way, without ſpeaking to them. 2. How carefully he cheriſheth the Beginnings of Grace, and meets thoſe that are coming towards him. Theſe Jews that believed, were yet but weak; but Chriſt did not therefore caſt them off, for he gathers the Lambs in his Arms. When Faith is in its Infancy, he hath Knees to prevent it, Breaſts for it to ſuck, that it may not die from the Womb.

In what he ſaid to them, we have two Things, which he ſaith to all that ſhould at any time believe.

1. The Character of a true Diſciple of Chriſt, If ye continue in my Word, then are ye my Diſciples indeed. When they believed on him as the great Prophet, they gave up themſelves to be his Diſciples. Now at their Entrance into his School, he lays down this for a ſettled Rule, that he would own none for his Diſciples, but thoſe that continued in his Word. 1. It is implied that there are many who profeſs themſelves Chriſt's Diſciples, that are not his Diſciples indeed; but only in Shew and Name. 2. It highly concerns thoſe that are not ſtrong in Faith, yet to ſee to it that they be ſound in the Faith; that tho' they be not Diſciples of the higheſt Form, yet that they be Diſciples indeed. 3. Thoſe that ſeem willing to be Chriſt's Diſciples, ought to be told that they had as good never come to him, unleſs they come with a Reſolution, by his Grace, to abide by him. Let thoſe that have Thoughts of covenanting with Chriſt, have no Thoughts of reſerving a Power of Revocation. Children are ſet to School and bound Apprentices only for a few Years; but thoſe only are Chriſt's, that are willing to be bound to him for Term of Life. 4. They only that continue in Chriſt's Word, ſhall be accepted as his Diſciples indeed, that adhere to his Word in every Inſtance, without Partiality, and abide by it to the End, without Apoſtacy. 'Tis μενεῖν, to dwell in Chriſt's Word, as a Man doth at home, which is his Centre, and Reſt, and Refuge. Our Converſe with the Word, and Conformity to it, muſt be conſtant. If we continue Diſciples to the laſt, then, and not otherwiſe, we approve ourſelves Diſciples indeed.

2. The Privilege of a true Diſciple of Chriſt. Here are two precious Promiſes made to thoſe who thus approve themſelves Diſciples indeed, v. 32.

(1.) Ye ſhall know the Truth, ſhall know all that Truth, which it is needful and profitable for you to know, and ſhall be more confirm'd in the Belief of it, ſhall know the Certainty of it. Note, 1. Even thoſe who are true Believers and Diſciples indeed, yet may be, and are much in the dark, concerning many Things which they ſhould know. God's Children are but Children, and underſtand and ſpeak as Children. Did we not need to be taught, we ſhould not need to be Diſciples. 2. It is a very great Privilege to know the Truth; to know the particular Truths which we are to believe in their mutual Dependencies and Connexions, and the Grounds and Reaſons of our Belief. To know what is Truth, and what proves it to be ſo. 3. It is a gracious Promiſe of Chriſt to all who continue in his Word, that they ſhall know the Truth as far as it is needful and profitable for them; Chriſt's Scholars are ſure to be well taught.

2. The Truth ſhall make you free. That is, (1.) The Truth which Chriſt teacheth, tends to make Men free, Iſa. 61. 1. Juſtification make us free from the Guilt of Sin, by which we were bound over to the Judgment of God, and bound under amazing Fears; Sanctification makes us free from the Bondage of Corruption, by which we were reſtrained from that Service which is perfect Freedom, and conſtrained to that which is perfect Slavery. Goſpel Truth frees us from the Yoke of the Ceremonial Law, and the more grievous Burthens of the Traditions of the Elders. It makes us free from our ſpiritual Enemies, free in the Service of God, free to the Privileges of Sons, and free of the Jeruſalem which is from above, which is free. (2.) The knowing, entertaining, and believing of this Truth, doth actually make us free, free from Prejudices, Miſtakes, and falſe Notions, than which nothing doth more enſlave and entangle the Soul; free from the Dominion of Luſt and Paſſion, and reſtores the Soul to the Government of itſelf, by reducing it into Obedience to its Creator. The Mind, by admitting the Truth of Chriſt in the Light and Power, is vaſtly enlarged, and hath Scope and Compaſs given it, is greatly elevated and raiſed above things of Senſe, and never acts with ſo true a Liberty, as when it acts under a Divine Command, 2 Cor. 3. 17. The Enemies of Chriſtianity pretend to Free-thinking, whereas really thoſe are the freeſt Reaſonings that are guided by Faith, and thoſe are Men of free Thoughts, whoſe Thoughts are captivated and brought into Obedience to Chriſt.

Secondly, The Offence which the carnal Jews took at this Doctrine, and their Objection againſt it. Tho' it was a Doctrine that brought glad Tidings of Liberty to the Captives, yet they cavilled at it, v. 33. The Phariſees, who grudg'd this comfortable Word to them that believed, the Standers-by, who had no Part or Lot in this Matter, they thought themſelves reflected upon and affronted by the gracious Charter of Liberty, granted to them that believed; and therefore with a great deal of Pride and Envy they anſwered him, We Jews be Abraham's Seed, and therefore are Free-born, and have not loſt our Birth-right Freedom, we were never in Bondage to any Man, how ſayeſt thou then, to us Jews, ye ſhall be made free.

See here what it was that they were aggrieved at, 'twas an Innuendo in thoſe Words, Ye ſhall be made free; as if the Jewiſh Church and Nation were in ſome ſort of Bondage, which reflected on the Jews in general; and as if all that did not believe in Chriſt, continued in that Bondage, which reflected on the Phariſees in particular. Note, The Privileges of the Faithful are the Envy and Vexation of Unbelievers, Pſal. 112. 10.

2. See what it was that they alledged againſt it; whereas Chriſt intimated that they needed to be made free, they urge, 1. We be Abraham's Seed, and Abraham was a Prince, and a great Man; tho' we live in Canaan, we are not deſcended from Canaan, nor under his Doom, a Servant of Servants ſhall be be; we hold in Franck-almoign, and not in Villenage. 'Tis common for a ſinking decaying Family to boaſt of the Glory and Dignity of its Anceſtors, and to borrow Honour from that Name to which they repay Diſgrace; ſo the Jews here did. But this was not all: Abraham was in Covenant with God, and his Children by his Right, Rom. 11. 28. Now that Covenant no doubt was a Free-Charter, and inveſted them in Privileges not conſiſtent with a State of Slavery, Rom. 9. 4. And therefore they think they had no occaſion with ſo great a Sum, as they reckoned Faith in Chriſt to be, to obtain this Freedom, when they were thus Free-born. Note, It is the common Fault and Folly of thoſe that have pious Parentage and Education, to truſt to it, and boaſt of it, as if it would attone for the want of real Holineſs. They were Abraham's Seed; but what would that avail them, when we find one in Hell, that could call Abraham Father? Saving Benefits are not like common Privileges convey'd by Entail to us and our Iſſue, nor can a Title to Heaven be made by De- ſcent, neither may we claim as Heirs at Law, by making out our Pedigree ; our Title is purely by Purchaſe, not our own, but our Redeemer's for us, under certain Proviſo's and Limitations, which if we do not obſerve, it will not avail us to be Abraham's Seed. Thus many when they are preſs'd with the Neceſſity of Regeneration, turn it off with this, we are the Church's Children ; but they are not all Iſrael, which are of Iſrael. 2. We were never in Bondage to any Man. Now obſerve, 1. How falſe this Allegation was. I wonder how they could have the Confidence to ſay a Thing in the Face of a Congregation, which was ſo notoriouſly untrue ; was not the Seed of Abraham in Bondage to the Egyptians ? Were they not oft in Bondage to the Neighbour Nations in the time of the Judges ? Were they not ſeventy Years Captives in Babylon ? Nay, were they not at this time Tributaries to the Romans, and tho' not in a Perſonal, yet in a National Bondage to them, and groaning to be made free ? And yet to confront Chriſt, they have the Impudence to ſay, We were never in Bondage. Thus they would expoſe Chriſt to the ill Will both of the Jews, who were very jealous for the Honour of their Liberty ; and of the Romans, who would not be thought to enſlave the Nations they conquered. 2. How fooliſh the Application was. Chriſt had ſpoken of a Liberty wherewith the Truth would make them free, which muſt be meant of a ſpiritual Liberty, for Truth as it is the enriching, ſo it is the enfranchiſing of the Mind, and the enlarging of that from the Captivity of Error and Prejudice ; and yet they plead againſt the Offer of ſpiritual Liberty, that they were never in corporal Thraldom : as if becauſe they were never in Bondage to any Man, they were never in Bondage to any Luſt. Note, Carnal Hearts are ſenſible of no other Grievances but thoſe that moleſt the Body, and diſtreſs the ſecular Affairs. Talk to them of Encroachments upon their Civil Liberty and Property, tell them of Waſte committed upon their Lands, or Damage done to their Houſes, and they underſtand you very well, and can give you a ſenſible Anſwer ; the thing toucheth them, and affects them : but diſcourſe to them of the Bondage of Sin, a Captivity to Satan, and a Liberty by Chriſt ; tell them of wrong done to their precious Souls, and the Hazard of their eternal Welfare, and you bring certain ſtrange things to their Ears ; they ſay of it, as they did, Ezek. 20. 49. Doth he not ſpeak Parables ? This here was much like the Blunder Nicodemus made about being born again.

Thirdly, Our Saviour's Vindication of this Doctrine from theſe Objections, and the further Explication of it, v. 34—37. where he doth theſe four Things.

1. He ſhews that notwithſtanding their civil Liberties, and their viſible Church-Memberſhip, yet it was poſſible they might be in a State of Bondage, v. 34. Whoſoever commits Sin, tho' he be of Abraham's Seed, and never in Bondage to any Man, yet he is the Servant of Sin. Obſerve, Chriſt doth not upbraid them with the Falſhood of their Plea, or their preſent Bondage, but further explains what he had ſaid for their Edification. Thus Miniſters ſhould with Meekneſs inſtruct thoſe that oppoſe them, that they may recover themſelves, not with Paſſion provoke them to entangle themſelves yet more. Now here,

(1.) The Preface is very ſolemn, Verily verily I ſay unto you ; an awful Aſſeveration, which our Saviour oft uſed to command a reverend Attention and a ready Aſſent. The Style of the Prophets was, Thus ſaith the Lord, for they were faithful as Servants ; but Chriſt being a Son, ſpeaks in his own Name, I ſay unto you, I the Amen, the faithful Witneſs, he pawns his Veracity upon it : I ſay it to you, who boaſt of your Relation to Abraham, as if that would ſave you.

(2.) The Truth is of Univerſal Concern, tho' here delivered upon a particular Occaſion, Whoſoever committeth Sin, is the Servant of Sin, and ſadly wants to be made free. A State of Sin is a State of Bondage.

1. See who it is on whom this Brand is faſtened, on him that commits Sin ; πᾶς ὁ ποιῶν ἁμαρτίαν, every one that makes Sin. There is not a juſt Man upon Earth, that lives and ſins not ; yet every one that ſins, is not a Servant of Sin, for then God would have no Servants ; but he that makes Sin, that makes Choice of Sin, prefers the Way of Wickedneſs before the Way of Holineſs, Jer. 44. 16, 17. That makes a Covenant with Sin, enters into League with it, and makes a Marriage with it ; and makes Contrivances of Sin, makes Proviſion for the Fleſh, and deviſeth Iniquity ; and that makes a Cuſtom of Sin, who walks after the Fleſh, and makes a Trade of Sin.

2. See what the Brand is, which Chriſt faſtens upon them that thus commit Sin ; he ſtigmatizeth them, gives them a Mark of Servitude. They are Servants of Sin ; impriſoned under the Guilt of Sin, under an Arreſt, in hold for it, concluded under Sin, and they are ſubject to the Power of Sin. He is a Servant of Sin, i. e. he makes himſelf ſo, and is ſo accounted ; he hath ſold himſelf to work Wickedneſs ; his Luſts give Law to him, he is at their Beck, and is not his own Maſter. He doth the Work of Sin, ſupports its Intereſt, and accepts its Wages, Rom. 6. 16.

2. He ſhews them, that being in a State of Bondage, their having a Room in the Houſe of God, would not entitle them to the Inheritance of Sons, for v. 35. The Servant, tho' he be in the Houſe for a while, yet being but a Servant, abideth not in the Houſe for ever. Services (we ſay) are no Inheritances, they are but temporary, and not for a Perpetuity ; but the Son of the Family abideth ever. Now, 1. This points primarily at the Rejection of the Jewiſh Church and Nation ; Iſrael had been God's Son, his Firſt-born, but they wretchedly degenerated into a ſervile Diſpoſition, were enſlaved to the World and the Fleſh ; and therefore tho' by virtue of their Birth-right, they thought themſelves ſecure of their Church-Memberſhip, Chriſt tells them, that having thus made themſelves Servants, they ſhould not abide in the Houſe for ever. Jeruſalem, by oppoſing the Goſpel of Chriſt, which proclaimed Liberty, and adhering to the Sinai Covenant, which gender'd to Bondage, after its Term was expired, came to be in Bondage with her Children, Gal. 4. 24, 25. and therefore was unchurched and disfranchiz'd, her Charter ſeiz'd, and taken away, and ſhe was caſt out as the Son of the Bond-woman, Gen. 21. 20. Chryſoſtom gives this Senſe of this Place, Think not to be made free from Sin by the Rites and Ceremonies of the Law of Moſes, for Moſes was but a Servant, and had not that perpetual Authority in the Church, which the Son had ; but if the Son make you free, 'tis well, v. 36. But, 2. It looks further to the Rejection of all that are the Servants of Sin, and receive not the Adoption of the Sons of God ; tho' thoſe unprofitable Servants may be in God's Houſe a while, as Retainers to his Family ; yet there is a Day coming, when the Children of the Bond-woman and the Free ſhall be diſtinguiſhed. True Believers only, who are the Children of the Promiſe, and of the Covenant, are accounted free, and ſhall abide for ever in the Houſe, as Iſaac : They ſhall have a Nail in the Holy Place on Earth, Jer. 9. 8. and Manſions in the Holy Place in Heaven, John 14. 12.

3. He ſhews them the way of Deliverance out of this State of Bondage, into the glorious Liberty of the Children of God, Rom. 8. 21. The Caſe of thoſe that are the Servants of Sin is ſad, but thanks be to God it is not helpleſs, it is not hopeleſs. As it is the Privilege of all the Sons of the Family, and their Dignity above the Servants, that they abide in the Houſe for ever ; ſo he, who is the Son, the Firſt-born of many Brethren, and the Heir of all Things, he has a Power, both of Manumiſſion and of Adoption ; v. 6. If the Son ſhall make ye free, you ſhall be free indeed.

Note, 1. Jeſus Chriſt in the Goſpel offers us our Freedom ; he has Authority and Power to make free. (1.) To diſcharge Priſoners ; this he doth in Juſtification, by making Satisfaction for our Guilt, on which the Goſpel Offer is grounded ; which is to all, a conditional Act of Indemnity, and to all true Believers, upon their believing, an abſolute Charter of Pardon : and for our Debts, for which we were by the Law arreſted and in Execution ; Chriſt is our Surety, or rather our Bail, (for he was not originally bound with us, but upon our Inſolvency bound for us) compounds with the Creditor, anſwers the Demands of injured Juſtice with more than an Equivalent, takes the Bond and Judgment into his own Hands, and gives them up cancelled to all that by Faith and Repentance give him (if I may ſo ſay) a counter Security to ſave his Honour harmleſs, and ſo they are made free, and from the Debt, and every Part thereof, they are for ever acquitted, exonerated, and diſcharged, and a general Releaſe ſealed of all Actions and Claims ; whilſt againſt thoſe who refuſe to come up to theſe Terms, the Securities lie ſtill in the Redeemer's hands in full Force. (2.) He has a Power to reſcue Bond-ſlaves, and this he doth in Sanctification ; by the powerful Arguments of his Goſpel, and the powerful Operations of his Spirit, he breaks the Power of Corruption in the Soul, rallies the ſcattered Forces of Reaſon and Virtue, and fortifies God's Intereſt againſt Sin and Satan, and ſo the Soul is made free. (3.) He has a Power to naturalize Strangers and Foreigners, and this he doth in Adoption. This is a farther Act of Grace, we are not only forgiven and healed, but preferr'd, there's a Charter of Privileges as well as Pardon, and thus the Son makes us free Denizens of the Kingdom of Prieſts, the Holy Nation, the New Jeruſalem.

2. Thoſe whom Chriſt makes free, are free indeed. It is not ἀληθῶς, the Word uſed, v. 31. for Diſciples indeed, but ὄντως, really. It notes, 1. The Truth and Certainty of the Promiſe ; the Liberty which the Jews boaſted of, was an imaginary Liberty, they boaſted of a falſe Gift ; but the Liberty which Chriſt gives is a certain thing, 'tis real, and has real Effects ; the Servants of Sin promiſe themſelves Liberty, and fancy themſelves free, when they have broke Religion's Bands aſunder ; but they cheat themſelves, none are free indeed, but thoſe whom Chriſt makes free. 2. It notes the ſingular Excellency of the Freedom promiſed ; 'tis a Fredom that deſerves the Name, in compariſon with which all other Liberties are no better than Slaveries, ſo much doth it turn to the Honour and Advantage of thoſe that are made free by it. 'Tis a glorious Liberty. 'Tis that which is : (ſo ὄντως ſignifies) 'tis Subſtance, Prov. 8. 21. while the Things of the World are Shadows ; Things that are not.

4. He applies this to theſe unbelieving cavilling Jews. In anſwer to their Boaſts of Relation to Abraham, v. 37. I know very well, that ye are Abraham's Seed, but now ye ſeek to kill me, and therefore have forfeited the Honour of your Relation to Abraham, becauſe my Word hath no place in you. Obſerve here,

1. The Dignity of their Extraction allowed them, I know that ye are Abraham's Seed ; every one knows it, and it is your Honour nour. He grants them what was true, and in what they ſaid that was falſe, that they were never in Bondage to any, he doth not contradict them, for he ſtudy'd to profit them, and not to provoke them, and therefore ſaid that which would pleaſe them; I know that ye are Abraham's Seed. They boaſted of their Deſcent from Abraham, as that which aggrandiz'd their Names, and made them exceeding honourable, whereas really it did but aggravate their Crimes, and make them exceeding ſinful. Out of their own Mouths will he judge vain-glorious Hypocrites, who boaſt of their Parentage and Education: Are you Abraham's Seed, why then did you not tread in the Steps of his Faith and Obedience?

2. The Diſagreeableneſs of their Practice with this Dignity; But ye ſeek to kill me. They had attempted it ſeveral times, and were now deſigning it, which quickly appear'd, v. 59. when they took up Stones to caſt at him. Chriſt knows all the Wickedneſs, not only which Men do, but which they ſeek and deſign, and endeavour to do. To ſeek to kill any innocent Man, is a Crime black enough, but to compaſs and imagine the Death of him that was King of Kings, was a Crime which we want Words to expreſs the Heinouſneſs of.

3. The Reaſon of this Inconſiſtency; why were they that were Abraham's Seed, ſo very inveterate againſt Abraham's promiſed Seed, in whom they and all the Families of the Earth ſhould be bleſſed; our Saviour here tells them, 'tis becauſe my Word hath no place in you, οὐ χωρεῖ ἐν ὑμῖν, Non capit in nobis, ſo the Vulgar; my Word doth not take with you, you have no Inclination to it, no Reliſh of it, other Things are more taking, more pleaſing. Or, it doth not take hold of you, it hath no Power over you, makes no Impreſſion upon you. Some of the Criticks read it, My Word doth not penetrate into you; it deſcended as the Rain, but it came upon them as the Rain upon the Rock, which it runs off, and did not ſoak into their Hearts, as the Rain upon the plowed Ground. The Syriac reads it, Becauſe ye do not acquieſce in my Word; you are not perſuaded of the Truth of it, nor pleaſed with the Goodneſs of it. Our Tranſlation is very ſignificant, it has no place in you. They ſought to kill him, and ſo effectually to ſilence him, not becauſe he had done them any harm, but becauſe they could not bear the convincing commanding Power of his Word. Note, 1. The Words of Chriſt ought to have a Place in us, the innermoſt and uppermoſt Place; a dwelling Place, as a Man at home, and not as a Stranger or Sojourner; a working Place, it muſt have room to operate, to work Sin out of us, and to work Grace in us; it muſt have a ruling Place, its Place muſt be upon the Throne, it muſt dwell in us richly. 2. There are many that make a Profeſſion of Religion, in whom the Word of Chriſt has no Place; they will not allow it a Place, for they do not like it; Satan doth all he can to diſplace it; and other things poſſeſs the Place it ſhould have in us. 3. Where the Word of God has no Place, no good is to be expected, for room is left there for all Wickedneſs. If the unclean Spirit find the Heart empty of Chriſt's Word, he enters in and dwells there.

38 I ſpeak that which I have ſeen with my Father: and ye do that which ye have ſeen with your Father. 39 They anſwered and ſaid unto him, Abraham is our father. Jeſus ſaith unto them, If ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham.
40 But now ye ſeek to kill me, a man that hath told you the truth, which I have heard of God: this did not Abraham. 41 Ye do the deeds of your father.
Then ſaid they to him, We be not born of fornication;
we have one Father, even God. 42 Jeſus ſaid unto them, If God were your Father, ye would love me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God; neither came I of my ſelf, but he ſent me. 43 Why do ye not underſtand my ſpeech? even becauſe ye cannot hear my word. 44
Ye are of your father the devil; and the luſts of your father ye will do: he was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, becauſe there is no truth in him. When he ſpeaketh a lye, he ſpeaketh of his own: for he is a lyar, and the father of it. 45 And becauſe I tell you of the truth, ye believe me not. 46 Which of you convinceth me of ſin? And if I ſay the truth, why do ye not believe me? 47 He that is of God, heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, becauſe ye are not of God.

Here Chriſt and the Jews are ſtill at it; he ſets himſelf to convince and convert them, while they ſtill ſet themſelves to contradict and oppoſe him.

1. He here traceth the Difference between his Sentiments and theirs, to a different Riſe and Original; v. 38. I ſpeak that which I have ſeen with my Father, and ye do what ye have ſeen with the Father. Here are two Fathers ſpoken of according to the two Families, into which the Sons of Men are divided, God and the Devil; and without Controverſy theſe are contrary the one to the other.

(1.) Chriſt's Doctrine was from Heaven, 'twas copied out of the Councils of infinite Wiſdom, and the kind Intentions of eternal Love. (1.) I ſpeak that which I have ſeen. The Diſcoveries Chriſt has made us, of God and another World, are not grounded upon Gueſs and Hearſay, but upon ocular Inſpection; ſo that he was thoroughly appriz'd of the Nature, and aſcertain'd of the Truth of all he ſaid. He that is given to be a Witneſs to the People, is an Eye-witneſs, and therefore unexceptionable (2.) 'Tis what I have ſeen with my Father. The Doctrine of Chriſt is not a plauſible Hypotheſis, ſupported by probable Arguments, but 'tis an exact Counterpart of the uncontestable Truths lodged in the eternal Mind. 'Twas not only what he had heard from his Father, but what he had ſeen with him, when the Counſel of Peace was between them both. Moſes ſpake what he heard from God, but he might not ſee the Face of God; Paul had been in the third Heaven, but what he had ſeen there, he could not, he muſt not utter; for it was Chriſt's Prerogative to have ſeen what he ſpoke, and to ſpeak what he had ſeen.

(2.) Their Doings were from Hell; Ye do that which ye have ſeen with your Father. Ye do by your own Works father yourſelves, for it is evident whom ye reſemble, and therefore eaſy to find out your Original. As a Child that is train'd up with his Father, learns his Father's Words and Faſhions, and grows like him by an affected Imitation, as well as by a natural Image; ſo theſe Jews, by their malicious Oppoſition to Chriſt and the Goſpel, made themſelves as like the Devil, as if they had induſtriouſly ſet him before them for their Pattern.

2. He takes off and anſwers their vain-glorious Boaſts of Relation to Abraham, and to God, as their Fathers, and ſhews the Vanity and Falſhood of their Pretenſions.

Firſt, They pleaded Relation to Abraham, and he reply'd to that Plea, They ſaid, Abraham is our Father, v. 39. In this they intended, (1.) To do Honour to themſelves, and to make themſelves look great. They had forgot the Mortification given them by that Acknowledgment preſcrib'd them, Deut. 26. 5. A Syrian ready to periſh was my Father. And the Charge exhibited againſt their degenerate Anceſtors (whoſe Steps they trod in, and not thoſe of the firſt Founder of the Family) Thy Father was an Amorite, and thy Mother a Hittite, Ezek. 16. 3. As it is common for thoſe Families that are ſinking and going to decay, to brag moſt of their Pedigree, ſo it is common for thoſe Churches that are corrupt and deprav'd, to value themſelves upon their Antiquity, and the Eminence of their firſt Planters; Fuimus Troes, fuit Ilium. (2.) They deſign'd to caſt an Odium upon Chriſt, as if he reflected upon the Patriarch Abraham, in ſpeaking of their Father, as one they had learn'd Evil from. See how they ſought an Occaſion to quarrel with him.

Now Chriſt overthrows this Plea, and diſcovers the Vanity of it, by a plain and cogent Argument; Abraham's Children will do the Works of Abraham, but ye do not do Abraham's Works, therefore ye are not Abraham's Children.

1. The Propoſition is plain, If ye were Abraham's Children, ſuch Children of Abraham, as could claim an Intereſt in the Covenant made with him and his Seed, which would indeed put an Honour upon you, then ye would do the Works of Abraham; for to thoſe only of Abraham's Houſe, who kept the Way of the Lord, as Abraham did, would God perform what he had ſpoken, Gen. 18. 19. Thoſe only are reckon'd the Seed of Abraham, to whom the Promiſe belongs, that tread in the Steps of his Faith and Obedience, Rom. 4. 12. Tho' the Jews had their Genealogies, and kept them exact, yet they could not by them make out their Relation to Abraham, ſo as to take the Benefit of the old Entail, (per Formam Doni) unleſs they walk'd in the ſame Spirit. Good Womens Relation to Sarah is prov'd only by this, whoſe Daughters ye are as long as ye do well, and no longer, 1 Pet. 3. 6. Note, Thoſe who would approve themſelves Abraham's Seed, muſt not only be of Abraham's Faith, but do Abraham's Works, Jam. 2. 21, 22. muſt come at God's Call, as he did, muſt follow God whereever he leads them, muſt reſign their deareſt Comforts to him, muſt be Strangers and Sojourners in this World, muſt keep up the Worſhip of God in their Families, and always walk before God in their Uprightneſs, for theſe were the Works of Abraham.

2. The Aſſumption is evident likewiſe; But ye do not do the Works of Abraham, for ye ſeek to kill me, a Man that has told you the Truth, which I have heard of God; this did not Abraham, v. 40.

(1.) He ſhews them what their Work was; their preſent Work, which they were now about; they ſought to kill him; and three things are intimated as an Aggravation of their Intention. (1.) They were ſo unnatural as to ſeek the Life of a Man, a Man like themſelves, Bone of their Bone, and Fleſh of their Fleſh, who had done them no harm, nor given them any Provocation. Ye imagine Miſchief againſt a Man, Pſal. 62. 3. (2.) They were ſo ungrateful as to ſeek the Life of one that had told them the Truth, had not only done them no Injury, but done them the greateſt Kindneſs that could be; had not only not impos'd upon them with a Lye, but had inſtructed them in the moſt neceſſary and important Truths; was he therefore become their Enemy? (3.) They were ſo ungodly as to ſeek the Life of one that told them the Truth, which he had heard from God, who was a Meſſenger ſent from God to them, ſo that their Attempt againſt him was quaſi Deicidium, an Act of Malice againſt God himſelf. This was their Work, and they perſiſted in it.

(2.) He ſhews them that this did not become the Children of Abraham, for this did not Abraham. 1. He did nothing like this. He was famous for his Humanity, witneſs his Reſcue of the Captives: and for his Piety, witneſs his Obedience to the heavenly Viſion in many Inſtances, and ſome tender ones. Abraham believed God, theſe were obſtinate in Unbelief: Abraham followed God, theſe fought againſt him; ſo that he would be ignorant of them, and would not acknowledge them, they were ſo unlike him, Iſa. 63. 16. ſee Jer. 22. 15, 16, 17. 2. He would not have done thus if he had liv'd now, or I had lived then. Hoc Abraham non feciſſet, ſo ſome read it. We ſhould thus reaſon ourſelves out of any way of Wickedneſs; would Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob have done ſo? We cannot expect to be ever with them, if we be never like them.

3. The Concluſion follows of courſe, v. 41. Whatever your Boaſts and Pretenſions be, you are not Abraham's Children, but father yourſelves upon another Family, v. 41. There is a Father whoſe Deeds you do, whoſe Spirit ye are of, and whom ye reſemble. He doth not yet ſay plainly that he means the Devil, till they by their continued Cavils forc'd him ſo to explain himſelf; which teacheth us to treat even bad Men with Civility and Reſpect, and not to be forward to ſay that of them, or to them, which tho' true, ſounds harſh. He try'd whether they would ſuffer their own Conſciences to infer from what he ſaid, that they were the Devil's Children; and 'tis better hear it from them now we are call'd to repent, that is, to change our Father, and change our Family, by changing our Spirit and Way, than hear it from Chriſt in the great Day.

Secondly, So far were they from owning their unworthineſs of Relation to Abraham, that they plead Relation to God himſelf as their Father: We be not born of Fornication, we are not Baſtards, but legitimate Sons; we have one Father, even God.

1. Some underſtand this literally. They were not the Sons of the Bondwoman, as the Iſhmaelites were; nor begotten in Inceſt, as the Moabites and Ammonites were, Deut. 23. 3. nor were they a ſpurious Brood in Abraham's Family, but Hebrews of the Hebrews; and being born in lawful Wedlock, they might call God Father, who inſtituted that honourable Eſtate in Innocency: For a legitimate Seed not tainted with Divorces, or the plurality of Wives, is called a Seed of God, Mal. 3. 15.

2. Others take it figuratively. They begin to be aware now, that Chriſt ſpoke of a ſpiritual, not a carnal Fatherhood; of the Father of their Religion, and ſo,

1. They deny themſelves to be a Generation of Idolaters; we be not born of Fornication, are not the Children of Idolatrous Parents, nor have been bred up in Idolatrous Worſhips. Idolatry is often ſpoken of as ſpiritual Whoredom, and Idolaters as Children of Whoredoms, Hoſ. 2. 4. Jer. 57. 3. Now if they mean that they were not the Poſterity of Idolaters, the Allegation was falſe, for no Nation was more addicted to Idolatry than the Jews before the Captivity: If they mean no more, but that they themſelves were not Idolaters, what then? A Man may be free from Idolatry, and yet periſh in another Iniquity, and be ſhut out of Abraham's Covenant. If thou commit no Idolatry (apply it to this ſpiritual Fornication) yet if thou kill, thou art become a Tranſgreſſor of the Covenant. A Rebellious, Prodigal Son will be diſinherited, tho' he be not born of Fornication.

2. They boaſt themſelves to be true Worſhippers of the true God. We have not many Fathers, as the Heathens had, Gods many, and Lords many, and yet were without God; as Filius Populi has many Fathers, and yet none certain; no, the Lord our God is one Lord, and one Father, and therefore 'tis well with us. Note, Thoſe flatter themſelves, and put a damning Cheat upon their own Souls, who imagine that their profeſſing the true Religion, and worſhipping the true God will ſave them, tho' they worſhip not God in the Spirit and in Truth, nor are true to their Profeſſion.

Now our Saviour gives a full Anſwer to this fallacious Plea, v. 42, 43. and proves by Two Arguments that they had no Right to call God Father.

1. They did not love Chriſt: If God were your Father, you would love me. He had diſproved their Relation to Abraham, by their going about to kill him, v. 40. but here he diſproves their Relation to God, by their not loving and owning him; a Man may paſs for a Child of Abraham, if he do not appear an Enemy to Chriſt by groſs Sin; but he cannot approve himſelf a Child of God, unleſs he be a faithful Friend and Follower of Chriſt. Note, All that have God for their Father, have a true Love to Jeſus Chriſt, an Eſteem of his Perſon, a grateful Senſe of his Love, a ſincere Affection to his Cauſe and Kingdom, a Complacency in the Salvation wrought out by him, and in the Method and Terms of it, and a care to keep his Commandments, which is the ſureſt Evidence of our Love to him. We are here in a State of Probation, upon our Trial, how we will carry ourſelves towards our Maker, and accordingly it will be with us in the State of Retribution; God has taken various Methods to prove us, and this was one; he ſent his Son into the World with ſufficient Proofs of his Sonſhip and Miſſion, concluding that all that called him Father would kiſs his Son, and bid him Welcome, who was the Firſt-born among many Brethren; ſee 1 John 5. 1. By this our Adoption will be proved, or diſprov'd, did we love Chriſt or not: If any Man do not, he is ſo far from being a Child of God, that he is Anathema, accurſed, 1 Cor. 16. 22.

Now our Saviour proves, that if they were God's Children they would love him, for (ſaith he) I proceeded forth and came from God. They will love him, for,

(1.) He was the Son of God; I proceeded forth from God, ἐξῆλθον; this means his Divine 'Εξελευσις, or Original from the Father by the Communication of the Divine Eſſence, and alſo the Union of the Divine λογος to his human Nature, ſo Dr. Whitby. Now this could not but recommend him to the Affections of all that were born of God. Chriſt is called the Beloved, becauſe being the beloved of the Father, he is certainly the beloved of all the Saints, Eph. 1. 6.

(1.) He was ſent of God, came from him as an Ambaſſador to the World of Mankind. He did not come of himſelf, as the falſe Prophets, who had not either their Miſſion, or their Meſſage, from God, Jer. 23. 21. Obſerve the Emphaſis he lays upon this, I came from God, neither came I myſelf, but he ſent me; he had both his Credentials and his Inſtructions from God; he came to gather together in one the Children of God, Joh. 11. 52. to bring many Sons to Glory, Heb. 2. 10. And would not all God's Children embrace with both Arms a Meſſenger ſent from their Father on ſuch Errands? But theſe Jews made it appear they were nothing a-kin to God, by their want of Affection to Jeſus Chriſt.

2. They did not underſtand him. 'Twas a Sign they did not belong to God's Family, that they did not underſtand the Language and Dialect of the Family: Ye do not underſtand my Speech, v. 43. τὴν λαλιὰν τὴν ἡμην. Chriſt's Speech was Divine and heavenly, but intelligible enough to thoſe that were acquainted with the Voice of Chriſt in the Old Teſtament; thoſe that had made the Word of the Creator familiar to them, need no other Key to the Dialect of the Redeemer; and yet theſe Jews make ſtrange of the Doctrine of Chriſt, and find Knots in it, and I know not what ſtumbling Stones. Could a Galilean be known by his Speech? An Ephraimite by his Sibboleth? And would any have the Confidence to call God Father, to whom the Son of God was a Barbarian, even when he ſpoke the Will of God in the Words of the Spirit of God? Note, Thoſe who are not acquainted with the Divine Speech, have reaſon to fear that they are Strangers to the Divine Nature. Chriſt ſpoke the Words of God (John 3. 34.) in the Dialect of the Kingdom of God; and yet they who pretended to belong to the Kingdom, underſtood not the Idioms and Properties of it, but like Strangers, and rude ones too, ridicul'd it.

And the Reaſon why they did not underſtand Chriſt's Speech, made the Matter much worſe, even becauſe ye cannot hear my Word, i. e. ye cannot perſuade yourſelves to hear it attentively, impartially, and without Prejudice, as it ſhould be heard. The meaning of this cannot, is an obſtinate will not; as the Jews could not hear Stephen, Acts 7. 57. nor Paul, Acts 22. 22. Note, The rooted Antipathy of Mens corrupt Hearts to the Doctrine of Chriſt is the true Reaſon of their Ignorance of it, and their Errors and Miſtakes about it. They do not like it, nor love it, and therefore they will not underſtand it; like Peter, who pretended he knew not what the Damſel ſaid, (Mat. 26. 70.) when in truth he knew not what to ſay to it. Ye cannot hear my Words, for you have ſtopped your Ears, Pſal. 58. 4, 5. and God in a way of righteous Judgment has made your Ears heavy, Iſa. 6. 10.

3. Having thus diſproved their Relation, both to Abraham and to God, he comes next to tell them plainly whoſe Children they were; ye are of your Father the Devil, v. 44. If they be not God's Children, they are the Devil's, for God and Satan divide the World of Mankind; the Devil is therefore ſaid to work in the Children of Diſobedience, Eph. 2. 2. All wicked People are the Devil's Children, Children of Belial, 2 Cor. 6. 15. The Serpent's Seed, Gen. 3. 15. Children of the wicked one, Mat. 13. 38. They partake of his Nature, bear his Image, obey his Commands, and follow his Example. Idolaters ſaid to a Stock, thou art my Father, Jer. 2. 27.

This is a high Charge, and ſounds very harſh and horrid, that any of the Children of Men, eſpecially the Church's Children, ſhould be call'd Children of the Devil; and therefore our Saviour fully proves it,

1. By a general Argument, The Luſts of your Father you will do, θέλετε ποιεῖν. 1. You do the Devil's Luſts, the Luſts which he would have you to fulfil; you gratify and pleaſe him, and comply with his Temptations, and are led Captives by him at his Will. Nay, you do thoſe Luſts which the Devil himſelf fulfils. Fleſhly Luſts, and worldly Luſts, the Devil tempts Men to; but being a Spirit, he cannot fulfil them himſelf. The peculiar Luſts of the Devil, are ſpiritual Wickedneſſes, the Luſts of the intellectual Powers, and their corrupt Reaſons; Pride and Envy, and Wrath, and Malice; Enmity to that which is Good, and enticing others to that which is Evil; theſe are Luſts which the Devil fulfils, and thoſe who are under the Dominion of theſe Luſts, reſemble the Devil, as the Child doth the Parent. The more there is of Contemplation and Contrivance, and ſecret Complacency in Sin, the more it reſembles the Luſts of the Devil. 2. You will do the Devil's Luſts: The more there is of the Will in theſe Luſts, the more there is of the Devil in them. When Sin is committed of Choice, and not by Surprize, with Pleaſure, and not with Reluctancy, when 'tis perſiſted in with a daring Preſumption, and a deſperate Reſolution, like theirs that ſaid, We have loved Strangers, and after them we will go; then the Sinner will do the Devil's Luſts. The Luſts of your Father you delight to do; ſo Dr. Hammond, they are rolled under the Tongue as a ſweet Morſel.

2. By two particular Inſtances, wherein they manifeſtly reſembled the Devil, Murder and Lying. The Devil is an Enemy to Life, becauſe God is the God of Life, and Life is the Happineſs of Man; and an Enemy to Truth, becauſe God is the God of Truth, and Truth is the Bond of human Society.

1. He was a Murderer from the Beginning, not from his own Beginning, for he was created an Angel of Light, and had a firſt Eſtate, which was pure and good, but from the Beginning of his Apoſtacy, which was ſoon after the Creation of Man, he was ἀνθρωπόκτονος, Homicida, a Manſlayer. 1. He was a Hater of Man, and ſo in Affection and Diſpoſition a Murderer of him. He has his Name, Satan, from Sitnah, Hatred. He maligned God's Image upon Man, envied his Happineſs, and earneſtly deſired his Ruin, was an avowed Enemy to the whole Race. (2.) He was Man's Tempter to that Sin which brought Death into the World, and ſo he was effectually the Murderer of all Mankind, which in Adam had but one Neck. He was a Murderer of Souls, deceived them into Sin, and by it ſlew them, Rom. 7. 11. poiſon'd Man with the forbidden Fruit, and to aggravate the Matter, made him his own Murderer. Thus he was not only at the Beginning, but from the Beginning, which intimates that thus he has been ever ſince; as he began, ſo he continues, the Murderer of Men by his Temptations. The great Tempter is the great Deſtroyer. The Jews called the Devil, The Angel of Death. 3. He was the firſt Wheel in the firſt Murder that ever was committed by Cain, who was of that wicked One, and ſlew his Brother, 1 John 3. 12. If the Devil had not been very ſtrong in Cain, he could not have done ſuch an unnatural thing, as to kill his own Brother. Cain killing his Brother by the Inſtigation of the Devil, the Devil is called the Murderer, which doth not ſpeak Cain's perſonal Guilt the leſs, but the Devil's the more; whoſe Torments we have reaſon to think will be the greater, when the Time comes, for all that Wickedneſs which he has drawn Men into. See what reaſon we have to ſtand upon our Guard againſt the Wiles of the Devil, and never to hearken to him, for he is a Murderer, and certainly aims to do us a Miſchief, even when he ſpeaks fair; and to wonder that he, who is the Murderer of the Children of Men, ſhould yet be, by their own Conſent, ſo much their Maſter.

Now herein theſe Jews were Followers of him, and were Murderers like him; Murderers of Souls, which they led blindfold into the Ditch, and made the Children of Hell, ſworn Enemies to Chriſt, and now ready to be his Betrayers and Murderers, for the ſame reaſon that Cain killed Abel. Theſe Jews were that Seed of the Serpent, that were to bruiſe the Heel of the Seed of the Woman; now ye ſeek to kill me.

2. He was a Lyar. A Lye is oppoſed to Truth, 1 John 2. 21. and accordingly the Devil is here deſcribed to be,

1. An Enemy to Truth; and therefore to Chriſt.

(1.) He is a Deſerter from the Truth; he abode not in the Truth, did not continue in the Purity and Rectitude of his Nature, wherein he was created, but left his firſt State; when he degenerated from Goodneſs, he departed from Truth; for his Apoſtacy was founded in a Lye. The Angels were the Hoſts of the Lord, thoſe that fell, were not true to their Commander and Sovereign, they were not to be truſted, being charged with Folly and Defection, Job 4. 18. By the Truth here we may underſtand the revealed Will of God, concerning the Salvation of Man by Jeſus Chriſt, the Truth which Chriſt was now preaching, and which the Jews oppoſed; herein they did like their Father the Devil, who ſeeing the Honour put upon the human Nature, in the firſt Adam, and foreſeeing the much greater Honour intended it in the ſecond Adam, would not be reconciled to that Counſel of God, nor ſtand in the Truth concerning it, but from a Spirit of Pride and Envy, ſet himſelf to reſiſt it, and to thwart the Deſigns of it, and ſo did theſe Jews here, as his Children and Agents.

(2.) He is deſtitute of the Truth; There is no Truth in him. His Intereſt in the World is ſupported by Lyes and Falſhoods, and there is no Truth, nothing you can confide in, in him, nor in any thing he ſaith or doth. The Notions he propagates concerning Good and Evil, are falſe and erroneous; his Proofs are lying Wonders, his Temptations are all Cheats; he has great Knowledge of the Truth, but having no Affection to it, but on the contrary, being a ſworn Enemy to it, he is ſaid to have no Truth in him.

2. He is a Friend and Patron of Lying. When he ſpeaketh a Lye, he ſpeaketh of his own. Three Things are here ſaid of the Devil, with reference to the Sin of Lying.

1. That he is a Lyar; his Oracles were lying Oracles, his Prophets lying Prophets, and the Images in which he was worſhipped Teachers of Lyes; he tempted our firſt Parents with a downright Lye; all his Temptations are carry'd on by Lyes, calling Evil Good, and Good Evil, and promiſing Impunity in Sin; he knows them to be Lyes, and ſuggeſts them with an Intention to deceive, and ſo to deſtroy. When he now contradicted the Goſpel in the Scribes and Phariſees, it was by Lyes; and when afterwards he corrupted it in the Man of Sin, it was by ſtrong Deluſions, and a great complicated Lye.

2. That when he ſpeaketh a Lye, he ſpeaketh of his own, ἐκ τῶν ἰδίων. It is the proper Idiom of his Language; of his own, not of God; his Creator never put it into him. When Men ſpeak a Lye, they borrow it from the Devil, Satan fills their Hearts to lye, Acts 5. 3. But when the Devil ſpeaks a Lye, the Model of it is of his own framing, the Motives to it from himſelf, which ſpeaks the deſperate Depth of Wickedneſs, into which thoſe Apoſtate Spirits are ſunk; as in their firſt Defection they had no Tempter, ſo their Sinfulneſs is ſtill their own.

3. That he is the Father of it, ἀυτȣ̃. (1.) He is the Father of every Lye; not only of the Lyes which he himſelf ſuggeſts, but of thoſe which others ſpeak; he is the Author and Founder of all Lyes; when Men ſpeak Lyes, they ſpeak from him, and as his Mouth, they come originally from him, and bear his Image. (2.) He is the Father of every Lyar; ſo it may be underſtood. God made Men with a Diſpoſition to Truth, 'tis congruous to Reaſon and Natural Light, to the Order of our Faculties, and the Laws of Society, that we ſhould ſpeak Truth; but the Devil, the Author of Sin, the Spirit that works in the Children of Diſobedience, hath ſo corrupted the Nature of Man, that the Wicked are ſaid to be eſtranged from the Womb, ſpeaking Lyes, Pſal. 58. 3. he hath taught them with their Tongues to uſe Deceit, Rom. 3. 13. He is the Father of Lyars, that begat them, that trained them up in the Way of Lying, whom they reſemble and obey, and with whom all Lyars ſhall have their Portion for ever. Chriſt having thus proved all Murderers, and all Lyars, to be the Devil's Children, he leaves it to the Conſciences of his Hearers to ſay, Thou art the Man.

But he comes, in the following Verſes, to aſſiſt them in the Application of it to themſelves; he doth not call them Lyars, but ſhews them that they were no Friends to Truth, and therein reſembled him, who abode not in the Truth, becauſe there is no Truth in him.

Two Things he chargeth upon them.

1. That they would not believe the Word of Truth, ver. 45. ὅτι τὴν ἀλήθειαν λεγω ȣ̓ πιϛέυετέ μοι. Two Ways it may be taken, (1.) Tho I tell you the Truth, yet you will not believe me (ὅτι) that I do ſo. Tho he gave abundant Proof of his Commiſſion from God, and his Affection to the Children of Men, yet they would not believe that he told them the Truth. Now was Truth fallen in the Street, and could not enter, Iſa. 59. 14, 15. The greateſt Truths with ſome gained not the leaſt Credit; for they rebelled againſt the Light, Job 24. 13. Or, (2.) Becauſe I tell you the Truth, (ſo we read it) therefore ye believe me not. They would not receive him, nor entertain him as a Prophet, becauſe he told them ſome unpleaſing Truths, which they did not care to hear of; told them the Truth, concerning themſelves and their own Caſe; ſhewed them their Faces in a Glaſs, that would not flatter them; therefore they would not believe a word he ſaid. Miſerable is the Caſe of thoſe, to whom the Light of Divine Truth is become a Torment.

Now to ſhew them the Unreaſonableneſs of their Infidelity, he condeſcends to put the Matter to this fair Iſſue, v. 46. He and they being contrary, either he was in an Error, or they were. Now take it either way.

1. If he were in an Error, why did not they convince him? The Falſhood of pretending Prophets was diſcover'd either by the ill Tendency of their Doctrines, Deut. 13. 2. or by the ill Tenor of their Converſation, Ye ſhall know them by their Fruits; but (ſaith Chriſt) which of you, you of the Sanhedrin, that take upon you to judge of Prophets, which of you convinceth me of Sin? They accuſed him of ſome of the worſt of Crimes, Gluttony, Drunkenneſs, Blaſphemy, Sabbath-breaking, Confederacy with Satan, and what not? But they were all malicious groundleſs Calumnies, and ſuch as every one that knew him, knew to be utterly falſe. When they had done their utmoſt by Trick and Artifice, Subornation and Perjury, to prove ſome Crime upon him, the very Judge that condemn'd him, own'd he found no fault in him.

The Sin he here challengeth them to convict him of, is, (1.) An inconſiſtent Doctrine. They had heard his Teſtimony, could they ſhew any thing in it abſurd, or unworthy to be believed; any Contradiction, either of himſelf, or of the Scriptures, or any Corruption of Truth, or Manners inſinuated by his Doctrine? John 18. 20. Or, (2.) An incongruous Converſation. Which of you can juſtly charge me with any thing in Word or Deed, unbecoming a Prophet? See the wonderful Condeſcenſion of our Lord Jeſus, that he demanded not Credit any further, than the allowed Motives of Credibility ſupport his Demands. See Jer. 2. 5, 33. Mic. 6. 3. Miniſters may from hence learn, (1.) To walk ſo circumſpectly, as that it may not be in the Power of their moſt ſtrict Obſervers to convince them of Sin, that the Miniſtry be not blamed. The only way not to be convicted of Sin, is not to ſin. (2.) To be willing to admit a Scrutiny, tho we are confident in many things that we are in the right, yet we ſhould be willing to have it try'd whether we be not in the wrong. See Job 6. 24.

2. If they were in an Error, why were not they convinced by him? If I ſay the Truth, why do ye not believe me? If you cannot convince me of Error, you muſt own that I ſay the Truth, and why do ye not then give me Credit? Why will ye not deal with me upon Truſt? Note, If Men would but enquire into the Reaſons of their Infidelity, and examine why they do not believe that which yet they cannot gainſay, they would find themſelves reduced to ſuch Abſurdities, as they could not but be aſhamed of; for it will be found, that the Reaſon why we believe not in Jeſus Chriſt, is, becauſe we are not willing to part with our Sins, and deny ourſelves, and ſerve God faithfully; that we are not of the Chriſtian Religion, becauſe we would not indeed be of any; and Unbelief of our Redeemer reſolves itſelf into a downright Rebellion againſt our Creator.

2. Another thing charged upon them is, that they would not hear the Words of God, v. 47. which further ſhews how groundleſs their Claim of Relation to God was. Here's,

1. A Doctrine laid down. He that is of God, heareth God's Words; that is, (1.) He is willing and ready to hear them, is ſincerely deſirous to know what the Mind of God is, and chearfully embraceth whatever he knows to be ſo. God's Words have ſuch an Authority over, and ſuch an Agreeableneſs with all that are born of God, that they meet them, as the Child Samuel did, with Speak, Lord, for thy Servant heareth. Let the Word of the Lord come. (2.) He apprehends and diſcerns them; he ſo hears them, as to perceive the Voice of God in them, which the natural Man doth not, 1 Cor. 2. 14. He that is of God, is ſoon aware of the Diſcoveries he makes of himſelf, of the Nearneſs of his Name, Pſal. 75. 1. As they of the Family know the Maſter's Tread, and the Maſter's Knock, and open to him immediately, Luke 12. 36. As the Sheep know the Voice of their Shepherd from that of a Stranger, John 10. 35. Cant. 2. 8.

2. The Application of this Doctrine for the Conviction of theſe unbelieving Jews, Ye therefore heard them not; that is, ye heed not, ye underſtand not, ye believe not the Words of God, nor care to hear them, becauſe ye are not of God. Your being thus deaf and dead to the Words of God, is a plain Evidence that ye are not of God. 'Tis in his Word that God manifeſts himſelf, and is preſent among us, we are therefore reckoned to be well or ill affected to God, according as we are well or ill affected to his Word; ſee 2 Cor. 4. 4. 1 John 4. 6. Or, their not being of God was the Reaſon why they did not profitably hear the Words of God, which Chriſt ſpoke; therefore they did not underſtand and believe him, not becauſe the Things themſelves were obſcure, or wanted Evidence, but becauſe the Hearers were not of God, were not born again. If the Word of the Kingdom do not bring forth Fruit, the Blame is to be laid upon the Soil, not upon the Seed, as appears by the Parable of the Sower, Mat. 13. 3.

48 Then anſwered the Jews, and ſaid unto him, Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and haſt a devil? 49 Jeſus anſwered, I have not a devil; but I honour my Father, and ye do diſhonour me. 50 And [illegible]ek not mine own glory: there is one that ſeeketh and judgeth.

Here's, 1. The Malice of Hell breaking out in the baſe Language, which the unbelieving Jews gave to our Lord Jeſus. Hitherto they had cavilled at his Doctrine, and had made invidious Remarks upon that; but having ſhewed themſelves uneaſy, when he complained, v. 43, 47. that they would not hear him, now at length they fall to downright Railing, v. 48. They were not the common People, but as it ſhould ſeem, the Scribes and Phariſees, the topping Men, who, when they ſaw themſelves convicted of an obſtinate Infidelity, ſcornfully turned off the Conviction with this, Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritan, and haſt a Devil? See here, ſee it and wonder, ſee it and tremble.

1. What was the blaſphemous Character commonly given of our Lord Jeſus, among the wicked Jews, to which they refer.

(1.) That he was a Samaritan, i. e. that he was an Enemy to their Church and Nation, one that they hated, and could not endure. Thus they expoſed him to the Ill-Will of all the People, with whom you could not put a Man into a worſe Name, than to call him a Samaritan. If he had been a Samaritan, he had been puniſhable, by the beating of the Rebels (as they called it) for coming into the Temple. They had often called him a Galilean, a mean Man; but as if that were not enough, tho it contradicted the other, they will have him a Samaritan, an ill Man. The Jews, to this day, call the Chriſtians in Reproach, Cuthæi, Samaritans. Note, Great Endeavours have, in all Ages, been uſed to make good People odious, by putting them under black Characters, and it's eaſy to run that down with a Crowd and a Cry, which it once put into an ill Name. Perhaps, becauſe Chriſt juſtly inveighed againſt the Pride and Tyranny of the Prieſts and Elders, they hereby ſuggeſt that he aimed at the Ruin of their Church, in aiming at its Reformation, and was falling away to the Samaritans.

(2.) That he had a Devil. Either, (1.) That he was in league with the Devil; having reproached his Doctrine, as tending to Samaritaniſm, here they reflect upon his Miracles, as done in Combination with Beelzebub. Or rather, (2.) That he was poſſeſſed with a Devil, that he was a melancholy Man, whoſe Brain was clouded, or a mad Man, whoſe Brain was heated, and that which he ſaid was no more to be believed, than the extravagant Rambles of a diſtracted Man, or one in a Delirium. Thus the Divine Revelation of thoſe Things, which are above the Diſcovery of Reaſon, have been oft branded with the Charge of Enthuſiaſm, and the Prophet was called a mad Fellow, 2 Kings 9. 11. Hoſ. 9. 7. The Inſpiration of the Pagan Oracles and Prophets was indeed a Frenzy, and thoſe that had it, were for the Time beſide themſelves; but that which was truly Divine, was nothing ſo. Wiſdom is juſtified of her Children, as Wiſdom indeed.

2. How they undertook to juſtify this Character, and applied it to the preſent Occaſion, Say we not well that thou art ſo? One would think his excellent Diſcourſes ſhould have altered their Opinion of him, and have made them recant; but inſtead of that, their Hearts were more hardened, and their Prejudices confirmed. They value themſelves by their Enmity to Chriſt, as if they had never ſpoken better, than when they ſpoke the worſt they could of Jeſus Chriſt. Thoſe have arrived to the higheſt Pitch of Wickedneſs, who avow their Impiety, repeat what they ſhould retract, and juſtify themſelves in that, for which they ought to condemn themſelves. It is bad to ſay and do ill, but it is worſe to ſtand to it. I do well to be angry. When Chriſt ſpoke with ſo much Boldneſs againſt the Sins of the great Men, and thereby incenſed them againſt him, they who were ſenſible of no Intereſt but what is ſecular and ſenſual, concluded him beſide himſelf, for they think none but a mad Man will loſe his Preferment, and hazard his Life for his Religion and Conſcience.

2. Here's the Meekneſs and Mercifulneſs of Heaven, ſhining in Chriſt's Reply to this vile Calumny, v. 45, 50.

1. He denies their Charge againſt him, I have not a Devil; as Paul, Acts 26. 25. I am not mad. The Imputation is unjuſt, I am neither acted by a Devil, nor in compact with one; and this he evidenced, by what he did againſt the Devil's Kingdom. He takes no notice of their calling him a Samaritan, becauſe it was a Calumny that diſproved itſelf, 'twas a perſonal Reflection, and not worth taking notice of; but ſaying he had a Devil, reflected on his Commiſſion, and therefore he anſwered that. St. Auguſtin gives this Deſcant upon his not ſaying any thing to their calling him a Samaritan, that he was indeed that good Samaritan ſpoken of in the Parable, Luke 10. 35.

2. He aſſerts the Sincerity of his own Intentions; but I honour my Father. They ſuggeſted that he took undue Honours to himſelf, and derogated from the Honour due to God only; both which he denies here in ſaying, that he made it his Buſineſs to honour his Father, and him only. It alſo proves that he had not a Devil, for if he had, he would not honour God. Note, They who can truly ſay they make it their conſtant Care to honour God, are ſufficiently armed againſt the Cenſures and Reproaches of Men.

3. He complains of the Wrong they did him by their Calumnies; Ye do diſhonour me. By this it appears, that as Man, he had a tender Senſe of the Diſgrace and Indignity done him, Reproach was a Sword in his Bones, and yet he underwent it for our Salvation. It is the Will of God, that all Men ſhould honour the Son, yet there are many that diſhonour him; ſuch a Contradiction is there in the carnal Mind to the Will of God. Chriſt honoured his Father ſo as never Man did, and yet was himſelf diſhonoured ſo as never Man was; for tho God has promiſed that thoſe that honour him, he will honour, he never promiſed that Men ſhould honour him.

4. He clears himſelf from the Imputation of Vain-Glory, in ſaying this concerning himſelf, v. 50. See here,

(1.) His Contempt of worldly Honour, I ſeek not mine own Glory, he did not aim at that in what he had ſaid of himſelf, or againſt his Perſecutors; he did not court the Applauſe of Men, nor covet Preferment in the World, but induſtriouſly declined both. He did not ſeek his own Glory, diſtinct from his Father's, nor had any ſeparate Intereſt of his own. For Men to ſearch their own Glory, is not Glory indeed, Prov. 25. 27. but their Shame rather, to be ſo much out in their Aim. This comes in here as a Reaſon, why Chriſt made ſo light of their Reproaches; You do diſhonour me, but cannot diſturb me, ſhall not diſquiet me, for I ſeek not mine own Glory. Note, Thoſe that are dead to Mens Praiſe, can ſafely bear their Contempt.

(2.) His Comfort under worldly Diſhonour; There is one that ſeeketh and judgeth. In Two Things Chriſt made it appear he ſought not his own Glory, and here he tells us what ſatisfied him as to both. (1.) He did not court Mens Reſpects, but was indifferent to them; and in Reference to this he ſaith, There is one that ſeeketh, that will ſecure and advance my Intereſt in the Eſteem and Affections of the People, while I am in no Care about it. Note, God will ſeek their Honour, that do not ſeek their own; for before Honour is Humility. (2.) He did not revenge Mens Affronts, but was unconcerned at them; and in reference to this, he ſaith, There is one that judgeth, that will vindicate my Honour, and ſeverely reckon with thoſe that trample upon it; probably he refers here to the Judgments that were coming upon the Nation of the Jews, for the Indignities they did to the Lord Jeſus. See Pſal. 38. 13, 14, 15. I heard not, for thou wilt hear. If we undertake to judge for ourſelves, whatever Damage we ſuſtain, our Amends is in our own Hands; but if we be as we ought to be, humble Appellants and patient Expectants, we ſhall find to our Comfort, there is one that judgeth.

51 Verily, verily I ſay unto you, If a man keep my ſaying, he ſhall never ſee death. 52 Then ſaid the Jews unto him, Now we know that thou haſt a devil.
Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and thou ſayeſt,
If a man keep my ſaying, he ſhall never taſte of death.
53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham which is dead? and the prophets are dead: whom makeſt thou thy ſelf? 54 Jeſus anſwered, If I honour my ſelf, my honour is nothing: it is my father that honoureth me, of whom ye ſay, that he is your God. 55 Yet ye have not known him; but I know him: and if I ſhould ſay, I know him not, I ſhould be a lyar like unto you: but I know him, and keep his ſaying.
56 Your father Abraham rejoiced to ſee my day, and he ſaw it, and was glad. 57 Then ſaid the Jews unto him, Thou art not yet fifty years old, and haſt thou ſeen Abraham? 58 Jeſus ſaid unto them, Verily, verily
I ſay unto you, Before Abraham was, I am. 59
Then took they up ſtones to caſt at him: but Jeſus hid himſelf, and went out of the temple, going through the midſt of them, and ſo paſſed by.

In theſe Verſes we have,

Firſt, The Doctrine of the Immortality of Believers laid down, v. 51. 'Tis uſher'd in with the uſual ſolemn Preface, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, which commands both Attention and Aſſent; and this is it he ſaith, If a Man keep my Sayings, he ſhall never ſee Death. Where we have,

1. The Character of a Believer, he is one that keeps the Sayings of the Lord Jeſus, τὸν λόγον τὸν ἐμὸν, my Word; that Word of mine which I have deliver'd to you; this we muſt not only receive, but keep; not only have, but hold. We muſt keep it in Mind and Memory, keep it in Love and Affection, ſo keep it as in nothing to violate it, or go contrary to it. Keep it without Spot, 1 Tim. 6. 19. keep it as a Truſt committed to us; keep in it as our Way, keep to it as our Rule.

2. The Privilege of a Believer, He ſhall by no means ſee Death for ever. So 'tis in the Original. Not as if the Bodies of Believers were ſecur'd from the Stroke of Death; no, even the Children of the moſt high muſt die like Men, and the Followers of Chriſt have been more than other Men, in Deaths oft, and killed all the Day long; how then is this Promiſe made good, that they ſhall not ſee Death? Anſ. 1. The Property of Death is ſo alter'd to them, that they do not ſee it as Death, they do not ſee the Terror of Death, it is quite taken off; their Sight doth not terminate in death, as their's doth who live by Senſe; no, they look ſo clearly, ſo comfortably through Death, and beyond Death, and are ſo taken up with their State on t'other ſide Death, that they overlook Death, and ſee it not. 2. The Power of Death is ſo broken, as that tho' there's no Remedy but they muſt ſee Death, yet they ſhall not ſee Death for ever, ſhall not be always ſhut up under its Arreſts; the Day will come when Death ſhall be ſwallowed up in Victory. 3. They are perfectly delivered from eternal Death, ſhall not be hurt of the ſecond Death. That's the Death eſpecially meant here, that Death which is for ever, which is oppos'd to everlaſting Life, this they ſhall never ſee, for they ſhall never come into Condemnation: They ſhall have their everlaſting Lot, where there will be no more Death, where they cannot die any more, Luke 20. 36. Tho' now they cannot avoid ſeeing Death, and taſting it too, yet they ſhall ſhortly be there where it will be ſeen no more for ever, Exod. 14. 13.

Secondly, The Jews cavil at this Doctrine. Inſtead of laying hold on this precious Promiſe of Immortality, which the Nature of Man has an Ambition of; who is there that doth not love Life, and dread the Sight of Death? They lay hold on this Occaſion to reproach him that makes them ſo kind an Offer; Now we know that thou haſt a Devil, Abraham is dead. Obſerve here,

1. Their Railing; Now we know that thou haſt a Devil, that thou art a mad Man, thou raveſt, and ſayeſt thou knoweſt not what. See how theſe Swine trample under foot the precious Pearls of Goſpel Promiſes. If now at laſt they had Evidence to prove him mad, why did they ſay, v. 48. before they had that Proof, thou haſt a Devil? But this is the Method of Malice, firſt to faſten an invidious Charge, and then to fiſh for Evidence of it; Now we know that thou haſt a Devil. If he had not abundantly prov'd himſelf a Teacher come from God, his Promiſes of Immortality to his credulous Followers might juſtly have been ridicul'd, and Charity itſelf would have imputed them to a craz'd Fancy; but his Doctrine was evidently Divine, his Miracles confirm'd it, and the Jews Religion taught them to expect ſuch a Prophet, and to believe in him: for them therefore thus to reject him, was to abandon that Promiſe, to which their twelve Tribes hoped to come, Acts 26. 7.

2. Their Reaſoning, and the Colour they had to run him down thus. In ſhort, they look upon him as guilty of an inſufferable Piece of Arrogance, in making himſelf greater than Abraham and the Prophets. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets, they are dead too; very true, by the ſame Token that theſe Jews were the genuine Offſpring of thoſe that kill'd them. Now, 1. It is true that Abraham and the Prophets were great Men, great in the Favour of God, and great in the Eſteem of all good Men. 2. It is true that they kept God's Sayings, and were obedient to them; and yet, 3. It is true they died, they never pretended to have, much leſs to give Immortality, but every one in his own Order was gather'd to his People. 'Twas their Honour that they died in Faith, but die they muſt. Why ſhould a good Man be afraid to die, when Abraham is dead, and the Prophets dead, they have track'd the Way through that darkſome Valley, which ſhould reconcile us to Death, and help to take off the Terror of it. Now they think Chriſt talks madly, when he ſaith, If a Man keep my Sayings, he ſhall never taſte Death. Taſting Death means the ſame thing with ſeeing it; and well may Death be repreſented as grievous to ſeveral of the Senſes, which is the Deſtruction of them all.

Now their Arguing goes upon two Miſtakes.

1. They underſtood Chriſt of an Immortality in this World, and that was a Miſtake. In the Senſe that Chriſt ſpoke, it was not true that Abraham and the Prophets were dead, for God is ſtill the God of Abraham, and the God of the holy Prophets, Rev. 22. 6. Now God is not the God of the Dead, but of the Living, therefore Abraham and the Prophets are ſtill alive, and as Chriſt meant it, they had not ſeen nor taſted Death.

2. They thought none could be greater than Abraham and the Prophets, whereas they could not but know that the Meſſiah would be greater than Abraham, or any of the Prophets, who did vertuouſly, but he excell'd them all; nay, they borrowed their Greatneſs from him. It was the Honour of Abraham, that he was the Father of the Meſſiah, and the Honour of the Prophets, that they teſtified before-hand concerning him; ſo that he certainly obtain'd a far more excellent Name than they. Therefore inſtead of inferring from Chriſt's making himſelf greater than Abraham, that he had a Devil, they ſhould have inferr'd from his proving himſelf ſo, by doing the Works which neither Abraham nor the Prophets ever did, that he was the Chriſt; but their Eyes were blinded.

They ſcornfully ask'd, Who makeſt thou thy ſelf? as if he had been guilty of Pride and Vain-glory; whereas he was ſo far from making himſelf greater than he was, that he now drew a Veil over his own Glory, emptied himſelf, and made himſelf leſs than he was, and was the greateſt Example of Humility that ever was.

Thirdly, Chriſt's Reply to this Cavil; ſtill he vouchſafes to reaſon with them, that every Mouth may be ſtopt. No doubt he could have ſtruck them dumb or dead upon the Spot, but this was the Day of his Patience.

1. In his Anſwer he inſiſts not upon his own Teſtimony concerning himſelf, but waves it as not ſufficient or concluſive, v. 54. If I honour myſelf, my Honour is nothing, ἐὰν ἐγὼ δοξάζω. If I glorify my ſelf. Note, Self-honour is no Honour; and the Affectation of Glory is both the Forfeiture and the Defeaſance of it, it is not Glory, Prov. 25. 27. but ſo great a Reproach, that there is no Sin which Men are more induſtrious to hide than this; he that moſt affects Praiſe, yet would not be thought to do it. Honour of our own creating is a meer Chimera, has nothing in it, and therefore is Vain-glory. Self-Admirers are Self-Deceivers. Our Lord Jeſus was not one that honoured himſelf, as they repreſented him; he was crowned by him who is the Fountain of Honour, and glorified not himſelf to be made a High Prieſt, Heb. 5. 4, 5.

2. But he refers himſelf to his Father, God; and to their Father, Abraham.

1. To his Father, God; It is my Father that honoureth me. By this he means, (1.) That he derived from his Father all the Honour he now claim'd; he had commanded them to believe in him, to follow him, and to keep his Word; all which put an Honour upon him; but it was the Father that laid Help upon him, that lodg'd all Fulneſs in him, that ſanctified him, and ſeal'd him, and ſent him into the World to receive all the Honours due to the Meſſiah, and this juſtified him in all theſe Demands of Reſpect. (2.) That he depended upon his Father for all the Honour he further look'd for; he courted not the Applauſes of the Age, but deſpis'd them, for his Eye and Heart were upon the Glory which the Father had promis'd him, and which he had with the Father before the World was. He aimed at an Advancement, with which the Father was to exalt him, a Name he was to give him, Phil. 2. 8, 9. Note, Chriſt and all that are his, depend upon God for their Honour; and he that is ſure of Honour where he is known, cares not tho' he be ſlighted where he is in Diſguiſe.

Appealing thus often to his Father, and his Father's Teſtimony of him, which yet the Jews did not admit or give credit to, he here takes occaſion to ſhew,

1. The Reaſon of their Incredulity, notwithſtanding this Teſtimony, and that was their Unacquaintedneſs with God; q. d. But what ſhould I talk to you of my Father's honouring me, when he is one you know nothing of. You ſay of him that he is your God, yet you have not known him. Where obſerve,

(1.) The Profeſſion they made of Relation to God; Ye ſay he is your God, the God you have choſen, and are in Covenant with; ye ſay ye are Iſrael, but all are not ſo indeed that are of Iſrael, Rom. 9. 6. Note, Many pretend to have an Intereſt in God, and ſay he is theirs, who yet have no juſt Cauſe to ſay ſo. They who call'd themſelves the Temple of the Lord, having profaned the Excellency of Jacob, did but truſt in lying Words. What will it avail us to ſay he is our God, if we be not in Sincerity his People, nor ſuch as he will own.

Chriſt mentions here their Profeſſion of Relation to God, as that which was an Aggravation of their Unbelief. All People will honour thoſe whom their God honours; but theſe Jews, who ſaid that the Lord was their God, yet ſtudy'd how to put the utmoſt Diſgrace upon one whom their God put Honour upon. Note, The Profeſſion we make of a Covenant Relation to God, and Intereſt in him, if it be not improved by us, will be improved againſt us.

(2.) Their Ignorance of him, and Eſtrangement from him, notwithſtanding this Profeſſion; Yet ye have not known him. 1. Ye know him not at all. Theſe Phariſees were ſo taken up with the Study of their Traditions concerning Things foreign and trifling, that they never minded the moſt needful and uſeful Knowledge; like the falſe Prophets of old, who cauſed People to forget God's Name by their Dreams, Jer. 23. 27. Or, 2. Ye know him not aright, but miſtake concerning him, and that's as bad as not knowing him at all, or worſe. Men may be able to diſpute ſubtilly concerning God, and yet may think him ſuch a one as themſelves, and not know him. Ye ſay he is yours, and 'tis natural to us to deſire to know our own, yet ye know him not. Note, There are many who claim Kindred to God, who yet have no Acquaintance with him. 'Tis only the Name of God which they have learn'd to talk of, and to hector with; but for the Nature of God, his Attributes and Perfections, and Relations to his Creatures, they know nothing of the Matter; we ſpeak this to their Shame, 1 Cor. 15. 34. Multitudes ſatisfy themſelves, but deceive themſelves, with a titular Relation to an unknown God.

This Chriſt chargeth upon the Jews here, (1.) To ſhew how vain and groundleſs their Pretenſions of Relation to God were. You ſay he is yours, but you give yourſelves the Lye, for 'tis plain you do not know him; and we reckon a Cheat is effectually convicted, if it be found that he is ignorant of the Perſons he pretends Alliance to. (2.) To ſhew the true Reaſon why they were not wrought upon by Chriſt's Doctrine and Miracles. They knew not God, and therefore perceived not the Image of God, nor the Voice of God in Chriſt. Note, The Reaſon why Men receive not the Goſpel of Chriſt, is becauſe they have not the Knowledge of God. Men therefore ſubmit not to the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, becauſe they are ignorant of God's Righteouſneſs, Rom. 10. 3. They that know not God, and obey not the Goſpel of Chriſt, are put together, 2 Theſ. 1. 8.

2. He gives them the Reaſon of his Aſſurance, that his Father would honour him and own him. But I know him; and again, I know him; which ſpeaks, not only his Acquaintance with him, having lain in his Boſom, but his Confidence in him, to ſtand by him, and bear him out in his whole Undertaking; as was propheſied concerning him, Iſa. 50. 7, 8. I know that I ſhall not be aſhamed, for he is near that juſtifies; and as Paul, I know whom I have believed, 2 Tim. 1. 12. I know him to be faithful, and powerful, and heartily engaged in the Cauſe which I know to be his own. Obſerve,

1. How he profeſſeth his Knowledge of his Father with the greateſt Certainty, as one that was neither afraid, nor aſham'd to own it; If I ſhould ſay I know him not, I ſhould be a Lyar like unto you. He would not deny his Relation to God to humour the Jews, and to avoid their Reproaches, and prevent further Trouble; nor would he retract what he had ſaid, nor confeſs himſelf either deceived, or a Deceiver; if he ſhould, he would be found a falſe Witneſs againſt God and himſelf. Note, They who diſown their Religion, and Relation to God, as Peter, are Lyars as much as Hypocrites are, who pretend to know him when they do not. See 1 Tim. 6. 13, 14. Mr. Clark obſerves well upon this, That it is a great Sin to deny God's Grace in us.

2. How he proves his Knowledge of his Father; I know him, and keep his Saying, or his Word. Chriſt as Man was obedient to the Moral Law; and as Redeemer, to the Mediatorial Law; and in both he kept his Father's Word, and his own Word with the Father. Chriſt requires of us, v. 51. that we keep his Sayings; and he hath ſet before us a Copy of Obedience, a Copy without a Blot, he kept his Father's Sayings; well might he who learned Obedience teach it; ſee Heb. 5. 8, 9. Chriſt by this evidenceth that he knew the Father. Note, The beſt Proof of our Acquaintance with God, is our Obedience to him. Thoſe only know God aright that keep his Word; 'tis a rul'd Caſe, 1 John 2. 3. Hereby we know that we know him, (and do not only fancy it) if we keep his Commandments.

2. Chriſt refers them to their Father whom they boaſted ſo much of a Relation to, and that was Abraham; and this cloſeth the Diſcourſe.

1. Chriſt aſſerts Abraham's Proſpect of him, and Reſpect to him, v. 56. Your Father Abraham rejoiced to ſee my Day, and he ſaw it and was glad. And by this he proves that he was not at all out of the way, when he made himſelf greater than Abraham.

Two Things he here ſpeaks of as Inſtances of that Patriarch's Reſpect to the promiſed Meſſiah.

1. The Ambition he had to ſee his Day, he rejoiced, ἠγαλλιάσατο, he leap'd at it. The Word, tho' it commonly ſignifies Rejoicing, yet here muſt ſignify rather a Tranſport of Deſire, than of Joy, for otherwiſe the latter part of the Verſe would be a Tautology, he ſaw it and was glad: He reach'd out, or ſtretch'd himſelf forth, that he might ſee my Day; as Zachæus that ran before and climb'd the Tree to ſee Jeſus. The Notices he had receiv'd of the Meſſiah to come, had rais'd in him an Expectation of ſomething great, which he earneſtly long'd to know more of. The dark Intimation of that which is conſiderable, puts Men upon Enquiry, and makes them earneſtly aſk who? And what? And where? And when? And how? And thus the Prophets of the Old Teſtament, having a general Idea of a Grace that ſhould come, ſearch'd diligently, 1 Pet. 1. 10. and Abraham was as induſtrious herein as any of them. God told him of a Land that he would give his Poſterity, and of the Wealth and Honour he deſigned them, Gen. 15. 14. but he never leap'd thus to ſee that Day, as he did to ſee the Day of the Son of Man. He could not look with ſo much Indifferency upon the promiſed Seed, as he did upon the promiſed Land; in that he was, but to the other he could not be contentedly a Stranger. Note, Thoſe who rightly know any Thing of Chriſt, cannot but be earneſtly deſirous to know more of him. Thoſe who diſcern the dawning of the Light of the Sun of Righteouſneſs, cannot but wiſh to ſee his riſing. The Myſtery of Redemption is that which Angels deſire to look into, much more ſhould we, that are more immediately concern'd in it. Abraham deſir'd to ſee Chriſt's Day, tho' it was at a great Diſtance, but this degenerate Seed of his diſcern'd not his Day, nor bid it welcome when it came. The appearing of Chriſt, which gracious Souls love, and long for; carnal Hearts dread and loath.

2. The Satisfaction he had in what he did ſee of it; He ſaw it, and was glad. Obſerve here,

1. How God gratified the pious Deſire of Abraham; he long'd to ſee Chriſt's Day, and he ſaw it. Tho' he ſaw it not ſo plainly, and fully, and diſtinctly as we now ſee it under the Goſpel, yet he ſaw ſomething of it, more afterwards than he did at firſt. Note, To him that hath, and to him that aſks, ſhall be given; to him that uſeth and improveth what he hath, and that deſireth and prayeth for more of the Knowledge of Chriſt, God will give more. But how did Abraham ſee Chriſt's Day? (1.) Some underſtand it of the Sight he had of it in the other World: The ſeparate Soul of Abraham, when the Vail of Fleſh was rent, ſaw the Myſteries of the Kingdom of God in Heaven. Calvin mentions this Senſe of it, and doth not much diſallow it. Note, The Longings of gracious Souls after Jeſus Chriſt will be fully ſatiſfied when they come to Heaven, and not till then. But, (2.) 'Tis more commonly underſtood of ſome Sight he had of Chriſt's Day in this World. They that received not the Promiſes, yet ſaw them afar of, Heb. 11. 13. Balaam ſaw Chriſt, but not now, not nigh. There is room to conjecture that Abraham had ſome Viſion of Chriſt and his Day for his own private Satiſfaction, which is not, nor muſt be recorded in his Story, like that of Daniel's, which muſt be ſhut up, and ſealed unto the Time of the End, Dan. 12. 4. Chriſt knew what Abraham ſaw better than Moſes did. But there are divers things recorded, in which Abraham ſaw more of that which he longed to ſee, than he did when the Promiſe was firſt made to him. He ſaw in Melchizedech one made like unto the Son of God, and a Prieſt for ever; he ſaw an appearance of Jehovah, attended with two Angels in the Plains of Mamre. In the Prevalency of his Interceſſion for Sodom, he ſaw a Specimen of Chriſt's Interceſſion; in the caſting out of Iſhmael, and the Eſtabliſhment of the Covenant with Iſaac, he ſaw a Figure of the Goſpel-Day, which is Chriſt's Day; for theſe Things were an Allegory. In Offering Iſaac, and the Ram inſtead of Iſaac, he ſaw a double Type of the great Sacrifice; and his calling the Place Jehovah jireh, it ſhall be ſeen, intimates that he ſaw ſomething more in it than others did, which Time would produce: And in making his Servant put his Hand under his Thigh, when he ſwore, he had a regard to the Meſſiah.

2. How Abraham entertained theſe Diſcoveries of Chriſt's Day, and bid them welcome; He ſaw and was glad. He was glad of what he ſaw of God's Favour to himſelf, and glad of what he foreſaw of the Mercy God had in ſtore for the World. Perhaps this refers to Abraham's laughing when God aſſured him of a Son by Sarah, Gen. 17. 16, 17. for that was not the Laughter of diſtruſt, as Sarah's, but of Joy; in that Promiſe he ſaw Chriſt's Day, and it fill'd him with Joy unſpeakable. Thus he embrac'd the Promiſes. Note, A believing Sight of Chriſt and his Day, will put Gladneſs into the Heart. No Joy like the Joy of Faith; we are never acquainted with true Pleaſure till we are acquainted with Chriſt.

2. The Jews cavil at this, and reproach him for it, v. 57. Thou art not yet Fifty years old, and haſt thou ſeen Abraham? Here, 1. They ſuppoſe that if Abraham ſaw him and his Day, he alſo had ſeen Abraham, which yet was not a neceſſary Innuendo, but this Turn of his Words would beſt ſerve to expoſe him; yet it was true that Chriſt had ſeen Abraham, and had talk'd with him as a Man talks with his Friend. 2. They ſuppoſe it a very abſurd Thing for him to pretend to have ſeen Abraham, who was dead ſo many Ages before he was born. The State of the Dead is an inviſible State; but here they run upon the old Miſtake, underſtanding that corporally which Chriſt ſpoke ſpiritually: Now this gave them occaſion to deſpiſe his Youth, and to upbraid him with it, as if he were but of Yeſterday, and knew nothing; Thou art not yet Fifty Years old: They might as well have ſaid, thou art not Forty; for he was now but Thirty-two or Thirty-three Years old. As to this, Irenæus, one of the firſt Fathers, with this Paſſage ſupports the Tradition, which he ſaith he had from ſome that had convers'd with St. John, that our Saviour liv'd to be Fifty Years old, which he contends for, Adverſ. Hæreſ. l. 2. c. 39, 40. See what little Credit is to be given to Tradition; and as to this here, the Jews ſpoke at random; ſome Year they would mention, and therefore pitch'd upon one that they thought he was far enough ſhort of; he did not look to be Forty, but they were ſure he could not be Fifty, much leſs co-temporary with Abraham. Old Age is reckon'd to begin at Fifty, Num. 4. 47. ſo that they mean no more, but thou art not to be reckon'd an old Man; many of us are much thy Seniors, and yet pretend not to have ſeen Abraham. Some think that his Countenance was ſo alter'd with Grief, and Watching, that together with the Gravity of his Aſpect, it made him look like a Man of Fifty Years old: His Viſage was ſo marred, Iſa. 52. 14.

3. Our Saviour gives an effectual Anſwer to this Cavil, by a ſolemn aſſerting of his own Seniority, even to Abraham himſelf, ver. 58. Verily, verily I ſay unto you; I do not only ſay it in private to my own Diſciples, who will be ſure to ſay as I ſay, but to you my Enemies and Perſecutors; I ſay it to your Faces, take it how you will, Before Abraham was, I am; πρὶν Ἀβραὰμ γενέσθαι ἐγὼ εἰμι, Before Abraham was made or born I am. The Change of the World is obſervable, and ſpeaks Abraham a Creature, and himſelf the Creator, well therefore might he make himſelf greater than Abraham; before Abraham he was. (1.) As God. I am is the Name of God, Exod. 3. 14. it ſpeaks his Self-Exiſtence; he doth not ſay I was, but I am, for he is the firſt and the laſt, immutably the ſame, Rev. 1. 8. thus he was not only before Abraham, but before all Worlds, Prov. 8. 23. John 1. 1. (2.) As Mediator. He was the appointed Meſſiah long before Abraham; the Lamb ſlain from the Foundation of the World, Rev. 13. 8. the Channel of Conveyance of Light, Life, and Love from God to Man. This ſuppoſeth his Divine Nature, that he is the ſame in himſelf from Eternity, Heb. 13. 8. and adds that he is the ſame to Man ever ſince the Fall; he was made of God, Wiſdom, Righteouſneſs, Sanctification, and Redemption to Adam, and Abel, and Enoch, and Noah, and Shem, and all the Patriarchs that liv'd and dy'd by Faith in him before Abraham was born. Abraham was the Root of the Jewiſh Nation, the Rock out of which they were hewn. If Chriſt was before Abraham, his Doctrine and Religion was no Novelty, but was in the Subſtance of it prior to Judaiſm, and ought to take Place of it.

4. This great World ended the Diſpute abruptly, and put a Period to it; they could bear to hear no more from him, and he needed to ſay no more to them, having witneſſed this good Confeſſion, which was ſufficient to ſupport all his Claims. One would think Chriſt's Diſcourſe, in which ſhone ſo much both of Grace and Glory, ſhould have captivated them all; but their inveterate Prejudice againſt the holy, ſpiritual Doctrine, and Law of Chriſt, which were ſo contrary to their Pride and Worldlineſs, baffled all the Methods of Conviction. Now was fulfill'd that Prophecy, Mal. 3. 1, 2. that when the Meſſenger of the Covenant ſhould come to his Temple, they would not abide the Day of his coming, becauſe he would be like a Refiner's Fire. Obſerve here,

1. How they were enrag'd at Chriſt for what he ſaid; They took up Stones to caſt at him, v. 59. Perhaps they look'd upon him as a Blaſphemer, and ſuch were indeed to be ſtoned, Lev. 24. 16. but they muſt firſt be legally try'd and convicted; farewel Juſtice and Order if every Man pretend to execute a Law at his Pleaſure: Beſides, they had ſaid but juſt now, that he was a diſtracted, crack'd-brain Man, and if ſo, it was againſt all Reaſon and Equity to puniſh him as a Malefactor for what he ſaid. They took up Stones. Dr. Lightfoot will tell you how they came to have Stones ſo ready in the Temple; they had Workmen at this Time repairing the Temple, or making ſome Additions, and the pieces of Stone which they hew'd off ſerved for this Purpoſe. See here the deſperate Power of Sin and Satan in and over the Children of Diſobediance. Who would think that ever there ſhould be ſuch a Wickedneſs as this in Men? Such an open and daring Rebellion againſt one that undeniably prov'd himſelf to be the Son of God: Thus every one has a Stone to throw at his Holy Religion, Acts 28. 22.

2. How he made his Eſcape out of their Hands.

1. He Abſconded; Jeſus hid himſelf, ἐκρύβη, He was hid, either by the Crowd of thoſe that wiſh'd well to him, to ſhelter him. He that ought to have been upon a Throne, high and lifted up, is content to be loſt in a Crowd. Or, perhaps, he conceal'd himſelf behind ſome of the Walls, or Pillers of the Temple; In the ſecret of his Tabernacle he ſhall hide me, Pſal. 27. 5. Or, by a Divine Power, caſting a Miſt before their Eyes, he made himſelf inviſible to them. When the Wicked riſe a Man is hidden, a wiſe and good Man, Prov. 28. 12, 18. Not that Chriſt was afraid, or aſhamed to ſtand by what he had ſaid, but his Hour was not yet come, and he would countenance the Flight of his Miniſters and People in Times of Perſecution, when they are call'd to it. The Lord hid Jeremiah and Baruch, Jer. 36. 26.

2. He departed; he went out of the Temple, going through the midſt of them undiſcovered, and ſo paſs'd by. This was not a cowardly inglorious Flight, nor ſuch as argued either Guilt or Fear. 'Twas foretold concerning him, that he ſhould not fail nor be diſcouraged, Iſa. 42. 4. But, 1. It was an Inſtance of his Power over his Enemies, and that they could do no more againſt him than he gave them leave to do; by which it appears, that when afterwards he was taken in their Pits, he offered himſelf, John 10. 18. They now thought they had him ſure, and yet he paſſed the midſt of them, either their Eyes blinded, or their Hands ty'd, and thus he left them to vex like a Lion diſappointed of his Prey. 2. 'Twas an Inſtance of his prudent Proviſion for his own Safety, when he knew his Work was not done, nor his Teſtimony finiſhed; thus he gave an Example to his own Rule, When they perſecute you in one City, flee to another; nay, if occaſion be, to a Wilderneſs; for ſo Elijah did, 1. Kings 14. 3, 4. and the Woman the Church, Rev. 12. 6. When they took up looſe Stones to throw at Chriſt, he could have commanded the fix'd Stones which did cry out of the Wall againſt them, to avenge his Cauſe, or the Earth to open and ſwallow them up; but he choſe to accomodate himſelf to the State he was in, to make the Example imitable by the Prudence of his Followers without a Miracle. 3. 'Twas the righteous deſerting of thoſe, that (worſe than the Gadarens who prayed him to depart) ſtoned him from among them. Chriſt will not long ſtay with thoſe that bid him be gone. Chriſt did again viſit the Temple after this, as one loth to depart; he bid oft farewell, but at laſt he abandon'd it for ever, and left it deſolate. Chriſt now went through the midſt of the Jews, and none of them courted his ſtay, or ſtir'd up themſelves to take hold on him, but were e'en content to let him go. Note, God never forſakes any till they have firſt provok'd him to withdraw, and will have none of him. Calvin obſerves, that theſe Chief Prieſts when they had driven Chriſt out of the Temple, valued themſelves by the Poſſeſſion they kept of it; but (ſaith he) thoſe deceive themſelves that are proud of a Church or Temple which Chriſt has forſaken; longe falluntur cum Templum ſe habere putant Deo vacuum. When Chriſt left them, 'tis ſaid he paſſed by, ſilently and unobſerv'd; παρῆγεν οὕτως, ſo that they were not aware of him. Note, Chriſt's Departures from a Church, or a particular Soul, are often ſecret, and not ſoon taken notice of. As the Kingdom of God comes not, ſo it goes not with Obſervation. See Judg. 16. 20. Sampſon wiſt not that the Lord was departed from him. Thus it was with theſe forſaken Jews, God left them, and they never miſs'd him.

CHAP. IX.

After Chriſt's Departure out of the Temple in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter, and before this happened, which is recorded in this Chapter, he had been for ſome Time Abroad in the Country, 'tis ſuppoſed about Two or Three Months; in which interval of Time Dr. Lightfoot, and other Harmoniſts place all the Paſſages that occur from Luke 10. 17. to Luke 13. 17. What is recorded, John 7. and 8. was at the Feaſt of Tabernacles in September: What is recorded in this and the following Chapter, was at the Feaſt of Dedication in December, ch. 10. 22. Mr. Clark, and others, place this immediately after the foregoing Chapter. In this Chapter we have, (1.) The miraculous Cure of a Man that was born blind, v. 1—7. (2.) The Diſcourſes which were occaſioned by it. (1.) A Diſcourſe of the Neighbours among themſelves, and with the Man, v. 8—12. (2.) Between the Phariſees and the Man, v. 13—34. (3.) Between Chriſt and the poor Man, v. 35—38. (4.) Between Chriſt and the Phariſees, v. 39. ad fin.

AND as Jeſus paſs'd by, he ſaw a man which was blind from his birth. 2 And his diſciples ask'd him, ſaying, Maſter, who did ſin, this man, or his Parents, that he was born blind? 3 Jeſus anſwered, Neither hath this man ſinned, nor his parents: but that the Works of God ſhould be made manifeſt in him. 4 I muſt work the works of him that ſent me, while it is day: the night cometh when no Man can work. 5 As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world. 6 When he had thus ſpoken, he ſpat on the ground, and made clay of the ſpittle, and he anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay. 7 And ſaid unto him, Go waſh in the pool of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and waſhed, and came ſeeing.

We have here Sight given to a poor Beggar that had been blind from his Birth. Obſerve, Firſt, The Notice which our Lord Jeſus took of the pitious Caſe of this poor blind Man; v. 1. As Jeſus paſſed by he ſaw a Man which was blind from his Birth. The firſt Words ſeem to refer to the laſt of the foregoing Chapter, and countenance their Opinion, who in the Harmony place this Story immediately after that. There 'twas ſaid, παρῆγεν, He paſſed by, and here, without ſo much as repeating his Name, tho' our Tranſlators ſupply it) ϗ παράγων, and as he paſſed by. (1.) Tho' the Jews had ſo baſely abuſed him, and both by Word and Deed gave him the higheſt Provocation imaginable, yet he did not ſlip any Opportunity of doing good among them, not take up a Reſolution, as juſtly he might have done, never to have favour'd them with any good Offices. The Cure of this blind Man was a Kindneſs to the Publick, enabling him to work for his Living, who before was a Charge and Burthen to the Neighbourhood. 'Tis noble and generous, and Chriſt-like, to be willing to ſerve the Publick, even when we are ſlighted and diſobliged by it, or think our ſelves ſo. (2.) Tho' he was in his Flight from a threatning Danger, and eſcaping for his Life, yet he willingly halted, and ſtaid a while to ſhew Mercy to this poor Man. We make more haſte than good ſpeed, when we out-run Opportunities of doing good. (3.) When the Phariſees drove Chriſt from them, he went to this poor blind Beggar. Some of the Ancients make this a Figure of the bringing of the Goſpel to the Gentiles, who ſat in Darkneſs, when the Jews had rejected it, and driven it from them. (4.) Chriſt took this poor blind Man in his way, and cured him in tranſitu, as he paſſed by. Thus ſhould we take Occaſions of doing good, even as we paſs by, where-ever we are.

Now, 1. The Condition of this poor Man was very ſad; he was blind, and had been ſo from his Birth. If the Light is ſweet, how melancholy muſt it needs be for a Man, all his Days, to eat in Darkneſs? He that is blind has no Enjoyment of the Light, but he that is born blind has no Idea of it: Methinks ſuch a one would give a great deal to have his Curioſity ſatisfied with but one Day's Sight of Light, and Colours, Shapes, and Figures, tho' he were never to ſee them more. Why is the Light of Life given to one that is in this Miſery, that is deprived of the Light of the Sun; whoſe Way is thus hid, and whom God hath thus hedg'd in? Job 3. 20, 23. Let us bleſs God that it was not our Caſe. The Eye is one of the moſt curious Parts of the Body, its Structure exceeding nice and fine. In the Formation of Animals, 'tis ſaid to be the firſt Parts that appears diſtinctly diſcernable. What a Mercy it was that there was no Miſcarriage in the making of ours. Chriſt cured many that were blind by Diſeaſe or Accident, but here he cured one that was born Blind. (1.) That he might give an Inſtance of his Power to help in the moſt deſperate Caſes, and to relieve when none elſe can. (2.) That he might give a Specimen of the Work of his Grace upon the Souls of Sinners, which gives Sight to thoſe that were by Nature blind.

2. The Compaſſions of our Lord Jeſus towards him were very tender. He ſaw him, i. e. he took Cognizance of his Caſe, and look'd upon him with Concern. When God is about to work Deliverance, he is ſaid to ſee the Affliction; ſo Chriſt ſaw this poor Man. Others ſaw him, but not as he did. This poor Man could not ſee Chriſt, but Chriſt ſaw him, and anticipated both his Prayers and Expectations with a ſurprizing Cure. Chriſt is often found of thoſe that ſeek him not, nor ſee him, Iſa. 65. 1. And if we know or apprehend any Thing of Chriſt, 'tis becauſe we were firſt known of him, Gal. 4. 9. and apprehended by him, Phil. 3. 12.

Secondly, The Diſcourſe between Chriſt and his Diſciples concerning this Man. When he departed out of the Temple, they went along with him, for theſe were they that continued with him in his Temptations, and followed him whither ſoever he went; and they loſt nothing by their Adherence to him, but gain'd Experience abundantly. Obſerve,

1. The Queſtion which the Diſciples put to their Maſter upon this blind Man's Caſe, v. 2. When Chriſt looked upon him they had an Eye to him too; Chriſt's Compaſſions ſhould kindle ours. 'Tis probable Chriſt told them, that this poor Man was born blind, or they knew it by common Fame; but they did not move Chriſt to heal him, inſtead of that, they ſtarted a very odd Queſtion concerning him, Rabbi, who ſinned, this Man or his Parents, that he was born blind? Now this Queſtion of theirs was, 1. Uncharitably cenſorious. They take it for granted, that this extraordinary Calamity was the Puniſhment of ſome extraordinary, uncommon Wickedneſs; and this Man was a Sinner above all Men that dwelt at Jeruſalem, Luke 13. 14. For the barbarous People to infer ſurely this Man is a Murtherer, was not ſo ſtrange; but it was inexcuſable in them that knew the Scriptures, who had read that all Things come alike to all, and knew how it was adjudg'd in Job's Caſe, that the greateſt Sufferers are not therefore to be look'd upon as the greateſt Sinners. The Grace of Repentance calls our own Afflictions Puniſhments, but the Grace of Charity calls the Afflictions of others Trials, unleſs the contrary is very evident. 2. 'Twas unneceſſarily curious. Concluding this Calamity to be inflicted for ſome very heinous Crime, they ask who were the Criminals, this Man, or his Parents. And what was this to them? Or what good would it do them to know it? We are apt to be more inquiſitive concerning other Peoples Sins than concerning our own; whereas, it is more our Concern to know wherefore God contends with us, than wherefore he contends with others; for to judge our ſelves is our Duty, but to judge our Brother is our Sin.

They enquire, (1.) Whether this Man was puniſhed thus for ſome Sin of his own, either committed, or foreſeen before his Birth. Some think the Diſciples were tainted with the Pythagorean Notion of the Pre-exiſtence of Souls, and their Tranſmigration from one Body to another. Was this Man's Soul condemn'd to the Dungeon of this blind Body, to puniſh it for ſome great Sin committed in another Body which it had before animated? The Phariſees ſeem to have had the ſame Opinion of his Caſe, when they ſaid, thou waſt altogether born in Sin, v. 34. as if all thoſe, and thoſe only were born in Sin, whom Nature had ſtigmatized. Or, (2.) Whether he was puniſhed for the Wickedneſs of his Parents, which God ſometimes viſits upon the Children. 'Tis a good Reaſon why Parents ſhould take heed of Sin, leſt their Children ſmart for them when they are gone. Let not us thus be cruel to our own, as the Oſtrich in the Wilderneſs. Perhaps the Diſciples asked this, not as believing that this was the Puniſhment of ſome actual Sin of his own, or his Parents; but Chriſt having intimated to another Patient that his Impotency was the Cauſe of his Sin, John 5. 14. Maſter, ſay they, whoſe Sin is the Cauſe of this Impotency? Being at a Loſs what Conſtruction to put upon this Providence, they deſire to be inform'd. The Equity of God's Diſpenſations is always certain, for his Righteouſneſs is as the great Mountains, but not always to be accounted for, for his Judgments are a great Deep.

2. Chriſt's Anſwer to this Queſtion. He was always apt to Teach, and to rectifie his Diſciples Miſtakes.

1. He gives the Reaſon of this poor Man's Blindneſs, neither has this Man ſinned, nor his Parents; but therefore he was born blind, and hath continued ſo to this Day, that now at laſt the Works of God ſhould be made manifeſt in him, v. 3. Here Chriſt, who perfectly knew the ſecret Springs of the Divine Counſels, has told two Things concerning ſuch uncommon Calamities.

1. That they are not always inflicted as Puniſhments of Sin. The Sinfulneſs of the whole Race of Mankind doth indeed juſtifie God in all the Miſeries of humane Life; ſo that they who have the leaſt Share of them, muſt ſay, that God is Kind; and they who have the largeſt Share, muſt not ſay he is Unjuſt; but many are made much more miſerable than others in this Life, who are not at all more ſinful. Not but that this Man was a Sinner, and his Parents Sinners, but 'twas not any uncommon Guilt that God had an Eye to in inflicting this upon him. Note, We muſt take heed of judging any to be great Sinners, merely becauſe they are great Sufferers, leſt we be found, not only perſecuting thoſe whom God has ſmitten, Pſal. 69. 26. but accuſing thoſe whom he hath juſtified, and condemning thoſe for whom Chriſt died, which is daring and dangerous, Rom. 8. 33, 34.

2. That they are ſometimes intended purely for the Glory of God, and the manifeſting of his Works. God has a Sovereignty over all his Creatures, and a Propriety in them, and may make them ſerviceable to his Glory in ſuch a way as he thinks fit, in doing or ſuffering; and if God be glorified, either by us or in us, we were not made in vain.

This Man was born blind, and it was worth while for him to be ſo, and to continue thus long dark, That the Works of God might be manifeſt in him. That is, (1.) That the Attributes of God might be manifeſted in him. His Juſtice in making ſinful Man liable to ſuch grievous Calamities; his ordinary Power and Goodneſs in ſupporting a poor Man under ſuch a grievous and tedious Affliction; eſpecially that his extraordinary Power and Goodneſs might be manifeſted in curing him. Note, The Difficulties of Providence, otherwiſe unaccountable, may be reſolv'd into this, God intends in them to ſhew himſelf, to declare his Glory, to make himſelf to be taken notice of. Thoſe who regard him not in the ordinary Courſe of Things, are ſometimes alarm'd by Things extraordinary. How contentedly then may a good Man be a Loſer in his Comforts, while he is ſure that thereby God will be one way or other a Gainer in his Glory. (2.) That the Counſels of God concerning the Redeemer, might be manifeſted in him. He was born blind, that our Lord Jeſus might have the Honour of curing him, and might therein prove himſelf ſent of God to be the Light of the World. Thus the Fall of Man was permitted, and the Blindneſs that follow'd it, that the Works of God might be manifeſt in opening the Eyes of the Blind. 'Twas now a great while ſince this Man was born blind, and yet it never appear'd till now why he was ſo. Note, The Intentions of Providence commonly do not appear till a great while after the Event, perhaps many Years after. The Sentences in the Book of Providence are ſometimes long, which you muſt read a great way before you can apprehend the Senſe of.

2. He gives the Reaſon of his own Forwardneſs and Readineſs to help and heal him, v. 4, 5. It was not for Oſtentation, but in purſuance of his Undertaking; I muſt work the Works of him that ſent me (of which this is one) while it is Day, and working Time; the Night cometh, the Period of that Day, when no Man can work. This is not only a Reaſon why Chriſt was conſtant in doing good to the Souls and Bodies of Men, but why particularly he did thus, tho' it was the Sabbath Day, on which Works of Neceſſity might be done, and he proves this to be a Work of Neceſſity.

1. It was his Father's Will, I muſt work the Works of him that ſent me. Note, (1.) The Father, when he ſent his Son into the World, gave him Work to do; he did not come into the World to take State, but to do Buſineſs; whom God ſends he employs, for he ſends none to be idle. (2.) The Works Chriſt had to do were the Works of him that ſent him, not only appointed by him, but done for him; he was a Worker together with God. (3.) He was pleaſed to lay himſelf under the ſtrongeſt Obligations to do the Buſineſs he was ſent about; I muſt work. He engaged his Heart in the Covenant of Redemption, to draw near, and approach to God as Mediator, Jer. 30. 21. Shall we be willing to be looſe, when Chriſt was willing to be bound? (4.) Chriſt having laid himſelf under Obligations to do his Work, laid out himſelf with the utmoſt Vigour and Induſtry in his Work. He work'd the Works he had to do; did ἠργάζετο τὰ ἔργα, made a Buſineſs of that which was his Buſineſs. 'Tis not enough to look at our Work, and talk over it, but we muſt work it.

2. Now was his Opportunity; I muſt work while it is Day; while the Time laſts, which is appointed to work in, and while the Light laſts, which is given to work by; Chriſt himſelf had his Day. (1.) All the Buſineſs of the mediatorial Kingdom was to be done within the Limits of Time, and in this World; for at the End of the World, when Time ſhall be no more, the Kingdom ſhall be delivered up to God, even the Father, and the Myſtery of God finiſhed. (2.) All the Work he had to do in his own Perſon here on Earth, was to be done before his Death; the Time of his living in this World, is the Day here ſpoken of. Note, The Time of our Life is our Day, in which it concerns us to do the Work of the Day. Day-time is the proper Seaſon for Work, Pſal. 104. 22, 23. during the Day of Life we muſt be buſy, not waſte Day-time, nor play by Day-light; 'twill be time enough to reſt when our Day is done, for it is but a Day.

3. The Period of his Opportunity was at hand, and therefore he would be buſy; The Night comes, when no Man can work. Note, The Conſideration of our Death approaching, ſhould quicken us to improve all Opportunities of Life, both for doing and getting good. The Night comes, it will come certainly, may come ſuddenly, is coming nearer and nearer. We cannot compute how nigh our Sun is, it may go down at Noon; nor can we promiſe our ſelves a Twilight, between the Day of Life, and the Day of Death. When the Night comes we cannot work, becauſe the Light afforded us to work by, is extinguiſh'd; the Grave is a Land of Darkneſs, and our Work cannot be done in the Dark. And beſides, our Time allotted us for our Work will then be expired; when our Maſter ty'd us to Duty, he ty'd us to Time too; when Night comes, call the Labourers; we muſt then ſhew our Work, and receive according to the Things done. In the World of Retribution we are no longer Probationers; 'tis too late to bid, when the Inch of Candle is dropt. Chriſt uſeth this as an Argument with himſelf, to be diligent, tho' he had no Oppoſition from within to ſtruggle with; much more need have we to work upon our Hearts theſe and the like Conſiderations to quicken us.

4. His Buſineſs in the World to enlighten it, v. 5. As long as I am in the World, and that will not be long, I am the Light of the World. He had ſaid this before, Chap. 8. 12. He is the Sun of Righteouſneſs, that has not only Light in his Wings for thoſe that can ſee; but Healing in his Wings, or Beams, for thoſe that are blind, and cannot ſee, therein far exceeding in Vertue that great Light which rules by Day. Chriſt would therefore cure this blind Man, the Repreſentative of a blind World, becauſe he came to be the Light of the World, not only to give Light, but to give Sight. Now this gives us, (1.) A great Encouragement to come to him, as a guiding, quickning, refreſhing Light. To whom ſhould we look but to him? Which way ſhould we turn our Eyes, but to the Light? We partake of the Sun's Light, and ſo we may of Chriſt's Grace without Money, and without Price. (2.) A good Example of Uſefulneſs in the World. What Chriſt ſaith of himſelf, he ſaith of his Diſciples, Ye are Lights in the World, and if ſo, Let your Light ſhine. What were Candles made for, but to burn?

Thirdly, The Manner of the Cure of the blind Man, v. 6, 7. The Circumſtances of the Miracle are ſingular, and no doubt ſignificant. When he had thus ſpoken, for the Inſtruction of his Diſciples, and the opening of their Underſtandings, then he addreſſed himſelf to the opening of the blind Man's Eyes. He did not refer it till he could do it either more privately for his greater Safety, or more publickly for his greater Honour, or till the Sabbath was paſt, when it would give leſs Offence; what Good we have Opportunity of doing, we ſhould do it quickly; he that will never do a good Work, till there's nothing to be objected againſt it, will leave many a good Work for ever undone, Eccl. 11. 4. In the Cure obſerve,

1. The Preparation of the Eye-ſalve. Chriſt ſpit on the Ground, and made Clay of the Spittle. He could have cured him with a Word, as he did others, but he choſe to do it this way, to ſhew that he is not ty'd to any Method. He made Clay of his own Spittle, becauſe there was no Water near; and he would teach us not to be nice or curious, but what we have at any time Occaſion to uſe, to be willing to take up with that which is next hand, if it will but be made to ſerve the Turn. Why ſhould we go about for that which may as well be had and done a nearer way. Chriſt's making uſe of his own Spittle, intimates that there is healing Vertue in every thing that belongs to Chriſt; Clay made of Chriſt's Spittle was much more precious than the Balm of Gilead.

2. The Application of it to the Place; He anointed the Eyes of the blind Man with the Clay: Or, as the Margin reads it, He ſpread (ἐπέχρισεν) he daub'd the Clay upon the Eyes of the blind Man, like a tender Phyſician, he did it himſelf with his own Hand, tho' the Patient was a Beggar. Now Chriſt did this, (1.) To magnify his Power in making a blind Man to ſee by that Method, which one would think more likely to make a ſeeing Man blind. Daubing Clay on the Eyes would cloſe them up, but never open them. Note, The Power of God often works by Contraries; and he makes Men feel their own Blindneſs, before he gives them Sight. (2.) To give an Intimation that it was his mighty Hand, the very ſame that at firſt made Man out of the Clay, for by him God made the Worlds, both the great World, and Man, the little World. Man was formed out of the Clay, and molded like the Clay, and here Chriſt uſed the ſame Materials to give Sight to the Body, that at firſt he uſed to give Being to it. (3.) To repreſent and typify the healing and opening the Eyes of the Mind, by the Grace of Jeſus Chriſt. The Deſign of the Goſpel is to open Mens Eyes, Acts 26. 18. Now the Eye-Salve that doth the Work is of Chriſt's preparing, 'tis made up, not as this, of his Spittle, but of his Blood, the Blood and Water that came out of his pierced Side; we muſt come to Chriſt for the Eye-ſalve, Rev. 3. 18. He only is able, and he only appointed, to make it up, Luke 4. 18. The Means uſed in this Work are very weak and unlikely, and are made effectual only by the Power of Chriſt; when a dark World was to be enlightened, and Nations of blind Souls to have their Eyes open'd, God choſe the fooliſh things, and weak, and deſpiſed, for the doing of it. And the Method Chriſt takes, is, firſt to make Men feel themſelves blind, as this poor Man did, when his Eyes were daubed with Clay, and then to give them Sight. Paul in his Converſion was ſtruck blind for three Days, and then the Scales fell from his Eyes. The way preſcribed for getting ſpiritual Wiſdom is, let a Man become a Fool, that he may be wiſe, 1 Cor. 3. 18. We muſt be made uneaſy with our Blindneſs, as this Man here, and then healed.

3. The Directions given to the Patient, v. 7. His Phyſician ſaid to him, Go, waſh in the Pool of Siloam. Not that this waſhing was needful to effect the Cure; but, (1.) Chriſt would hereby try his Obedience; and whether he could with an implicit Faith obey the Orders of one he was ſo much a Stranger to. (2.) He would likewiſe try how he ſtood affected to the Tradition of the Elders, which taught, and perhaps had taught him (for many that are blind are very knowing) that it was not lawful to waſh the Eyes, no not with Spittle, medicinally, on the Sabbath-Day, much leſs to go to a Pool of Water to waſh them. (3.) He would hereby repreſent the Method of ſpiritual Healing, in which tho' the Effect is owing purely to his Power and Grace, yet there is Duty to be done by us. Go, ſearch the Scriptures, attend upon the Miniſtry, converſe with the Wiſe, this is like waſhing in the Pool of Siloam. Promiſed Graces muſt be expected in the way of inſtituted Ordinances. The Waters of Baptiſm were to them who had been trained up in Darkneſs, like the Pool of Siloam, in which they might not only waſh and be clean, but waſh, and have their Eyes opened. Hence they that were baptized, are ſaid to be φωτισθέντες, enlightened; and the Ancients called Baptiſm φωτισμὸς, Illumination.

Concerning the Pool of Siloam, obſerve, (1.) That it was ſupply'd with Water from Mount Zion, ſo that theſe were the Waters of the Sanctuary, Pſal. 46. 4. living Waters which were healing, Ezek. 47. 9. (2.) That the Waters of Siloam had of old ſignified the Throne and Kingdom of the Houſe of David, pointing at the Meſſiah, Iſa. 8. 6. and the Jews who refus'd the Waters of Siloah, Chriſt's Doctrine and Law, and rejoyced in the Tradition of the Elders. Chriſt would try this Man, whether he would cleave to the Waters of Siloam or no. (3.) The Evangeliſt takes notice of the Signification of the Name, 'tis being interpreted, ſent; Chriſt is often called the Sent of God; the Meſſenger of the Covenant, Mal. 3. 1. So that when Chriſt ſent him to the Pool of Siloam, he did in effect ſend him to himſelf, for Chriſt is all in all, to the healing of Souls. Chriſt as a Prophet directs us to himſelf as a Prieſt, Go waſh in the Fountain opened, a Fountain of Life, not a Pool.

4. The Patient's Obedience to theſe Directions; He went his Way therefore; probably led by ſome Friend or other; or perhaps he was ſo well acquainted with Jeruſalem, that he could find the Way himſelf. Nature oft ſupplies the Want of Sight with an uncommon Sagacity. And he waſhed his Eyes; probably the Diſciples, or ſome Stander by, inform'd him, that he who bid him do it, was that Jeſus whom he had heard ſo much of, elſe he would not have gone at his bidding, on that which look'd ſo like a Fool's Errand; in Confidence of Chriſt's Power, as well as in Obedience to his Command, he went and waſhed.

5. The Cure effected, he came ſeeing. There is more Glory, in this conciſe Narrative, he went and waſhed, and came ſeeing, than in Cæſar's Veni, vidi, vici. When the Clay was waſh'd off from his Eyes, all the other Impediments were done away with it; ſo when the Pangs and Struggles of the new Birth are over, and the Pains and Terrors of Conviction paſt, the Bands of Sin fly off with them, and a glorious Light and Liberty ſucceed. See here an Inſtance, 1. Of the Power of Chriſt. What cannot he do, who could not only do this, but do it thus? With a Lump of Clay laid on either Eye, and waſh'd off again, he couch'd thoſe Cataracts immediately, which the moſt skilful Oculiſt, with the fineſt Inſtrument, and the moſt curious Hand, could not remove. No doubt this is he that ſhould come, for by him the Blind receive their Sight. 2. 'Tis an Inſtance of the Virtue of Faith and Obedience. This Man let Chriſt do what he pleas'd, and did what he appointed him to do, and ſo was cured. They that would be healed by Chriſt, muſt be ruled by him. He came back from the Pool to his Neighbours and Acquaintance, wondering, and wondered at, he came ſeeing. This repreſents the Benefit gracious Souls find in attending on Inſtituted Ordinances, according to Chriſt's Appointment; they have gone to the Pool of Siloam weak, and have came away ſtrengthned; have gone doubting, and came away ſatisfied; have gone mourning, and came away rejoycing; gone trembling, and come away triumphing; have gone blind, and come away ſeeing; come away ſinging, Iſa. 52. 8.

8 ¶ The neighbours therefore, and they which before had ſeen him, that he was blind, ſaid, Is not this he that ſat and begged? 9 Some ſaid, This is he: others ſaid, He is like him: but he ſaid, I am he.
10 Therefore ſaid they unto him, How were thine eyes opened? 11 He anſwered and ſaid, A man that is called Jeſus, made clay and anointed mine eyes, and ſaid unto me, Go to the pool of Siloam, and waſh: and I went and waſhed, and I received ſight. 12 Then ſaid they unto him, Where is he?
He ſaid, I know not.

Such a wonderful Event as the giving of Sight to a Man born Blind, could not but be the Talk of the Town, and many heeded it no more than they do other Town-talk, that is but nine Days Wonder; but here we are told what the Neighbours ſaid of it, for the Confirmation of the Matter of Fact. That which at firſt was not believ'd without Scrutiny, may afterwards be admitted without Scruple.

Two Things are debated in this Conference about it.

Firſt, Whether this were the ſame Man that had before been blind, v. 8. The Neighbours, that liv'd near the Place where he was born and bred, and knew that he had been blind, could not but be amazed when they ſaw that he had his Eye-ſight, had it on a ſudden, and perfectly; and they ſaid, Is not this he that ſate and begged? It ſeems this blind Man was a common Beggar, being diſabled to work for his Living; and ſo diſcharg'd from the Obligation of the Law, that if any would not work, neither ſhould he eat. When he could not go about, he ſate; if we cannot work for God, we muſt ſit ſtill quietly for him. When he could not labour, his Parents not being able to maintain him, he begged. Note, Thoſe who cannot otherwiſe ſubſiſt, muſt not, like the unjuſt Steward, be aſhamed to beg; let no Man be aſhamed of any Thing but Sin. There are ſome common Beggars that are Objects of Charity, that ſhou'd be diſtinguiſh'd; and we muſt not let the Bees ſtarve for the ſake of the Drones, or Waſps that are among them.

As to this Man, (1.) It was well ordered by Providence, that he on whom this Miracle was wrought, ſhould be a common Beggar, and ſo generally known, and remarkable; by which means the Truth of the Miracle was the better atteſted, and there were the more to witneſs againſt thoſe Infidel Jews, who would not believe that he had been blind, than if he had been maintain'd in his Father's Houſe. (2.) It was the greater Inſtance of Chriſt's Condeſcenſion, that he ſeem'd (as I may ſay) to take more Pains about the Cure of a common Beggar, than of others. When it was for the Advantage of his Miracles, that they ſhould be wrought on thoſe that were remarkable, he pitch'd upon thoſe that were made ſo by their Poverty and Miſery, not by their Dignity.

In anſwer to this Enquiry, (1.) Some ſaid, This is he, the very ſame Man; and theſe are Witneſſes to the Truth of the Miracle, for they had long known him ſtone-blind. (2.) Others who could not think it poſſible that a Man born blind ſhould thus on a ſudden receive his Sight, for that Reaſon, and no other, ſaid, He is not he, but is like him, and ſo by their Confeſſion, if it be he, 'tis a great Miracle that is wrought upon him. Hence we may take Occaſion to think, (1.) Of the Wiſdom and Power of Providence, in ordering ſuch a univerſal Variety of the Faces of Men and Women, ſo that no two are ſo like, but that they may be diſtinguiſh'd, which is neceſſary to Society and Commerce, and the Adminiſtration of Juſtice. And, (2.) Of the wonderful Change which the covenanting Grace of God makes upon ſome, who before were very wicked and vile, but are thereby ſo univerſally and viſibly altered, that one would not take them to be the ſame Perſons.

This Controverſy was ſoon decided by the Man himſelf, he ſaid, I am he, the very Man that ſo lately ſate and begged; I am he that was blind, and was an Object of the Charity of Men, but now ſee, and am a Monument of the Mercy and Grace of God. We do not find that the Neighbours appealed to him in this Matter, but he hearing the Debate, interpos'd, and put an end to it. 'Tis a Piece of Juſtice we owe to our Neighbours, to rectifie their Miſtakes, and ſet Things before them, as far as we are able, in a true Light. Applying it ſpiritually, it teacheth us, That thoſe who are ſo ſavingly enlighten'd by the Grace of God, ſhould be ready to own what they were before that bleſſed Change was wrought, 1 Tim. 1. 13, 14.

Secondly, How he came to have his Eyes open'd, v. 10, 11, 12. They will now turn aſide and ſee this great Sight, and enquire further concerning it. He did not ſound a Trumpet when he did theſe Alms, nor perform his Cures upon a Stage, and yet like a City upon a Hill, they could not be hid.

Two Things theſe Neighbours enquire after.

1. The Manner of the Cure, How were thine Eyes opened? The Works of the Lord being great, they ought to be ſought out, Pſal. 111. 2. 'Tis good to obſerve the Way and Method of God's Works, and they will appear the more wonderful. We may apply it ſpiritually; 'tis ſtrange that blind Eyes ſhould be opened, but more ſtrange when we conſider how they are opened; how weak the Means are that are uſed, and how ſtrong the Oppoſition that is conquered.

In anſwer to this he gives them a plain and full Account of the Matter, v. 11. A Man that is called Jeſus made Clay, —— and I received Sight. Note, Thoſe who have experienced ſpecial Inſtances of God's Power and Goodneſs in temporal or ſpiritual Things, ſhould be ready upon all Occaſions to communicate their Experiences for the Glory of God, and the Inſtruction and Encouragement of others. See David's Collection of his Experiences, his own and others, Pſal. 34. 4, 5, 6. 'Tis a Debt we owe to our Benefactor, and to our Brethren. God's Favours are loſt upon us, when they are loſt with us, and go no further.

2. Concerning the Author of it, v. 12. Where is he? Some perhaps asked this Queſtion out of Curioſity; where is he that we may ſee him? A Man that did ſuch Cures as theſe might well be a Shew, which one would go a good way for the Sight of. Others, perhaps, ask'd out of ill Will, where is he, that we may ſeize him? There was a Proclamation out for the Diſcovering and Apprehending of him, John 11. 57. and the unthinking Crowd, in ſpite of all Reaſon and Equity, will have ill Thoughts of thoſe that are put into an ill Name. Some we hope ask'd this Queſtion out of good Will; where is he that we may be acquainted with him? Where is he that we may come to him, and ſhare in the Favours he is ſo free of?

In anſwer to this he could ſay nothing, I know not. As ſoon as Chriſt had ſent him to the Pool of Siloam, it ſhould ſeem he withdrew immediately, as he did ch. 5. 1. and did not ſtay till the Man return'd, as if he either doubted of the Effect, or waited for the Man's Thanks. Humble Souls take more Pleaſure in doing good, than in hearing of it again; 'twill be time enough to hear of it in the Reſurrection of the Juſt. The Man had never ſeen Jeſus, for by that Time he had gain'd his Sight he had loſt his Phyſician; and he asked, 'tis probable, where is he? None of all the new and ſurprizing Objects that preſented themſelves could be ſo grateful to him as one Sight of Chriſt, but as yet he knew no more of him, but that he was called, and rightly called Jeſus, a Saviour. Thus in the Work of Grace wrought upon the Soul we ſee the Change, but ſee not the Hand that makes it; for the Way of the Spirit is like that of the Wind, which thou heareſt the Sound of, but canſt not tell whence it comes, or whither it goes.

13 ¶ They brought to the Phariſees him that aforetime was blind. 14 And it was the ſabbath day when Jeſus made the clay, and opened his eyes.
15 Then again the Phariſees alſo asked him how he had received his ſight? He ſaid unto them, He put clay upon mine eyes, and I waſhed, and do ſee.
16 Therefore ſaid ſome of the Phariſees, this man is not of God, becauſe he kept not the ſabbath-day.
Others ſaid, How can a man that is a ſinner do ſuch miracles? and there was a diviſion among them.
17 They ſay unto the blind man again, What ſayeſt thou of him, that he hath opened thine eyes?
He ſaid, He is a prophet. 18 But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind, and received his ſight, until they called the parents of him that had received his ſight. 19 And they asked them ſaying, Is this your ſon, who ye ſay was born blind?
how then doth he now ſee? 20 His parents anſwered them and ſaid, We know that this is our ſon, and that he was born blind: 21 But by what means h no

now ſeeth, we know not; or who hath opened his eyes, we know not: he is of age, ask him, he ſhall ſpeak for himſelf. 22 Theſe words ſpake his parents becauſe they feared the Jews: for the Jews had agreed already, that if any man did confeſs that he was Chriſt, he ſhould be put out of the ſynagogue. 23
Therefore ſaid his parents, He is of age, ask him.
24 Then again called they the man that was blind, and ſaid unto him, Give God the praiſe: we know that this man is a ſinner. 25 He anſwered and ſaid, Whether he be a ſinner or no, I know not: one thing
I know, that whereas I was blind, now I ſee. 26
Then ſaid they to him again, What did he to thee?
how opened he thine eyes? 27 He anſwered them,
I have told you already, and ye did not hear: wherefore would ye hear it again? will ye alſo be his di-ſciples? 28 Then they reviled him, and ſaid, Thou art his diſciple; but we are Moſes diſciples. 29 We know that God ſpake unto Moſes: as for this fellow, we know not from whence he is. 30 The man anſwered and ſaid unto them, Why, herein is a marvellous thing, that ye know not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes. 31 Now we know that God heareth not ſinners: but if any man be a worſhipper of God, and doth his will, him he hear-eth. 32 Since the world began was it not heard that any man opened the eyes of one that was born blind.
33 If this man were not of God, he could do nothing. 34 They anſwered and ſaid unto him, Thou waſt altogether born in ſins, and doſt thou teach us?
And they caſt him out.

One would have expected that ſuch a Miracle as Chriſt wrought upon the blind Man, ſhould have ſettled his Reputation, and ſilenc'd and ſham'd all Oppoſition, but it had the contrary Effect; inſtead of being embraced as a Prophet for it, he is proſecuted as a Criminal.

Firſt, Here is the Information that was given in to the Phariſees concerning this Matter, Ver. 13. They brought to the Phariſees him that aforetime was blind. They brought him to the great Sanhedrin, which conſiſted chiefly of Phariſees, at leaſt the Phariſees in the Sanhedrin were moſt active againſt Chriſt.

1. Some think they that brought this Man to the Phariſees, did it with a good Deſign, to ſhew them that this Jeſus whom they perſecuted was not what they repreſented him, but really a great Man, and one that gave conſiderable Proofs of a Divine Miſſion. What hath convinced us of the Truth and Excellency of Religion, and hath removed our Prejudices againſt it, we ſhould be forward, as we have Opportunity, to offer to others for their Conviction.

2. It ſhould ſeem rather they did it with an ill Deſign, to exaſperate the Phariſees the more againſt Chriſt, and that needed not, for they were bitter enough of themſelves. They brought him with ſuch a Suggeſtion as that, John 11. 47, 48. If ye let him thus alone, all Men will believe on him. Note, Thoſe Rulers that are of a perſecuting Spirit, ſhall never want ill Inſtruments about them, that will blow the Coals, and make them worſe.

Secondly, The Ground which was pretended for this Information, and the Colour given to it. That which is good was never maligned but under the Imputation of ſomething Evil. And the Crime objected here, v. 14. was that, It was the Sabbath Day when Jeſus made the Clay, and opened his Eyes. The Prophanation of the Sabbath-Day is certainly an ill Thing, and gives a Man a very ill Character; but the Traditions of the Jews had made that to be a Violation of the Law of the Sabbath, which was far from being ſo. And many a Time this Matter was conteſted between Chriſt and the Jews, that it might be ſettled for the Benefit of the Church in all Ages. But it may be asked, Why would Chriſt not only work Miracles on the Sabbath-Day, but work them in ſuch a manner as he knew would give Offence to the Jews? When he had heal'd the impotent Man, why would he bid him carry his Bed? Could he not have cured this blind Man without making Clay? I anſwer, (1.) He would not ſeem to yield to the uſurped Power of the Scribes and Phariſees; their Government was illegal, their Impoſitions arbitrary, and their Zeal for the Rituals conſum'd the Subſtantials of Religion, and therefore Chriſt would not give place to them by Subjection, no not for an Hour. Chriſt was made under the Law of God, but not under their Law. 2. He did it that he might both by Word and Action expound the Law of the fourth Commandment, and vindicate it from their corrupt Gloſſes, and ſo teach us, both, That a weekly Sabbath is to be perpetually obſerv'd in the Church, one Day in ſeven; for what need was there to explain that Law, if it muſt be preſently abrogated? And that it is not to be ſo ceremonially obſerved by us, as it was by the Jews: Works of Neceſſity and Mercy are allow'd, and the Sabbath Reſt to be kept, not ſo much for its own ſake, as in order to the Sabbath Work. 3. Chriſt choſe to work his Cures on the Sabbath Day, to dignify and ſanctify the Day, and to intimate, that ſpiritual Cures ſhould be wrought moſtly on the Chriſtian Sabbath Day. How many blind Eyes have been open'd by the preaching of the Goſpel, that bleſſed Eye-ſalve, on the Lord's Day; how many impotent Souls cured that Day?

Thirdly, The Trial and Examination of this Matter by the Phariſees, v. 15. And here appears ſo much Paſſion and Prejudice, and ill Humour, and ſo little Reaſon, that the Diſcourſe is nothing but croſſing Queſtions. One would think when a Man in theſe Circumſtances was brought before them, they ſhould have been ſo taken up in admiring the Miracle, and congratulating the Happineſs of the poor Man, that they could not have been peeviſh with him: But their Enmity to Chriſt had diveſted them of all manner of Humanity, and Divinity too. Let us ſee how they teaz'd this Man.

1. They interrogated him concerning the Cure it ſelf.

(1.) They doubted whether he had indeed been born blind, and demanded Proof of that, which even the Perſecutors had acknowledged; Ver. 18. They did not believe, i. e. they would not, that he was born blind. Men that ſeek Occaſion to quarrel with the cleareſt Truths, may find it if they pleaſe; and they that reſolve to hold faſt Deceit, will never want a Handle to hold it by. This was not a prudent Caution, but a prejudiced Infidelity. However, it was a good way they took for the clearing of this; they called the Parents of the Man that had received his Sight: This they did in hopes to diſprove the Miracle. Theſe Parents were poor and timorous, and if they had ſaid they could not be ſure that this was their Son; and that it was only ſome Weakneſs or Dimneſs in his Sight that he had been born with, which if they had been able to get help for him, might have been cured long ſince; or had otherwiſe prevaricated for fear of the Court; the Phariſees had gained their Point, had robb'd Chriſt of the Honour of this Miracle, which would have leſſen'd the Reputation of all the reſt: But God ſo ordered and over-ruled this Counſel of theirs, that it turned to the more effectual Proof of the Miracle, and left them under a Neceſſity of being either convinced or confounded.

Now in this Part of the Examination we have,

1. The Queſtions that were put to them, Ver. 19. They asked them in an imperious threatning Way, Is this your Son? Dare you ſwear it? Do you ſay he was born blind? Are you ſure of it? Or did he but pretend to be ſo, to have an Excuſe for his begging? How then doth he now ſee? That's impoſſible, and therefore you had better unſay it. Thoſe who cannot bear the Light of Truth, do all they can to eclipſe it, and hinder the Diſcovery of it. Thus the Managers of Evidence, or Miſmanagers rather, lead Witneſſes out of the Way, and teach them how to conceal or diſguiſe the Truth, and ſo involve themſelves in a double Guilt, like that of Jeroboam, who ſinned, and made Iſrael to ſin.

2. Their Anſwers to theſe Interrogatories; in which,

1. They fully atteſt that which they could ſafely ſay in this Matter; ſafely, i. e. upon their own Knowledge, and ſafely, i. e. without running themſelves into a Præmunire; v. 20. We know that this is our Son, for they were daily converſant with him, and had ſuch a natural Affection to him as the true Mother had, 1 Kings 3. 26. which made them know it was their own; and we know that he was born blind. They had Reaſon to know it, by the ſame Token that it had coſt them many a ſad Thought, and many a careful, troubleſome Hour about him. How often had they looked upon him with Grief, and lamented their Child's Blindneſs, more than all the Burthens and Inconveniences of their Poverty; and wiſhed he had never been born, rather than be born to ſuch an uncomfortable Life. Thoſe who are aſham'd of their Children, or any of their Relations, becauſe of their bodily Infirmities, may take a Reproof from theſe Parents, who freely own'd, this is our Son, tho' he was born blind, and liv'd upon Alms.

2. They cautiouſly decline giving any Evidence concerning his Cure; partly becauſe they were not themſelves Eye-witneſſes of it, and could ſay nothing to it of their own Knowledge; and partly becauſe they found it was a tender Point, and would not bear to be meddled with. And therefore having owned that he was their Son, and was born blind, further theſe Deponents ſay not.

1. Obſerve how warily they expreſs themſelves, v. 21. By what means he now ſees we know not, or who has opened his Eyes we know not, otherwiſe than by hearſay; can give no Account, either by what Means, or by whoſe Hand it was done. See how the Wiſdom of this World teacheth Men to trim the Matter in critical Junctures. Chriſt was accuſed as Sabbath-breaker, and as an Impoſtor. Now theſe Parents of the blind Man, tho' they were not Eye-witneſſes of the Cure, yet were fully aſſured of it, and were bound in Gratitude to have born their Teſtimony to the Honour of the Lord Jeſus, who had done their Son ſo great a Kindneſs; but they had not Courage to do it, and then thought it might ſerve to atone for their not appearing in favour of him, that they ſaid nothing to his Prejudice; whereas in the Day of Trial, he that is not apparently for Chriſt, is juſtly look'd upon as really againſt him, Luke 11. 23. Mark 8. 38.

The

That they might not be further urged in this Matter, they refer themſelves and the Court to him, He is of Age, ask him, he ſhall ſpeak for himſelf. This implies, that while Children are not of Age (while they are Infants, ſuch as cannot ſpeak) it is incumbent upon their Parents to ſpeak for them; ſpeak to God for them in Prayer, ſpeak to the Church for them in Baptiſm; but when they are of Age, 'tis fit they ſhould be asked whether they be willing to ſtand to that which their Parents did for them, and let them ſpeak for themſelves. This Man, tho' he was born blind, yet ſeems to have been of quick Underſtanding above many, which enabled him to ſpeak for himſelf, better than his Friends could ſpeak for him; thus God often by a kind Providence makes up in the Mind what is wanting in the Body, 1 Cor. 12. 23, 24. His Parents turning them over to him, was only to ſave themſelves from Trouble, and expoſe him; whereas they that had ſo great an Intereſt in his Mercies, had Reaſon to imbark with him in his Hazards, for the Honour of that Jeſus who had done ſo much for them.

2. See the Reaſon why they were ſo cautious, v. 22, 23. Becauſe they feared the Jews. 'Twas not becauſe they would put an Honour upon their Son, by making him his own Advocate, or becauſe they would have the Matter cleared by the beſt Hand, but becauſe they would ſhift Trouble off from themſelves, as moſt People are in Care to do, no matter on whom they throw it. Near is my Friend, and near is my Child, and perhaps near is my Religion, but nearer is my ſelf. Proximus egomet mihi. But Chriſtianity teacheth another Leſſon, 1 Cor. 10. 24. Eſth. 8. 6.

Here's, 1. The late Law which the Sanhedrin had made. It was agreed, and enacted by their Authority, That if any Man within their Juriſdiction did confeſs that Jeſus was Chriſt, he ſhould be put out of the Synagogue. Obſerve,

1. The Crime deſign'd to be puniſh'd, and ſo prevented by this Statute, and that was embracing Jeſus of Nazareth as the promiſed Meſſiah, and diſcovering this by an overt Act, which amounted to a confeſſing of him. They themſelves did expect a Meſſiah, but they could by no means bear to think that this Jeſus ſhould be He; nor admit the Queſtion whether he were or no, for two Reaſons. (1.) Becauſe his Precepts were all ſo contrary to their traditional Laws. The ſpiritual Worſhip he preſcrib'd overthrew their Formalities; nor did any Thing more effectually deſtroy their Singularity and narrow Spiritedneſs, than that univerſal Charity which he taught; Humility and Mortification, Repentance and Self-denial, were Leſſons new to them, and ſounded harſh and ſtrange in their Ears. (2.) Becauſe his Promiſes and Appearances were ſo contrary to their traditional Hopes. They expected a Meſſiah in outward Pomp and Splendor, that ſhould not only free the Nation from the Roman Yoke, but advance the Grandeur of the Sanhedrin, and make all the Members of it Princes and Peers: And now to hear of a Meſſiah, whoſe outward Circumſtances were all mean and poor; whoſe firſt Appearance, and principal Reſidence was in Galilee, a deſpiſed Province; who never made his Court to them, nor ſought their Favour; whoſe Followers were neither Sword-men, nor Gown-men, nor any Men of Honour, but contemptible Fiſhermen; who propos'd and promis'd no other Redemption but from Sin, no other Conſolation of Iſrael but what is Spiritual and Divine; and at the ſame Time bid his Followers expect the Croſs, and count upon Perſecution. This was ſuch a Reproach to all the Ideas they had formed, and filled the Minds of the People with ſuch a Blow to their Power and Intereſt, and ſuch a Diſappointment to all their Hopes, that they could never be reconcil'd to it, nor ſo much as give it a fair or patient Hearing, but right or wrong it muſt be cruſh'd.

2. The Penalty to be inflicted for this Crime. If any ſhould own himſelf a Diſciple of Jeſus, he ſhould be deem'd and taken as an Apoſtate from the Faith of the Jewiſh Church, and a Rebel and Traytor againſt the Government of it, and ſhould therefore be put out of the Synagogue, as one that had rendered himſelf unworthy of the Honours, and uncapable of the Privileges of their Church; he ſhould be excommunicated, and expelled the Commonwealth of Iſrael. Nor was this meerly an Eccleſiaſtical Cenſure, which a Man that made no Conſcience of their Authority might ſlight, but it was in effect an Out-lawry, which excluded a Man from civil Commerce, and depriv'd him of his Liberty and Property. Note, 1. Chriſt's Holy Religion from its firſt Riſe has been oppos'd, by penal Laws made againſt the Profeſſors of it; as if Mens Conſciences would otherwiſe naturally embrace it, this unnatural Force has been put upon them. 2. The Church's Artillery, when the Command of it has fallen into ill Hands, has often been turn'd againſt it ſelf, and Eccleſiaſtical Cenſures made to ſerve a carnal, ſecular Intereſt. 'Tis no new Thing to ſee thoſe caſt out of the Synagogue that were the greateſt Beauties and Bleſſings of it, and to hear thoſe that expell'd them, ſay, The Lord be glorified, Iſa. 66. 5.

Now of this Edict it is ſaid, (1.) That the Jews had agreed it, or conſpir'd it. Their Conſultation and Communion herein was a perfect Conſpiracy againſt the Crown and Dignity of the Redeemer; againſt the Lord and his Anointed. (2.) That they had already agreed it. Tho' he had been but a few Months in any publick Character among them, and one would think in ſo ſhort a Time could not have made them jealous of him, yet thus early were they aware of his growing Intereſt, and already agreed to do their utmoſt to ſuppreſs it. He had lately made his eſcape out of the Temple, and when they ſaw themſelves baffled in their Attempts to take him, they preſently took this Courſe, to make it penal for any Body to own him. Thus unanimous, and thus expeditious are the Enemies of the Church, and their Counſels; but he that ſits in Heaven laughs at them, and has them in deriſion, and ſo may we.

2. The Influence which this Law had upon the Parents of the blind Man. They declin'd ſaying any Thing of Chriſt, and ſhuffled it off to their Son, becauſe they feared the Jews. Chriſt had incurr'd the Frowns of the Government to do their Son a Kindneſs, but they would not incur them to do him any Honour. Note, The Fear of Man brings a Snare, Prov. 29. 25. and oft makes People deny and diſown Chriſt, and his Truths, and Ways, and act againſt their Conſciences. Well, the Parents have thus diſentangled themſelves, and are diſcharged from any further Attendance, let us now go on with the Examination of the Man himſelf; their Doubt whether he was born blind was put out of doubt by them, and therefore,

(2.) They enquired of him concerning the Manner of the Cure, and made their Remarks upon it, v. 15, 16.

1. The ſame Queſtion which his Neighbours had put to him, now again the Phariſees ask'd him, how he had received his Sight? This they enquir'd, not with any ſincere Deſire to find out the Truth, by tracing the Report to the Original, but with a Deſire to find an Occaſion againſt Chriſt; for if the Man ſhould relate the Matter fully, they would prove Chriſt a Sabbath-breaker; if he ſhould vary from his former Story, they would have ſome Colour to ſuſpect the whole to be a Colluſion.

2. The ſame Anſwer in effect which he had before given to his Neighbours, he here repeats to the Phariſees; He put Clay upon mine Eyes, and I waſhed and do ſee. He doth not here ſpeak of the making of the Clay, for indeed he had not ſeen it made: That Circumſtance was not eſſential, and might give the Phariſees moſt Occaſion againſt him, and therefore he waves it. In the former Account, he ſaid, I waſh'd and received ſight; but leſt they ſhould think 'twas only a Glimpſe for the preſent, which a heated Imagination might fancy it ſelf to have, he now ſaith, I do ſee: 'Tis a compleat and laſting Cure.

3. The Remarks made upon this Story were very different and occaſioned a Debate in the Court, v. 16.

1. Some took this Occaſion to cenſure and condemn Chriſt for what he had done. Some of the Phariſees ſaid, This Man is not of God, as he pretends, becauſe he keepeth not the Sabbath Day. 1. The Doctrine upon which this Cenſure is grounded, is very true; that thoſe are not of God; thoſe Pretenders to Prophecy not ſent of God; thoſe Pretenders to Saintſhip not born of God, who do not keep the Sabbath Day. They that are of God will keep the Commandments of God; and this is the Commandment, that we ſanctify the Sabbath: They that are of God keep up Communion with God, and delight to hear from him, and ſpeak to him; and therefore will obſerve the Sabbath, which is a Day appointed for Intercourſe with Heaven. The Sabbath is called a Sign; for the ſanctifying of it is a Sign of a ſanctified Heart; and the prophaning of it a Sign of a prophane Heart. But, 2. The Application of it to our Saviour is very unjuſt, for he did religiouſly obſerve the Sabbath Day, and never in any Inſtance violated it; never did otherwiſe than well on the Sabbath Day. He did not keep the Sabbath according to the Tradition of the Elders, and the ſuperſtitious Obſervances of the Phariſees, but he kept it according to the Command of God, and therefore no doubt he was of God, and his Miracles proved him to be Lord alſo of the Sabbath Day. Note, Much unrighteous and uncharitable judging is occaſioned by Mens making the Rules of Religion more ſtrict than God has made them, and adding their own Fancies to God's Appointments; as the Jews here, in the Caſe of Sabbath Sanctification. We our ſelves may forbear ſuch and ſuch Things on the Sabbath Day as we find a Diſtraction to us, and we do well, but we muſt not therefore tye up others to the ſame Strictneſs: Every Thing that we take for a Rule of Practice muſt not preſently be made a Rule of Judgment.

2. Others ſpoke in his Favour, and very pertinently urged, How can a Man that is a Sinner do ſuch Miracles? It ſeems, even in this Council of the Ungodly, there were ſome that were capable of a free Thought, and were Witneſſes for Chriſt even in the midſt of his Enemies. The Matter of Fact was plain, that this was a true Miracle; the more it was ſearched into, the more it was cleared; and this brought his former like Works to mind, and gave Occaſion to ſpeak magnificently of them, τοιαῦτα σημεῖα, ſo great Signs, ſo many, ſo evident. And the Inference from it is very natural; ſuch Things as theſe could never be done by a Man that is a Sinner, i. e. not by any meer Man, in his own Name, and by his own Power; or rather, not by one that is a Cheat, or an Impoſtor, and in that Senſe a Sinner; ſuch a one may indeed ſhow ſome Signs and lying Wonders; but not ſuch Signs and true Wonders as Chriſt wrought. How could a Man produce ſuch divine Credentials, if he had not a divine Commiſſion? Thus there was a Diviſion among them, a Schiſm, ſo the Word is; they claſh'd in their Opinion, a warm Debate aroſe, and the Houſe divided upon it. Thus God defeats the Counſels of his Enemies, by dividing them; and by ſuch Teſtimonies as theſe given againſt the Malice of Perſecutors, and the Rubs they meet with, their Deſigns againſt the Church are ſometimes render'd ineffectual, and always inexcuſable.

2. After their Enquiry concerning the Cure, we muſt obſerve their Enquiry concerning the Author of it. And here obſerve,

1. What the Man ſaid of him in anſwer to their Enquiry. They aſk him, v. 17. What ſayeſt thou of him, ſeeing that he has open'd thine Eyes? What doſt thou think of his doing this? And what Idea haſt thou of him that did it? If he ſhould ſpeak ſlightly of Chriſt in anſwer to this, as he might be tempted to do to pleaſe them, now he was in their Hands, as his Parents had done; if he ſhould ſay, I know not what to make of him; he may be a Conjurer for ought I know, or ſome Mountebank, they would have triumphed in it: Nothing confirms Chriſt's Enemies in their Enmity to him, ſo much as the Slights put upon him by thoſe that have paſt for his Friends. But if he ſhould ſpeak honourably of him, they would proſecute him upon their new Law, which did not except, no not his own Patient; would make him an Example, and ſo deter others from applying themſelves to him for Cures, which tho' they came cheap from Chriſt, yet would make them pay dear for. Or perhaps, Chriſt's Friends propos'd to have the Man's own Sentiments concerning his Phyſician, and were willing to know, ſince he appear'd to be a ſenſible Man, what he thought of him. Note, Thoſe whoſe Eyes Chriſt has open'd, know beſt what to ſay of him, and have great Reaſon upon all Occaſions to ſay well of him. What think we of Chriſt?

To this Queſtion the poor Man makes a ſhort, plain, and direct Anſwer, He is a Prophet; he is one inſpired and ſent of God to preach and work Miracles, and delivers to the World a divine Meſſage. There had been no Prophets among the Jews of three hundred Years paſt, yet they did not conclude they ſhould have no more, for they knew he was yet to come who ſhould ſeal up Viſion and Prophecy, Dan. 9. 24. It ſhould ſeem this Man had not any Thoughts that he was the Meſſiah, the great Prophet, but one of the ſame Rank with the other Prophets: The Woman of Samaria concluded he was a Prophet, before ſhe had any Thought of his being the Meſſiah, John 4. 19. So this blind Man thought well of Chriſt according to the Light he had, tho' he did not think well enough of him; but being faithful in what he had already attained to, God revealed even that unto him. This poor blind Beggar had a clearer Judgment of the Things pertaining to the Kingdom of God, and ſaw further into the Proofs of a divine Miſſion, than the Maſters in Iſrael that aſſum'd an Authority to judge of Prophets.

2. What they ſaid of him in reply to the Man's Teſtimony. Having in vain attempted to invalidate the Evidence of the Fact, and finding that indeed a notable Miracle was wrought, and they could not deny it; they renew their Attempt to banter it, and run it down, and do all they can to ſhake the good Opinion the Man had of him that opened his Eyes, and to convince him that he was an ill Man, v. 24. Give God the Glory, we know that this Man is a Sinner. Two Ways this is underſtood, either,

(1.) By way of Advice, to take heed of aſcribing the Praiſe of his Cure to a ſinful Man, but to give it all to God, to whom it was due; thus under Colour of Zeal for the Honour of God, they rob Chriſt of his Honour; as thoſe who do will not worſhip Chriſt as God, under Pretence of Zeal for this great Truth, that there is but one God to be worſhipped; whereas this is his declared Will, that all Men ſhould honour the Son even as they honour the Father; and in confeſſing that Chriſt is Lord, we give Glory to God the Father. When God makes uſe of Men that are Sinners as Inſtruments of Good to us, we muſt give God the Glory, for every Creature is that to us that he makes it to be, and yet there is a Gratitude owing to the Inſtruments. It was a good Word, Give God the Praiſe, but here was ill uſed; and there ſeems to be this further in it, this Man is a Sinner, an ill Man, and therefore give the Praiſe ſo much the more to God who could work by ſuch an Inſtrument.

(2.) Or by way of Adjuration, ſo ſome take it. We know (tho' thou doſt not, who haſt but lately come as it were into a new World) that this Man is a Sinner, i. e. a great Impoſtor that cheats the Country, this we are ſure of, therefore give God Praiſe (as Joſhua ſaid to Achan) by making an ingenuous Confeſſion of the Fraud, and Colluſion, which we are confident there is in this Matter; in God's Name, Man, tell the Truth. Thus is God's Name abus'd in Papal Inquiſitions, when by Oaths ex Officio, they extort Accuſations of themſelves from the Innocent, and of others from the Ignorant. See how baſely they ſpeak of the Lord Jeſus, We know that this Man is a Sinner, is a Man of Sin: In which we may obſerve, (1.) Their Inſolence and Pride. They would not have it thought when they aſked the Man what he thought of him, that they needed Information; nay, they know very well that he is a Sinner, and no Body can convince them of the contrary. He had challenged them to their Faces, chap. 8. 46. to convince him of Sin, and they had nothing to ſay; but now behind his Back they ſpeak to him as a Malefactor, convicted upon the notorious Evidence of the Fact. Thus falſe Accuſers make up in Confidence what's wanting in Proof. (2.) The Injury and Indignity hereby done to the Lord Jeſus. When he became Man, he not only took upon him the Form of a Servant, but of a Sinner, Rom. 8. 3. and paſt for a Sinner in common with the reſt of Mankind. Nay, he was repreſented as a Sinner of the firſt Magnitude, a Sinner above all Men; and being made Sin for us, he deſpiſed even this Shame.

3. The Debate that aroſe between the Phariſees and this poor Man concerning Chriſt: They ſay, He is a Sinner; he ſaith, He is a Prophet. As it is an Encouragement to thoſe who are concerned for the Cauſe of Chriſt, to hope that it ſhall never be loſt for want of Witneſſes, when they find a poor blind Beggar pick'd up from the Way-ſide, and made a Witneſs for Chriſt, to the Faces of his moſt impudent Enemies; ſo it is an Encouragement to thoſe who are called out to witneſs for Chriſt, to find with what Prudence and Courage this Man managed his Defence, according to the Promiſe, It ſhall be given you in that ſame Hour what ye ſhall ſpeak. Tho' he had never ſeen Jeſus, he had felt his Grace.

Now in the Parley between the Phariſees and this poor Man, we may obſerve three Steps.

Firſt, He ſticks to the certain Matter of Fact, which they endeavour to ſhake the Evidence of. That which is doubtful, is beſt reſolved into that which is plain, and therefore, 1. He adheres to that which to himſelf at leaſt, and to his own Satisfaction was paſt diſpute, v. 25. Whether he be a Sinner or no I know not; I will not now ſtand to diſpute, nor need I, the Matter is plain, and tho' I ſhould altogether hold my Peace, would ſpeak for it ſelf; or, as it might better be rendered, If he be a Sinner, I know it not, I ſee no Reaſon to ſay ſo, but the contrary, for this one Thing I know, and can be more ſure of than you can be of that which you are ſo confident of, That, whereas I was blind, now I ſee, and therefore muſt not only ſay, that he has been a good Friend to me, but that he is a Prophet; I am both able and bound to ſpeak well of him. Now here, (1.) He tacitly reproves their great Aſſurance of the ill Character they gave of the Bleſſed Jeſus. You ſay you know him to be a Sinner, I that know him as well as you do, cannot give him any ſuch Character. (2.) He boldly relies upon his own Experience of the Power and Goodneſs of the Holy Jeſus, and reſolves to abide by it. There's no diſputing againſt Experience, nor arguing a Man out of his Senſes; here's one that is properly an Eye-witneſs of the Power and Grace of Chriſt, tho' he had never ſeen him. Note, As Chriſt's Mercies are moſt valued by thoſe that have felt the want of them, that have been blind, and now ſee, ſo the moſt powerful and durable Affections to Chriſt are thoſe that ariſe from an experimental Knowledge of him, 1 John 1. 1. Acts 4. 2.

He doth not here give a nice Account of the Method of the Cure, nor pretend to deſcribe it philoſophically; but in ſhort, Whereas I was blind, now I ſee. Thus in the Work of Grace in the Soul, tho' we cannot tell when and how, by what Inſtruments, and by what Steps and Advances the bleſſed Change was wrought, yet we may take the Comfort of it, if we can ſay, through Grace, Whereas I was blind, now I ſee. I did live a carnal, wordly, ſenſual Life, but Thanks be to God it is now otherwiſe with me, Eph. 5. 8.

2. They endeavour to baffle and ſtifle the Evidence by a needleſs Repetition of their Enquiries into it. Ver. 26. What did he to thee? How open'd he thine Eyes? They aſked theſe Queſtions, (1.) Becauſe they wanted ſomething to ſay, and would rather ſpeak impertinently, than ſeem to be ſilenced, or run a-ground. Thus eager Diſputants that reſolve they will have the laſt Word by ſuch vain Repetitions, to avoid the Shame of being ſilenced, make themſelves accountable for many idle Words. (2.) Becauſe they hoped by putting the Man upon repeating his Evidence, to catch him tripping in it, or wavering, and then they would think they had gained a good Point.

Secondly, He upbraids them with their obſtinate Infidelity, and invincible Prejudices, and they revile him as a Diſciple of Jeſus, v. 27—29. where the Man is more bold with them, and they more ſharp upon him than before.

1. The Man boldly upbraids them with their willful and unreaſonable Oppoſition of the Evidence of this Miracle, v. 27. He would not gratify them with a Repetition of the Story, but bravely reply'd, I have told you already, and ye did not hear, wherefore would you hear it again, will ye alſo be his Diſciples? Some think he ſpoke ſeriouſly, and really expecting that they would be convinced. He has many Diſciples, I'll be one, will you alſo come in among them? Some zealous young Chriſtians ſee ſo much Reaſon for Religion, that they are ready to think every one ſhould preſently be of their Mind. But it rather ſeems to be ſpoken ironically, will you be his Diſciples? No, I know you abhor the Thoughts of it, why then ſhould you deſire to hear that which will either make you his Diſciples, or leave you inexcuſable if you be not? Thoſe that wilfully ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light, as theſe Phariſees here did, (1.) They make themſelves contemptible and baſe, as theſe here did, who were juſtly expos'd by this poor Man for denying the Concluſion, when they had nothing to object againſt either of the Premiſes. (2.) They forfeit all the Benefit of further Inſtructions and Means of Knowledge, and Conviction: They that have been told once and would not hear, why ſhould they be told it again? Jer. 51. 9. ſee Mat. 10. 14. (3.) They hereby receive the Grace of God in vain. This is implied in that, Will ye be his Diſciples? No, you reſolve you will not, why then would you hear it again, only that you may be his Accuſers and Perſecutors? Thoſe who will not ſee Cauſe to imbrace Chriſt, and join with his Followers, yet one would think ſhould ſee Cauſe enough not to hate, and perſecute him and them.

2. For this they ſcorn and revile him, v. 28. when they could not reſiſt the Wiſdom and Spirit, by which he ſpoke, they broke out into a Paſſion, and ſcolded him, began to call Names, and give him ill Language. See what Chriſt's faithful Witneſſes muſt expect from the Adverſaries of his Truth and Cauſe; let them count upon all manner of Evil to be ſaid of them, Mat. 5. 11. 'Tis the Method commonly taken by unreaſonable Man, what is wanting in Truth and Reaſon, to make it out with Railing.

1. They taunted this Man for his Affection to Chriſt; they ſaid, Thou art his Diſciple, as if that were Reproach enough, and they could not ſay worſe of him. We ſcorn to be his Diſciples, and will leave that Preferment to thee, and ſuch Scoundrels as thou art. They do what they can to put Chriſt's Religion in an ill Name, and to repreſent the Profeſſion of it as a contemptible ſcandalous Character. They reviled him. The Vulgar reads it Male dixerunt eum, they curſed him; and what was their Curſe? It was this, Be thou his Diſciple; may ſuch a Curſe (ſaith St. Auſtin here) ever be on us and on our Children! If we take our Meaſures of Credit and Diſgrace from the Sentiment or Clamours rather of a blind deluded World, we ſhall glory in our Shame, and be aſham'd of our Glory. They had no Reaſon to call this Man a Diſciple of Chriſt, he had neither ſeen him or heard him preach, only he had ſpoken favourably of a Kindneſs he had done him, and this they could not bear.

2. They gloried in their Relation to Moſes as their Maſter; We are Moſes*'s Diſciples*, and do not either need or deſire any other Teacher. Note, 1. Carnal Profeſſors of Religion are very apt to truſt to, and be proud of the Dignities and Privileges of their Profeſſion, while they are Strangers to the Principles and Powers of their Religion. Theſe Phariſees had before boaſted of their good Parentage, We are Abraham*'s Seed*; here of their good Education, We are Moſes*'s Diſciples*; as if theſe would ſave them. 2. 'Tis ſad to ſee how much one Part of Religion is oppos'd, under Colour of Zeal for another Part; there was a perfect Harmony between Chriſt and Moſes; Moſes prepared for Chriſt, and Chriſt perfected Moſes, ſo that they might be Diſciples of Moſes, and become the Diſciples of Chriſt too; and yet they here put them in Oppoſition, nor could they have perſecuted Chriſt, but under the Umbrage of the abuſed Name of Moſes. Thus they, who gainſay the Doctrine of Free Grace, value themſelves as Promoters of Man's Duty, as we are Moſes's Diſciples; while on the other hand, they that cancel the Obligation of the Law, value themſelves as the Aſſertors of Free Grace, and as if none were the Diſciples of Jeſus but they; whereas if we rightly underſtand the Matter, we ſhall ſee God's Grace and Man's Duty meet together, and kiſs and befriend each other.

3. They gave ſome ſort of Reaſon for their adhering to Moſes againſt Chriſt, v. 2. We know that God ſpake unto Moſes; as for this Fellow, we know not whence he is. But did they not know, that among other Things God ſpake unto Moſes, this was one, That they muſt expect another Prophet, and a further Revelation of the Mind of God; yet when our Lord Jeſus, purſuant to what God ſaid to Moſes, did appear, and gave ſufficient Proofs of his being that Prophet, under Pretence of ſticking to the old Religion, and the eſtabliſhed Church, they not only forfeited, but forſook their own Mercies. In this Argument of theirs obſerve,

1. How impertinently they alledge in Defence of their Enmity to Chriſt, that which none of his Followers ever deny'd, We know that God ſpake unto Moſes; and Thanks be to God we know it too, more plainly to Moſes than to any other of the Prophets; but what then? God ſpake to Moſes, and doth it therefore follow that Jeſus is an Impoſtor? Moſes was a Prophet, 'tis true, and might not Jeſus be a Prophet too? Moſes ſpake honourably of Jeſus, John 5. 46. and Jeſus ſpake honourably of Moſes, Luke 6. 29. they were both faithful in the ſame Houſe of God; Moſes as a Servant, Chriſt as a Son; therefore their pleading Moſes's divine Warrant in Oppoſition to Chriſt's, was an Artifice to make unthinking People believe it was as certain that Jeſus was a falſe Prophet, as that Moſes was a true one; whereas they were both true.

2. How abſurdly they urge their Ignorance of Chriſt, as a Reaſon to juſtify their Contempt of him; As for this Fellow. Thus ſcornfully do they ſpeak of the Bleſſed Jeſus; as if they did not think it worth while to charge their Memories with a Name ſo inconſiderable; they expreſs themſelves with as much Diſdain of the Shepherd of Iſrael, as if he had not been worthy to be ſet with the Dogs of their Flock; as for this Fellow, this ſorry Fellow we know not whence he is. They look'd upon themſelves to have the Key of Knowledge, that none muſt preach without a Licenſe firſt had and obtain'd from them, under the Seal of their Court; they expected that all who ſet up for Teachers ſhould apply themſelves to them, and give them Satisfaction, which this Jeſus had never done, never ſo far owned their Power as to ask their Leave, and therefore they concluded him an Intruder, and one that came not in by the Door; they knew not whence or what he was, and therefore conclude him a Sinner; whereas thoſe we know little of, we ſhould judge charitably of; but proud and narrow Souls will think none good but themſelves, and thoſe that are in their Intereſt. It was not long ago, that the Jews had made the contrary to this, an Objection againſt Chriſt, Chap. 7. 27. We know this Man whence he is, but when Chriſt comes, no Man know, whence he is. Thus they could, with the greateſt Aſſurance, either affirm, or deny the ſame Thing, according as they ſaw it would ſerve their Turn. They knew not whence he was, and whoſe Fault was that? (1.) 'Tis certain they ought to have enquired; the Meſſiah was to appear about this Time, and it concern'd them to look about them, and examine every Indication; but theſe Prieſts like thoſe, Jer. 2. 5. ſaid not, Where is this Lord? (2.) 'Tis certain they might have known whence he was, might have known not only by ſearching the Regiſter, that he was born in Bethlehem; but by enquiring into his Doctrine, Miracles and Converſation, they might have known that he was ſent of God, and had better Orders, a better Commiſſion, and far better Inſtructions than any they could give him. See the Abſurdity of Infidelity, Men will not know the Doctrine of Chriſt, becauſe they are reſolved they will not believe it, and then pretend they do not believe it, becauſe they do not know it. Such Ignorance and Unbelief, which ſupport one another, aggravate one another.

Thirdly, He reaſons with them concerning this Matter, and they excommunicate him.

1. The poor Man finding that he had Reaſon on his Side, which they could not anſwer, grows more bold, and in Proſecution of his Argument, is very cloſe upon them.

(1.) He admires their obſtinate Infidelity, v. 30. not at all daunted by their Frowns, nor ſhaken by their Confidence; he bravely anſwered, why, Herein is a marvellous Thing, the ſtrangeſt Inſtance of wilful Ignorance that ever was heard of among Men that pretended to Senſe, that you knew not from whence he is, and yet he has open'd mine Eyes. Two Things he wonders at.

(1.) That they ſhould be Strangers to a Man ſo famous. He that could open the Eyes of the Blind, muſt certainly be a conſiderable Man, and worth taking Notice of; the Phariſees were inquiſitive Men, had a large Correſpondence and Acquaintance, thought themſelves the Eyes of the Church, and its Watchmen, and yet that they ſhould talk, as if they thought it below them to take Cognizance of ſuch a Man as this, and have Converſation with him, this is a ſtrange thing indeed. There are many who paſs for learned and knowing Men, that underſtand Buſineſs, and talk Senſe in other Things, that yet are ignorant to a Wonder of the Doctrine of Chriſt, that have no Concern, no not ſo much as a Curioſity to acquaint themſelves with that which the Angels deſire to look into.

(2.) That they ſhould queſtion the Divine Miſſion of one that had undoubtedly wrought a Divine Miracle. When they ſaid, We know not whence he is, they meant, we know not any Proof that his Doctrine and Miniſtry is from Heaven; now this is ſtrange (ſaith the poor Man) that the Miracle wrought upon me has not convinced you, and put the Matter out of doubt. That you whoſe Education and Studies give you Advantages above others of diſcerning the Things of God, that you ſhould thus ſhut your Eyes againſt the Light. 'Tis a marvellous Work, and a Wonder, when the Wiſdom of the Wiſe thus periſheth, Iſa. 29. 14. that they deny the Truth of that which they cannot gainſay the Evidence of. Note, 1. The Unbelief of thoſe who enjoy the Means of Knowledge and Conviction, is indeed a marvellous Thing, Mark 6. 6. 2. Thoſe who have themſelves experienc'd the Power and Grace of the Lord Jeſus, do eſpecially wonder at the Wilfulneſs of thoſe that reject him, and having ſuch good Thoughts of him themſelves, are amazed that others have not ſo too. Had Chriſt open'd the Eyes of theſe Phariſees, they would not have doubted his being a Prophet.

(2.) He argues ſtrongly againſt them, v. 31, 32, 33. They had determined concerning Jeſus, that he was not of God, v. 16. but was a Sinner, v. 24. In anſwer to which, the Man here proves not only that he was not a Sinner, v. 31. but that he was of God, v. 33. He argues here, (1.) With great Knowledge. Tho' he could not read a Letter on the Book, he was well acquainted with the Scripture, and the Things of God; had wanted the Senſe of Seeing, yet had well improved that of Hearing, by which Faith cometh; yet that would not have ſerv'd him, if he had not had an extraordinary Preſence of God with him, and ſpecial Aids of his Spirit upon this Occaſion. (2.) With great Zeal for the Honour of Chriſt, whom he could not endure to hear run down, and evil ſpoken of. (3.) With great Boldneſs and Courage, and Undauntedneſs, not terrified by the proudeſt of his Adverſaries. They that are ambitious of the Favours of God, muſt not be afraid of the Frowns of Men. “ See here (ſaith Dr. Whitby) a blind Man “ and unlearned, judging more rightly of divine Things, than the “ whole learned Council of the Phariſees. Whence we learn, that “ we are not always to be led by the Authority of Councils, “ Popes or Biſhops; and that it is not abſurd for Laymen ſome- “ times to vary from their Opinions; theſe Overſeers being “ ſometimes guilty of great Overſights.

Now the Man's Argument may be reduced into Form, ſomewhat like that of David, Pſal. 66. 18, 19. The Propoſition in David's Argument is, If I regard Iniquity in my Heart, God will not hear me; here it is to the ſame Purpoſe, God heareth not Sinners; the Aſſumption there is, But verily God hath heard me; here it is, Verily God hath heard Jeſus, he has been honoured with the doing of that which was never done before; the Concluſion there is to the Honour of God, Bleſſed be God; here to the Honour of the Lord Jeſus, He is of God.

1. He lays it down for an undoubted Truth, that none but good Men are the Favourites of Heaven, v. 31. Now we know, you know it as well as I, that God heareth not Sinners, but if any Man be a Worſhipper of God, and doth his Will, him he heareth. Here,

1. The Aſſertions rightly underſtood are true.

(1.) Be it ſpoken to the Terror of the Wicked, God heareth not Sinners, i. e. ſuch Sinners as the Phariſees meant, when they ſaid of Chriſt, He is a Sinner, one that under the Umbrage of God's Name advanced the Devil's Intereſt. This ſpeaks no Diſcouragement to repenting returning Sinners, but to thoſe that go on ſtill in their Treſpaſſes, that make their Prayers not only conſiſtent with, but ſubſervient to their Sins, as the Hypocrites do; God will not hear them; he will not own them, nor give an Anſwer of Peace to their Prayers.

(2.) Be it ſpoken to the Comfort of the Righteous, that if any Man be a Worſhipper of God, and doth his Will, him he heareth. Here's 1. The compleat Character of a good Man, he is one that worſhips God, and doth his Will, he is conſtant in his Devotions at ſet times, and regular in his Converſation at all times. He is one that makes it his Buſineſs to glorify his Creator, by the ſolemn Adorations of his Name, and a ſincere Obedience to his Will and Law; both muſt go together, 2. The unſpeakable Comfort of ſuch a Man, him God hears; hears his Complaints, and relieves him; hears his Appeals, and rights him; hears his Praiſes, and accepts them; hears his Prayers, and anſwers them, Pſal. 34. 15.

2. The Application of theſe Truths is very pertinent to prove that he, at whoſe Word ſuch a Divine Power was put forth, as cured one born blind, was not an ill Man; but having manifeſtly ſuch an Intereſt in the holy God, as that he heard him always, John 11. 41, 42. was certainly a holy one.

2. He magnifies the Miracles which Chriſt had wrought, to ſtrengthen the Argument the more, v. 32. Since the World began, was it not heard, that any Man opened the Eyes of one that was born blind. This is to ſhew either, (1.) That it was a true Miracle, and above the Power of Nature; it was never heard, that any Man, by the Uſe of natural Means, had cur'd one that was born blind; no doubt, both this Man and his Parents had been very inquiſitive into Caſes of this Nature, whether any ſuch had been help'd, and could hear of none, which enabled him to ſpeak this with the more Aſſurance. Or, (2.) That it was an extraordinary Miracle, and beyond the Precedents of former Miracles; neither Moſes nor any of the Prophets, tho' they did great Things, ever did ſuch Things as this; wherein Divine Power and Divine Goodneſs ſeem to ſtrive which ſhould out-ſhine. Moſes wrought miraculous Plagues, but Chriſt wrought miraculous Cures. Note. 1. The wonderous Works of the Lord Jeſus were ſuch, as the like had never been done before. 2. It becomes thoſe who have received Mercy from God, to magnify the Mercies they have received, and to ſpeak honourably of them; not that thereby Glory may redound to themſelves, and they may ſeem to be extraordinary Favourites of Heaven, but that God may have ſo much the more Glory.

3. He therefore concludes, If this Man were not of God, he could do nothing, i. e. nothing extraordinary, no ſuch Thing as this; and therefore no doubt he is of God, notwithſtanding his Non-conformity to your Traditions in the Buſineſs of the Sabbath Day. Note, What Chriſt did on Earth, ſufficiently demonſtrated what he was in Heaven; for if he had not been ſent of God he could not have wrought ſuch Miracles. 'Tis true, the Man of Sin comes with lying Wonders, but not with real Miracles. 'Tis likewiſe ſuppoſed, that a falſe Prophet might by Divine Permiſſion give a Sign or a Wonder, Deut. 13. 1, 2. yet the Caſe is ſo put, as that it would carry with it its own Confutation, for 'tis to enforce a Temptation to ſerve other Gods, which was to ſet God againſt himſelf. 'Tis true likewiſe that many wicked People have in Chriſt's Name done many wonderful Works, which doth not prove them that wrought them to be of God, but him in whoſe Name they were wrought. We may each of us know by this whether we are of God or no; What do we? What do we for God, for our Souls, in working out our Salvation; what do we more than others?

2. The Phariſees finding themſelves unable either to anſwer his Reaſonings, or to bear them, fell foul upon him, and with a great deal of Pride and Paſſion they broke off the Diſcourſe, v. 34. where we are told,

1. What they ſaid; having nothing to reply to his Argument they reflected upon his Perſon, Thou waſt altogether born in Sin, and doſt thou teach us; They take that heniouſly, which they had Reaſon to take kindly, and are cut to the Heart with Rage by that which ſhould have prick'd them to the Heart with Repentance.

Obſerve, 1. How they deſpiſed him, and what a ſevere Cenſure they paſt upon him? thou waſt not only born in Sin, as every Man is, but altogether ſo, wholly corrupt, and bearing about with thee in thy Body, as well as in thy Soul, the Marks of that Corruption; thou waſt one, whom Nature ſtigmatiz'd. Had he ſtill continued blind, it had been barbarous to upbraid him with it, and from thence to gather that he was more deeply tainted with Sin than other People; but moſt unjuſt to take notice of it, now the Cure had not only roll'd away the Reproach of his Blindneſs, but had ſignalized him as a Favourite of Heaven. Some take it thus, thou haſt been a common Beggar, and ſuch are too often common Sinners, and thou haſt no doubt been as bad as any of them; whereas by his Diſcourſe he had prov'd the contrary, and had evidenc'd a deep Tincture of Piety. But when proud imperious Phariſees reſolve to run a Man down, any Thing ſhall ſerve for a Pretence.

2. How they diſdain to learn of him, or to receive Inſtruction from him. Doſt thou teach us? A mighty Emphaſis muſt be laid here upon thou, and us. What? wilt thou, a ſilly ſorry Fellow, ignorant and illiterate, that haſt not ſeen the Light of the Sun a Day to an end, a Beggar by the Way ſide, of the very Dregs and Refuſe of the Town? wilt thou pretend to teach us, that are the Sages of the Law, and Grandees of the Church, that ſit in Moſes's Chair, and are Maſters in Iſrael? Note, Proud Men ſcorn to be taught, eſpecially by their Inferiors; whereas we ſhould never think our ſelves too old, or too wiſe, or too good to learn. Thoſe that have much Wealth, would have more, and why not thoſe that have much Knowledge? And thoſe are to be valued by whom we may improve in Learning. What a poor Excuſe was this for the Phariſees Infidelity, that it would be a Diſparagement to them to be inſtructed and informed, and convinced by ſuch a ſilly Fellow as this.

3. What they did; They caſt him out. Some underſtand it only of a rude and ſcornful Diſmiſſion of him from their Council-Board; they turn'd him out of the Room by the Head and Shoulders, and perhaps ordered their Servants to kick him; they thought it was time to ſend him far enough, that came ſo near their Conſciences: But it ſeems rather to be a judicial Act, they excommunicated him, 'tis likely with the higheſt Degree of Excommunication, they cut him off from being a Member of the Church of Iſrael. This poor Man (ſaith Dr. Lightfoot) was the firſt Confeſſor, as John Baptiſt was the firſt Martyr of the Chriſtian Church. There was a Law made, that if any confeſſed Jeſus to be the Chriſt, he ſhould be caſt out of the Synagogue, v. 22. But this Man had only ſaid of Jeſus that he was a Prophet, was of God, and yet they ſtretch the Law to bring him under the Laſh of it, as if he had confeſſed him to be the Chriſt. To be juſtly excommunicated and caſt out of a pure Church, Clave non errante, is a very dreadful Thing, for what is ſo bound on Earth, is bound in Heaven; but to be caſt out of a corrupt Church, which it is our Duty to go out of, and that unjuſtly, tho' caſt out with Anathema, and all the Bug-bear Ceremonies of Bell, Book and Candle, is what we have no reaſon at all to dread, or be aggriev'd at; The Curſe cauſeleſs ſhall not come. If they caſt Chriſt's Followers out of their Synagogues as he foretels, John 16. 2. there's no harm done when they are become Synagogues of Satan.

35 Jeſus heard that they had caſt him out; and when he had found him, he ſaid unto him, Doſt thou believe on the ſon of God? 36 He anſwered and ſaid, Who is he, Lord, that I might believe on him? 37 And Jeſus ſaid unto him, Thou haſt both ſeen him, and it is he that talketh with thee. 38 And he ſaid, Lord, I believe. And he worſhipped him.

In theſe Verſes we may obſerve,

Firſt, The tender Care which our Lord Jeſus took of this poor Man, v. 35. When Jeſus heard they had caſt him out, for 'tis likely the Town rung of it, and every Body cry'd out Shame upon them for it, then he found him; which implies his ſeeking him, and looking after him, that he might encourage and comfort him. (1.) Becauſe he had to the beſt of his Knowledge ſpoken ſo very well, ſo bravely, ſo boldly, in Defence of the Lord Jeſus. Note, Jeſus Chriſt will be ſure to ſtand by his Witneſſes, and own thoſe that own him, and his Truth, and Ways. Earthly Princes neither do nor can take Cognizance of all that vindicate them and their Government, and Adminiſtration; but our Lord Jeſus knows and obſerves all the faithful Teſtimonies we bear to him at any time, and a Book of Remembrance is written, and it ſhall redound not only to our Credit hereafter, but our Comfort now. (2.) Becauſe the Phariſees had caſt him out, and abus'd him. Beſides the common Regard which the righteous Judge of the World has to thoſe who ſuffer wrongfully, Pſal. 103. 6. there is a particular Notice taken of thoſe that ſuffer in the Cauſe of Chriſt, and for the Teſtimony of a good Conſcience. Here was one poor Man ſuffering for Chriſt, and he took care that as his Affliction abounded, his Conſolations ſhould much more abound. Note, 1. Tho' Perſecutors may exclude good Men from their Communion, yet they cannot exclude them from Communion with Chriſt, nor put them out of the way of his Viſits. Happy they who have a Friend that Men cannot debar them from. 2. Jeſus Chriſt will graciouſly find and take up thoſe who for his Sake are unjuſtly rejected and caſt out by Men. He will be a hiding Place to his Out-caſts, and appear to the Joy of thoſe whom their Brethren hated and caſt out.

Secondly, The comfortable Converſe Chriſt had with him, wherein he brings him acquainted with the Conſolation of Iſ- rael. He had well improv'd the Knowledge he had, and now Chriſt gives him further Inſtruction, for he that is faithful in a little ſhall be intruſted with more, Mat. 13, 12.

1. Our Lord Jeſus examines his Faith. Doſt thou believe on the Son of God? Doſt thou give Credit to the Promiſes of the Meſſiah? doſt thou expect his coming, and art thou ready to receive and embrace him when he is manifeſted to thee? This was that Faith of the Son of God which they lived by, who lived before his Manifeſtation. Obſerve, (1.) The Meſſiah is here called the Son of God, and ſo the Jews had learned to call him from the Prophecies, Pſal. 2. 7. and 89. 27. See John 1. 49. Thou art the Son of God, i. e. the true Meſſiah. They that expected the Temporal Kingdom of the Meſſiah, delighted rather in calling him the Son of David, which gave more Countenance to that Expectation, Mat. 22. 42. But Chriſt that he might give us an Idea of his Kingdom, as purely Spiritual and Divine, calls himſelf the Son of God, and rather Son of Man in general, than of David in particular. (2.) The Deſires and Expectations of the Meſſiah, which the old Teſtament Saints, had, guided by, and grounded upon the Promiſe, were graciouſly interpretated and accepted as their believing on the Son of God. This Faith Chriſt here enquires after, Doſt thou believe? Note, The great Thing which is now required of us, (1 John 3. 23.) and will ſhortly be enquired after concerning us, in our believing on the Son of God, and by this we muſt ſtand or fall for ever.

2. The poor Man ſolicitouſly enquires concerning the Meſſiah he was to believe in, profeſſing his Readineſs to embrace him, and cloſe with him, v. 36. Who is he Lord that I might believe in him? (1.) Some think he did know that Jeſus, who cured him, was the Son of God, but did not know which was Jeſus, and therefore ſuppoſing this that talk'd with him to be a Follower of Jeſus, deſired him to do him the Favour to direct him to him; not that he might ſatisfy his Curioſity with the Sight of him, but that he might the more firmly believe in him, and profeſs his Faith, and know whom he had believed. See Cant. 5, 6, 7. and 3, 2, 3. 'Tis Chriſt only that can direct us to himſelf. (2.) Others think he did know that this Perſon who talk'd with him was Jeſus, the ſame that cured him, whom he believed a great and good Man, and a Prophet, but did not yet know that he was or was to be the Son of God, and the true Meſſiah. Lord, I believe there is a Chriſt to come, thou who haſt given me Bodily Sight, tell me, O tell me who and where this Son of God is. Chriſt's Queſtion intimated that the Meſſiah was come, and was now among them, which he preſently takes the Hint of, and asks Where is he Lord? The Queſtion was rational and juſt, Who is he Lord that I might believe on him? For how could he believe in one of whom he had not heard? The Work of Miniſters is to tell us Who the Son of God is, that we may believe on him, John 20. 31.

3. Our Lord Jeſus graciouſly reveals himſelf to him as that Son of God on whom he muſt believe, v. 37. Thou haſt both ſeen him and it is he that talketh with thee. Thou needeſt not go far to find out the Son of God, Behold the Word is nigh thee. We do not find that Chriſt did thus expreſly, and in ſo many Words, reveal himſelf to any other, as to this Man here, and to the Woman of Samaria, I that ſpeak unto thee am he; he left others to find out by Arguments who he was, but to theſe weak and fooliſh things of the World he choſe to manifeſt himſelf, ſo as not to the wiſe and prudent.

Chriſt here deſcribes himſelf to this Man, by two Things which expreſs his great Favour to him.

(1.) Thou haſt ſeen him, and he was much indebted to the Lord Jeſus for opening his Eyes, that he might ſee him. Now he was made ſenſible more than ever, what an unſpeakable Mercy it was to be cured of his Blindneſs, that he might ſee the Son of God, a Sight which rejoiced his Heart more than that of the Light of this World. Note, The greateſt Comfort of bodily Eye-ſight is its Serviceableneſs to our Faith, and the Intereſt of our Souls. How contentedly might this Man have returned to his former Blindneſs, like old Simon, now his Eyes had ſeen God's Salvation? If we apply it to the opening of the Eyes of the Mind, it intimates that Spiritual Sight is given principally for this End, that we may ſeen Chriſt, 2 Cor. 4. 6. Can we ſay that by Faith we have ſee Chriſt, ſeen him in his Beauty and Glory, in his Ability and Willingneſs to ſave, ſo ſeen him, as to be ſatisfied concerning him, to be ſatisfied in him? let us give him the Praiſe that opened our Eyes.

(2.) It is he that talketh with thee, and he was indebted to Chriſt for condeſcending to do this. He was not only favoured with a Sight of Chriſt, but was admitted into Fellowſhip and Communion with him. Great Princes are willing to be ſeen by thoſe whom yet they will not vouchſafe to talk with. But Chriſt by his Word and Spirit talks with thoſe whoſe Deſires are towards him, and in talking with them, manifeſts himſelf to them, as he did to the two Diſciples, when he talk'd their Hearts warm, Luke. 24. 32. Obſerve, This poor Man was ſollicitouſly enquiring after the Saviour, when at the ſame time he ſaw him and was talking with him. Note, Jeſus Chriſt is oftentimes nearer the Souls that ſeek him, than they themſelves are aware of. Doubting Chriſtians are ſometimes ſaying, Where is the Lord? and fearing they are caſt out from his Sight, when at the ſame time 'tis he that talketh with them, and puts Strength into them.

4. The poor Man readily entertains this ſurprizing Revelation, and in a Tranſport of Joy and Wonder he ſaid, Lord I believe, and he worſhipped him.

(1.) He profeſſed his Faith in Chriſt, Lord, I believe thee to be the Son of God. He would not diſpute any Thing that he ſaid who had ſhewed ſuch Mercy to him, and wrought ſuch a Miracle for him, nor doubt of the Truth of a Doctrine, which was confirm'd by ſuch Signs. Believing with the Heart, he thus confeſſeth with the Mouth; and now the bruiſed Reed was become a Cedar.

(2.) He paid his Homage to him. He worſhipped him, not only gave him the civil Reſpects due to a great Man, and the Acknowledgments owing to a kind Benefactor, but herein gave him Divine Honour, and worſhipped him as the Son of God manifeſted in the Fleſh. none but God is to be worſhipped, ſo that in worſhipping Jeſus, he owned him to be God. Note, True Faith will ſhew it ſelf in a humble Adoration of the Lord Jeſus. They who believe in him, will ſee all the Reaſon in the World to worſhip him. We never read any more of this Man; but 'tis very likely, from henceforth he became a conſtant Follower of Chriſt.

39 And Jeſus ſaid, For Judgment I am come into this world: that they which ſee not, might ſee;
and that they which ſee, might be made blind.
40 And ſome of the Phariſees which were with him, heard theſe words, and ſaid unto him, Are we blind
alſo? 41 Jeſus ſaid unto them, If ye were blind, ye ſhould have no ſin: but now ye ſay, We ſee;
therefore your ſin remaineth.

Chriſt having ſpoken Comfort to the poor Man that was perſecuted, here ſpeaks Conviction to his Pereſcutors, a Specimen of the Diſtributions of Trouble and Reſt at the great Day, 2 Theſ. 1. 6, 7. Probably this was not immediately after his Diſcourſe with the Man, but he took the next Opportunity that offered it ſelf to have a Saying to the Phariſees.

Firſt, Here's the Account Chriſt gives of his Deſign in coming into the World, v. 39. For Judgment I am come to order and adminiſter the great Affairs of the Kingdom of God among Men, and am inveſted with a judicial Power, in order thereunto, to be executed in Conformity to the wiſe Councels of God, and in purſuance of them. What Chriſt ſpoke, he ſpoke not as a Preacher in the Pulpit, but as a King upon the Throne, and a Judge upon the Bench. His Buſineſs into the World was great, he came to keep the Aſſizes, and general Goal-delivery; he came for Judgment, that is (1.) To preach a Doctrine and Law, which would try Men, and effectually diſcover and diſtinguiſh them, and would be compleatly fitted in all Reſpects to be the Rule of Government now, and of Judgemnt ſhortly. (2.) To put a Difference between Men, by revealing the Thoughts of many Hearts, and laying open Mens true Characters by this one Teſt, whether they were well or ill affected to him. (3.) To change the Face of Government in his Church, to aboliſh the Jewiſh Oeconomy, to take down that Fabrick, which tho' erected for the time by the Hand of God himſelf, yet by tract of time was antiquated, and by the incurable Corruption of the Managers of it, was become rotten and dangerous, and to erect a new Building by another Model, to inſtitute new Ordinances and Offices, to abrogate Judaiſm, and enact Chriſtianity, for this Judgment he came into the World, and it was a great Revolution.

This great Truth he explains by a Metaphor borrowed from the Miracle he had lately wrought, That they which ſee not might ſee, and they which ſee might be made blind. Such a Difference of Chriſt's coming is often ſpoken of; to ſome his Goſpel is a Savour of Life unto Life, to others of Death unto Death.

1. This is applicable to Nations, and People, that the Gentiles who had long been deſtitute of the Light of divine Revelation, might ſee it; and the Jews who had long enjoy'd it, might have the Things of their Peace hid from their Eyes, Hoſ. 1. 10. and 2. 23. The Gentiles ſee a great Light, while Blindneſs is hapened unto Iſrael, and their Eyes are darkened.

2. To particular Perſons. Chriſt came into the World, (1.) Intentionally and deſignedly to give Sight to them that were ſpiritually Blind, by his Word to reveal the Object, and by his Spirit to heal the Organ, that many precious Souls might be turn'd from Darkneſs to Light. He came for Judgment i. e. to ſet thoſe at Liberty from their dark Priſon, that were willing to be releas'd, Iſa. 61. 1. (2.) Eventually and in the Iſſue, that thoſe which ſee might be made blind; that thoſe who have a high Conceit of their own Wiſdom, and ſet that up in Contradiction to Divine Revelation, might be ſealed up in Ignorance and Infidelity. The Preaching of the Croſs was Fooliſhneſs, and an infatuating Thing to them, who by Wiſdom knew not God. Chriſt came into the World for this Judgment, to adminiſter the Affairs of a ſpiritual Kingdom ſeated in Mens Minds. Whereas in the Jewiſh Church, the Bleſſings and Judgments of God's Government were moſtly temporal, now the Method of Adminiſtration ſhould be changed; and as the good Subjects of his Kingdom ſhould be bleſſed with ſpiritual Bleſſings in heavenly Things, ſuch as ariſe from a due Illumination of the Mind, ſo the Rebels ſhould be puniſhed with ſpiritual Plagues, not War, Famine and Peſtilence as formerly, but ſuch as ariſe from a judicial Infatuation, Hardneſs of Heart, Terror of Conſcience, ſtrong Deluſions, vile Affections. In this way Chriſt will judge between Cattle and Cattle, Ezek. 39. 17.

Secondly, Here's the Phariſees Cavil at this. They were with him, not deſirous to learn any Good from him, but to form Evil againſt him, and they ſaid, Are we blind alſo? When Chriſt ſaid, that they which ſee, ſhould by his coming be made blind, they apprehended that he meant them, who were the Seers of the People, and valued themſelves by their Inſight, and Foreſight. Now ſay they, we know that the common People are blind, but are we blind alſo? What we, The Rabbins, the Doctors, the Learned in the Laws, the Graduates in the Schools, are we blind too? This is Scandalum Magnatum. Note, Many times thoſe that need Reproof moſt, and deſerve it beſt, tho' they have Wit enough to diſcern a tacit one, yet have not Grace enough to bear a juſt one. Theſe Phariſees took this Reproof for a Reproach, as thoſe Lawyers, Luke 11. 45. Are we blind alſo? Dareſt thou ſay that we are blind, whoſe Judgment every one has ſuch a Veneration for, values and vails too. Note, Nothing fortifies Mens corrupt Hearts more againſt the Convictions of the Word, nor more effectually repels them, than the good Opinion, eſpecially if it be a high Opinion, which others have of them; as if all that had gain'd Applauſe with Men, muſt needs obtain Acceptance with God, than which nothing more falſe and deceitful, God ſees not as Man ſees.

Thirdly, Here's Chriſt's Anſwer to this Cavil, which if it did not convince them, yet ſilenced them. If ye were blind, ye ſhould have no Sin, but now ye ſay, We ſee, therefore your Sin remaineth. They gloried in it that they were not blind as the common People, were not ſo credulous and manageable as they, but would ſee with their own Eyes, having Abilities as they thought ſufficient for their own Conduct, ſo that they needed not any body to lead them. This very Thing, which they gloried in, Chriſt here tells them was their Shame and Ruin. For,

1. If ye were blind, ye ſhould have no Sin. (1.) If you had been really ignorant, your Sin had not been ſo deeply aggravated, nor ſhould ye have had ſo much Sin to anſwer for, as now you have. If you were blind, as the poor Gentiles are, and many of your own poor Subjects, from whom you have taken the Key of Knowledge, you ſhould have had comparatively no Sin. The Times of Ignorance God winked at; invincible Ignorance, tho' it do not juſtify Sin, excuſeth it, and leſſens the Guilt. 'Twill be more tolerable with thoſe that periſh for lack of Viſion, than for thoſe who rebel againſt the Light. (2.) If you had been ſenſible of your own Blindneſs, if when you would ſee nothing elſe, you could have ſeen the need of one to lead you, you would ſoon have accepted Chriſt as your Guide, and then you would have had no Sin, you would have ſubmitted to an Evangelical Righteouſneſs, and have been put into a juſtified State. Note, Thoſe who are convinced of their Diſeaſe are in a fair way to be cured, for there is not a greater Hindrance to the Salvation of Souls, than Self-ſufficiency.

2. But now ye ſay, We ſee, now ye have Knowledge, and are inſtructed out of the Law, your Sin is highly aggravated; and now you have a Conceit of that Knowledge, and think you ſee your way better than any body can ſhew it you, therefore your Sin remains, your Caſe is deſperate, and your Diſeaſe incurable. As thoſe are moſt blind who will not ſee, ſo their Blindneſs is moſt dangerous who fancy they do ſee. No Patients are ſo hardly managed as thoſe in a Frenzy, who ſay they are well, and nothing ails them. The Sin of thoſe who are ſelf-conceited and ſelf-confident remains; for they reject the Goſpel of Grace, and therefore the Guilt of their Sin remains unpardon'd; and they forfeit the Spirit of Grace, and therefore the Power of their Sin remains unbroken. Seeſt thou a Man wiſe in his own Conceit? Heareſt thou the Phariſees ſay, We ſee? There is more Hopes of a Fool, of a Publican and a Harlot, than of ſuch.

CHAP. X.

In this Chapter we have, (1.) Chriſt's Parabolical Diſcourſe concerning himſelf, as the Door of the Sheep, and the Shepherd of the Sheep, v. 1.—18. (2.) The various Sentiments of People upon it, v. 19.—21. (3.) The Diſpute Chriſt had with the Jews in the Temple, at the Feaſt of Dedication, v. 22.—39. (4.) His Departure into the Country thereupon, v. 40.—42.

VErily, verily I ſay unto you, He that entreth not by the door into the ſheepfold, but climbeth up ſome other way, the ſame is a thief and a robber. 2 But he that entreth in by the door, is the ſhepherd of the ſheep. 3 To him the porter openeth; and the ſheep hear his voice: and he calleth his own ſheep by name, and leadeth them out. 4 And when he putteth forth his own ſheep, he goeth before them, and the ſheep follow him: for they know his voice. 5 And a ſtranger they will not follow, but will flee from him: for they know not the voice of ſtrangers. 6 This parab'e ſpake Jeſus unto them: but they underſtood not what things they were which he ſpake unto them. 7 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them again, Verily, verily I ſay unto you, I am the door of the ſheep. 8 All that ever came before me, are thieves and robbers: but the ſheep did not hear them. 9 I am the door: by me if any man enter in, he ſhall be ſaved, and ſhall go in and out, and find paſture. 10 The thief cometh not, but for to ſteal, and to kill, and to deſtroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. 11 I am the good ſhepherd: the good ſhepherd giveth his life for the ſheep. 12 But he that is an hireling, and not the ſhepherd, whoſe own the ſheep are not, ſeeth the wolf coming, and leaveth the ſheep, and fleeth: and the wolf catcheth them, and ſcattereth the ſheep. 13 The hireling fleeth, becauſe he is an hireling, and careth not for the ſheep. 14 I am the good ſhepherd, and know my ſheep, and am known of mine. 15 As the Father knoweth me, even ſo know I the Father: and I lay down my life for the ſheep. 16 And other ſheep I have which are not of this fold: them alſo I muſt bring, and they ſhall hear my voice; and there ſhall be one fold, and one ſhepherd. 17 Therefore doth my Father love me, becauſe I lay down my life, that I might take it again. 18 No man taketh it from me, but I lay it down of my ſelf: I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again: This commandment have I received of my Father.

It is not certain whether this Diſcourſe was at the Feaſt of Dedication in the Winter, ſpoken of, v. 22. which may be taken as the Date, not only of what follows, but of what goes before; that which countenanceth this, is, that Chriſt in his Diſcourſe there carries on the Metaphor of the Sheep, v. 26, 27. from whence it ſeems that that Diſcourſe and this were at the ſame time; or whether this was a Continuation of his Parley with the Phariſees, in the Cloſe of the foregoing Chapter. The Phariſees ſupported themſelves in their Oppoſition to Chriſt with this Principle, That they were the Paſtors of the Church, and that Jeſus having no Commiſſion from them, was an Intruder, and an Impoſtor, and therefore the People were bound in Duty to ſtick to them againſt him. In Oppoſition to this, Chriſt here deſcribes who were the falſe Shepherds, and who the true, leaving them to infer what they were.

Firſt, Here is the Parable, or Similitude propos'd, v. 1.——5. 'tis borrow'd from the Cuſtom of the Country, in the Management of their Sheep. Similitudes us'd for the Illuſtration of divine Truths ſhould be taken from thoſe Things that are moſt familiar and common, that the Things of God be not clouded by that which ſhould clear them. The Preface to this Diſcourſe is ſolemn, Verily, verily I ſay unto you. Amen, Amen; this vehement Aſſeveration ſpeaks the Certainty and Weight of what he ſaid; we find Amen doubled in the Church's Praiſes, and Prayers, Pſal. 41. 13. and 72. 19. and 89. 52. If we would have our Amens accepted in Heaven, let Chriſt's Amens be prevailing on Earth; his repeated Amens.

In the Parable we have,

1. The Evidence of a Thief and a Robber, that comes to do Miſchief to the Flock, and Damage to the Owner, v. 1. He enters not by the Door, as having no lawful Cauſe of Entry, but climbs up ſome other way, at a Window, or ſome Breach in the Wall. How induſtrious are wicked People to do Miſchief? what Plots will they lay? what Pains will they take? what Hazards will they run in their wicked Purſuits? which ſhould ſhame us out of our Slothfulneſs and Cowardice in the Service of God.

2. The Character that diſtinguiſheth the rightful Owner, who has a Propriety in the Sheep, and a Care of them, he enters in by the Door, as one having Authority, v. 2. and he comes to do them ſome good Office or other, to bind up that which is broken, and ſtrengthen that which is ſick, Ezek. 34. 16. Sheep need Man's Care, and in return for it are ſerviceable to Man, 1 Cor. 9. 7. they cloath and feed thoſe by whom they are coated and fed.

3. The ready Entrance that the Shepherd finds, v. 3. To him the Porter openeth. Antiently they had their Sheep-folds within the outer Gates of their Houſes, for the greater Safety of their Flocks, ſo that none could come to them the right way, but ſuch as the Porter open'd to, or the Maſter of the Houſe gave the Keys to.

4. The Care he takes, and the Proviſion he makes for his Sheep. The Sheep hear his Voice, when he ſpeaks familiarly to them; when they came into the Fold, as Men now do to their Dogs and Horſes; and which is more, he calls his own Sheep by Name, ſo exact is the Notice he takes of them, the Account he keeps of them; and he leads them out from the Fold to the green Paſtures. And (v. 4, 5.) when he turns them out to graze, he doth not drive them, but (ſuch was the Cuſtom in thoſe Times) he goes before them, to prevent any Miſchief or Danger that might meet them, and they being us'd to it, follow him, and are ſafe.

5. The ſtrange Attendance of the Sheep upon the Shepherd, they know his Voice, ſo as to diſcern his Mind by it, and to diſtinguiſh it from that of a Stranger; for the Ox knows his Owner, Iſa. 1. 3. and a Stranger will they not follow, but, as ſuſpecting ſome ill Deſign, will flee from him, not knowing his Voice, but that it is not the Voice of their own Shepherd. This is the Parable; we have the Key to it, Ezek. 34. 31. Ye my Flock are Men, and I am your God.

Let us obſerve ſomething from the Parable it ſelf.

1. That good Men are fitly compar'd to Sheep. Men as Creatures, depending on their Creator, are call'd the Sheep of his Paſture. Good Men as new Creatures, have the good Qualities of Sheep, harmleſs and inoffenſive as Sheep; meek and quiet, without Noiſe; patient as Sheep under the Hand both of the Shearer and of the Butcher; uſeful and profitable, tame and tractable to the Shepherd, and ſociable one with another, and much us'd in Sacrifices.

2. The Church of God in the World is a Sheep-fold, into which the Children of God that were ſcattered Abroad are gather'd together, John 11. 52. and in which they are united, and incorporated, 'tis a good Fold, Ezek. 33. 14. See Mic. 2. 12. This Fold is well fortified, for God himſelf is as a Wall of Fire about it, Zech. 2. 5.

3. This Sheep-fold lies much expos'd to Thieves and Robbers; crafty Seducers that debauch and deceive, and cruel Perſecutors that deſtroy and devour, grievous Wolves, Acts 20. 29. Thieves that would ſteal Chriſt's Sheep from him, to ſacrifice 'em to Devils, or ſteal their Food from them that they might periſh for lack of it. Wolves in Sheep's Clothing, Mat. 7. 16.

4. The great Shepherd of the Sheep has a wonderful Care of the Flock, and of all that belong to it. God is the great Shepherd, Pſal. 23. 1. and 80. 1. He knows them that are his, calls them by Name, marks them for himſelf, leads them out to fat Paſtures, makes them both feed and reſt there; ſpeaks comfortably to them, guards them by his Providence, guides them by his Spirit and Word, and goes before them to ſet them in the Way of his Steps.

5. The under Shepherds who are entruſted to feed the Flock of God, ought to be careful and faithful in the diſcharge of that Truſt; Magiſtrates muſt defend them, and protect and advance all their ſecular Intereſt; Miniſters muſt ſerve them in their ſpiritual Intereſts, muſt feed their Souls with the Word of God, faithfully opened and applied, and with Goſpel Ordinances duly adminiſter'd, taking the Overſight of them; they muſt enter by the Door of a regular Ordination, and to ſuch the Porter will open: The Spirit of Chriſt will ſet before them an open Door, give them Authority in the Church, and Aſſurance in their own Boſoms. They muſt know the Members of their Flocks by Name, and watch over them; muſt lead them into the Paſtures of publick Ordinances, preſide among them, be their Mouth to God, and God's to them; and in their Converſation muſt be Examples to the Believers.

6. Thoſe who are truly the Sheep of Chriſt will be very obſervant of their Shepherd, and very cautious and ſhy of Strangers. (1.) They follow their Shepherd, for they know his Voice, having both a diſcerning Ear, and an obedient Heart. (2.) They flee from a Stranger, and dread following him, becauſe they know not his Voice. 'Tis dangerous following thoſe in whom we diſcern not the Voice of Chriſt, and who would draw us from Faith in him to Fancies concerning him. And they that have experienced the Power and Efficacy of Divine Truths upon their Souls, and have the Savour and Reliſh of them, have a ſtrange Sagacity to diſcover Satan's Wiles, and diſcern between Good and Evil.

Secondly, The Jews Ignorance of the Drift and Meaning of this Diſcourſe, v. 6. Jeſus ſpoke this Parable to them, this figurative, but wiſe, elegant, and inſtructive Diſcourſe, but they underſtood not what the Things were which he ſpake unto them; were not aware whom he meant by the Thieves and Robbers, and whom by the good Shepherd. It is the Sin and Shame of many who hear the Word of Chriſt that they do not underſtand it, and they do not becauſe they will not, and becauſe they will miſunderſtand it. They have no Acquaintance with, or Taſte of the Things themſelves, and therefore do not underſtand the Parables and Compariſons with which they are illuſtrated. The Phariſees had a great Conceit of their own Knowledge, and could not bear that it ſhould be queſtion'd, and yet they had not Senſe enough to underſtand the Things that Jeſus ſpake of; they were above their Capacity. Many Times the greateſt Pretenders to Knowledge are moſt ignorant in the Things of God.

Thirdly, Chriſt's Explication of this Parable, opening the Particulars of it fully. Whatever Difficulties there may be in the Sayings of the Lord Jeſus, we ſhall find him ready to explain himſelf, if we be but willing to underſtand him. We ſhall find one Scripture expounding another, and the Bleſſed Spirit Interpreter to the Bleſſed Jeſus.

Chriſt in the Parable had diſtinguiſh'd the Shepherd from the Robber, by this, that he enters in by the Door. Now in the Rendition of the Parable, he makes himſelf to be both the Door by which the Shepherd enters, and the Shepherd that enters in by the Door. Tho' it may be a Soleciſm in Rhetorick to make the ſame Perſon to be both the Door and the Shepherd, 'tis no Soleciſm in Divinity to make Chriſt to have his Authority from himſelf, as he has Life in himſelf; and himſelf to enter by his own Blood, as the Door, into the holy Place.

1. Chriſt is the Door. This he ſaith to them who pretended to ſeek for Righteouſneſs, but like the Sodomites, weary'd themſelves to find the Door, where it was not to be found: He ſaith it to the Jews, who would be thought God's only Sheep, and to the Phariſees, who would be thought their only Shepherds. I am the Door of the Sheep-fold; the Door of the Church. 1. He is as a Door ſhut to keep out Thieves and Robbers, and ſuch as are not fit to be admitted. The ſhutting of the Door is the ſecuring of the Houſe; and what greater Security has the Church of God than the Interpoſal of the Lord Jeſus, and his Wiſdom, Power, and Goodneſs betwixt it, and all its Enemies. 2. He is as a Door open for Paſſage and Communication. 1. By Chriſt as the Door, we have our firſt Admiſſion into the Flock of God, John 14. 6. 2. We go in and out in a religious Converſation, aſſiſted by him, accepted in him; walking up and down in his Name, Zech. 10. 12. 3. By him God comes to his Church, viſits it, and communicates himſelf to it. 4. By him as the Door the Sheep are laſt admitted into the heavenly Kingdoms, Mat. 25. 34. More particularly,

(1.) Chriſt is the Door of the Sheep-fold, ſo that none who come not in by him, are to be accounted Paſtors, but (according to the Rule laid down, v. 1.) Thieves and Robbers, tho' they pretend to be Shepherds, but the Sheep did not hear them. All thoſe that had the Character of Shepherds in Iſrael, whether Magiſtrates or Miniſters, that exercis'd their Office without any regard to the Meſſiah, or any other Expectations of him than what were ſuggeſted by their own carnal Intereſt.

Obſerve, 1. The Character given of them, they are Thieves and Robbers, v. 8. all that went before him, not in Time, many of them were faithful Shepherds, but all that anticipated his Commiſſion, and went before he ſent them, Jer. 23. 21. that aſſum'd a Precedency and Superiority above him, as the Antichriſt is ſaid to exalt himſelf, 2 Theſ. 2. 4. The Scribes and Phariſees, and Chief Prieſts, all even as many as have come before me, that have endeavour'd to foreſtall my Intereſt, and to prevent my gaining any Room in the Minds of People, by prepoſſeſſing them with Prejudices againſt me, they are Thieves and Robbers, and ſteal thoſe Hearts which they have no Title to, defrauding the right Owner of his Property. They condemn'd our Saviour as a Thief and a Robber, becauſe he did not come in by them as the Door, nor take out a Licenſe from them; but he ſhews that they ought to have receiv'd their Commiſſion from him, and to have been admitted by him, and to have come after him, which becauſe they did not, but ſtept before him, they were Thieves and Robbers. They would not come in as his Diſciples, and therefore were condemn'd as Uſurpers, and their pretended Commiſſions vacated and ſuperſeded. Note, Rivals with Chriſt are Robbers of his Church, however they pretend to be Shepherds, nay Shepherds of Shepherds.

2. The Care taken to preſerve the Sheep from them, but the Sheep did not hear them. Thoſe that had a true Savour in Piety, that were ſpiritual and heavenly, and ſincerely devoted to God and Godlineſs, could by no Means approve of the Traditions of the Elders, nor reliſh their Formalities. Chriſt's Diſciples, without any particular Inſtructions from their Maſter, made no Conſcience of eating with unwaſhen Hands, or plucking the Ears of Corn on the Sabbath Day; for nothing is more oppoſite to true Chriſtianity than Phariſaiſm is; nor any Thing more diſreliſhing to a Soul truly devout, than their hypocritical Devotions.

(2.) Chriſt is the Door of the Sheep, v. 9. By me (δι ἐμȣ̃, through me as the Door) if any Man enter into the Sheep-fold as one of the Fold, he ſhall be ſaved; ſhall not only be ſafe from Thieves and Robbers, but he ſhall be happy, he ſhall go in and out.

Here's, 1. Plain Directions given how to come into the Fold, we muſt come in by Jeſus Chriſt as the Door. By Faith in him as the great Mediator between God and Man, we come into Covenant and Communion with God. No entring into God's Church, but by coming into Chriſt's Church; nor are any look'd upon as Members of the Kingdom of God among Men, but thoſe that are willing to ſubmit to the Grace and Government of the Redeemer. We muſt now enter by the Door of Faith, Acts 14. 27. ſince the Door of Innocency is ſhut againſt us, and that Paſs become unpaſſable. Gen. 3. 24.

2. Precious Promiſes to thoſe who obſerve this Direction.

1. They ſhall be ſaved hereafter, that's the Privilege of their Home; theſe Sheep ſhall be ſav'd from being diſtrained and im- pounded by Divine Juſtice for Treſpaſs done, Satisfaction being made for the Damage by their great Shepherd; ſav'd from being a Prey to the roaring Lion: They ſhall be for ever happy.

2. In the mean time they ſhall go in and out, and find Paſture; that's the Privilege of their way. They ſhall have their Converſation in the World by the Grace of Chriſt; ſhall be in his Fold as a Man at his own Houſe, where he has free Ingreſs, Egreſs, and Regreſs; true Believers are at home in Chriſt; when they go out, they are not ſhut out as Strangers, but have Liberty to come in again; when they come in, they are not ſhut in as Treſpaſſers, but have Liberty to go out. They go out to the Field in the Morning, they come in to the Fold at Night, and in both the Shepherd leads and keeps them, and they find Paſture in both; Graſs in the Field, Fodder in the Fold. In publick, in private, they have the Word of God to converſe with, by which their ſpiritual Life is ſupported and nouriſhed, and out of which their gracious Deſires are ſatisfied. They are repleniſhed with the Goodneſs of God's Houſe.

2. Chriſt is the Shepherd, v. 10, &c. He was propheſied of under the Old Teſtament as a Shepherd, Iſa. 40. 11. Ezek. 34. 23. and 37. 24. Zech. 13. 7. In the New Teſtament he is ſpoken of as the great Shepherd, Heb. 13. 20. the chief Shepherd, 1 Pet. 5. 4. the Shepherd and Biſhop of our Souls, 1 Pet. 2. 25. God our great Owner, the Sheep of whoſe Paſture we are by Creation, hath conſtituted his Son Jeſus to be our Shepherd; and here again and again he owns the Relation. He hath all that Care of his Church, and every Believer, that a good Shepherd has of his Flock; and expects all that Attendance and Obſervance from the Church and every Believer, which the Shepherds in thoſe Countries had from their Flocks.

1. Chriſt is a Shepherd, and not as the Thief, not as thoſe that came not in by the Door. Obſerve,

(1.) The miſchievous Deſign of the Thief, v. 10. The Thief cometh not with any good Intent, but to ſteal, and to kill, and to deſtroy. (1.) Thoſe whom they ſteal, whoſe Hearts and Affections they ſteal from Chriſt, and his Paſtures, they kill and deſtroy ſpiritually, for the Hereſies they privily bring in are damnable. Deceivers of Souls are Murtherers of Souls. They that ſteal away the Scripture by keeping it in an unknown Tongue, ſteal away the Sacraments by maiming them, and altering the Property of them, that ſteal away Chriſt's Ordinances, to put their own Inventions in the Room of them, they kill and deſtroy; Ignorance and Idolatry are deſtructive Things. (2.) Thoſe whom they cannot ſteal, whom they can neither lead, drive, nor carry away from the Flock of Chriſt, they aim by Perſecutions and Maſſacres to kill and deſtroy corporally. He that will not ſuffer himſelf to be robb'd, is in danger to be ſlain.

(2.) The gracious Deſign of the Shepherd; he is come,

(1.) To give Life to the Sheep. In Oppoſition to the Deſign of the Thief, which is to kill and deſtroy, which was the Deſign of the Scribes and Phariſees; Chriſt ſaith, I am come among Men, 1. That they might have Life. He came to put Life into the Flock, the Church in general, which had ſeem'd rather like a Valley full of dry Bones, than like a Paſture cover'd over with Flocks; Chriſt came to vindicate divine Truths, to purify divine Ordinances, to redreſs Grievances, and revive dying Zeal, to ſeek them of his Flock that were loſt, to bind up that which was broken, Ezek. 34. 16. and this to his Church is as Life from the Dead. He came to give Life to particular Believers; Life is incluſive of all Good, and ſtands in Oppoſition to the Death threaten'd, Gen. 2. 17. That we might have Life, as a Criminal has when he is pardon'd, as a ſick Man when he is cur'd; a dead Man when he is rais'd; that we might be juſtified, ſanctified, and at laſt glorified. 2. That they might have it more abundantly, ϗ περισσὸν ἔχωσιν. As we read it, 'tis comparative, that they might have a Life more abundant than that which was loſt and forfeited by Sin; more abundant than that which was promis'd by the Law of Moſes, Length of Days in Canaan, more abundant than could have been expected, or than we are able to ask or think. But it may be conſtrued without a Note of Compariſon, That they might have abundance, or, might have it abundantly. Chriſt came to give Life and περισσόν τι ſomething more, ſomething better, Life with Advantage. That in Chriſt we might not only live, but live comfortably, live plentifully, live and rejoyce; Life in Abundance is eternal Life; Life without Death, or Fear of Death; Life, and much more.

2. To give his Life for the Sheep, and this that he might give Life to them, v. 11. The good Shepherd giveth his Life for the Sheep. (1.) It is the Property of every good Shepherd to hazard and expoſe his Life for the Sheep. Jacob did ſo, when he would go through ſuch a Fatigue to attend them, Gen. 31. 40. So did David, when he ſlew the Lion and the Bear. Such a Shepherd of Souls was St. Paul, who would gladly ſpend, and be ſpent for their Service, and counted not his Life dear to him, in Compariſon with their Salvation. But, (2.) It was the Prerogative of the great Shepherd to give his Life to purchaſe his Flock, Acts 20. 28. to ſatisfy for their Treſpaſs, and to ſhed his Blood to waſh and cleanſe them.

2. Chriſt is a good Shepherd, and not as a Hireling. There were many that were not Thieves, aiming to kill and deſtroy the Sheep, but paſs'd for Shepherds, yet were very careleſs in the Diſcharge of their Duty, and thro' their Neglect the Flock was greatly damag'd; fooliſh Shepherds, idle Shepherds, Zech. 11. 15, 17. In Oppoſition to theſe,

1. Chriſt here calls himſelf the good Shepherd, v. 11. and again, v. 13. ὁ ποιμὴν ὁ καλὸς, that Shepherd, that good Shepherd, whom God promis'd. Note, Jeſus Chriſt is the beſt of Shepherds, the beſt in the World, to take the Overſight of Souls; none ſo skilful, ſo faithful, ſo tender as he, no ſuch Feeder and Leader, no ſuch Protector and Healer of Souls as he.

2. He proves himſelf ſo, in Oppoſition to all Hirelings, v. 12, 13, 14. Where obſerve,

1. The Careleſneſs of the unfaithful Shepherd deſcrib'd, v. 12, 13. He that is a Hireling, that is employ'd as a Servant, and is paid for his Pains, whoſe own the Sheep are not, who has neither Profit nor Loſs by them, he ſees the Wolf coming, or ſome other Danger threatning, and he leaves the Sheep to the Wolf, for in Truth he careth not for them. Here is plain Reference to that of the idle Shepherd, Zech. 11. 17.

Here's the Deſcription of bad Shepherds, Magiſtrates or Miniſters, both their bad Principles and bad Practices.

1. Their bad Principles the Root of their bad Practices. What makes thoſe that have the Charge of Souls, in trying Times, betray their Truſt, and in quiet Times not to mind it? What makes them falſe and trifling, and ſelf-ſeeking? It is becauſe they are Hirelings, and care not for the Sheep. That is, (1.) The Wealth of the World is the Chief of their Good; 'tis becauſe they are Hirelings. They undertook the Shepherds Office, as a Trade to live and grow rich by, not as an Opportunity of ſerving Chriſt, and doing good. 'Tis the Love of Money, and of their own Bellies, that carries them on in it. Not that thoſe are Hirelings, who while they ſerve at the Altar live, and live comfortably upon the Altar; the Labourer is worthy of his Meat, and a ſcandalous Maintenance will ſoon make a ſcandalous Miniſtry; but thoſe are Hirelings that love the Wages more than the Work, and ſet their Hearts upon that, as the Hireling is ſaid to do, Deut. 24. 15. See 1 Sam. 2. 29. Iſa. 56. 11. Mic. 3. 5, 11. (2.) The Work of their Place is the leaſt of their Care; they value not the Sheep, are unconcern'd in the Souls of others, their Buſineſs is to be their Brothers Lords, not their Brothers Keepers or Helpers; they ſeek their own Things, and not like Timothy, naturally care for the State of Souls; what can be expected, but that they will flee when the Wolf comes? He careth not for the Sheep, for he is one whoſe own the Sheep are not; in one Reſpect we may ſay of the beſt of the Under-ſhepherds, that the Sheep are not their own, they have not Dominion over them, or Property in them. Feed my Sheep and my Lambs, ſaith Chriſt. But in reſpect of Dearneſs and Affection they ſhould be their own. Paul look'd upon thoſe as his own, whom he call'd his dearly beloved and longed for. Thoſe who do not cordially eſpouſe the Church's Intereſts, and make them their own, will not long be faithful to them.

2. Their bad Practices, the Effect of theſe bad Principles, v. 12. See here, 1. How baſely the Hireling deſerts his Poſt, when he ſees the Wolf coming, tho then there is moſt need of him, he leaves the Sheep and flees. Note, Thoſe who mind their Safety more than their Duty, are an eaſy Prey to Satan's Temptations. 2. How fatal the Conſequences are; the Hireling fancy'd the Sheep might look to themſelves, but it doth not prove ſo, the Wolf catcheth them, and ſcatters the Sheep, and woful Havock is made of the Flock, which will all be charg'd upon the treacherous Shepherd. The Blood of periſhing Souls is requir'd at the Hand of the careleſs Watch-men.

2. See here the Grace and Tenderneſs of the good Shepherd, ſet over againſt the former, as it was in the Prophecy, Ezek. 34. 21, 22. I am the good Shepherd. It is Matter of Comfort to the Church and all her Friends, that however ſhe may be damag'd and endanger'd by the Treachery and Miſmanagement of her Under-officers, the Lord Jeſus is, and will be, as he ever has been, the good Shepherd.

Here are two great Inſtances of the Shepherd's Goodneſs.

Firſt, His acquainting himſelf with his Flock, with all that belong, or in any wiſe appertain to his Flock, which are of two ſorts, both known to him.

(1.) He is acquainted with all that are now of his Flock, v. 14, 15. as the good Shepherd, v. 3, 4. I know my Sheep, and am known of mine. Note, There's a mutual Acquaintance between Chriſt and true Believers; they know one another very well, and Knowledge notes Affection.

(1.) Chriſt knows his Sheep. He knows with a diſtinguiſhing Eye who are his Sheep, and who are not, he knows the Sheep under their many Infirmities, and the Goats under their moſt plauſible Diſguiſes. He knows with a favourable Eye thoſe that in Truth are his own Sheep; he takes Cognizance of their State, concerns himſelf for them, has a tender and affectionate Regard to them, and is continually mindful of them in the Interceſſion he ever lives to make within the Veil; and viſits them graciouſly by his Spirit, and has Communion with them. He knows them, i. e. he approves and accepts of them, as Pſal. 1. 6. and 37. 18. Exod. 33. 17.

(2.) He is known of them. He obſerves them with an Eye of Favour, and they obſerve him with an Eye of Faith. Chriſt's knowing his Sheep, is put before their knowing him; for he knew and lov'd us firſt, 1 John 4. 21. and it is not ſo much our knowing him, as our being known of him, that it is our Happineſs, Gal. 4. 8. yet 'tis the Character of Chriſt's Sheep, that they know him. Know him from all Pretenders and Intruders; they know his Mind, know his Voice, know by Experience the Power of his Death. Chriſt ſpeaks here, as if he gloried in being known by his Sheep, and thought their Reſpects an Honour to him.

Upon this Occaſion Chriſt mentions, v. 15. the mutual Acquaintance between his Father and him; As the Father knows me, even ſo know I the Father. Now this may be conſider'd, either, 1. As the Ground of that intimate Acquaintance and Relation, which is between Chriſt and Believers. The Covenant of Grace, which is the Bonds of that Relation, is founded in the Covenant of Redemption between the Father and the Son, which we may be ſure ſtands firm; for the Father and the Son underſtood one another perfectly well in that Matter, and there could be no Miſtake, which might leave the Matter at any Uncertainty, or bring it into any Hazard. The Lord Jeſus knows whom he hath choſen, and is ſure of them, John 13. 18. And they alſo know whom they have truſted, and are ſure of him, 2 Tim. 1. 12. and the Ground of both is the perfect Knowledge which the Father and Son had of one another's Mind, when the Counſel of Peace was between them both. Or, 2. As an apt Similitude illuſtrating the Intimacy that is between Chriſt and Believers; it may be connected with the foregoing Words, thus; I know my Sheep, and am known of mine, even as the Father knows me, and I know the Father; compare John 17. 21. (1.) As the Father knew the Son, and lov'd him and own'd him in his Sufferings, when he was led as a Sheep to the Slaughter, ſo Chriſt knows his Sheep, and has a watchful tender Eye upon them, will be with them when they are left alone, as he was with him. (2.) As the Son knew the Father, lov'd and obey'd him, and always did thoſe things that pleas'd him, and confided in him as his God, even when he ſeem'd to forſake him, ſo Believers know Chriſt with an obediential fiducial Regard.

2. He is acquainted with thoſe that are hereafter to be of his Flock, v. 16. Other Sheep I have, have a Right to, and an Intereſt in, which are not of this Fold, of the Jewiſh Church, them alſo I muſt bring. Obſerve,

(1.) The Eye that Chriſt had to the poor Gentiles; he had ſometimes intimated his ſpecial Concern for the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, to them indeed his perſonal Miniſtry was confin'd, but, ſaith he, I have other Sheep. Thoſe who in Proceſs of time ſhould believe in Chriſt, and be brought into Obedience to him from among the Gentiles, are here call'd Sheep; and he is ſaid to have them, tho' as yet they were uncalled, and many of them unborn, becauſe they were choſe of God, and given to Chriſt in the Counſels of divine Love from Eternity. Chriſt has a Right to many a Soul, by Virtue of the Father's Donation, and his own Purchaſe, which he has not yet the Poſſeſſion of; thus he had much People in Corinth, when as yet it lay in Wickedneſs, Acts 18. 10. Thoſe other Sheep I have, ſaith Chriſt, I have them on my Heart, have them in my Eye, am as ſure to have them, as if I had them already. Now Chriſt ſpeaks of thoſe other Sheep, (1.) To take off the Contempt that was put upon him, as having few Followers, as having but a little Flock, and therefore if a good Shepherd, yet a poor Shepherd; but ſaith he, I have more Sheep than you ſee. (2.) To take down the Pride aud Vain-glory of the Jews, who thought the Meſſiah muſt gather all his Sheep from among them. No, ſaith Chriſt, I have others whom I will ſet with the Lambs of my Flock, tho' you diſdain to ſet them with the Dogs of your Flock.

(2.) The Purpoſes and Reſolves of his Grace concerning them; them alſo I muſt bring, bring home to God, bring into the Church, and in order to that, bring off from their vain Converſation, bring them back from their Wanderings, as that loſt Sheep, Luke 15. 5. But why muſt he bring them? What was the Neceſſity? (1.) The Neceſſity of their Caſe requir'd it; I muſt bring, or they muſt be left to wander endleſly, for like Sheep they will never come back of themſelves, and no other can or will bring them. (2.) The Neceſſity of his own Engagements required it; he muſt bring them, or he would not be faithful to his Truſt, and true to his Undertaking. They are my own, bought and paid for, and therefore I muſt not neglect them, or leave them to periſh. He muſt in Honour bring thoſe whom he was intruſted with.

(3.) The happy Effect and Conſequent of this, in two Things. (1.) They ſhall hear my Voice. Not only my Voice ſhall be heard among them; whereas they have not heard, and therefore could not believe, now the Sound of the Goſpel ſhall go to the End of the Earth but it ſhall be heard by them; I will ſpeak and give to them to hear. Faith comes by hearing, and our dilligent Obſervance of the Voice of Chriſt, is both a Means and an Evidence of our being brought to Chriſt, and to God by him. (2.) There ſhall be one Fold and one Shepherd. As there is one Shepherd, ſo there ſhall be one Fold. Both Jews and Gentiles upon their turning to the Faith of Chriſt, ſhall be incorporated in one Church, be joint and equal Sharers in the Privileges of it without Diſtinction. Being united to Chriſt, they ſhall unite in him; two Sticks ſhall become one in the Hand of the Lord. Note, One Shepherd makes one Fold; one Chriſt makes one Church. As the Church is one in its Conſtitution, ſubject to one Head, animated by one Spirit, and guided by one Rule, ſo the Members of it ought to be one in Love and Affection. Eph. 4. 3, 4, 5, 6.

Secondly, Chriſt's offering up himſelf for his Sheep, is another Proof of his being a good Shepherd, and in this he yet more commended his Love, v. 15, 17, 18.

1. He declares his Purpoſe of dying for his Flock, v. 15. I lay down my Life for the Sheep. He not only ventur'd his Life for them, in ſuch a Caſe, the Hope of ſaving it may ballance the Fear of loſing it; but he actually depoſited it, and ſubmitted to a Neceſſity of dying for our Redemption, τίθημι, I put it as a Pawn or Pledge; as Purchaſe-Money paid down. Sheep appointed for the ſlaughter, ready to be ſacrific'd, were ranſom'd with the Blood of the Shepherd. He laid down his Life, ὑπὲρ τῶν προβάτων, not only for the good of the Sheep, but in their ſtead. Thouſands of Sheep had been offer'd in Sacrifice for their Shepherds, as Sin-Offerings; but here by a ſurprizing Reverſe, the Shepherd is ſacrific'd for the Sheep. When David, the Shepherd of Iſrael, was himſelf guilty, and the deſtroying Angel drew his Sword againſt the Flock for his Sake, with good Reaſon did he plead, Theſe Sheep, what Evil have they done, let thine Hand be againſt me, 2 Sam. 24. 17. But the Son of David was ſinleſs and ſpotleſs, and his Sheep, what Evil have they not done? Yet he ſaith, Let thine Hand be againſt me. Chriſt here ſeems to refer to that Prophet, Zech. 13. 17. Awake, O Sword againſt my Shepherd, and tho' the ſmiting of the Shepherd be for the preſent the ſcattering of the Flock, 'tis in order to the gathering of them in.

2. He takes off the Offence of the Croſs, which to many is a Stone of Stumbling, by four Conſiderations.

1. That his laying down his Life for the Sheep was the Condition, the Performance of which entitl'd him to the Honours and Powers of his exalted State, v. 17. Therefore doth my Father love me, becauſe I lay down my Life. Upon theſe Terms I am as a Mediator, to expect my Father's Acceptance and Approbation, and the Glory deſign'd me, that I become a Sacrifice for the choſen Remnant. Not but as the Son of God, he was beloved of his Father from Eternity, but as God-man, as Immanuel, he was therefore beloved of the Father becauſe he undertook to die for the Sheep: therefore God's Soul delighted in him as his Elect, becauſe herein he was his faithful Servant, Iſa. 42. 1. therefore he ſaid, This is my beloved Son. What an Inſtance is this of God's Love to Man, that he loved his Son the more for loving us. See what a Value Chriſt puts upon his Father's Love, that to recommend himſelf to that, he would lay down his Life for the Sheep; Did he think God's Love Recompence ſufficient for all his Services and Sufferings, and ſhall we think it too little for ours, and court the Smiles of the World to make it up? Therefore doth my Father love me, i. e. me, and all that by Faith become one with me; me and the myſtical Body, becauſe I lay down my Life. Chriſt's Death was the Purchaſe of his Father's Love both to him and us.

2. That his laying down his Life was in order to his reſuming it. I lay down my Life, that I may receive it again. (1.) This was the Effect of his Father's Love, and the firſt Step of his Exaltation, the Fruit of that Love: Becauſe he was God's holy One, he muſt not ſee Corruption, Pſal. 16. 10. God lov'd him too well to leave him in the Grave. (2.) This he had in his Eye in laying down his Life, that he might have an Opportunity of declaring himſelf to be the Son of God with Power, by his Reſurrection, Rom. 1. 4. By a divine Stratagem (like that before Ai, Joſh. 8. 15.(he yielded to Death, as if he were ſmitten before it, that he might the more glorioufly conquer Death, and triumph over the Grave. He laid down a vilified Body, that he might reſume a glorified one, fit to aſcend to the World of Spirits; laid down a Life adapted to this World, but reſum'd one adapted to the other, like a Corn of Wheat, John 12. 24.

3. That he was perfectly voluntary in his Suffering and Death. v. 18. No one doth or can force my Life from me againſt my Will, but I freely lay it down my ſelf, I deliver it as my own Act and Deed, for I have (which no Man has) Power to lay it down, and take it again.

1. See here the Power of Chriſt, as the Lord of Life, particularly of his own Life, which he had in himſelf.

1. He had Power to keep his Life againſt all the World, ſo that it could not be wreſted from him without his own Conſent. Tho' Chriſt's Life ſeems to be taken by Storm, yet really it was ſurrender'd, otherwiſe it had been impregnable, and never taken. The Lord Jeſus did not fall into the Hands of his Perſecutors, becauſe he could not avoid it, but threw himſelf into their Hands, becauſe his Hour was come. No Man taketh my Life from me. This was ſuch a Challenge as was never given by the moſt daring Heroe.

2. He had Power to lay down his Life. (1.) He had Ability to do it. He could when he pleas'd ſlip the Knot of Union between Soul and Body, and without any Act of Violence done to himſelf, could diſengage them from each other; having voluntarily taken up a Body, he could voluntarily lay it down again; which appeared when he cried with a loud Voice, and gave up the Ghoſt. (2.) He had Authority to do it, ἐξουσίαν. Tho' we could find Inſtruments of Cruelty, wherewith to make an End of our own Lives, yet id poſſumus quod jure poſſumus; we are not at Liberty to do it; but Chriſt had a ſovereign Authority to diſpoſe of his own Life as he pleas'd, he was no Debtor, as we are either to Life or Death, but perfectly ſui juris.

3. He had Power to take it again. We have not, our Life once laid down, is as Water ſpilt upon the Ground; but Chriſt, when he laid down his Life, ſtill had it within Reach, within Call, and could reſume it again. Parting with it by a voluntary Conveyance, he might limit the Surrender at Pleaſure, and he did it with a Power of Revocation; which was neceſſary to preſerve the Intentions of the Surrender.

2. See here the Grace of Chriſt, ſince none could demand his Life of him by Law, or extort it by Force, he laid it down of himſelf for our Redemption. He offer'd himſelf to be the Saviour. Lo I come, and then the Neceſſity of our Caſe calling for it, he offer'd himſelf to be a Sacrifice, Here am I, let thoſe go their way; by the which Will we are ſanctified, Heb. 10. 10. He was both the Offerer and the Offering, ſo that his laying down his Life was his offering up himſelf.

4. That he did all this by the expreſs Order and Appointment of his Father, into which he ultimately reſolves the whole Affair. This Commandment have I received of my Father; not ſuch a Commandment as made what he did neceſſary, prior to his own Suſception and Undertaking; but this was the Law of Mediation, which he was willing to have written in his Heart, ſo as to delight in doing the Will of God according to it, Pſal. 40. 8.

19 There was a diviſion therefore again among the Jews for theſe ſayings. 20 And many of them ſaid, He hath a devil, and is mad; why hear ye him? 21 Others ſaid, Theſe are not the Words of him that hath a devil: Can a devil open the eyes of the blind?

We have here an Account of the Peoples different Sentiments concerning Chriſt, on Occaſion of the foregoing Diſcourſe; there was a Diviſion, a Schiſm among them, they differ'd in their Opinions, which threw them into Heats and Parties. Such a Ferment as this they had been in before, chap. 7. 43. and 9. 16. and where there has once been a Diviſion, a little thing will make a Diviſion again. Rents are ſooner made, than made up or mended. This Diviſion was occaſion'd by the Sayings of Chriſt, which one would think ſhould have rather united them all in him as their Centre, but they ſet them at Variance, as Chriſt foreſaw, Luke 12. 42. but it is better Men ſhould be divided about the Doctrine of Chriſt, than united in the Service of Sin, Luke 11. 21.

See what the Debate was in particular.

1. Some, upon this Occaſion, ſpoke ill of Chriſt and of his Sayings, either openly in the Face of the Aſſembly, for his Enemies were very impudent, or privately among themſelves; they ſaid, He has a Devil, and is mad, why hear ye him?

1. They reproach him as a Demoniack. The worſt of Characters is put upon the beſt of Men. He is a diſtracted Man, he raves, and is delirious, and no more to be heard, than the Rambles of a Man in Bedlam. Thus ſtill, if a Man preaches ſeriouſly, and preſſingly of another World, he ſhall be ſaid to talk like an Enthuſiaſt, and it's all imputed to Fancy, a heated Brain, and a crazed Imagination.

2. They ridicule his Hearers; Why hear ye him? why do you ſo far encourage him, as to take Notice of what he ſaith? Note, Satan ruins many, by putting them out of Conceit with the Word and Ordinances, and repreſenting it as a weak and ſilly thing to attend upon them. Men would not be thus laughed out of their neceſſary Food, and yet ſuffer themſelves thus to be laughed out of what is more neceſſary. They that hear Chriſt, and mix Faith with what they hear, will ſoon be able to give a good Account why they hear him.

2. Others ſtood up in Defence of him and his Diſcourſe, and tho' the Stream run ſtrong, dar'd to ſwim againſt it, and tho' perhaps they did not believe on him as the Meſſiah, yet they could not bear to hear him thus abuſ'd.

If they could ſay no more of him, this they would maintain, that he was a Man in his Wits, that he had not a Devil, that he was neither ſenſeleſs nor graceleſs. The abſurd, and moſt unreaſonable Reproaches, that have ſometimes been caſt upon Chriſt and his Goſpel, have excited thoſe to appear for him and it, who otherwiſe had no great Affection to either. Two Things they plead;

1. The Excellency of his Doctrine; Theſe are not the Words of him that hath a Devil; they are not idle Words; diſtracted Men do not uſe to talk at this rate. Theſe are not the Words of one that is either violently poſſeſs'd with a Devil, or voluntarily in league with the Devil. Chriſtianity, if it be not the true Religion, is certainly the greateſt Cheat that ever was put upon the World, and if ſo, it muſt be of the Devil, who is the Father of all Lies; but it is certain the Doctrine of Chriſt is no Doctrine of Devils, for 'tis level'd directly againſt the Devil's Kingdom, and Satan is too ſubtle to be divided againſt himſelf. So much of Holineſs there is in the Words of Chriſt, that we may conclude they are not the Words of one that has a Devil, and therefore are the Words of one that was ſent of God; are not from Hell, and therefore muſt be from Heaven.

2. The Power of his Miracles; Can a Devil open the Eyes of the Blind, i. e. a Man that has a Devil? Neither mad Men nor ill Men uſe to work Miracles. Devils are not ſuch Lords of the Power of Nature, as to be able to work ſuch Miracles; nor are they ſuch Friends to Mankind, as to be willing to work them if they were able. The Devil will ſooner put out Mens Eyes than open them. Therefore Jeſus had not a Devil.

22 And it was at Jeruſalem the feaſt of the dedication, and it was winter. 23 And Jeſus walked in the temple, in Solomon's porch. 24 Then came the Jews round about him, and ſaid unto him, How long doſt thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Chriſt, tell us plainly, 25 Jeſus anſwered them, I told you, and ye believed not: the works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witneſs of me. 26. But ye believed not; becauſe ye are not of my ſheep, as I ſaid unto you. 27 My ſheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me. 28 And I give unto them eternal life, and they ſhall never periſh, neither ſhall any pluck them out of my hand. 29 My Father, which gave them me, is greater than all: and none is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand. 30 I and my Father are one. 31 Then the Jews took up ſtones again to ſtone him, 32. Jeſus anſwered them, Many good works have I ſhewed you from my Father; for which of thoſe works do ye ſtone me? 33 The Jews anſwered him ſaying, For a good work we ſtone thee not; but for blaſphemy, and becauſe that thou, being a man, makeſt thy ſelf God. 34 Jeſus anſwered them, Is it not written in your law, I ſaid, ye are Gods? 35 If he called them Gods, unto whom the word of God came, and the ſcripture cannot be broken: 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath ſanctified, and ſent into the world, Thou baſphemeſt, becauſe I ſaid, I am the Son of God. 37 If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. 38 But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works, that you may know and believe that the Father is in me, and I in him.

We have here another Rencounter between Chriſt and the Jews in the Temple, in which 'tis hard to ſay which is more ſtrange, the gracious Words that came out of his Mouth, or the ſpiteful ones that came out of theirs.

1. We have here the Time when this Conference was, it was at the Feaſt of Dedication, and it was Winter, a Feaſt that was annually obſerv'd by conſent, in remembrance of the Dedication of a new Altar, and the purging of the Temple, by Judas Maccabæus, after the Temple had been prophan'd, and the Altar defil'd; we have the Story of it at large, in the Hiſtory of the Maccabees, lib. 1. cap. 4. we have the Prophecy of it, Dan. 8. 13, 14. ſee more of the Feaſt. 2 Mac. 1. 18. The Return of their Liberty was to them as Life from the Dead, and in remembrance of it, they kept an annual Feaſt on the 25th Day of the Month Ciſleu, about the Beginning of December, and ſeven Days after. The celebrating of it was not confin'd to Jeruſalem, as that of the Divine Feaſts was, but every one obſerv'd it in his own Place, not as a Holy Time, 'tis only a Divine Inſtitution that can ſanctify a Day, but as a good Time, at the Days of Purim, Eſth. 9. 18. Chriſt forecaſted to be now at Jeruſalem, not in Honour of the Feaſt, which did not require his Attendance there, but that he might improve thoſe Eight Days of Vacation for good Purpoſes.

2. The Place where it was, v. 23. Jeſus walked in the Temple, in Solomon's Porch, ſo call'd, Acts 3. 11. not becauſe built by Solomon, but in the ſame Place with that which had born his Name in the firſt Temple, and the Name was kept up for the greater Reputation of it. Here Chriſt walk'd to obſerve the Proceedings of the great Sanhedrin that ſate here, Pſal. 82. 1. he walk'd ready to give Audience to any that ſhould apply themſelves to him, to offer them his Service. He walk'd, as it ſhould ſeem, for ſome Time alone, as one neglected; walk'd penſive in the Foreſight of the Ruin of the Temple. Thoſe that have any thing to ſay to Chriſt, may find him in the Temple, and walk with him there.

3. The Conference it ſelf, in which obſerve,

Firſt, A weighty Queſtion put to him by the Jews, v. 24. They came round about him to teaze him; he was waiting for an Opportunity to do them a Kindneſs, and they took the Opportunity to do him a Miſchief: Ill Will for good Will is no rare and uncommon Return. He could not enjoy himſelf, no not in the Temple, his Father's Houſe, without Diſturbance. They came about him as it were to lay Siege to him; encompaſs'd him about like Bees. They came about him as if they had a joynt and unanimous Deſire to be ſatisfied; came as one Man, pretending an impartial, and importunate Enquiry after Truth, but intending a general Aſſault upon our Lord Jeſus, and ſeem'd to ſpeak the Senſe of their Nation, as if they were the Mouth of all the Jews, How long doſt thou make us to doubt? If thou be the Chriſt, tell us.

1. They quarrel with him as if he had unfairly held them in ſuſpence hitherto. Τὴν ψυχὴν ἡμῶν αἴρεις, How long doſt thou ſteal away our Hearts? Or, take away our Souls? So ſome read it; baſely intimating that what ſhare he had of the Peoples Love and Reſpect he did not come fairly by it, but by indirect Methods, as Abſalom ſtole the Hearts of the Men of Iſrael; and as Seducers deceive the Hearts of the Simple, and ſo draw away Diſciples after them, Rom. 16. 18. Acts 10. 30. But moſt Interpreters underſtand it as we do, How long doſt thou keep us in Suſpence? How long are we kept debating whether thou be the Chriſt or no, and not able to determine the Queſtion. Now, (1.) It was the Effect of their Infidelity, and powerful Prejudices, that after our Lord Jeſus had ſo fully prov'd himſelf to be the Chriſt, they were ſtill in doubt concerning it; this they willingly heſitated about, when they might eaſily have been ſatisfied. The Struggle was between their Convictions, which told them he was the Chriſt; and their Corruptions, which ſaid No, becauſe he was not ſuch a Chriſt as they expected. Thoſe who chuſe to be Scepticks, may if they pleaſe, hold the Ballance ſo, as that the moſt cogent Arguments may not weigh down the moſt trifling Objections, but the Scales may ſtill hang even. (2.) It was an Inſtance of their Impudence and Preſumption, that they laid the Blame of their doubting upon Chriſt himſelf, as if he made them to doubt by Inconſiſtency with himſelf, whereas in truth they made themſelves doubt by indulging their Prejudices. If Wiſdom's Sayings appear doubtful, the Fault is not in the Object, they are all plain to him that underſtandeth, but in the Eye. Chriſt would make us to believe; we make our ſelves to doubt.

2. They challenge him to give a direct and categorical Anſwer, whether he were the Meſſiah or no? If thou be Chriſt, as many believe thou art, tell us plainly, not by Parables, as, I am the Light of the World, and the good Shepherd, &c. and the like, but totidem verbis, either that thou art the Chriſt, or as John Baptiſt, that thou art not, John 1. 20. Now this preſſing Query of theirs was ſeemingly good, they pretended to be deſirous to know the Truth, as if they were ready to embrace it; but it was really bad, and put with an ill Deſign; for if he ſhould tell them plainly that he was the Chriſt, there needed no more to make him obnoxious to the Jealouſie and Severity of the Roman Government. Every one knew the Meſſiah was to be a King, and therefore whoever pretended to be the Meſſiah would be proſecuted as a Traytor, which was the Thing they would have been at; for let them tell them never ſo plainly that he was the Chriſt, they would have this to ſay preſently, Thou beareſt Witneſs of thy ſelf, as they had, John 8. 13.

Secondly, Chriſt's Anſwer to this Queſtion; in which,

1. He juſtifies himſelf as not at all acceſſary to their Infidelity and Scepticiſm, referring them, (1.) To what he had ſaid, I have told you. He had told them that he was the Son of God, the Son of Man; that he had Life in himſelf, that he had Authority to execute Judgment, &c. And is not this the Chriſt then? Theſe Things he had told them, and they believed not, why then ſhould they be told them again meerly to gratify their Curioſity? Ye believed not. They pretended that they only doubted, but Chriſt tells them they did not believe. Scepticiſm in Religion is no better than downright Infidelity. It is not for us to teach God how he ſhould teach us, nor preſcribe to him how plainly he ſhould tell us his Mind, but be thankful for Divine Revelation as we have it, which if we do not believe, neither would we be perſwaded if it were never ſo much adapted to our Humour. (2.) He refers them to his Works, to the Example of his Life, which was not only perfectly pure, but highly beneficient, and of a piece with his Doctrine; and eſpecially to his Miracles, which he wrought for the Confirmation of his Doctrine. 'Twas certain no Man could do thoſe Miracles except God were with him, and God would not be with him to atteſt a Forgery.

2. He condemns them for their obſtinate Unbelief, notwithſtanding all the moſt plain and powerful Arguments us'd to convince them. Ye believed not; and again, ye believed not. You ſtill are what you always were, obſtinate in your Unbelief.

But the Reaſon he gives is very ſurprizing; Ye believe not, becauſe ye are not of my Sheep: You believe not in me, becauſe you belong not to me.

(1.) You are not diſpos'd to be my Followers; are not of a tractable, teachable Temper, have no Inclination to receive the Doctrine and Law of the Meſſiah; you will not herd your ſelves with my Sheep, will not come and ſee, come and hear my Voice. Rooted Antipathies to the Goſpel of Chriſt are the Bonds of Iniquity and Infidelity.

(2.) You are not deſign'd to be my Followers; you are not of thoſe that were given me by my Father to be brought to Grace and Glory. You are not of the Number of the Elect, and your Unbelief, if you perſiſt in it, will be a certain Evidence that you are not. Note, Thoſe to whom God never gives the Grace of Faith, were never deſign'd for Heaven and Happineſs. What Solomon ſaith, of Immorality is true of Infidelity, It is a deep Ditch, and he that is abhorred of the Lord ſhall fall therein, Prov. 22. 14. Non eſſa electum, non eſt Cauſa Incredulitatis propriè dicta, ſed Cauſa per accidens: Fides autem eſt Donum Dei & effectus prædeſtinationis. So Janſenius diſtinguiſheth well here.

3. He takes this Occaſion to deſcribe both the gracious Diſpoſition, and the happy State of thoſe that are his Sheep; for ſuch there are, tho' they be not.

1. To convince them that they were not his Sheep, he tells them what were the Characters of his Sheep.

(1.) They hear his Voice, v. 27. for they know it to be his, v. 4. and he has undertaken that they ſhall hear it, v. 16. They diſcern it, It is the Voice of my Beloved, Cant. 2. 8. They delight in it, are in their Element when they are ſitting at his Feet to hear his Word. They do according to it, and make his Word their Rule. Chriſt will not account thoſe Sheep that are deaf to his Calls, deaf to his Charms, Pſal. 58. 5.

(2.) They follow him, they ſubmit to his Conduct by a chearful Obedience to all his Commands, and a pleaſant Conformity to his Spirit and Pattern: The Word of Command hath always been, Follow me. We muſt eye him as our Leader and Captain, and tread in his Steps, and walk as he walked; follow the Preſcriptions of his Word, the Intimations of his Providence, and the Directions of his Spirit; follow the Lamb, the Dux gregis, whitherſoever he goes. In vain do we hear his Voice, if we do not follow him.

2. To convince them that it was their great Unhappineſs and Miſery not to be of Chriſt's Sheep, he here deſcribes the bleſſed State and Caſe of thoſe that are; which would likewiſe ſerve for the Support and Comfort of his poor deſpiſed Followers, and keep them from envying the Power and Grandeur of thoſe that were not of his Sheep.

1. Our Lord Jeſus takes cognizance of his Sheep, they hear my Voice, and I know them; he diſtinguiſheth them from others, 2 Tim. 2. 19. hath a particular regard to every individual, Pſal. 34. 6. he knows their Wants and Deſires; knows their Souls in Adverſity, where to find them, and what to do for them. He knows others afar off, but knows them near at Hand.

2. He has provided a Happineſs for them, ſuited to them; I give unto them Eternal Life, v. 28. (1.) The Eſtate ſettled upon them is rich and valuable; 'tis Life, Eternal Life. Man has a living Soul, therefore the Happineſs provided is Life, ſuited to his Nature. Man has an Immortal Soul, therefore the Happineſs provided is Eternal Life, running parallel with his Duration. Life Eternal is the Felicity and chief Good of a Soul Immortal. (2.) The manner of Conveyance is free; I give it to them; 'tis not bargain'd and ſold upon a valuable Conſideration, but given by the free Grace of Jeſus Chriſt. The Donor has Power to give it: He who is the Fountain of Life, and Father of Eternity, has authoriz'd Chriſt to give Eternal Life, John 17. 2. Not I will give it, but I do give it, 'tis a Gift in preſent. He gives the Aſſurance of it, the Pledge and Earneſt of it, the Firſt-fruits and Foretaſts of it. That Spiritual Life, which is Eternal Life begun, Heaven in the Seed, in the Bud, in the Embryo.

3. He hath undertaken for their Security and Preſervation to this Happineſs. 1. They ſhall be ſav'd from Everlaſting Perdition. They ſhall by no Means periſh for ever; ſo the Words are. As there is an Eternal Deſtruction, the Soul not annihilated, but ruin'd; it's Being continued, but its Comfort and Happineſs irrecoverably loſt: All Believers are ſaved from this, whatever Croſs they may come under, they ſhall not come into Condemnation. A Man is never undone till he's in Hell, and they ſhall not go down to that. Shepherds that have large Flocks, oft loſe ſome of the Sheep; and ſuffer them to periſh; but Chriſt has engaged that none of his Sheep ſhall periſh, not one. 2. They cannot be kept from their Everlaſting Happineſs; 'tis in reſerve, but he that gives it them will preſerve them to it.

1. His own Power is engag'd for them: Neither ſhall any Man pluck them out of my Hand. A mighty Conteſt is here ſuppoſed about theſe Sheep. The Shepherd is ſo careful of their Welfare, that he has them not only within his Fold, and under his Eye, but in his Hand, intereſted in his ſpecial Love, and taken under his ſpecial Protection; all his Saints are in thy Hand, Deut. 33. 3. yet their Enemies are ſo daring, that they attempt to pluck them out of his Hand; his, whoſe own they are, whoſe Care they are; but they cannot, they ſhall not do it. Note, Thoſe are ſafe who are in the Hands of the Lord Jeſus. The Saints are preſerved in Chriſt Jeſus; and their Salvation is not in their own keeping, but in the keeping of a Mediator. The Phariſees and Rulers did all they could to frighten the Diſciples of Chriſt from following him, reproving and threatening them, but Chriſt ſaith, they ſhould not prevail.

2. His Father's Power is likewiſe engaged for their Preſervation, v. 29. He appear'd now in Weakneſs, and leſt his Security ſhould therefore be thought inſufficient, he brings in his Father as a farther Security. Obſerve,

(1.) The Power of the Father. My Father is greater than all; greater than all the other Friends of the Church, all the other Shepherds, Magiſtrates, or Miniſters, and able to do that for them, which they cannot do. Thoſe Shepherds ſlumber and ſleep, and 'twill be eaſy to pluck the Sheep out of their Hands, but he keeps his Flock Day and Night. Greater than all the Enemies of the Church, all the Oppoſition given to her Intereſts, and able to ſecure his own againſt all their Inſults; he is greater than all the combined Force of Hell and Earth. He is greater in Wiſdom, than the old Serpent, tho' noted for Subtilty; greater in Strength than the great red Dragon, tho' his Name be Legion, and his Title Principalities and Powers. The Devil and his Angels have had many a Puſh, many a Pluck for the Maſtery, but have never yet prevail'd, Rev. 12. 7. The Lord on High is mightier.

2. The Intereſt of the Father in the Sheep, for the Sake of which this Power is engag'd for them; 'tis my Father that gave them me, and he is concern'd in Honour to uphold his Gift: They were given to the Son as a Truſt to be manag'd by him, and therefore God will ſtill look after them. All the Divine Power is engag'd for the Accompliſhment of all the Divine Counſels.

(3.) The Safety of the Saints inferr'd from theſe two. If this be ſo, then none (neither Man nor Devil) is able to pluck them out of the Father's Hand, not able to deprive them of the Grace they have, or to hinder them from the Glory that is deſign'd them; not able to put them out of God's Protection, nor get them into their own Power. Chriſt had himſelf experienc'd the Power of his Father upholding and ſtrengthening him, and therefore puts all his Followers into his Hand too. He that ſecured the Glory of the Redeemer, will ſecure the Glory of the Redeemed.

Further to corroborate the Security, that the Sheep of Chriſt may have ſtrong Conſolation, he aſſerts the Union of theſe Two Undertakers, I and my Father are one, and have joyntly and ſeverally undertaken for the Protection of the Saints, and their Perfection. This ſpeaks, not only the Harmony and Conſent, and good Underſtanding that was between the Father and the Son in the Work of Man's Redemption, every good Man is ſo far one with God, as to concur with him; therefore it muſt be meant of the Oneneſs of the Nature of Father and Son, that they are the ſame in Subſtance, and equal in Power and Glory.

The Fathers urged this, both againſt the Sabellians, to prove the Diſtinction, and Plurality of the Perſons, that the Father and the Son are Two; and againſt the Arians, to prove the Unity of the Nature, that theſe Two are One. If we ſhould altogether hold our Peace concerning the Senſe of the Words, even the Stones which the Jews took up to caſt at him, would ſpeak it out, for they underſtood him as hereby making himſelf God, v. 33. and he did not deny it. He proves that none could pluck them out of his Hand, becauſe they could not pluck them out of the Father's Hand; which had not been a concluſive Argument, if the Son had not had the ſame Almighty Power with the Father, and conſequently been one with him in Eſſence and Operation.

Thirdly, The Rage, the Out-rage of the Jews againſt him for this Diſcourſe, the Jews took up Stones again, v. 31. 'Tis not the Word that is us'd before, chap. 8. 59. but ἐβάστασαν λίθους, they carry'd Stones, great Stones, Stones that were a Load, ſuch as they us'd in ſtoning Malefactors; they brought them from ſome Place at a diſtance, as it were preparing Things for his Execution without any judicial Proceſs; as if he were convicted of Blaſphemy upon the notorious Evidence of the Fact, which needed no further Trial. The Abſurdity of this Inſult the Jews made upon Chriſt will appear, if we conſider, 1. That they had imperiouſly, not to ſay impudently, challenged him to tell them plainly whether he were the Chriſt or no, and yet now he not only ſaid it, but prov'd himſelf ſo, they condemn him for it as a Malefactor. If the Preachers of the Truth propoſe it modeſtly, they are branded as Cowards; if boldly, as inſolent; but Wiſdom is juſtified of her Children. 2. That when they had made the like Attempt before, it was in vain, he eſcaped through the midſt of them, chap. 5. 59. yet they repeat their baffled Attempt. Daring Sinners will throw Stones at Heaven, tho' they return upon their own Heads; and will ſtrengthen themſelves againſt the Almighty, tho' never any hardened themſelves againſt him and proſpered.

Fourthly, Chriſt's tender Expoſtulation with them upon occaſion of this Outrage, v. 32. Jeſus anſwered what they did, for we do not find that they ſaid any Thing, unleſs perhaps they ſtirr'd up the Crowd that yet had gathered about him to joyn with them, crying, Stone him, Stone him, as afterwards, Crucifie him, Crucifie him. When he could have anſwered them with Fire from Heaven, he mildly replied, Many good Works have I ſhewed you from my Father, for which of thoſe Works, do you ſtone me? Words ſo very tender, that one would think they ſhould have melted a Heart of Stone,

In dealing with his Enemies he ſtill argued from his Works, Men evidence what they are by what they do. His good Works, καλὰ ἔργα, excellent, eminent Works. Opera eximia vel præclara, it ſignifies both great Works, and good Works.

1. The Divine Power of his Works convicted them of the moſt obſtinate Infidelity. They were Works from his Father, ſo far above the reach and courſe of Nature, as to prove him that did them, ſent of God, and acting by Commiſſion from him. Theſe Works he ſhewed them, he did them openly before the People, and not in a Corner; his Works would bear the Teſt, and refer themſelves to the Teſtimony of the moſt inquiſitive and impartial Spectators. He did not ſhew his Works by Candle-light, as they that do them only for ſhew, but he ſhewed them at Noon-day before the World, John 18. 20. See Pſal. 111. 6. His Works ſo undeniably demonſtrated, that they were an unconteſtable Demonſtration of the Validity of his Commiſſion.

2. The Divine Grace of his Works convicted them of the moſt baſe Ingratitude. The Works he did among them were not only Miracles but Mercies; not only Works of Wonder to amaze them, but Works of Love and Kindneſs to do them good, and ſo make them good, and endear himſelf to them; He healed the Sick, cleanſed the Lepers, caſt out Devils, which were Favours, not only to the Perſons concern'd, but to the Publick; theſe he had repeated and multiplied; now, for which of theſe do ye ſtone me? Ye cannot ſay I have done you any Harm, or given you any juſt Provocation; if therfore you will pick a Quarrel with me, it muſt be for ſome good Work, ſome good Turn done you, tell me for which. Note, 1. The horrid Ingratitude that there is in our Sins againſt God and Jeſus Chriſt, is a great Aggravation of them, and makes them appear exceeding ſinful. See how God argues to this Purpoſe, Deut. 32. 6. Jer. 2. 5. Mic. 6. 3. 2. We muſt not think it ſtrange if we meet with thoſe who not only hate us without Cauſe, but are our Adverſaries for our Love, Pſal. 35. 12. and 41. 9. When he asks for which of theſe do you ſtone me, as he intimates the abundant Satisfaction he had in his own Innocency, which gives a Man Courage in a ſuffering Day, ſo he puts his Perſecutors upon conſidering what was the true Reaſon of their Enmity, and asking, as all thoſe ſhould do that creat Trouble to their Neighbour, Why perſecute we him? As Job adviſeth his Friends to do, Job 19. 28.

Fifthly, Their Vindication of the Attempt they made upon Chriſt, and the Cauſe upon which they grounded their Proſecutions, v. 33. What Sin will want Fig-leaves with which to cover it ſelf, when even the bloody Perſecutors of the Son of God could find ſomething to ſay for themſelves.

1. They would not be thought ſuch Enemies to their Country, as to perſecute him for a good Work; for a good Work we ſtone thee not: For indeed they would ſcarce allow any of his Works to be ſo. His curing the impotent Man, John 5. and the blind Man, John 9. were ſo far from being acknowledg'd good Services to the Town, and meritorious, that they were put upon the Score of his Crimes, becauſe done on the Sabbath Day. But if he had done any good Works, they would not own that they ſtoned him for them, tho' theſe were really the Things that did moſt exaſperate them, chap. 11. 47. thus tho' moſt abſurd, they could not be brought to own their Abſurdities.

2. They would be thought ſuch Friends to God and his Glory, as to proſecute him for Blaſphemy, becauſe that thou being a Man, makeſt thy ſelf God.

Here's, 1. A pretended Zeal for the Law. They ſeem mightily concern'd for the Honour of the Divine Majeſty, and to be ſeiz'd with a Religious Horror at that which they imagin'd to be a Reproach to it. A Blaſphemer was to be ſton'd, Lev. 24. 16. This Law they thought did not only juſtifie, but ſanctifie what they attempted, as Acts 26. 9. Note, The vileſt Practices are often varniſh'd with plauſible Pretences. As nothing is more couragious than a well inform'd Conſcience, ſo nothing more outragious than a miſtaken one. See Iſa. 66. 5. John 16. 2.

2. A real Enmity to the Goſpel, on which they could not put a greater Affront, than by repreſenting Chriſt as a Blaſphemer. 'Tis no new Thing for the worſt of Characters to be be put upon the beſt of Men, by thoſe that reſolve to give them the worſt of Treatment.

1. The Crime laid to his Charge is Blaſphemy, ſpeaking reproachfully, and deſpitefully of God. God himſelf is out of the Sinners reach, and not capable of receiving any real Injury; and therefore Enmity to God, ſpits its Venom at his Name, and ſo ſhew its Ill-will.

2. The Proof of the Crime, Thou being a Man makeſt they ſelf God. And as it is God's Glory that he is God, which we rob him of, when we make him altogether ſuch a one as our ſelves; ſo it is his Glory, that beſides him there is no other, which we rob him of, when we make our ſelves, or any Creature altogether like him.

Now, 1. Thus far they were in the right, that what Chriſt ſaid of himſelf amounted to this, That he was God, for he had ſaid that he was one with the Father, and that he would give Eternal Life; and Chriſt doth not deny it, which he would have done if it had been a miſtaken Inference from his Words.

But, 2. They were much miſtaken, when they look'd upon him as a meer Man, and that the Godhead he claim'd was a Uſurpation, and of his own making. They thought it abſurd and impious, that ſuch a one as he, who appeared in the Faſhion of a poor, mean, deſpicable Man, ſhould profeſs himſelf the Meſſiah, and entitle himſelf to the Honours confeſſedly due to the Son of God. Note, (1.) Thoſe who ſay that Jeſus is a meer Man, and only a made God, as the Socinians ſay, do in effect charge him with Blaſphemy, but do effectually prove it upon themſelves. (2.) He who being a Man, a ſinful Man, makes himſelf a God, as the Pope doth, who claims Divine Powers and Prerogatives, is no queſtion a Blaſphemer, and that Antichriſt.

Sixthly, Chriſt's Reply to their Accuſation of him (for ſo their Vindication of themſelves was) and his making good thoſe Claims which they imputed to him as blaſphemous, v. 34, &c. where he proves himſelf to be no Blaſphemer, by two Arguments.

(1.) By an Argumemt taken from God's Word. He appeals to what was written in their Law, i. e. in the Old Teſtament; whoever oppoſeth Chriſt, He is ſure to have the Scripture on his Side. It is written, Pſal. 82. 6. I have ſaid ye are Gods. 'Tis an Argument à minore ad majus. If they were Gods, much more am I. Obſerve,

(1.) How he explains the Text, v. 35. He called them Gods to whom the Word of God came, and the Scripture cannot be broken. The Word of God's Commiſſion came to them, appointing them to their Offices, as Judges, and therfore they are called Gods, Exod. 22. 28. To ſome the Word of God came immediately, as to Moſes; to others in the Way of an inſtituted Ordinance. Magiſtracy is a Divine Inſtitution; and Magiſtrates are God's Delegates, and therefore Scripture calleth them Gods; and we are ſure the Scripture cannot be broken, or broken in upon, or found fault with. Every Word of God is right, the very Stile and Language of Scripture is unexceptionable, and not to to be corrected, Mat. 5. 18.

(2.) How he applies it. Thus much in general is eaſily inferr'd, that they were very raſh and unreaſonable who condemn'd Chriſt as a Blaſphemer, only for calling himſelf the Son of God, when yet they themſelves call'd their Rulers ſo, and therein the Scripture warranted them. But the Argument goes further, v. 36. If Magiſtrates were called Gods, becauſe they were commiſſion'd to adminiſter Juſtice in the Nation, Say ye of him whom the Father hath ſanctified, Thou blaſphemeſt? We have here Two Things concerning the Lord Jeſus.

1. The Honour done him by the Father, which he juſtly glories in, he ſactified him, and ſent him into the World. Magiſtrates were call'd the Sons of God, tho' the Word of God only came to them, and the Spirit of Government came upon them by Meaſure, as upon Saul; but our Lord Jeſus was himſelf the Word, and had the Spirit without Meaſure; they were conſtituted for a particular Country, City, or Nation, but he was ſent into the World, veſted with a univerſal Authority as Lord of all; they were ſent to, as Perſons at a diſtance, he was ſent forth as having been from Eternity with God. The Father ſanctified him, i. e. deſign'd him, and ſet him apart to the Office of Mediator, and qualified, and fitted him for that Office: Sanctifying him is the ſame with ſealing him, John 6. 27. Note, Whom the Father ſends he ſanctifies, whom he deſigns for holy Purpoſes, he prepares with holy Principles and Diſpoſitions: The Holy God will reward, and therefore will employ none but ſuch as he finds, or makes Holy. The Father's ſanctifying and ſending him is here vouch'd as a ſufficient Warrant for his calling himſelf the Son of God: for becauſe he was a holy Thing he was call'd the Son of God, Luke 1. 35. See Rom. 1. 4.

2. The Diſhonour done him by the Jews, which he juſtly complains of, that they impiouſly ſaid of him whom the Father had thus dignified, that he was a Blaſphemer, becauſe he call'd himſelf the Son of God. Say ye of him ſo and ſo? Dare you ſay ſo? Dare you thus ſet your Mouths againſt the Heavens? Have you Brow and Braſs enough to tell the God of Truth he lies? Or to condemn him that is moſt Juſt? Look me in the Face and ſay it if you can; what ſay ye of the Son of God that he is a Blaſphemer? If Devils had ſaid ſo of him, whom he came to condemn, it had not been ſo ſtrange, but that Men ſhould ſay ſo of him, whom he came to teach and ſave; be aſtoniſh'd O Heavens at this! See what is the Language of an obſtinate Unbelief, it doth in effect call the Holy Jeſus a Blaſphemer. 'Tis hard to ſay which is more to be admir'd, that Men who breath in God's Air ſhould yet ſpeak ſuch Things, or that Men who have ſpoken ſuch Things ſhould yet ſtill be ſuffer'd to breath in God's Air. The Wickedneſs of Man, and the Patience of God, as it were, contend which ſhall be moſt wonderful.

2. By an Argument taken from his own Works, v. 37, 38. In the former he only anſwer'd the Charge of Blaſphemy by an Argument ad hominem, but he here makes out his own Claims, and proves that he and the Father are one, v. 37, 38. If I do not the Works of my Father, believe me not. Tho' he might juſtly have abandoned ſuch blaſphemous Wretches as incurable, yet he vouchſafes to reaſon with them.

Obſerve, 1. From what he argues, from his Works, which he had oft vouch'd as his Credentials, and the Proofs of his Miſſion. As he proved himſelf ſent of God by the Divinity of his Works, ſo we muſt prove our ſelves ally'd to Chriſt by the Chriſtianity of ours. (1.) The Argument is very cogent, for the Works he did was the Works of his Father, which the Father only could do, and which could not be done in the ordinary courſe of Nature, but only by the ſovereign, over-ruling Power of the God of Nature. Opera Deo propia, and Opera Deo digna: The Works of a Divine Power. He that can diſpence with the Laws of Nature, repeal, alter, and over-rule them at his Pleaſure, by his own Power, is certainly the Sovereign Prince who firſt inſtituted and enacted thoſe Laws. The Miracles which the Apoſtles wrought in his Name, and by his Power, and for the Confirmation of his Doctrine, corroborated this Argument, and continued the Evidence of it when he was gone. (2.) It is very fairly propoſed as can be deſired, and put to a ſhort Iſſue.

(1.) If I do not the Works of my Father believe me not. He doth not demand a blind and implicit Faith, nor an Aſſent to his Divine Miſſion further than he gave Proof of it. He did not wind himſelf into the Affections of People, or wheedle them by ſly Inſinuations, nor impoſe upon their Credulity by bold Aſſertions, but with the greateſt Fairneſs imaginable quitted all Demands of their Faith, further than he produc'd Warrants for theſe Demands. Chriſt is no hard Maſter, who expects to reap in Aſſents, where he has not ſown in Arguments. None ſhall periſh for the Disbelief of that which was not propos'd to them with ſufficent Motives of Credibility, infinite Wiſdom it ſelf being Judge.

(2.) But if I do the Works of my Father; if I work undeniable Miracles for the Confirmation of a holy Doctrine, tho' you believe not me, tho' you are ſo ſcrupulous as not to take my Word, yet believe the Works: Believe your own Eyes, your own Reaſon, the Thing ſpeaks it ſelf plain enough. As the inviſible Things of the Creator are clearly ſeen by Works of Creation and common Providence, Rom. 1. 20. ſo the inviſible Thing of the Redeemer were ſeen by his Miracles, and by all his Works both of Power and Mercy; ſo that they who were not convinc'd by theſe Works were without Excuſe.

2. For what he argues, That ye may know and believe, may believe it intelligently, and with an entire Satisfaction, that the Father is in me, and I in him, which is the ſame with what he had ſaid, v. 30. I and my Father are one. The Father was ſo in the Son, as that in him dwelt all the Fulneſs of the Godhead, and 'twas by a Divine Power that he wrought his Miracles; the Son was ſo in the Father, as that he was perfectly acquainted with the whole of his Mind, not by Communication, but by Conſciouſneſs, having lain in his Boſom. This we muſt know; not know and explain, for we cannot by ſearching find it out to Perfection, but know and believe it, acknowledging and adoring the Depth when we cannot find the Bottom.

39 Therefore they ſought again to take him: but he eſcaped out of their hand, 40 And went away again beyond Jordan, into the place where John at firſt baptized; and there he abode. 41 And many reſorted unto him, and ſaid, John did no miracle; but all that John ſpake of this man, were true. 42 And many believed on him there.

We have the Iſſue of the Conference with the Jews. One would have thought it ſhould have convinc'd and melted them, but their Hearts were hardened. Here we are told,

1. How they attack'd him by force. Therefore they ſought again to take him v. 39. Therefore, (1.) becauſe he had fully anſwer'd their Charge of Blſaphemy, and wiped off that Imputation, ſo that they could not for Shame go on with their Attempt to ſtone him, therefore they contriv'd to ſeize him, and proſecute him as an Offender againſt the State. When they were conſtrain'd to drop their Attempt by a popular Tumult, they would try what they could do under colour of a legal Proceſs. See Rev. 12. 13. Or, (2.) Becauſe he perſevered in the ſame Teſtimony concerning himſelf, they perſiſted in their Malice againſt him. What he had ſaid before he did in effect ſay again, for the faithful Witneſs never runs in from what he has once ſaid; and therefore having the ſame Provocation, they expreſs the ſame Reſentments, and juſtifie their Attempt to ſtone him, by another Attempt to take him. Such is the Temper of a perſecuting Spirit, and ſuch its Politicks, malè facta malè factis tegere ne perpluant.

2. How he avoided them by Flight, not an inglorious Retreat, in which there was any Thing of human Infirmity, but a glorious Retirement in which there was much of a Divine Power. He eſcaped out of their Hands, not by the interpoſal of any Friend that help'd him, but by his own Wiſdom he got clear of them; either drew a Veil over himſelf, or caſt a Miſt before their Eyes, or ty'd the Hands of thoſe whoſe Hearts he did not turn. Note, No Weapon form'd againſt our Lord Jeſus ſhall proſper, Pſal. 2. 5. He eſcaped, not becauſe he was afraid to ſuffer, but becauſe his Hour was not come. And he who knew how to deliver himſelf, no doubt knows how to deliver the Godly out of Temptation, and to make a Way for them to eſcape.

3. How he diſpos'd of himſelf in his Retirement, he went away again beyond Jordan, v. 40. The Biſhop of our Souls came not to be fix'd in one See, but to go about from Place to Place doing good. This great Benfactor was never out of his Way, for where-ever he came, there was Work to be done. Tho' Jeruſalem was the Royal City, yet he made many a kind Viſit to the Country, not only his own Country Galilee, but to other Parts, even thoſe that lay moſt remote beyond Jordan. Now obſerve,

1. What ſhelter he found there. He went into a private Part of the Country, and there he abode, there he found ſome Reſt and Quietneſs, when in Jeruſalem he could find none. Note, Tho' Perſecutors may drive Chriſt and his Goſpel out of their own City or Country, they cannot drive him or it out of the World. Tho' Jeruſalem was not gather'd, nor would be, yet Chriſt was Glorious, and would be. Chriſt's going now beyond Jordan, was a Figure of the taking of the Kingdom of God from the Jews, and bringing it to the Gentiles. Chriſt and his Goſpel have often found better Entertainment among the plain Country People than among the Wiſe, the Mighty, the Noble, 1 Cor. 1. 26, 27.

2. What Succeſs he found there. He did not go thither, meerly for his own Security, but to do good there; and therefore he choſe to go thither where John at firſt baptized, John 1. 28. becauſe there could not but remain ſome Impreſſions of John's Miniſtry and Baptiſm thereabouts, which would diſpoſe them to receive Chriſt and his Doctrine; for it was not Three Years ſince John was baptizing, and Chriſt was himſelf baptized here at Bethabara. Chriſt came hither now to ſee what Fruit there was of all the Pains John Baptiſt had taken among them, and what they retain'd of the Things they then heard and received. And the Event in ſome Meaſure anſwer'd Expectation; for we are told,

1. That they flock'd after him, v. 41. Many reſorted to him. The Return of the Means of Grace to a Place after they have been for ſome Time intermitted, commonly occaſions a great ſtirring of Affections. Some think Chriſt choſe to abide at Bethabara, the Houſe of Paſſage, where the Ferry-boats lay, by which they croſ'd the River Jordan, that the Confluence of People thither might give an Opportunity of teaching many who would come to hear him when it lay in their Way, that would ſcarce go a ſtep out of the Road for an Opportunity of attending on his Word.

2. That they reaſon'd in his Favours, and ſought Arguments to induce them to cloſe with him, as much as they at Jeruſalem ſought Objections againſt him. They ſaid very judiciouſly, John did no Miracle, but all Things that John ſpake of this Man were true. Two Things they conſidered, upon recollecting what they had ſeen and heard from John, and comparing it with Chriſt's Miniſtry.

(1.) That Chriſt far exceeded John Baptiſt's Power, for John did no Miracle, but Jeſus doth many; whence it is eaſy to infer, that Jeſus is greater than John. And if John were ſo great a Prophet, how great than is this Jeſus? Chriſt is beſt known and acknowledged by ſuch Compariſon with others, as ſets him ſuparlatively above others. Tho' John came in the Spirit and Power of Elias, yet he did not work Miracles as Elias did, leſt the Minds of People ſhould be made to heſitate between him and Jeſus; therefore the Honour of working Miracles was reſerv'd for Jeſus, as a Flower of his Crown, that there might be a ſenſible Demonſtration, and an undeniable one, that tho' he came after John, yet he was preferr'd far before him.

(2.) That Chriſt exactly anſwer'd John Baptiſt's Teſtimony. John not only did no Miracle to divert People from Chriſt, but he ſaid a great deal to direct them to Chriſt, and to turn them over as Apprentices to him, and that came to their Minds now; all Things that John ſaid of this Man were true, that he ſhould be the Lamb of God; ſhould baptize with the Holy Ghoſt and with Fire. Great Things John had ſaid of him, which rais'd their Expectations; ſo that tho' they had not Zeal enough to carry them into his Country, to enquire after him, yet when he came into theirs, and brought his Goſpel to their Doors, they acknowledg'd him as great as John had ſaid he would be. When we get acquainted with Chriſt, and come to know him experimentally, we find all Things that the Scripture ſaith of him to be true; nay, and that the Reality exceeds the Report, 1 Kings 10. 6, 7. John Baptiſt was now dead and gone, and yet his Hearers profited by what they had heard formerly, and by comparing what they heard then with what they ſaw now, they gain'd a double Advantage: For, (1.) They were confirm'd in their Belief that John was a Prophet, who foretold ſuch Things, and ſpoke of the Eminency to which this Jeſus would arrive, tho' his Beginning was ſo ſmall. (2.) They were prepar'd to believe that Jeſus was the Chriſt, in whom they ſaw thoſe things accompliſh'd which John foretold. By this we ſee, that the Succeſs and Efficacy of the Word preach'd, is not confined to the Life of the Preacher, nor doth it expire with his Breath, but that which ſeem'd as Water ſpilt upon the Ground, may afterward be gather'd up again. See Zech. 1. 5, 6.

3. That many believed on him there. Believing that he who wrought ſuch Miracles, and in whom John's Predictions were fulfill'd, was, what he declar'd himſelf to be, the Son of God, they gave up themſelves to him as his Diſciples, v. 42. En Emphaſis is here to be laid, (1.) Upon the Perſons that believed on him, they were many. While they that receiv'd and embrac'd his Doctrine at Jeruſalem were but as the Grape-gleanings of the Vintage, they that believed on him in the Country beyond Jordan were a full Harveſt gathered into him. (2.) Upon the Place where this was, 'twas there where John had been preaching and baptizing, and had had great Succeſs, there many believed on the Lord Jeſus. Where the preaching of the Doctrine of Repentance has had Succeſs as deſired, there the preaching of the Doctrine of Reconciliation and Goſpel Grace is moſt likely to be proſperous. Where John has been acceptable, Jeſus will not be unacceptable. The Jubilee Trumpet ſounds ſweeteſt in the Ears of thoſe, who in the Day of Atonement have afflicted their Souls for Sin.

CHAP. XI.

In this Chapter we have the Hiſtory of that Illuſtrious Miracle which Chriſt wrought a little before his Death, the raiſing of Lazarus to Life; which is recorded only by this Evangeliſt, for the other Three confine themſelves to what Chriſt did in Galilee, where he reſided moſt, and ſcarce ever carried their Hiſtory into Jeruſalem till the Paſſion Week; whereas John's Memoirs relate chiefly to what paſſed at Jeruſalem; this Paſſage threrefore was reſerv'd for his Pen. Some ſuggeſt, that when the other Evangeliſts wrote, Lazarus was alive, and it would not well agree, either with his Safety, or with his Humility, to have it recorded till now, when 'tis ſuppos'd he was dead. It is more largely recorded than any other of Chriſt's Miracles, not only becauſe there are many Circumſtances of it ſo very inſtructive, and the Miracle it ſelf ſo great a Proof of Chriſt's Miſſion, but becauſe 'twas an Earneſt of that which was to be the crowning Proof of all, Chriſt's own Reſurrection. Here's, 1. The Tidings ſent to our Lord Jeſus of the Sickneſs of Lazarus, and his Entertainment of thoſe Tidings, v. 1—16. (2.) The Viſit he made to Lazarus's Relations when he had heard of his Death, and their Entertainment of the Viſit, v. 17.—32. (3.) The Miracle wrought in raiſing of Lazarus from the dead, v. 33——44. (4.) The Effect wrought by this Miracle upon others, v. 45—57.

NOW a certain man was ſick, named Lazarus of Bethany, the town of Mary and her ſiſter Martha. 2 (It was that Mary which anointed the Lord with ointment, and wiped his feet with her hair, whoſe brother Lazarus was ſick.) 3 Therefore his ſiſters ſent unto him, ſaying, Lord, behold, he whom thou loveſt, is ſick. 4 When Jeſus heard that, he ſaid, This ſickneſs is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby. 5 Now Jeſus loved Martha, and her ſiſter, and Lazarus. 6. When he had heard therefore that he was ſick, he abode two days ſtill in the ſame place where he was. 7 Then after that, ſaith he to his diſciples, Let us go into Judea again. 8 His diſciples ſay unto him, Maſter, the Jews of late ſought to ſtone thee; and goeſt thou thither again? 9 Jeſus anſwered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If any man walk in the day, he ſtumbleth not, becauſe he ſeeth the light of this world. 10 But if a man walk in the night, he ſtumbleth, becauſe there is no light in him. 11 Theſe things ſaid he: and after that, he ſaid unto them, Our friend Lazarus ſleepeth; but I go that I may awake him out of ſleep. 12 Then ſaid his diſciples, Lord, if he ſleep, he ſhall do well. 13. Howbeit Jeſus ſpake of his death: but they thought that he had ſpoken of taking reſt in ſleep. 14 Then ſaid Jeſus unto them plainly, Lazarus is dead. 15 And I am glad for your ſakes, that I was not there (to the intent ye may believe) nevertheleſs, let us go unto him. 16 Then ſaid Thomas, which is called Didymus, unto his fellow diſciples, Let us alſo go, that we may die with him.

We have in theſe Verſes,

1. A particular Account of the Parties principally concerned in this Story, v. 1. 2. (1.) They lived at Bethany, a Village not far from Jeruſalem, where Chriſt uſually lodged when he came up to the Feaſts. 'Tis here call'd the Town of Mary and Martha, i. e. the Town where they dwelt, as Bethſaida is called the City of Andrew and Peter, John 1. 44. for I ſee no Reaſon to think, as ſome do, that Martha and Mary were Owners of the Town, and the reſt were their Tenants. (2.) Here was a Brother named Lazarus; his Hebrew Name probably was Eleazar, which being contracted, and a Greek Termination put to it, is made Lazarus. Perhaps in proſpect of this Hiſtory our Saviour made uſe of the name of Lazarus in that Parable wherein he deſigned to ſet forth the Bleſſedneſs of the Righteous in the Boſom of Abraham immediately after Death, Luke 16. 20. (3.) Here were Two Siſters, Martha and Mary, who ſeem to have been the Houſe-Keepers, and to have manag'd the Affairs of the Family, while perhaps Lazarus lived a retired Life, and gave himſelf to Study and Contemplation. Here was a decent, happy, well ordered Family, and a Family that Chriſt was very much converſant in, where yet there was neither Husband nor Wife, (for ought appears) but the Houſe kept by a Brother, and his Siſters dwelling together in Unity. (4.) One of the Siſters is particularly deſcribed to be that Mary which anointed the Lord with Ointment, v. 2. ſome think it was that Woman that we read of, Luke 7. 37, 38. who had been a Sinner, an Ill Woman. I rather think it refers to that anointing of Chriſt which this Evangeliſt relates, chap. 12. 3. for the Evangeliſts do never refer one to another, but John frequently refers in one Place of his Goſpel to another. Extraordinary Acts of Piety and Devotion, that come from an honeſt Principle of Love to Chriſt, will not only find Acceptance with him, but gain Reputation in the Church, Mat. 26. 13. This was ſhe whoſe Brother Lazarus was ſick; and the Sickneſs of thoſe we love is our Affliction. The more Friends we have, the more frequently we are thus afflicted by Sympathy; and the dearer they are, the more grievous it is. The multiplying of our Comforts, is but the multiplying of our Cares and Croſſes.

2. The Tidings that were ſent to our Lord Jeſus of the Sickneſs of Lazarus, v. 3. His Siſters knew where Jeſus was, a great Way off beyond Jordan, and they ſent a ſpecial Meſſenger to him to acquaint him with the Affliction of their Family. In which they manifeſt, (1.) The Affection and Concern they had for their Brother. Tho' 'tis likely his Eſtate would come to them after his Death, yet they earneſtly deſir'd his Life, as they ought to do: They ſhewed their Love to him now he was ſick, for a Brother is born for Adverſity, and ſo is a Siſter too. We muſt weep with our Friends when they weep, as well as rejoice with them when they rejoice. (2.) The Regard they had to the Lord Jeſus, whom they were willing to make acquainted with all their Concerns, and like Jephtah, to utter all their Words before him. Tho' God knows all our Wants, and Griefs, and Cares, he will know them from us, and is honoured by our laying them before him.

The Meſſage they ſent was very ſhort, not petitioning, much leſs preſcribing or preſſing, but barely relating the Caſe with the tender Inſinuation of a powerful Plea, Lord, behold he whom thou loveſt is ſick. They do not ſay, he whom we love, but whom thou loveſt. Our greateſt Encouragements in Prayer are fetched from God himſelf, and from his Grace. They do not ſay, Lord, behold he who loveth thee, but whom thou loveſt; for herein is Love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us: Our Love to him is not worth ſpeaking of, but his to us can never be enough ſpoken of. Note, 1. There are ſome of the Friends and Followers of the Lord Jeſus whom he hath a ſpecial Kindneſs for above others. Among the Twelve there was one whom Jeſus loved. 2. It is no new Thing for thoſe whom Chriſt loves to be ſick; all Things come alike to all; bodily Diſtempers correct the Corruptions, and try the Graces of God's People. 3. It is a great Comfort to us when we are ſick, to have thoſe about us that will pray for us. 4. We have great Encouragement in our Prayers for thoſe who are ſick, if we have ground to hope that they are ſuch as Chriſt loves; and we have reaſon to love and pray for thoſe whom we have reaſon to think Chriſt loves and cares for.

3. An Account how Chriſt entertained the Tidings brought him of the Illneſs of his Friend.

1. He prognoſticated the Event and Iſſue of the Sickneſs, and probably ſent it as a Meſſage to the Siſters of Lazarus by the Expreſs, to ſupport them while he delay'd to come to them. Two Things he prognoſticates.

1. This Sickneſs is not unto Death; it was mortal, prov'd fatal, and no doubt but Lazarus was truly dead for four Days. But, (1.) That was not the Errand upon which this Sickneſs was ſent; it came not as in a common Caſe to be a Summons to the Grave, but there was a further Intention in it. Had it been ſent on that Errand, his riſing from the Dead would have defeated it. (2.) That was not the final Effect of this Sickneſs. He dy'd, and yet it might be ſaid he did not die, for factum non dicitur quod non perſeverat.

Death is an everlaſting Farewel to this World, 'tis the Way whence we ſhall not return; and in this Senſe it was not unto Death. The Grave was not his long Home, his Houſe of Eternity. Thus Chriſt ſaid of the Maid, whom he purpoſed to reſtore to Life, She is not dead. The Sickneſs of good People, how threatning ſoever, is not unto Death, for it is not to eternal Death. The Body's Death to this World is the Soul's Birth into another World; when we or our Friends are ſick, we make it our principal Support, that there is Hopes of a Recovery, but in that we may be diſappointed, therefore it's our Wiſdom to build upon that in which we cannot be diſappointed; if they belong to Chriſt, let the worſt come to the worſt, they cannot be hurt of the ſecond Death, and then not much hurt of the firſt.

(2.) But it is for the Glory of God, that an Opportunity may be given for the manifeſting of God's glorious Power. The Afflictions of the Saints are deſign'd for the Glory of God, that he may have Opportunity of ſhewing them Favour; for the ſweeteſt Mercies, and the moſt affecting, are thoſe which are occaſion'd by Trouble. Let this reconcile us to the darkeſt Diſpenſations of Providence, they are all for the Glory of God, this Sickneſs, this Loſs, this Diſappointment, is ſo; and if God be glorified, we ought to be ſatisfied, Lev. 10. 3. 'Twas for the Glory of God, for it was that the Son of God might be glorified thereby, as it gave him Occaſion to work that glorious Miracle, the raiſing him from the Dead. As before the Man was born blind, that Chriſt might have the Honour of curing him, John 9. 3. So Lazarus muſt be ſick and die, that Chriſt may be glorified as the Lord of Life. Let this comfort thoſe whom Chriſt loves under all their Grievances, that the Deſign of them all is, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby, his Wiſdom, Power and Goodneſs glorified in ſupporting and relieving them; ſee 2 Cor. 12. 9, 10.

2. He defer'd viſiting his Patient, v. 5. 6. They had pleaded, Lord, it is he whom thou loveſt, and the Plea is allowed, v. 5. Jeſus loved Martha and her Siſter, and Lazarus. Thus the Claims of Faith are ratified in the Court of Heaven; now one would think it ſhould follow, when he heard therefore that he was ſick, he made all the haſte that he could to him; if he lov'd them, now was a time to ſhew it by haſtening to them, for he knew they impatiently expected him. But he took the contrary way to ſhew his Love; 'tis not ſaid he lov'd them, and yet he lingered, but he lov'd them, and therefore he lingered; when he heard his Friend was ſick, inſtead of coming poſt to him, he abode two Days ſtill in the ſame Place where he was. (1.) He loved them, i. e. had a great Opinion of Martha and Mary, of their Wiſdom and Grace, of their Faith and Patience, above others of his Diſciples, and therefore he defer'd coming to them, that he might try them, that their Trial might at laſt be found to Praiſe and Honour. (2.) He loved them, i. e. he deſign'd to do ſomething great and extraordinary for them, to work ſuch a Miracle for their Relief, as he had not wrought for any of his Friends; and therefore he delay'd coming to them, that Lazarus might be dead and bury'd before he came. If Chriſt had come preſently, and cured the Sickneſs of Lazarus, he had done no more than he did for many; if he had rais'd him to Life when newly dead, no more than he had done for ſome; but deferring his Relief ſo long, he had an Opportunity of doing more for him than for any. Note, God hath gracious Intentions even in ſeeming Delays, Iſa. 54. 7, 8. and 49. 14. Chriſt's Friends at Bethany were not out of his Thoughts, tho' when he heard of their Diſtreſs, he made no haſte to them. When the Work of Deliverance, temporal or ſpiritual, publick or perſonal, ſtands at a Stay, it doth but ſtay the Time, and every thing is beautiful in its Seaſon.

4. The Diſcourſe he had with his Diſciples, when he was about to go viſit his Friends at Bethany, v. 7—10. And the Conference is ſo very free and familiar, as to make out what Chriſt ſaith, I have called you Friends.

Two Things he diſcourſes about, his own Danger, and Lazarus's Death.

Firſt, His own Danger in going into Judea, v. 7—10.

1. Here's the Notice which Chriſt gave his Diſciples of his Purpoſe to go into Judea towards Jeruſalem. His Diſciples were the Men of his Counſel, and to them he ſaith, v. 7. Let us go into Judea again, tho' they there are unworthy of ſuch a Favour. Thus Chriſt repeats the Tenders of his Mercy to thoſe that have oft rejected them. Now this may be conſidered, (1.) As a Purpoſe of his Kindneſs to his Friends at Bethany, whoſe Affliction, and all the aggravating Circumſtances of it he knew very well, tho' no more Expreſſes was ſent to him; for he was preſent in Spirit, tho' abſent in Body. When he knew they were brought to the laſt Extremity, when the Brother and Siſters have given and taken a final Farewel; now, ſaith he, let us go to Judea. Chriſt will ariſe in Favour of his People, when the time to favour them, yea the ſet time is come, and the worſt time is commonly the ſet time. When our Hope is loſt, we are cut off for our part, then they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have open'd the Grave, Ezek. 37. 11, 13. In the Depths of Affliction, let this therefore keep us out of the Depths of Deſpair, that Man's Extremity is God's Opportunity, Jehovah-jireh. Or, (2.) As a Trial of the Courage of the Diſciples, whether they would venture to follow him thither, where they had ſo lately been frightened with an Attempt upon their Maſter's Life, which they look'd upon as an Attempt upon theirs too. To go to Judea, which was ſo lately made too hot for them, was a ſaying that prov'd them. But Chriſt did not ſay, Go ye into Judea, and I will ſtay and take Shelter here; no, Let us go. Note, Chriſt never brings his People into any Peril, but he accompanies them in it; and is with them, even then when they walk through the Valley of the Shadow of Death.
